MICROWAVE FUDGE
3 cups semi-sweet chocolate chips
1 can (14 ounce) condensed milk (not evaporated)
Dash of salt
1 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla
In 1-quart glass measure with handle, combine chips, condensed milk, and salt. Cook on HIGH for 3 minutes or until chips melt, stirring after each 1 and 1/2 minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients. Spread evenly into foil-lined 8- or 9-inch square pan. Chill 2 hours or until firm. Turn fudge onto cutting board; peel off foil and cut into squares. Store loosely covered at room temperature.

PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE
4 cups white sugar
1 cup light brown sugar
1/2 cup butter
1 can (12 ounce) evaporated milk
1 jar (7 ounce) marshmallow crème

1 jar (16 ounce) peanut butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
Grease 9 x 13 pan. In a medium saucepan over medium heat, combine sugar, brown sugar, butter, and milk. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly, and boil for 7 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in marshmallow crème until well incorporated and melted. Stir in peanut butter and vanilla until smooth; spread in pan. Let cool before cutting.

SEAFOAM
2 egg whites, beaten stiff
1 and 1/2 cup light brown sugar
1 and 1/2 cup white sugar
Pinch of salt
1/2 cup white Karo syrup
2/3 cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla
Let egg whites come to room temperature. Beat until stiff peaks form. Set aside.
Combine sugars, salt, syrup and water in saucepan. Place on heat and stir until sugar dissolves. Bring to a boil and cook, without stirring, to hard ball stage. Remove from heat. Pour syrup slowly over stiffly beaten egg whites, beating constantly until all syrup is combined. Add vanilla. Continue beating until candy cools and holds its shape. Drop by teaspoons onto waxed paper. Let sit at room temperature until dry to the touch. Store at room temperature.

#58 Maggie May by Rod Stewart
As I surveyed my own Top 10 songs with girl names, I noticed that one song in particular sort of “jumped off” the page. Most of you already know that I love Ray Charles and his music. He recorded one of my mother’s favorite songs, called Ruby. That was Bee’s real name. So here are the lyrics to one of my favorite girl-titled songs.
*They say, Ruby you’re like a dream
Not always what you seem
And though my heart may break when I awake
Let it be so, I only know
Ruby, it’s you
They say, Ruby you’re like a song
You just don’t know right from wrong
And in your eyes I see heart-aches for me
Right from the start, who stole my heart?
Ruby, it’s you
They say, Ruby you’re like a flame
Into my life you came
And though I should beware, still I just don’t care
You thrill me so, I only know
Ruby it’s you
I hear your voice and I must come to you
I have no choice, so what else can I do?*
Of course, this kind of discussion could go on and on an on. But it would be a fun one to have with anyone from the earlier days of rock and roll. I’ll bet you have been naming songs yourself as you have been reading along. What kind of list could you make? Which were your favorites? If we could all gather together in a room somewhere, you can see that this would be a fun conversation for us old-timers. At least it was for me and my wife!

could tell by the look on her face that she was hoping I’d lost interest. So I told her that I’d give her first shot at it.

“Ohhhhhh Mommy, please, please, please”. The jumping up and down started all over again.

I could tell, by the look on Veronica’s face that my credibility with her had suddenly vanished.

“What on earth would you do with it? You have a perfectly good laptop and a printer at home. You would never even use this old thing.”

“I would take it to school and show it off and have the most awesome show and tell in the history of 4th grade”, Emily exclaimed! “And then I bet my friend, Ike, would buy it back”. She looked up at me hope-fully and I nodded “Yes” and we both looked at Mom.

“How much”, she sighed at the grinning sellers who were shaking their heads with twinkling eyes.

“Oh, just take it on! The entertainment has been worth more than I was going to ask for it” the old gentleman laughed.

That was two weeks ago and I still haven’t heard from Emily and Veronica, but I have a feeling that I will. My only problem is that I don’t have an explanation and argument for Loretta anywhere near as valid as the one that Em had for her mom.

Our Readers Write

Congratulation to “The Rocket” staff...

Dear Editor,

I congratulate the RCHS newspaper The Rocket journalism class for their excellent reporting. I usually pick up the local paper after church on Wednesdays and read until bedtime. This week I started reading The Rocket and did not put it away until I read it all. The school news was so informative, other articles most interesting and especially did I enjoy the biographical sketches. It was great reporting and all of it was news to me even though I am in the building often as a substitute teacher. I’m sure the parents and others appreciate it also.

One thing we do know is that we have one of the best school systems in Kentucky and, acutally, the country. I would be remiss if I did not thank the local paper, The Mt. Vernon Signal and the local radio station, WRVK for the reporting they share of our school system throughout the year. I do thank you.

Rocket staff, keep up the great writing.

Laura Durham

Pastor Appreciation...

With our deepest love and appreciation to our pastor, Bro. Dwayne Carpenter, and his wife, Sister Lisa, for 14 years of dedicated service to our church. Thank you for being there for us and for lifting us up in prayer, rejoicing with us when we are happy, crying with us when we are sad and being a friend to us all. You have been our pastor since Nov. 29, 1998. We love and thank you.
The Congregation of Cupps Chapel Holiness Church

Pastor Appreciation...

We, the members of Trinity Holiness Church, would like to take this opportunity to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to our pastor, Bro. Travis Powell and his wife, Krystal, and son, Evan. Your dedication and direction from God's Word has truly been a tremendous blessing to each and everyone of us. We love you all!!

Pastor Appreciation...

Everyone at Calloway Holiness Church would like to express our great appreciation to our loving pastors who have always stood before their congregation and preached Holiness. They have always been true leaders for us, standing up for what they believe. Their love and compassion for the Lord and for the people is felt through every message they have preached. We, at Calloway Holiness Church, love each one of you and want to say Thank You for all you do for us. To Pastors Elzie Doan, Vernon Doan, Dennis Doan and Deacon Phillip Doan.

Pastor Appreciation...

I want to leave you with a challenge...., I challenge you today... this week..., I challenge you to ..., I encourage you to..., these are words our church at Brodhead Baptist are very familiar with. Bro. Ralph Baker, our pastor, has such a deep, committed, overwhelming love for the lost that our church is truly devoted to witnessing to, praying for and seeking out daily, opportunities to witness to the lost among our families, friends and community. As the shepherd of Brodhead Baptist, he leads and teaches us to be disciples and evangelists to a lost and dying world.

He and Judy, his wife, are so supportive of all our needs. They are helpful, understanding, caring, prayerful, loving and kind. We can always count on them. God has truly smiled on Brodhead Baptist Church and blessed us with this pastor and his wife. Thank God you are in our lives. You are so warmly thought of and appreciated. You give of your time, your energy, yourself and have made God's House a happy, joyful place. What a blessing you both are and we lift you up in prayer.

Love, Brodhead Baptist Church

We, at Brodhead Baptist Church, have been blessed with our Associate and Youth Pastor Justin Padgett. One seed can plant a garden, one smile can lift a spirit, one candle can light a room, one conversation can start a friendship and one person can make a difference. That is you, Justin, and his wife, Ashley, have a spirit of helpfulness that shines through everything they do. By the work you both do, you have gladdened so many lives. We hold you in our hearts. We are so grateful and keep you in our prayers.

Love, Brodhead Baptist Church

Bible Talk

In Rev.17:14 we read, "These shall make war with the Lamb, and the Lamb shall overcome them: for he is Lord of lords, and King of kings: and they that are with him are called, and chosen, and faithful." Today we begin a study about the King of kings - Jesus Christ.

The King Was Prophesied - It was prophesied throughout the Old Testament that this King was to come, Gen.49:10, 2 Sam.7:12-17, Is.9:6, Jer.23:2-6, Dan.2:44 etc. In Zech.6:12-13 "And speak unto him, saying, Thus speaketh the LORD of hosts, saying, Behold the man whose name is The BRANCH; and he shall grow up out of his place, and he shall build the temple of the LORD: Even he shall build the temple of the LORD; and he shall bear the glory, and shall sit and rule upon his throne; and he shall be a priest upon his throne: and the counsel of peace shall be between them both." Specifically note in this text is that Jesus would be "priest upon his throne." If Jesus is not King now, sitting upon his throne now, then he is not priest now! And if he is not priest now, then his work as high priest, which involves redemption, is not in effect now! You can see the consequences of denying his kingdom or reign. Therefore, it is blasphemy to say that Jesus is not ruling in his kingdom now, and to say He will "someday" reign in the "so called" future millennium.

The King Was Born - In Luke 1:26-35 the angel Gabriel speaks to Mary about the child she would have. In vs.32-33 we read, "He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest: and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David: And he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end." Nine months latter in Luke 2:1-20 we see that Jesus was born, "For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." The King was born of the virgin Mary into this world.

The King Was Crucified - After living here on earth for approximately 33 years, spending the last three years in extensive teaching and preaching, the King was crucified. In John 18:1ff we read about Jesus being betrayed and being on trial. Then in John 19:14-19, we read, "And it was the preparation of the Passover, and about the sixth hour: and he saith unto the Jews, Behold your King! But they cried out, Away with him, away with him, crucify him. Pilate saith unto them, Shall I crucify your King? The chief priests answered, We have no king but Caesar. Then delivered he him therefore unto them to be crucified. And they took Jesus, and led him away. And he bearing his cross went forth into a place called the place of a skull, which is called in the Hebrew Golgotha: Where they crucified him, and two others with him, on either side one, and Jesus in the midst. And Pilate wrote a title, and put it on the cross. And the writing was, JESUS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE JEWS." After hanging several hours on the cross, the King was dead! Next month we plan to continue this discussion on The King of kings with these topics. The King Was Raised, The King was Coronated, The King Is Now Reigning and The King is Coming Again.

We invite you to worship with us at the Providence church of Christ. 758-8524

Gregory Special Master Commissioner Rockcastle Circuit Court

Attention Voters!!!

“LEST WE FORGET, LET’S STUDY THE FACTS AND VOTE!”

Congressman Rogers, our long-term Republican Congressman, recently spoke at Corbin High and UKU to urge students to register to vote. I believe the Democratic Party in this area should also have an opportunity to present its views and beliefs. It didn't cost the Republicans to have this opportunity. I am willing to pay for an ad to present the Democratic views. Our people should hear both sides!

I was a 15 year old sophomore when I handed out cards and cheered President Truman's 1948 election victory. Some in our Republican dominated area suspected I must be crazy to be a Democrat.

Fact 1. Dad taught me Christ's words “As ye minister unto the least of these, ye minister unto me.” Dad said, “It's fine if a person becomes rich, but being greedy is a sin! The Democratic Party doesn't favor the rich over the poor. To help the poor is not a weakness. It is an example of love.”

Fact 2. My 29 year old white mother showed courage when I was ten and dad was in the war when she objected to the practice that black persons had to sit in the back of buses and street cars in New Orleans. She let them know how she felt and each time we rode a bus or street car we sat in the back.

Fact 3. President Franklin D. Roosevelt turned on the lights in rural America when he started the Rural Electric Association in 1935. At that time only one in ten rural homes had electricity.

Fact 4. President Roosevelt started the CCC/WPA programs in 1933 and 1935 to train and put people to work in the Great Depression. A CCC camp was located near Cumberland Falls and trainees made enough to feed their families. Schools were built across America including Rockholds, Woodbine, Lynn Camp, Corbin's Edwards Gym, and East Bernstadt. During 1937-39 a total of 169 Kentucky schools and gyms were built. Many trained workers used their skills for lifetime jobs. This is a fact!

Fact 5. Few Americans had pensions when the nation went into the Great Depression. President Roosevelt started the Social Security program to enable working people to invest in a plan with matching funds from their employers to provide retirement income. The Tea Party wants to privatize Social Security and turn it over to Wall Street. This is dangerous and it's a fact!

Fact 6. When President Roosevelt sent dad and others to World War II he rationed gasoline, meat, and sugar. The President's four sons went to war. He asked us to buy savings bonds and raise victory gardens. Mothers and grandmothers canned food, and knitted sweaters for the troops. The kids collected scrap iron and tin foil for the war effort. We all sacrificed. This is a fact!

Fact 7. In World War II the US and our Allies won a war across the globe in forty-four months. We are still in Afghanistan after nearly eleven years. President Bush cut the taxes of the rich when he sent our precious troops to fight, die and be maimed. Our troops have fought bravely and their loved ones have carried the burden of this war! We should never cut taxes of the rich when we go to war! This is a fact!

Fact 8. In 1944 President Roosevelt wanted our returning military at war's end to transition to productive lives of opportunity. Roosevelt created the GI Bill of Rights and President Truman launched it.

Fact 9. When our troops left to fight in Iraq and Afghanistan Cheney's former company, Halliburton received no-bid contracts. “What profiteth a man to gain the whole world and lose his own soul?”

Fact 10. When President Bush took office we enjoyed a budget surplus four prior years. The Clinton Administration helped businesses create twenty million jobs in eight years. Bush turned a surplus into a deficit as we plunged into war with no plan on how to pay for it and no idea how to get out of war. He landed on an aircraft carrier May 3, 2003 proudly declaring, “Mission Accomplished.” This is a fact!

