HRC Sends Letter to Council, Urging Passing of Fairness

By Beth Myers Citizen Editor

The Berea Human Rights Commission (HRC) approved sending a letter to the Berea City Council members this week, urging them to adopt Ordinance 18 – 14, the Fairness Ordinance which would add sexual orientation, gender identity, and familial status to the protected Family Foundation Requests Communications on Fairness Ord.

By Beth Myers Citizen Editor

The Family Foundation out of Lexington recently filed an open records request with the City of Berea, asking for all city government communication regarding the Fairness Ordinance.

Kent Ostrander, the executive director of the Family Foundation, stated that he observed the public forum in Berea on September 16, and was concerned by what he witnessed.

"It just seemed that there was a coordinated effort by a small group – some inside city government and some outside city government – to push this gay rights ordinance," Ostrander

Deadline to Register to Vote Coming Up

By Beth Myers Citizen Editor

The deadline to register to vote in the general election will be coming up this next Monday, Oct. 6, and voters have until Oct. 28 to request an absentee ballot.

The November 4 general election should have a fairly good turnout, Madison County Clerk Kenny Barger said, though not as good as a presidential election year. Barger expects around 28 – 29 percent of the registered voters in Madison County to fill out a ballot on Nov. 4. There are around 53,000 registered voters in the county.

The county clerk's office has ust started the process of lining up precinct officers for the election. Barger said his department should have less difficulty securing enough precinct officers

Accident Blocks Hwy 21 Monday Morning

By Beth Myers Citizen Editor

Traffic was blocked for a while on Highway 21, just east of Interstate Exit 76, on Monday morning, when a threecar accident occurred at 7:30 a.m. Unfortunately, the road was partially blocked at one of the busiest times of the day, for almost an hour.

The driver at fault from Michigan said the sun was in his eyes, and he didn't see the vehicles stopped at the intersection of Paint Lick Road and McKinney Drive. Both Amy Denham from Berea and Michelle Ramey from Winchester were involved in the accident. The first vehicle rear ended the second vehicle, which was then pushed in to the third vehicle.

Traffic has been a problem in Berea for the past week, with vehicles getting jammed on Chestnut Street. With the Berea Streets Department finishing the grading on Jefferson Street, many chose to drive on the parallel road of Chestnut instead.

Resources Awarded to Sheriff to Fight Drugs

By Beth Myers Citizen Editor

Madison County has now been determined to be a critical drug-trafficking region, according to the Madison County Sheriff's Department, joining surrounding counties with the same determination, such as Rockcastle, Jackson, and Estill.

On Monday, the sheriff's department was notified that Madison County had been added to the Appalachia HIDTA (High Intensity Drug Traffic Areas) program, which provides counties with greater resources more funding in order

Embrace Enormous Diversity of God's People

Dear Editor:

To many of us who are debating the fairness ordinance, nothing is more important than the Word of God. I am one of those people. I suspect that sometimes we are not arguing so much about the rights of LGBT persons, but rather how we understand God's Word.

If God's Word is simply to be equated with the Bible as something akin to the U. S. Army Manual, then we're in a pickle. For then, we have to say the preponderant number of texts in both testaments argue in favor of slavery. The rights of women to speak in public or in church, let alone to exercise other freedoms, appears to be in doubt. Money-lending faces a number of challenges, in the Gospel of John, the Word of God is a person? A person who broke some of the Bible's earlier rules in order to heal people on the Sabbath. A person who said that what comes out of a person is far more important that what the Bible says can go into a person? What if, also, the Word of God is the Holy Spirit, the same Spirit that came to Peter in a dream and told him to eat what the Bible called unclean foods? As the apostle Paul said, "Did you receive the Spirit by doing the works of the law or by believing what you heard?" (Galatians 3:2) centuries, God has worked through his risen Son and through the Holy Spirit to slowly and painfully bring us humans to a wider and wider consciousness of how broad and long and lieve God has done the same in my life.

I accepted Christ as my Lord and Savior 50 years ago in July. In that time God has opened my eyes to the power of women as pastors when I thought the Word of God said otherwise. And now, since I've encountered so many wonderful LGBT Christiansyes, and even ministersmy old prejudices about "unclean" homosexuality have been blown out of the

Of course I support guaranteeing the civil rights of LGBT persons through the proposed fairness ordi-I believe that over the nance. But what I long and pray for more fervently is the ever wider reach of Berea's arms to embrace the enormous diversity of all of God's people.

Remembering the Days of Dupree

Letters from Berea

Beth Myers

While the Fairness Ordinance has been taking up lots of attention, there are other dramatic things happening in our community. One of those is the performances of running back Damien Harris and the Madison Southern football team, which is so far undefeated.

It has been rather nostalgic for me to watch Southern and Harris becoming the focus of national attention -- the number one running back in the country. I, too, experienced such a phenomena, when I watched a young man called Marcus Dupree play at Philadelphia High School in Mississippi, when I still attended Philadelphia Elementary.

As a senior in 1981, he rushed for 2,955 yards and scored 36 touchdowns. He finished high school with 7,355 yards with a 8.3-yards-per-carry average. Watching him was a thing of beauty -- as soon as he hit open space, he was gone, and we'd scream our lungs out as he would truck down to the end zone, leaving the defenders at least 20 yards

We all expected Dupree to take the NFL by storm. He even made the cover of Sports Illustrated in 1983. But his career fizzled out through an odd sequence of events, including injuries, conflicts with coaches, and blowing out his knee. He fought back to play with the NFL Rams five years later, but was cut after leading in rushing yards because he "didn't fit the offense." And that was it for Dupree.

It's funny, his story was the one told about lost potential. But looking back now, I think it's more a matter of perspective. After all, many of the white folks fled to the county school after integration, and twenty years later Dupree showed why such a move meant getting your butt kicked year after year in the football showdown. That was a success at least as important as getting mauled in the NFL.

Now, he runs a pro wrestling promotion, has three sons, and an intact brain with joints that don't throb with pain every day because of 10 + years of pro ball. Perhaps in the end he is the lucky one.

Vote No on the Fairness Ordinance

Open Letter to Mayor and Berea City Council,

Should everyone be treated fairly? Absolutely! Is the so-called Fairness Ordinance going to make this happen? Absolutely Not! Is the ordinance going to prevent people from calling others names or throwing water bottles at them? No!

You cannot legislate love, kindness or just plain old common sense. The so-called Fairness Ordinance has already divided this community and will divide it even more so if passed.

Back when the Human Rights Commission was being discussed, I asked the question about what it would cost the city. Some of the Council members who were present at that meeting told me it would not cost the city anything. Then, you passed that ordinance to establish a Human Rights Commission (which just duplicated the State and Federal Commissions and which Berea did not need); and the next in previous elections are thing I knew you had budgeted $7,500 for the HRC. Now, I understand $12,000 is in the current budget; and that amount will have to increase to who knows what amount if you pass the so-called Fairness Or-

I pay city property taxes as well as payroll taxes, and I do not want my tax dollars being spent on the so-called Fairness Ordinance. Some of the people who are in favor of this ordinance are not even from Berea or Madison County, and many of them are even college students who may or may not become residents of Berea or Madison County when they graduate. You should not allow outsiders and/or college students to dictate your decision.

And, while I am on the subject of college students, neither should they be allowed to vote in Berea elections unless they are actually residents of Berea. Some of those who have been taken by bus to vote no longer in Berea--they were just here for the few years it took them to get their degrees.

It is not the fault of Berea College students that they are just being used as pawns in our local elections; the politicians who just want to further their own political agendas are the ones recruiting these students and registering them to vote for a certain slate of people, many of whom the students don't even know and would not even recognize on the street.

When I was a Berea College student, I always went back home to vote in elections until after I married and became a permanent resident of Berea during my senior year of college. But, back to my main purpose in writing this letter, I am asking all of you to please do the "fair" thing and vote "No" on the socalled Fairness Ordinance.

Ordinance Does Not Address Stated Problems

Dear Editor,

Is discrimination against the LGBT community an ongoing problem in Berea in regard to employment, housing, public accommodations or financial practices? No persistent problem in these areas has been verified. Stories have been shared that involve LGBT people being bullied or verbally harassed here in Berea. However, adoption of the proposed "Fairness Ordinance" would neither prevent nor remedy such situations. The ordinance is designed to prevent discrimination in regards to employment, housing, public accommodations and financial practices, not to police the content of personal conversations.

Since Berea does not have an ongoing problem with the types of discrimination the ordinance addresses, why has so much energy been expended on this topic? I believe the ordinance is polarizing because it is an attempt to add another stepping stone toward the normalization of same-sex sexual relationships in the eyes of the public and the legalization of same-sex marriage.

I have had many homosexual friends over the years, and I care deeply about their welfare. Yet, I cannot support same-sex ally right or support samesex marriage. Proponents of same-sex marriage claim that it is a matter of equality and that they simply want the same right to marry that everyone else has. What is not often acknowledged is that they do already have the same legal right to marry as everyone else. That is, they have the right to marry anyone of the opposite sex who is willing to marry them. Their problem is not that they are not allowed to marry, but that their sexual desires are not in line with the historical definition of marriage as being a commitment between man and woman. Thus, the push for legalizing same-sex marriage is not about equality. It is about changing the definition of marriage.

Before 2001, no civilization in all of recorded history had ever given same-sex relationships the same legal standing as heterosexual marriages. Marriage has been recognized as an arrangement between men and women 99.999% of the time. Therefore, those who are pushing for the legalization of same-sex marriage are demanding that we make a monumental, unprecedented shift in the structure of human society. If

sexual acts as being mor- marriage to be redefined to fit the sexual desires of a small segment of society, where will it end? Why couldn't five people share a single marriage with each other? Why couldn't a parent be married to his or her adult child? Why couldn't a man or woman be married to a dog? Why couldn't any mutually fulfilling sexual relationship be considered an adequate structure upon which to form a marriage?

I am sincerely (though imperfectly) trying to live as a follower of Jesus Christ. In Matthew 19:4-6, Jesus clearly teaches that God's intention for marriage is that it be one man committed to one woman for a lifetime. In the Bible, same-sex sexual acts are always presented as being sinful. God loves us much more than we love ourselves and much more than we love each other. God knows what is ultimately best for us. Will we trust what He says or not? Since I do not support its underlying agenda and since the amendments to the "Fairness Ordinance" do not address any ongoing problems in our community, I cannot support this ordinance.

Disagreement with a Stance Does Not Mean Hate

Dear Editor,

As we have journeyed through these last few months, our little paper has spent considerable, valuable space allowing us to discuss the fairness issue. To our Citizen and its editor, we owe a great deal of thanks. They have allowed us to read many pros and cons. From these, to say this town is in division is an understatement.

Freedom of speech is what makes this country great. However, what concerns me is how our society has become in response to someone challenging a person's stance. Over the last few years, it seems when a person is disagreed with, the word 'hate' is thrown out. It seems that somewhere, somehow we have been pushed to believe that if someone even slightly disagrees with your view, they actually

Hate is a harsh word. Folks, just because a person doesn't agree with another does not automatically mean the perceived 'offended' person is hated. I know personally I do not hate those who are promoting the fairness ordinance. The fact is, I just disagree with their assessment of the facts. A lack of firm, solid proof exists and many are basing need on assumptions or feelings. Assumptions and feelings have often lead to making hasty a decision, which is usually the wrong one.

I have had people call me a "backwoods moron and ignorant" simply because I don't agree with them on the fairness issue. I have personally been told I need to "understand" where all this is coming from and if I don't understand then I ultimately hate them. How untrue!

If that is the case, then I guess it's safe to assume they hate me, because they don't want to "understand" my strongly held religious belief. We could assume they hate us, because some of us have received phone calls that are venomous, threatening and down- right inappropriate in nature. I guess I should also assume the nails that have been strategically placed under my by those who know I don't support the merits of this issue. It should then be safe for me, and my fellow conservative Christians, to assume we are hated because of these actions.

Should I and my fellow citizens, who have been told directly by phone, email, or text, they wish us to contract a disease and drop dead; petition the council to investigate these as hate crimes? We could, but probably don't. Why? We understand the passionate actions of the few, does not represent the majority. We understand this is a passionate cause and that drives them. I too have passion for what

I believe, as do most of my fellow long-term citizens, as the first reading of the ordinance showed. We have been presenting our concerns in a civil, constructive manner. We are not promoting hate, just a different side to the merits at hand. And like many a messenger we are the ones attacked and being wrongly discriminated against within the writing of the ordinance. An ordiprotection and benefits for the few over all. How is that fair? So whether we like it or not, someone will always feel discriminated against and no law will rightfully correct that.

Vote No to the Fairness Ordinance

tires, more than once, were

Dear viewpoint readers,

Most recently, the viewpoint writers advocating the fairness ordinance took a few more cheap shots at their opposition:

"Soul murderers", one wrote, are those who oppose the healing work, which could possibly result from the implementation of this ordinance. Another shared his harrowing experience of watching an individual die from complications brought on by AIDS. He seemed to doubt anyone opposing fairness had ever witnessed - first hand, such a tragic loss of life (Yes, sir. We have). "How dare you".... be so cruel and insensitive, he implied, to those of us who believe business owners ought to have the right to hire and rent to whom they discern is a good fit for their work force or rental property. I recognize some of the fairness supporters as good and neighborly people. Folks who I have bonded with through business and fellowship. I do not oppose them, but I certainly oppose their interpretation of how much authority the government should be given for the purpose of making people feel good; good about who they are and how they live.

This applies no matter if one is gay at birth or if it is a learned behavior. And yes, all humanity needs grace and mercy. But just because someone is homosexual shouldn't demand they need law-enforced protections anymore than a heterosexual should need those same protections.

The primary reason stated by the advocates of this ordinance has been, if rejected, the LGBT community will have been told they are unworthy and undeserving of equal opportunity. Folks, that position is an attention grabbing distraction from the real matter at hand. People are not unworthy because of their sexual orientation.

And neither because of one's sexual orientation should he/she require the assistance herein desired. Without a doubt, diversity, compassion, unity, justice, fairness, the love of Christ: these are all wonderful qualities to strive for. Why wouldn't anyone want to aspire to them? Indeed. Why not? The thing is, those "treasures" will not be achieved by implementing the fairness ordinance and they are not being denied by its absence.

nance that provides more

It's been declared the fairness ordinance would prevent suicide, create much needed safety, stop discrimination, improve the local economy, and demonstrate authentic Christianity. Pretty impressive list of promises; a list I wouldn't count on being delivered. I would not gamble on those odds. Berea, as a whole, would not be well-served through this ordinance. And probably very few, if any, gay individuals would realize a positive, tangible impact from it. I ask Berea City Council and Mayor Connelly to put the matter to rest and vote no to the fairness ordinance.

In 2010, I promised to bring the principles that make a successful business to the County Clerk's Office.

I have fulfilled that promise. With your vote and support, I will continue to work for you like you are a customer I can't afford to lose.

I am proud to have delivered:

- $300,000 surplus at the end of my term
- $2 million given back to the county's general fund
- Reduced wait times by 75%
- Worked with many County departments to improve services
- Made hundreds of improvements in our office to help the citizens

Shelf Notes Ruthie Maslin, Madison Co. Library

"A library in the middle of a community is a cross between an emergency exit, a life raft and a festival. They are cathedrals of the mind; hospitals of the soul; theme parks of the imagina-

Caitlin Moran, "Moranthology"

This weekend, the Madison County Public Library is offering free fill-ups.

Friday morning, October 3, at 10 AM, MCPL's Second Annual Know-It-All Festival kicks off and continues through Saturday, October 4. More than 150 microworkshops – most 20 minutes long – are scheduled from 10 AM-5 PM Friday and Saturday at both library locations.

And everyone who attends automatically receives a free fill-up on knowledge: by the time they leave, their Know-It-All gauges will register "Full."

There will be opportunities to get back to basics. You can learn how to spin yarn from wool, raise poultry, make wine and cheese, and raise heirloom vegetables. There will even be demonstrations of modern day blacksmithing and an introduction to leatherwork.

You can learn new ways to have fun. Sessions on how to play chess and mah jong, hula hoop and jump rope, contra dance and Moonwalk will open the door to all sorts of new pastimes.

Maybe you are interested in more practical things like how to change a tire on your bike, lay a perfect bead of caulk, save money through couponing, or create and stick to a budget.

You can up your crafty quotient by learning how to make felt, upcycle bottle caps and cans into ornaments and jewelry, paint gourds, and make beautiful Norwegian Christmas ornaments. There will also be sessions on floral design, knitting, crocheting, and even origami.

Then there are opportunities for you to learn how to get healthier by trying out a fitness class, getting a nutrition consultation, making healthy green smoothies, or creating Mason jar meals to go.

You can stay safer by learning basics of CPR and self-defense, or improve your Last year, about 3,000 people did just that state of mind through workshops on how to reduce anxiety, improve your attitude, and relax through meditation.

Some sessions offer an introduction to caving, geocaching, or Dungeons & Dragons, while others give you a chance to explore your musical side by learning some basics of how to play the ukulele, write your own songs, or take a shot at musical improvisation.

You can learn how to avoid scams, maintain cyber security in the digital world, lower your mortgage payments, and take advantage of the IRS Earned Income Cred-

Or maybe you want to glam it up by learning how to choose the perfect hair color, how to do a flawless "cat eye," and how to create a perfect "up-do." (And maybe find out what an "up-do" is!)

You can overcome your fear of public speaking, learn about the Civil War, find out how to start your own coin collection, and discover new volunteer opportunities. Or maybe you want to plan the perfect "staycation" right here in Berea. There's a workshop for that, too.

There are way too many cool sessions to list. Guess that means you will just have to come to the library to discover them all!

during the two-day event, and this year promises to be even bigger.

I hope to see you this weekend (I'm leading sessions on ukulele basics, playing mah jong, and creating bottle cap Christmas ornaments). You, too, can become a real Know-It-All at the Madison County Public Library.

know our Kentucky State Police a little better."

The lead vehicle for the duration of the travels is a shiny red Kentucky State Police Corvette. State trooper Endre Samu and his wife, Rhonda, are leading the tours, and a museum representative drives at the back of the pack.

"We don't want to lose anyone," Renfrow said, tongue in cheek.

This is the fifth year that the National Corvette Museum facilitated a Kentucky tour. In 2010, they only scheduled one tour, but now they run tours for three weeks in a row. This week, the second tour is traveling around Kentucky, and next week will be the final tour. Both will be stopping at

Tater Knob Pottery on Fridays. Trooper Samu leads all three weeks of the tour, which usually start in October

Participants in the 2014 Kentucky Tour start with the National Corvette Museum Motorsports Park, and the Bowling Green Assembly Plant. During the week, they visit Dale Hollow State Park Resort, Maker's Mark Distillery, My Old Kentucky Home State Park, Versailles Castle, and Keeneland. On the final day of each of the three tours, the group visits Tater Knob Pottery and Renfro Valley, with dinner eaten at the Smokehouse Grill.

"We're having a good time, and giving money to a good cause at the same time," one Corvette driver said.

"We hope to continue this relationship with the Kentucky State Police for years to come," Renfrow said.

for the general election than they did for the primary, when there was an in-service day in the schools. Many of the precinct officers are staff from the school systems.

People should also be sure to check both sides of their ballots, Barger said, since some of the ballots will have elected positions on both sides.

Unlike many states, Kentucky still dictates that paper spreadsheets must be used to mark off voters when they come to fill out their ballot. This is the biggest obstacle, Barger said, to instituting early voting like many other states offer.

lic forum, and also signed up to speak.

The letter pointed out different items of concern that people had expressed regarding the Fairness Ordinance, and offered explanations or rebuttals to those items. One major point of emphasis was the fact that gender identity and sexual orientation were not protected classes, and no law provided protection for people being fired, denied housing, or social services, for those two characteristics.

"Those individuals were brave and courageous for talking publicly about their sexual orientation or gender identity," the letter stated, referring to people who spoke at the Sept. 16 forum. "These brave and loyal citizens of Berea will have no legal recourse open to them if they lose their jobs, are denied housing, experience humiliations or psychological abuse "

The letter stated further that Ordinance 18-14 was a civil and human rights issue, and was not about religious convictions. Regarding the cost to taxpayers, the letter pointed out that the HRC spent only $450 in 2013-14, and $46 so far this year, even though the budgeted amount was much greater. It also reported that all residents of Berea, to some extent, paid taxes to the city government, whether with property taxes, payroll taxes, or sales taxes, but not all Bereans were protected from discrimination.

Commission members reviewed the original draft of the council letter at a special called meeting on Monday. Commission member Adriel Woodman encouraged the commission to edit the seven-page document, to make it a much shorter, more succinct letter.

"This letter is both an explanation and an appeal," Woodman said. "I have the feeling that the council has already heard a lot of appeals. I think it should be just an explanation."

Jon Rogers agreed with Woodman's comments, stating, "If they read this whole thing, I'd be shocked. This is way too much."

While Gilbert, who was absent from the meeting, sent a message that she wished most of the content to remain intact, the commissioners ended up shortening the letter to four pages.

"It will make it stronger because the points will stand out," Rogers said.

Berea council members will vote on whether to pass the Fairness Ordinance at their meeting on October 7.

CITY OF BEREA FALL CLEAN-UP

RESIDENTS OF THE CITY OF BEREA

The City of Berea and Legacy Carting will hold FALL Clean-Up within the city limits of Berea, the week of OCTOBER, 6 - 10, 2014. The clean-up will coincide with your normal garbage pick up. The collection crews will remove a normal pick-up truck load on your scheduled day. Items for collection must be placed at curb side by 7:00 a.m. on the day of your pick up. If you should require a pick up other than your scheduled day and time, that service will be provided at the rate of $25.00 per request, not to exceed a legal pick-up load. All refuse must be placed in plastic bags or containers. Compost materials (wood, grass clippings, etc.) must be kept separate from normal garbage or trash. Larger limbs must be stacked in neat piles at the curb with all limbs facing the same direction. Small limbs and twigs must be placed in securely tied bundles or in plastic bags. Used appliances, and furniture will be collected and charged at Legacy's scheduled rates as listed below:

Appliances (White Goods) $12.8	31
Stuffed Chairs $ 7.6	59
Couches and Love Seats $12.8	31
Non-Stuffed Chairs $ 6.4	11
Carpeting $10.00 per roo	m

The Terrace Names August 2014 Employee of the Month

Lindsey Bates has been named our August Employee of the Month. Lindsey works as a SRNA. She has worked at The Terrace for four years. Lindsey states "The Terrace has such a great friendly and fresh environment. At the end of the day I am blessed to know that I have made a difference in someone's life, whether it be for our residents or family members. I love that everyone at The Terrace works as a team. I want to send a special thank you to all of the nurses at The Terrace for guiding me and giving me the knowledge to perform my best."

When Lindsey was asked what being named Employee of the Month meant to her she had this to say: "It is an honor to be recognized for the job performance that I do." Her supervisor, Patricia Dean, Director of Nursing had this to say about Lindsey.

"Lindsey is great at her job. She truly cares about the residents and our residents love her as well. We are glad to have her as part of our team."

In her spare time she enjoys spending time with her friends and family.

Congratulations Lindsey Bates, SRNA on an amazing job and your hard work and dedication to our residents and facility!

Southern Football Boosters. "This way people who really want to come can reserve a space."

While there is no maximum limit to how many tickets can be sold for a Southern football game this season people have been sitting on the surrounding track and the grass behind each goal post -- many of those places have poor viewing of the football field, and can get very crowded.

The reserve seating in the bleachers will cost $10, and the ticket purchaser will also have to pay the standard $6 at the gate. These tickets, which will ultimately cost $16, will

The middle two sections of the football bleachers will be used for the reserved seating. During the next week, seat numbers will be marked in the two sections, and the reserve tickets will have the seat number written on them. Ushers will be available for seating ticket holders.

The far right section of the bleachers is always reserved for Madison Southern students, so the left section will be the only "first come, first serve" seats.

The reserve seating also serves as a fundraiser for the football program. The money brought in from the gate is divided up to support all the sports at the school, but the $10 reservation fee will be given

Special to the Citizen

The Foley Middle School girls soccer team was the only one in their district who were undefeated nine games into the season. Coach Minyoung Bowling, who led the Lady Warriors through their winning streak, is very impressed with this year's team. The Middle Commonwealth School Athletic Conference lists Foley in the #1 slot on standings, leading Caudill, Model, Madison, Clark Moores, Farristown and Estill in consecutive order of rank.

Foley's battle with Model Laboratory School on Sept. 10 ended in the team's first tie. That game didn't count against Foley in the long-run, however. Each team plays each other twice during the season. Only the first game against each competitor counts toward the rankings.

Denise Hagan Berea City Council Creating Our Future through

I believe that a community is judged on the basis of how it treats all of its members: the weakest; the last; the least; and the littlest. As a former member of the Berea City Council, the change I seek is one that speaks to the future of Berea, as well as its past. That's why I am so excited to be running for city council and why it's important to know where I stand.

- Investing in our infrastructure to support smart growth and development in planning for our city's future.
- Encouraging small business development; growth of local business, and expanding economic development to develop more, meaningful, and highly skilled jobs
- Planning now to overcome the loss in revenue to come from the Blue Grass Depot's completion of the nerve gas neutralization program.
- Swift completion of 2nd phase of the bypass to further help facilitate the movement of traffic and relieve congestion
- Preserving green space/open space; restoring historical sites; encouraging local sustainability; and the continued development of pedestrian and bicycle pathways as safe and practical options to motorized transportation in Berea.
- The development of housing that encourages geographic diversity and promotes safety, independence, and a better quality of life for people of all ages, abilities, and income.
- The right of every Berea citizen to be treated with decency, respect, and fairness.

If you believe as I do, then I ask for your vote on Election Day, November 4 and encourage you to work with me in making a difference. In the meantime, I'd love to hear from you: drhagan42@msn.com or 985-1936.

More Mental Health Providers Arrive in Berea

Dr. Edd Easton-Hogg illustrates how some children use the therapeutic swing at Hogg Therapy Associates, both for occupational therapy and play therapy. Hogg Therapy Associates on North Broadway set up practice recently, and is one of two new mental health care practices in Berea.

By Ionathan Schinhofen Citizen Reporter

When it comes to professional mental health care, there is a problem in Berea. There simply are not enough providers.

current mental health providers in town stay busy, and many Bereans must go to Richmond, and even Lexington, for treatment. This is a service deficit in Berea, and unfortunate for local people who need help.

Recently, however, two new practices have opened up to try to fill some of the void. Dr. Edd Easton-Hogg is a doctor of psychology (Psy. D.) who has recently set up a practice in the Old Town Artisan Village. He can diagnose and treat mental disorders, work with relationship and identity and administer issues, psychological tests. Lisa Parsons is a licensed professional counselor associate (LPCA), whose office is on Glades Road next to Rite Aid. She is a specialist in play therapy, which is particularly effective with children, and also works with adults, couples, and families.

There are three different categories of mental health professionals – social workers, counselors, and psychologists – that are monitored by licensure boards in Kentucky. This has led to quite the alphabet soup for mental health practitioners. For social workers, the Kentucky Board of Social Work oversees certified social workers (CSW), licensed social workers (LSW), and licensed clinical social workers (LCSW).

The Kentucky Board of Licensed Professional Counselors oversees licensed professional counselor associates (LPCA) licensed professional clinical counselors (LPCC). Licensed psychological associates (LPA) and licensed psychological practitioners (LPP) are regulated by the Kentucky Board of Examiners of Psychology, although licensed practitioners can simply call themselves psychologists.

There are differences in the training and experience between psychologists, social workers, and counselors, but they are all qualified to diagnose and treat mental disorders and other emotional and intellectual issues people confront during their lives. None of them are allowed to prescribe medications. The philosophy in all three fields is that mental health is on a spectrum where each person could be better off or worse off, rather than simply being sick or healthy.

As a society, there have been strides toward reducing the stigma of consulting mental health professionals. But some still believe that people only seek out counseling when something is wrong with them. Nothing could be further from the truth. People seek counseling for issues ranging from deciding on a career change or improving family relationships, to treating severe mental illness or developmental disabilities. A counselor or therapist can be an important part of a person's overall health, especially when used in cooperation with a medical doctor.

The demand for mental health providers is projected to increase dramatically in the near future, especially with the greater emphasis on sending drug offenders to treatment instead of jail, and an increased willingness to seek mental health services and programs. So the new practitioners, and existing, should be welcome additions to the community. Anything that increases access to mental health care should benefit all of us.

Disclaimer: For the purposes of this article, "mental health professional" refers to a person practicing under the rules and regulations of the Kentucky Board of Social Work, the Kentucky Board of Licensed Professional Counselors, or the Kentucky Board of Examiners of Psychology. If you are practicing in the Berea area with a license from one of these agencies and we did not include your contact information, please contact the Berea Citizen at

The 6th Annual Paint the Town Pink campaign will be October 1 – 31. Paint the Town Pink is a month-long campaign designed to raise awareness about cancer to both men and women as they shop, dine and visit their daily, weekly and monthly businesses. More than 50 local businesses and organizations have partnered with Baptist Health, the City of Richmond and Madison County Fiscal Court to sponsor this annual

The goals for Paint the Town Pink are: 1. To encourage all women in our community, aged 40 or older, to have their annual mammogram

2. To raise money for local cancer charities to ensure the highest level of cancer care for the patients of Madison

3. Make a difference in the lives of those in our commu-

4. Come together as a community for a cause

Vigil Honored National Recovery Month

A candlelight prayer vigil was held on Wednesday, Sept. 17 at Union Church to honor National Recovery Month. Rev. Ken Gilbert and Rev. Rachel Small-Stokes led the service; there was a short talk about alcoholism and drug addiction beforehand. Prayers were said for the still-suffering alcoholics and addicts, those who are recovering, and their families and friends.

Senior Center Holds Open House

The Berea Senior Citizens Center, located on-West Jefferson Street behind the Folk Center, will have an Open House Fundraiser on October 10 from 6 - 9 p.m. Everyone is invited.

There will be a delicious supper served for only $5 with two menu choices -- soup beans and corn bread, coleslaw, drink and peach cobbler will be the first menu choice. Hot dog, chips, coleslaw drink and cookie is the second menu choice.

There will be a Silent Auction with many items donated by area businesses and by individuals. Among the items are gift certificates, jewelry, antique lamp and many other items. Please join us for an evening of good food and great gift items. All proceeds go to support the Berea Senior Citizens Center.

Berea Senior Citizens Center is a program for seniors ages 60 and over.

Their mission is to keep seniors active and healthy in the community. Health and fitness through exercise and nutrition are emphasized. Safety and awareness programs, recreation, field trips, dulcimer classes, book discussions, arts and crafts and painting are also offered.

Berea's seniors support. Come and have a great dinner on Friday evening, October 10.

Thesing Enrolls in Centre College

Sara Thesing of Berea enrolled this year at Centre College. The Class of 2018 is the largest incoming class in Centre's history, setting records for size, academic strength, geographic reach and diversity.

Thesing is the daughter of Theresa and John Thesing of Berea and is a graduate of Lexington Catholic High School.

Founded in 1819, Centre College has been a Forbes top-15 college/university in the South four years in a row, and a U.S. News top-ranked national liberal arts college. Centre is also included in Colleges That Change Lives.

This will be my

4th term if elected

Look at my past 6 years on the council and you can see how I voted and what I stood up for.

 $\star\star\star\star\star\star\star$

I'm not the kind of person that will tell you and promise anything to get your vote. What you do shows who you are, so the past 3 terms shows you where I stand, I will not let you down if you re-elect me. I'm not afraid to vote NO when I think it is needed.

I sure would appreciate your vote.

Thanks so much, Jerry Little

After three years, the vote on the Fairness Ordinance finally took place in Berea. The result? Berea will not be joining Lexington, Danville, Vicco, and four others as Kentucky cities that have made sexual orientation a protected class.

"I'm really disappointed," Rachel Small Stokes said, who was clearly emotional after the vote had taken place. "I feel like people let fear make the decision for Stokes, both an associate pastor at Union Church and a lesbian, stated that she often had people in her office talking about being homosexual, and how hard it was.

"I feel like there was a desire to keep the door open for discrimination," Stokes said.

ESPN Still On, Despite Harris' Injury

By Beth Myers Citizen Editor

Despite the injury suffered by running back Damien Harris in last Friday night's game, ESPN is still scheduled to come to Berea to televise Madison Southern's against Pulaski County this Friday.

Harris injured his leg in Southern's game against Southwestern, a game that Madison Southern ultimately lost 32-26. Harris traveled to see a physician in Lexington on Monday.

It is "doubtful" that Harris will be playing in Friday's game, however, according to Madison Southern Athletic Director Calvin Creech. Creech reported that Harris will not be needing surgery, though he didn't state the exact nature of the injury. It is unknown when he will return to play this ESPN first became interested in televising Southern's game against Pulaski because of Harris, who has been rated the number one running back by ESPN, Rivals. com, and Scout.com. ESPN did a site check the week before Harris' injury, and signed off that everything was acceptable.

City Passes Land Management Amendments

By Beth Myers

Citizen Editor At their meeting on Tuesday evening, city council members approve amended language for Berea's land management ordinance, in the added section that dictated that people must get a permit before putting certain auxiliary structures on their property. These auxiliary structures included such things as storage sheds, garages, and swimming pools.

Codes Director Dale VanWinkle reported at an earlier council meeting that there had been some problems with people setting up auxiliary buildings on right-of-ways, sewer lines, or other people's property. Requiring a permit, VanWinkle stated, would give the codes department the chance to advise the property owners before they committed to a location.

There was controversy surrounding the original amendment to the ordinance, because of

Legislative Meet & Greet This Saturday at Library

A pastry, a cup of coffee, and an opportunity to talk with candidates and local elected officials.

That's what the 4th Annual Legislative Meet & Greet, hosted by the Friends of the Madison County Public Library, offers this Saturday morning, October 11, from 9:30 - 10:30 a.m. at the Berea library location, 319 Chest-

The event happens each October as Friends of the Library groups across Kentucky host similar events to provide an opportunity for local residents to talk with elected officials and candidates in an informal setting about issues of importance to them, particularly the invaluable role public libraries play in the community.

"Advocacy is a top priority for us," explained Katlyn Ramsey, president of the Friends of the Madison County Public Library. "We believe libraries make a difference in the lives of people in our community every day, whether it is providing resources and training to help them get a job or connecting them to a whole new world of ideas."

Providing an informal forum for candidates, officials, and their constituents to meet face to face and talk about what's important to them is a part of connecting people to that world of ideas, Ramsey added. More than a thousand people across Kentucky attend these forums each October.

The event is free and open to the public.

Concert at Southern Features Disney Music

The Madison Southern Hembree said, the choir High School choir will be holding their fall concert this Thursday, Oct. 9, at 7 p.m. in Southern's Auditorium. The concert is a fundraiser for the choir's upcoming spring national competition.

Happy Anniversary to Us

October 12, Sounds like a lifetime ago doesn't it? And in many ways it was.

The country was knee deep in Watergate. Nixon had just resigned and not many people, I think, had much confidence in Gerry

The speed limit had been dropped to fifty-five miles an hour to help with the gas shortage, and that gas was being sold for fifty-five cents a gallon. The average price of a house was around thirty thousand dollars and the average annual income was just over thirteen thousand dollars.

The biggest things in technology were digital watches and pocket calculators. Some offices had even started to use the then, cutting edge, word processors that resembled typewriters more than computers. It boggles the mind how far technology has progressed in the past four decades.

I can't say the same about music. For me, those early seventies tunes are still much to be preferred over what passes for music these days.

Jimmy Ruffin's What Becomes of the Broken Hearted was the first song Casey Casum played on that week's top forty and the number one hit was by John Denver, Annie's Song. Remember Barry White and Can't Get Enough of Your Love Baby, what about Baby Love by Diana Ross and the Supremes? Those songs never get old

This coming Sunday, when October 12 rolls around again, Tex and I will have been married for forty years, forty years that have gone by so very quickly. There have been lots of life lessons along the journey and I'm sure there are more to come.

Among the things our marriage has taught us are grace, forgiveness, tenacity, love, faith, honesty, compassion and, to be perfectly honest, just the plain, flat refusal to ever give up. Not on each other or the marriage. I can honestly say that it grows stronger, richer, and more satisfying as the years go by, mostly because we constantly continue to work on it. We try to keep God at the center of our marriage and to treat each other with kindness and respect.

After those forty years, two sons who are honest, hardworking, productive members of society (not to mention incredibly intelligent and handsome), two wonderful daughters-inlaw and three beautiful and amazing grandchildren, we feel unbelievably blessed. Happily ever after does exist.

From our readers

We are reaping what we have foolishly sown

Dear Editor,

Psalm 91....God has comforted me with these words countless times until they have become more than black ink on dry paper, but living words of hope that I can believe each day of my life.

Events are causing me to look at these promises even closer.

Can I put my confidence in them in a world where a 54 year old woman can go into work in this country and be beheaded? Will the promise, "You will not fear the terror of night nor the arrow that flies by day, nor the pestilence that stalks in the darkness nor the plague that destroys at midday," sustain me when Ebola comes to my

We American Christians have had the privilege of living in a country blessed and protected by God. We have enjoyed his countless benefits for many years. America was birthed and rose to greatness based on faith in the Most High God. But, sadly and tragically, we have rejected him and have turned instead to unbelief and perversion. Our sins rival those of the most base of cultures. We murder thousands daily on the altar of abortion and flaunt our sinful lifestyles in defiance and without

Can God continue to bless us in our rebellion? Can he continue to hold back his anger as we shake our fist in his face? I submit to you that his anger is here and that it is just and righteous. We, as a nation are reaping what we have rebelliously and foolishly sown. Until we as a people repent and turn from our wickedness, we can only expect the mighty and just discipline of God.

Does he delight in this? No! He does not! He is slow to anger and abounding in love and is not willing any that any should perish in sin. He has patiently sent us his Son, his prophets, his Word and his warnings, but we have not listened and have only continued headlong on our path to destruction.

The Church is not guiltless in this. We have retreated into out four walls, not seeming to care that those around us are being delivered by the busloads to the gates of hell. Sexual sin of every kind is rife among us and zeal for righteousness and holiness has been replaced by apathy and conformity to baseness. Church, it is time to repent!