Fact 11. President Bush signed legislation for the Wall Street and Big Bank bailouts in 2008 and now Republicans blame that action on President Obama. Doesn't the truth really matter? This is a fact!

Fact 12. VP Presidential Candidate Paul Ryan blames President Obama for the closing of a GM Plant in Wisconsin. The plant began closing months before Obama was President. This is a fact!

Fact 13. President Bush didn't know Bin Laden moved to Pakistan. Later our forces found him and President Obama ordered Seal Team Six to catch him. Bin Laden's dead and General Motors is alive!

Fact 14. The Republican Party has fought every minimum wage increase. Their philosophy is “Pay low wages, make high profits, and be sure my secretary pays a higher tax rate than I pay!”

Fact 15. When Obama became President Senator Mitch McConnell declared, “Our goal is to make him a one term President.” McConnell's goal should have been to work night and day as a team player to get our people out of the mess he and his party created. Next, we need to retire McConnell! This is a fact!

Fact 16. President Reagan received 18 increases in the debt ceiling in eight year. G.W. Bush received debt ceiling increases 7 times in eight years. This is 25 times in sixteen years by two Republican leaders. President Clinton received increases in the debt ceiling 8 times in eight years, and President Obama 4 times in four years for total of 12 in twelve years. In 2011 when President Obama asked to raise the debt ceiling Republicans filibustered, obstructed, and procrastinated. If the US defaulted on its debt our currency would have weakened and interest rates would have soared. The GOP was ready to bankrupt us the first time in our history and damage our credit rating. This Republican action was consistent with Mitch McConnell's priority to embarrass and make our President fail. This is sad but it is a fact!

Fact 17. The Supreme Court ruling on “Citizens United” gave our election system to Super Pac's. They believe corporations would be restricted in “Freedom of Speech” if not permitted to give unlimited contributions that cannot be traced to the source of this money. The Court was foolish and this is a fact.

Fact 18. A bunch of men shouldn't determine if a woman can make her own decisions about birth control, Planned Parenthood, or choice. Let's reduce abortion with education, birth control, jobs, hope, and reducing unwanted pregnancies. A woman's personal decisions should rest with a woman. Let's don't bring back unsafe back alley coat hanger days! Let's protect women's right!

Fact 19. God created all of us of every color, sex and religious or non-religious preference. He created Gays and Lesbians. We should not bully, demonize, or condemn others because they are different. When men were preparing to stone the adulteress woman Christ said, “Ye without sin cast the first stone.” Based historically on men's lousy treatment of women I bet this was the first time in history a man defended an adulteress woman. It took Christ to do it! Christ said “We should love our neighbors as ourselves. “God will be the judge of all of us! We don't have to agree but let's look at the facts and not swallow the damnation of hate. “LEST WE FORGET” Let's all vote November 6!

Bob Terrell Corbin, Kentucky bobterrell@corbinkentucky.us. Give me your opinion.
* The words “LEST WE FORGET” are from a Rudyard Kipling Poem “RECESSIONAL,” written in 1897. Thanks to Rev. Bob Lockhart for his suggestion of this title.

payment on the sidewalk repair and also gave him a $750 check for the cost of the materials for the porch roof and chimney repair.

On October 2nd, Sizemore had only trimmed some of the shrubs but he had not performed any of the work on the roofing or sidewalk repair projects. However, Sizemore again approached Allen wanting more money for roofing materials. Allen told officers that Sizemore came up with his figures and told her the roofing materials would cost at least three to five thousand dollars.

Sizemore told Allen he wanted two checks, one made out for $2,000 which was for the labor and another for $3,000 for the materials. Allen told officers that Sizemore would not give a specific reason why he wanted the money in two checks. Allen agreed to give Sizemore two checks for $2,500 each.

On October 3rd, Sizemore approached Allen and told her he hadn't figured the turbine vents and flashing into his material costs and that he needed more money to purchase them. Allen told Sizemore that she had not seen any of the itemized bills for the purchase of the materials. Sizemore told Allen that he had all of them and she agreed to give him a $1,237 check for the purchase of nine turbine vents and flashing.

On October 4th, Sizemore approached Allen once more saying he needed more 2x6 lumber boards and plywood which totaled $184 and that he also needed the $2,200 that was owed to him for labor. Allen told Sizemore that she was not giving him any more money until the bills were presented to her and all the work was completed. Allen eventually agreed to give Sizemore a $2,384 check for the labor and materials.

On October 7th, Sizemore came to Allen's residence and told her that he wanted to check up on her after hearing she was sick. Sizemore then came into Allen's residence uninvited and asked to use her bathroom. Allen told officers that Sizemore stayed in the bathroom for a few minutes before coming back out.

Later that night, Allen said she was taking her medications and noticed three bottles missing from her bathroom medicine cabinet. Allen told officers that two bottles were Chlorazapate and the other was hydrocodone.

As of October 16th, Sizemore hadn't returned to Allen's residence to complete any of the repairs that he was paid to do.

Sizemore was charged with theft of a controlled substance and theft by deception of $10,000 or more. He remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $10,000 cash/property bond.

Local police believe Sizemore may have been approaching other people throughout the county to perform handyman work. They ask if you had work done by Sizemore or have incomplete work still not completed by him to call the Mt. Vernon Police Department at 606-256-2121.

Officers made a traffic stop on the Dodge truck on I-75 in Mt. Vernon after observing Pendery riding in the passenger seat.

Upon receiving consent to search the vehicle, officers found multiple items that were reported stolen from the residence on Poplar Street, including a .22 caliber pistol, Revolution shotgun, flat screen TV and approximately $100 in change.

Pendery was charged with possession of a firearm by a convicted felon, possession of a handgun by a convicted felon, two counts of theft by unlawful taking and burglary, first degree.

The driver of the Dodge truck, Andrew Willard Thomas, 22, of Orlando was also arrested for possession of a firearm by a convicted felon and possession of a handgun by a convicted felon.

Both Pendery and Thomas remain lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $10,000 cash/property bond.

he worked for the owners of the apartments and that the owners gave him permission to take the copper.

When officers contacted the owners they told officers that Didonato worked for them but that he had not been given permission to take the copper pipes.

Upon further investigation, officers discovered several other copper piping inside Didonato's van.

Didonato was charged with theft by unlawful taking and was lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center where he was later released on a $5,000 unsecured bond.

healthcare availability. This facility will be nicer than can be found anywhere else and one which our community will be proud of,” Dr. Saylor said.

Features of the nearly 17,000 square foot building, which will be located on High Street behind the Medical Arts Building, will include: 36 state-of-the art patient exam rooms, sick and well patient waiting areas, private patient registration areas, consultation area for dietitians and pharmacists and a children’s play area. The modern, stream-lined design will provide better patient flow and improve patient wait times.

Rockcastle Regional Hospital administration is working with developer D.W. Wilburn and architects Jeff Kolpek and Garlan Van Hook on innovative approaches for the design. Contractors should be on-site, weather permitting, in the next couple weeks and construction is scheduled to begin December 1, 2012.

Rockcastle Family

Wellness provides healthcare services to a large patient population from Rockcastle County and around the region (37,000 patient visits in the past year). The growing clinic currently employs 47 people with plans for multiple positions to be filled. The new building will provide health career opportunities for nurses, physicians, physician assistants, nurse practitioners and clerical staff.

“Rockcastle County has always produced the talent to maintain an exceptional healthcare workforce,” said Stephen A. Estes, president and CEO of Rockcastle Regional Hospital. “It’s been our responsibility as stewards of the local healthcare system to support and recruit that talent back into the community. It’s also our job to make sure they have the very best facilities in which to practice. This new facility is a reflection of that ongoing commitment.”

Additionally, the new building is a response to the demand for increasing specialty care for adults and children in the region. The current office for Rockcastle Family Wellness in the Medical Arts Building will be utilized to increase and enhance specialty clinics from UK HealthCare and other providers. Clinics such as pediatric nephrology, cardiology, gynecology, oncology, pediatric surgery, and more, increase access and decrease travel time for the citizens of Rockcastle County and surrounding communities.

Clinic Director Brandy Bullock said, “Providing safe, efficient care is the main concern at Rockcastle Family Wellness. It is an established rural health clinic and financial barriers should not hinder someone from seeking preventive care or medical treatment. For those patients who meet certain financial eligibility criteria, a discounted/sliding fee scale is available.”

The $3.2 million expansion is another chapter in the success of Rockcastle Regional Hospital. Since 1956, the campus has grown to employ six hundred people (most from Rockcastle County) and includes a nationally-recognized Respiratory Care Center, a six-time Kentucky Hospital Association Quality Award winning hospital, and a state-of-the-art Wellness Center for the community in the Outpatient Services Building.

conditions that she would not contact Owens or any of his family.

After posting bond, Albright attempted to file an EPO against Owens and made allegations that Owens continues to stalk, harass and threaten her. Albright’s EPO was denied by the Family Court Judge who said Albright was stating events which happened in 1997. However, Albright said Owens was threatening her through telephone conversations while she was incarcerated at the Rockcastle County Detention Center.

Officers also noticed Albright had a pattern of attempting to file EPO’s against Owens. Since April 2009, Albright filed three different EPO’s against Owens which have all been denied by the Family Court Judge.

Owens said he was working in Frankfort last week and had no contact whatsoever with Albright and also said he has never had any contact with her in the past as well. Owens said he wanted to be left alone by Albright and be able to live and work in peace.

Due to Albright attempting to file another EPO against Owens, she was arrested again last Thursday and charged with two counts of criminal coercion, two counts of retaliating against a participant in the legal process, stalking first degree and perjury first degree.

Albright was lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center where she was released Monday on a $7,500 unsecured bond.

While incarcerated at the Rockcastle County Detention Center last Thursday, Albright reportedly made two recorded calls to her mother complaining about Owens and making threats against him.

In connection with the Albright/Owens case, Jonathan Wayne Bates, 20, of Berea was arrested Sunday for retaliating against a participant in the legal process. He was lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center where he was later released on a $7,500 cash/property bond.

According to State Police reports, some of Bates family contacted officers after Bates told them he was “going to burn Lave Owens out and that he was going to get even with him.” The family told officers that Bates had also previously threatened to kill Owens.

The family also told officers that Bates said he was going to do this because Owens had put Albright in jail. They said that Bates and Albright were acquaintances and that they had met at a car wash in Mt. Vernon.

Upon further investigation, Albright stated, through recorded telephone calls while incarcerated at the Rockcastle County Detention Center, that Bates wanted to marry her but that she wasn’t going to do that.

Bates preliminary hearing is November 7th at 9 a.m. in the Rockcastle County District Court. Albright’s preliminary hearing is November 14th in the Rockcastle County District Court.

Rockets lose to Montgomery 18-7

By: Doug Ponder

The Rockcastle County Rockets finished the regular season with a 2-8 record after an 18-7 loss to the Montgomery County Indians last Friday night.

Turnovers on offense proved to be the deciding factor in the Rocket's loss as they punted the ball four times, threw one interception and only converted two out of their six fourth down attempts.

Montgomery County was first to get on the board with a 44 yard touchdown run by tailback Blake Preston. The extra point attempt was no good giving the Indians a 6-0 lead early in the first quarter.

The Indians scored again on their next possession with a 52 yard touchdown pass from quarterback Matt Tuttle to receiver Lance Lockridge. The two point conversion was no good making the score 12-0.

But the Rockets struck back on their next offensive possession with a 37 yard touchdown run by sophomore tailback Chance Ansardi. The extra point by junior kicker John Hughes was good, cutting the Indians lead to 12-7 in the final seconds of the first quarter.

The second and third quarters proved to be defensive battles between the two teams as neither offense put any points on the board.

The Indians would put the game away in the fourth quarter with a 7 yard touchdown by running back Uvea Moala. The extra point attempt was no good making the final score 18-7.

The Rocket offense was led by Ansardi with 14 carries for 85 yards and one touchdown. Junior tailback Jacob Bussell rushed for 84 yards on twenty-two carries and sophomore running back Isaiah Adams rushed 21 yards on three carries.

Junior quarterback Corey McPhetridge was 13 out of 28 passing for 98 yards with one interception.

Junior wide receiver Tyler Harper led the receiving corps, catching five passes for 32 yards.

Other Rockets making receptions were senior Eli Haddix with four for 26 yards, junior Brandon Jones with two for 23 yards and senior Boone Saylor with two for 17 yards.

Defensively the Rockets were led by senior Chris Wren who had ten tackles as well as one sack. Ansardi also had a big night defensively with a total of six tackles and one sack.

Other Rockets picking up tackles and assists were Bussell with eight, Tyler Smith with three as well as one sack and Haddix, John Hughes and Jared Lake with two each. Jones, McPhetridge, Saylor, Adams, Koty Bengé, Austin Spoonamore and Jeremiah Brown were all credited with one tackle each.

Head Coach Scott Parkey said his team had plenty of opportunities to put more points on the board throughout the game but that they failed to capitalize on them.

"The last 4th and 2 in the fourth quarter where their defense stopped us was huge," Parkey said. "We had other opportunities to score throughout the game as well but that one was huge as time was running out in the game."

Parkey said he couldn't have been more proud of his team for the way they kept fighting and never gave up throughout the game.

"I was so proud of how our team played and how they never gave up during the game," Parkey said. "I am especially proud of our seniors as they have been huge inspirations for the team throughout the year."

The Rockets will travel to Lexington Catholic High School this Friday night for the first round of the state playoffs where they will take on the very tough Lexington Catholic Knights. Kick-off is at 7:30.

The Knights are 8-2 on the season with their only losses coming from the Bowling Green Purples and the Ensforth Tigers of Nashville, Tennessee. Both teams had a perfect record on the season and are ranked in the top 100 high school football teams in the nation.

Parkey said the Knights are a very good team but that they've had more difficulty matching up to teams like the Rockets.

"They rely on their speed and quickness rather than the aggressive and physical style we play," Parkey said. "We will be ready for the challenge and the boys are excited for a chance to knock off a number one seed in the playoffs."

Cox, Cain and Patel place in Top 10

RCHS girls' cross-country team wins Sophomore State Championship

The RCHS girls' cross-country team continued their success this season with a great team performance at the Meet of Champions held at Masterson Station Park in Lexington. The meet serves as the elementary and middle school state championships, as well as the high school state championship for each individual grade level. More than 4,500 runners participated in the event which has become the largest single day competition of any sport in Kentucky in terms of number of competitors.

The RCHS girls' varsity team won the sophomore state title with an exceptional overall team performance. Three RCHS competitors placed in the top ten in the race. After leading RCHS in nearly every race this season, Alyssa Cox led the way for RCHS once again with an outstanding season's best performance. Alyssa finished an awesome race in 3rd place and covered the 3.1-mile course in a blistering time of 21:23.5, a season's best time. Rachel Cain, coming off a season's best performance of 22:48 at Woodford County a week ago, placed 8th overall with an exceptional time of 23:10.8. Rakhi Patel ran very well and finished 10th overall with a great time of 23:45.9. Rakhi ran her season's best time of 23:20 last weekend at Woodford County. Tanika Chasteen came through with a 19th place finish and a new career personal best time of 24:40.7. Samantha Bustle also had a great race and place 21st overall with a season's best time of 24:45.7. Last year at the Meet of Champions, the team nearly won the freshman state title, placing second overall.

Bryonna Cromer had an awesome performance in the senior race for RCHS. Bryonna placed 7th overall with a new season's best time of 22:23. Bryonna has had a very consistent season so far in her final campaign as a Lady Rocket cross-country runner.

8th graders Sierra Mercer and Lanna Prewitt ran in the 2.4-mile middle school state championship race for RCMS. Sierra ran a great race and placed 91st overall out of 357 total female runners. Sierra's exceptional time of 17:44 was a career personal best in the event. Lanna also ran very well and placed 220th overall with a season's best time of 19:48.5.

Gobble Go Go 5K is November 15th

Recreational road races around the Thanksgiving holiday have become a tradition in recent years, and Rockcastle County now has joined the list.

The first Gobble Go Go 5K will be held at Renfro Valley Nov. 17 at 8 a.m. It's the 11th of 12 races in the 2012 County-wide Stride race series, organized by Rockcastle Regional Hospital to spur the community to increased physical activity.

The event is open to runners and walkers of all skills levels. Participants will begin in the parking lot of Renfro Valley Entertainment Center and take Hummel Road half the distance (5K is approximately 3.1 miles) before turning back.

Participants will get free t-shirts (It is recommended that you pre-register to guarantee your shirt. Shirts are available on race day while supplies last.) Pre-registration cost is $15 by Nov. 13. Or you may register on race day at 7:15 a.m. for $20. Proceeds benefit local elementary girls' running program.

Overall male and female winners will be awarded, and the first three finishers in each age division will get medals. Awards will also be given to the fastest male and female walker. To pre-register or to get more information, go to rockcastlelregional.org/countywidestride or call Susan Turley at 256-7746.

“Track”

In the girls' 4th grade and under state championship 1.2-mile race, 3rd graders Karalinn Loudermilk and Kylie Martin both ran exceptional races. Karalinn broke into the top 100 with an amazing career personal best 2,000-meter time of 9:51.5. She placed 96th overall out of 231 competitors. Kylie also had an awesome performance, finishing 127th overall in 10:17.3. Both Karalinn and Kylie, along with Autumn, represent the future of RCHS cross-country with an abundance of talent and great work ethic to go along with it. Rockcastle was also missing a few 6th grade and under competitors that participated in several meets this season but were unable to compete at state.

With the elementary and middle school season having concluded, the varsity cross-country team will continue to prepare for the high school regional championships this coming weekend in Pineville. The girls' team is currently ranked first in Class 2A Region 5 and has been in the top spot the entire season to this point. Five RCHS girls are ranked in the top twenty in the region. With strong 6th and 7th runners, RCHS has a great chance to win the regional title this Saturday hosted by Bell County High School. Bell County is noted for having one of the toughest courses in the state, comprised mostly of long, steep hills within the mountains of Pineville. The girl's team won the Bell County Bobcat Invitational in early October, giving them an idea of what's in store for this weekend's regional championship meet. The girls' team is seeking its 6th regional cross-country title after having finished as regional runners-up the past two seasons.

Rockcastle 5th grader Autumn Courtney led the way for Rockcastle in the 6th grade and under state championship race. Autumn placed 143rd out of 340 runners and just missed her personal best time.

RCMS 8th grader Lanna Prewitt placed 220th out of 357 competitors in the middle school state championship race this past Saturday. Lanna's time was a season's best for a 2.4-mile course.

RCMS 8th grader Sierra Mercer ran in the middle school state championship race and placed 91st overall out of 357 competitors. Sierra's time was a career personal best for 4,000 meters.

Bengal Logan Brown is shown running the ball against the Wildcats during the 3rd and 4th grade championship game last Saturday. Brown scored two touchdowns in the Bengals 12-0 win over the Wildcats. Also shown is Bengal Nate Allen.

Bengal Kaden Kidwell attempts to bring down Wildcat Rily Smith in the Bengal's 12-0 win over the Wildcats Saturday during the 3rd and 4th grade championship game.

Wildcat Cameron Wright runs for yardage as Bengal Nicholas Chasteen tracks him down during the 3rd and 4th grade championship game. The Bengals finished the season undefeated.

Songs With Girls' Names In The Title

When Kathy and I were returning from the Smokey Mountain National Park, one of us asked the question, "Wonder how many rock and roll songs have a girl's name in the title?" The reason the subject came up was because we were listening to the 50's channel on my Sirius Radio, and several of the songs named certain girls in the early days of rock music. So to kill some time and to entertain ourselves, we took out a pad and began to list as many songs with this distinction as we could remember.

The list began with such Top 40 Hits as Runaround Sue, Cathy's Clown, Peggy Sue, and other songs that we could both name and even sing along with on the radio.

It took us several hours to get back to Stanton, so our list grew with each mile that we were logging onto the odometer. Our game began in Tennessee, and by the time we were pulling into our driveway, the list had grown to include at least 30 hits from the 50's, 60's, and 70's. We knew that there were countless more and we could not imagine how many there must be. But we had exhausted our mind and could only recount 30 songs.

The next day I decided to get on the internet and find out the particulars about songs that fit into this category. Surprisingly, the list grew into 584 songs with girls' names in the title. I have to admit that some of the songs on the list were ones that we had never heard of or even recognized.

Seeing this list gave me the idea to select a few and include them in a column for the Signal. So here are the Ten Songs that I would choose as my favorites of that genre (listed by year):

- Peggy Sue by Buddy Holly – 1957 (Reached #3 on Billboard Charts)
- Wake Up Little Susie by The Everly Brothers – 1957 (#1 Billboard)
- Cathy's Clown by The Everly Brothers – 1960 (#1 Billboard)
- Ruby by Ray Charles – 1960 (#28 Billboard)
- Hello Mary Lou by Ricky Nelson – 1961 (#9 Billboard)
- Runaround Sue by Dion – 1961 (#1 Billboard)
- Leah by Roy Orbison – 1962 (#33 Billboard)
- Cherry Cherry by Neil Diamond – 1966 (#6 Billboard)
- Mustang Sally by Wilson Pickett – 1967 (#6 Billboard)
- Layla by Eric Clapton – 1972 (#27 on Rolling Stone Magazine's Top 500 of all time)

As I continued to research several lists of rock songs containing girl names, I ran across the Top 100 Songs of 1962 – of particular interest to me since that was the year that I graduated from Mt. Vernon High School. Listed below are the "girl" songs from that year and the position of each on the chart.

- #5 Sherry by the Four Seasons
- #21 Sheila by Tommy Roe
- #38 Ruby Baby by Dion
- #92 Little Diane by Dion
- I also found the Top 100 Songs by Rolling Stone Magazine, and the position of those "girl songs":
- #9 Billie Jean by Michael Jackson
- #25 Layla by Eric Clapton
- #32 Long Tall Sally by Little Richard
- #39 Maybellene by Chuck Berry
- #54 Proud Mary by Creedence Clearwater Re-

The Roots of Rockcastle

by: Tonya J. Cook

"The Little Rock School Along the Old Brodhead Road"

Along the Old Brodhead Road, where it converges with the Purrigsby Road, there is a small, almost forgotten structure that stands as a silent monument to the opening of young minds and the joy of youth. This structure is the Little Rock Schoolhouse.

Along an already historic road in the county is the Little Rock School. It was a two-room structure located on the old Lewis Renner farm. The two rooms were used as classrooms, but in inclement weather, one room was used as a playroom for the students.

The school wasn't endowed with the luxury that would be expected in the structures of today. There wasn't any air-conditioning, and in cold weather the school was heated by a large pot-bellied stove in the middle of the room. The older boys were to gather kindling to start the fire. Coal and wood both were used. Water was drawn from a nearby spring and kept in a bucket with a dipper. There were two outhouses, one for the boys and one for the girls.

There was a cloakroom, used for storing the coats and lunch buckets if the students brought their lunch. There was a little building in front of the school that was used as the kitchen. The cook for the school was Mae Burton-Smith-Barron, mother of Lavada Smith-Burton, the narrator of this piece of oral history.

The school had a concrete porch and steps. There was a large mound of concrete in the schoolyard, perhaps left over from the pouring of the porch and steps. The children put it to use by centering a board across it and used it for a seesaw. Having no other playground equipment, they played "Skip-to-My-Lou", "tag", and "hide-and-go-seek".

The first-graders gathered at a round table and were taught there. The other students sat at desks. Some of the teachers were Sally Hale, Aslee Bray, and Martha Barnett.

In the winter, on snowy days, school remained in session. The students walked from all over the community. Some walked along an old dirt and gravel road that was in use even before the "Old" Brodhead Road. Some of the children from poorer families came with inadequate clothing and shoes for the weather.

From time to time, the children had a unique experience: they watched fox hunts from the classroom's windows. There was a Fox Hound Association that met locally and hunted foxes in the area. It was the typical fox hunt with all of the trapings you would see in England. There were horses, riders, dogs, the sounding of the horns, and of course, foxes. Some of the locals even participated: Clyde Barnett, Clyde Linville, and Fred Hayes.

This is where we will pause for this portion of the oral history about the Little Rock School and will conclude next week.

Thanks to volunteers for Pride Spring Cleanup

By: James Renner, Rockcastle County Solid Waste Coordinator

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the groups and volunteers that participated in the 2012 Pride Spring Cleanup. Once again, we had a very successful Spring Cleanup!

Due to a computer malfunction I have lost all photographs from the 2012 Spring Cleanup.

There were a total of 944 volunteers (including inmate labor) that worked a total of 1518.5 hours to clean up 2177 bags of trash, and 318 tires and 1 gas tank over a span of 72.37 miles along 74 different stretches of roadside. These numbers do not include the totals from The City of Mt. Vernon and The City of Livingston.

Congratulations on an outstanding Spring Cleanup!!!!

The following groups and individuals participated: (Loyola University); (University of Notre Dame); (Brindle Ridge Baptist Church), Mike Sowder, Judy Sowder, Billy Cameron, Darlene Cameron, Marian Coffey, Kyle Childress, Melanie Childress, Marilyn Coffey;

I was at a yard sale on the last warm Saturday we had in October when a little girl who was maybe 8 or 9 years old walked up beside to stare, intently, as I played around with the device I was seriously considering.

I had rolled a sheet of paper into the old, manual, Royal typewriter and I was in the process of hitting every key, one at a time but I was having trouble with capital letters because my left arm still has issues about doing what I want it to do. So I turned to the kid and asked her if she'd mind helping me out for minute.

She was more than ready to help me out. If you've ever seen a child totally fascinated by what's going on and how and why something works, then you can draw a mental picture of the enthusiasm this one had for jumping right in.