Are you ready? Are you ready to meet God either by your own death or by the imminent physical return of Jesus Christ to this earth?

We are instructed by the Word to examine ourselves to see if we really are in the faith. Are you trusting that a decision you made decades ago will grant you a ticket to automatic access to Heaven when, in reality, you live far from God and seem to care nothing for

Please make that sure. I am so thankful for the promise in Psalm 91 that "He who dwells in the shelter of the Most High will rest in the shadow of the Almighty. I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress, my God in whom I trust."

May you too find peace in this promise and refuge

The fourth category of mental health professionals

Dear Editor,

I want to applaud Jonathan Schinhofen for his excellent article on mental health providers in Berea and bringing attention to the available resources. I would like to add, though, that there is a fourth category of mental health professional monitored by licensure board in Kentucky – Marriages and Family Therapy (www. mft.ky.gov).

The American Association of Marriage and Family Therapists website has an excellent, brief overview of Marriage and Family Therapists, their effectiveness, and how they differ from social work (LCSW), counselors (LPCA and LPCC) and psycholo-(www.amft.org, About AAMFT: Qualifications and FAQs, see also the Kentucky division's website www.kamft.org). I quote here from those webpages: Marriage and family therapists (MFTs) are mental health professionals trained in psychotherapy and family systems, and licensed to diagnose and treat mental and emotional disorders within the context of marriage, couples and family systems.

Marriage and family therapists broaden the traditional emphasis on the individual to attend to the nature and role of individuals in primary relationship networks such as marriage and the family.

family therapy is brief, solution-focused, specific, with attainable therapeutic goals, and designed with the "end in mind."

Marriage and family therapists treat a wide range of serious clinical problems including depression, marital problems, anxiety, individual psychological problems, and child-parent problems.

In a recent study, consumers report that marriage and family therpists are the mental health professionals they would most likely recommend to friends. Over 98 percent of clients of marriage and family therpists report therapy services as good or excellent.

Marriage and family therapy's prominence in the mental health field has increased due to its brief, solution-focused treatment, its family-centered approach, and its demonstrated effectiveness. Marriage and family therapists are licensed in 46 states and are recognized by the federal government as members of a distinct mental health discipline.

Marriages and family therapists undergo a strict licensure process. After earning a master's of doctoral degree form an accredited institution, they must pass a national licensure test and in Kentucky earn 1000 clinical hours (face-to-face experience with clients) and 200 supervision hours (in which cases are reviewed and clinical practice is established). Locally, the University of Kentucky has an accredited marriage and family training program, as does Louisville Presbyterian Theological Semi-

I know all this because I am a licensed marriage and family therpiast practicing in Berea. In addition to marriage and family therapy, I am an ordained United Methoidist minister and am endorsed by The United Methodist Church as a marriage and family therapist. I have credential and practical experience in addressing faith issues in therapy. I'm also trained in EMDR, recognized by the World Heath Organization (2013), the American Psychiatric Association (2004) and the Department of Veterans Affairs and Department of Defense (2004, 2010) as an effective treatment for PTDS and trauma. (www.edmr.com) My practice is located at the Berea Healing Arts space at 122 Main Street in Berea, just down the hall from Carol Peachee and Brian McDonald, who were both listed in last week's article on mental health. I can be reached at 859-582-0922 or www.counselingberea.org.

Thank you, Berea Citizen, for keeping the citizens of our community informed and educated about these important mental health

The morning begins at 9 a.m. with the local American Solar Energy Society National Solar Tour. Berea is hosting one of three tours in the state of Kentucky.

"We hope our tour will be educational, informative, and teach people how to save money by conserving energy and embracing all of the ways we can take advantage of solar energy," says Cheyenne Olson of Sustainable Berea.

A three-hour guided bus tour, with the knowledgeable leadership of Josh Bills, costs $5/person. Contact Sustainable Berea at 985-1689 or info@sustainableberea.org to reserve a seat.

Individual visits are also welcome from 9 a.m. to noon at the nine sites, which this year include Berea College's Deep Green Residence Hall and the Jeantheau house, which exceeds the requirements for Energy Star's 5-star rating. Maps and directions for the

From 12 - 4 p.m., all activities will take place at the BMU building on Harrison Road. Berea Municipal Utilities Day is a yearly open house offered by BMU as an appreciation for employees, their families, and customers. They will provide free hot dogs and hamburgers at noon, offer an inflatable obstacle course for kids, and show off some of their trucks and new equipment, including cherry pickers and digger derricks.

Their rodeo competition team will demonstrate some of their competition skills including speed climbing on a pole and rescues. Informational booths will teach about Berea's city water, electric, and wastewater systems.

Also from 12 - 4 p.m., the National Solar Tour will conclude at the BMU build-

Originally, Friday's game was to be played in Pulaski County, but ESPN was interested in having the contest moved to Berea, mostly because of Southern's turf field. The Eagles will have a tough time against Pulaski, who eliminated

"We moved the Celebrate Solar Event to the BMU to help highlight the Berea City 246-panel Solar Farm," shares Olson. "We are very fortunate to have this solar farm in our city. Leasing a panel is a great way to save on your electric bill."

Ninety-six of the panels are available for lease.

After welcoming marks at 12:30 p.m., there will be a ceremony dedicating the new Monarch Waystation at BMU. Rice and vegetables cooked on a rocket stove (highly efficient wood-burning stove) can be purchased for $3 a bowl. Union Church will be conducting a blessing of the animals at 2:30 p.m., so people can bring pets.

Three classroom presentations from 1:30 - 2:45 p.m. will cover "Solar PV and Hot Water," "Energy Strategies Conservation for Home and Office," and "Job Prospects in Energy and Energy Conservation." Booths will provide information about solar and alternative energy and the Berea Energy Conservation Savings study, a plan to reduce both residential and a strong case for the need for a fairness ordinance.

Southern from the playoffs last year on their way to placing as runner-up in the Class 5A championship. Without their star running back, and possibly senior J. D. Dean who was also injured against Southwestern, Southern could be facing an impossible challenge.

"I've studied on this thing and looked at it, and it's been really hard for me to find a reason for the ordinance," Powell said. "It's a good ordinance, it's well written, but I've not found any reason for it."

Farmer, after thanking everyone for their interest and their passion in the subject, stated that, "I fully believe in and absolutely support fair treatment and equal opportunity for all people." She also spoke, however, of the division, discord, and polarization that had been created by the Fairness Ordinance in "our special town," and her concerns about the ordinance's potential liability. "I am absolutely for fairness and equality for all people," Farmer said, getting teary at the end, "but I cannot support this ordinance."

Kerby, who led the group that drafted the ordinance, reminded council members that, "If there are any of us who do not have equal rights, that affects all of us."

She also expressed her desire, as others on the council did, that the community would be able to heal when the vote was

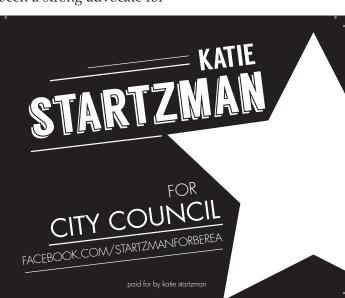

After the Fairness Ordinance failed, Burnside commented that the issue was very divided for the community, and "you could feel the pain on the council members' eyes and hearts."

"I really, really hope that we can find a way to come back together, especially if the town is as special as we say we are," Burnside said, who will not be running for re-election.

Union Church pastor Kent Gilbert, who has been a strong advocate for the Fairness Ordinance, stated that he thought it was extraordinarily naïve to think the community could just go back to normal, especially when there are people in the town who "are being discriminated against, and do not have the same rights as heterosexuals."

Bereans for Fairness met at Union Church following the city council meeting. Gilbert and Stokes stated that they were sure Fairness advocates would continue fighting for equal rights for the LGBT community in Berea, which may or may not include continuing the struggle to get this exact Fairness Ordinance approved.

The group has a mostly older female membership, with the average age around 70. The club has been able to keep numbers strong through the years; currently there are 36 members. Though women of any age can join, younger females of Berea have tended to join the Younger Woman's Club of Berea, partly because the Berea Women's Club meets at 12 p.m., and often goes until 1:30 p.m. or 2

There have been many prominent Berea women involved with the club over the years, including Dr. Louise Hutchins, Lucille Stephens, Frances Moore, Joyce Henderson, and Sidney Farr. The first president of Berea Women's Club was Mrs. Scott McGuire.

Many women start to attend the Berea Women's Club after moving to Berea, partly to become more familiar with the area. Both Gilbert and current president Hazel Morris joined the club after relocating to Berea, and found it an invaluable source of social and educational enrichment.

"I joined primarily to be with this group of women," Gilbert

The Women's Club meets twice a month at the Smokehouse Grill, on the first and third Wednesdays of the month. They always host a speaker from the community, and that annual schedule is created before their first meeting in September. The members enjoy hearing from people who can speak to current issues in the town, and they also invite people who can inform or educate them about different topics such as gardening or using

"I moved here from Fort Worth, Texas," Morris said, "and I have enjoyed the relationships I've made and the programs, which have all been so interesting."

Speakers for this year include such local notables as Belle Jackson speaking on tourism, Gwen Childs speaking on the Berea Arts Council, Mayor Steve Connelly speaking on news in and around Berea, Kendel Arthur speaking on CASA, and Carla Bauman speaking on plants as medicine.

The group takes two field trips during the year, and on October 15, they will travel to the Ruth Hunt Candy Factory in Mt. Ster-

Morris would like to bring more members into their group, and also add to their diversity. Dues for Berea Women's Club are $20; interested women are welcome to come and attend a meeting.

Forum Held on Library Long-Range Planning

What will your Madi- support of our close son County Public Library look like in five or 10 years? What services and facilities would you like to see?

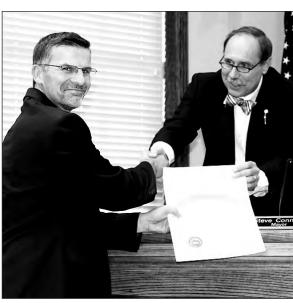

These are some of the questions that will be on the table this Thursday night, Oct. 9, at the Berea location of the Madison County Public Library. The library is holding the first community response forum that is part of the library's long-range planning process, according to library director Ruthie Maslin.

The library's fivemember board of trustees is currently working on a long-range plan for the future of the library's presence in the community. Gathering community input is an important part of that process, Maslin commented.

"Our library system is made possible by local tax dollars and by the active use and to 51,000 library card holders," she said. "We want folks in our community to have a voice in how library facilities and service will grow over the next five or ten

The year-long planning process by the library board goes handin-hand with the new five-year strategic plan the staff is currently working on. Maslin said there will be opportunities for community input on both plans throughout the

The first session is tonight, October 9, from 6 - 7:30 p.m. at the library at 319 Chestnut Street. The next session will be held Tuesday, October 28, 6 - 7:30 p.m. at the Richmond library location, 507 West Main Street. The events are open to everyone, and light refreshments will be served.

old language that defined auxiliary structures as also including tree houses and swing sets. Those items were taken out in the amended ordinance. Council member Chad Hembree was the sole negative vote on the amended ordinance.

"I think it's very inconvenient for citizens to have to get a permit, whether it costs them anything or not, to have someone come to their property to approve putting up a pre-fab shed," Hembree said.

Council members also heard the first reading of another amendment to the land management ordinance regarding the approval of development plans. The amendment stated that staff from the codes department could approve the smaller multifamily developments, commercial developments and industrial plots.

"Right now everything must go to the planning commission," VanWinkle said. "We're kind of trying to shorten the process. A lot of these things are almost a rubber stamp anyway, and the planning commission doesn't have to look at all of them, but they have been. So this will give them some time to do some other stuff."

The larger, more complicated developments will still go to the planning commission, VanWinkle said, since approval would involve more than just a checklist. Council members agreed that this was an important change, and should speed up approval for developers.

The City of Berea recognized Novelis at the city council meeting on Tuesday, for their 25 years working in the community. The recycling and aluminum rolling industry gave ceived for the Oak Street a gift to Berea in honor Substation, which had of the anniversary, while Mayor Steve Connelly recognized them for Industrial Appreciation Month. Jeff Cruse was on hand to accept the proclamation.

Connelly announced that the City of Berea was recognized at the Governor's Energy Conference.

Four different cities reported on their innovation in terms of energy efficiency, and Connelly reported on the solar farm. Tours of the solar farm will be given this weekend.

As of October 13, the city will start to pick up leaves, and will continue through Dec. 25. Regular brush pick-up takes place on the third full week of the month. Now Bereans can also take their brush and yard waste to Berea's Convenience Center on 250 Estridge Road on the first and third Saturdays from 8 – 11 a.m. Only city residents will be able to do this, and they will have to provide identification. Only biodegradable bags can be used for the yard waste and brush. Twelve bids were rethree different bid components including substation structures and equipment, site work and preparation, and a concrete controlled building and associated equipment. Connelly stated that the bids were all mixed up regarding which pieces they were bidding in Berea. For many years, there have been three local fairs - two Kentucky Guild fairs in spring and fall, and the summer fair organized by the Bellando family. The Bellando family, however, handed over the summer fair to the City of Berea a year ago, and the Kentucky Guild membership has decided to no longer hold a spring fair. - Media Sale and Drop Off CPO area, Woods-Penn

- Media Sale Drop Off Saturday, October 18, 9:00 a.m. noon
- Media Sale Tuesday, October 21, 9:00 a.m. 6:00 p.m. & Wednesday, October 22, 9:00 a.m. - 3:00 p.m.

AAUW is collecting books: fiction, non-fiction, CDs, DVDs, board games, magazines and videos to be sold Tuesday, October 21 and Wednesday, October 22.

Collect any unwanted media materials that you wish to donate to AAUW for sale to students and citizens of Berea and surrounding areas and bring them for drop off on Saturday, October 18.

All proceeds from the MEDIA SALE go towards women's scholarships. In February 2015, AAUW will inform high schools of the availability of scholarships for graduating high school seniors and Berea College, for a non-traditional student.

AAUW advances equity for women and girls through advocacy, education and research. For information about becoming a member of AAUW or the MEDIA SALE, call (859) 623-5832. or email cecilel@roadrunner.com.

Re-Elect County Clerk www.Kenny4Clerk.com

In 2010, I promised to bring the principles that make a successful business to the County Clerk's Office. I have fulfilled that promise. With your vote and support, I will continue to work for you like you are a customer I can't afford to lose.

I am proud to have delivered:

- $300,000 surplus at the end of my term
- $2 million given back to the county's general fund
- Reduced wait times by 75%
- Worked with many County departments to improve services
- Made hundreds of improvements in our office to help the citizens

More Connections

Our Chamber members have a better connection to the community because they are connected to each other. In addition to our monthly newsletter and membership meetings, our Chamber members receive timely communications through our email distribution lists two and three times per week.

Your circle of influence is 275 businesses strong. Collectively we can accomplish things that we could not consider as a small business owner.

Join us for New Member Orienta-tion Sessions, Speed Networking, committee work and monthly membership meetings.

As a business owner, you do not have time to attend all of the public meetings and follow local, state and federal issues. Chamber membership allows you to focus on your business while we work with local governments to represent the needs of our business community.

Getting The Job Done

- Balanced every budget with a positive cash reserve.
- Spotless state audits every year.
- Over 2 million dollars of investment income deposited into the county's general fund.
- Over 250 million dollars in infrastructure including roads, water, sewer, parks and new facilities by working closely with Democrats and Republicans in Frankfort and Washington.
- Constantly working with both city governments to improve and upgrade services to every resident of Madison County.
- Never raised your taxes.

Cory Payton said, "Music as art is very important in a child's development. Music is a component of education, not only as art, but also as mathematics. It plays a duality."

Daniel Service said, "I think it is integral in helping them develop an imagination. Through that imagina tion they develop different lenses through which to view the world."

Mary Colmer shows the cornshuck doll she made for the Spoonbread Festival -- a woman with a spoon in her hand. Mary finds joy in all her different art mediums, that include weaving, playing the dulcimer and piano, doll making, and painting. Her latest passion is creating imaginary, artistic worlds on Minecraft, which has a following of almost 3,000 people.

By Beth Myers Citizen Editor

Mary Colmer's life as an artist could be viewed as a crazy quilt made up of cornshuck dolls, folk music, weaving, painting, natural art, and since last year, livestreaming as a creator on the game Minecraft.

Her wild and wooly life adventures have taken her from Canada to New York City, Vietnam, a farm in Michigan, and finally Berea, and her art always traveled with her as a constant companion.

"I want to make the world a more beautiful place," Mary said simply, when thinking of her life as an artist. "There's so much war, suffering, and every day I think of what I can do."

Mary started the shop Weaver's Bottom in Old Town Artisan Village with her husband, Neil, in 1989. She paid $1 for a down payment, after their landlord of the shop they were renting told her in exasperation that they should just buy the building, because of their complaints regarding its rough condition. She remembers with humor going to the bank to get a loan, and the officer asking her what they had for collateral.

"I asked him, 'what's collateral?' and he said, 'Mary, we might have a problem," Mary said laughing.

Weaver's Bottom, a name they created when a friend said it took a lot of "bottom" to own their own place, has been a mainstay in the Artisan Village for over 20 years. Known for beautifully woven pieces for sale, the store has four different looms set up in the shop. Mary also sells lots of cornshuck dolls that she first learned to make from Jean Ritchie's sister. She has made 11,391 cornshuck dolls.

Her latest artistic passion, however, has taken her to a digital world mostly populated by kids and teenagers. Her son and grandchildren introduced her to Minecraft, an online game where players can work together to create imaginative worlds. Mary, under her "nom de plume" of Bacon Mom, is gaining a reputation for creating fantastical, artistic worlds, such as a colorful, quilted desert. She now has 2,830 people following her as she creates livestream, and she is often the recipient of the compliment, "GG Bacon Mom! GG!" (good game). Her fellow game players, however, haven't all been helpful.

"I saw someone on my bridge one time, and they were pouring lava all down my world," Mary said indignantly.

Many of her followers were upset at the digital lava de-

NACCO Presents Kentucky Guild with Donation for Youth Activities

Hannah and Sierra Allen proudly presented a donation, on behalf of NACCO Materials Handling Group, Inc., to Jeannette Rowlette of the Kentucky Guild of Artists and Craftsmen. The local company strongly believes that raising awareness among the community's youth is vital to keeping the rich regional heritage alive.

NACCO's contribution will help fund youth activities toward that end, throughout the two days of this weekend's Kentucky Guild of Arts and Crafts Fair at Indian Fort Theatre, making the fair truly a "family affair". The above young ladies are the daughters of NACCO employee Chris Allen and his wife Katrina.

Operation Christmas Child "Kicks Off" Thursday

Child will host a free "Kick-Off" event in Berea on Thursday, Oct. 9 at 6:30 p.m. at Westside Baptist Church on Prince Royal

Madison County volunteers serving or interested in serving as their church, school or community group's organizer of shoebox preparation should attend. The event will kick off the upcoming collection season with 28,500 gift-filled shoeboxes, expected to be packed by Guest speaker Hasty Martin, a year-round volunteer with Operation Christmas Child, will share photos and firsthand stories of her shoebox distribution trip to Uganda. She said her hope is for attendees to "leave the countdown event inspired about the impact shoebox gifts are having on children all over the

the Bluegrass Area Team Nov. 17 - 24, shoeboxes which comprises 15 counpacked with toys, school supplies, and hygiene items will be collected at convenient drop-off locations, the first stop on a journey across the world for thousands of gifts sent to hurting children overseas using whatever means necessary—boats, airplanes, trains and even elephants.

Operation Christmas Child is a project of Samaritan's Purse, an international Christian relief and evangelism organization headed by Franklin Graham. Since 1993, Operation Christmas Child has delivered gift filled shoeboxes to more than 113 million children in more than 150 countries.

In 2014, Operation Christmas Child hopes to collect enough shoebox gifts to reach another 10 million children. Call (502) 319-0539 or email Shelly Settle at shellysettle@aol.com to register for the workshop, or visit samaritanspurse.org for more information.

Silver Creek Homemakers Hold October Meeting

Silver Creek Homemakers had 27 people present with three visitors this month, which were Mille Sikes, Sandy Lake and Fawn Conley.

Devotion was given by Virginia Farmer, with some facts from Iraq. Did you know that the Garden of Eden was in Iraq? That Noah built the ark in Iraq? The Tower of Babel was in Iraq and the Three Wise Men were from Iraq. We thought this was very in-

Our treasurer Darlene Tate announced our donations to the Ovarian

Cancer Research Center and also to 4-H. She talked about our Care Bear workshops for sick children, and pillows that we make for sick children and breast cancer patients. She invited everyone to at-

Our president Sue Taylor gave us a small, fun quiz involving the word "Valentines". She informed us that on Wednesday, November 5, from 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., AARP will be giving a Smart Driver Safety Course at the Madison County Extension Office. This course is for ages 50 and over, and there will not be any exams. This course identifies many of the changes which occur as we age, and suggests strategies for accommodating those changes for safer driving. Anyone who completes the course will receive a certificate which many car insurance agencies honor with a discount. The course will be $15 for AARP members and $20 for non-members. Seating is limited so please call 623-4072 to preregister by October 31.

Darlene Luster gave us the main lesson on "Let's have a spa day", regarding the protection, exfoliate and nourishment for our skin. She told us to avoid drinking alcohol, and tanning and smoking, and to drink lots of water, exercise regularly with healthy eating habits, and always wear sunscreen.

Kenneth Tate stated that as fall is upon us to remember how to prevent "Falls" by getting eyes checked regularly, and updating medications, as well as getting better lighting in your home.

Our October birthdays are Darlene Luster and Millie Sikes. We invite everyone to come to our next meeting in November, which takes place on the first Thursday of the month at 10 a.m. at the Madison County extension office.

First Meeting of Berea Woman's Club

The Berea Woman's Club had its first meeting of the season on Wednesday, September 20, with 19 members and guests present. The speaker, Debra Hille, used the topic, Art as Healing, to describe her work at St. Joe's Hospital and in area schools. She uses an art cart full of many things a person might choose to create art, which helps them work against depression. She also suggested many ways anyone can make changes to avoid depression, such as changing the paint colors in a room to a known soothing color, or turning some chairs in a waiting room or a living room to face the windows instead of the T.V. so that a person can choose an alternative environment.

It was an interested and valuable talk.

The next meeting of the woman's club was on October 1 at noon at the Smokehouse Grill. Lunch is Dutch treat. The speaker was Belle Jackson who brought us up-to-date on happenings in Berea. All are welcome to other meetings of the Berea Woman's Club. For information, call 859-985-1144.

Free Health Screenings at Berea Baptist

Free health screenings at Berea Baptist Church will take place this Saturday, October 11, at 8 a.m. until 12 p.m. The screenings are sponsored by Ephraim McDowell Healtĥ. Appointments for the free screenings can be made by calling 986-4389; walk-ins are also welcome.

The health screenings offered are blood pressure, heart rate, ¹cholesterol, glucose, body mass index, and stroke risk scorecard. Free flu shots will be available. Following completion of the health screenings, a licensed health professional will meet with all participants. The screenings are open to the public for anyone 12 and older. Children from 12 – 17 must be accompanied by a custodian parent.

The second concert in the 2014-15 Second Sunday Concert series at The Episcopal Church of Our Saviour is on October 12 at 2 pm. The October concert features Madison Brass - a chamber brass ensemble that performs across Kentucky and Tennessee. Members are musicians from across the region with outstanding music education and performance experience.

Elect Denise Hagan Berea City Council Creating Our Future through

I believe that a community is judged on the basis of how it treats all of its members: the weakest; the last; the least; and the littlest. As a former member of the Berea City Council, the change I seek is one that speaks to the future of Berea, as well as its past. That's why I am so excited to be running for city council and why it's important to know where I stand.

I support:

- Investing in our infrastructure to support smart growth and development in planning for our city's future.
- Encouraging small business development; growth of local business, and expanding economic development to develop more, meaningful, and highly skilled jobs
- Planning now to overcome the loss in revenue to come from the Blue Grass Depot's completion of the nerve gas neutralization program.
- Swift completion of 2nd phase of the bypass to further help facilitate the movement of traffic and relieve congestion
- Preserving green space/open space; restoring historical sites; encouraging local sustainability; and the continued development of pedestrian and bicycle pathways as safe and practical options to motorized transportation in Berea.
- The development of housing that encourages geographic diversity and promotes safety, independence, and a better quality of life for people of all ages, abilities, and income.
- The right of every Berea citizen to be treated with decency, respect, and fairness.

If you believe as I do, then I ask for your vote on Election Day, November 4 and encourage you to work with me in making a difference. In the meantime, I'd love to hear from you: drhagan42@msn.com or 985-1936.

JERRY LITTLE BEREA CITY COUNCIL

"My Reputation is Your Guarantee"

My * Goals

Help keep the budget as low as possible.

Make good sound decisions on spending the tax payers money.

Help make sure utility rates and taxes are as low as possible for the people of Berea.

Work with all parties to get the best job done.

Help make sure our city services are the most efficient & best you can get.

Have a good working relationship with Berea College. It's very important.

Finally,

Save some money for a rainy day fund. "Don't Spend Everything."

I appreciate your vote & support

FROM THE BEREA CITIZEN ARCHIVES OCTOBER 1964

Reflections

There were four men who were running for election to the Berea School Board in 1964, and the League of Women Voters sponsored a session where the four of them expressed their views and opinions. They were Edsel Arnett, Jim Buck Morgan, Ronald Pennington, and Robert White. Two of them would be elected on November 3.

The Berea City Council passed an ordinance to start a municipal garbage collection system on January 1, 1965. The law stipulated that the city would collect and dispose of all the garbage and trash within the city, and that the Sewer Commission would manage the system. Owners or occupants would be billed for the garbage pickup.

The ordinance also dictated that no one could burn garbage, trash, leaves, or weeds outside of any residence or building within the city.

The Berea City Schools band parents' organization installed new officers in October 1964. The new president was Charles Owen, the new vice president was James Bowman, the secretary was Mrs. Stephen Kiteck, and the treasurer was Mrs. A. G. Estridge.

The senior class of Berea High School presented a senior play on October 16 in the auditorium of Berea High School. The play was Curtain Going Up. Members of the cast were Margaret Allen, Jane McKinney, Elizabeth Benge, Terry Williams, Marsha Anderson, Gerri Brock, Barbara Malicote, Janet Shupe, Janet Young, Judy Sparks, Vickie Raider, Kyle Roberts, Danny Philpot, George Moore, Richard Hamilton, Larry Linville, Paul Barker, Bill Bootee, and Robert Davidson.

The Board of Trustees of Berea College gave general approval to the possible development of a cooperative school program with the Berea Independent School District. The city board of education approached the college with proposed plans for a new city school, and suggested the merger.

The October Cinema Guild presented Treasure of Sierra Madre on October 14, 1964. It was an American film. The Cinema Guild was showing films each month in Phelps Stokes Chapel on the Berea College campus.

The Cinema Guild showed award-winning American and foreign films, and didn't charge admission. Since the Guild was supported by sponsors, they were able to get films on a lower rental rate. Other films they scheduled in 1964 were Richard III, The Magician, Jules and Jim, The Trial, My Name is Ivan, Last Year at Marienbad, and All At Sea.

The Foundation cross country team, coached by Joe Keith, met Somerset in a game in October. The members of the squad were Roger Utterback, John Kirk, Haskel Keith, Allen McLaughlin, Billy Hughes, Wynn Blanton, Lee Hisle, and Robert Hutchins.

Girls from Junior Girl Scout troops 421 and 390 held a joint observance of their founders' birthday on October 31. A choric reading was given by Alice Curtis, Donna Smith, Jan Davis, Garnet Kindel,

The Berea and Richmond Rotary Clubs honored the Cardinals, the champion little league baseball team of Berea, on September 15, 1964, at Boone Tavern Hotel. Earle Combs, a former New York Yankee, was the guest speaker. In the front row, (l-r) were Paul Calico, Charles Brandenburg, David Evans, Dallas Mason, Mike Vint and Roger Richmond; in the second row were Gary Powell, Larry Brandenburg, Charles Wylie, Johnny Devere, David Osolnik and Alan Brandenburg; in third row were James Williams, Mitchell Romans, Larry French of the Pirates, Jackie Duerson, Glen Miracle, Doug Neely and Thurman Calico, coach; in fourth row were Nathaniel Johnson, chairman of the park board and officiating Rotarian, Earle Combs and Glendon Brandenburg, Cardinals manager.

Wilma Clemmons

Wilma Clemmons, 82, of Center Street in Berea, died Monday, Oct. 13, 2014 at the St. Joseph Berea Hospital. She was born in Jackson County to the late Charlie Millard Clemmons and Addie Alexander Clemmons.

Wilma was an avid gardener and loved flowers. She was retired from Dresser Industries in Berea, and was a member of the Berea Baptist Church.

Wilma is survived by her cat, Sam, and many friends and neighbors. No funeral services are planned according to her wishes, but there will be a visitation from 10 – 11 a.m. on Friday, Oct. 17, 2014.

Wilma will be buried beside her parents at the Kerby Knob Cemetery in Jackson County. Lakes Funeral Home handled the arrangements. Online condolences at www.lakesfuneralhome.com.

Willie Harper Sparks

On October 9, 2014, God gained another angel, Willie Harper Sparks. He was 54 years old.

Willie was a hard working man all his life, not to mention he was a wonderful husband and father. He is survived by his wife, Renea Gadd-Sparks; his children, Ashley Sparks, Kenny (Samantha) Gadd, Nick Gadd, Nicole Gadd, Tyler Sparks, Jacob Sparks, and Kayla Cope; one grandson, Logan Saylor; and one granddaughter, Arayah Durham.

Willie is also survived by his mother, Angline Saylor and stepdad William Saylor; and his three sisters, Ruby (Bill Jack) Alcorn, Carmie Callahan, and Kathy Saylor. He also had three nephews, Christopher Saylor, Michael Flanery, and Willie was loved by many and blessed with good family and friends. He will be loved and missed by all.

Funeral services for Willie were 1 p.m. on Monday, October 13, 2014 at Crestview Holy Sanctuary with Bro. Harold Eads and Bro. Luther Akers officiating. Burial followed in the Durham Cemetery. Davis & Powell Funeral Home is in charge of the arrangements. www.davisandpowellfuneralhome.com

Hunger Hurts Food Drive Next Weekend

The 22nd Annual Hunger Hurts Food Drive, coordinated by Berea College's Center for Excellence in Learning through Service (CELTS), will run from October 18-

Beginning on October 18, volunteers will distribute brown paper bags, donated by Kroger, to local households. Community members can help by filling the bags with non-perishable food items and placing them near their front door by 9 a.m. on October 25 for volunteers to pick up. The Berea Community Food Bank appreciates all food donations and also welcomes donations of toiletry items.

According to Jerry Workman, volunteer coordinator at the Berea Community Food Bank, "the most needed items are salmon, beef stew, tuna, peas, toilet tissue, facial soap, toothpaste, corn meal, hamburger helper, peaches, fruit cocktail, spaghetti and spaghetti sauce."

In addition to providing food and toiletry donations, community members will have an opportunity to provide emergency assistance to families needing help with rent and utility bills this winter by supporting Bereans United for Utility and Rent Relief (BUURR). More information and an envelope for donations will be attached to the grocery bag that is delivered to local residences.

Donations collected during the Hunger Hurts Food Drive will supply the Berea Community Food Bank for the winter and provide food to many families during the holiday season. In 2013, the Hunger Hurts Food Drive collected more than 8,000 pounds of food for the Food Bank. The Berea Community Food Bank is sponsored by Berea Faith Community Outreach and currently serves more than 700 families across southern Madison County.

Residents of southern Madison County who have an emergency food need or would like to request assistance from the BUURR program can call (859) 985-1903 for more information.

For more information about the Hunger Hurts Food Drive, or to volunteer, contact Sheila Lyons at (859) 985-3935 or Heather Schill at (859) 985-3804.

Feeling Safe in Berea

When son was walking home from school week, he was jumped by an older high school student. It was the kind of thing that happens quickly, where my child tried to ignore the harassment, but it quickly escalated until he was thrown down.

When he walked in the door very upset, my first impulse was to find the group of teens that he ran into. I drove around where he said they where. I'm not sure what I would have done if I had found any group of kids, not even sure how I planned to figure out which ones they were. But some kind of mama instinct kicked in, and all I could think was that I had to neutralize this threat to my child.

One of the first things he said was he didn't want to walk home anymore. It broke my heart. He loves walking home, loves being independent, taking that time for himself. I once stopped when I was coming back to the office and offered him a ride, but he said he liked to walk.

It's a lovely walk, cutting through the city park, then the expansion/skateboard park, then up Broadway Street by the shops. The school and city have been working to make it safe for kids to walk home, but their concern was with traffic and crosswalks. Keeping kids safe from getting hit by cars, not from getting hit by bullies. And my child didn't feel safe anymore.

One of the administrators at the school said they caution middle school kids about walking through the park, because of the older ones hanging around. That was disconcerting to me – the park is not a safe spot? Have we lost it already to an unsavory element? All those great trails, and playgrounds, and modules for skateboarders, and it's deemed

My concern with David is less about physical safety and more about emotional and mental safety. This type of harassment, this type of bullying, instills shame, fear, helplessness. It's a power play for the bully. Emotional marks are the ones that stay, unlike bruises and cuts. I didn't want David to internalize his anger and his fear. He needed justice, and I wanted him to have some sense of that, some sense of empowerment and support.

Luckily for us, the Berea School had our backs. I couldn't have asked for a more supportive response, or more caring people. They know my kids well, and they care about them – a key advantage with a small, community school. Others have also responded with caring and thoughtfulness, such as the police and at the City. Our leaders want our children here to be safe, and active, and are committed to creating that type of environ-

As far as our park, my husband and I are thinking through options for "taking it back." Could we have a parent presence there after school? Kind of a Parent Watch to see that kids make their way safely home? We'll have

As far as my son, he seems to be making his way through. It's not easy working through this type of assault, but having school administrators and the police take you seriously, and treat you respectively, goes a long way. So thank you to all involved, for starting my son back on the road to feeling safe again in his hometown.

Council Demonstrated Democracy

Dear Editor,

The government of the City of Berea demonstrated in fact the true meaning of democracy and how an elected government should function. Many were displeased with the outcome of the vote on the fairness ordinance, but the city cannot be faulted for fulfilling their duty to the residents of the city. The three-year progress to get the ordinance to a vote before the council gave all an opportunity to participate in the process.

We have exemplary public servants for our city. Several come to mind. Steve Connelly, whose quiet and thoughtful demeanor guided Berea through turbulent times, and it is noted that he lives in the city 365 days a year; Randy Stone who in thirty years has led the city to enviable financial ground and stability. Belle Jackson is another who is leading the expanding arts and crafts development that is an important part of Berea's future as it was in the past. Most of all, we should all offer a cheer for the street department. They have worked untiringly resurfacing and repairing our streets. A huge job done with minimal disruption for traffic and homeowners.

Our city isn't perfect, none are, but it is a lot closer than most. Let us keep that stability and reputation and enjoy our wonderful

To Berea Citizen Editor,

This is the "Tale of Two Cities." Dickens wrote, "It was the best of times, it was the worst of time, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness...."

In Kentucky it is the tale of Vicco and Berea. City One: Vicco is a town of 330, stripped of its former coal assets, 40 percent of its populace in poverty, no major industry or well-known college, scant hope for a prosperous future. It was the subject of comprehensive article in the New York Times citing its struggles, optimism, and the foresight if its town council. It passed an anti-discrimination ordinance on two readings. It has a gay mayor who serves with dignity and diligence.

City Two: Berea, a city with a substantial tax base and municipal reserve fund, a nationally recognized college, and a community school that enables students to succeed across the country at EKU, Earlham, UK, Haverford, and MIT where two Bereans recently received PhDs. We failed to incorporate fairness into the fabric of our community, not just as an ordinance but as an example of justice. This after two plus years of debate.

For Berea it's the worst of times, an age of foolishness. Three cheers to exemplary Vicco.

Thank you City Council

Letter to the Editor,

Thanks for the vote I want to thank the Berea city council members for voting on the Fairness Ordinance last Tuesday. As a native Berean and a past member of the Berea city council, I know the pressures that are brought on controversial issues. This is a small town and council members are met at the grocery, hardware store, gas station, and coffee shop on a daily basis. For the last two years and longer, they have been given opinions on how to vote on this issue. They could have decided to kick the can down the road to the next council term, but they did not.

They chose to vote on it now and settle the issue. It was obvious that each of them had listened to the public, searched their heart and conscience and voted the way they thought was best for Berea. There will be those that will not vote for the ones that did not vote the "right" way in the coming election. That would be a disservice to the town and the council members. These members have served Berea well and all of them deserve our vote even though they may not have voted as we wished.

This is the most open and accepting town I have ever lived in. There is not a street anywhere anyone cannot walk down any time of day. Respect for your neighbor has always been at the cornerstone of relationships in this

All you have to do to get fairness is to be thoughtful, kind, courteous, and show us you know how to act in public. And yes, that goes for the rest of us as well. Remember, "Love your neighbor as yourself", does not end with, " Unless they don't believe the way you do". I'll be voting for the seven incumbents this election. They have shown they care about Berea and deserve another term. I also want to thank Virgil Burnside. He has meant so much to the betterment of Berea. I wish him well in his new endeav-

Liberty Loving Bereans Show Support at Ballot Box

Dear Editor,

Last week's Citizen article concerning the defeat of the so-called "Fairness" ordinance read like a tragic obituary. While I'm sure the authoritarians among us will don the appropriate ribbons; make loud, ostentatious spectacles of themselves; and Mr. Important might even pen an acclaimed play commemorating the dark day; those of us who welcomed the council's decision believe it to have been in keeping with Berea College founder John G. to serve as sheriff of Madison County and what qualifies you for the position.

I am a current and lifelong resident of Madison County and I'm very proud to say I was born and raised here. I've been married to my wife, Linda, 42 years. We've raised our three children in Madison County and now our grandchildren are being raised here.

I am a lifelong member of the First Christian Church in Berea. Madison County is home for my family and I care and believe in providing safety and security for all those who choose to reside or pass through Madison County.