"See this key right here? I need you to hold it down for me because it won't lock like it's supposed to and I can't use both hands", I told her. She was so obsessed with the typewriter that she didn't even ask what was wrong with my arm.

I started running through all the keys to produce the letters and symbols that the shift key produces and got to the end of a line. Then I showed her how to grab the carriage arm and swing it back and then how to roll the paper up a couple of spaces. She was literally bouncing up and down and after every maneuver she was saying "Wow!" Or, "Awesome!" "Cool!" Or some such variation of excitement.

By this time we'd drawn an audience including her mom, the elderly couple running the sale and several customers. We had introduced ourselves "My name is Emily but you can call me Em." I had explained that the "thing" was called a typewriter and that before computers came along it was all we old folks had to write with and that, "Nope, you can't send email with it", a question and answer which drew loud guffaws from our audience.

Em asked if she could take it for a spin and I was not at all surprised to find out that the key locations were very familiar territory to her nor that she wanted to know why they were so hard to press and why they had to go down so far. I was only mildly surprised when we jerked the hood off the machine and Em began discovering, understanding and even explaining how it worked, mechanically.

"Very smart kid you have here", I told her mom (Veronica) who proudly beamed and agreed that "Emily catches on to stuff pretty fast." Mom had previously figured out that I was that "guy who writes for The Richmond Register" and, for whatever reason that seemed to give the praise I had for her daughter a bit more credibility.

Em then tugged on my bad arm to get my attention "So are you gonna buy it" she wanted to know and I

In Loving Memory

who would have been 91 on November 9, 2012

To the many friends, neighbors, former clients, fishing and hunting buddies, even relatives whom we inadvertently failed to notify of his recent death (September 18), who have since contacted us to express such heart-warming condolences, we have penned these special words of acknowledgment, as well as to the vast number who came to be with us or shared our grief in so many other endearing ways. To each and everyone, we thank you.

Though hearts are still heavy

You've made our load lighter;

Because of your caring

Today's a bit brighter.

Just knowing you're there

We can face each tomorrow

With more faith in God

And a little less sorrow.

More teardrops will fall

But we won't despair

For Heaven's much dearer

Since Ivan is there.

Sadly missed by his loving wife, Christine, children, Barbara, Dan and Dale, grandchildren, great grandchildren, brother, sister, nieces, nephews, cousins and friends.

An encouraging word:

That's Life

By Howard Coop

The morning dawned bright and beautiful. There was not a cloud in the sky, and birds were singing joyfully everywhere. In that idyllic moment, everything seemed just right. From my perspective, it looked like the beginning of a perfect day.

As the morning hours passed, the day appeared to get even prettier. Then, by early afternoon, there was a little change. A few white, fluffy clouds began to develop, and they floated overhead, just enough to add more beauty and a little contrast to the blue sky.

After a bit, I took note of the fact that another change was occurring. It began to look a little darker than usual, and the darkness seemed to increase by the moment. The sun had gone behind one of the fluffy clouds, a little larger and a little darker than the other ones. The day, for a little while, did not look nearly as bright and beautiful as it had looked earlier. By the end of the day, things changed more dramatically. Dark and threatening clouds lowered in the sky.

That's life, isn't it? For a while, things go along exceedingly well, and troubles appear to be nowhere near. We are somewhat like the little silk-weaver in Robert Browning's drama, PIPPA PASSES. We trip through the beautiful morning with a happy song on our lips and a cheerful feeling in our hearts that “God's in his heaven---All's right with the world.” Then, when we least expect it, things change. Reality hits hard, and troubles, for which we are unprepared, develop.

A few years ago while Kathryn was still able to move about with a walker, we went to the Kentucky Depot for our evening meal. At the entrance, Kathryn's muscles gave way, and she fell at the feet of a man we had never seen. Almost as soon as she hit the floor, his strong arms lifted her to her feet.

When troubles come---and they surely will, we are not alone. Friends, and even strangers, are there to help. And they will.

Dora Vance of Laurel County is a big fan of the Jackson Energy Prepay Program.

"Coming up with a little each week is so much easier for me than one big lump sum at the end of the month...I have paid as little as $15 and as much as $150 at a time on my balance. I know for sure I'm lowering my bill by using less electricity, and now I have so much more flexibility on how much to pay and when. Prepay has definitely been a godsend for me!"

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...

What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology
of dry foam?

Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.

Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?

A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150* degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.

The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufactures recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.

Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?

C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.

D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-
Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.

E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.

The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.

Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

Early burial customs of Southeastern Kentucky

By David Owens

Throughout time mankind has developed morays and folkways in dealing with death. The early settlers of Southeastern Kentucky buried their dead in cemeteries in keeping with European Christian customs. The word cemetery derives from the Greek word Koimeterion meaning "sleeping place." The intent of this article is to examine early burial customs of South Eastern Kentucky accompanied with visual data of tombstone artwork from cemeteries located in Rockcastle County. Whenever you enter an old local cemetery, take time to do more than just look around; observe the symbolism displayed. In a strange way cemeteries are the best local history books in the community.

Cemeteries reflect the beliefs and customs of the lives of the people buried there. Early settlers of what is now Rockcastle County were largely of English and German heritage with Presbyterian and Lutheran Christian beliefs. Whenever you enter a pioneer burial ground in South Eastern Kentucky, you will see the European symbolism these early settlers brought with them from their old countries.

The Scotch-Irish settlers had elements of Druid customs absorbed into their Christian practices. Many of the older cemeteries here still bear that testimony. So the next time you enter a pioneer cemetery take a compass with you and try to find the center of the burial ground. Look at all four directions, due east, west, north, and south. Do not be surprised to see four old large white oak trees.

The white oak trees (believed by pioneers to be the biblical tree of life) were planted in the four directional corners of a consecrated burial ground in the belief they kept out evil spirits. Also you often find children's graves under the trees branches. You will also notice using your compass that all the foot stones are facing to the east. This is from the belief that Christ will appear in the eastern sky on the day of Resurrection and the dead will rise to meet him. (Matthew 24: 27)

Actually the very practice of burying the dead is an act of symbolic religious beliefs. Many of the ancient world cultures (Greeks, Romans, Vikings, Persians, etc) practiced cremation or burning of the body to release the person's spirit. The early Christians opposed cremation based on their belief of the resurrection of the dead.

The early pioneers believed the grave was a powerful sign of loss; but it also was sacred, consecrated by Christ, who himself is believed to have lain in a tomb. Many of the early pioneer graves are marked with a simple flat headstone and footstone; but the older carved or cut stones with the person's name and dates often display Christian symbols.

The next time you go to an old cemetery notice the artwork carved on the tombstones. Some of the images you will see are: an Angel-guide to heaven, a sleeping child-a child of God waiting for the resurrection, sheep perched on alter-Lamb of God, lamb-marks a child's grave, a wreath-victory over death, an anvil-creation, arch- passage to heaven, a book- the bible or book of life, hand pointing up-ascended to heaven, an anchor-hope and stead fastness, urn draped-indicates mourning, bird flying-flight of the soul to God, two hands shaking-Saint Peter's welcome to heaven and fare well to the living on earth.

Some other symbols you may see are: a tied knot-long happy marriage, tree trunk broken-premature death, Northern Star-the sign of freedom indicates a former slave, Eastern Star-women's auxiliary of Freemasons, obelisk-18th century Egyptian revival, D.A.R. symbol-Daughters of the American Revolution, indicates Revolutionary War soldier, G.A.R. symbol-Grand Army of the Republic, indicates a Union Civil War soldier, Southern Cross-Confederate soldier, Masonic symbol-indicates deceased belonged to a local Masonic lodge.

The very earliest settlers where not buried in a cemetery because the settlers were so few in number and spread out that community churches had not formed. They were often buried in shallow family graves marked with a simple cross made of small tree branches with only a blanket as a shroud because shovels to dig with and saws to cut planks and nails to construct coffins were items few settlers had.

They were usually buried on a mountain top, hill or knoll close to the family's cabin. The early settlers believe the deceased would be closer to heaven based on biblical scripture such as Jesus ascended into heaven from the summit of the Mount of Olives. These early graves were covered with rocks or one large rock slab to prevent scavenging of the body by carnivore animals such as bears and wolves.

Later as more pioneers settled in communities and churches formed, a plot of land near the church was set apart for a place of burial and consecrated by religious ceremony. Part of the consecration ceremony was to establish borders of the burial ground. The borders were in a true square to represent the Tabernacle of God. In Europe stone walls were often used, but in the early South Eastern Kentucky settlements split rail fences were common. In the four corners of the fence or wall would be planted young white oak trees and a weeping willow sapling in the center.

Author's note: Over time the original true square borders of many old cemeteries were lost when modern burials were added.

In the days before professional funeral home service the deceased body would be washed and dressed in Sunday Church clothes. Coins were placed on the eye lids so the eyes would stay shut. The body was put in a simple wooden coffin and placed inside the deceased person's home for visitation. Most often the largest room, were the living viewed the dead-hence the word, "Living Room." Neighbors would often "set-up" with the family all night and the body was transported the following morning by a wagon and mule to the church. There was no embalming of the bodies in America until the coming of the Civil War, when bodies were embalmed to send home for burial.

At the local church a wake was held, the coffin was covered with a white pall cloth. The pall cloth connects symbolically to the person's baptism and the persons carrying the coffin were called pall bearers. There would be singing of psalms and scripture read. The body would then be taken to the cemetery for burial. The early graves were dug seven feet deep and three foot wide to represent the Seven Churches of the book of Revelation and the Holy Trinity of God.

In many of the early church cemeteries above ground rectangular crypts, usually covered with a flat or coffin shaped capstone were used. It appears that these stately and more expensive types of construction were reserved for the initiating burials of family patriarchs. Such above ground crypts are often marked on their surface with the name of the deceased, birth and death dates, and occasionally an epitaph.

Many of these above ground crypts are the earliest dated burials in a cemetry. As pioneers became less steeped in European traditions and education these above ground crypts were used less. This led to unmarked head and foot stones. These unmarked graves indicate an erosion of literacy on the frontier. Those earlier stones that are marked are characterized by grammatical and spelling errors that attest to a lessening of emphasis on literacy.

Epitaph recorded on many early graves in Rockcastle County: Stranger stop and cast an eye, As you are now, so once was I, As I am now, so you will be, Prepare for death, and eternity

Bird: Peace, messenger of God. Most commonly a dove.

Grave Capstone: Large flat stones placed directly on top of grave to deter large animals from digging up bodies.

Lamb: Lamb of God. Innocence. Usually marks a child's grave.

Photos by Janetta McLemore Begley

Hand Pointing Up: Pathway to Heaven.

Lily of the Valley: Purity, innocence, virginity.

Tree Stump: Life Cut Short.

County Clerk requests KSP to investigate missing funds

By: Doug Ponder
County Clerk Danetta Allen recently asked state police to investigate after an audit found almost $4,000 in missing funds. According to Kentucky State Auditor Adam Edelen's office, a 2011 financial audit of the County Clerk's office showed $3,926 in un deposited receipts for chattel mortgages. The chattel mortgage account consists of mortgages on items such as cars and tractors. During the audit, field

School district's rank is 46th under new testing system

Due to major changes in the state testing system, the scores of Rockcastle County Schools for the 2011-2012 school year look a lot different from those in previous years. In the past, most schools' scores were near or above 100 on a 140 point scale. Under the new system, last year's scores range from 49.3 to 63 on a 100 point scale and have percentile rankings within the state between 21 and 72. The scores of individual students may also appear to be much lower in certain areas; for example, a student who scored proficient in reading in the previous testing system may now possibly have a score of apprentice. This drop is due to the implementation of a more rigorous assessment system which is based on new national language arts and math standards and includes a focus on achievement, college and career readiness, growth in reading and math from one year to the next, increasing the graduation rate, and 100% proficiency for all students. As a result of the imple-

Several items of interest were on the agenda for Monday's regular meeting of the Rockcastle County Industrial Authority (RCIDA), including a discussion about a $1.360 million interest-free loan from Jackson Energy. Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue and Brindle Ridge Fire Department responded to a single car accident Monday afternoon on Himanns Fork Road in Rockcastle County. Authorities say Travis Jackson and Lillian Corbin of Jackson County were traveling south on Himanns Fork Road when their car dropped off the right shoulder of the road. Jackson reportedly overcorrected, causing the vehicle to flip down an embankment. Corbin refused medical treatment at the scene and Jackson was transported by ambulance to the Rockcastle Regional Hospital and then airlifted to the UK Medical Center where he was treated for non-life threatening injuries and later released. Alcohol is suspected to be a factor in the accident.

Memories Are Made Of This

I was working at my computer while listening to iTunes when I heard the unique voice of Dean Martin. He was singing Memories Are Made of This, and I immediately recalled when this song was airing on the radio. The year was 1956; I was 12 years old. Dean was a “crooner,” and his voice flowed out of the AM radio that belonged to my mother and which sat on top of the kitchen refrigerator. Bee was a huge fan of Dean, and I suppose that was one of the reasons that I have always loved his music, too.

The most popular version of the song was recorded by Dean Martin backed by The Easy Riders (consisting of Terry Gilkyson, Richard Dehr, and Frank Miller), who actually wrote the song. It was an almost instant hit and steadily climbed up the Billboard charts to the number one position, where it remained for six weeks. It was Dean’s biggest hit and was performed several times on his weekly TV show – which ran on NBC from 1965 until 1974 at 10 o’clock on Thursday nights.

The song portrayed the social values of the time regarding love and family. It depicts the story of a “girl and boy,” moving from a kiss to the place in life where they value their children and celebrate a lifetime of being in love with one another. Listen and see if you remember the song as dramatically as I do.

Sweet, sweet memories you gave-a me
You can’t beat the memories you gave-a me
Take one fresh and tender kiss
Add one stolen night of bliss
One girl, one boy
Some grief, some joy
Memories are made of this
Don’t forget a small moon-beam
Fold in lightly with a dream
Your lips and mine
Two sips of wine
Memories are made of this
Then add the wedding bells
One house where lovers dwell
Three little kids for the flavor
Stir carefully through the days
See how the flavor stays
These are the dreams you will savor

One man, one wife
One love through life
Memories are made of this
Memories are made of this

Dean’s TV show, too, was an immediate success. He portrayed a constantly drinking, work-shy playboy. He usually held an old-fashioned glass in his hand as he sang, giving the impression that he was never without a drink. Although it was not well known at the time, Dean did not drink excessively; the perception was just part of his act. Rather than alcohol, the glass actually contained apple juice. Neither was he a playboy; he was actually quite the family man.

Each week, Dean sang one solo and then a duet with his guest of the week. One of the conditions that Dean required to be in his contract stated that if he or one of his guests made a mistake or sang the wrong words to a song, it was to be used on the show just as it was taped. This humorous aspect of the program added to its popularity. It seemed as if they were letting us all in on the jokes.

Dean usually sat atop a baby grand piano as he crooned on stage. On the set was a “closet door” located behind the piano. Each week there would be a knock on that door, Dean would stop and then “answer” the knock by opening the door, where he was truly surprised by an unannounced special guest. He never knew who would appear behind the door, and we never tired of the variety of reactions that he displayed upon seeing his surprise guest.

His weekly TV show won numerous awards, including: Outstanding Variety Show for 1967, 1968, 1969, 1970, and 1972. Some of his most famous guests were: Tony Bennett, Bob Hope, The Lettermen, Julie London, Johnny Mathis, Frank Sinatra, Bing Crosby, Dinah Shore, Pat Boone, Ann Margaret, Lou Rawls, Nancy Wilson, and The Temptations.

Dean usually jumped up onto the piano just before he sang his weekly solo. One night, the staff had replaced the piano with a very realistic cardboard prop that looked precisely like the original. That night, Dean ran across the stage, jumped up onto the piano, and im-

Points East

By Ike Adams

I’m not sure when I last picked ripe tomatoes from my garden after the first of November, but this writing is on Friday, November 2, and I just finished picking 3 plump, ripe, pineapple tomatoes and, with a little luck, I may even be able to make the vine last until Thanksgiving. It still has at least two dozen green fruits still hanging on and some of them are already turning.

The rest of the tomato patch has been dead for several weeks, but I covered this particular plant with a thick, 10’ x 12’, heat-gathering tarpaulin which I pull back on warm, sunny days and replace every night. We’ve already had three or four mild freezes and several heavy frosts, but so far, so good. The tarp is working like a charm and the fresh-picked fruit is beyond delicious.

This is the first year that we’ve ever grown pineapple tomatoes, an heirloom variety that I’ve heard about for many years but never had on my “must try” list. I generally have to save or order heirloom seed and grow the plants myself or hope that I can get over to Glenda McQuerry’s place before she sells out.

This year, however, I stopped in May to browse around in Shells’ Greenhouses, there on 52 between Paint Lick and Lancaster, and discovered they had one tray of pineapples left so I bought a four-pack to give them a try. My pal and fellow tomato connoisseur, Tom Miller, in Berea and I are both oh so glad I tried them and they will be my go-to variety for years to come. I’ve shared tomatoes with Tom over the last decade and his reaction to the pineapples is “best ones this year”.

The pineapple tomato is a medium to large sized, heart-shaped fruit that is basically deep orange in color with a deep pink tip that runs through the middle of its interior flesh. In the late season, meaning right now, the size drops off and the combined colors of pink and orange cover the entire fruit. It’s shaped, more or less like a hen egg multiplied by 2. But it’s the taste and the nearly total absence of seed cavities that woo me.

I’m not going to try to grow enough plants, come next year, to share very many and even though I’ve saved some seed from this year’s crop, I will order new seed from Totally Tomatoes, a mail order place that I help keep in business. I fear that my seed may be cross-pollinated with one or more of the eleven other varieties I grew this year, none of which are worth writing home about and none that I want to keep in the family.

In the meantime, I’ve been eating cooked greens--kale, mustard, collards and turnips until my ears are turning green. We’ve had an abundance of Boston Bib and Black Seeded Simpson lettuce and Crimson Queen

“The Little Rock School Along the Old Brodhead Road, Part II”

Last week we explored the Little Rock School through the memories of a former student, Lavada Smith-Sowder. She attended the small two-room school at the crossroads of the Old Brodhead Road and the Purrysby Road, which still stands.

The school had a separate building that served as a kitchen for the school. Lavada’s mother, Mae Burton-Smith-Barron was the cook. Lavada remembers soup being served often from pottery dishes. Hula hoops were often seen on the playground, as well as other simple games, such as “hide and go seek”. Other distractions were the occasional fox hunt or Dale Bray, one of the teacher’s husbands, came by in his police car.

Lavada was born and raised along the Old Brodhead Road about a mile from the school. There was even an older Brodhead Road at one time.

George and Carrie Burton, Lavada’s grandparents, lived in the area, as well. George ran a blacksmith shop near the school. Another business in the area was a general store owned by Robert Meniffee. It was on top of the hill across from where the Saddle Club now stands.

The Little Rock school closed about 1960 or 1961 when Lavada was in the 5th grade. There were seven students. Her 6th grade began at Mount Vernon. Edna Fain was the 6th grade teacher.

Lavada enjoyed school, perhaps in part due to being an only child, and enjoyed being with the other children. She pointed out that all of the children did well for themselves in life, and her school school days at the Little Rock School “made me appreciate life”, she said.

As fate would have it, Lavada retired from working in the school system in Rockcastle County in 2009.

Our Readers Write

Enjoyable Evening...

Dear Editor,
On, Monday, Oct.. 29th, the Rockcastle County Choir performed at the Rockcastle County High School.

These young boys and girls did a super job and their families are very proud of them. I feel they need recognition for the many hours of practice and hard work that is put into these performances.

Thanks for an enjoyable evening and thanks also to Choir Director Tammy Reynolds.

Good job students!
Carolyn J. McKinney

Thank you local businesses...

Dear Editor,
Brodhead Elementary wants to thank all of the local businesses who made contributions of their time and energy toward making treat bags for our classrooms.

Our Storybook Parade was a smashing success. It's only with committed volunteers, that we can organize and run fun events such as these. Our students and families greatly benefit from these types of large-scale activities, as they serve to bring people together, allowing us to provide an atmosphere for creating a strong sense of school community, spirit and pride.

Each of you have become an inspiration to many of our newer parents who we hope will one day be willing to take the torch of volunteerism and continue our efforts in the years to come.

A special thanks to Bradley's Auto Repair, Brodhead Pharmacy, Collins Respiratory, Dari Delight, Marvin Owens, Rockcastle Health and Rehab, Brodhead City Hall, Lee Earl's This and That, Citizens Bank, Rose's One Stop, Howard Saylor, and Brodhead Elementary Parent Group.

Thank you again,
Brodhead Elementary Staff

Thanks to those for helping...

Dear Editor,

My daughter and I volunteer at the First Baptist Mission on Mondays. My daughter, Bethanie has many health problems but she likes volunteering. Anyway, she has had one problem with choking and losing her breath, this has been ongoing for approximately two years. She started choking today while we were at the Mission, this time was worse than before because it lasted longer and took much longer for her to get her breath.

We want to thank the sweet woman who came back to help and stayed with Bethanie until the Ambulance arrived. She was patient with her and made sure help was coming before she left. This lady may never know how much she helped, because I was about to lose it, I was so scared.

We also want to thank the EMS workers for arriving promptly and taking her to the E.R. You know these men and women see a lot out there and they were just so nice to us. They really deserve a lot more credit than they get.

And to Dr. Douglas Smith at the E.R. We thank you for your treating her in a not only professional, but, a caring manner. May God bless all of you. This has really meant so much to my family. Others offered prayer, you know who you are.

Again, Thanks to all of you.

Deep gratitude,
The Bretz family

P/S/ I also wanted to mention that all these kind people were strangers to us. I think that makes this more special.

Halloween on Main event is success...

Dear Editor,

Mayor Bryant, Mt. Vernon City Council, city staff and I want to thank all the local businesses and organizations that turned out on Wednesday night to support Halloween on Main.

It started in 2004 and has grown to be one of the favorite downtown Mt. Vernon events. Main Street was full of costumed children, Larry Cook set the mood with Halloween music and KY Romp and Stomp entertained the crowd with their clogging to the Adams Family and Thriller.

Several businesses decorated their storefronts and the City of Mt. Vernon added their touches to the fall décor. Rockcastle Family Clinic (Dr. Griffith's staff) did an outstanding job of decorating their storefront which included animated skeletons and hand carved pumpkins.

Of course, the main purpose of Halloween on Main is to provide a safe place for the children to Trick or Treat.

Thanks to the following businesses and organizations that participated to make Halloween on Main a great event for our families:

Kiwanis Club, PBK Bank, Peoples Bank, Community Trust Bank, Rockcastle Hospital, KFC, Central Baptist Church, Republican Party, Rockcastle Family Clinic, Rockcastle Shaolin Do, Lambert's Law Office, McDonald's Restaurant, Key Club, CAP, Daniel Boone Action Agency, Rockcastle Chamber of Commerce, Citizens Bank, IGA, and City of Mt. Vernon/Fire Department.

Sincerely,
Lynn Tatum

radishes out of the garden and there's still plenty out there that I can't even give away. Give me a call if you'd like to drive to Paint Lick and raid the garden. The number to call is 859-925-2105.

Next year, if the Good Lord lets me live that long and I stay mobile, I'm going to be planting onion seed along the edge of the fall garden. I've never grown onions from seed before but you can't find sets in Kentucky late in the year and I figure somebody has to start them somewhere so I don't see why I can't.

All I know for sure is that some tender green onions would make this lettuce taste a whole lot better.

mediately fell straight to the floor, along with a pile of crushed pieces that had been the "piano." The look on his face was priceless. The entire crew, including Dean, laughed until they were all crying. That show is listed as one of his favorites.

I can remember coming home from college and watching the show with my mother and my grandparents. They never missed a single episode. But Bee loved the show best of all. Those memories are priceless to me. Even though the TV was a black-and-white model, we didn't care. We loved the entertainment, the music, and especially the humorous antics of Dean Martin.

I still love his music. And although I don't listen to it with great frequency, I can always rely upon it to bring a smile to my face due to the memories that it elicits. These were some of the best memories of family television – just good clean fun and good music. Thanks, Dean, for the memories.

Roses are red,
Violets are blue,
Since 1965, I have loved you.

Through times that were good,
Through times that were bad,
Some days we were happy,
Some days we were sad.
It's through these times we built our life together,
Cause we promised the Lord we'd endure "whatever."

Happy 31st Anniversary, Bob

Thank A Veteran

Have you ever thanked a veteran

For the many services he has done,

Or made him feel welcome if he was

One of the blessed ones to return home.

Ever made him feel good about himself

Or do you just take him for granted?

Like the Good Book, you leave unread on the shelf.

Thank a veteran today,
Tomorrow could be too late,
We never know about one's fate.

Every veteran has a story,
You can talk to him and tell,
What can you say and do for a veteran

That will make him feel loved and well.

All veterans have sacrificed
For our freedoms and rights,
What are you doing today,
To help those that are blind see the light.

Jesus, himself, gave His life for us to be free
What kind of life are you living for veterans
And all to see?

Veterans of all ages are to be Loved, honored and respected,
It is our duty to be a Christian

So as not to be rejected.

Thank a veteran for fighting for his country,
So true let's all be Americans honoring the red, white and blue.

With special honor to my husband, Roy Arron Beasley and to thank and honor all veterans for their service.

Thirty-four is what you turn today,

Seems like only yesterday
You were walking through our door

Never did we think
We would not see you any more.

Four years have passed,

Since we saw you last,

So we can't help but be selfish,

As we say if only just for today,

You could be here with us,
To enjoy your birthday.