The population in Madison County is growing and with that is a paramount concern to keep providing a service that our residents are proud of. As your current and present Sheriff, I work diligently to provide a professional department that not only serves as law enforcement but also community support. We pride ourselves on and strive to be a full service agency available 24-7 for everyone and I will continue to pursue the excellence expected by the citizens of Madison County.

I am a proud graduate of Eastern Kentucky University with a BS Degree in Police Administration. I am a graduate of the Kentucky Law Enforcement Council and the Kentucky State Police Academy. I served as a patrolman for Richmond and Berea Police Departments before working for and retiring from the Kentucky State Police with over 28 years of service. I've been a faithful and devoted law enforcement servant to the state of Kentucky and Madison County for over 35 years now. I respectfully served as chief deputy, for Sheriff Jerry Combs before his passing on May 20th, 2013 and was appointed to serve out his remaining term as your Sheriff. I have completed thousands of hours of specialized law enforcement training. I have extensive experience in the area of drug enforcement and also worked as the public relations officer for the Kentucky State Po-

Question #2: Please state in 300 words what you would like to accomplish as Sheriff in the next term.

First and foremost is continued service to the citizens of Madison County. It is my pleasure to work for such great people. I truly care about your concerns and my door is always open to the citizens. I will work diligently to ensure the safety and security of all those residing in or traveling through Madison County.

In order to help provide this safety, I will be seeking assistance to increase our manpower. The number of service calls rises every year and for the Sheriff's Department to be a proactive unit, we must have adequate professional personnel to accomplish this.

Our administration has been able to receive equipment that has bolstered the safety of our deputies and also assisted the public. This has all been achieved through federal and state programs and at no cost to the tax payers of Madison County. We will continue to pursue all avenues that could provide assistance.

I understand the problems our communities are having with drugs. We have worked with Federal and State officials communicating our problem and they have listened. We will be partnering with other law enforcement agencies to establish a task force specific to Madison County. This will be funded federally through Appalachia HIDTA (High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area). This program will be coordinated to provide equipment, technology, and additional resources to combat drug production and trafficking.

I will help implement a plan to educate our youth and others on the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse and work on the issues of providing treatment for those with drug and alcohol addictions.

I will seek assistance to further our criminal investigations unit. Our work load has increased and in order to help solve crimes, we need the resources to provide the victims the proper disposition.

We have provided improved court security measures to make our judges, court house staff, attorneys and visitors feel safe. We will continue this effort and look at maintaining the high standards in the future.

Angel has always held fundraisers for Hospice Care Plus, and last year's Outstanding in Your Field event was her latest effort to support the nonprofit. Last year, Angel raised $20,060 for Hospice, with 211 guests present to acknowledge the recognition of several community leaders in differing fields around the county.

Tickets for this year's event cost $50 each, and they can be purchased at Community Trust Bank on Walnut Meadow Road, or by calling 985-0561.

"Hospice Care Plus and the Compassionate Care Center are the most vital Madison County traits that we represent," Angel said. "We are so blessed to have such a beautiful facility in our county with a highly skilled organization being very transparent."

The catering will once again be handled by Sodexo, the college caterer, and recipients of the awards will again be expected to decorate their "booth space" with items representing their chosen field.

Angel commented that she will not be giving a speech on ethical principles of leadership like she did last year, since "great leaders need not be taught of these, but only reminded of them from time to time." Instead, each recipient will be read an unknown question pertaining to the various fields of skill represented by the recognized businesses and individuals.

"This should be very interesting to hear their comments and responses," Angel said. "I can only imagine what this year will be like. I love it when my 'expectations' are exceedingly overwhelming to me."

Recipients nominated by On October 1, Berea po-

Kenny Davis from Bethel Baptist Church, Attorney at Law Kenny Deurson, Don Foster of Berkshire Hathaway Real Estate, Rev. Virgil Grant from Eastside Baptist Church, Lakes Funeral Home, David Mayo from Kentucky Farm Bureau Insurance, and Darlene Matekovich from St. Joseph Hospital Berea

"This will be an outstanding evening once again, where great people will be recognized and gratitude expressed along with funds raised for a good and needy cause," Angel said. "Community Trust Bank as always, is very honored to present this event in our

While there was mention of Jerry's service to the community and his over 30 years service in law enforcement, people mostly spoke of his love of people, his passion for fishing, and his dedication to family and

"This is a very, very special day for a whole lot of people, for us, Larry, his family, and all the friends of Jerry Combs," Judge Executive Kent Clark said. "I can't say enough about Jerry and what he did for Madison County, the job he did as sheriff the short time he was in there."

Rep. Rita Smart, the one first contacted about honoring Sheriff Combs in some way, remembered first hearing about the "Combs boys" when she worked as the Madison County Extension agent. Smart remembered that when she was working in the schools with 4-H, one of the favorite events was the hog calling contest.

"Jerry Combs always won the hog calling contest," Smart said, who even gave a demonstration of her own hog call. "Now I'm sure today that he's looking down on us, and he's thinking, 'it was a wonderful time.'"

Sheriff Mike Coyle, a childhood friend of Jerry, stood up and thanked the honor guard that had presented the colors at the ceremony. Since Jerry was instrumental in creating the honor guard, Mike said, it was appropriate that their first time serving was at Jerry's fu-

"This is honoring my friend's life, and his career," Mike said, who teared up as he spoke. "Jerry was an excellent son, loved his mother and his father, deeply. He loved his brothers, loved his sister. Jerry was an excellent father to his children. He loved his friends; he had many. He never let them down. He loved to garden. He loved to cook, and he wanted you to eat everything he cooked . . . Jerry loved life."

Berea Police Chief David Gregory, who shared an office with Jerry when they were both with BPD, also stood up to share memories. He remembered that when Jerry retired from the Berea Police, he didn't want the tra-

"One thing that he taught me," David said, "was that you should take care of the community and provide the best service that you can to your citizens. That was very important to him."

Mike pointed out when he spoke that Kentucky Highway 1016 was an appropriate road to be named for Jerry, since it was the road to his house. Smart said that when people had contacted her about honoring Jerry, she considered naming a road after him, even though there currently aren't any such designated highways in Madison County.

"We could remind these little young children," Smart said, "as they grow, and they drive down the road . . . that one man could make a difference."

Question #2: Please state in 300 words what you would like to accomplish as County Clerk in the next term.

I am so proud of the staff in my office for buying into all of the changes that I brought into this office. What I asked of them was difficult and required much sacrifice. Because of their hard work and dedication we have been able to make great strides in providing basic services in an efficient, friendly and accountable manner. Now our goal is to reach out to the community and identify additional ways we can improve the function of our office to make the lives of the people of our county easier. Because of the success I've had in the first term, I am more involved on a statewide basis in the clerk's association and other organizations. These organizations help provide a global perspective to identify trends and technologies that we can bring to our local office to continue our growth. My personal belief is that an organization is either getting better or worse, there is no status quo. Only by reaching out to you as our customers can we truly understand what your needs are and how best to serve them. The overriding goal of my next term will be to put the Madison County Clerk's office at the front of the pack in developing innovations that better the lives of our citizens.

countability would be to ensure that all monies collected through the County Clerk's Office are handled responsibly and disbursed as efficiently as possible to all entities that receive tax dollars. That all required internal and external audits are performed on time to ensure compliance with State statutes thereby establishing complete transparency and accountability. My goal will also be in keeping the public informed on recent and current legislative changes pertaining to County Clerk Offices. The continuation and further development of the website will be addressed especially for those wishing to renew their vehicles online and for ac-

My first priority for accomplishments as County Clerk would be to always ensure that the public is treated with the utmost dignity and respect. We never know what someone may be facing personally. How they are greeted and treated should always be the main concern. Also, knowing that you are approachable and willing to be available are very important issues to which I will adhere. As a former administrator, I also understand the importance of your staff as a vital component to the success of any office and how of great significance they will be to me and the public they will service as well. I feel the most important aspects of the County Clerk's Of-cessing deeds, mortgages, and liens online as well.

Question #2: Please state in 300 words what you would like to accomplish as Judge Executive in the next term.

As the next County Judge Executive I will unite local governing bodies and centers for higher learning in our community to create a shared comprehensive plan to drive economic growth across the county. It will be a priority to sit down with county department directors and review department expenditures in order to look for ways to be better stewards of taxpayer dollars. All of which I will strive to do in a transparent governing style so that members of this community can see and know we are putting the people first and not politics.

It is so important that someone with the experience in every phase of government leads our county for the next 4 years. There are so many issues that we are going to have to work together to solve in order to provide the very best future for our kids, and their kids, and the generations to come. Several things I want to accomplish in the next term are as follows: 1) funding from federal government to compete the next 2 phases of our study for the future of the demilitarization site; 2) Funding the next 2 phases of the airport renovation and expansion plan. (Phase 1 is funded and has been local and state officials to choose the best route for the connector from US 25 to Duncannon Lane. We could use this project for a new road to the airport; 4) Continue to work closely with the commander and his staff at the Bluegrass Army Depot to bring more permanent jobs to Madison County; 4) Work with the Governor and the general assembly to fund the construction phase of Exit 95 Boonesboro interchange in 2016; 5) Working with Richmond and Berea for a solution to funding 911 and emergency operations center when the nerve gas is gone; and 6) Start on the financing and construction of a new jail expansion, the jail is the largest threat to the financial stability of Madison County govern-

In 2010, I promised to bring the principles that make a successful business to the County Clerk's Office. I have fulfilled that promise. With your vote and support, I will continue to work for you like you are a customer I can't afford to lose

- I am proud to have delivered:
- $300,000 surplus at the end of my term
- · $2 million given back to the county's general fund Reduced wait times by 75%
- Worked with many County departments to improve services
- · Made hundreds of improvements in our office to help the citizens

"Trading flip-flops for boots"

HALEY BAKER

PIRATE Staff Reporter

As autumn rolls around the corner, there are many things to get excited about - leaves falling, hot drinks, bonfires, and most of all there is new fashion. New fall fashions mean that teens are scrambling to trade in those flip-flops for boots, and adding the newest trends to their ever changing wardrobes.

Staple pieces like warm, fuzzy sweaters bring in an air of coziness. Tartan-printed scarfs add a modern feel to any drab outfit. The color scheme for autumnal weather become darker with berry shades, dark army greens, and plenty of black and white. Chic monochrome outfits, accompanied by a simple pop of color in a statement necklace or earrings to spice up the outfit are very popular this season.

"The great thing about fall is you get to wear an oversized sweater and look effortlessly styled. I absolutely love simple, black ankle boots and pretty much everything black and white. You can throw a black leather jacket over anything and it's instantly cozy and stylish," said junior, Claire Hogg when asked her favorite thing about fall fashions.

The 90's fashion choices have been coming back in a very prominent way this year and it seems to find its way into almost every single outfit. Whether it is a pair of big clunky black boots, high-waisted jeans or a cropped top the 90s fashion erais back.

"I want to see more layered choker necklaces accompanied by a cropped oversized sweater." said junior Kerri Atkins on her ideal 90's inspired fall outfit.

"For outfit inspirations I definitely look up to YouTuber, Bethany Mota. She has great ideas for outfits this fall," said sophomore Chloe Skeese on her personal favorite YouTube fashion icon.

Other fashion icons both young men and women look up to for inspiration all year round include online bloggers, celebrities, and even their own peers.

Don't wait too long on pulling together your perfect fall outfit, because winter is right around the corner.

EMMA WILLIAMS

PIRATE Senior Editor

The Pirate is inviting Berea Community students to enter submissions to the annual Halloween short story writing contest. Students are asked to finish the following story within 500 words or less, including the prompt, and turn in finished works to Mrs. Angela Baker in the high school balcony by 1 pm on Friday, Oct. 24. The story starter is as follows (You must start your story with this and count this section in your total word count):

Riley planned on spending the weekend going to haunted houses with her boyfriend, Isaac. On their way to an insane clown themed haunted house, Riley and Isaac get lost, and turn to their GPS for help. When Riley turns on the GPS, it redirects them to a dirt road.

"Isaac, are you sure this is right?
I thought this road was closed,"
Riley said in despair.

RHIANNON CONNOR

Sarah was driving down the highway at just above 55 mph with the radio on. When she heard her phone vibrate in the cup holder beside her, she glanced down and saw she had a new text message from her boyfriend Scott. Instinctually, Sarah reached for her phone to reply and took her eyes off the road for only a few seconds. Sarah was fortunate enough to look back up just before running a red light, avoiding any head-on collisions. Others aren't so lucky.

Schools in Madison County, including Berea Community, are preparing high school students for these scenarios before they happen with Rethink Your Ride. Rethink Your Ride is an educational program conducted by Eastern Kentucky University Nursing students that teaches teenagers about the dangers of distracted driving and how important it is to remain focused while behind the wheel.

On the day of the ReTHINK Your Ride, students first attended a presentation in the Kennedy Theater that served to educate them on the dangers of distracted driving. The presentation included various statistics regarding deaths caused by distracted driving, how to drive more safely and examples of distracted driving—like paying attention to passengers and listening to music.

The presentation was supplemented with a clip from the hit TV show "Glee," which showed Quinn, a main character, driving and taking her eyes off the road to reply to a text. She consequently had a head-on collision, sending a strong message to students about the effects texting and driving.

Before leaving, students also participated in a demonstration conducted by Lloyd Jordison. Jordison taught students proper seatbelt placement in a fun, easy-to-remember way. The central theme of his demonstration was a seatbelt's location in relation to the bones it lays on.

At the end of the presentation, students left the theater and walked to the school's lounge to further their understanding through hands-on activities. In these activities, students had to walk, bike, or steer a remotecontrol car through obstacles while typing a provided message on their phones.

Diane Smith, our Family Resource and Youth Service Center director, oversaw the event and noted "I think students are prepared, but underestimate how easy it is to become distracted, especially with cell phone usage. We hope the activities provided will make students aware of how dangerous it is to text and drive."

Berea Community High School has immense gratitude for the time and work devoted by EKU Nursing students, as well as the Madison County Health Department to this annual event. ReTHINK Your Ride positively impacts soon-to-be drivers in high school by developing their understanding of the dangers of driving while distracted.

BCMS showcases leadership

Parents like being involved in their child's school experience, and the Berea Community Middle School faculty understand that more than anyone. In fact, parent involvement was the exact concept middle school social studies teacher Edward Sexton and his colleagues were thinking of when the idea of a Middle School Leadership Night was first introduced. The program took place on Monday, October 13 from 6-8 p.m. and relied heavily on student involvement.

Preparation for the event began at the beginning of the 2014-2015 school year. In each 6th-8th grade homeroom, a binder was passed out to students. Each individual binder included charts that students filled out to document their test scores and growth over time. Space for the students to record their past club involvement and their future goals for the school year was also provided. Students were asked to summarize their development throughout the first nine weeks.

"Students who don't usually get excited about grades, are getting excited about their grades," said Mr. Sexton of his students.

The middle school faculty went above and beyond in supplying the tools needed by the students to make the evening successful for all involved. A meal of chili and refreshments including desserts and different types of beverages were partially supplied by the teachers and parents themselves. Members of Berea High School's Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) Club also donated their time.

During Leadership Night, the students presented the information from their binders to their respective parents or guardians. The presentation groups were sorted by homeroom. Models were used to teach the students correct public speaking techniques.

"There was a certain amount of pride in showing their work," commented attendee Aaron Beale.

Leadership Night flowed smoothly all around. Both parents and students had positive comments about the event. High school faculty and students can look forward to this same opportunity during a BCHS Leadership Night which will take place in November.

Berea Community hold forum to discuss test

PIRATE Staff Reporter

In the history of public schools, since when have standardized test scores ever actually made sense? Well, they may not really be as complicated as one tends to believe they are. People often allow large quantities of data or percentages to cloud their thinking, and hopefully the public forum on Berea Community Schools' test scores on Tuesday, October 14 was able to clear that up for those interested.

BCHS was ranked in the 59th percentile overall in the state, a 36% jump from 2013. This means that 41% of the high schools in Kentucky are ranked higher than BCHS. Donna Lovell, BCMS/important to stress that percentages need to be looked at closely: "60% of the scores are below us, so now I may be in the 61st percentile and have an overall score of 65, but another schools who's in the 90th percentile may have an overall score of 67." So, the high school scored a 68.6 on a scale of 0-100. This cumulative score was found by averaging five components: student achievement (or how many students achieved proficient or distinguished), the gap between underachieving students and achieving or overachieving students, the level of student growth, the number of students who are college and/ or career ready, and the school's graduation rate.

Kentucky are ranked higher than BCHS. Donna Lovell, BCMS/

Ceesay brought up the surprising fact that no high school female had scored a proficient or distinguished in science last spring. When asked about how important test scores are, Ceesay noted, "I think test scores are one of many measures of success. And I think sometimes we put too much emphasis on test scores, and sometimes we put not enough...the truth is that if you don't make the scores to get into college...you're not in a good place."

Much of the evening was spent

Much of the evening was spent explaining how test scores work, what they mean, and what the school's plan was for addressing the problem areas. There was a district wide drop in writing scores, and Mike Hogg said that that is something the English faculty in particular have been working very hard to combat even before the test scores were released. Mr. Hogg also urged the family members present to not become complacent. He said he was proud of the progress, but seemed to echo Mrs. Lovell in that Berea Community Schools are still far from where they need to be.

Despite these problems, parent Robyn Moreland insisted that, "...there are a lot of very positive things that Berea Community School does for students... test scores are only one little piece of the big picture and while test scores are very important, and they do need to increase...the climate here...plus the small size, in the long run really benefits kids, so I'm very happy with my child being here."

Senior Night not a complete loss

On Wednesday, October 8, the Berea Community School girls soccer team played against Bryan Station in a close game with a final score of 2-1.

October 8th was also Senior Night for the soccer team. Abi Woodie, Kendra Evans, Hannah Spencer, Amber Bristow, and Emma Williams were all honored that night for their time playing soccer for Berea. The girls each received congratulatory gift bags, and were recognized for their accomplishments on and off the field.

The girls' soccer team is led by Captain Emma Williams. When asked her thoughts about the game prior to it starting, she responded, "I'm kind of nervous because it is a harder game compared to some of the others."

The game, though lost, was an impressive game for the Lady Pirates. "It was really bittersweet. I am excited for graduation, but realizing the season is coming to an end is hard... I play with a really great talented group of girls," commented Abi Woodie.

There was some great plays on the field that night. Freshman soccer player Hannah Wallhausser scored Berea's single goal. Izzy Whatley, a sophomore, also performed well. Seniors Emma Williams, Abi Woodie, and Amber Bristow also played well in the game.

"I've never played with such a great group of girls and I am always glad to work with them," Senior Amber Bristow said about what she would miss about playing soccer for Berea.

On October 13, the high school girls season ended with a loss to Madison Southern in Districts.

The Berea Football team (4-3) defeated Lynn Camp (2-5) after a neck-to-neck fight to the finish (37-20) on Friday, Oct 10 at Lynn Camp High.

"I am so proud of my team and [myself] for such a strong season this year. We have practiced very hard and brought home another well-deserved win," commented Senior Kevin Reed.

The team started the night off with Senior Reed scoring the first touchdown with 5:44 remaining in the first quarter. Lynn Camp came back, scoring a touchdown only a minute or so after Berea.

The Pirates Senior Jason Strong then scored in the first quarter with 2:19 left with a rush from the 36 yard line. The 2 point conversion was good, leaving Berea in the lead with Lynn Camp followed behind with another touchdown bringing the score to a tie: 14-14.

Berea's Kevin Reed scored on the keeper for 6 and then a 2 point conversion. This began the Pirate scoring streak, continued by Junior Deondre Tate, until Lynn Camp scored with 2:44 left in the third quarter. The score at the end of the quarter was 28-20.

The final touchdown was scored with 11:53 still remaining in the fourth quarter by Reed. Giving the Pirates the convincing win on the board at 37-20.

Coach Adam Coleman said, "The team is beginning to learn the importance of playing as a team and it is being reflected through the team's performance. I am so proud of the boys and how far they have come from last season".A

The Berea Community senior volleyball players reflected as they prepared to play their final home game against Lee County. The night is sure to be filled with a lot of emotion and the girls brought their A-game as they looked to prepare for districts and end their regular season on a good note.

The Lady Pirate Volleyball team (8-19) honored six seniors Friday night. The seniors included Kim Rockwell, Hayley Penn, Haley Litten, McKenzie Campbell, Autumn Grigsby, and Amber Simon. The seniors were presented with many gifts and prepared for an emotional final home game.

The Lady Pirates battled hard but just fell short, losing the match 3 games to 1. Despite the loss the Pirates got good performances from Kim Rockwell, Hailee Varwig, and Autumn Grigsby.

Kim Rockwell commented on the senior night experience: "All the girls played as hard as they could. It's unfortunate not coming out with a win for senior night, but the effort was there and everyone fought hard to make it a good last home

Coach Jared Penn said "The seniors fought hard but in the end we came up a little short"

The Pirates are back in action in districts Monday, October 20 and will continue based on their performance.

about that thing already?). Gone Girl is David Fincher's newest movie starring Ben Affleck, Rosamund Pike, Tyler Perry, and Neil Patrick Harris. The film follows Nick Dunne (Affleck) after his wife Amy (Pike) goes missing on the morning of their fiveyear anniversary. Nick immediately contacts the police, but shortly after, evidence around Nick's house begins to make it seem as if he murdered his own spouse. What follows is an incredible mystery, the story of a dysfunctional relationship, and a cunning satire of how the media picks apart and scrutinizes people they have an interest in. Gone Girl takes so many twists and turns, but it never feels as if the movie is overdoing it, which is a huge testament to the script. With so much going on in the story, it would have been so easy for the tones to get mixed up, especially with all of the flashbacks going on, but it never happens.

One of the things that surprised me the most about Gone Girl is that it's actually a pretty funny movie. Don't take that the wrong way; Gone Girl takes itself seriously, but being a satire allows it to have the ability to poke fun at members of the media who treat Nick like they truly know him. It really is sometimes laughable how quickly the press goes from loathing Dunne, to believing he's innocent, and which is awesome. None of this would really matter if the acting was awful, but thankfully.

With this type of ranking, only 30 percent of schools in Kentucky will ever be ranked proficient and distinguished annually, regardless of each school's performance.

in college and career readiness measures, while Farristown made large gains in the number of students who tested as proficient or distinguished, as well as the students who gained a year's worth of education.

At Berea Community, Hogg commented, their students progressed at a greater rate than other students, which resulted in their gains in percentile rating. It doesn't often take that many points for a school to make large jumps in percentile rating. At Farristown, for example, their school went up 5.7 points, and they jumped from 67th percentile to 92nd percentile.

"It's a very complicated accountability system to explain," Hogg said.

Berea has concentrated on working with every student at their level, something more easily done at a smaller district.

"We're creating the culture of the individual kid," Hogg said. "We will bend over backwards for every child in our school. What matters is that moment at high school graduation, and we have to ask ourselves at that point, do they have opportunity?

What Do I Bring to the Berea City Council?

Over 25 years of experience in the management, administration, and oversight of federal programs, serving as:

- State Director for child nutrition programs through the Kentucky Department of Education
- Manager of fiscal oversight, compliance reviews and audits of child nutrition programs funded through the United States Department of Agriculture. Supervised payments of over $250 million in annual claims for reimbursement by program sponsors
- Local Government Advisor and administrator of Community Development Block Grants (CDBG) through the Kentucky Department for Local Government

Understanding and expertise in working with local officials to improve basic human services

- Worked with city and county officials to implement housing, water, sewer, and community center projects that improved the quality of life for many local residents
- Ensured that cities and counties remained financially viable and fiscally strong while practicing smart growth for the future

A personal and professional commitment to a brighter future for all of Berea

I am a native of Madison County, a graduate of EKU, and a homeowner in Berea. I have roots in the past and concerns for our future. Having served on the Berea City Council from 2006 to 2008 I know too, what can be done when a council works together to promote inclusion, ideas, and character. I am proud of what was able to be accomplished then and know what can be done by working together to create a brighter future for tomorrow. I ask for your vote on November 4 and encourage you to work with me in making a difference. In the meantime, I'd love to hear from you: www.denisehagan.us; drhagan42@msn.com or 985-1936. WORKING FOR THE FUTURE

- Funding from federal government to compete the next two phases of our study for the future of the demilitarization site.
- Funding the next two phases of the airport renovation and expansion plan. Phase one is funded and has been awarded.
- Working with local and state officials to choose the best route for the connector from US 25 to Duncannon Lane. We could use this project for a new road to the airport.
- Continue to work closely with the command and his staff at the Bluegrass Army Depot to bring more permanent jobs to Madison County.
- Work with the Governor and the general assembly to fund the construction phase of Exit 95 Boonesboro interchange in 2016.
- Working with Richmond and Berea for a solution to funding 911 and emergency operations center when the nerve gas is gone.
- Start on the financing and construction of a new jail expansion, the jail is the largest threat to the financial stability of Madison County government.

PROVEN RECORD

- Very best snow and ice removal in the state for county roads, subdivisions, and rural secondary state roads.
- Averaging 25 miles of new blacktop every year on county roads, subdivisions, and rural secondary state roads.
- Mowing every country road and rural secondary state road at least 5 times per summer.
- Increase services every year—free single stream recycling, free loan-a-truck, free dead animal pickup, and litter pick up year round on all county and state roads.
- 10 million dollar investment in county parks.
- NEVER raised taxes.

"How we have managed your tax dollars has put us in the strong position we are in today. I believe Madison County is the greatest place in the country to live."

I would appreciate your vote on November 4th.

Berea Writers Circle & Citizen Sponsors Short Story Contest

By Beth Myers Citizen Editor

Elementary and middle school writers need to start sharpening their pencils or turning on their laptops.

The Berea Writers Circle and the Berea Citizen are partnering together on a short story contest for young writers up to eighth grade. The theme is, "Snowy Day," and the story should be 1,000 words or less.

The short stories are due on December 1, and the winning entries will be published in the Berea Citizen.

"We're very excited about the contest, and the chance to see what young writers we have in the community," Joyce Hunsucker said, from the Berea Writers's Circle.

Each entry needs a cover sheet with the story title, number of pages, author's name, age, grade, teacher's name, and school. Students being homeschooled can also enter the contest; they would just identify their home and who teaches them during the

"This seemed like a wonderful chance to encourage young writers, so we were very interested in partnering with the Writers Circle," *Citi*zen publisher Teresa Scenters

The pages of the stories should be numbered, and stapled, with the cover sheet on top. Writers should not put their name on the actual story.

Stories can be dropped off at the Citizen office during business hours, or they can be mailed to 711 Chestnut Street, Suite 2, Berea, KY 40403.

First, second, and third place winners will receive certificates, and will be invited to read their stories at the December 20 meeting of the Berea Writers Circle at the Berea library. Winners will be notified around December 15.

For more information, contact BereaWritersCircle@gmail.com.

College Students Celebrate Mountain Day

Following a College tradition since 1875, this Wednesday, Oct. 15, Berea College students were off from classes and labor to celebrate Mountain Day. This was the college's 139th annual Mountain Day.

The celebration began with another tradition on "Mountain Day Eve," a concert by the Berea College Wind and Jazz Ensembles on Tuesday, Oct. 14. They performed in Gray Auditorium (located in Presser Hall) at 7:30 p.m. Also on Mountain Day Eve, overnight camping took place beginning at 6 p.m. at alumni were encouraged to hike "the mountain" for the sunrise. The Sunrise Hike Celebration includes the Berea College Concert Choir and the Berea College Country

Dancers.
This year's Mountain
Day activities were sponsored by the Berea College Campus Life office, and included games, music, performances, and contests from 10:30 a.m.
- 3:00 p.m., as well as hiking in the College forest all day.

At "the mountain" on Ky Hwy 21, teams of students competed in "pioneer games" that included cross-cut saw and log toss, tomahawk throwing and archery

Word From Berea Streets

"Did you have a favorite teacher? How did that person inspire you to learn?"

Amanda Gadd said, "Mr. Wall from Madison Southern, he was a gentle person. He was a big man, but gentle. He inspired me to be kind to others."

Patti Wilds, who was in costume for the "early Halloween" party at the intergenerational Center, said, "Jerry Johns was a teacher who would listen. He just made you feel comfortable in his class. He taught you how to make friends outside of your little world. He was wonderful."

Tom Gevedon, with his grandson, said, "My vocational teacher, Lowell Brandenburg. He taught me how to do machining. That's what I did later in life. I owned a machine shop for 15 years."

Gadd, Cupp Celebrate Wedding

PFC Jeremy Douglas Gadd and Jaylyn Ada Cupp were married on Saturday, October 4, 2014 at The Bull at Boone's Trace Golf Club In Richmond.

The bride is a 2014 graduate of EKU with a major in biology. She is currently employed as a veterinary technician. She is the daughter of Paul V. Cupp and Marti Chenault of Richmond.

The groom is a cyber network specialist for the United States Marine Corp. He is the son of Mark and Amanda Gadd of Mt. Vernon.

The couple will reside at Kaneohe Bay Marine Corp Base in Oahu,

Jackson Speaks at Berea Women's Club

The Berea Women's Club met at the Smokehouse Grill for lunch on October 1 with 20 members and guests present. President Hazel Morris conducted the business meeting; Carla Gilbert read an inspirational piece. Jeannette discussed the upcoming field trip to the Ruth Hunt Candy Factory in Mt. Sterling, and the planned lunch at the Old Silo on October 15.

Belle Jackson, director of tourism, spoke. She reviewed the type of programs her organization oversees in Berea -- First Friday in Old Town, the ongoing Learnshops, the summer concert series in the park, and Jammin' on the Porch. At this time, her newest project is the Allelerator Artist program which helps young artists and craftspeople get established in setting up and running their own studios with the help of a limited grant and technical support from many Berea institutions.

Belle is a lifetime Berean and a lifetime advocate for students and the arts. We were in awe of all she has to do, and with her enthusiasm for doing it.

Reflections

The city council considered outlawing Halloween trick-or-treating in October 1974, when a resident sent a message complaining about the high costs of candy, and how many kids from outside Berea were coming here.

Mayor C. C. Hensley and city council decided to gather opinions from the community about trick-ortreating. Many wanted it to be stopped, while others protested against it. There were a rash of letters from children under 12 demanding trick-or-treating. Council member Dr. Clifford Kerby was angry they were considering it, saying they might as well do away with Christmas next. Council decided that only children 12 and under could trick-or-treat within limited hours, to houses that had their porch lights on. When Mayor Hensley asked what he was supposed to do with the people who didn't want trickor-treating, Kerby replied

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month, a good time to discuss your risk of the disease with your doctor. These Berea businesses encourage you to set up an appointment to explore your family's medical history and see if you are at risk. If so, consider having annual screenings. While the debate on mammography is ongoing, the fact remains: Mammograms save lives. Discuss the pros and cons with your doctor and consider scheduling a mammogram. Early detection is key to survival.

After One Year as MSHS Principal, Cash Moves to Central Office

By Beth Myers Citizen Editor

Madison Southern will once again be looking for a new principal, a year after they hired Charles "Chuck" Cash to replace David Gilliam, who left to work at the central office.

Like his predecessor, Cash will also be moving to a position at the central office. He will start work as the director of district wide services on December 1 of this year. The position has been open for several years, but Superintendent Elmer Thomas decided that it was time to fill it after changes at the central office. Interviews were conducted over the last several weeks before Cash was offered the po-

Parent Expresses Safety Concerns with Students Walking Home

By Beth Myers Berea Citizen

At their meeting on Monday night, the Berea Community School Board heard concerns from a parent about the safety of Berea students walking home from school.

Schinhofen informed the board that his son, who attends sixth grade at Berea Community, was pushed down to the ground by a high school student when walking home from school on Oct. 10. The incident happened when the child was walking through the expansion park, Schinhofen said, and Berea Middle/High School Principal Donna Lovell in-

Final Candidates for Magistrate 1 & 4, Jailer

This week the Berea Citizen is printing responses to a two-question survey from the candidates for Madison County Jailer, and Magistrate 1 & 4. Neither of the candidates for Magistrate District 3 -- John Tudor or Mike Chaney -- responded to the questionnaire. For the October 30 issue, the Citizen will print the eightquery questionnaire from council and mayoral candidates.

Question #1: Please state in 300 words why you wish to serve as Magistrate 1 of Madison County and what qualifies you for the position.

I, Larry Combs, would like to serve as magistrate for four more years. My record speaks for itself.

I've been able to bring more programs and state money for roads and for the people from 1st District who I represent.

When I took office 33 years ago, we had a tax rate of 12%. Now our tax rate is 8%. In all these years, I have never voted for a tax increase for one reason. We already have a lot of new

All the incumbents running for re-election except for Chester Powell and Chad Hembree have indicated that they will participate in the debate. Hembree has notified KFTC that he cannot attend, while Powell has not responded. Vi Farmer, Jerry Little, Diane Kerby, Ronnie Terrill, and Billy Wagers all reported they would attend.

Of the 13 challengers for city council seats, all have indicated they would come except for Jeff Reed, Ricky Clontz, Dee West, Tom McCay and J. Carroll McGill. McCay informed KFTC that he could not be there; the others have not responded.

The eight challengers who have committed to attending the local debate are Adriel Woodman, Mae Suramek, Denise Hagan, Katie Startzman, Hubert Chasteen, Robert "Peanut" Johnson, Phil Smith, and Steve Cau-

The KFTC/SGA debate will be the only one taking place in Berea this year, since neither the League of Women Voters nor the Berea Chamber of Commerce have organized one. In the last local election two years ago, the two organizations co-hosted a debate in city council chambers.

The debate will take place on Tuesday, Oct. 28, at Baird Lounge at the alumni building on Berea College's campus. It will take place from 7 - 9 p.m. With the time limits and the large number of candidates, there may be time for only a few questions, a KFTC staffer reported.

Federal help to fight drugs: Sheriff Coyle was instrumental in getting Madison County designated a High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area by reaching across party lines and writing U.S. Rep. Andy Barr, U.S. Sen. Mitch McConnell, and the Executive Director of HIDTA, Frank Rapier. This makes our county qualify for greater resources and federal help to combat drug trafficking and enables us to receive additional equipment and technology to facilitate cooperation with other Federal, state, and local drug enforcement agencies.

Six free emergency vehicles: Since Sheriff Mike Coyle has taken office he's petitioned the U.S. Governments Defense Reutilization Marketing Office and brought six repurposed Hummers home to Madison County for $0.00. These vehicles have already proven invaluable for rescuing snowbound interstate travelers and medical emergencies.

$26,000 grant: With the help of Chief Deputy Sheriff, retired State Trooper Major Tony Terry, the Sheriff's office has received a $26,000 grant to equip road deputies, court security personnel and a canine with body armor at no cost to the people of Madison County.

Question about mayoral candidate's Berea residency

Dear Editor,

I have some concerns about mayoral candidate Paul Reynolds, specifically if he meets the residency requirements to run for mayor in the City of Berea. I would like to share what I have found. In an effort to seek for transparency in local government, I would like this brought to a public forum and my concerns addressed:

1. KY Statute 67C.105 Qualifications, election, title, and powers of mayor Procedure for filling vacancy in office of mayor.

(3) The mayor shall be at least twenty-one (21) years old, a qualified voter, a member of his or her political party, and a resident of the territory encompassing the consolidated local government for a period of at least one

(1) year prior to his or her election as mayor. The mayor shall continue to reside within the geographic boundary of the consolidated local government throughout his or her term of office.

5. The Fullblood Simmental Fleckvieh Federation membership directory lists Paul Reynolds with PKC Simmental Farm and Rocking R Farms – PO Box 505 – no street address. http://fleckvieh.com/ membership-directory.

6. A WKYT news report dated August 26, 2014. "People who live near the intersection say they're ready to see the crashes come to a stop. The crash took out a section of Paul Reynolds' fence. It didn't take long for him and his family to get to work.

"Well, we're used to it, we're actually prepared for it now! We have to be," Reynolds says. Reynolds has more than 100 cattle in his fields. He said cars smash through the fence a couple of times a year for all kinds of reasons. "We've had people actually, law chasing them. You know, we've had people just not paying attention, a lot of times it's new people in the area," Reynolds said. Paul Reynolds is in the video clip found here:http://www.wkyt. com/home/headlines/ Six-injured-in-Madison-County-crash-272788371. html?device=tablet&c=y

7. Paul Reynolds owns Reynolds Insurance Agency with offices in Richmond and Berea. http:// www.reynoldsinsuranceagency.com/

I would love to see some clarification. In the interests of transparency, would Paul Reynolds provide proof that he is indeed residing in the duplex on Provincial Way instead of his farm on Smith Lane, and has he been doing so for a year before he filed with the State of KY to run for Mayor of Berea? Would he be willing to provide deed of sale or lease agreement? Utilities records? Notarized statements from neighbors?

Politics: Try to Keep it Clean

Election time. You gotta love it. Well, that might be debatable.

These local elections are a real boon for the newspaper, from a financial standpoint. Though for the most part, for those of us here in the trenches it just means lots of extra work.

It's all good, though. I have to admit visiting with candidates and having a part in presenting their goals and visions is something all of us at The Citizen en-

Things do seem to heating up in these final days before November 4th. A little mud being slung around in some quarters. As you might well have noticed in letters this week and some ads too.

Oh how I wish we could have positve campaigns and not drag everyone through the pig pen.

The thing is, I'm told that no matter how much we say we want civil discourse amongst our candidates for public office, the facts indicate that all the negativity works. So it just goes on and on and on. At least through next

Vote for Katie Startzman

Dear editor,

I'm writing to ask Berea voters to choose Katie Startzman for city council on November 4. Our council needs Katie because she gets good things done for

Although she's worked on many projects over the years in Berea, the most visible example of Katie's hard work sits on the little corner of land between Richmond Road and 1016: the East Ridge Community Garden. You've probably driven past the garden this year and found your day brightened by the colorful flowers. What you may not know is that this garden started as just an idea last November. By June of this year, through Katie's tireless and persistent work, that corner of land was transformed into a 20 plot garden with running water, fruit trees and bushes, a shed, a children's play space, and a community of people committed to growing some portion of their

As someone who participated in the garden this year, I can tell you that it would not exist except for Katie's work in partnering with local organizations like Berea College, communicating with local and state officials, recruiting community members, and setting up a water line with utilities, not to mention the weeks of labor and sweat of building the garden itself. These are the kinds of skills she will bring to the council to move Berea forward with our 21st challenges of affordable utilities, water security, and sustainability to name just a few. Even more than her skills though, we need her energy, her work, and her plain stick-to-itiveness to get good things done for Berea now. She's #3 on the ballot. Please vote.