We send up our love on your special day,

We know you are looking down

As we pray..

That we all will be reunited again someday...

Operation Christmas Child brings joy and hope to children in desperate situations worldwide through gift-filled shoe boxes and the Good News of God's love. Here is how you can pack a shoe box and make a difference in the lives of those children:

Pack A Shoe Box: Use an empty shoe box (standard size) or plastic container. Determine whether your gift will be for a boy or girl, and the child's age category: 2-4, 5-9, or 10-14, then fill the box with gifts. Some suggestions are:

School Supplies (pens, pencils, crayons, markers)

Hygiene Items (toothbrush, toothpaste, mild soap, comb, washcloth)

Other: hard candy and lollipops, mints, gum, T-shirts, socks, ball caps, sunglasses, hair clips, toy jewelry, watches, flashlights with extra batteries

Cross-country wins Region 5 Championship

The RCHS girls' cross-country team capped off a great 2012 season with a brilliant team performance at the Class 2A Region 5 Championships held at Bell County this past Saturday. After having been ranked 1st in the region for the entire regular season, RCHS fought off two-time defending champion Boyle County, taking the team title by soundly defeating the Lady Rebels by 18 points. RCHS automatically qualified for the Class 2A State Championships next Saturday in Lexington. Wayne County finished 3rd and Corbin placed 4th. This was the 6th regional title for the RCHS girls' cross-country team. Along with 10 regional titles in track, the girls' track and cross-country program has won 16 regional championships thus far.

Regarded as quite possibly the most challenging course in the state, the race times on Bell's course are usually at least one minute slower than that of a normal course. Weather conditions for the race were nearly perfect, but the treacherous mountain terrain was just as unforgiving as it was in early October when RCHS travelled to Bell for their high school invitational. The experience proved to be invaluable for RCHS as the girls dominated the team race from start to finish and placed five girls in the top fifteen competitors.

Sophomore Alyssa Cox led the way for RCHS with another amazing performance and likely her best of this season. Alyssa got the race off to a strong start and never let up. She stayed close to the leader for the duration of the race and finished 5th overall with an awesome time of 22:06.03. Her time was an improvement of over 38 seconds from her Bell County Invitational time earlier in October.

Senior Bryonna Cromer had an incredible performance in her final regional race for the Lady Rockets. Bryonna remained in the top ten throughout much of the race and placed 9th overall with a great time of 22:57.73. Her time was an improvement of over 41 seconds from the Bell County Invitational.

Sophomore Rachel Cain stepped up her performance tremendously, finishing an impressive 13th overall with an exceptional time of 23:18.4 on the difficult course. Rachel improved her time from the Bell County Invitational by a staggering 1 minute and 24 seconds.

Sophomore Rakhi Patel ran an awesome race and finished 14th overall with perhaps her best performance of the season. Rakhi ran a great time of 23:35.31, an unbelievable improvement of 1 minute and 42 seconds over her time from the Bell County Invitational.

8th grader Sierra Mercer came into the race without the benefit of having run the course since she was nursing a sprained ankle during the team's last trip to Bell County. Even without that experience, Sierra ran an exceptional race. She finished an impressive 15th overall with an incredible time of 23:43.93. With her ankle nearly back at full strength and her conditioning improving, Sierra should have a great race at state.

Sophomore Tanika Chasteen put together an awesome performance, solidifying the team win with a 30th place finish and a great time of 25:12.1 over the 3.1-mile course. Tanika's time was an amazing improvement of over 56 seconds from her previous time at the Bell County Invitational.

The team greatly missed sophomore Samantha Bustle who was unable to attend due to the passing of a family member. With Samantha, the margin of victory for the Lady Rockets would have been even greater.

Coming into the state championships, the girls' team is currently ranked 22nd in Class 2A, but hope to do much better than that when it's all said and done. With many teams attending numerous "easy" courses throughout the regular season to improve times, the current rankings may prove somewhat inflated when compared to actual team performances at state. Last season, the girls' finished 12th at state with a relatively young team. Heading into

The RCHS girls' cross-country team won the Class 2A Region 5 Championship this past Saturday at Bell County High School. The girls defeated two-time defending regional champion Boyle County by 18 points to capture their 6th team title. The team will compete in the Class 2A State Cross-Country Championships this Saturday at the Kentucky Horse Park. Team members are from left: Tanika Chasteen, Rachel Cain, Alyssa Cox, Sierra Mercer, Bryonna Cromer and Rakhi Patel. Not pictured - Samantha Bustle.

RCMS 8th grader Sierra Mercer placed 15th in 23:43 at the regional championship race with one of her best performances this season.

RCHS sophomore Rakhi Patel finished 14th in 23:35 at the regional championships at Bell County with easily her best performance of the 2012 season.

RCHS sophomore Rachel Cain placed 13th in 23:18 at the regional championships at Bell County with easily her best race performance of this season.

RCHS senior Bryonna Cromer placed in the top ten at the regional championships, finishing 9th overall in 22:57 with the best regional race of her career in her final high school regional cross-country meet.

With her best performance this season and possibly her career, RCHS sophomore Alyssa Cox led the Lady Rockets to the team regional championship title with an awesome 5th place finish in 22:06 on a very challenging Bell County 5,000-meter course.

The Perfect Storm

Former Lady Rockets set for upcoming 2012-2013 season

Submitted
This week all eyes have been on Super Storm Sandy, but in a few short days Rockcastle fans will get to see a trio of former Lady Rockets, known to many as "The Perfect Storm," former Lady Rockets, Sara Hammond (Thunder), Angie Lawrence (Lightning) and Jackie Alexander (Rain) will lead their perspective collegiate teams to another winning season.

Jackie Alexander, a 2010 graduate, will begin her junior year at University of the Cumberland. Jackie began her career at West Point before transferring to the Patriots and enjoyed a banner sophomore year, moving into the starting line-up midway through her sophomore season, she helped lead Cumberland to 27 wins and a number 2 national ranking before losing in the national tournament. Fans remember Jackie as she "rained" down long range jumpers and helped lead the 2009-2010 team to a final four state tournament appearance. The trip down I-75 to Williamsburg isn't that far and Lady Rocket fans should catch as many games as possible, check out her schedule at www.cumberlandspatriots.com.

Angie Lawrence (Rocket fans remember her "lightning" quickness), a 2011 graduate, will begin her sophomore year at a new school. Angie played last season at Georgetown College, where she helped lead the Lady Tigers to a final four appearance in the NAIA Division I national tournament. Angie was named to the national tournament All-Tournament team. Her new team, NCAA Division II Coker Cobras, is coached by a former UK Wildcat. I was able to watch Angie via the internet this past Sunday as her Coker team played an exhibition game at the University of Tennessee. Angie scored 10 points, made 2 threes, and overall played a great game. Angie will get to play in the local area and fans should try to catch those games. The games are in a tournament at Lincoln Memorial University in Harrogate, TN, just over the border from Middleboro. That tournament is November 9-10. Catch all the action and schedule at www.cokercobras.com.

Well, we have rain and lightning; let's add thunder, oh, my! Sara Hammond (Rocket fans will remember her "thunder" blocks, she finished her high school career ranked #4 all time in blocked shots in Kentucky) will begin her sophomore year at the University of Louisville. The Lady Cards finished the season ranked 16th nationally and just missed making the sweet 16, losing to #5 Maryland on their home floor. The Lady Cards begin this preseason ranked #9 nationally. Sara enjoyed an up and down freshman year, TheUp included a double-double, 13 points, 13 rebounds and 4 blocks in her first college game vs. Missouri State, starting 6 of first 9 games, being named a team co-captain, scoring 10 points and leading a comeback against national power UConn on national television, doing the same against #2 ranked Notre Dame, scoring 7 points, grabbing 9 rebounds in her first NCAA tournament game against Michigan state. The down came during mid-season, as, like any freshman, Sara hit a mental wall that she had to climb out of. Sara is leaner, tougher, much more seasoned and looking forward to helping lead the Lady Cards to the final four. The KFC Yum center will host the first round of NCAA games this year in March. The trip to Louisville and KFC Yum is only 2 hours away. Last season, and for the second season in a row, U of L ranked second in women's basketball, trailing only Tennessee, averaging nearly 11,000 per home game. Key games at home this year include Texas A&M on Friday, November 9th and UK on Sunday, December 2nd. For those fans

Rockets shutout by Knights in first round of playoffs

By Doug Ponder

The Rockets 2012 football season ended in the first round of the state playoffs with a 48-0 loss to the Lexington Catholic Knights last Friday night.

The lack of yards on offense and the inability to get the ball into the end zone proved to be the deciding factor in the Rockets loss as they were shutout by Lexington Catholic after having the worst offensive performance the team has had all year, only gaining 61 total yards with 55 rushing yards and 6 passing yards.

However, after factoring the Rockets seven sacks allowed on offense it was a total loss of 49 yards, the Rockets only gained a total of 12 yards with 6 rushing yards and 6 passing yards.

Unlike the Rockets, Lexington Catholic had a great night offensively gaining 302 yards on the night with 194 yards on the ground and 108 yards through the air.

Offensively, the Rockets were led by senior Tyler Smith with ten carries for 30 yards. Junior tailback Jacob Bussell rushed for 15 yards on seven carries and sophomore running back Isaiah Adams rushed for 8 yards on eight carries. Sophomore running back Chance Ansardi also carried the ball two times for two yards.

Junior quarterback Corey McPhetridge finished the game 1 out of 5 passing for 6 yards.

Senior tight end Boone Saylor was the only Rocket with receiving yards catching one pass for 6 yards.

Junior Brandon Jones had the best game of his career on defense as he led the Rockets' defensive effort with a total of eight tackles. Bussell also had a big night defensively with a total of four tackles as well as one sack.

Other Rockets picking up tackles and assists were Smith with five, Saylor and Jeremiah Brown with two each and Ansardi, Chris Wren, Koty Bengé and Eli Haddix with one each. Adams, McPhetridge, Jared Lake and John Hughes were also credited with three tackles each.

Head Coach Scott Parkey said that the Rockets were defeated by a tough Lexington Catholic team.

"I am still proud of our team for hanging in there against a very good Lexington Catholic team," Parkey said. "I am especially proud of our seniors who have shown leadership throughout the season and taught the underclassman how to play through adversity."

Parkey said the underclassmen on the Rocket football team and upcoming eighth grade football players will begin to make preparations for the 2013 football season.

"We will take about six weeks off for recuperation before we get back in the weight room and prepare for the 2013 season" Parkey said.

Two people arrested for manufacturing meth

By: Doug Ponder

Two people were arrested in two separate meth busts this past week.

A Mt. Vernon man was arrested last Friday afternoon for manufacturing methamphetamine after the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department and Mt. Vernon Police Department responded to a complaint on Dailey Street in Mt. Vernon. Arrested at the scene was Randall Wayne Wilson, 23, of Mt. Vernon.

According to the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department, Deputy Sheriff Matt Bryant received an anonymous tip that Wilson was "cooking meth" at his mother's residence on Dailey Street.

Upon receiving consent from Wilson to talk to him in his bedroom, officers noticed a glass plate containing an off-white powder substance which was believed to be methamphetamine.

Officers also found other items used to manufacture meth inside Wilson's bedroom, including two empty pseudoephedrine boxes, a bottle of lye, Coleman fuel, coffee filters and two glass jars.

Wilson also told officers that he had previously mixed together a one-step meth lab in a Powerade bottle and that it had exploded on him. Wilson also showed officers the clothes he was wearing at the time of the explosion which also reportedly showed residue of a meth lab.

Wilson was charged with manufacturing methamphetamine and remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $25,000 cash bond.

A Mt. Vernon man was arrested Sunday afternoon for manufacturing methamphetamine after the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department and Mt. Vernon Police Department raided a home on Quail Road in Mt. Vernon.

Arrested at the scene was Dallas Edward Kirby, 62, of Mt. Vernon.

According to Mt. Vernon Police reports, Assistant Police Chief Barry Adams initially responded to Kirby's

Homeless man arrested for meth possession

By: Doug Ponder

A homeless man was arrested for meth possession last Friday morning after the Mt. Vernon Police Department made a traffic stop on Hwy 150 in Mt. Vernon.

Arrested at the scene was Matthew Daniel Spoonamore, 27, who told police he was homeless.

According to Mt. Vernon Police reports, officers were returning from a complaint on Hwy 461 when they saw a grey Chevy S-10 parked at the storage building units on Hwy 150.

Once officers approached the vehicle, Spoonamore opened the passenger side door and attempted to get out and conceal something in his pants pocket.

Upon receiving consent from Spoonamore to search his pants pockets, officers found a red and yellow container in his front left pants pocket containing a zip-lock bag of white powder which was believed by officers to be methamphetamine.

Officers also discovered two more zip lock bags containing suspected methamphetamine that had fallen out of the legs of Spoonamore's pants after he was transported to the police department.

Spoonamore told officers that he received mail at his cousin's residence but that he was "pretty much homeless."

Spoonamore was charged with possession of a controlled substance, first degree. He remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $5,000 cash/property bond.

residence because he had an active warrant for Kirby's arrest.

Upon receiving consent from Kirby to search his residence, officers found various items used to manufacture methamphetamine including a HCL gas generator, ammonia nitrate, a bottle of lye, scales and an empty box of pseudoephedrine.

After being mirandized, Kirby reportedly told officers he was aware that meth manufacturing was occurring in his home and that he had used the product made from the manufacturing process. He also told officers that the empty pseudoephedrine box that officers found was likely used in the meth manufacturing process.

Kirby was charged with manufacturing methamphetamine and flagrant non-support. Kirby remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $25,000 cash/property bond and $5,000 10% bond.

"RCIDA"

court that, in order to receive the 10-year payback loan and apply the proceeds to the outstanding $3 million loan for the Anchor Packaging building, the court would have to deed the property to RCIDA because the money cannot be loaned to municipalities or county governments.

County Treasurer Joe Clontz told the board that his figures indicated that it might not be in the best interest of the fiscal court to take advantage of the loan.

Anchor Packaging's lease calls for the company to pay $200,000 a year in lease payments. It also gives the company the right to purchase the property at any time for the balance of the loan.

If the county takes advantage of the interest-free loan, Clontz said, the monthly payment on the building would increase to $19,666 which is $3,000 more than Anchor's current lease payment ($16,666 monthly), with a balloon payment at the end of the 10 year period of $947,089. (The balloon payment without applying the $1.360 million interest-free loan would be $1,811,880).

Clontz's problem with this scenario is that with Anchor's right to purchase the property at any time for the balance of the note, the company could wait until after the 10-year period of the interest-free loan is up and purchase the building for $947,089. The building has been assessed at $13,000,000.

RCIDA member Corey Craig said it was his understanding that the pay-off was tied to the amortization schedule and not the actual balance of the loan. However, an examination of the lease agreement showed that the language indicates that the pay-off is tied to the actual balance.

Clontz did suggest that it would be better for the loan to be taken to pay on the SourceCorpHOV building which is set up as a straight lease with no option to buy and Hopkins said she would look into that possibility.

SourceCorpHOV currently pays over $25,000 a month as a lease payment and that entire amount is applied to the loan on the building at Community Trust Bank. That loan started at $2.7 million and has been reduced to $1.8 million. There are four years left on the original seven year lease.

Repairs and renovation at the SourceCorp building was also a topic of discussion during the meeting.

Hopkins told the court the company had recently received a three-year Veterans Administration contract which would bring 235-285 employees to Rockcastle by March of 2013. However, several changes to the building will have to be made to the building, including metal frames for all windows, except in the lobby area, electrical work, tile flooring, drywalling for an acoustical ceiling, etc. Bids received for these projects total around $70,000.

Hopkins told the board that SourceCorp will pay for these costs but have asked that they be reimbursed for the costs if, at the end of three years, beginning April 1, 2013, they have kept a certain number of employees for that period, they will be reimbursed for the cost of the renovations.

Craig suggested that, if the terms were met, the reimbursement might be in the form of a reduction in their lease payment over a period of time, instead of an actual cash payment to SourceCorp.

Several members of the fiscal court were present at the meeting, including Judge/Executive Buzz Carloftis, and they agreed to that plan with a cap of $60,000 to be reimbursed. This amount was arrived at after Carloftis and the magistrates pointed out that some of the work on the projects could have been done by work-release inmate labor which would have reduced the cost.

Along with the renovations, the county will be responsible for providing needed additional parking and the moving of a dumpster.

Hopkins also told the board that SourceCorp had made an accounting of the number of employees they had monthly, beginning August of 2011. In their lease agreement, SourceCorp agreed to pay the occupational tax, based on $9 an hour salary, between the actual number of employees and 200, beginning in August of 2011 when the number fell below 200 for the first time.

According to their report, from August 2011 through July 2012, the total amount owed for occupational tax was $45,379.58 and Hopkins said she expected a check for this amount soon.

Craig also reminded the court that also in the lease agreement was a benefit for SourceCorp in that if they maintain over 250 employees for a period of time, they will receive a credit toward their lease payment for the occupational tax for those employees.

In addition to the 235-285 employees expected to be hired by SourceCorp from their Veterans Administration contract, Hopkins said they had also been subcontracted by Oxford Government Consulting to do a share of their contract with the same government agency which would mean an additional 30 jobs which would be added at SourceCorp, probably toward the end of the three year contract.

The subject of providing a two-acre site for the new White House Clinic at no charge was discussed.

Hopkins said the property was offered to White House at cost ($25,000 an acre) but her calls, to discuss the matter, had not been returned by White House personnel.

Craig told the board that he did not feel that a pattern of giving things away, with no strings attached, should be established. "We have got a lot of money tied up in the park and I think the wise thing to do would be to at least recoup our cost," Craig told the board. The normal cost of a two acre site is $70,000.

Magistrate Bill McKinney told the board that he would like to see the new clinic at the entrance to the park because it would enhance the industrial park.

As a final item of interest, Hopkins told the board that Anacomp, Inc., a national data processing company, was in the process of locating in the industrial park in the former Rockcastle Manufacturing (sewing factory) building.

Hopkins said that 100-150 jobs would be added by Anacomp and that a job fair would be scheduled shortly.

The executive director also said that December 17th had been set as the date for the grand opening of the Anchor Packaging facility with Governor Steve Beshear expected to take part in the ceremony.

mentation of this new system, the scores for the 2011-2012 school year cannot be compared to those of previous years.

Achievement for elementary and middle schools is measured by tests in all five content areas (reading, math, social studies, science, and writing).

High school achievement is measured by end-of-course tests in algebra II, biology, English II, and U.S. history; and writing on-demand.

College and career readiness is largely measured by scores on EXPLORE at the middle school level, PLAN at the 10th grade level, and ACT at the 11th grade level.

Under the new accountability model, districts and individual schools received an overall score and a state percentile rank.

Rockcastle County Schools, as a district, scored 54.5, with a percentile ranking of 46 in the state. Brodhead Elementary received a score of 55.8 and had a percentile rank of 41. Mt. Vernon Elementary had a score of 49.3 with a percentile of 21. Roundstone Elementary scored 63 and had a percentile rank of 72 in the state. Rockcastle Middle School received a score of 54.5 and had a percentile ranking of 52. The Rockcastle County High School scored 54.2 and had a percentile rank of 51 when compared to other Kentucky high schools.

All schools scoring below the 70th percentile received a rank classification of "Needs Improvement". The only Rockcastle County school receiving a "Proficient" rank classification was Roundstone Elementary.

"In an analysis of state percentile rankings, we did not perform well when compared with like districts and surrounding counties. We have much work to do in our district across all grade levels and schools. Our plan is to build a program that creates consistent quality improvement for our students. This will take time but will result in a sound instructional program that improves individual student achievement and preparation for college and careers," commented David Pensol, Superintendent of Rockcastle County Schools.

After making the decision to move back to Rockcastle County, Holbrook called County Judge Buzz Carloftis and told him of the decision.

Despite the numerous applicants and interviews for the CSEPP Director's position, Carloftis offered Holbrook his previous job as CSEPP Director and Holbrook accepted.

"It has been an odd situation but Holbrook is still the most experienced person for the job," Carloftis said. "I appreciate the interest of everyone who applied for the position but Holbrook still has more knowledge about Rockcastle County's CSEPP program."

Carloftis said that he is relieved to once again have Holbrook at the helm of the program and that he believes Holbrook is one of the best employees the county has ever had. "Howell was always impeccably honest and he was the person I could place complete confidence in to keep me informed on CSEPP issues," Carloftis said. "With Howell as director, I always know that Rockcastle Countians will be safe, educated and informed about all safety issues concerning the Bluegrass Army Depot in Richmond."

Lambert went on to say that he and his son plan to have a full-service law firm which will concentrate on litigation at the trial and appellate level. They also will practice family law, bankruptcy cases, business law, real estate, estate planning and criminal law. Matters involving the state and federal government will also be in their practice, according to Lambert.

After Deputy Sheriff Joe Rush interviewed the victim and witnesses, Rush learned that Xolo had allegedly entered the victim's bedroom and hit him in the back of the head with a hammer and said she was going to kill everyone in the house.

Once Rush arrived at the residence, he observed blood all over the victim's bedroom and found the hammer inside a wooden stove in the kitchen.

Rush found Xolo lying outside in the woods behind the residence where she was reportedly trying to hide from police. Rush also noticed Xolo exuded a strong alcoholic odor and was unsteady on her feet.

Xolo was charged with alcohol intoxication in a public place and assault, first degree. Xolo remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $25,000 cash/property bond.

Yards to Paradise

By Max Phelps
Pines, Spruce, Firs and Cedars—Landscaping With Conifers

Almost anywhere in America one can look out a window or along the highways and see pine trees. Spruce, fir and cedar trees may also be in the picture. For this article, we are not entertaining junipers and arborvitae (which many folks refer to as cedars), nor taxus, larch, cryptomeria, cypress or the redwoods. Stately evergreen trees add so much to the beauty as well as the usefulness of our forests, our yards, in fact to the whole earth. This is all the more evident during late fall and winter, when many forest and lawn trees are leafless.

Pines give us lumber, pulpwood for paper (for the office, the classroom, or when you gotta' go), turpentine and other distillates (ever use Pine-Sol?) for antiseptic and cleaning properties. Then there are "pine nuts", the edible seeds from some pine species. Pines, spruce, hemlock, fir and others give us lovely aromatic boughs for color and decorations. The shade in summer, the protection from wind in winter (especially useful to birds that do not migrate to the south when it gets cold), and the musical sounds of the breeze through the needles are all benefits we receive from pine trees and the other needle and cone-bearing trees.

The white pine seems over-used, yet it grows fast and adapts to many climates. This native to the cool valleys of Appalachia is readily available for sale by most garden centers, nurseries and Christmas tree growers.

Hemlocks, spruce, fir and cedar trees are perhaps better trees for many of our landscapes, but there are

ing trees.

The worlds oldest tree is a Bristlecone pine. Trees, especially those preserved in fossils or those recovered from the icy waters near the top of the world, bear record of the climate in their rings. We may think we have global warming, and maybe we do—but it was warmer during the early years of the Roman Empire, as well as in the days of Eric the Red and other Norse explorers. If Greenland was once green rather than white, and if Romans grew vineyards in England, it seems obvious the last two or three decades are not the only times the globe has had some "warming". Anyway, there are interesting stories to be told by some of these trees from the harshest climates, as well as by those of swamps and rain forests.

Let us turn our attention to the lovely pine trees and other conifers we may see in our communities, and which would be suitable and available to homeowners and landscapers for use in our yards.

The white pine seems over-used, yet it grows fast and adapts to many climates. This native to the cool valleys of Appalachia is readily available for sale by most garden centers, nurseries and Christmas tree growers.

Hemlocks, spruce, fir and cedar trees are perhaps better trees for many of our landscapes, but there are other pines besides the white pine to consider. Austrian pine, Japanese black pine, and the limber pine "Vanderwulf's Pyramid" are readily available options for the yard. Mugho and Scots pine are also common. There are several other pine species one might try, some from around the world. The native Virginia pine is not the best of landscape trees; you can dig up a sprout beside the highway somewhere if you want one though.

Tsuga, or hemlock, is a lovely tree and works well in many yards, especially those with the space to grow them and the acidic soil they prefer. The wood is tougher and less brittle than most pines, and the trees glow slower and will probably never have to be removed by the homeowner as might be the case with a white pine. The hemlock prefers the "north" slopes or the shade of another tree, but can prove to be pretty tough even in full sun.

(Watch for the wooly adelgid. This little insect is killing many hemlock trees, especially in North Carolina.)

Spruce trees are more tolerant of soils with a higher pH. This is especially so with the Colorado blue spruce.

Norway spruce is the other common spruce available at garden centers in the central United States.

Fir trees are a little more 'iffy' in the landscape. Hot humid nights are what often does them in. In shady, breezy and mountainous areas, they make a super choice for a landscape tree.

Cedars can be grown practically anywhere it seems. The Atlantic cedar and the Cedar of Lebanon are more cold tolerant. The Deodar cedar works in zones 6 through 9. These magnificent trees in their old age are simply awesome to behold.

With any of these lovely evergreen trees, you can have a fine specimen in your yard, a row or cluster for a windbreak, or just a tree or two for a backdrop to others that have yellow, red and burgundy fall colors.

For natives, look around and you'll see pine trees and other evergreens you can use. For the folks who want something exotic, there's often unique or dwarf cultivars available at 'high-end' garden shops. For the 'collector' and for the 'experimenter', there are mail-order nurseries who will ship you a small tree for a reasonable price. Online you'll find things you may never have observed locally. You might try ordering something if you are advennturous or want to be different.