Chamber of Commerce Does Not Endorse Candidates

Dear Editor,

Lately it has come to my attention that it has been said that Berea Chamber of Commerce endorses candidates for the city council and the mayoral race. Berea Chamber of Commerce is a civic organization with more than 250 members consisting of non-profit organizations, individuals, business owners, financial institutions, manufacturers and others, who represent a wealth of knowledge, visions and political opinions that reflect a broad range of members of our community.

organization's board of directors including the development economic and special events committees, and during those meetings it has never happened that Berea Chamber of Commerce has endorsed certain candidates, but opinions have certainly been aired about the betterment and development of a future Berea.

By and large I see Berea as a healthier place to live in compared to many other cities her size. Even though we would like to see more manufacturing plants, the existing ones are the bread and butter for our economic foundation together with the activities that involve Berea College.

No doubt that we can be proud of our public educational institutions that prepare the next generation of entrepreneurs, workers, academics and leaders. Recently two of them were named "Distinguished Schools". This can only happen with excellent leadership and well-prepared educators.

A few years ago a 3% I am a member of the restaurant tax was introduced. In spite of its complexity when it comes to distributing and spending funds, it has been a guardian angel for a struggling tourism sector, and it has most likely saved Berea from being eliminated from a preferred location to visit. However, the road to become a successful and sought-after destination in the future demands new ways of thinking and reachable vi-

Establishing a more vibrant retail sector in Berea may be one of the biggest challenges for the town -- not necessarily a city council task -- but it can only happen if the townspeople decide to spend more money here.

With a long list of candidates running for the city council, there are plenty of individuals to choose from. With only two mayoral candidates, I recommend that they clearly indicate what they have accomplished for the city lately, and what their short term and long term visions are with respect to economic development, tourism and hospitality strategy, street maintenance and improvement, introduction of some kind of alcohol sales to a broader variety of restaurants, and other relevant issues.

These are all topics that the Berea Chamber of Commerce is interested in, but the organization has NOT endorsed any candidates.

Elect Candidates to Restore Berea's Reputation

Dear Editor:

In Bob Dylan's words, "It doesn't take a weatherman to tell which way the wind is blowing," and it is clear that across America, a fresh breeze is blowing in new protections for a vulnerable segment of our community, insuring that those whose sexual orientation is different from the majority are guaranteed equal treatment under the constitution and laws of our country in such areas as employment rights, housing, and public accommodations.

Unfortunately, what happened at the City Council last week in the five-to-three decision to defeat the anti-discrimination ordinance wasn't a fresh breeze but a dust storm containing vast amounts of misinformation, untrue assertions, and repetitions of proven lies and distortions which seriously dirtied Berea's reputation and standing as an enlightened place to live. At least for now, mean-spiritedness and ignorance prevailed. I grew up in the Jim Crow segregated South and heard the same arguments for maintaining that bitterly oppressive society that are now trotted out in support of continuing discriminatory policies toward lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender persons. Claims that there is no need for an anti-discrimination policy now ring just as hollow as the claims I often heard defending the policies that prevented black people from voting, attending decent schools, and seeking any job for which they were qualified, attending any theater, eating in any restaurant, or living wherever their ability to pay would allow. And those same tainted values were embraced by the five councilpersons who voted down the antidiscrimination ordinance on October 7. But while there are five councilpersons Berea who definitely should be retired, the good news is that there are honest, well-informed, intelligent candidates running for city council, who together with our able and innovative Mayor Steve Connelly can restore Berea's reputation as a city that upholds John Fee's Motto: God has made of one blood all peoples of the earth.

I strongly urge Bereans to vote to re-elect our Mayor, Steven Connelly and councilpersons Diane Kerby and Billy Wagers, and to elect Mae Suramek, Katie Startzman and Adriel Woodman to the city council. All of these candidates are dedicated to developing a strong local economy and protecting the human rights of all people.

growth here in Madison County, so we don't need to raise taxes.

I was able to bring a new road department and a new fire department to better serve Southern Madison County. I have worked hard to continue to do the following: 1) funding the Berea Rescue Squad; 2) funding for Berea Parks and Recreation; 3) the rebuilding of Glades Road; 4) the new I-75 exchange in front of Walmart; 5) the new Berea bypass; 6) the Berea Senior Citizen's Center; 7) funding for Madison County Family Court; 8) 911 service; 9) the Madison County Animal Shelter that now handles over 300 dogs a month; 10) organized garbage pick-up to 100% of Southern Madison County residents; 11) the paving of every road in Southern Madison County; 12) funding for the Red Lick volunteers and Berea volunteer fire department; 13) to help fund the City of Berea Fire Department.

I also worked hard for three long years to bring driver's license and driver's testing for Berea, and now we have it.

Question #1: Please state in 300 words what you would like to accomplish as magistrate in the next term.

We have now purchased two acres of land on Glade's Road for new state of the art ambulance service to better serve Berea and Southern Madison County. As you know we house all of Berea's arrests at no cost to the city. Our jail has almost 200 prisoners daily. We must invest wise in the future to correct this problem.

We are mandated from State to House all of Berea, Richmond, Sheriff, State Police Arrest. I want to keep our tax rate the same. I have never voted for a tax raise in 33 years. We need to continue to upgrade our county roads for all residents. This required the county to pull all the strings we can and have extra money from the state.

We are blessed to have a good working relationship with state officials. The new bypass will begin late fall or early spring. This will have a big impact on traffic flow.

We must continue to monitor the Bluegrass Army Depot on removable of chemicals.

Finally, we need to work harder on the drug problem in Madison County. For that, I will assure you as magistrate that I will work hard to find more money for the sheriff's department to combat drugs.

Vote Dee West Berea City Council

- Increased government transparency
- Streamline processes to help promote sustainable economic development
- Implement plans for maintaining low tax rates
- Improve the city's ability to provide quality services to all citizens

Please support my son, Steve Caudill for Berea City Council

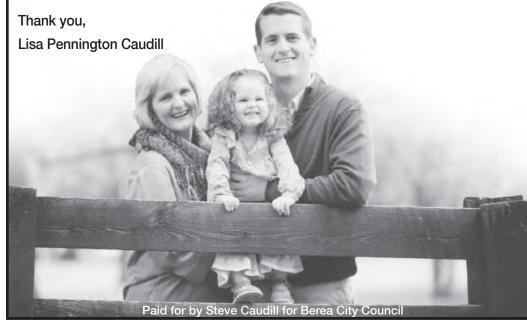

My name is Lisa Caudill and I am asking the citizens of Berea to please support my son, Steve Caudill for Berea City Council. As a life long resident of Berea, I am confident that Steve will bring a strong sense of responsibility to his duties as a Berea City Council member.

> Steve has many qualities that will make him a strong community representative on the city council:

- 1. He has a strong desire to keep Berea a wholesome place for he and his wife to raise their daughter.
- 2. Steve wants Berea to grow economically with new as well as local businesses.
- 3. He wants to be an active councilman representing the citizens of Berea.
- 4. Steve wants to be a part of bringing new industry to the City of Berea.

Steve was raised in Berea and he has a strong sense of community. He graduated from Madison Southern High School and Eastern Kentucky University. He is currently working on his Masters Degree at EKU in Public Administration.

On November 4th please vote for Steve Caudill for Berea City Council.

Consider these Headlines from across America, Could Berea be next?

As Election Day approaches please take a minute to look over these headlines and understand that unless changes are made in some of Berea's elected government officials this could be where our town is headed.

There are many other examples of cases such as these. If the solid conservative citizens of Berea fail to go to the polls and vote on November 4th our city and its citizens could very well be the next place and cases in the headlines.

One reason your vote is so important is that there are approximately 1000 Berea College students who have been registered to vote in the upcoming elections. To be clear, Berea College students (non-residents) right to vote in our community is subject to being challenged at the voting precinct under the Kentucky Revised Statutes. Those found not to be eligible to vote, could face significant penalties.

If you will recall in the council vote on October 7th there were 5 council persons who listened to the majority of the citizens of Berea and voted against this ordinance.

Again consider the headlines above and ask yourself if this is the direction you want Berea to go.

If the answer is NO then your vote can and will make a difference, but only if you exercise that right on November 4th!

Now I would like to continue my service by representing the people of Madison County as their Magistrate in the 4th District and return the same dedication, values & trust to the courthouse that allowed me to complete a successful twenty year military career and a fifteen year career in manufacturing management. I will apply the training and leadership skills I have developed working in the ultimate team environment and utilize my knowledge of working with multimillion dollar budgets to be a good steward of your tax dollars and resources. I am and will continue to be a "Leader Who Listens" and I will address your questions, comments, problems, and concerns immediately and do my absolute best to resolve any issues that you may have. I believe that every resident of the Forth District deserves to be treated with respect and receive tion at the fiscal court.

Question #2: Please state in 300 words what you would like to accomplish as magistrate in the next term.

First, we must ensure the safety of our citizens as the destruction of 523 tons of chemical weapons begins at the Blue Grass Army Depot. I will utilize my experience as a career Army Officer resolving issues that will arise during this process while keeping our residents informed with the latest information. I will also establish a monthly meeting, rotating at different locations, to allow the residents the opportunity to express their concerns and issues with me.

Second, we must be proactive in improving the quality of life for the people of the 4th District while maintaining financial integrity. Madison County has a lot to offer to offer with two of the top twenty universities in the nation, Interstate 75, CSX Railroad, and the Madison County Airport. I believe it is imperative we use these assets as we continue to seek new industry and potential employers which will provide jobs to our residents, increase our tax base, increasing our tax revenue, allowing us to provide better services to our residents without increasing county taxes. I will seek improvements to our roads and will work with the state to replace bridges in the 4th District, such as the bridge off Hwy 421 and Old US 25. I would also like to see the county improve support to charities such as Pro-Life facilities/homes.

Finally, we must be diligent in our efforts to provide every resident with a safe drug free community to raise their children and grandchildren. I will extend my full support to the Sheriff's Department and local law enforcement in the war on drugs and crime in the 4th District and Madison County. I would like to see the Sheriff's Department equipped with better tools, training and equipment to combat the war on drugs and crime, while protecting our deputies and officer. I also intend to support our Fire Departments which in turn can help lower our resident's insurance rates and I will support our rescue and ambulance services.

their job performance and not worry about the possibility of losing their employment every four years. I would also like to develop a system for county employees to provide feedback so that we can make every county department better. I believe county employees know firsthand what needs to be done to make the best improvements. Our jail is overcrowded and continues to run over capacity. I would like to work with our state legislators and the Department of Justice to explore the options of building a new jail or expanding the current jail, and utilizing home incarceration. This is a community problem and we have to solve it by working together as a com-

Looking forward to our future we need a vocational school in southern Madison County. I would like to work with our current industries and partner with them to find ways we can best educate the workforce. These businesses have proven success and we can structure students' education to meet their future needs.

tions are afforded the same opportunity. My faith, upbringing, and work experience has prepared me for such a time as this.

The 1st District needs someone that can work with state legislators, regardless of political affiliation. I have a great relationship with our local state legislators and would be able to work with them on laws concerning our community. Because the local elected officials are the closest to the people in the district, I believe it's their job to hold our state legislators accountable and to make sure that they're doing what is in the best interest of Madison County. I am someone that can look beyond the party partisanship to get the job

I know that Madison County is made up of hard working, conservative, and moral people that can be best represented by someone that shares these values. My faith and family have taught me to serve my community and that is what I believe the role of a magistrate should be.

Question #2: Please state in 300 words what you would like to accomplish as magistrate in the next term.

We should always be looking to make Madison County better. Working in the manufacturing industry has taught me that things can always be more efficient, more productive, and more cost effective. I will work hard to make these things a reality, as well as making sure we maintain our current quality of life, while not compromising our ideals.

As your 1st District Magistrate there are some things that I would like to help implement. Making the fiscal court more accessible with more accommodating meeting times so residents can be a part of the decision making process. I would like to hold town hall meetings in the 1st District to get feedback from the community. We need to utilize social media to give and receive information to and from the public. I would like to explore a merit system for our county employees so they can concentrate on

Citizens of Berea,

Some of the issues I will work for:

- · Arts and Crafts and all other businesses
- Another source of raw water.
- Senior Citizen Retirement Community
- Civic Center Berea needs an indoor facility where they can have year-round events regardless of the weather. I have a plan to do just that.
- Maintain our infrastructure
- Complete the electric upgrade, Roselawn, Dixie Park, etc.
- Continue to expand the shared use paths.
- Keep utilities rates and taxes as low as possible.
- Work to get more tourists to come to Berea.
- Police Department. I will work to get the necessary funding that is needed to combat the war on drugs and other criminal activities.
- I will be a team player with other City Council members.
- Fairness for everyone
- I will legislate and not dictate.

I ask for your vote on Tuesday, Nov. 4.

Question #2: Please state in 300 words what you would like to accomplish as jailer in the next term.

My mission for the Madison County Detention Center is to provide a safe and secure facility for all inmates and staff utilizing both Federal and State Regulations. My goal as the Madison County Jailer would be to address the overcrowding at the jail, seek a new jail, or build a Community Service Complex onto the jail to accommodate state inmates that have a low classification level, making it the fourth county jail in the state of Kentucky that would be self-sufficient, costing zero county tax payer dollars to operate. "Zero Tolerance" Drug Free policy. I believe it is crucial to have a welltrailed and professional staff and I plan to increase the training of staff to improve safety with new staff completing an 8-week field training program. I want to adhere to the Kentucky Association of Counties (KACO) standards which meet or exceed the Kentucky Department of Correquirements. Deputies will be properly trained and accountable for their actions. I also want to change the policies and procedures on head counts, suicide watch, and escape prevention due to the recent suicide and escapes that have occurred at Madison County Detention Center. My goal is for a safer jail. The current inmates were green and I would like to change the color of their uniforms to something more visible. I plan to initiate rehabilitation programs including domestic violence and an-goals come to fruition as we have some really good projects and programs in early phases. I feel like we have done a great job in a short amount of time and been able to really make the Detention Center a more efficient and safe place, and I would love to see us continue to prog-

ADRIEL WOODMAN BEREACITY COUNCIL

I am asking Bereans to vote for me and help the city we love to accomplish important improvements:

- Improve city living for older persons. Revive efforts to obtain retirement home development and provide increased access to in-home and communal services for retirees. Continue to improve and expand the Berea bus service.
- Keep young people staying in Berea. Focus economic development on sustainable, entrepreneurial opportunities and develop technical post-secondary education. Concentrate economic development on supporting growth of local existing business.
- Strengthen the city infrastructure. Upgrade electric power. Expand our critical water resources. Improve storm water drainage. Wider walkways and slower speed limits. Make sure we are prepared for snows and storms.
- Increase public safety and prevent drug abuse. Implement community policing throughout the city and drug prevention in schools. Increase the visibility of police. Enhance and enforce safe speed limits at schools, crosswalks, and neighborhoods. Make sure our children are safe in parks and at play.
- Expand walkways, shared use paths, and accessible transportation. Provide safe biking and walking paths for all ages. Complete and connect the walking trails and provide safe walking to schools and shopping.

to serve as jailer of Madison County and what qualifies you for the position.

I want to continue to serve as Jailer of Madison County because I feel like we have made great strides to improve the facility and I want to see these improvements continue in the future. We have upgraded our computer system, enhanced our work release programs, and improved the overall operations.

When I first took office we were using extremely outdated software that was not user friendly and did not give us the reports and data that we needed. When we started the Jail-

Tracker software program, we were then thrust into the 21st century as far as the computer system went. We were able to launch a website where the public could keep up with current inmates and charges, not to mention the knowledge and tools that it gave the

Our work release programs were not running at maximum efficiency. We added two road crews that work on state roads here in the county that are completely funded by the state. These road crews pick up trash and weed eat medians all over the county. I am very proud of the work that they do to help keep our community beautiful, at a very cost efficient rate.

There is always room for improvement in any line of work, I am proud of how far we have come in the last four years and I am confident that we will accomplish much more in the next term.

Question #2: Please state in 300 words what you would like to accomplish as jailer in the next term.

In the next term, I would like to see the jail expanded. I want to continue to improve this facility, but there is a limited amount of progress that can be made with the severe overcrowding that we experience. Our county is growing, which is a good thing, but with an increasing population, comes an increase in crime as well. Our current facility was built over 20 years ago, and it is time for an upgrade.

I would also like to see our current projects and

Honoring Breast Cancer Awareness Month

October is breast cancer awareness month. Because early detection is the key to surviving breast cancer, Saint Joseph Berea presented a free event Friday, October 17 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the hospital lobby. On hand was Saint Joseph Berea nurse Teresa King and her mother, Nola Newman, a twenty-seven year survivor of breast cancer, and Sherry Money, Mammography Tech. The ladies provided information and educational materials about breast cancer and the tools available to detect it. A pink basket of goodies went home with a lucky participant.

Special to the Citizen

The titles of both 2014 Bluegrass Athletic Conference Regular Season Champions, and Bluegrass Athletic Conference District Tournament Champions were awarded to the Foley Middle School Girls Soccer team on Octo-

"I was so proud of how many fans, parents and teachers that came out to support this team. They were cheering, chanting and yelling encouragements. It was an incredible sight to see and hear them. Every one of our girls got a huge lift because of it and I just want to thank them all," Coach Bowling said. The eight year drought is over for the Lady Warriors soccer team, who finally won the regular season and tournament championship. Foley Girls Soccer avenged their only loss by beating Madison Middle, by winning 2-0 in the Tournament semis. They also avenged the only tie they had by beating Model 4-2 in the Tournament Championship game, which was held at Caudill Field and hosted by Clark Moores.

The four goals for the win were made by #2 Ally Bowling, Midfield, #3 Josie Lehman, Midfield, #10 Kyla Lloyd, Forward, and #16 Jordan Centers, Midfield, all 8th graders in the starting lineup. Other Lady Warriors in the starting lineup are #21 Nora McClure, Goalie, #12 Kenzie Lainhart, Fullback, #13 Kara Ramsey, Fullback, #15 Katy Coyle,

By Christina Crawford Fullback, and #11 Kaley "Change continued with Gibson, Midfield, all 8th Us."" grade. Also on the starting lineup are #4 Heidi Hylton, Fullback, and #9 Minako Jumper, Midfield, both 7th grade. The Lady Warrior reserves are #20 Caiti Trimble and #25 Moriah Hill, both 7th grade. #6 Keyara Savia, #7 Bailee Reece, #14 Kylie Cornett, #5 Abby Sheffer, all 6th grade. #18 Macie Hill, 5th grade, and

#1 Kally Lloyd, 4th grade. Yearly stats for the Lady Warriors include the overall record: 14-1-1, 10 shutouts, goals for: 66, and goals against: 12. Both this year and last year's teams have amassed astounding results in 2 seasons. Combined, they include 27 wins, 3 losses, 3 ties, 138 goals scored, 31 scored against and 17 shutouts. In their 2013 season, Foley came close by becoming season runner-up and losing in the Tournament finals in the 2nd round of sudden death penalty kicks. They knew how that pain felt in losing in the finals last year, and they didn't want to feel that again, according to Bowl-

"The team philosophy ing over the program last year was "Change Starts with Me." They needed to believe that as each individual player, that they could make a difference if they were willing to work for it," coach Bowling said. "In return, this change would affect the team in positive way, and it has in a big way! You could say for this year's team after accomplishments,

"Foley Girls Soccer team has come a long way since Coach Lloyd and Coach Bowling have been with us. We have learned to work together, more about the game, to have good sportsmanship, and to always have fun," player Jordan Centers said. She plans to continue playing soccer into high school and will take with her the skills her coaches taught her. Assistant coach Janette Lloyd has been instrumental in assisting Bowling for the past 2 years and will take over the program next season. Bowling is confident in handing over the reins, that Lloyd will continue the successful program in place at Foley for Girls Soccer. The Lady Warriors coach could not have asked for a better way to step down from his head coach position, coinciding with his daughter Ally's advancement from middle school to high school soccer next year. "While I cannot speak for how the outcome of the future will be, it would certainly be wonderful to put another trophy and script on the banner for Girls Soccer at Foley," Assistant Coach Lloyd said. "I anticipate tough competition from several of the schools in the district next year. Foley is losing 9 players next year due to their progression into High School. It will definitely be a challenge to adapt and fill their

Folk Music, Dance This Thursday and Friday

There is good reason Berea, Kentucky is the "Folk Arts and Crafts Capital of Kentucky." Opportunities for folk music and dance abound. Following on the heels of the annual Celebration of Traditional Music (October 16-19) two more performing groups will take the stage of Phelps Stokes Chapel on Thursday and Friday, October 23 and 24, presenting free concerts sponsored by Berea College.

Martha Redbone, accompanied by a five-piece band, is a mesmerizing, award-winning musician who performs a unique blend of roots, blues, and soul music drawing from her Cherokee, Choctaw, Shawnee, African American and Appalachian heritage. Her newest album is a marriage of William Blake's poetry and the music of Redbone's Black Mountain, Kentucky roots. Redbone's performance is presented as a Stephenson Memorial Concert. As part of Berea's Convocations program, the series was established by the family of the late John B. Stephenson, former president of Berea College, and his sister Nancy Anne Stephenson, to bring outstanding musical performances to Berea College for the enrichment of all, free of charge.

The Martha Redbone Roots Project Quintet concert will take place on Thursday, October 23 at 8

Toes will be tapping at the Footworks Percussive Dance Ensemble's performance. Picture Riverdance meets Hoedown. The Footworks group combines a bit of urban STOMP, Irish step dancing, African-American stepping and a healthy dose of Appalachian clogging. The Footworks Percussive Dance Ensemble offers a uniquely American story: an exuberant fusion of live music, comedy, singing, and a dazzling array of percussive dance forms rooted in different cultures. Since 1979, Footworks has represented American culture internationally, including a Smithsonian Institution tour of Japan, and as guest artists with Riverdance in London. Footworks' founder and director Eileen Carson is an NEA

Choreography Fellow. They come to Berea fresh from opening for the International Bluegrass Music Association (IBMA)

Awards. The Footworks Percussive Dance Ensemble will take place on Friday, October 24, at 8 p.m.

Both concerts will take place at the Phelps Stokes Auditorium at Berea College. Admission is free and open to the public.

KFTC Holds Friend-Raiser Saturday

The local Madison County chapter of Kentuckians For The Commonwealth (KFTC) is celebrating ten years of working for social change in the area by throwing their annual "Friend-Raiser" event.

More than 100 people are expected to gather at Union Church in Berea on Saturday, October 25 from 4 to 8 p.m. for an evening of family-fun, food, and live music. Folk singers Tyler Childers and Senora Lainhart will provide live

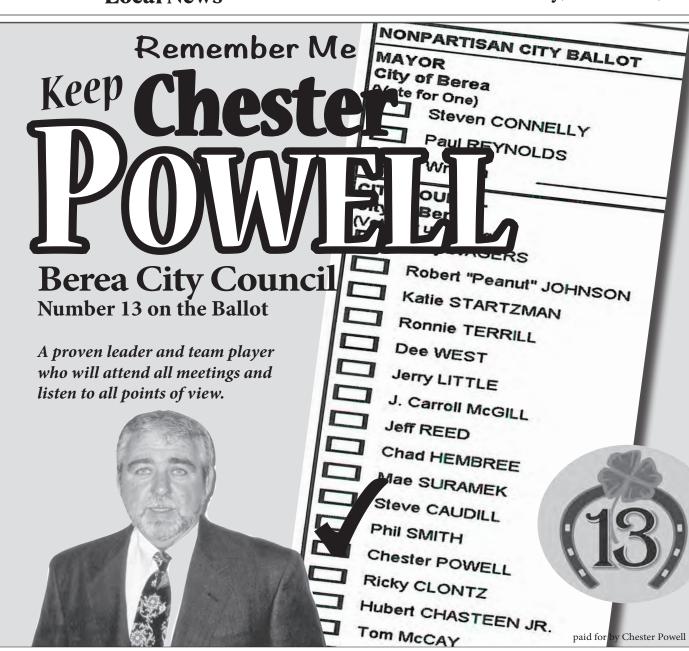

In addition to music and food, there will be information about KFTC's work, activities, and a silent auction to raise funds for the organization. This event is free and open to all.

KFTC is asking able attendees to bring a potluck dish to share -- Sonny's BBQ pulled pork will be the main dish -- and a donated item for the silent auction.

"You have to remember that $38 million of the total net position are tied up in property and equipment, with other funds set aside as well," Hensley said.

"You had a really good year. Keep it up, and you'll be fine. You've got a good staff, and I just commend you on a good year," Hensley said.

City Administrator Randy Stone presented a general ledger to city council on the revenue and expenses of the craft festival this summer. This was the first year that the City of Berea operated the summer craft festival.

Vendor fees brought in $27,230, entrance or gate fees brought in $36,732, and food vendors brought in $2,181, for an approximate total of $67,000 in revenue. Since the expenses of the event were approximately $56,000, the city came out around $10,000 to the good. Stone informed the council that he had transferred $17,000 from the general fund before the crafts fair, in order to have beginning capital for the first year. After seeing how much profit was made, Stone transferred $7,000 back to the general fund. That left nal amount transferred from the general fund -- to help with next year's craft festival.

a fund balance of $20,000

"With continued sunny weather, we'll hopefully keep bringing in more at the festivals, and I can transfer that $10,000 back to the general fund over time," Stone said.

Utilities Director Ed Fortner made three bid recommendations for upgrades at the Lewis substation, and city council members approved all of them. Sturgess received the bid for the site work at $38,184; Substation Engineering and Design received the bid for the substation structures at $200,300; and KVA Inc. received the bid for the concrete control building at $293,760.

Fortner issued an invitation to the community to give input on what to paint on the west end water tank. The RFPs will be sent out soon, Fortner said, and it would be good to paint it with something characteristic of Berea, instead of the Berea College logo that exists now.

Stone reported that FAHE is seeking partners on what to do with the old building on their property, and there are different parties interested in different activities. The City of Berea responsibilities. I am a life-long resident of Madison County. I am retired from the Madison County School System with 34 years of experience. I had the privilege of serving as teacher, coach, and principal. I have had the opportunity to work as interim principal on six occasions including; Kingston, Silver Creek, Mayfield, Waco, and Glenn Marshall Elementary Schools. Working throughout the 4th district in this capacity has given me the insight necessary to know what is important to the people in my area. As a principal, I have had the responsibility of balancing a budget, opening a new school, overseeing instruction, supporting the faculty and staff of those that worked with me, and being a positive presence for students, staff, and the community in which the schools served. All of these characteristics parallel what I believe the people of the 4th District are looking for in their new magistrate.

I want to help keep Madison County a prospering, safe place for its residents. My focus is not only for today but for future generations, including my grandchildren to have a wonderful place to grow up, find jobs, and raise their families. Ultimately, my goal is for Madison County to always be the community that we are proud to call home.

Question #2: Please state in 300 words what you would like to accomplish as magistrate in the next term. As I have traveled the district, I have found many citizens have questions in regards to the duties of the magistrates, the county judge, and/or the fiscal court. I would like to be able to be a visible official that seeks the answers/ solutions to the concerns of the constituents. Maintaining a balanced budget is also a top priority. In order to do this, I would become well-informed on all expenditures and base my vote on the present needs of the citizens. I would be eager to seek federal funding and grants to help boost available monies. The loss of jobs and payroll taxes lost by the completion of the nerve gas incineration by 2020 is also a definite concern. The need to bring

Harry Moberly

"For two decades, Judge Kent Clark has been the leader and inspiration of successful cooperative efforts to build and improve the economy and quality of life in Madison County. Over 500 million dollars of infrastructure such as roads, parks, projects for water accessibility and education and arts have come to our community because of his work with state legislators, governors, and other local and state officials. I am proud to have been a member of his team."

Rita Smart

"Jobs, opportunity and growth are the legacy of his administration. Kent's talent and experience are essential to our continued progress and prosperity. For our County and our families, I hope you will join me in helping to re-elect Kent Clark as Madison County Judge Executive."

Jimmy Cornelison

"Kent and I have been best friends for over 40 years. I can honestly say that he has been 100% involved with every aspect of county government since he has been in office. He has strived to improve the community for every resident of this county. Please keep Kent doing what he does best...taking care of Madison County."

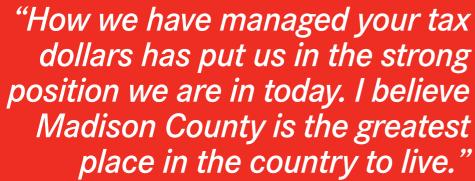

Leonard Bratcher

"Our county is better off today than ever in history and it keeps getting better every year. I can't understand how anybody from Madison County could vote against Kent"

Harold Johnson

"I worked with Kent Clark for many years in the cattle business. He is one of the hardest workers I have ever known at anything he does. He has always been a friend to me and my entire family. He has always been there to lend a hand to anyone that asked. Leonard and I would like to ask for your support and vote for Kent."

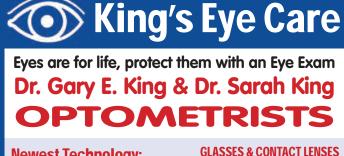

I would appreciate your vote on November 4th.

Berea Geocaching Event Deemed "Huge Success"

"What do you like about fall?"

Adanma Barton said, "Leaves. Pumpkins. Candy. Hot drinks. Fires. Good friends. We all come together in the fall, like for the traditional music festival and the craft fair. I like that Berea comes alive as nature is falling Almost 150 people participated in the first ever Berea Geocaching Event this past weekend, where people were given the GPS coordinates Saturday morning for over 50 different caches hidden around town. Girl Scout Troop #656, above, all participated in the Geocaching weekend. The photo was taken just after they found the cache that was hidden in a pinecone at Berea City Park, above right. Another challenging cache was at the library. GPS coordinates led hunters to a puzzle posted on the library's bulletin board outside. It then led to a school house inside (middle, right), and the cache was in a shelved book. Below, Ahmad Reynolds and his son, Joshua, below, talk about the challenging caches they found.

The Arts and Crafts Fairs and Spoonbread Festival in Berea may have to move over, because another major event has just moved into town – one that combines new technology with the old excitement of a treasure

The first ever Berea Geocaching Event this past weekend was a huge success, with almost 150 people attending who gave glowing reports of their time cache hunting in Berea. They came from around Kentucky, but they also traveled from as far as Florida and Michigan for Berea's inaugural event.

"I couldn't quit smiling all weekend," career consultant Jennifer Napier exclaimed, the motivating force behind the weekend. "I am so excited, and so happy. It was so great to see so many people enjoy their time in Berea."

Avid geocacher Napier partnered with the Berea Chamber of Commerce for the event, with many local businesses sponsoring the different activities. Geocaching, a sport that utilizes GPS technology, has become very popular in the last ten years, with

For this past weekend's event, Napier hid around temporary "event caches" for people to find. Participants were given the GPS coordinates to all the hidden caches on Saturday morning, and then set loose to find as many as they could before 7:30 p.m. that night.

"I am exhausted," Ahmad Reynolds from Berea exclaimed, as he stood with his son Joshua at First Christian Church where the geocachers met Saturday night. "At first, we didn't know what we were doing, because we had never done this before. But we started finding them after a while."

"It was a lot of fun," Joshua said, who said they had to keep recharging their phone because the app took so much juice.

The caches were hidden all over town and county, with many of them outside. A few were hidden inside buildings, however, like the one inside a book at the Berea library.

"It was a great way to see parts of Berea you hadn't seen before," one Berea Girl Scout said.

Napier discovered that most geocaching events are more of a "meet and around 2.5 million caches greet" for geocachers, hidden around the world. without specific event caches to find. The Berea event ended up being a lot of fun for the veteran treasure hunters in the group. "We had a blast and found some really hard caches!" one participant reported online. "Some of the most fun we had in a while . . . man oh man it was a blast!" Berea has a lot of permanent caches that have been hidden, and listed on the Geocaching website, Napier reported, so many participants said they would return to the participant from Kenhad found almost all of the caches in Berea, so they weren't sure what the day would hold for them.

"So glad to have all the event caches, that I will say kept us hopping all day long," they reported. "You all rock! Proud to say we were there when it all started."

Napier said out of all the comments made, and event evaluations, there was not one negative

Thomas Ahrens, with his dog, Chloe, said, "I love the walks with my dog when it's cool, through the leaves. Walks with my dog when she is not lethargic from the summer heat."

Chamber Singers & Concert Choir to Present Fall Concert

The Berea College Concert Choir and Chamber Singers, Stephen Bolster conductor, will present their annual fall concerts in Gray Auditorium on Saturday night, October 25 at 8 p.m. and Sunday afternoon, October 26 at 3 p.m.

The choirs will be accompanied by Lindsay Clavere on the piano and a brass ensemble of faculty and students. The public is invited to attend, and there is no charge for admission. Convocation credit is available to Berea College students for attending either perfor-

The first half of the program consists of a variety of sacred music from different eras, performed in several languages and styles. Included are songs of praise by Ronald Staheil and Heinrich Schűtz, two Marian Antiphons by César Carillo and Edvard Grieg, two songs about God's light by Andrea Ramsay and Fernando Moruja, three songs about the beauty of God's creation, and three African-American spirituals.

The second half of the program features secular music, including a group of Renaissance madrigals and chansons performed by the Chamber Singers, and a large selection of movements from Carl Orff's Carmina Burana (*). The program will conclude with a group of works about peace by contemporary composers, including Mack Wilberg's Anthem of Peace, featuring a brass ensemble of faculty and student players directed by Matthew Talbert, in which the audience joins the musicians in the performance.

What Folks in Berea are saying about Larry Combs

Tony & Lisa Wehrle, manager, Central Kentucky Design: "Larry has been a friend for as long as we can remember. He cares for our community - his work and dedication to Southern Madison County is evidence of this. He's always been open to the guestions and concerns of those he serves as magistrate in Southern Madison County."

Vernon Cummings, retired restaurant owner:

"In the 42 years I've known Larry, one major attribute has stood out to me, his willingness to help. Larry has never shown anything less than a kind, helping hand to me and the residents of Dogwood Drive. We are grateful for his dedication to the people of this great county!"

Richard Bellando, former owner of Churchill Weavers:

"The Combs' were neighbors of ours on Blue Lick, and fine ones at that. They've always been concerned with the affairs of the Berea area. And a lot of officials will say, 'I did this' or 'I did that,' but Larry always gives team credit to everyone involved, and acknowledges the important role of taxpayers."

Jane Brandenburg, retired secretary at Silver Creek Elementary: "I'm asking all of my friends to vote for my brother, Larry Combs. He does so much for Southern Madison County. He has tried for five years to get drivers license testing in Berea, now it has finally happened. Thanks Larry for all you have done to help Southern Madison County."

"I think Larry has made a real positive difference during his tenure as our magistrate. He works hard to better Southern Madison County for tomorrow. Larry's an active planner for the future needs of our community."

Doug Hazelwood, retired auto parts and service manager:

"I've known Larry's family for over fifty years. When I was in college, I worked for his dad Elvin, and he would constantly get on to me about my classes. If it weren't for Elvin, I'd probably still be in school! But seriously, the Combs family are good citizens of the county, and I'm proud to know them."

John Stephenson, retired builder:

"Larry Combs has been our magistrate for over three decades. That's a testimony in itself. Everywhere you look there are constant reminders of all the things he has done for Southern Madison County. He is a man of integrity who addresses the concerns of all of the people in his district. His word is his bond"

Bruce Fraley, executive and farmer:

"I have always known Larry to be a person of the highest integrity and honesty. He is a true public servant who puts the needs of his constituents first. Having an experienced Magistrate like Larry Combs on the Madison County Fiscal Court is important for all of us here in Southern Madison

Gary and Marvena Rose, local business owners:

Jack Hall, former publisher of the Berea Citizen:

"As editor and publisher of The Berea Citizen in the 1980's, I covered the Madison County Fiscal Court meetings for nearly a decade. While watching the inner workings of the court, I learned two things about Larry Combs. First, he is death on higher taxes. Second, he is the best friend the residents of Berea and Southern Madison County could have. If you want a sure vote against higher taxes and an advocate who will always get Berea a fair share of county allocations, vote Larry Combs. Whether you know him or not, he is your friend."

Ray Brandenburg, former Berea Police Chief:

"I have known Larry all his life. He is a good man. He is always available day or night to answer questions or help in any way. He takes pride in making sure all of the roads in Southern Madison County are in good condition. I urge you to vote Larry Combs for Southern Madison County Magistrate of District #1"

Belinda Riddle and daughter Larinda Agee, teachers at BCS:

"Larry has always been a big supporter of our students at Berea Community School. The investments he has made in these children and our community over the last 32 years have truly made a difference in the quality of life for all of us here in Southern Madison County. We're proud to support him for Magistrate of District #1.

Jane Pennington, owner of Pennington Realty:

"If you call Larry about a problem, he'll take care of it. That's why Southern Madison County is in better condition than ever before. As magistrate, Larry has done a fantastic job serving our community. So please go vote on May 20th, and for the good of Southern Madison County, vote Larry Combs for Magistrate District #1."

"We've known Larry for 42 years. We can't say enough about what he's done for Southern Madison County. The kind of problem doesn't matter - day or night, he is there for whatever you need. We shouldn't fix something that isn't broke."

Robert Farmer, local businessman and farmer:

"Larry has a real commitment to our community. He worked with state legislators to revise the Berea By-Pass project, in order to preserve the Silver Creek Baptist Church facility as one of our community's historical landmarks. We should face the future with proof from the past and re-elect Larry as our magistrate."

Randy Osbourne, retired pastor:

"I've known the Combs families for over forty years. They are good citizens of the Commonwealth, County, and community. And during his tenure, Larry has done a very good job representing this district on the Fiscal Court."

Mary Long, Manager of Foley's Florist:

Larry has a real sense of dedication to our community. He's done an excellent job for our district, and the hard work has paid off in better public programs and a higher standard of living. Let's keep Larry as our magistrate so he can continue to serve our needs in this end of the county."

Donnie Thomas, Berea business owner

"Because of the economy, we need to stream-line services and spend more efficiently instead of increasing taxes. We need to keep Larry. He's experienced, accessible and he's never voted for one new tax."

J.T. Gilbert, Coy, Gilbert, Shepherd & Wilson, Attorneys at Law: "My father, Ned Gilbert, was my political guru, and he always talked about how much Larry has done for our part of the county."

Jerry and Gwen Jones, local business owners: "Larry has always helped us anytime we have asked. If we need to known what is happening in county government, Larry is our go-to-guy. If he doesn't know he'll find out. We appreciate Larry Combs and all of his help."

Sue McAfee, retired:

"Larry Combs has a wealth of experience and connections that make him a valuable asset to Southern Madison County. And he's always been a Magistrate for the people. It doesn't matter if you're rich or poor. If you call him he'll help you.'

Mickey Ballard, retired manufacturing Master Technician: "I've known Larry Combs and his family all my life. He's a good man who always goes out of his way to help people. He's paved every road in our end of the county and brought city water to every home. And he's never voted for one new tax in thirty-two years. We need to keep him on the Fiscal Court."

Re-Elect Mayor Connelly

on November 4, 2014 and get

PERFORMANCE NOT PROMISES, REAL RESULTS NOT PLATITUDES.

Over the last twelve years, the mayor and city council have:

Purchased the electric and water utilities from Berea College;

Purchased the Dresser building;

Expanded the Recreation Park;

Built new curbs, sidewalks, and the Indian Fort Trail;

Added vehicles and equipment for Police, Fire, Streets, and Codes; and Increased the net assets of Berea from $12M to over $25M in the General Fund and from $16.5M to almost $32M in the Utility Fund.

WHY CHANGE NOW?

Here are TEN issues we will confront during the next 4-years:

- 1. Organizing, funding, and implementing the federally mandated MS-4 storm water quality plan;
- 2. Monitoring the sale of alcohol by the drink in Boone Tavern;
- 3. Overseeing the protection of Civil Rights for all citizens in Berea according to law;
- 4. Devising, permitting, and funding a plan to secure Berea's long-term raw water needs;
- 5. Obtaining a new electric supply contract to ensure future needs amid the rapidly changing demands of carbon regulation;
- 6. Designing, funding, and implementing upgrades to the electrical grid to provide 12 KV current and en sure more reliable service for Roselawn, Dixie Park, and other parts of Berea;
- 7. Continuing to push Frankfort to complete Berea's Bypass and widen US 25 North;
- 8. Committing to complete the Indian Fort trail and expanding Berea's shared-use travel system;
- 9. Supporting tourism, entrepreneurship, and sustainable local agriculture as additional economic development strategies to expand our local economy;
- 10. Doing all of the above while maintaining a balanced budget, receiving a clean audit report, and protecting our reserve fund now standing at over $5M.

My Vision for Berea:

- 1) We retain local-control of our government, our utilities, and much of our economy.
- 2) We continue to benefit from a sustainable water supply, reliable and affordable electric service, and an increasingly local food supply.
- We are bike-and pedestrian -friendly and boast a vibrant retirement community.
- 4) The civil rights of all citizens and visitors are protected.
- 5) Our infrastructure continues to be well-maintained, adequate to meet current demands, and prepared for future growth.
- 6) City revenues continue to exceed expenses, financial accounts continue to balance, and the "rainy day" fund continues to remain untouche in the bank.

7) The City continues to provide open, efficient, and effective local government that plans strategically, anticipates foreseeable problems, seize

- available opportunities, and is wary of unknown-unknowns. 8) We retain our young people by providing economic opportunity in areas ranging from manufacturing and the skilled trades to
 - entrepreneurship and advanced professions.

"If re-elected mayor, I will continue to work with council to invest in Berea's future, meet impending challenges, and strive to make this vision a reality."

The inauguration of Dr. John B. Stephenson as the seventh president of Berea College was scheduled for Friday, Oct. 26, 1984, at the college's Phelps Stokes Chapel. The ceremonies began at 10 a.m. and concluded at 11:30 a.m.

The residents of Bratcher Lane and Slate Lick Road received information about future sewer lines on their property at the city council meeting in October. Forest Bryant came to the council with questions about how the line was going to run along the street. Residents were told that no one would be required to come on to the sewer, although rates would be offered very low. The second of three proposed sewer rate increases to help finance an $8.8 million sewer project was going to show up on customer's bill in November 1984. The increase would be approximately 30 percent. During the winter months, the sewer treatment system operated at 100 percent over capacity because of the wet weather. The Jefferson-Jackson Democratic Club held a fish fry and rally on Sunday, Oct. 7 at Indian Fort Theater. Lynx, a local group, provided some of the music. Band members included Jack Lewis, Louis Tagliaboschi, Shayne Owens, John Riddle and Leah

Southern Madison Water District in Top Ten

By Beth Myers Citizen Editor

The Southern Madison Water District was one of ten finalists for the Wooden Bucket Award, a recognition that the Kentucky Rural Water Association gives out annually to a water district in Kentucky. The Association picks the finalists from 365 water utilities in the state. Larry Todd, the chairman of Southern Madison Water, stated that part of the reason they placed so high was because of their finan-

Question #2: List the top three issues that you think the city will face in the next several years, explain why each is significant, and actions that the mayor could take to move those issues forward.

The top three issues never seem to change: 1) provide high-quality municipal services to the citizens of Berea; 2) find additional ways to create more jobs and enlarge our local economy; and 3) continue guarding the financial integrity of the city through balanced budgets, clean audits, and an emergency reserve fund now at over $5M. These three issues are significant because the primary mission of local government is providing essential services like fire, police, basic utilities, code enforcement, and public

Question #3: What are your long-term concerns (10 15 years in the future) for the City of Berea?

Here are ten specific long-term concerns of the City in no particular order: 1. Organizing, funding, and implementing federally mandated MS-4 storm water quality plan; 2. Monitoring the sale of alcohol by the drink in Boone Tavern and other approved areas; 3. Devising, permitting, and funding a plan to secure Berea's long-term raw water needs; 4. Overseeing the protection of Civil Rights for all citizens in Berea according to law; 5. Obtaining a new electric supply contract to ensure future needs amid the rapidly changing demands of carbon regulation; 6. Supporting tourism, entrepreneurship, and sustainable local agriculture as additional economic development strategies to expand our local economy; 10. Doing all of the above while maintaining a balanced budget, receiving a clean audit report, and protecting our reserve fund.

Question #4: Regarding the 2014-15 budget, are there line items you would like to see added for funding, or items you would like to see receive more funding? Are there line items you would like to see removed from funding, or receive less funding?

The 2014-15-budget is progressive and adequately provides for most current needs, but new revenue and expense lines will need to be included in future budgets for the MS-4 storm water program and the alcohol regulatory license fee which state law requires be held in a separate fund and only collected in an amount necessary to pay the actual costs of regulation. revenue raised and how money was spent. The budget is a planning document that intentionally overestimates expenses and under-estimates revenues and is amended during the year to reflect actual needs and income received.

Question #5: How would you like to see Berea develop economically? Could the City of Berea be more business friendly? Should zoning regulations be changed/loosened/ tightened? It is a myth that Berea is unfriendly to business and that zoning regulations deter business growth. Witness the recent acquisition of a dialysis clinic on Richmond Road and the misperception that local bureaucracy, rather than the 2008 recession, prevented Lowe's from building in Berea. Berea's economy has prospered over the last 65 years because of our proximity to central Kentucky and major transportation arteries. During this time, Berea has relied on the economic development strategy of recruiting industry and retail stores, which puts us in direct competition with Richmond and Lexington. During the last twelve years, we have started employing more strategies such as supporting tourism, encouraging local investment through entrepreneurship, and seeking opportunities in sustainable local agriculture. Most of all, Berea needs to find niche opportunities for investment by local entrepreneurs with support from smart city programs.

Question #6: Do you favor legalized alcohol sales in the City of Berea? How exten-

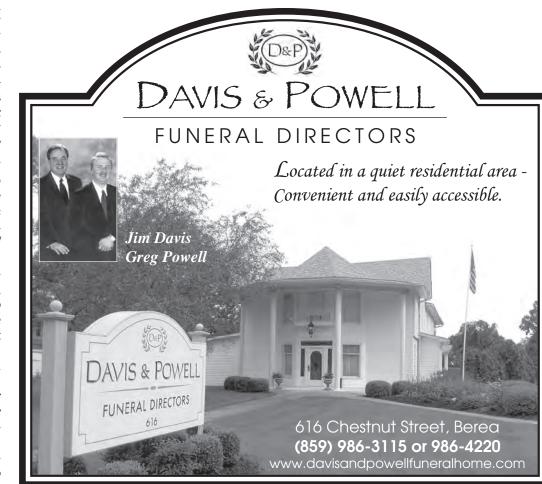

Yes. Berea is missing an opportunity to add jobs and increase our local economy by not allowing alcohol sales in local restaurants.

Question #7: Do you favor a Fairness Ordinance in the City of Berea? Yes. The benefits of aspiring to be a tolerant and welcoming community outweigh the fear of "big government" enacting needless regulation. I see nothing wrong with Berea seeking to be a golden rule community, and the experiences of Morehead, Danville, Frankfort and Vicco, who have already passed similar ordinances, suggest that worries about harassing litigation and burdensome enforcement are exaggerated. Furthermore, the exceptions included in the ordinance protect citizens from the reverse religious discrimination implied by the "favoritism"

Stay Warm All Winter With A Natural Gas Furnac

Natural gas heat brings your together in total comfort. When the outside temperature falls, electric heat pumps struggle while natural gas furnaces bring a steady flow of warm air. Over half the homes in the nation are heated with natural gas, and natural gas is gaining in popularity every year.

There are several good reasons for this, starting with dependability. The natural gas pipeline system ensures the safe and reliable delivery of energy to your home. It's comforting, in more ways than one, to know you and your loved ones can depend on natural gas.

Natural gas makes a house feel like a home with warm, comfortable heat no matter how cold it is outside. When it comes to value, natural gas is clearly the choice. Natural gas is also the cleanest fossil fuel. With the need to reduce the amount of pollutants being emitted into the air and water, natural gas is better for the environment than other sources of energy.

You're probably doing your part. Bundling newspapers, saving gasoline, recycling glass and more. You are concerned about costs and saving our earth's valuable resources. Using natural gas helps to conserve our natural resources for future generations. It's interesting to note that most of the new electric generation projects being planned in the the U.S. will be powered by natural gas. It's an available and abundant fuel that takes a vital place in our society today... and in the

So the next time you want to heat things up choose natural gas. For this and generations

Student Government Officers Respond to Ad

Dear Editor,

We are writing to you today to express our disdain for the allegations made in an advertisement entitled, "Consider these Headlines from across America, Could Berea be next?" which ran in last week's edition of the Citizen. In what appears to be an attempt to muffle the voices of the active citizens that live here, and to intimidate the college students who call this town home -- but what may be a simple case of misinformation -- the ad in question has raised major concerns in our com-

As students, our initial response to the ad was confusion and disappointment. As individuals who have called Berea home for the last 3 ½ years, we could not believe that our eligibility to vote in the upcoming election was subject to challenge. We realized soon thereafter that the advertisement held some validity, but its presentation was, perhaps intentionally, misleading. We fear, however, that many students and other townspeople may not have the time or the resources to investigate the claims made therein.

The particular section of the ad we are concerned with is the one claiming that, "Berea College students (non-residents) right to vote in our community is subject to being challenged at the voting precinct under the Kentucky Revised Statutes." If you will permit us, we would like to elaborate on the circumstances and statutes regarding these claims, as it appears that the "Concerned Citizens of Berea" have taken a page from Emily Dickinson, who wrote, "Tell all the truth but tell it slant."

The Kentucky Revised Statutes, as they pertain to elections procedures, specifically enumerate the reasons an individual's eligibility to vote may be challenged; the most relevant to this discourse being the resident status of the voter (Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 117.316).

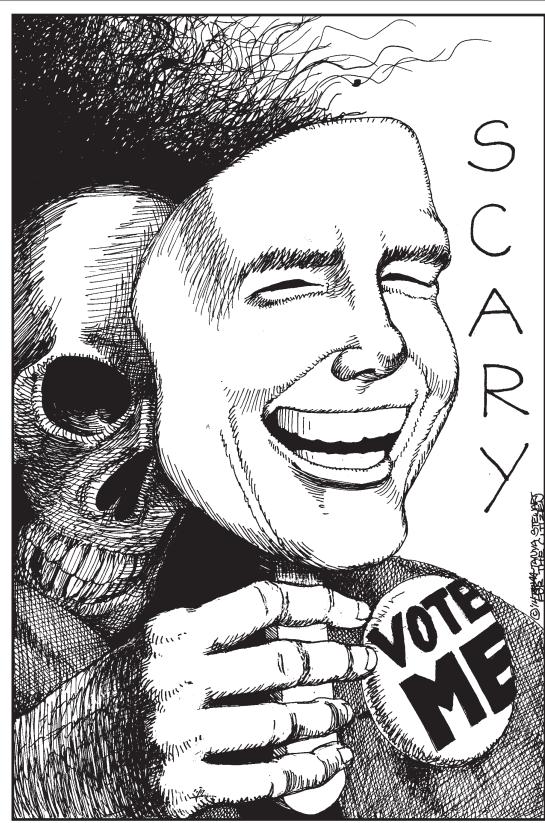

To be clear, by the Kentucky standards for voter registration, Berea College students are residents of Berea, where their residence is their place of habitation for at least 28 days before the election and where they have an intention to stay for the time being, claiming their school address as their principal home (Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 116.035). Many students come to call the town of Berea their home soon after admission. To think of these students as anything less than Berea citizens would be absurd, considering how integrated the College and the town are.

To clarify further, it is the eligibility of all voters, not just that of Berea College students that is subject to challenge. What voters throughout Berea should be aware of are the restrictions placed on the process of appointment, training, and certification as well as the limitations placed on challengers. These restrictions can be found in Section 117.187 and Sections 117.315-16 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes.

To ensure that students' right to vote is not abridged, the Berea College SGA will be running shuttles to the polling locations (for college community precincts: Russell Acton Folk Center and Madison Southern High School) every 20 minutes from 6 a.m. - 6 p.m. from Seabury Circle (located at the front entrance to the Seabury Center). However, if a student's eligibility is challenged at the polls, they will still be allowed to vote if they swear an oath that they are an eligible voter [N.B. if you voted by absentee ballot in your home community this election cycle, you cannot vote in the election here in Berea (Ky. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 116.025 and § 116.085)]. Please keep this in mind on Election Day next Tuesday, November 4, as you make your voices heard!

Democratically yours,

Charla Hamilton & Jacob Burdette BC SGA Executive President & Vice-President

After the Election, We'll Still Be Neighbors

Dear Editor (and fellow Berea citizens),

As this election cycle wraps up, I find myself becoming more and more discouraged. I am accustomed to candidates for state and national offices jumping deep into the mire of negative, destructive advertising. And I'm accustomed to voters having and voicing strong opinions on all sorts of important and seemingly unimportant issues. We want people to know where we stand – in terms of issues and candidates (I say this as someone who still has a bumper sticker from the last presidential election on my car). What I'm not accustomed to is what seems to be an alltime low level of neighborliness and civility in this community, particularly in regards to understandings of fairness and voting rights. I've seen blatant disrespect toward or even demonization of "the other" - whomever that may be. I hesitate to invoke our town's founder, Rev. John Fee, as I feel sometimes feel we're a little too free with our references to what he must have wanted in this community. What I do know, though, is that he envisioned and built a community filled with people living, learning, and working side by side as neighbors. People who, in other communities, would likely never even share a neighborhood or a street. People who struggled together through challenges and misunderstandings, through hardships and disagreement. It is likely that on the morning of November 5, some of us will wake up elated, and some disappointed. Many of us will likely be a mix of both, as election results from various races roll in. But also on November 5, we will wake up as members of this community; we'll still be co-workers, our kids will still be in class and on sports teams together, we'll still be waiting in the check-out line with each other, we'll still be sharing roads and walking trails, we'll still be attending meetings of civic groups and PTAs together.

We'll still be neighbors. We'll still be sharing and strengthening our community: together.

So please vote on November 4. Encourage others around you, even those with different views than you, to vote. It is a right and a responsibility that we must continue to safeguard for each other. With your words and your actions, support the voting rights of other members of our community, even those members who haven't lived here as long as you have or might be calling Berea home for a few years. Because whether your people have been here for generations or you've been called to Berea for a specific chapter in your life, this is your home and your voice mat-

So as November 4 draws ever closer, may we remember that November 5 is the day when the real work begins.

We Need Legislators to Lead Through to the Future

Dear Editor,

I think about them every time I see these election ads on TV or in my mailbox talking about coal.

Most of these ads come from Mitch McConnell. Looking at them, you'd think that coal was jumping up out of the ground and putting food on every table in east Kentucky until Obama came along and spoiled the party.

That's not how I remember it. We've been losing coal jobs most years and under most presidents for a long time. Mitch went to Washington in 1984. Where was he when we lost more than 16,000 coal jobs under Ronald Reagan? Or nearly 5,000 under George H.W. Bush? (These numbers come from the Kentucky state government's Energy and Environment Cabi-My daddy and brother net.) In fact, Kentucky's of that black rock is gone in were coal miners in Harlan lost about two-thirds of its east Kentucky and nobody County, where I'm from. coal jobs since Mitch Mc- in government can really Connell's been in office

That's some record.

Every time I hear about mining jobs lost, my heart goes out to those miners and their families. My hope is that they find another way, maybe a safer way, to put food on the table. That's because I got to listen to my daddy gasping for breath in his final days (his lungs had been ruined by coal dust). I got to watch my brother go downhill after he got seriously injured in a rockfall in a coal mine. He died at

I'm not going to tell you who to vote for. But the truth is you can vote for Mitch, you can vote for Alison, you can vote for the Man in the Moon. It's not going to change anything about coal. The best save the jobs that are going with it. What they could do, though, is help people get ready for new ones.

When Mitch talks about coal, I feel like he's really talking about the past. What he's saying is that if we elect him again, he'll protect us from the future.

But we don't need people to protect us from the future – we need people to help lead us through it.

Lundergan Grimes is smart. She loves Kentucky - and she's thinking about the future.

That's why I'm voting

Vote for Ronnie Terrill

Dear Editor,

In the upcoming election, please vote for the people who you think will do the best jobs for our city, our county, our state and our country and not necessarily for people who are in the party with which you are affiliated nor for the people who have personal agendas. Many of those running for Berea City Council have personal agendas and may or may not represent the best interests of the majority of the local citizens. Ronnie Terrill is a councilman who has the best interests of all the people of Berea and is by no means a puppet or yes man for any one group. If you contact him with a problem, he is always ready and willing to help any way he can. Ronnie was born and raised in Berea and has always had the desire to make Berea a better place in which to live. He served as a Berea Volunteer Fireman for more than 20 years, coached Little League Baseball and served as a member of the Berea Youth League for many years; and he has served on the Berea Planning and Zoning Commission and the Berea City Council. I think his record speaks for itself, and I am asking you to vote for Ronnie Terrill on November 4. Your support is greatly appreci-

Students are Our Neighbors

Every year, more than a third of Berea College students are involved in some form of communitybased service. This equates to more than 10,000 hours of community-based activities, mostly contributed right here in Berea. What are these students doing? They are mentoring and tutoring children through regular, weekly programs. They are visiting residents of our local long-term care facilities. They are lending a hand to build homes for low-income families. They are helping to grow gardens at community centers and schools. They are researching issues like access to healthy foods. They are creating databases, websites, and brochures for local non-profits. They are gathering food to stock the shelves of our local food banks to help our neighbors make ends meet. All this work is done in partnership with local schools and non-profit organiza-

Why are the Berea College students contributing to our community in these ways? For many of them, it is because they understand that they are part of this community. When asked, they have responded: "Because others have helped me when I needed it." "I

Dear Editor of the Berea wouldn't be where I am today without the help of others." "When I make my community stronger by helping just one person, I make it stronger for everyone." "We ARE the com-

Many Berea College students also understand that there are a variety of ways actively strengthen our community; some of these ways include volunteering, educating others about important issues, and voting.

These students are our neighbors. We pass them in the aisles of our local stores, and we sit near them at the tables of local restaurants, where we all spend our money. Our children wave at them when they recognize the student who is tutoring them and helping them to read. We may stand next to them in line on November 4 at the polls.

The patchwork of Berea's community is made up of people who want to make this place where we live stronger. All of us have a voice. All of us have the ability to reach out and be kind to our neighbors. All of us who are registered to vote have the right to show up at the polls and cast a ballot on Election Day.

Ad Tries to Suppress Votes

Dear Editor:

A full-page ad paid for by the "concerned citizens of Berea," none of whom are named, wants to make this town a Conservative Only community. People who are really interested in a thriving democracy want all to vote, yet the ad calls only for "the solid, conservative citizens of Berea" to vote so that Berea's city government will be 100 percent conservative. The ad strongly implies: If you don't look like us and think like us, You Are Not Welcome Here. The ad does a better job that did proponents of the Fairness Ordinance to prove that there are people in Berea who are working hard to deny civil rights, including voting rights, to many who live in Berea.

John Fee, one of Berea's founders, established the first church in Kentucky to have an interracial congregation, and a school where blacks and whites were educated together. Remarkably, this was in the mid 1800s when slavery existed and was supported by almost all other southern white ministers. But here's the rest of the story. Bereans who opposed Fee's inclusive vision burned his church and ran him out of town. Blacks and whites were no longer allowed to attend school together. Within a few years of its remarkable beginning, Berea was transformed from AWESOME to, AW, some town like all other prejudiced pro-slavery, towns in the South, transformed from a town that welcomed all to a town that excluded many.

More than a century after this remarkable start for Berea (I'm talking about John Fee, not about the people who ran him out of town), I graduated from a school in a state where blacks and whites had never gone to school together. While John Fee used the bible as a call for inclusion, many in my home state used the bible to exclude. When integration began in the 1970s, all 159 of Georgia's counties started private All-White Citizens Christian Academies. Schools founded "concerned citizens" and "solid, conservative" white protestant ministers—schools that said to young blacks: You Are Not Welcome Here. If you've ever been excluded, you know how hurtful that is. Registering to vote at age 18, I stood at a White Only Window in the courthouse in my hometown. At the Colored Only Window stood another eighteen year old. Dressed in suit and tie, he was excited by the prospect of voting. I was handed a post cardsized form that asked for my address, etc. He had a three-page questionnaire: Question one: Who is the assistant secretary of state of Georgia? That questionnaire was a blatant and unfair attempt to suppress votes. The White Only and Colored Only signs are reminders of how a divided community looks. The ad uses contrived fears in the form of headlines and beginnings of stories (a similar tactic was once used to create racist brochures). I hope that deep in their hearts those who are running the ad are more loving than their ad, which distorts, bullies and attempts to suppress votes by threatening Berea College students, in fact by threatening all who favor an inclusive community. Is history repeating itself in Berea?

I have no intention of firing any employee. As mayor I plan to reinstate the City Council personnel committee.

Having served as a commissioner on the Berea Tourism Board, I find statements that I won't support tourism ludicrous. As mayor I would expect and encourage the Tourism Commission to make their own decisions regarding the operations of the city's tourism department.

Disappointed in letter from pastor

Dear Editor,

The October 2, 2014 issue of the Citizen printed a letter from Berea Baptist Church Pastor, Kevin Slemp. In his letter, Pastor Slemp argued that there is an inevitable equivalency between allowing samesex marriage and acts of incest and bestiality. That Pastor Slemp associates loving, same-sex couples seeking the rights, privileges, and responsibilities conferred by legal marriage with sex with dogs or one's own child represents much more than a disturbing window into his imagiyears in Russia, the state government and church have worked together to weave a similarly twisted narrative of false equivalency associating homosexuality with pedophilia. This has given cover not just to outing gays in Russia, kicking them out of their homes, and firing from their jobs (acts now officially accepted by the Berea Čity Council), but also to rampant and open vigilantism where gays are brutally assaulted to "protect the children" while the authorities turn a blind (or rather approving) eye.

Pastor Slemp has every right to disagree with al-Over the past couple of lowing gays to marry in this country, and to express that opinion. And if he wants to use the Bible as his authority he has every right to do so (though notably he's not protesting Long John Silver's for serving shellfish or Walmart for being open on Sundays - other acts forbidden in the Bible). But reducing the commitments of loving, same-sex couples to carnal desires of fornication with dogs or incest is simply an insulting, unacceptable, and twisted position for a leader in our community to be advocating.

I Vote for a Name Change

Dear Editor,

As our rather contentious political campaign draws to a close, I for one would like to suggest a vote for changing the name of Berea to one that more aptly reflects the political ads and commentary published in our newspaper these past few weeks.

I first thought that changing our name to Innocence might be nice; that is, "the quality or state of being innocent; freedom from sin or moral wrong." Then I saw the full page ad "paid for by concerned citizens of Berea" that ran in last week's newspaper. It asked me to question who has the right to vote and even suggested how I should vote. That made me thinks that perhaps changing our name to Ignorance: "the state or fact of being ignorant; lack of knowledge, learning, information, etc." might seem more appropriate. I quickly dismissed that thought however, once I realized that ignorance is a word too often applied when someone wants to question another's conviction or label their opposing point of view. And besides, there are certainly a lot of intelligent people that have a right to their own conviction.

So I then thought that Steadfast: "firm in purpose, resolution, faith, attachment; firmly fixed in place or position" might apply considering where our electorate stand. Yet that wouldn't work either because those who are "for" or "against" may be equally as steadfast in their convictions.

That's probably why some of our candidates have chosen to call their opponents Progressive: i.e. "those who favor or advocate for change, improvement, or reform;" or Conservative: i.e. "those disposed to preserve existing conditions or institutions or restore traditional ones, and limit change;" as if those labels were dirty words or at the very least mutually exclusive.

It's unfortunate that all. smear tactics, misinformation, and empty promises too often get in the way of our ability to make our own informed decisions. The fact of the matter is that voting is a right and a privilege that deserves serious thought and attention from every registered voter. Perhaps all we need to get beyond the clatter and noise in determining the issues and the direction we want our community to take is to practice Tolerance: "a fair, objective, and permissive attitude toward those whose opinions, practices, race, religion, nationality, etc., differ from one's own;" i.e. freedom from bigotry.

After all, isn't it about voting for the candidate(s) most capable of representing and addressing the broader issues, challenges, and changes we seek? But before any of us vote, we might start by asking ourselves what kind of future we really want for our family, our friends, and our community.

The answer may lie not in changing our name after

Discrimination is Divisive, Not Ordinance

Dear Editor,

Some of the city council members who voted against the Fairness Ordinance claimed to do so because it was dividing the city. I believe that it's not the push for the Fairness Ordinance that is dividing the city, but the marginalizing of a whole group of people because of their sexual orientation that is doing so.

Just as the abolitionist movement was not what divided cities and states, but the existence of slavery that caused the need for the abolitionist movement. It was not the civil rights movement that caused divisions, but the prejudice and discrimination movement necessary. And I would ask them if they nance that is divisive, but the discrimination against lieve they would have. people who are LGBT that makes it so. I am not suggesting that those who opposed the Fairness Ordinance are equal to racists. The point I am making is that movements like this don't happen without a reason. Even if there is only one person who is refused a job, an apartment or service in a restaurant in Berea, it is one person too many, and it is divisive.

The council members who voted against the ordinance because they claim it is divisive also asserted that they believe in equality for everyone. I that made the civil rights do not doubt them, but so, likewise, it is not the would have voted against proposed Fairness Ordithe civil rights act because of divisiveness. I don't be

> I do believe that the best way to end the divisiveness is to pass the Fairness Ordinance. It won't end it over night and will take work on both sides. But as opponents of the ordinance begin to realize that it hasn't had a big impact on their lives, and people who are LGBT find that those who opposed the ordinance do not all dislike or reject them, and we all learn to see people as individuals with many different traits, eventually the divisiveness will fade.

and I celebrated 40 years in the insurance business here in Berea and we have a second office in Richmond. Throughout my business life, I have been an active member of the Berea Chamber of Commerce, having served fourteen years as a member of the board of directors and president in 2005 and again in 2006. I served sixteen years as commissioner of the Southern Madison Water District, through much of their growth and expansion years. I have also served twelve years as a member of the board of directors of the Madison County Homebuilders Association. During the last two years, I have served as chairman of the Berea Economic Development/Tourism Committee and commissioner and vice chairman of the Berea Tourism Commission. I have served as head football coach at Berea Community School and as a youth league coach in my earlier years. I currently own and operate a 140-acre farm, where I raise registered Simmental cattle and go to relax while enjoying the outdoors. I have raised two beautiful daughters, who are now career women. Carolyn is an insurance agent and works in the family business, while Katherine is a commercial airline pilot for Delta based in Atlanta. Both are married and have families of their own. I am also grandfather of two precious grandchildren, Haley and Dylan.

Question #2: List the top three issues that you think the city will face in the next several years, explain why each is significant, and actions that the mayor could take to move those issues forward.

Addressing our water supply/resource, which in itself will dictate Berea's capacity to grow. The dam at the Owsley Fork Reservoir needs to be raised to capture more clean water and address the safety concerns of residents that currently live below the dam. Our infrastructure will need attention and each project will have large price tags. We are already seeing this play out with the replacement of an old electrical substation, and electrical problems in Dixie Park and other residential areas. Additionally, we have water supply lines that are dated and need to be replaced and streets and roads that need to be milled in order to reclaim the curb and gutters for proper drainage.

Storm Water Requirements being mandated by the state and federal government – This will likely become a very expensive line item in future city budgets and the cost is hard to define at this time with so many unknowns. We certainly need to keep the cost to the taxpayer and property owners as low as possible, while implementing realistic requirements that can be effectively monitored by city staff. As mayor, I will work with our staff to develop work plans and budgets for each project, while working diligently with our state and federal representatives to seek funding for these and other community needs.

Completion of the Berea Bypass – Surely the second phase of the bypass will be completed in the next five years and we need to begin making a case for the third leg of our bypass to connect to US 25 south of Berea. Job growth (retail and industrial jobs) – As consumers we need more local choices instead of having to drive to Richmond or Lexington to purchase our clothes, shoes and other necessities. We have a very marketable industrial park with a central location. However, with current fuel prices and other costs of doing business rising, we need to be creative in how we market the industrial park to prospective manufacturers and others. We need to identify vendors and suppliers for our current industrial park residents and make it attractive for them to have facilities here in Berea and create jobs for our sons and daughters. Addressing the growing drug problems in Berea and Madison County – Just ask any employer what they are looking for in employees and they will say, "give me someone who will show up for work on a regular schedule and pass our drug test.' Our jails are full of folks that have fallen victims to substance abuse or grew up in households where drug sales, use and abuse were a way of life. We need to develop much more effective treatment programs like has been done in Huntington, West Virginia and encourage these folks to become productive members of society. Establishing a technical training facility in Berea – This is important in order to provide our young people with the types of training that employers require to compete in a global marketplace. At the same time, the facility would serve as a tremendous resource if we need to retrain older workers who have allowed technology to pass them by. Ideally, we need high tech training through a partnership with KY TECH and the Kentucky Community and Technical College System. Berea Community and Madison Southern make several trips per day transporting students to and from the vocational school in Richmond. The savings from this alone would help fund some start up programming in the high demand career fields. Addressing the funding of our 911 System after the weapons are destroyed at the depot – We have grown to enjoy the current level of service and even if the three governments partner, it will be difficult to maintain the equipment and keep it current going forward. We will need to develop strategies for increasing our revenue and explore various partnerships in order to complete some of these expensive projects.

Question #4: Regarding the 2014-15 budget, are there line items you would like to see added for funding, or items you would like to see receive more funding? Are there line items you would like to see removed from funding, or receive less funding?

As mayor, I will work closely with Berea's Police Department to increase funding for drug enforcement locally, while establishing drug task forces with area law enforcement organizations. We need to let dealers know that they are not welcome in Berea. I will also make sure that Berea's Fire Department has the best equipment available. Going forward I believe, our city would be better served by three (3) separate budgets (City, Tourism and Utilities) and make each accountable to the citizens that they serve.

Question #5: How would you like to see Berea develop economically? Could the City of Berea be more business friendly? Should zoning regulations be changed/loosened/ tightened?

We desperately need retail stores for our citizens, many of which currently drive to other cities to shop. Not too many years ago you could purchase shoes, dress clothes, new cars and other basic needs here in Berea. We also need to increase job opportunities in areas such as: high tech/research, industrial/engineering, retail and medical fields. The vocational/technical school would certainly be a major asset for job growth. We need to continue diversifying our efforts to attract more tourists while expanding our parks and recreational opportunities. We will need more activities and events to appeal to different demographics. For example: we need to connect the biking/hiking trails rather than continuing the piece meal approach. Some of the bottom land out at the new industrial park (Moreland Farm) could be developed for recreational uses such as: picnic shelters, an outdoor amphitheater, ball fields, volleyball courts, biking/ hiking trails, jogging, dog walks, bird watching, flower gardens, orchards, gardens where some of our citizens could grow their own vegetables. Adventure tourism also has great potential here in Berea. Yes, the City of Berea could be more business friendly by working closely with developers and business owners alike to fast tract projects. Zoning is adequate at this time and should be reviewed from time to time to make sure we are competitive with our communities in Central

I believe the legalizing of alcohol sales in the City of Berea should be decided by our citizens. If they vote and approve alcohol sales, then our city officials will need to control signage and then through planning and zoning control the location of such establishments. Ultimately, Berea's population will determine the number of licenses to be issued. If our citizens vote down alcohol sales, our city leaders and tourism officials will need to market and brand our community as a family friendly, non-alcohol community and therefore showcase our many assets that appeal to those types of audiences.

Question #7: Do you favor a Fairness Ordinance in the City of Berea?

No, I believe our current city council recently addressed that issue after nearly four years of study. Consequently, I sincerely hope we can begin the healing process. Like the majority of Bereans, I strongly believe that all people are treated fairly throughout our community and with great respect to individual-

Elect Peanut Johnson, Councilman

Robert "Peanut" Johnson was named Berea's "Man of the Year" for 2010 by the Chamber of Commerce. Johnson was honored for his many contributions to the Berea Community – most notably providing transportation to citizens stranded by the ice storm of 2009 and his work with the local food bank.

Peanut has had an interesting life in sports and business. After graduating from high school, he signed a contract with the San Francisco Giants baseball team and played two years in their farm system. He also played several games with the world-famous four man softball team "The King and His Court" with pitcher Eddie Feigner. Johnson was a star player for the Tulsa Oklahoma Oilers fast pitch softball team and Feigner would ask him to play for his team when they were in the area so a regular team member could have a night off.

Johnson left baseball to enter a more stable career path in the glass industry. He soon advanced from literally sweeping the floors to general manager and vice-president of the third largest glass company in the world. He lived in fifteen states and three foreign countries during his career with the Anchor Glass Company.

He and his wife have lived in Berea for 26 years. They own the local cab company and provide handicap assessable vans for various groups in the county.

on city council and why you are interested in serving in local government. I am a lifelong resident of Berea who worked 38 years for IBM and Lexmark. I am currently retired and doing a little farming. I have served three terms on Berea City Council and eight years on the Berea Planning and Zoning Commission. I was also a volunteer fireman and have worked with numerous youth boards and clubs while raising my two sons.

During my three terms on city council, I have fought hard to cut wasteful spending and doing what I think is in the best interest for the citizens of Berea. I will continue to be the citizen's voice on the city council.

Question #2: List the top 3 issues you think the city will face in the next several years, explain why each is significant and actions that city council could take to move those issues

1. 911 Funding. We have to make sure we properly fund the 911 system to ensure the safety and wellbeing for the citizens of Berea. 2. Storm Water Drainage. Storm water drainage is being mandated at the state level. We need to make sure we completely understand this mandate and what the budget impacts of it will be. 3. Infrastructure. The city has some ageing infrastructure (roads, curbs, etc.) that needs to be addressed. We must make sure these items are budgeted for and make sure the work gets done.

Question #3: What are your long-term concerns (10 $\stackrel{\smile}{-}$ 15 years in the future) for the City of Berea?

We need to find ways to create jobs for the citizens of Berea. I am in favor of a vocational school for the city. We still have plenty of available land in our industrial park and a vocational school would provide a skill based workforce to any type of business looking to come to Berea.

I am also concerned about the amount of taxes that are paid by the citizens of Berea. We need to make sure that there is a balance between what the public pays in taxes and what the city needs for revenue. The city should constantly be looking for new and different revenue opportunities to offset as much tax as we can.

Question #4: Regarding the 2014-15 budget, are there line items you would like to see added for funding, or items you would like to see receive more funding? Are there line items you would like to see removed from funding, or receive less funding?

I think we need to make sure that we have adequate funding for the three items I listed for question #2 (911 System, Storm Water Drainage, and Infrastructure). I also think we should take a look at our "rainy day fund" to ensure it is at an appropriate level.

Question #5: How would you like to see Berea develop economically? Could the City of Berea be more business friendly? Should zoning regulations be changed/loosened/

I am in favor of tax incentives for business. If a business is looking to establish new jobs or even better paying jobs, we need to find a way to get them here. Before these incentives can be given, we should make sure, through some sort of contract, that the number of types of jobs will be created is what they say it will be. There should also be some sort of time frame that these incentives should be given.

As I stated earlier, I think a vocational school is one option for making Berea a more "business friendly" city. The city adopted a comprehensive plan for development sometime back to assist with zoning issues. I think this plan needs to be reviewed every 2 years and any deviation from the plan be dealt with on a case by

Question #6: Do you favor legalized alcohol sales in the City of Berea? How extensive?

The sale of alcohol has been voted on by the citizens of Berea several times in the past. If a group of people want to do the necessary leg work to get the issue on a ballot again; I am in favor of the people of Berea

Question #7: Do you favor a Fairness Ordinance in the City

I think that people in Berea treat everyone fairly. This is such a controversial discussion; I think the only fair way to handle it is to let the people of Berea decide via a city wide survey, like the way the last alcohol survev was handled.

Question #8: Finish this sentence, "Welcome to Berea, where _

Welcome to Berea, where visitors are welcome and everyone is treated fair.

Dee West for City Council

#5 on Nov. 4

Our family would greatly appreciate your support and vote for our son Dee West for Berea City Council on November 4th.

We've had the opportunity to watch him develop and grow in Berea. We know that if given the position, he will work tirelessly towards the betterment of our community.

Sincerely,

Bill & Mary Ann West

Thank You Berea!

I would like to personally thank the people of Berea for trusting me to serve as jailer of Madison County. I want to continue to serve the people of this county because I feel like we have made great strides to improve the facility and I want to see these improvements continue in the future.

- Launched the JailTracker computer system. Brought MCDC up to date with a state of the art Jail Software program.
- Contracted a new medical company that greatly reduced our County's liability, and increased our inmate medical coverage.
- Pioneered a new work release program, which is fully funded by the State. These new crews help to maintain hundreds of miles or roadways by picking up trash and weed eating.
- 4. Implemented an in house training program so employees do not have to travel outside of the county to gain the mandatory training every deputy needs.

There have been many accomplishments that have been made since I took office in 2010, and I have been fortunate enough to see this progression here at the Detention Center first hand. We have made huge advancements in our acounting procedures and audit presentations. The Department of Corrections has been here to do routine inspections and we have always had a good report with minor recommendations. I am confident in myself and my employee's ability to run this jail. It is easy to be on the outside looking in and exaggerating any negative events that ocur. Of course there will be things go wrong, it is all about how you deal with the situations when they arise. The main thing that we try to focus on here is prevention and safety. No matter who is Jailer, there will always be things happen, but hopefully the citizens of this county trust me and my staff to handle any difficult occurrences with the best possible judgment, resulting in he best possible solution.

I want to continue to improve this facility, but there is a limited amount of progress that can be made with the severe overcrowding that we experience. Our county is growing, which is a good thing, but with an increasing population, comes an increase in crime as well. The Madison County Fiscal Court, Department of Corrections and Madison County Detention Center will have to collectively decide what is the best route for the future use of the facility.

Once agin, I would like to thank you, Berea, for trusting and believing in my ability to be your Jailer.

It has been an honor.

on city council and why you are interested in serving in local government.

I am a lifelong resident of Berea who resides in Roselawn subdivision. I am married to my wife of 20 years, Letha, who teaches music at MSHS and I have one son, Mason, in the 4th grade. We are active in the Berea United Methodist Church where I have served as the Youth Minister and my wife is the organist.

I have served as the manager, president and CEO of several small companies leading up to my current position with Hopsice Care Plus, Inc. and serving as a director of the Spotlight Acting School. I have much experience managing large budgets and running successful businesses.

I have been actively involved in this community for as long as I can remember. I have worked with many organizations and the city government as a volunteer, laborer, advisor and leader. I served as co-chair of the Berea Human Rights Commission in 2012 and have been an active City Councilman since 2013.

I have been active with the Berea Chamber of Commerce since 1994, when I was given the opportunity to work for the chamber as a student of Berea College. I am currently serving a new term as a board member and have been a member of the communications committee, chair of the Christmas Parade (multiple years), organizer of the first Spoonbread Festival Parade, MC on the Spoonbread Festival stage and assisted in numerous other projects. I believe in the Chamber, I support small businesses and I know their importance to this community.

I am a past president of the Berea Lions Club, a position I have held three times, and I am a Past Zone Chair for Kentucky Lions Clubs. I support the Lions Club efforts in our community.

Question #2: List the top three issues that you think the city Council will face in the next two years.

I believe the top three issues the city will be facing the next two years will be how to keep growing in an unstable market, address the new EPA storm water run-off regulations, and make our city more business friendly.

Keep growing in an unstable market: It is no secret the national financial slump is still around as predicted. I want to continue to guide Berea in good stewardship toward a brighter future without significant cuts to current services and employees, but to do this, all city departments will have to continue to give a little to be sustainable.

EPA storm water run-off regulations: The new regulations are some of the most expensive changes the city must endure over the next two years. I will work with other officials in implementing the new regulations in such a way that does not break the city.

Make our city more business friendly: We have work to do in many areas to help Berea stay healthy with jobs and tax revenue from small, medium and large businesses. To keep these businesses the city needs to continue to evaluate ways to help businesses succeed and provide the services essential to a prosperous community. Steps were taken my last term to move in this direction. Specifically the reevaluation of city business licenses were changed to be affordable, fair and better tracked.

Question #3: What are your long-term concerns (10 -- 15 years in the future) for the City

In the long term, the City of Berea will have to address infrastructure issues including expanded water resources, the completion of the bypass and by growing our assets on exit. 77 our assets on exit 77.

Ouestion #4: Regarding the 2014 -- 15 budget, what changes would you make, if any?

Internal adjustments could be made to better allocate Berea's financial resources to benefit programs in better ways. I would rather reevaluate those issues individually instead of yanking the "financial rug" out from under them, but two items specifically I will evaluate and encourage change on will be tourism funds being taken from the general city fund and the Human Right Commission's request for additional funding last year.

Question #5: How would you like to see Berea develop economically?

As I eluded in a couple of preceeding answers I think continued economic development is key to the sustainability of our great community. The next step I see in economic development is further streamlining the process of zoning to building to inspecting and opening. A golden example in progress is the new dialysis clinic being constructed on US 25 North. This was one of the fastest projects the city has ever walked through and it will be a tremendous benefit and convenience to the citizens of Berea.

Question #6: Do you favor legalized alcohol sales?

Any alcohol sales must be voted on by the community as a whole. I do not desire to see packaged liquor sales in Berea. Currently limited alcohol sales in restaurants in our historic areas are already in development via a state law allowing sales. This unfair financial advantage these businesses will have may be the final push to get Berea to vote in favor of sales next election.

Question #7: Do you favor the passing of a Fairness Ordinance in the City of Berea?

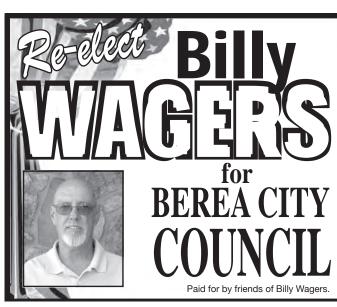

I am confident in my vote cast on October the 7 on the

on city council and why you are interested in serving in local government.

I was born and raised in Berea. I am the son of Mike and Lisa Caudill. I attended school in the Madison Co. school system, graduating from Madison Southern High School. I attended Eastern Kentucky University graduating with a B.A. degree in Economics. I am currently working on a Masters Degree at EKU in Public Administration.

I learned from an early age that it is very important to be involved in my community. I have very deep roots in Berea that enable me to have a perspective that few have. As a young man I saw my father, Mike Caudill and grandfather, Ronald Pennington make major impacts in Berea and Madison County. It was during my formative years that I was shown that it was necessary for people to step forward to lead our community in the right di-

I have two strong reasons that motivate me to work to maintain the Berea that I love, my beautiful wife Lindsey and daughter Madeline. I believe that Berea is a wonderful place to live and raise a family and that there should be an abundance of opportunities for people to prosper.

I am employed by Eastern Kentucky University as the interim Payroll Manager.

Question #2: List the top three issues that you think the city will face in the next several years, explain why each is significant, and actions that the mayor could take to move those issues forward.

a. Making sure our utility needs are met. To achieve this we are going to need to continue to look towards upgrading areas of Berea as we have in recent years. We are also going to need to look at BMU services and see what we can do to improve those for customers as well as look at ways for us to cut costs and save

b. Continuing to upgrade and maintain our infrastructure. We must continue to look towards the completion of the new bypass, US-25 widening, and the 595 upgrades. These are necessary to make sure that we are ready for the continued growth of our city. We must continue to work with the State and Federal government to get these projects completed.

c. Recruiting economic growth. Berea is in a situation where we must continue to work towards the growth the industrial sector of our city. We must also work towards bringing in small business and retail business to give our citizens the ability to support our local economy. It is necessary for the continued prosperity of our city to work as diligently as possible to bring these businesses to our city.

Question #3: What are your long-term concerns (10 – 15 years in the future) for the City of Berea?

My long-term concerns for Berea are Industrial Growth, Retail recruitment and retention, Keeping Berea a place with a family oriented environment, and Continuing to develop and upgrade our current infrastructure to meet the demands of Berea's future

Question #4: Regarding the 2014-15 budget, are there line items you would like to see added for funding, or items you would like to see receive more funding? Are there line items you would like to see removed from funding, or receive less funding?

As far as a line item on the budget that I think needs to be decreased or increased, I do not really have anything specific that I would change. I think overall the city has done a good job of budgeting. One aspect of our budget that I would really like to see change is the fact that we have not had any grant funding in two years. I feel like there are many different projects that we could work on to improve the overall quality of life that could be funded through grants.

Overall I think that we need to try and do a better job of working through the budget as a city council to make sure that it is done in a way that all can agree on. I do not support the fact that our council has not been completely behind our past few budgets. That is an example in my opinion of people not working to compromise and find a middle ground on the budget

Question #5: How would you like to see Berea develop economically? Could the City of Berea be more business friendly? Should zoning regulations be changed/ loosened/tightened?

Economically Berea needs to work harder to recruit new businesses and industry. I believe that the city has done a very good job zoning, but has not gone out and looked for the growth that we need. As a council we need to do everything that we can to give our city the best opportunity to get the industrial and retail growth that we need. I think that the council should take a very active role in this recruitment of businesses. We as a community cannot continue to have positive growth if we do not seek out the opportunities that Question #6: Do you favor legalized alcohol sales in the City of Berea? How extensive?

Legalization of alcohol sales is an issue that has come up time and time again. In looking at this issue, I do not think that the sale of alcohol will benefit the City of Berea. More importantly, this is an issue that is looked at as a council issue when in fact it is an issue for the citizens of Berea. The sale of alcohol is one of the few issues that must be voted upon by the registered voters of Berea. This is not an issue that the council can vote into ordinance. The opinions of the council members do not matter any more than other citizens'. If elected my vote would hold no more weight than that of other Berean's vote. The only part of alcohol sales that would be affected by the council is planning and zoning if it were to pass.

Question #7: Do you favor a Fairness Ordinance in the City of Berea?

The Fairness Ordinance is something that has caused great division in our city. I think that a Fairness Ordinance is not something that the city of Berea needs. It is my opinion that the city of Berea should not get into the business of handling judicial issues. This should be something that if desired should be lobbied at the State and Federal level. I also do not believe that Berea is a place where business owners discriminate.

During the discussions had while the current council was looking into the issue there was not a case that was brought that showed there was discrimination by a business

one's sexual orientation or gender identity. I understand that people have stated that there is some level of discrimination, and I see where they are coming from. What I do not believe that is that putting a Fairness Ordinance in place directed toward businesses will stop this type of discrimination. Most of the accounts that I heard were dealing with individuals who dealt with discrimination from other individuals not businesses.

The cost of this issue is another issue that I do not believe would be good for Berea. There was a recent case involving Hands on Originals and the city of Lexington. This case took two years to deal with. The way in which the last ordinance that was voted down was written did not really address the way our city would handle such costs. Perhaps that would be with a contract that handles any type of Human Rights Council hearing. Even if this were the case the cost needs to be addressed. Would this be something that we pay on an annual basis regardless if we have a case or not?

Overall I support the decision of the current council because I do not think that the City of Berea needs to be taking up a fight that should be handled on the State and Federal level. I do not believe in discrimination, but I certainly do not think that Berea should bear the costs of this fight.

Question #8: Finish this sentence, "Welcome to Berea, on city council and why you are interested in serving in local government.

I have lived in Berea most of my life. I am a Vietnam combat veteran, married to my wife Helen for 45 years. We have three children, all of whom graduated from Madison Southern High School in Berea. I have been a successful businessman in Berea for 44 years. I have served on the city counsel for 14 years, most of them as chairman of the Public Works Committee. I served on the Madison County Airport Board for eight years, and I currently serve on the Citizen's Advisory Board to dispose of chemical weapons at the Army Depot. I feel that with my proven concerns for the people in Berea, I can help lead Berea into the future.

Question #2: List the top three issues that you think the city will face in the next several years, explain why each is significant, and actions that the mayor could take to move those issues forward.

The new By Pass with new rules, regulations and zoning. A new fire station and police station. Storm water drainage is a problem in much of Berea and will be a much bigger problem for the Dixie Park at Glades Road area after Hwy. 25 North is re-constructed. The water from Hwy. 25 will go down Glades Rd. to Hwy 1016 and N. Powell St.

Question #3: What are your long-term concerns (10 – 15 years in the future) for the City of Berea?

Several thousand children will be graduating from school and there will be a greater need for more jobs and affordable housing. We need to add to our police and fire departments, to our streets, sidewalks, utilities and playgrounds.

Question #4: Regarding the 2014-15 budget, are there line items you would like to see added for funding, or items you would like to see receive more funding? Are there line items you would like to see removed from funding, or receive less funding?

I would like to see more funding to fight drug abuse

Question #5: How would you like to see Berea develop economically? Could the City of Berea be more business friendly? Should zoning regulations be changed/loosened/tightened?

We need more small businesses, with a more welcome, friendly approach, with even a tax break for new ones. I believe that as Berea grows the zoning needs to be watched closely and will probably need some changes.

Question #6: Do you favor legalized alcohol sales in the City of Berea? How extensive?

I do not want to see alcohol sales in Berea, but we already have 3 places legal to sell alcohol in the city. As Berea grows, we will need more tax revenue, so we need to decide if we want to become wet or raise the already heavy taxes.

Question #7: Do you favor a Fairness Ordinance in the City of Berea? I did not vote for the Fairness Ordinance. I could not find a reason for one. I do believe all people should be treated fairly and equally, the same!

on city council and why you are interested in serving in local government.

I am a graduate of Eastern KY University with a degree in Broadcast Communications and have spend much of my professional life, working in the TV business, including two tours of duty with WLEX-TV 18. I am currently working as an Educational Consultant with EDUC, a company that specializes in Children's Educational

The greatest challenge I met in broadcasting is the same one facing Berea today; how to meet the needs we face without spending money we don't have. Our home finances are managed in this way and our city's budget should be, as well. The citizens and businesses of Berea should not be asked for more money (taxes) when we can creatively use what we have in a more efficient, effective way. I am ready and able for the task! My family and I have enjoyed the sense of community that Berea has to offer. Having appreciated the benefits of living here, I am answering the call of responsibility to give back my time, energy and talents to address the issues at

I'm confident that together we can make Berea an even better place to call,

Question #2: Top 3 Issues Facing The City in the Next 3

The number one issue facing Berea is the lack of available jobs. Inadequate employment ties affect both the business community and our citizens. People with jobs spend money. That invigorates our local businesses as well as the city's finances. It's a proven fact that available jobs help reduce crime such as petty theft and drug use.

Job creation can be supported by the council encouraging business expansion, vocational training programs, and a more effective campaign to increase tourism that benefits all our businesses.

Berea's city government needs to take a more active role in creating a "Business Friendly" environment. We have a great location (I-75 Interstate), beautiful city, great schools, excellent fire and police departments; all features attractive for business growth. Securing our future water needs, eliminating red tape, and then effectively promoting the benefits of doing business in Berea will insure that government is not a stumbling block to economic

It seems ridiculous that a city, the size of Berea would have a traffic problem, but we do and it's only going to get worse if not addressed. This is not just an annoyance to our drivers, but dangerous for the many pedestrians that cross our streets. We need to start by addressing the 4pm traffic snarl around Boone Tavern. Simple additional traffic control measures as well as better regulated pedestrian crossings would immediately help this problem. It should not take 20 minutes to drive down Chestnut

Question #3: Long Term Concerns for the City of Berea:

Berea relies primarily on the Owsley Fork reservoir for its water. The city's growth in the past few years has begun to strain the available capacity of this supply and would not support the addition of any new businesses with highcapacity water needs. Given the enormous cost and government red tape in addressing our future water needs, it's important for the Berea Council to focus on this issue now, before water shortages become a problem and prohibit economic

Question #4: Regarding the City Budget for 2014-2015:

Tourism is an important part of the Berea economy and a more diversified approach is needed to bring visitors to Berea's businesses that may have interests greater than art alone.

The current restaurant tax makes eating out in Berea more expensive than dining at restaurants in other nearby cities. These earmarked funds need to be used to promote the whole business community. I support a review of the restaurant tax. My professional experience in media and marketing will serve to insure that any moneys collected to promote the city's businesses be fairly and effectively applied.

The Environmental Protection Agency is in the process of implementing tough new standards for the handling of stormwater runoff. These rules will affect new construction as well as existing infrastructure and will require funds not currently budgeted.

Question #5: Economic Development and Zoning:

The greatest, relatively untapped resource for our city is the incredible number of potential dollars that drive by our exits every day. I-75 delivers, by our doorstep thousands of potential business customers each day representing many different interests. Artisanship is one of many reasons that might make a carload of potential customers pull in to Berea but it is not enough to hang our financial hats on.

Our government needs a strategy to use its resources in a way that will appeal to both tourists and casual passersby. We must develop and give passing dollars more options and reasons to stop and stay awhile.

Our current zoning laws need to be carefully examined and streamlined, keeping those restrictions that protect the community. We must eliminate the red tape that makes Berea less attractive for current business owners and new job creating businesses that might consider Berea as a future home.

Government should not punish all with burdensome regulations, just to address a few isolated incidents. An example is the recently passed "Shed Ordinance" requiring all citizens to make their private property open to mandatory inspection, just to place a storage shed on their land.

Question #6: Legalized Alcohol Sales in the City of

I would not take issue if the citizens of Berea were to vote limited sales of alcohol at restaurants, but as a concerned citizen and voter I would not support package

Question #7: Fairness Or*dinance in the City of Berea:*

The current council has already taken a final vote on this ordinance and I respect their decision. I strongly believe it is time to move on to the many other issues that face our community.

My name is Tom McCay and I have lived in Berea my entire life. I am married to Bonnie Whittemore McCay. We have been married for 47 years and we have one son Thomas (Ashley) McCay. We have lived at 200 Terri Avenue for the past 30 years. I have worked for the City of Berea for the past eight years as the business development director and plan to retire the end of November. Bonnie is retired from Brunner Studio where she worked for over 40 years. Our son Ashley is the pharmacy manager at Kroger in Richmond. He is married to Lori McClure McCay who teaches at Berea Community School. We have two beautiful granddaughters, Amelia Ryann, age three, and Lila May, age one.

I served on the Berea City Council back in the late eighties and early nineties for ten years and served eight years on the Berea independent School Board. I retired from Philip Morris USA after 20 years of service. I am an ex officio member of the Berea Industrial Development Authority, member of the American Legion, Board member of the Berea Chamber of Commerce, Mason, Shriner and an active member of our community. Berea is at a critical time; we have little or no retail establishments and most of our industries are approaching 30 years of age. We must make every effort to bring in retail to Berea and preserve our existing industrial base and add additional industries to Berea. The future as we know it will take additional dollars to run and maintain the city. Without growth we will not be able to maintain the life style we have now.

I have worked on Berea having a Vocational School/ KCTCS campus here for the last eight years and I would like to see this done to frui-

Question #2: List the top three issues that you think the city will face in the next several years, explain why each is significant, and actions that the city council could take to move those issues forward.

A. CSEPP will disappear when the nerve gas at the depot is destroyed. Without CSEPP our 911 system, our two way radio system that all of our departments (police, fire, public works, utilities and our individual departments uses) and our early warning system for storms and disasters is one of my greatest concerns. To fund our portion of this system could cost millions of dollars. Once CSEPP leaves, after the nerve gas is destroyed, funding for these programs will fall entirely to the local governments.

We must maintain and grow our industrial base and augment this with retail growth as 80% of our budget comes from our occupational license fee on our retail and industrial base.

B. Being able to bring a Vocational School as well as a KCTCS campus to Berea.

The City will need to help fund a portion of this as well as to agree to back this

C. Being able to maintain status quo without raising taxes. The City will need to dedicate itself to bringing in new and maintaining our existing industrial base as well as welcome retail

Question #3: What are your long-term concerns (10 – 15 years in the future) for the City of Berea?

Long term funding for the operation of the city is a major concern 10 to 15 years out. No one knows what the future may hold for our city. We must be prepared at all times. Each year the city should project a 10 year plan for equipment and buildings and implement this plan as needed.

Question #4: Regarding the 2014-15 budget, are there line items you would like to see added for funding, or items you would like to see receive more funding? Are there line items you would like to see removed from funding, or receive less funding?

I would like to hope that we would be able to fund the City of Berea's budget without raising taxes. I feel that we should reallocate and redistribute our monies to different line items than we do now. Tourism's budget at present needs to be restructured and monies need to be restricted. We need to plan and explore our needs in tourism before we throw additional monies to any more projects. Tourism is a wonderful asset to the community but better planning and allocation of monies need to be explored.

Question #5: How would you like to see Berea develop economically? Could the City of Berea be more business friendly? Should zoning regulations be changed/loosened/ tightened?

I would like to see more retail here in Berea. We have missed a lot of opportunities to have retail here. I would hope that we step back and take a long hard look at our Planning and Zoning board and how development plans are handled and administered. There are several ordinances that are outdated and need updating. If a developer brings a plan to the codes office and meets all specifications, it should be

Question #7: Do you favor a Fairness Ordinance in the City of Berea?

No. This is a State and Federal problem that should be handled on a State and Federal level, not on this level. The city of Berea is not equipped and should not be required to handle these types of complaints. I do not want to see anyone discriminated against.

Some complaints could cost the City of Berea hundreds of thousands dollars to prosecute or defend claims that may

on city council and why you are interested in serving in local government.

I have over 25 years of experience in government and business.

I retired in 2012 from the Kentucky Department of Education as State Director for federal child nutrition programs administered through the United States Department of Agriculture. My responsibilities included oversight and administration of federal child nutrition programs. I supervised the payment of over $250 million in annual claims for reimbursement to program sponsors.

Prior to my tenure with the Department of Education, I worked for the Kentucky Department for Local Government for six years administering Community Development Block Grants (CDBG).

My expertise in working with communities to improve their cities, whether it was housing, water, sewer or community center projects, made a difference in the quality of life for their residents. All these projects were undertaken while still ensuring that the cities remained financially strong. I have brought these same qualities and work ethic to Berea.

I previously served on the Berea City Council from 2006-2008, and am proud of the accomplishments that the city achieved while I was on the council.

I am a Madison County native and a graduate of EKU. I am extremely proud to call Berea my home, and looks forward to the opportunity to again represent Berea's residents.

Question #2: List the top three issues that you think the city will face in the next sev-

1) Smart growth and development in planning for our city's future. This includes having adequate infrastructure such as water, sewer and all utilities in place to handle both current and future customer needs that any additional demands will place on our systems.

2) Small business development and the growth of local businesses, particularly more restaurants, grocery stores and businesses that represent Berea's unique qualities. The city provides incentives to encourage manufacturers to locate in the city; supportlocal entrepreneurs should be included as well. A vibrant small business community encourages buying local.

3) Planning now for the loss in revenue projected from the completion of the Blue Grass Depot nerve gas neutralization program. The impending loss in expenditures will have a tremendous impact on both city and county governments. We will have to ensure we have enough financial resources to cover costs once the additional funding ceases.

Question #3: What are your long-term concerns (10-15 years in the future) for the City of Berea?

Design and approval of an additional water source for the city; 2) provide essential services, infrastructure and public safety; 3) focus on what direction we plan to take regarding planning and growth. We need to ensure that the growth that occurs is measured and planned in such a way that it is necessary, does not contribute to sprawl or a decrease in property values, and allows us to maintain our sense of identity—the very reason most of us love Berea; and 4) that we can provide for the services and the needs of our older population.

Question #4: Regarding the 2014-15 budget, are there line items you would like to see added for funding, or items you would like to see receive more funding? Are there line items you would like to see removed from funding, or receive less funding?

In a brief review of the budget, there are no line items that I would like to see added for more funding. The budget is practical in that revenues are conservatively estimated. Expenses are based on realistic costs and then provided a buffer in the event that costs are higher. It appears that the city is maintaining a watchful eye on fluctuating costs and income of such funds as utilities, property and occupational taxes to ensure financial stability.

I would suggest reducing the budgeted amount of the Human Rights Commission from $12,000 back to the former amount of $7,500. Since only $450 was spent in the previous year, an increase in the budget cannot be justified.

As tourism receives the revenue from the restaurant and transient room taxes, they should be self-supporting.

Question #5: How would you like to see Berea develop economically? Could the City of Berea be more business friendly? Should zoning regulations be changed/loosened/tightened?

ened/tightened?

I would love to see more development of local businesses and encouragement of small entrepreneurs, particularly restaurants and grocery stores. Economic development for the city would be well served by expanding into areas of technology and health care. This would provide more highly skilled jobs with higher wages for our residents.

The city could offer financial incentives to small businesses to locate in the city in much the same way as is offered to manufacturing industries.

Planning and zoning determine more than land use and density. It must take into account environmental factors such as water sources, soil erosion and adequate drainage. The current regulations are very thorough and are more than adequate at addressing any areas of concern. They go a long way to ensure that developments are well planned and can be executed properly. There may be some instances in which waivers could be explored as long as they don't create a public safety or environmental

Question #6: Do you favor legalized alcohol sales in the City of Berea? How extensive?

I favor alcohol sales in Berea as it is an important economic development tool; it brings business to our city. Businesses at every level, from manufacturing to retail, want to locate in a city that allows alcohol sales. It attracts more outside people and shopping to our city and in turn attracts ancillary business. It also ensures that our economy does not lose money by our residents going to Richmond or Lexington for dinner and a cocktail. Other cities that do allow alcohol sales have found that DUIs and crime did not increase as a result of the sales. It can cut down on drunk driving and accidents as people won't be driving to Richmond or Lexington.

won't be driving to Richmond or Lexington.

Since alcohol sales will soon be occurring at Boone Tavern, it is only logical that alcohol sales be allowed in the rest of the city. However, I am opposed to package stores as I do not believe they fit within the character of Berea.

Question #7: Do you favor a Fairness Ordinance in the City of Berea?

After almost two years of input, review, and discussion among city residents and council members alike, the Berea City Council voted five to three against passage of the Fairness Ordinance at its October 7 meeting. While I can appreciate the difficulties the council faced in arriving at such a decision, I recognize too, the need to build consensus as we move forward. Their vote in no way should imply a lack of respect for the right of every Berea citizen to be treated with decency, re-

on city council and why you are interested in serving in local government.

I came to Berea to attend college, fell in love with the town, and have made it my home since 1970. I was married for 25 years to Dr. Clifford Kerby, who passed away in January 2010 and we both shared a love for things Berean. I am completing my second term as a city council member, seeking re-election.

I retired from Berea College as Vice President for Business and Administration, where I was a member of the senior management team that established policy, developed annual budgets and long term financial plans for the college. I recently returned to work as Alumni Relations Director for Berea College where we strive to engage alumni in meaningful ways with college activities

I have worked with many professional and nonprofit boards and organizations over the years, serving as officer for several of those on a local, regional and national level.

I am running for re-election to City Council because I want to give back to the community that has given so much to me. I feel that two terms on the council, and leadership skills that I have developed through these professional and volunteer experiences give me a unique perspective and ability to work with others toward a common goal. I simply want to make Berea an even better place to live and I would appreciate your vote!

Question #2: List the top three issues that you think the city will face in the next several years, explain why each is significant and actions the city council could take to move these issues forward.

a. The need for long term financial stability and responsible fiscal planning is the first issue. We need to explore new sources of revenue and look for ways to control and/or cut costs. The city is heavily dependent on occupational license fees and faces rising costs for employee benefits, infrastructure needs and unfunded mandates.

While the City has been fiscally responsible and is in good financial health, there are challenges ahead.

The city council should exam revenue sources and expenses, and engage in frank discussions about levels of service provided by the City, as well as new sources of revenue. We should develop strategies to keep the businesses that we have viable and prosperence.

b. I also believe we need to address the increasing drug abuse issue. I know city government may not have direct control of some of the issues but, would like to see us begin a discussion with community leaders, law enforcement, social services, public health offischools and other ciais, entities to address this issue and to develop community strategies to help reduce this problem. Berea Police Department already has excellent programs in the schools and we should support and strengthen those. I believe a major issue is good leadership that involves and listens to citizens. Berea needs a city government that works together selflessly as a team to solve problems, and plans adequately for the immediate and long term future needs including economic development and support of the arts and tourism. We need to work together to build community and common shared

Question #3: What are your long-term concerns (10-15 years in the future) for the City of Berea?

We need

1) good financial planning to address increasing costs of employee benefits, new storm water management regulations, the eventual loss of funding from CCEP for emergency management services (sirens, etc), and an aging 911 system,

2) an additional municipal water source,

are there any line items you would like to see added for funding, or items you would like to see removed from funding, or receive less funding?

The budget is very comprehensive and covers all city services, and largest part of that budget is personnel related. This is typical for most organizations and we should budget appropriately to support the excellent workforce that the city employs. This would be a very difficult area to reduce.

I would like to see more emphasis placed on technology that would both increase ease of citizen access to information and services, as well as improve communications.

Question #5: How would you like to see Berea develop economically? Could the City of Berea be more business friendly? Should zoning regulations be changed/loosened/ tightened?

I believe the City has good guidelines and regulations in place to promote smart planning, protecting neighborhoods, attracting clean and strategically located industries while protecting the environment. Some changes have been made recently to streamline the planning and zoning process and that is a good step toward being more business friendly.

I believe there are areas in need of revitalization similar to Old Town, which would create more attractive options for shops and local businesses. Partnerships between the city and local entrepreneurs could create some beautification projects that would attract new business and revitalize existing ones.

Question #6: Do you favor legalized alcohol sales in the City of Berea? How extensive?

This is ultimately a decision to be made by the voters. In considering this option, I believe that citizens should explore whether legalized alcohol sales would be an economic development opportunity that would provide additional revenue, attract businesses to Berea, and provide opportunities for growth for existing businesses.

Similar communities that have voted to "go wet" have experienced additional revenue sources and economic development opportunities. I would fa-vided local entrepreneurs the opportunity to establish new businesses or expand existing ones. Question #7: Do you favor Question #7: Do you favor a Fairness Ordinance in the city of Berea?

I believe that action taken to help eliminate discrimination is good public policy. I am proud to say that I supported the re-establishment of the Berea Human Rights Commission during my term on City Council. The charge to this commission is to encourage fair and equal treatment, respect and understanding and to educate the community on existing rights and obligations. They are also tasked to investigate discrimination complaints, conduct research and to report on activities and problems in the community to the Mayor and City Council.

Their recommendation is to extend existing antidiscrimination protection in the areas of housing, employment and public accommodations to all people regardless of sexual orientation or gender identity. I support this legisla-

Dear Fellow Bereans,

Election Day is Nov. 4th and again I want to reach out to the community to ask for your vote as I seek re-election to the Berea City Council. I am #20 on the ballot.

This election, perhaps more than any other, is very important for our community. Together, we must make sure Berea continues moving in the right direction for the benefit of all.

I consider myself a hard working, experienced, responsible team member with a proven tract record and a genuine concern for Berea and I give careful, thoughtful consideration to every vote I cast.

Please think about the wonderful quality of life we have here and the numerous improvements made over the past years and what is possible in the future with a solid City Council. I believe by voting for me, you are adding a key voice to the new Council.

I want very much to be a part of Berea's future. I urge you not to be misled. Please give careful thought to the campaign issues and the qualifications of the candidates. There is no substitute for honesty, experience and dedication. Make your choices based on what is best for Berea and please encourage your friends and family to do the same.

I plan to continue working on our community's new initiatives and key projects. This work is very important for many reasons including the fact that there are numerous on-going projects that are critical to Berea's future. Please allow me to continue working for you.

With your support, I am ready for the challenges and opportunities

on city council and why you are interested in serving in local government.

I'm a native of Berea and I have recently returned to Berea after completing my college degree last spring at Georgetown College. I currently am self-employed and pursue different entrepreneurial interests that I have. I also spend time assisting my family in their business ventures, most prominently at a local level is The Churchill Company (Churchill's). When I'm not working, I coach soccer for Berea Community or spend time volunteering for various organizations across the state.

When asked about my qualifications to serve on Berea City Council, I believe that everyone has different experiences or a particular expertise that qualify him/her to be on City Council. I believe my qualifications are in my earnest desire to see Berea make true progress towards becoming a better town and my knowledge of the town (in a multitude of facets). I think my life experiences and education will aid me in being able to serve appropriately on City Council, but I think that can be said by every candidate running.

I'm running for City Council for several reasons, one being that I want to give back to a town that gave so much to me in my younger years. Secondly, I'm running because I believe I can help make a positive impact on getting Berea back on track towards sustainable growth and development. Lastly, I believe Berea needs someone who is youthful and energetic to give new insight and enthusiasm to issues it's facing.

Question #2: List the top three issues you think the city will face in the next several years, explain why each is significant and actions that city council could take to move those issues forward.

Transparency-It's important for city government in all levels to be fully transparent. Citizens elect those who serve to represent them to the fullest and it's those who serves responsibility to show all actions that they take in doing so.

Sustainability- Discovering ways to sustain current developments, ongoing developments and future developments is important for Berea to succeed and provide for its citizens.

Development – Berea still has a lot of developing left to do. It's important for Berea to develop economically and culturally for the prosperity of Berea as a Question #3: What are your long-term concerns (10-15 years in the future) for the City of Berea?

How Berea develops in the next 10-15 years is crucial. It's important for Berea to develop economically, but it must be diversified development. Overreliance on one particular segment could be bad for the longevity of Berea's financial health. Berea has reaped some of those repercussions in recent years. Despite what many view as difficult times that we've experienced, there has been some development. Discovering ways to actively sustain those developments and those currently in motion is a big undertaking. Letting projects that enhance the community in any facet can't not be allowed to depreciate in any sense.

Question #4: Regarding the 2014-15 budget, are there line items you would like to see added for funding, or items you would like to see receive more funding? Are there line items you would like to see removed from funding, or receive less funding?

I would need a longer

period of time with the individuals who prepared the budget before I could speak intelligently on items I think should be added, decreased, etc. However, I'm very concerned with transparency in all facets of how city government operates. The first thing I would like to see through is that the budget is fully transparent and available for all citizens of Berea.

Question #5: How would you like to see Berea develop economically? Could the city of Berea be more business friendly? Should zoning regulations be changed/loosened/

It's important for Berea to develop a diversified economy. A diversified economy will help attract businesses, tourists and people looking to call a new place home. Once those three things become attracted, then you have created a diversified revenue stream which can be used to help support the town in all possible ways (keeping property tax low, improved city services, increased city budgets, etc.).

While Berea has its own unique identity, it's always wise to try and improve business policies and zoning regulations to improve the city's economy. Finding other cities who's economically thriving, culturally developing and growing that are similar to Berea could be a beneficial way to discover what might need to be changed

Question #6: Do you favor legalized alcohol sales in the city of Berea? How extensive?

Looking into legalized alcohol sales in Berea could be very beneficial. Many towns similar to Berea have successfully implemented alcohol sales to different degrees. Berea has an opportunity to implement sales in Berea and has done so to some degree. Finding ways to monitor the success of what's available now and how to strategically advance it for the betterment of Berea is what would be best for Berea.

Question #7: Do you favor a fairness ordinance in the city of Berea?

All individuals deserve the right and respect to be treated fairly in all matters/aspects of their life regardless of race, gender, ethnicity, sexual orientation or religion. Whether or not a fairness ordinance is appropriate for the city, I do not know. The appropriateness of such an ordinance is a decision for the residents of Berea to make.

I have the ability to make the tough decisions and have the leadership skill to lead Berea into the future.

As council member, I will look for ways to safeguard the City's financial inegrity. I will work diligently investing in Berea's future and plan proactively for growth while preserving Berea's unique character.

Protecting our citizens would be a priority for me. I would be a strong supporter of our Police department, Fire department and Volunteer Fire and Rescue Squad. All of these departments are out every day putting their lives on the line for each one of us.

- Encouraging small business development; growth of local businesses, and expanding economic development into areas of technology and health care are the right thing to do
- Preserving green space/open space; restoring historical sites; encouraging local sustainability, and continued development of pedestrian and bicycle pathways to make for a more safe, practical and livable community
- Developing housing that encourages geographic diversity for people of all ages, abilities, and income; and promotes safety, independence, and a better quality of life for all of Berea's citizens
- Every Berea citizen has the right to be treated with decency, respect, and fairness
- The potential for a brighter future lies in our capacity for inclusion, collaboration, and recognition of the talents and abilities inherent in all of us who call Berea home.

Then it's Time to Elect Denise Hagan Berea City Council #17 on the ballot

Number one for Berea

Paid for by Denise Hagan for Berea City Council

WE ASK YOU TO JOIN US IN SUPPORT OF BRIAN COMBS ANEW VISION FOR THE 1ST DISTRICT

"I wholeheartedly support Brian Combs for Magistrate. Brian is a lot like his dad with always serving and putting others before himself. Family values are very important to him and he wants what is best for our community.

I would like to ask you to join me in voting for my stepson, Brian Combs for 1st District Magistrate." Tracy Lynn Combs

"We have a great deal of respect for Brian. He is an honest, dependable, hard-working man. We think he would do his very best for his community." Jim and Susan Tillery

"As a young parents who have been blessed with a precious daughter, we urge all of our friends and family to vote for and elect Brian Combs as our Magistrate.

We have known Brian for many years and have no doubt that he is a man of character and integrity who is certainly capable of continuing to make Madison County a great place to raise a family!" Anthony and Katie Wilburn

"I have been a friend of Brian Combs for over 25 years and I fully support him for 1st District Magistrate. In the time that I have known him he has always proven himself to be truthful, goodhearted, hard working and a respected man in all that he does. I respect him most for his family values and his dedication to his friends and community. I know that he will be honest and stand up for what is right. We need more men like Brian Combs. As a family man, I would feel lucky to have him on my side, and you Brian Isaacs

"Values mean something! I've known Brian since he was a young boy, he has always been honest, truth worthy, and has a heart of gold. I know Brian as a citizen not a politician. Knowing he would have his best interest in my family and yours! Asking for your support voting Brian Combs for magistrate" Debbie Stringfield

"I have worked directly with Brian for the last 9 years, not once can I remember Brian failing to fulfill his obligations toward his fellow teammates or the company he works for. Brian is great at listening, he considers others input about decisions that have to be made, but is perfectly confident with making a decision that affects others, on the spot, if necessary." Don Poynter

"We would love to give our support to Brian Combs. He is a great family man and he will always stand up for what is right. God is his guide and he reflects that in his life and family. Please support Brian Combs for 1st District Magistrate."

Doug and Audrey Carpenter

"Madison County needs Brian Combs so that honesty and integrity will once again be a part of politics. With Brian, its more than just words its his way of

Jamey and Kathy Stringfield

"I have known Brian, Jennifer, Anna, and Holly for several years and attend church with them. Brian is a very loving and caring person, easy to talk to and a good listener. Your concerns are his concerns! I fully support Brian as Magistrate for the 1st District." Betty Rowlett

"Brian Combs is a man of faith and a devoted family man. Brian has the qualities of honesty, wisdom, and leadership to govern this community." Jimmy and Bertie Parsons

"As a lifelong resident of Madison County I want a future Madison County that my children can strive in. For that to happen we need strong leadership with strong family values, integrity, and honesty to lead us into the future. This is why my family supports Brian Combs for 1st District Magistrate." Larry Freeman

"I would like to ask for your vote for my sonin-law, Brian Combs for 1st District Magistrate. He is a great husband and father and I couldn't be more proud of him. He will work hard as your Magistrate and represent everyone very well. Your vote and support would be greatly appreciated." Mike Alexander

"We are proud to support Brian Combs as 1st District Magistrate. He is a hard working family man and a wonderful man of faith - the kind of man who can improve things for us presently and for our children's future!"

Shane and Tanya Buttry

"I support Brian Combs for 1st District Magistrate because he is not a politician. I have known Brian for many years, and I have seen how faithful he is. He is faithful to God and to his family. I am confident he will be a faithful public servant to the people in the 1st District of Madison Co as their Magistrate." Sheila Johnson

"We have known Brian for several years and he is a hard worker and dedicated family man to his church and community. He has always gone the extra mile to do the right thing." Tom and Linda Wendt

"Brian is both diligent and hardworking, shows both passion and concern for his fellow citizens and has the well-being of people at heart. He also sees the problems that both Berea and our county are faced with and wishes to play an important part in the decision making process to better our county. I hope that the people of Madison County and the 1st District will get out and vote and make their vote count for the betterment of Berea and Madison County as a whole." Tracy J. Combs

"Our county has changed a great deal in the past several years, unfortunately the same network of people who control things from Richmond hasn't. Brian is a man of character and integrity and will work to bring honest and fair representation to all of southern Madison county." Robert New

I count myself very fortunate to be raised in Southern Madison County. This community has provided me with tools to be successful. With your support we can make that possible for generations to come. I would consider it a great honor to serve my community as your next 1st District Magistrate. Please remember to vote on November the 4th!

Thank you for your support,

on city council and why you are interested in serving in local government. As a small business owner and a father, I believe that the most important resource we have in Berea is our people. Bereans are strong, intelligent and faithful people that want to see our city excel. I am running to make sure all people in Berea have a voice and and that their voice matters. I want to apply my business sense to our city government. I believe that we can have a government that works for the Question #2: List the top three issues that you think the city will face in years to come.

A. Protecting tax payers interests. Taxpayers trust the council to use their tax dollars wisely. They want someone to defend the interests of all the citizens in Berea, and stand in the gap between "spend it all" and shoddy services. B. New Business. As city government, we need to start looking further down the road, than just fixing the next budget cycle. We need to own our future, rather than react to circumstances. As the governor and legislature delegates funds for the new optic cable system through Central and Eastern Kentucky, we need to prepare our students and existing businesses for the advantages of new technology. C. Traffic. I appreciate the work that our state government has done for Madison County as a whole. And more specifically, I appreciate what has been done in the City of Berea. With the Berea Bypass and the other improvement on Exit 77, we are trending in the right direction. We have to continue to look for ways to create healthy traffic flow in and around the city. This keeps our citizens safe and helps our businesses as well. Question #3: Long-term concerns for Berea?

I believe our short-term goals will lay the foundation for long-term success. As a business owner, I have an obligation to continually look toward my next project to ensure long-term profitability for my business and long-term employment for my employees. I believe city government should do the same. Our long-term view should encompass job growth in every sector. We need to ensure that our youth that are raised here will choose to stay here as part of the job growth and a recommitment to the quality of life in our city. We should look for ways to compete with cities of a similar size by making Berea "The Place to Live."

Question #4: Concerns about budget?

Regarding the 2014-15 budget: A. No. B. Fire department and police department. C. Business development for the amount of money I spent, I don't see a big return for the city. Money needs to be spent better.

Question #5: How should Berea develop economically?

I appreciate the community partners that we have currently in our local factories. They are great corporate partners for our city. With that being said, I think we owe it to them and new businesses that we recruit to emphasize work force development. Secondly, I entrepreneurship is also essential to our economic development. As a city, we should encourage entrepreneurship by finding ways to cut red tape and over-used regulation, so that a new business has an opportunity to succeed from start to finish. I believe our zoning and regulations, which is part of the red tape, should be changed. It gives new business a bad impression and unwelcome feeling, and makes it hard for them to be successful.

Question #6: Favor alcohol sales? No.

Question #7: Should there be a Fairness Ordinance?

No, I do not believe any group should get special treatment. State and federal law has already been passed addressing this issue. There is no reason for Berea taxpayers' money to go and

Dear Citizens of Berea:

WARNING: A small group of individuals is delivering written instructions ordering you to vote for an exclusive list of candidates for Berea Mayor and

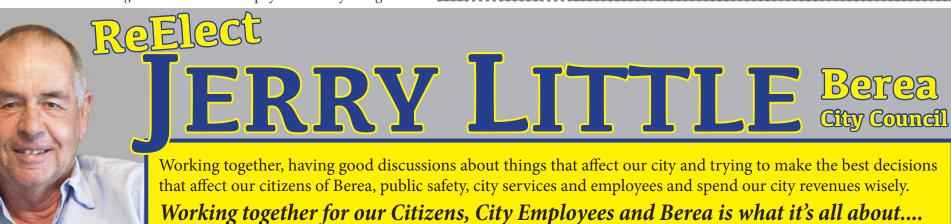

Do not let anyone take away your right, choice and independence by dictating for whom you should vote in the election for Berea mayor and City Council.

Welcome To Your Library Halloween Party

Bv Kim Kobersmith Citizen Reporter

The Berea Public Library was bustling on Saturday with pirate queens, dragons, spiders, and children for an afternoon Halloween Party. Activities included face painting, crafts, boo-ling (bowling), and a mummy game that involved balancing a balloon on an Egyptian-styled fan. Participants could also eat cupcakes from Clementine's Bakery and win a jar of M&M's by guessing how many were in the jar.

Two Berea College students hosted the jack-olantern cornhole game. When asked why she volunteered, Mikayla Woods said, "I work with an after school program and really enjoy working with kids. I wanted to help provide a safe place for Halloween fun.'

The Pickled Brothers Circus entertained children and adults alike with daring deeds and bad puns.

Juggling sharp knives, swallowing swords, a bed of nails, and eating fire were all part of the fun. Due to a windy afternoon, the fire eating did lead to some singed facial hair, but they took it all in stride.

Pat Acevedo, children's librarian, coordinated the event, stating, "We hope that at least 200 people come out to enjoy the games, spread throughout the library, and the show.

The event was a good way to kick off Halloween week in Berea. Many of the young party-goers are looking forward to trick-or-treating around Berea on Friday night from 6 - 8 p.m., and even those who came to the party as themselves were looking forward to dressing up. So look for a wizard, a fox, and a princess to come to your house this Friday, and celebrate Halloween with some of the great kids that live here in Berea.

Halloween Night Events

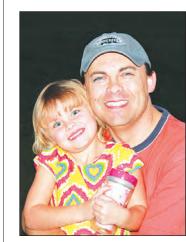

The Berea Parks and Recreation will be sponsoring their 12th Annual Halloween in the Park event on Friday, October 31. It will take place from 6 - 8 p.m. at the City Park by Berea Community School.

Over 20 local businesses and nonprofits have signed up for the trick-or-treat event, and will have tables spread around the park perimeter. They will be giving out candy as well as promotional materials. There will also be fire truck rides, a hay ride, flash mob, and inflatables at the park. Call 986-9402 for more informa-

Trick-or-treat in the city residential streets will also take place from 6 - 8 p.m. Both events are for children 12 and under.

Word From Berea Streets

"Why do you plan to vote (or not vote) in the upcoming election?"

Kevin Slemp, with his daughter, Eliana, said, "Because voting is a privilege that we should not take for granted. Many people around the world don't get to do it at all.

Louise Begley said, "Because I'm a teacher and it sets a good example. We have a lot of contested races."

Tanya Buttry said, "I definitely plan to vote. I feel it is very important to have the right people in office given some of the important issues our town is facing."

Berea, Kentucky 40403 (859) 986-2318 Hours: Monday-Friday

8:00 a.m.- 4:30 p.m. Kentucky

Consider these Headlines from across America, Could Berea be next?

As Election Day approaches please take a minute to look over these headlines and understand that unless changes are made in Berea's elected government officials this could be where our town is headed.

There are many other examples of cases such as these. If the solid conservative citizens of Berea fail to go to the polls and vote on November 4th our city and its citizens could very well be the next place and cases in the headlines.

One reason your vote is so important is that there are approximately 1000 Berea College students who have been registered to vote in the upcoming elections. To be clear, Berea College students (non-residents) right to vote in our community is subject to being challenged at the voting precinct under the Kentucky Revised Statutes. Those found not to be eligible to vote, could face significant penalties.

If you will recall in the council vote on October 7th there were 5 council persons who listened to the majority of the citizens of Berea and voted against this ordinance.

Again consider the headlines above and ask yourself if this is the direction you want Berea to go.

If the answer is NO then your vote can and will make a difference, but only if you exercise that right on November 4th!

Health Department Solicits Feedback for Health Assessment

The Madison County Health Department would people's opinion about community health and safety issues in Madison County. Every five years, the health department completes a community health assessment. By collecting this information, MCHD is able to identify some of the key issues in our community and to establish priorities for health improvement inititiatives.

For example, past health assessments have led MCHD to focus on increasing physical activity and improving nutrition in our county.

MCHD, in collaboration with Eastern Kentucky University and the University of Kentucky, is distributing a health and safety survey in the community. They will use the results of this survey to help identify the most pressing problems in the community. The end result will be a new Community Health Improvement Plan that will guide community efforts in the coming years.

The health and safety is for anyone that lives, works, or attends school in Madison County who is 18 years of age or older. The survey takes 15 minutes or less to complete, and all information is anonymous.

The health and safety survey is available on-line at www.madisoncountyhealthdept.org. A link to the survey is also available on Facebook at www. facebook.com/Madison-CountyHD and on Twitter @MCHDTweet.

For more information about the Community Health Assessment process, contact Lloyd Jordison, Health Education Coordinator, at 859-228-2059.

Central Office Acquires Cash

The Eagles' Eye Reporter Katelynn Simpson

Mr. Chuck Cash will be leaving Madison Southern on December 1 to join the Central Office staff by filling the position of Director of District Wide Services. With a new job, comes new responsibilities. Mr. Cash will be in charge of maintenance, food programs, and technology for the schools in Madison County. Cash has only been principal at Southern for about a year, but has served as associate principal since 2007. He has made a tremendous impact on Southern and has them on the right track for the future.

Since Cash became our new principal last year, there has been several accomplishments. Mr. Cash has pushed the students to do their best, and because of that Southern has seen great results. One goal Cash had set for the Senior Class as Juniors was to were released earlier this month, Madison Southern was ranked 22nd out of 228 high schools in the state of Kentucky, they were also classified as a distinguished school. All of these great accomplishments were made during Cash's time as principal and show how much he has done for Southern.

While the faculty and students at Madison Southern have truly enjoyed having Cash as their principal, they are excited for this new opportunity he has in his career. His enthusiasm and drive to succeed will be truly missed, but they wish him the best of luck in his new position!

Throughout the month of October, Madison Southern has come together to raise awareness for bullying and show how severe it can be to students. Although Madison Southern isn't known for bullying cases, it's beginning to consume the lives of young teens everywhere. One cause of this is the increased popularity of social media; it went from being an enjoyable pass time to a place for bullies to confront their victims. This problem caught the eyes of students at Madison Middle School and guided them to create "Bullying Awareness Month," which has been recognized by our state government. Senate Bill 20 designates October as anti-bullying month in Kentucky with a purple and gold awareness ribbon to represent domestic violence and people who have taken their lives as a result of bullying. Madison Southern student council has decided to join in on the fight against bullying and make it known at their school. They have gathered information and facts regarding bullying and posted them throughout the school to catch people's eye as they walk through the halls. One event that took place at Southern to raise awareness was a school wide "Unity Day" on October 22. This was meant to unify all types of people at Madison Southern no matter what race, gender, beliefs, or lifestyle they have. Hopefully this will lead Southern to eliminating borders between students and bringing them together as one. They are hoping this will be a good chance to unify the student body at Southern.

Another event was the opportunity to hear from guest speaker Missy Jenkins, who was shot and paralyzed from the waist down in the Paducah school shooting in 1997. She came to the school on October 24 to give her testimony over hope and fighting to achieve your goals. In the 16 years after the shooting, she graduated from college, became a counselor for troubled students, married, had two kids, and wrote an award winning memoir. Mrs. Marcum, an English teacher at Southern, said "It was a tremendous lesson in perseverance, strength, and faith." Her inspirational story definitely resonated with the students. The priority of the anti-bullying campaign is to reach all perspectives of bullying so that the Eagles can unite as one body. Madison Southern is glad they had the opportunity to hear from her and they plan to continue their involvement with anti-bullying for years to come.

Author Gwyn Rubio Visits MSHS

The Eagles' Eye Guest Writer Emily Paulin

"To be good writers, to be good people, we must have empathy and compassion." This quote by Gwyn Hyman Rubio, author of Icy Sparks, is exactly what she displayed to my Honors English class when she came to talk about her book on September 29. This character is such an inspiration to developing writers like

To start, Mrs. Rubio told us that all authors are (or come from) good storytellers. Like a good storyteller, she told us the story of her life. She spoke of her childhood in Macon, Georgia and how being the daughter of a writer was "different." When she was a child, not many people had much knowledge of what being a writer entailed. On career day, perplexed looks were exchanged among students. All of her life, Gwyn seemed to be running from writing. Then her husband put in an application to Warren Wilson College for her, and she was soon accepted. "I stopped running from writing and accepted it," Rubio said. This was the launch of her writing career.

It was such an honor for us to have lunch with Mrs. Rubio after her presentation to our class. She took this opportunity to provide us with writing suggestions and told us more tales as if we were old friends catching up. She spoke of her experience on the Oprah Winfrey Show and how she had a "dress malfunction." With her outgoing personality, you would've never have guessed she suffers from epilepsy. The struggles in her novel Icy Sparks reflect her own childhood hardships.

In addition, Gwyn Rubio discussed her new book Love and Ordinary Creatures. The book is told from the perspective of a cockatoo en this overview, I asked Mrs. Rubio how she came up with such a plot. She chuckled and told us of her trip to Australia with her husband. The idea came from a woman and an untethered bird kissing at a bakery. "Now that's a bird in love!" she concluded to her husband. In a word, meeting Gwyn

FBLA Hosted Annual Blood Drive The Eagles' Eve Editor-In-Chief

Keri Duerson

On October 17 the Future Business Leaders of America club started their year with a blood drive at Madison Southern. Throughout the year they participate in many fundraisers while learning business skills for the real world. Under the new leadership of advisor Amy Kling and officers: President Shelby Turner, Vice President Tyler Price, Secretary Kaylee Thomas, Treasurer Lexi Moberly, Reporter Ramey Dooley, and Co-Historians Keri Duerson and Hannah Howard, FBLA continues to impact their school and community.

The club has a goal every year to make a difference in their community. One way they worked to accomplish this was through their annual fall blood drive. This year they had 44 first-time donors and 76 total participants that gave a total of 63 pints of blood. The blood drive gave the club a chance to see how much our school was willing to give to make a difference in our community. What many students don't know is that by giving blood at this event, they are eligible for a scholarship through the Central Kentucky Blood

Donors Michelle Middleton and Rame Dooley sporting their "Fight Cancer" t-shirts

Center. This is a wonderful opportunity to get a service learning hour and help out someone in need. The club will be hosting a second blood drive in the spring which will be on April 16. "I was really excited to see how much our school gave to our community. This was my first time giving double the usual amount and I can't wait to give again," said co-historian Hannah Howard.

They hope that more students come to support this wonderful cause and that many people will participate in their upcoming events as well!

Madison Southern Top 25 School in the State: Distinguished and Proud

Lexi Moberly

This month, state test scores were released to all Kentucky counties and it's an honor to announce that Madison Southern High School is a distinguished school! If that isn't impressive enough, the school tied for 22nd in the state out of 228 schools, placing them in the 96th percentile! Also, Madison Southern is ranked #1 in the county. The Eagles found themselves flying high above their competition with Model Patriots ranked 60th, Madison Central Indians ranked 134th, and Berea Community Pirates ranked 158th. Obviously, accomplishments like these don't just happen overnight. The students and staff worked vigorously throughout the year to get test scores where they needed to be.

"If students continue using the tips and strategies teachers give them, scores will continue to improve. We have very intelligent kids," says freshman English teacher Lindsey Caudill. Scores on tests such as the ACT, MAP, and PLAN are used to determine each schools' ranking in comparison to others. Also, the percentage of kids College and Career Ready (CCR) play a part in their placement. "It's such an honor being a part of such a highly ranked school. I guess our hard work actually paid off," says senior Jason Jackowski.

The staff is already preparing students for testing at the end of the year. Teachers are determined to keep test scores at this high level, so they are continuing to give practice tests and encourage students to practice good study habits. Southern hopes to see even more growth, and with the test scores from this year, they are confident they will improve even more!

Pulseras, or bracelets, from the youth of Nicaragua, then sell them in the United States to raise money. Each Pulsera comes with a picture and signature of the child who made it. One hundred percent of the profits go back to the kids who made it for basic and educational needs. Each child deserves to have an education or even a house to live in, and these bracelets are helping with that one by one. Club members decided this would be a good way to get teenagers involved in helping people in another country. Each bracelet is $5 and has been available during lunch and in Mrs. Bates' room all last week, as well as the football game last Friday against Lincoln Co. The Spanish Club is hoping to sell every bracelet they were sent so the kids can have better living conditions. Each bracelet sold is another step forward in giving these children better living and education opportunities. Help support Spanish Club in their fight to get kids off the streets in Nicaragua.

On November 21, the Future Business Leaders of America and the Family Career and Community Leaders of America clubs are joining together for a Fashion/Culinary Tour to New York City in the business district. From the time they arrive in New York to the second they step back on the bus to come home, they will be busy with a schedule full of fun and excitement!

They depart from school that Friday and arrive Saturday. On the first day, they will be given a tour of Times Square, Broadway District, Radio City Music Hall, Diamond District, Central Park, Lincoln Center, and Garment Center. That same day they will receive admission to the Observatory Deck of the Empire State Building for a spectacular view of NYC. Sunday is a day of shopping for the boys and girls! They will get to shop in major chain stores such as Tiffany's, Sak's Fifth Avenue, H&M, Nike Town, Trump Towers, FAO Schwarz, Apple, and many more! That evening, they will walk around and see the bright lights of Times Square. For Monday's night time entertainment, the students and chaperones will go to Broadway to watch one of the most well-known shows of all time, Wicked! Tuesday is their last full day in New York, which means a ferry ride to Ellis Island to visit the Statue of Liberty and the Immigration Museum. They are also going to take a walking tour of the financial district to see Wall Street. Tuesday night they depart for home and will arrive Wednesday morning at 6:30 a.m. The students are very excited to experience a trip like this with their closest friends and teachers!

Eagles Marching Their Way to Success

Hannah Kidder

The Madison Southern marching band has had an exciting season this year, but the season is almost over. Mr. Ratliff and the band are thrilled for this year's storyline of their show. Every year, the band has a different show; the title of this year's is "One." The show is set in post-apocalyptic times and is about the daily life of a lonely robot and his long lost love. The show features all original music written by Mark Gevedon and Eric Sokolowski. It also features snippets of the song "One is the Loneliest Number." Senior band member Alex Yoder said, "The show is completely original and we are doing amazing this season."

The 2014-2015 band is the largest in our school's history. This is also one of the oldest groups with many seniors. Alex Johnson, one of the drum majors, said "Although the band is the largest in school history, and we have a large group of freshmen and 8th graders, I honestly cannot wait to start the competition season!" The Marching Eagles first competition was September 13 at Montgomery County in Mt. Sterling, where they received 1st place in 4A. Their second competition was at North Laurel on September 20, where they received 1st place in their class, best percussion, and 3rd place overall. While at their competition in Grant County on October 4, they received third place overall in finals. At their 4th competition at Madison Central on October 11, they received 8th place overall in finals. Unfortunately at the South Laurel Competition on October 18, the field was so bad that they had to do a "stand "and "play" but still received comments from the judges. This past weekend at quarterfinals they received 3rd place with a distinguished rating! Because they placed in the top 8 schools they get to move on to semifinals on November 1, which is being hosted at Southern. Finals, also on November 1 are being held at EKU this year. Southern Raises Money to Create Vocal Magic in Disney World

The Eagles' Eve Entertainment Editor Kaylee Thomas

This year, the MSHS Choir will be traveling to Walt Disney World to compete at the National Competition, Festival Disney. While in Disney, the choir will have the opportunity to sing for hundreds of people and explore some of the parks in their free time. Disney is surely one of the most magical places in the world to visit; however, it is also one of the most expensive. In order to make the trip as affordable as possible our choir students have been fundraising in as many ways as possible. The choir has also raised money through various programs like Great American, Old Kentucky Chocolates, and Yankee Candles.

Senior choir members Kalie King, Carlee King, Kensie Mitchell, Hannah Howard and Kaylee Thomas.

On October 9, the choir held a performance to raise money for their competition. It featured songs from several different Disney films including Under the Sea, Go the Distance, and Circle of Life. When asked about the trip Mrs. Hembree replied,

"We are hoping to do a joint Disney trip with the band and are working on fundraising towards our goal and are super excited about the trip!" We wish the best of luck to the choir as they continue to raise money for a truly worthwhile trip!

New Teachers Join the Nest

The Eagles' Eye Reporter Ragen Robinson

A new year means a few new teachers. Mr. Frith is one of 10 new teachers at MSHS! Mr. Travis Frith is our new Pre-Cal and Algebra II teacher. You might have seen him last year when he was student teaching for Mrs. Cress! He grew up in Stanford, KY and attended Lincoln County School. He was a member of the baseball team and also attended Berea College to get his teaching degree! His hobbies include coaching the baseball team as the assistant coach, hunting, and fishing. He also likes playing softball. He has a wife of one year and he couldn't wait to teach at MSHS and educate students and the future generations of the world. After he retires he plans on buying a farm with his wife and relaxing. His best friend is his wife and his role models are his parents because they would do anything for anyone! If you see him standing in the hallway be sure to make him welcome!

Mr. Travis Frith.

New Science teacher Mrs. Brandi Whitaker.

Mrs. Brandi Whitaker is one of our newest additions to MSHS! She joined Southern's science department, teaching Anatomy and Biology. She grew up in Louisa, KY and went to Lawrence County High School. After high school, she attended Berea College for four years then continued her work at the University of the Cumberlands for her graduate work in the 'Masters of the Art in Teach-

She attends Berea Baptist and helps lead the youth group! In her spare time she loves to catch up on her sleeping! Her role model, Janie Boggs, helped push her to be her best throughout college and be successful in everything she does. She also enjoys summertime and spending time with her husband, Eli Whitaker and her cat, Fritzy! Her inspiration for teaching was working with her youth group, it's her passion to help them and inspired her to do the same in the classroom! If you have or see her in the hallway, be sure to say hi and make her feel welcome as an Eagle!

The Eagles' Eye Reporter

The 2014-2015 school year has begun at Madison Southern with several new teachers making their debut. Mr. Chad Rader is one of the many new teachers; he expressed much excitement about teaching and is looking forward to meeting all of the students and teachers.

Mr. Chad Rader attended Jackson County High School and was involved in FFA, Academic Team and Beta Club. For college he also attended Eastern Kentucky University and received a Master's of Arts in Physical Science Education. This year at Madison Southern Mr. Rader is teaching Physics, Pre-AP Physics and AP Physics. After school in his spare time he enjoys playing discgolf, and having family time with his fiancée Windi who teaches at Madison Central and his son Caleb. After Mr. Rader retires he'd like to play at the St. Andrews golf course in Scotland. Lastly, he became a teacher because he wanted to provide students with opportunities that he didn't have in high school.

Nestor Weds Langfels Over Fall Break

The Eagles' Eye Co-Editor Shelby Turner

Courtney Nestor and Jayson Langfels had a beautiful wedding at Saint Peter Catholic Church in Lexington, Kentucky on Saturday, October 11, 2014. Miss Courtney Nestor is well known and loved by the Madison Southern family, so everyone was beyond happy for her when they found out that she would be getting married! Jayson, or Mr. Langfels as the students call him, is no stranger to Madison Southern either. He worked as a substitute teacher for many months in 2013 before returning to his baseball career, playing for the Tulsa Drillers in the Colorado Rockies minor league system. Many of her students and soccer players that she coaches attended the wedding to support her and Jayson's new life together. "It was the sweetest and most precious wedding ever. I am so honored to have been able to attend the wedding!" said senior soccer player Paige Barger.

Overall the wedding was beautiful, with a beautiful bride to make it even better. "It was the most memorable day of our lives," Mrs.

Langfels says, "we are so grateful we were able to share it with our family, friends, and many students who were able to attend the ceremony!" After all the festivities were over, Mr. and Mrs. Langfels flew out to Marco Island in Florida for their honeymoon! The Southern faculty and students wish the new couple nothing but the best and happiness in their marriage!

Eagles Cafeteria Under New Management

The Eagles' Eye Reporter Brittany Perkins

As the Eagles started a new school year, they also welcomed new staff into the cafeteria! With new head manager Shawne Scott and assistant manager Laura Wainscott, the Eagle kitchen staff is excited about the year. Scott has been in the Madison County Schools system since 2009 where she first began subbing. She subbed for two years until she was hired in 2012 as assistant cook manager at Foley Middle in Berea. She was at Foley until she was hired this summer as head manager at Madison Southern. Scott has two kids at Madison Southern, Ashley and Adam Scott; she was also the owner of a small restaurant in Berea, Adams Place, in which she started for her son Adam.

Mrs. Wainscott, however, has been in the school system for 15 years where she has bounced back and forth between FMS and MSHS. In the cafeteria, it can get very busy at times, Shawn says, "The job is very demanding, but very rewarding at the same time." The MSHS café feeds between 700 and 800 kids a day for lunch alone; serving breakfast also for the students and begin cooking at 6 a.m., Mrs. Scott says, "We know it's for the kids, so we do it."

With new leaders in the cafeteria, the students are sure to see a change in the spirit of their lunch ladies. This year, the cafeteria staff has decided to have a theme, this year being superheroes. Another new addition for the café is decorating on game days and trying to have a friendly environment for the students. Scott says because of First Lady Michelle Obama's health restrictions her main goal for this year is to encourage the students to want to eat the school food and not turn their nose, because of all of the restrictions that are forced upon them. They must also list all carbohydrates and calories in every meal they serve the students.

One major addition to the menu this year is Little Caesars pizza on Tuesdays for the students; how you may ask? Since the school board is now enforcing much healthier eating choices, Little Caesars cooks up a special crust for the MSHS students that is made of wheat bread. This healthier choice led to approval by the Central Office. Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Wainscott both agree that they hope this year changes the way students feel about school lunch forever!

Madison Southern High School has added First Priority as a new club with the help of student Taylor Tripp. This is an opportunity for students to spread Christianity and learn more about their faith. The sponsors who help with the club are Mrs. Eden, Miss Swain, Lieutenant Scherer and Mrs. Caudill. The mission of First Priority is to identify, train and equip local leaders to establish successful local First Priority organizations. The club meets every Thursday morning and invites all Madison Southern students to participate.

Every month the students follow the acronym HOPE, which stands for help, overcome, prepare and engage. The first week of the month they study lessons; for the month of November they will study thankfulness. During the second, "overcome week," they will have a guest speaker that will share how they overcame something related to the topic that month. During "prepare week", the third week, they have people share their testimonies. The goal of prepare week is to make unbelievers aware of what God has done. "Engage week" is the final week where students speak the gospel and invite new students to the group. If the month has a fifth week, they call it follow up week, student leaders can answer any questions they have and recap the month. First Priority is a great way to spread Christianity through teens, we are proud of our Eagles.

What Folks in Berea are saying about Larry Combs

Tony & Lisa Wehrle, manager, Central Kentucky Design: "Larry has been a friend for as long as we can remember. He cares for our community - his work and dedication to Southern Madison County is evidence of this. He's always been open to the guestions and concerns of those he serves as magistrate in Southern Madison County."

Vernon Cummings, retired restaurant owner:

"In the 42 years I've known Larry, one major attribute has stood out to me, his willingness to help. Larry has never shown anything less than a kind, helping hand to me and the residents of Dogwood Drive. We are grateful for his dedication to the people of this great county!"

Richard Bellando, former owner of Churchill Weavers:

"The Combs' were neighbors of ours on Blue Lick, and fine ones at that. They've always been concerned with the affairs of the Berea area. And a lot of officials will say, 'I did this' or 'I did that,' but Larry always gives team credit to everyone involved, and acknowledges the important role of taxpayers."

Jane Brandenburg, retired secretary at Silver Creek Elementary: "I'm asking all of my friends to vote for my brother, Larry Combs. He does so much for Southern Madison County. He has tried for five years to get drivers license testing in Berea, now it has finally happened. Thanks Larry for all you have done to help Southern Madison County."

"I think Larry has made a real positive difference during his tenure as our magistrate. He works hard to better Southern Madison County for tomorrow. Larry's an active planner for the future needs of our community."

Doug Hazelwood, retired auto parts and service manager:

"I've known Larry's family for over fifty years. When I was in college, I worked for his dad Elvin, and he would constantly get on to me about my classes. If it weren't for Elvin, I'd probably still be in school! But seriously, the Combs family are good citizens of the county, and I'm proud to know them."

John Stephenson, retired builder:

"Larry Combs has been our magistrate for over three decades. That's a testimony in itself. Everywhere you look there are constant reminders of all the things he has done for Southern Madison County. He is a man of integrity who addresses the concerns of all of the people in his district. His word is his bond"

Bruce Fraley, executive and farmer:

"I have always known Larry to be a person of the highest integrity and honesty. He is a true public servant who puts the needs of his constituents first. Having an experienced Magistrate like Larry Combs on the Madison County Fiscal Court is important for all of us here in Southern Madison

Gary and Marvena Rose, local business owners:

Jack Hall, former publisher of the Berea Citizen:

"As editor and publisher of The Berea Citizen in the 1980's, I covered the Madison County Fiscal Court meetings for nearly a decade. While watching the inner workings of the court, I learned two things about Larry Combs. First, he is death on higher taxes. Second, he is the best friend the residents of Berea and Southern Madison County could have. If you want a sure vote against higher taxes and an advocate who will always get Berea a fair share of county allocations, vote Larry Combs. Whether you know him or not, he is your friend."

Ray Brandenburg, former Berea Police Chief:

"I have known Larry all his life. He is a good man. He is always available day or night to answer questions or help in any way. He takes pride in making sure all of the roads in Southern Madison County are in good condition. I urge you to vote Larry Combs for Southern Madison County Magistrate of District #1"

Belinda Riddle and daughter Larinda Agee, teachers at BCS:

"Larry has always been a big supporter of our students at Berea Community School. The investments he has made in these children and our community over the last 32 years have truly made a difference in the quality of life for all of us here in Southern Madison County. We're proud to support him for Magistrate of District #1.

Jane Pennington, owner of Pennington Realty:

"If you call Larry about a problem, he'll take care of it. That's why Southern Madison County is in better condition than ever before. As magistrate, Larry has done a fantastic job serving our community. So please go vote on May 20th, and for the good of Southern Madison County, vote Larry Combs for Magistrate District #1."

"We've known Larry for 42 years. We can't say enough about what he's done for Southern Madison County. The kind of problem doesn't matter - day or night, he is there for whatever you need. We shouldn't fix something that isn't broke."

Robert Farmer, local businessman and farmer:

"Larry has a real commitment to our community. He worked with state legislators to revise the Berea By-Pass project, in order to preserve the Silver Creek Baptist Church facility as one of our community's historical landmarks. We should face the future with proof from the past and re-elect Larry as our magistrate."

Randy Osbourne, retired pastor:

"I've known the Combs families for over forty years. They are good citizens of the Commonwealth, County, and community. And during his tenure, Larry has done a very good job representing this district on the Fiscal Court."

Mary Long, Manager of Foley's Florist:

Larry has a real sense of dedication to our community. He's done an excellent job for our district, and the hard work has paid off in better public programs and a higher standard of living. Let's keep Larry as our magistrate so he can continue to serve our needs in this end of the county."

Donnie Thomas, Berea business owner

"Because of the economy, we need to stream-line services and spend more efficiently instead of increasing taxes. We need to keep Larry. He's experienced, accessible and he's never voted for one new tax."

J.T. Gilbert, Coy, Gilbert, Shepherd & Wilson, Attorneys at Law: "My father, Ned Gilbert, was my political guru, and he always talked about how much Larry has done for our part of the county."

Jerry and Gwen Jones, local business owners: "Larry has always helped us anytime we have asked. If we need to known what is happening in county government, Larry is our go-to-guy. If he doesn't know he'll find out. We appreciate Larry Combs and all of his help."

Sue McAfee, retired:

"Larry Combs has a wealth of experience and connections that make him a valuable asset to Southern Madison County. And he's always been a Magistrate for the people. It doesn't matter if you're rich or poor. If you call him he'll help you.'

Mickey Ballard, retired manufacturing Master Technician: "I've known Larry Combs and his family all my life. He's a good man who always goes out of his way to help people. He's paved every road in our end of the county and brought city water to every home. And he's never voted for one new tax in thirty-two years. We need to keep him on the Fiscal Court."

I appreciate your consideration and your vote!

Solid decisions...

Citizens of Madison County It's time to get serious about this election.

This race is about the future of Madison County; you, your children and their children. There are many issues facing all of us in the next 4 years.

First and foremost, our county must have a Judge Executive who can lobby the legislature, Democrats and Republicans, and sit down with the Governor, work closely with the Commissioner of Rural Roads and the Commissioner of Local Government. He must know where to go and who to talk to in Washington D.C. This is so important in order to continue all the wonderful services that we provide for our citizens. The Judge Executive must recognize important issues that will affect our county and have a plan to work through the issue and get the job done.

- Funding from federal government to complete the next 2 phases of our study for the future of the demilitarization site
- Funding the next 2 phases of the airport renovation and expansion plan. Phase 1 is funded and has been awarded.
 - Working with local and state officials to choose the best route for the connector from US 25 to Duncannon Lane. We could use this project for a new road to the airport.
 - Continue to work closely with the commander and his staff at the Bluegrass Army Depot to bring more permanent jobs to Madison County
 - Work with the Governor and the general assembly to fund the construction phase of Exit 95 Boonesboro interchange in 2016
 - Working with Richmond and Berea for a solution to funding 911 and emergency operations center when the nerve gas is gone
 - Start on the financing and construction of a new jail expansion, the jail is the largest threat to the financial stability of Madison County government
 - Continuing every year to upgrade services for the residents of Madison County.

The Judge Executive must have the ability to make tough decisions including writing and balancing a 40 million dollar budget.

- Balanced every budget with a positive cash reserve.
- Spotless state audits every year.
- 250 million in infrastructure including roads, water, sewer, parks and new facilities.
- Never raised your taxes.

I have heard, at several public events, a few of my opponent's issues and concerns. He talks about transparency – our county is one of the most transparent in the whole country. He talks about jobs – yet we have remained in the lower 5% of unemployment rate in the state for years. He talks about building a better community. We are in better financial condition that ever in history. We have a great relationship with EKU and Berea College. We offer great opportunities for everyone from high school to EKU graduates in many fields. We reside in the greatest county to live, work, raise a family, get an education and retire. I truly believe we all enjoy the very best quality of life available anywhere, and it gets better every year.

Candidate Forum Brings Over 75 People to Campus

By Beth Myers Citizen Editor

Over 75 people attended the local candidate forum on Tuesday night, an event where both Berea mayoral candidates were invited, as well as the 20 residents running for Berea City Council.

The candidate forum was organized by both KFTC (Kentuckians for the Commonwealth) and the Berea College Student Government Association (SGA). The two-hour event took place in Baird Lounge on the Berea College campus; it was the only candidate forum to take place for the local election. The audience was made up of students, faculty, and community members.

The current mayor, Steve Connelly, was the only candidate who participated from the mayoral race. It was announced that mayoral challenger Paul Reynolds communicated that he could not not attend. Moderators announced that he sent in a statement, and it had been left at the front table for those who wished to read it.

All city council members running for re-election attended the forum, except for Chad Hembree who had notified staff from KFTC earlier in the month that he wouldn't be able to attend. There were 13 city council candidate challengers present at the forum, with five absent. Dee West. J. Carroll McGill, Tom Mc-Cay, Ricky Clontz, and Jeff Reed did not participate. McCay had responded earlier that he would not be able to because of a prior commitment.

One of the officers from SGA made a reference both at the beginning and the end of the forum about an advertisement that appeared in the Berea Citizen in the October 23, 2014 issue. The ad, which was "paid for by concerned citizens of Berea," stated that Berea College students - labeled non-residents - could be subject to having their right to vote challenged at the voting

Ten Students from Berea Enter Youth Ambassador Program

a senior at Madison Southern High School, Randa Weaver, a senior at Madison Southern High School, Taylor Edwards, a senior at Madison Southern High School, Taylor Justice, a senior at Berea Community High School, Alexandra Johnson, a senior at Madison Southern High School, Greg Schloemer, a junior at Berea Community High School, J.D. Lovell, a junior at Berea Community High School, John Eipert, a senior at Madison Southern High School and Taylor Tripp, a senior at Madison Southern High School.

The non-partisan program, which is in its inaugural year, enables junior and senior high school students from across the 19 counties that make up the Sixth Congressional District to come together to learn valuable leadership skills from top Commonwealth leaders while serving as an ambassador for their school.

The students will meets four times over the course of the academic school year with each session focusing on one of the following topics: government, education, military and business. The first meeting, which occurred on October 11 at Transylvania University in Lexington, focused on government and military service. Speakers for the session included former Congressman Larry Hopkins, BGD General Les Beavers, Mayor Jim Gray, Representative Jonathan Shell, former Secretary of State Bob Babbage, and U.S. Postal Governor Ellen Williams to name a few.

"Developing solid leadership skills is a fundamental component of a successful career and life," said Barr. "I am excited to launch our Ambassador Program and especially having representation from such bright students from across my district."

The next session of the Congressional Youth Ambassador Program will be held on December 13, 2014.

precinct, according to Kentucky Revised Statutes. It further stated that, "Those found not to be eligible to vote, could face significant penalties."

The SGA representatives informed the students present that they had the right to vote, and shuttles would be available to take them to the polls on Nov. 4.

One of the three prepared question for the candidates touched on Berea College students' participation in local events; the question asked what role each candidate thought the students played in the community.

Council members for the most part stated that students were a valuable part of the community, and confirmed that they had the right to vote in the local elections.

"The college students are very involved," council member Vi Farmer said, stating how much she appreciated the college in Berea. "Many of them are politically savvy, they have many ideas, and they vote in our local elections, so I think they play an important part in our town."

Candidate Robert Johnson commented that students would say they could vote here, because it's their town now, and he agreed.

"But," Johnson said to the students, "don't vote because someone tells you, and I hear some of that. I'm not saying you do, but vote from your heart. Vote for who you think is best."

Council members Billy Wagers asked the students to contact them if they had concerns regarding the city, or other questions, "We are so busy that we may not be able to anticipate your needs. But call us, just like all the other citizens do."

Council member Diane Kerby stated that the students were a very vital part of the community, bringing both their energy and ideas, as well as a more diverse culture. Council member Chester Powell called the college and specifically the students the, "core and heart of Berea." Candidate Phil Smith cautioned people, however, to not lump Berea College students into this "homogenous group," that all acted and felt the same.

Council member Ronnie Terrill got some reaction from the audience when he said, "We hear rumors in the community that professors are giving students a list of who to vote for, and if they vote, they get a ten percent discount from the college store . . . that's what I'm hearing out in the community."

Candidate Adrial Woodman quipped later that, "if students vote they should get a discount and all As." All the candidates were asked if they would support the Fairness Ordinance, or anti-discrimination ordinance. Seven of the candidates indicated that they supported a Fairness Ordinance, including Denise Hagan, Diane Kerby, Katie Startzman, Mae Suramek, Billy Wagers, Adrial Woodman, and Mayor Connelly. The ones who said they would not support it expressed concerns about the wording of the ordinance itself, the need for it, and the potential financial liability.

One audience member asked candidates about their opinion of alcohol sales in Berea. Many of them were in favor of alcohol sales, though different ones said it might be good to start with the "moist" option of serving in restaurants. Terrill jokingly said that "they just had to educate the Baptists," in order to get alcohol sales in Berea.

year student at the University of Kentucky College of Dentistry, participated in the White Coat Ceremony held on Friday, Sept. 6 in UK's Memorial Hall.

During the ceremony, 67 students — including 40 Kentuckians — received white coats representing their entry

Krystina Sandefur, a first- into the dental profession as student dentists. Dental faculty also welcomed students to the dental profession as colleagues and challenged them to make a commitment toward gaining the knowledge and compassion necessary to become outstanding

CONSERVATIVE.

Hospice opens "Making Memory Workshop" to public

Submitted The Citizen

They were started by a creative volunteer and quickly became beloved by family members of hospice patients. And now, the Memories Matter Workshops are opening up to the public.

Nora Brashear, LCSW, bereavement coordinator at Hospice Care Plus, will lead the first public workshop on Tues., Nov. 18, from 6-8pm at Trinity PCA Church, Spangler Drive, Richmond.

RSVPs are highly encouraged due to limited space. Contact Nora at 859-986-1500 or hospice@ hospicecp.org to sign-up. Guests of all ages are invited to attend. There is no fee to participate.

The Memories Matter

workshops give partici- Aid, and the Million Dolpants the chance to make either shadow boxes or scrapbook pages in memory of a loved one. Hospice Care Plus has hosted several for family members of its patients, including one just for children.

"It's wonderful to see the mementos people bring, the photos, and all the treasured items they have about their spouse, their parent, their grandparent, their child," said Brashear. "From Elvis concert tickets and old letters to bingo cards, jewelry, newspaper articles, fishing lures and handkerchiefs, we're amazed at the collections people bring and the creative ways they use them to make the boxes and memory pages."

The workshops are possible because of grants McDonald's, Rite lar Round Table. Hospice's staff and volunteers donate other supplies, such as scrapbook paper, felt, glue, paper cutters, stencils, stickers, scissors, and much more. Guests only have to bring mementos and other items related to their loved one.

"It's the physical, tactile nature of it as a mourning activity that moves you along," said Brashear. "The reason activities like this one are good is that you're revisiting and preserving memories of your loved one. That's very beneficial to the grieving process. It's an act of mourning, but also of storytelling and fellowship."

To learn more about Hospice Care Plus or the Memories Matter workshops, call 859-986-1500 or 800-806-5492.

The Terrace Names October 2014 Employee of the Month

Jessica Hawkins has been chosen as our October Employee of the Month. She has worked at the Terrace for three years. Jessica stated, "I enjoy the relationships that I've formed with our residents and my co-workers. I feel great satisfaction when doing good deeds for our residents." Jessica's supervisor, Christina Saylor, Director of Dietary, stated, "Jessica is such a hard worker and very dependable. She has a great relationship with all her co-workers. Her quick pace and attention to detail make her an asset to the kitchen and The Terrace."

When Jessica was asked what being named Employee of the Month meant to her she had this to say: "I'm honored to receive the award. It feels good to be appreciated and recognized for the work I do. I'm thankful that The Terrace has given me the opportunity to excel in my job."

In her spare time she enjoys spending time with her spouse, Blake and her two children, Daniel and Thomas. She enjoys hiking and attending obscure art and music festivals.

Congratulations, Jessica Hawkins!

RHIANNON CONNOR PIRATE Managing Editor

An often overlooked component of success in primary and secondary school-aged students is family engagement. Developing this engagement was Berea Community Elementary School's precise objective in hosting an annual Family Literacy Night, which took place two weeks ago on Oct 16. Family Literacy Night (FLN) not only engages families in their child's education, but also gives students incentive to complete quality work in anticipation of showing it to their

Prior to the evening of the elementary school's FLN, students donated unwanted books that were then put on display tables near the elementary school's entrance. Then on FLN, students selected new books from the tables to take home with them. The swapping of old books for new ones encouraged students to continue reading outside of school. During the event, students also showed their family writing pieces and projects completed in the classroom.

Berea Family Resource Center coordinator and FLN organizer Diane Smith noted, "The purpose is to bring in families and create that engagement piece on reading and literacy and the importance of it."

Optimally, students developing the habit of reading and appreciating literature around their family as children leads to similar habits during adolescence. But the ideal of students reading for fun at a young age simply isn't the case in all households. A high school FLN is already in the works at Berea and will hopefully reinforce this.

On the importance of literacy engagement among high schoolers, Berea English and AP English Literature teacher Jody Flara commented, "People are not aware of the benefits of family literacy in high school. They have only experienced it in younger students. The benefits are for all ages and we need to educate people of the great potential of reading communication in the home."

Berea Community High School's FLN would aim to extend the importance of reading and discussing literacy to adolescents. The ultimate hope of Berea Community Schools is to advocate recreational reading and family engagement at all age

Middle School test scores show overall improvement

GRACE BEAVIN

PIRATE Staff Reporter

Continuing with the previous issue's commentary on Berea Community High School's test scores, this week's focus is middle school test

The state board of education releases annual school evaluations based upon a compilation of end-of-year tests, the PLAN and ACT in high schools, and the EXPLORE in middle schools. BCMS earned twenty-eight percentile points in Achievement, Gap, and Growth respectively; with sixteen percentile points in College and Career Readiness. It is worth noting that while this does add up to 100 percent total, unlike the high school, the middle and elementary school do not have Graduation Rate factored into their scores. The middle school also made a 5.3 point jump in Reading, coming out at 66.8, a 4.8 point jump in Math at 62.2, a 0.8 increase in Science with 67.5, and a 6.5 point increase at 80.2 percentile points.

Unfortunately, like the rest of the school district, the middle school dropped in both Writing and Language Mechanics. While the administration remains optimistic for the future, they are not satisfied with these

When asked what programs he thinks have helped to increase test scores, Mr. Hogg spoke very highly of the new district-wide math coach Jennifer Donnelly, a National Board certified, former BCMS math teacher. Ms. Donnelly's predecessor, Angela Keene, had been a fifth grade teacher. When she took the job to assist teachers and students in increasing math capability, her focus was put heavily towards the elementary school. Mr. Hogg was very pleased with the work Ms. Keene had done, but was excited that Ms. Donnelly was able to focus more on the middle and high schools

Mr. Hogg was also very excited about the new math curriculum, Envisions, that has been implemented in the elementary and middle schools. In addition, Mr. Hogg mentioned that the Leader in Me program seems to be a good campaign. He thinks it is important for leadership to be encouraged among the students.

Berea Community Middle School showed the greatest overall improvement for test scores in the district. The teachers and students are working very hard, and the Pirate wishes them good luck in the coming year.

Youth Ambassador Program introduced to students

Dalton Gadd PIRATE Managing Editor

Four students at Berea Community High School were selected to participate in the Sixth Congressional District Youth Ambassador Program. The students chosen were juniors Claire Sandberg, Greg Schloemer, JD Lovell, and senior

Taylor Justice. The Youth Ambassador Program is a program that connects students in our region to Congressman Andy Barr, who talks about topics that are in the interest of high school students. The program also lets those students have the opportunity to meet and hear from different community members and leaders throughout our state, as well as the United States about

The program is a great way for high school students to get exposure from colleges. Another benefit of the program is to learn about different key topics that are discussed in politics, and in the Kentucky state legislature.

"I felt very honored that I was accepted to such a prestigious program," senior Taylor Justice said.

Claire Sandberg, a junior, also had input about her acceptance into the program, and said, "I was very excited and honored."

Berea Community hopes that this program will continue to give exposure to BCHS, as it is considered one of the smaller schools in this region.

On Monday, Oct 20 the Berea High School Girls Volleyball team played in districts against Madison Southern.

"We have the potential to win." Senior volleyball player Kim Rockwell said when asked before the game how she felt.

The girls played a great game but unfortunately they lost the game with a score of 0 out of 3 sets. While it was a loss, it was a good effort from the Berea Pirates Volleyball team who played a great game.

"It was okay but we could have done better," Senior Halev Penn said.

The game also had some good performances." Autumn Grigsby did a good job playing," Coach Jared Penn said when asked who he felt played well that night. Also, there were some great performances from freshman Kendra Shearer. Coach Penn stated, "She served well and really brought us back into the game".

Also there was a great performance by Seniors Kim Rockwell and Haley Penn. Kim did an impressive job spiking the ball and Haley Penn did wonderful when it came to blocking. Senior Mackenzie Campbell performed wonderfully as well.

"They didn't give up and they tried really hard," Coach Penn said of the Lady Pirates performance.

The Legend of Sleepy Hollow

CAMERON COYLE

PIRATE Staff Reporter

The Berea Community High School drama department just finished their production of the legendary play, The Legend of Sleepy Hollow on Oct 17th. The play is usually performed around Halloween and the cast and crew nailed the eerie vibe they tried to create.

Grace Beavin, the student director, got great performances out of her actors and actresses, with Samuel McFarland and Malcolm Davis being the standouts as Ichabod Crane and Brom Bones. McFarland and Davis had great chemistry on stage and the tension they brought was truly remarkable.

The arrogance that Davis brings to the character of Brom makes it fun for the audience to root against him. On the other hand, the awkwardness and timidness that McFarland gives Ichabod makes him sympathetic and a very relatable character.

Emma White also did an amazing job as the love interest in the play. I would have liked to have seen her character given more time on stage, but this is obviously not her fault. This minor problem falls on the original script, so no one is to blame.

Nick Galloway, a junior at Berea Community, got to see the play. When asked about what he thought about The Legend of Sleepy Hollow he responded, "The play was neat and the acting was really great. It was very enjoyable."

Jody Flara is the drama teacher at Berea Community and also produced the play. She seemed very pleased with how everything turned out, especially on the directing. When bragging on Grace Beavin's work she claimed, "She did a lot with the language of the play and character interpretation." She also said, "It's great watching the students grow through the development of the play."

The Berea Community High School drama department's next play will be The Man Who Came to Dinner. It will be performed from Dec 11 through Dec 13 at the Kennedy

BCS students wear orange to take a stand against bullying

Maki Avilla PIRATE Staff Reporter

You would never expect that your child's choice of a certain color of clothing to wear in order to look hip meant something more. Also, you would never think that your child is speaking out and taking a stand by wearing orange, but it is the truth. Your child is taking the initiative to support Bullying Prevention by wearing orange, while doing it with pride, passion, and purpose for the students attending Berea Community.

That is the idea behind Unity Day, a part of "Bullying Prevention Awareness Month", which is being implemented in the month of October. Bullying Prevention Awareness was brought to Madison County in 2011 and is still continuing in 2014. Unity Day gives students a chance to show support towards the cause by wearing the color orange.

Mrs. Kathy Jones, a health teacher at Berea, brought Bullying Awareness to attention and has helped implement the event during October. "I teach this as a unit and I try to teach students to stand up to bullies," she commented on why she thinks bullying needs to be taught to kids.

Mrs. Diane Smith, who is one of the many teachers/staff to sponsor Unity Day, commented on how Unity Day transpires, "Wearing orange gives a voice to those students who are scared of retaliation from the bully."

on city council and why you are interested in serving in local government.

I believe that changing the world starts in your own backyard and that everyday citizens, like you and I, can and should feel empowered to be involved in the decisions that impact us. I am guided by Berea Founder, John G. Fee's vision for Berea: "I took my horse and rode for 500 miles, searching for a place where I could fulfill my mission. I did not know where I should go; but one thing was certain – I must preach the true Gospel, this Gospel of love."

I was a civil rights investigator for eight years with the Lexington Human Rights Commission and the North Carolina Human Relations Commission. I then served as alumni director at my alma mater, Berea College for nine years. Since 2012, I've had the privilege of serving as executive director of the Bluegrass Rape Crisis Center, a regional non-profit organization whose mission is to eliminate sexual violence in 17 counties (including Madison) in central Kentucky. I oversee a staff of 15, four offices, and a $1.1 million annual operating budget. I have a B.A. in psychology from Berea College and an M.A. in community counseling from EKU. In my spare time, I'm also a full-time, sandwich-generation, working mom. Question #2: Top 3 issues facing Berea and actions city council could take to move those issues forward. It's time we put ourselves (back) on Kentucky's map, don't you think?

1. Revitalization, tourism, and economic devel-

It is my hope that we have strategic conversations around the revitalization of Berea in a way that -- 1) Restores and reintroduces our artisan communities and our rich inter-racial heritage to the state/nation in a new and relevant way; 2) Celebrates charm distinctive and character of the kind of town that attracts renowned authors to set up residence. Have you heard that authors Silas House, Crystal Wilkerson, and bell hooks choose to live and work in berea? That's kind of a big deal; 3) Highlights our strong involvement and commitment to the local food, organic food, and sustainable communities movement; 4) Creates messaging and growth opportunities around our existing natural outdoor recreational hiking trails, bike paths/routes, and ecotourism; 5) Partners with, and works in conjunction with Berea College to create mutually beneficial public relations and marketing strategies, as well as a more coordinated annual calendar of events.

Last year Kentucky's tourism and travel industry contributed over $12.5 billion to Kentucky's economy. A total of 175,746 jobs in Kentucky resulted from industry, providing over $2.8 billion in wages to Kentucky workers. The largest increase occurred in our region (Bourbon, Horses & History), which increased by 3.8 percent between the two years. 2. But before we start inviting all the tourists to visit, shouldn't we make real efforts to connect with one another first?

Smart growth, transportation, and sustainable

I believe that our community needs to invest in ways to better connect people (with a variety of transportation options like bike and walking paths, public motor transportation, and affordable housing choices) to businesses, workplaces, food sources, and schools. Truly sustainable communities have been known to significantly reduce air pollution, decrease infrastructure costs, preserve historic properties and farmland, and ultimately provide a foundation for lasting prosperity, less energy use, and the protection of our natural environment and health.

3. And finally, the elephant in the room: This community isn't less divided just because a vote took place.

Civil rights, equal protection, and creating an inclusive community culture where all Bereans feel wel-

This has been a difficult two years, but we are fooling ourselves if we think "we can finally heal and move on" after the recent vote to defeat the anti-discrimination ordinance. The fact that we all have neighbors who continue to feel unwelcome, unsupported, and discriminated against makes this a continuing priority issue – not only for the new city council - but for our entire community. We continue to hurt each other, and our capacity for growth and progress is greatly stifled by us walking around with different colored shirts, talking at each other, rather than working alongside one an-

Call me an optimist, but I believe there are very, very few Bereans who believe in refusing to sell a burger and fries to a paying patron, who believe in firing a good, responsible employee, or who believe in kicking a quiet, paying tenant out of an apartment. That is all the anti-discrimination ordinance would have offered: protection from unequal treatment and basic human rights. And let's be clear: the ordinance never would have forced anyone to change their religious beliefs, conduct same-sex marriages, nor would it have taken away any existing rights that any of us currently

The new city council has an obligation to lead this conversation with integrity and honesty - and to ensure that our local laws protect our local citi-

don't want to stop the conversation about equal rights there. Three years ago my friend's son's car was spray-painted with racial slurs right here in Berea. That same year, a local high school participated in an athletic-related event involving caravans of vehicles and confederate flags driving through downtown. Unfortunately, the event also involved young, white teenagers yelling racial epithets out of their car windows to African-American college students. This town not only has a rich and remarkable interracial history, but Berea's current population make-up consists of almost 10 percent non-Caucasian residents – that's almost 10 percent African-American, Hispanic, Asian, Native American, and mixedrace individuals, many of whom are not represented in key decision making seats in our community. Many of whom continue to experience a wide range of discrimination from subtle prejudices to blatant exclusion or differential treat-zens – all of them. But I

Question #3: Long-term concerns (10-15 years in the future) for the City of Berea

1. I know it's hard to believe (since we live in utopia and all), but many of our neighbors are hungry and struggling to make ends meet.

Economic mobility and income equality for all

Issues that I believe this community has a responsibility to address include: food security, availability of jobs that provide a livable wage, and access to safe and affordable housing. 22% of Bereans earn less than $15,000 each year. In 2013, 677 individuals received food from our local food pantry, 21% received food stamp/SNAP benefits. Places like FAHE (Federation of Appalachian Housing Enterprises) and Habitat for Humanity exist right here in our community, to help give families in need a chance to obtain home ownership, "because good housing stock is the anchor point for a strong community". Housing is generally deemed "affordable" if it represents 30 percent or less of household income. For those with the greatest need, housing costs often exceed that, and present a burden for lower-income families. With 25.9% of Bereans living below the poverty line, and 44.7% of Bereans living in rental housing, it's time we start figuring out a way to not leave folks behind. Folks, we have a drug problem and all the police officers in the world are not going to make it go away. Substance use, the rise of drug-related deaths, and the impact of poverty on

The Office of Drug Control Policy reports that 230 people in Kentucky died from heroin overdoses in 2013. Only 22 people in Kentucky died from heroin overdoses in 2011. The Berea Police department and Madison County EMS Director and County Coroner report an increase in heroin use in Berea and Madison County, most likely attributed to affordability of heroin and strictenforcement around prescription drug abuse. The Berea police department recently partnered with the Madison County Sheriff's Office, and neighboring police departments in Jackson County, Irvine, and Winchester to create a drug task force to address this problem. While this is a commendable effort, it is important that our community collectively address this likely epidemic comprehensively through partnerships with mental health providers, community substance use treatment programs, and anti-poverty organiza-

3. We all need to start committing to take better care of our town. Fully embrace the 2012 Berea Energy Cost Savings Plan (BECS) that proposes a reduction energy consumption in Berea 30% by the year 2042.

Let's build upon this town's ongoing efforts to reduce energy consumption by reframing and restructuring our current utilities department with energy efficiency and sustainability as core guiding principles. The city's leadership in getting the solar farm program off the ground is commendable, not only in the way that it uses rays of PV panels to generate electricity, but also in the way that it brings the community together to invest in a better energy future for Berea.

I can imagine the Berea Utilities department taking this a step further and moving beyond, "providing electricity, water, and wastewater treatment to the Berea and southern Madison County area", and perhaps even changing its name to the Berea Quality Environmental and Public Works department (Lexington Fayette Urban County government is organized in this way) with a mission to preserve our natural environment, increase energy independence, and improve public health and air quality, while also providing public infrastructure systems that are safe, efficient, and economical. While a name change might seem small and insignificant, it could signal a renewed communitywide commitment in this area. In the future I see the city giving consideration for a designated paid city position that would provide strategic leadership and oversight for the implementation of the plan.

Question #4: Regarding the 2014-15 budget, are there line items you would like to see added for funding, or items you would like to see receive more funding? Are there line items you would like to see removed from funding or receive less funding?

The 2015 budget allocates $7.3 million "to protect and enhance quality of life". This is an $850,000 increase from the 2014 budget, with a fund balance reserve (2 months of expenses) of $2 million, a capital sinking fund (escrow to purchase large capital items) of $1.2 million, and with 43% of the budget going towards personnel costs. We currently allocate $4.7 million (police and fire) to public safety – that's 65% of the entire budget. Public works is funded at $2.5

I believe that a local government's budget reflects the values that a community is willing to invest in. I'd like to see our budget reflect us. All of us. I'd like to see more bold, forward and progressive thinking around budgeting that more strategically invests in community development and our longterm infrastructure.

And when I say bold, I'm not kidding. I'm talking about participatory budgeting, folks. I'm an outcomes based gal, who values workable solutions with ample community involvement. Recently, the City of Boston led the first youth-led participatory budgeting process in a U.S. city. The project empowered young people, ages 12 to 25, to decide where $1 million of public capital should go to best improve their communities. The youth designed the process to working directly with city officials to make viable project proposals and city agencies donated time to work directly with them to discuss spending priorities and current projects. The young residents were then able to vote for 4 out of 14 projects in four categories: education, community culture, parks/environment/ health, and streets and safety. Projects included improving community centers, creating art spaces, and renovating parks. We're no Boston, but I dare say Berea citizens are smart and passionate enough to have a say in how to more closely align our tax dollars with our priorities - in an open, accountable and participa-

Question #5: How would you like to see Berea develop economically? Could the city be more business friendly? Should zoning regulations be changed/loosened/tightened?

Supporting local businesses: I believe that independent retailers and restaurants are the heart of unique small towns like ours. Their success helps build a vibrant community and leads to economic growth that benefits us all. I would be interested in exploring other successful models of local government programs that provide grants and support to developing businesses and incentives to encourage creation and retention of livable employment opportunities.

Creating sustainable communities: I support the development of pedestrian and bicycle pathways as safe and practical options to motorized transportation in Berea, but in the broader context of building sustainable communities for Bereans at all socio-economic levels, and investing in the creation of job opportunities that provide livable wages worth walking and biking to and Development or historical preservation? I believe that the concept of an urban service boundary exists for a reason – to hold us, as a community, accountable to first consider creative ways to utilize available space without blindly developing everything in sight. I'm not a city planner or anything, but I would assume that expansion doesn't come cheap and would involve laying sewer lines, roadways, and other significant costly infrastructure items.

I'm assuming that either the city or the developers would have to pay for those costs and either way, this cost is likely to be passed on to the citizens of Berea - either in the form of increased taxes, or higher home prices. Before expanding such boundaries or expanding development along the new bypass, I would be interested in creating a conversation with our community about how well we are using existing space and buildings, and whether or not there are opportunities for us to repurpose those things in way that might even attract new businesses, increase tourism, and create economic growth for

The Kentucky Heritage Council reports that a million dollars spent on the rehabilitation of a historic building ultimately adds $730,000 in household income to our state's economy. In 2009 alone, the Federal Rehabilitation Tax Credit Program generated 70,000 jobs and leveraged over $4.7 billion in private investment. I often imagine what Old Town used to be like in its hevday, and sometimes when I try hard enough, I can imagine a revitalized Old Town with bustling sidewalk cafes and coffee shops, bookstores, a diverse array of art galleries to join the few that are already housed there, maybe even a com-

sive? Yes. You know what? Rather than pretending to be a lawyer and dissecting moist v. wet v. dry laws, I'll go ahead and tell you this about my position on alcohol sales: I support living in a town where legal, responsible adults can make legal, responsible decisions about enjoying an alcoholic beverage without having to drive 20 miles up the road to give their money away to businesses and restaurants outside of

on city council and why you are interested in serving in local government.

I am Violet "Vi" Farmer,

Berea citizen for 57 years. I am a 1961 graduate of Berea College with Master's degree and Rank I from E.K.U. My teaching career spanned 29 years at Berea Community School where I was privileged to play a part in the educating and nurturing of hundreds of young people who continue to become successful and contributing members of their communities. I am so proud of their many accomplishments. My tenure on Berea City Council has allowed me to be a small part of the progress and growth our town has experienced over the past 25 years such as development of the industrial parks (thousands of jobs), recreation parks and expanded programs, phase I of bypass, sidewalks/shared use paths, Kentucky Artisan Center, designation of Berea as Kentucky's Arts and Crafts Capital, local airport expansion, Tourism's Learn Shops, sister region relationship with Yamanaski Prefecture, Japan, purchase of water and electric utilities, and the well-trained and well equipped staff to better serve Berea.

I am married to Jack Farmer, retired Parker Seal engineer. We have 3 sons, Steve, Mike (Cindy) and Jeff, 2 granddaughters, Leslie and Šarah, and 1 great grandson, Aiden Ryder. I firmly support sound financial management, strong public safety, planned growth, vibrant economic base (industrial and commercial), open, responsive government, inter-governmental cooperation, improved infrastructure (vehicles, bikes, pedestrians) to keep Berea moving in the right direction. I consider it an honor and privilege to have served on City Council for so many years and I hope I have contributed to the progress and the quality of life Berea has enjoyed. There are unfinished projects and dreams on the drawing board that I want to see completed. I am seeking another term on council and I ask for your support. In return, I promise my energy, experience, time, hard work, and vision for Berea's

Question #2: List the top 3 issues you think the city will face in the next several years, explain why each is significant and actions that city council could take to move those issues 1) The economy, employment opportunities, creation and retention of JOBS! Strong economic policies that address recruitment of new businesses and support for existing businesses and industries, continued provision of essential services, along with long-range planning and careful management are important steps in addressing these issues. Active support for education, training, and re-training of a work force will make Berea more competitive in today's economic climate.

2) Infrastructure improvements and maintenance are essential in providing services to Berea's citizens and to Berea's future economic development. Critical factors are, 1. Citywide storm water drainage system, 2. Phase II of the Bypass (next year), 3. Plans for water reservoir expanded capacity, 4. Completion of Menelaus Road upgrade, 5. U.S 25 N. rebuild, and 6. Continued development of sidewalks/ bikeways throughout Berea. These projects and others are dependant on available funds, grants, state aid, and

3) Provision of outstanding public services in the face of a sluggish economy is very challenging, but with planning for future needs and maximizing available funds, this goal is within reach. First and foremost, consideration must be given to the safety of Berea's citizens, followed with opportunities for all ages and abilities as well as safe and available transportation sidewalks and bikeways. Emphasis must be given to energy conservation and alternate energy sources (expanded solar farm), environmental preservation sustainability issues, and support for Berea's growing arts community.

These issues and many others require strong leadership and city officials that work together as a team to solve problems and to plan for short-term and longrange needs.

Question #3: What are your long-term concerns (10 - 15 years in the future) for the City

Balanced budget with healthy surplus; Provision of quality services, infrastructure, and public safety; New reservoir capacity for adequate water supply; City wide storm water drainage system (mandated but refunded); Adequate, wellpaying jobs; Vocational/ technical school in Industrial Park; Support for centralized 911 service; Retirement complex with tiered levels of care; Implementation of the Berea Energy cost. Savings plan (BECS); Study of possible southern bypass (Highway 21-U.S. 25 S.; Traffic flow, parking, and signage; Additional shopping choices - buy local, grow local economy; and attract and cultivate small businesses partnerships, affordable spaces, marketing. Question #4: Regarding the 2014-15 budget, are there line items you would like to see added for funding, or items you would like to see receive more funding? Are there line items you would like to see removed from funding, or receive less funding? The 2014-15 budget is basically "bare bones" and provides for the daily operation of the city, bond payments, equipment, and training. Most special projects are supported by state, federal, or matching funds. Any deep cuts in the budget would necessitate changes in services that would negatively impact Berea citizens. A "big ticket" item on the horizon is the citywide storm water drainage system which has been mandated but unfunded by the federal government. The centralized 911 system is another unknown major expenditure. The drug abuse problems in the area will require additional support in terms of manpower and financial resources. Careful planning and management will insure financial stability. Question #5: How would

economically? Could the City of Berea be more business friendly? Should zoning regulations be changed/loosened/ tightened? Economic development remains at the forefront of major struggles for cities and counties across the U.S. and that includes Berea. Well paying jobs have to be available, otherwise, we lose our young people and they are our future. Continued recruitment of new industries and businesses and the support of existing ones must remain a priority. Commercial and retail development is an urgent need. Support for locally owned businesses and encouragement to "buy local", add another dimension to economic growth. The promotion of the tourism industry as well as ongoing support and expansion of Berea's Arts and Crafts program have a huge impact on Berea's economy.

The business climate in support fair treatment and Berea is positive and supportive. The city has promoted industrial and commercial growth by upgrading lic accommodation, but also infrastructure, providing new job opportunities, and a trained work force.

A new vocational school would add a much-needed component to the total economy. This school is on the City's wish list. The planning and zoning regulations for the safety and protection of the public. Regular inspections assure local and state standards are met. Zoning regulations need to be consistently and fairly enforced in a timely manner to enable contractors/builders/developers to proceed with their projects. Efforts have been made to streamline this process to better serve customers. Berea's adopted land use map and the Comprehensive Plan include goals and objectives for the protection of the environment, energy use reduction, safe and affordable housing, and the attraction of various businesses that produce a wide range of goods and services in an environmentally responsible manner. They function as a guide for Berea's future growth and development.

Question #6: Do you favor legalized alcohol sales in the City of Berea? How extensive?

I am aware that alcohol sales are an identified factor in economic development. I am also aware that The Boone Tavern has been cleared to sell alcohol by the vote of East Berea precinct and Berea College Trustees. However, the question of alcohol sales in the rest of Berea, whether "moist" or "wet", must be decided by local option (on the ballot), not by the local government officials.

I have tried to live my personal and professional life according to that standard. That being said, the lengthy discussion of the "Fairness Ordinance" has generated such division, discord, and polarization in our very special town and has been a distraction that has consumed time and resources that should have been focused elsewhere. Creating another protected class without state or federal laws to support enforcement causes great concern. I question the need for the addition of perceived sexual orientation and gender identity to the existing ordinance. I certainly question the potential liability to the city. on city council and why you are interested in serving in local gov-

I'm running for City Council because I think it's time for more women to be involved in leadership positions in our town, for more "young folks" (as my 37 year-old self has been called) who know what it's like to be raising a family in Berea right now. I am not one of the cabal of well-connected businessmen. I am an ordinary citizen who loves our town and would like to serve our city as we move forward and plan for the future.

I'm proud to call Berea home. I moved from Pennsylvania to Berea in 1995 to attend Berea College, and graduated with an English degree. I married a local, Michael Startzman, and we decided to stay put. I'm delighted that both my sisters' families and my parents have also settled in Berea and the Berea area. I have two boys, Julian and Avery, and they attend

Berea Community School. I worked for several years at Forward in the Fifth, a regional nonprofit that focused on parent leadership and school improvement. In that role, I gained experience working with diverse groups of people, managing budgets, grant writing, and turning policy into action. I now work from home as a designer and author. In this course of work I've learned a lot about online communication, marketing, and long-term project management. I also volunteer my time to work on community projects that relate to food security and sustainability. In the past I led the "chicken ordinance" charge and I'm currently a leader in organizing the East Ridge Community Garden. Making big plans, community organizing, organizational management, and working with local officials are all components of my volunteer work and would serve me well if I were elected to City Council.

Question #2: List the top 3 issues you think the city will face in the next several years, explain why each is significant and actions that city council could take to move those issues forward.

Manage city services/fi-

The main role of City Council is to ensure that city departments provide essential services to residents while passing balanced budgets. This should always be one of the main issues we focus on. City Council members intent on selfaggrandizing or pandering to special interest groups can not do this effectively. I would like to be a part of a City Council that works with department heads to provide services and oversee the budget-making process.

Economic Development;

Creating a culture in our city where creative economic development is championed is an excellent job for the City Council. I think City Council should use the Shuman report (http://bereaky.gov/wpcontent/uploads/2011/09/ Shuman-Final-Report.pdf) as a framework for exploring and developing new economic development goals and strate-

Communication and open-

Berea needs to fully embrace technology and communicate with residents frequently and in different ways. An online presence that is current, responsive, and engaging will not just benefit the tourism sector, but help develop a more informed and active citizenry. City Council should explore investing in additional staff and increased technology resources and training for city Question #3: What are your long-term concerns (10 – 15 years in the future) for the City of It seems that officials have been talking about securing more water supply for our city for years. We need to act on this now before it becomes a bigger issue. Planning for the growth and change to our town that will come with the completion of the bypass and possible additional alcohol sales. Create opportunities and incentives for local youth to stay put- to live, work, and invest in our community. Question #4: Regarding the 2014-15 budget, are there line items you would like to see added for funding, or items you would like to see receive more funding? Are there line items you would like to see removed from funding, or receive less funding?

I don't really think it's the Council's role to be focusing on specific line items in the budget. Micro-managing department heads, or turning down a budget because of a couple line items is counterproductive.

Question #5: How would you like to see Berea develop economically? Could the City of Berea be more business friendly? Should zoning regulations be changed/ loosened/tightened?

I appreciate Mayor Connelly's statements at the Grand Opening of the Arts Accelerator. He stated that project represents a "new paradigm" in how the city views economic development. This was exciting to me, because I feel that is an excellent philosophy: invest in the future by recognizing the unique opportunities and strengths we have already among us, rather than competing with other cities to lure big-business. I think we need to look carefully at our goals as a city. If we want to maintain our unique character and spirit, we need to plan for smart growth, not just growth at any cost. Question #6: Do you favor legalized alcohol sales in the City of Berea? How extensive?

I do favor legalized alcohol sales in the City of Berea. I think at this point, when even nearby smaller cities like Irvine have legalized alcohol sales, we are really missing out on an economic opportunity to limit alcohol sales to just one or two historic landmarks. Question #7: Do you favor a

Fairness Ordinance in the City of I favor the passage of a Fairness Ordinance and believe that passing the ordinance would affirm the values upon which Berea was founded. Question #8: Finish this sentence, "Welcome to Berea, where Welcome to Berea, where to a search of the home. Inside of the residence, they located 13 separate bags of marijuana inside of a larger bag, scales, rolling papers and packing materials. Officers learned that one of the subjects flushed some marijuana before they entered the home. The total weight of the seized marijuana was 14.0 oz. Officers arrested Jacqueline Cain, 32, of Berea, David Lawrence, 20, of Gross Point Farms, V'Sean Mich., and Crump, 21, of Detroit, Mich. All three were charged with trafficking in marijuana over 8 oz, possession of marijuana, and possession of drug paraphernalia. Lawrence was also charged with tampering with physical evidence.

Drug Arrests • On October 24, an officer saw a man and woman who appeared to be in an altercation in a parked vehicle in the parking lot of Family Dollar. After speaking with the man, the officer found out he had an arrest warrant. Inside of the vehicle, officers located a small plastic bag that contained suspected heroin, needles, a burnt spoon, and marijuana. Officers arrested Adam Anglin, 26, of Berea and Sasha Brezezinski, 31, of Crittenden. Both were charged with first degree possession of controlled substance -- heroin, possession of marijuana, and drug paraphernalia.

Skidmore was charged with disorderly conduct and alcohol intoxication in a public place.

Steve Smith Steve Smith Madison County Clerk on November 4

former Madison County Property Valuation Administrator (P.V.A.)

As your County Clerk;

I will place you; our citizens first. I will assist you in vehicle registration and transfer, voter registration, delinquent taxes, deed and mortgage research and recording; to name only a few. I will also address and seek to personally resolve any issue you may have within the County Clerk's Office.

I will treat all employees fairly and as a vital component to assure success of this office and how of great significance they will be to me and the public they will serve as well.

I will ensure to all Automobile, Watercraft and Motorcycle Dealers that all vehicle transfers and registrations will be performed as quickly as possible by adequately staffing the Dealer area to help relieve the burden placed on just a few employees.

I will perform on time all required internal and external audits to comply with State statutes, thereby establishing complete transparency and accountability.

These and many other duties I will perform on your behalf if on November 4th, you will elect me, Steve Smith, as your next Madison County Clerk.

Thank you.