Landscaping that icludes some large evergreen trees, especially cone bearing ones, seems not to even need a recommendation. Most everyone loves to see a stately mature evergreen tree. Kids will love the pine cones, squirrels and birds will relish eating the seeds of pine, spruce, fir, hemlock, larch, cedars and so forth. Consider pines and other evergreen trees next time you wish for a new tree in your yard.

I'm Free

Don't grieve for me, for now I'm free
I'm following the path God laid for me.
I took his hand when I heard him call
I turned my back and left it all.
I could not stay another day to laugh, to love to work or play.
If my parting has left a void Then fill it with remembered joy.
A friendship shared, a laugh, a kiss,
Ah, yes, these things I too will miss.
Be not burdened with times of sorrow
I wish you the sunshine of tomorrow.
My life's been full; I've savored much, good friends, good times, a loves one's touch.
Perhaps my time seemed all too brief,

don't lengthen it now with undue grief.
Lift up your hearts and share with me
God wanted me now:
He set me free.

Locally, 6,307 of the 11,737 Rockcastle County voters went to the polls for a percentage of 54%. State-wide, the percentage was just under 60%. As a result of the election, Rockcastle County Republican Party Chairman Travis T. Burton issued the following statement. “It is always an honor to see the strength of our republic on election day. Our gratitude is with those who serve and dedicate their lives to the defense of this sacred form of government. Rockcastle County overwhelmingly stood up for the principles and beliefs that we hold dear.

While we are disappointed in the outcome of the Presidential Election, we are thrilled that Kentuckians sent a historic number of Republicans to the state legislature and ensured our right to enjoy the great outdoors that God blessed our Commonwealth with through adding the protection of hunting and fishing to our state constitution.

We also welcome the news that our neighbors to the north are sending Andy Barr to join Congressman Rogers in Washington to stand up for the values important to Kentucky.

We pray that the President and our newly elected leaders are successful in guiding our nation.

The Rockcastle County Republican Party wishes to thank all citizens who worked hard and showed up at the polls.”

noted that there was never an independent check performed by another employee of the County Clerk's office to verify the accuracy of the amounts recorded in the chattel mortgages account.

Field auditors also found that chattel mortgages receipts in 2010 were $4,829 less than expected based on the number of mortgages issued.

Allen said that after learning the audit results, she began having another employee double-check chattel mortgage receipts on a monthly basis.

“Each month, I have another employee compare the chattel mortgages log with the chattel fees collected,” Allen said. “In addition, each receipt will list the chattels as recorded instead of a lumped together chattel account.”

Allen also said she has taken steps in order to prevent this type of situation from happening in the future.

“This situation has been noted and steps including a change in chattel clerks have taken place,” Allen said. “I have turned the matter over to the Kentucky State Police and every effort is being made to protect taxpayer money.”

Allen also noted that the Kentucky State Police have already begun their investigation and may present information to the Rockcastle County Grand Jury in December.

On-farm Investment Opportunities Available for Rockcastle County Farmers

$147,998 awarded to Rockcastle County for Ag. Program

The Kentucky Agricultural Development Board, chaired by Gov. Steve Beshear, recently awarded $147,998 in Rockcastle County Agricultural Development Funds for a County Agricultural Investment Program (CAIP). The Rockcastle County Conservation District submitted a proposal to the Rockcastle County Agricultural Development Council and the Kentucky Agricultural Development Board to provide cost-share incentives to area farmers.

“I am committed to giving our farmers the tools and resources they need to remain competitive and continue Kentucky's strong farming tradition,” said Gov. Beshear. “County Agricultural Investment Programs funded by the Kentucky Agricultural Development Board provide important on-farm investment opportunities.”

CAIP is designed to provide farmers with incentives to allow them to improve and diversify their current production practices. CAIP combines what were previously known as county model cost-share programs into one, where each model program becomes an investment area.

“These funds have benefitted numerous individuals and are continuing to do so in Rockcastle County through this program,” said Sen. Jared K. Carpenter, of Berea. “I appreciate the Ag. Development Board and the conservation district for their commitment to our farm families.”

“The Kentucky Agricultural Development Fund is an important part of diversification across the Commonwealth,” said Minority Whip Rep. Danny Ford, of Mt. Vernon. “This program will help Rockcastle County farm families in their efforts to diversify or modernize their operations.”

CAIP covers a wide variety of agricultural enterprises in its 11 investment areas, including commercial production of aquaculture; bees and honey; equine; forage; fruit; livestock; mushrooms; ornamental horticulture; poultry; rabbits; timber; and vegetables, as well as agritourism business development; commercial kitchen construction or conversion; energy efficiency/production; and on-farm water enhancement.

Producer applications are currently available and are due back to the conservation district office by Thursday, Nov. 15.

Rockcastle Chamber of Commerce Business Spotlight

Mount Vernon Signal

Nearly 125 years after the first newspaper came off the press, what started as the Mountain Signal and now known as the Mount Vernon Signal is still a fixture in Rockcastle County.

Although there have been many owners over the years and times have changed, the Mount Vernon Signal continues to provide news to the citizens of Rockcastle County.

On November 10, 1887 the first Mountain Signal newspaper came off the press in Mount Vernon to the founder and owner James Maret. The first edition of what is now known as the Mount Vernon Signal was an eight page newspaper printed in the building in the vicinity of where Appliance Service Center is now located. The initial circulation was 350.

Maret sold the Signal to Edward Smith after growing tired of the hassle of operating a newspaper. Smith then later resold the business back to Maret in 1896. It was then that the name of the newspaper changed from the Mountain Signal to the Mount Vernon Signal.

After a short time in ownership, Maret once again sold the Mount Vernon Signal in 1899 to Mount Vernon local Edgar Albright. Albright who was said to “have been closer to the people” than any other publisher up to that point, later sold the Mount Vernon Signal to Rockcastle County Clerk Ann Evans Miller.

While operating the Mount Vernon Signal for several years, Miller married E.C. Walton, whom she sold the newspaper to following their marriage. During an illness in 1925, Walton sold the business to Stanford attorney W.H.W. Reynolds.

After only two years of ownership, Reynolds sold the Mount Vernon Signal to Editor W.T. “Bill” Davis in 1925. Davis maintained ownership of the Mount Vernon Signal until he sold the business after 13 years to Charles L. “Spike” Simpson in 1938. Simpson's ownership of the Mount Vernon Signal lasted into the mid-1940's when he sold the business to Alva Hoffman.

In 1952, the Mount Vernon Signal once again changed owners. Hoffman sold the business to two employees of the Berea Citizen newspaper, Albert Schumacher and Rockcastle native Elmo Anderkin.

It wasn't until 14 years later in 1966 that the Mount Vernon Signal would change owners once more. Anderkin sold the Mount Vernon Signal to his brother, James Anderkin, Jr. where ownership would remain in the Anderkin family until present day.

The Mount Vernon Signal is currently owned and operated by Perlina Anderkin, widow of the late James Anderkin, Jr.

Although the Mount Vernon Signal has experienced many changes in ownership over the decades since 1887, one thing has remained the same, the dedication to provide quality news to the citizens of Rockcastle County.

The primary source for news in Rockcastle County still remains to be the Mount Vernon Signal newspaper with a circulation that started with 350 in 1887, now stands at 6,000 some 125 years later.

In addition to providing news on key issues involving Rockcastle County, the Mount Vernon Signal also provides the opportunity for local businesses, schools, and organizations to advertise and share special events occurring in the community.

The Mount Vernon Signal is a staple in our community serving as one of the oldest, longest operating businesses in Rockcastle County.

We, as citizens in Rockcastle County, have grown accustomed to purchasing a Mount Vernon Signal every Wednesday night or Thursday morning and based on the history of the business, we can expect the Mount Vernon Signal newspaper be in circulation for decades to come.

The Rockcastle County Chamber of Commerce recognizes the Mount Vernon Signal for its dedication and service to our community.

Debord inducted into Phi Kappa Phi

Angela Debord of Brodhead is one of 78 Eastern Kentucky University juniors, seniors and graduate students who will be inducted into the ECU chapter of The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi during a special ceremony on Nov. 13.

Debord is among approximately 30,000 students, faculty, professional staff and alumni to be initiated into Phi Kappa Phi each year.

Founded in 1897 at the University of Maine, Phi Kappa Phi is the nation's oldest, largest and most selective all-discipline honor society. The Society has chapters on more than 300 campuses in the United States, Puerto Rico and the Philippines.

Membership in Phi Kappa Phi is by invitation and requires nomination and approval by a chapter. Only the top 10 percent of seniors and 7.5 percent of juniors, having at least 72 semester hours, are eligible for membership. Graduate students in the top 10 percent of the number of candidates for graduate degrees may also qualify, as do faculty, professional staff and alumni who have achieved scholarly distinction.

Since its founding, more than 1 million members have been initiated. Some of the organization's more notable members include former President Jimmy Carter, NASA Astronaut Wendy Lawrence, Baylor University head women's basketball coach Kim Mulkey-Robertson, writer John Grisham and Netscape founder James Barksdale. The Society has awarded approximately $11.5 million in fellowships and scholarships since the inception of its awards program in 1932. Today, more than $800,000 is awarded annually to qualifying members and non-members through graduate fellowships, undergraduate study abroad scholarships, member and chapter awards and grants for local and national literacy initiatives. The Society's mission is "To recognize and promote academic excellence in all fields of higher education and to engage the community of scholars in service to others."

For more information on the ECU Phi Kappa Phi chapter, contact Lt. Col. (Ret.) Brett Morris at brett.morris@eku.edu.

Rockcastle to receive TOUR SEKY byway trailhead signage

TOUR Southern and Eastern Kentucky (TOUR SEKY) is excited to announce Rockcastle County is the recipient of six (6) trailhead signs. The signs will be located at the trailheads for Upper Piney Branch Horse Trail, Wilderness Road Canoe Trail, Climax Horse Trail, Long Branch Horse Trail, Lower River Road Canoe Trail, and Hummel Road Horse/Bike Trail. The signage will include a trail map, safety guidelines and trail information. Local tourism contact information will also be included on each sign.

TOUR SEKY is partnering with Americas Byways (byways.org) to design and install the trailhead signage along recreational trails that meet the guidelines set by Americas Byways. Signage will be installed at approved trails along the Country Music Highway, Red River Gorge and Wilderness Road National Scenic Byways and the Cumberland Cultural Heritage State Scenic Byway. A National Scenic Byway is a road recognized by the United States Department of Transportation for one of the six "intrinsic qualities": archeological, cultural, historic, natural, recreational, and/or scenic. The program was established by Congress in 1991 to preserve and protect the nation's scenic but often less-traveled roads and promote tourism and economic development. The National Scenic Byways Program (NSBP) is administered by the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA).

For More information about the trailhead signage program, contact Maggie Bill, TOUR SEKY Programs Director at 606-677-6093.

Minds in the Middle

We invite all Veterans and their families to our annual Veterans Day Recognition Ceremony this Friday. We always feel blessed to be able to provide this day for our local heroes. Call RCMS at 256-5118 for more information or to register.

Congratulations to Mrs. Powell's 7th grade Adventurers homeroom on once again winning the attendance battle last week. Mrs. Davis' and Mr. Gabbard's 6th graders tied for second place.

We thank Mr. Shawn Burdette for doing his annual spooky storytelling. He was fabulous, as usual. We also thank the RCMS Band and Choir concert for the great spooky concert they did last Wednesday.

Dash for Cash will be coming up on November 20th. Students must be present every day until then to be eligible for the drawing.

RCMS yearbooks are for sale. The cost is $30. Personalization and icons are extra. After December 19th, the price will increase to $35. Parents of 8th graders may purchase "Best Wishes" ads for their child and will receive a yearbook discount for doing so. Order forms were sent home with report cards or are available in the main office.

Congratulations to the 7th grade Adventurers on winning the first Box Tops race. We have begun a new collection period so keep sending them in!

There will be a PTSA meeting this Thursday at 4:00.

Next Tuesday will be mid-term of the second grading period. Reports will go home the following Friday.

Thanks to all of the students and staff who made a donation to Pennies for Patients. RCMS reached our goal by raising $1,034. The top team was the Challengers team. The Comets and Challengers both brought in over $200 each. The Leadership Team would also like to thank the Shooting Stars team who raised very little on Wednesday, but made up for it by bringing in over $100 on Thursday. The top homeroom and winner of the movie and popcorn party is Mrs. Sabrina's homeroom and Mrs. Hopkins homeroom.

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...

What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology
of dry foam?

Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.

Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?

A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet
driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufactures recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.

Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?

C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-
Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.

FSA County Committee (COC) Voting to Begin November 5

The Kentucky Farm Service Agency says ballots for the 2012 FSA county committee elections will be mailed to eligible voters on November 5. State FSA

Executive Director John McCauley says FSA county committee allows producers to make important decisions concerning the local administration of federal farm programs.

"I urge all eligible farmers and producers, especially minorities and women, to get involved in their communities by voting in this year's elections," McCauley says.

To be an eligible voter, farmers and producers must participate or cooperate in FSA programs. A person who is not of legal voting age, but supervises and conducts the farming operations of an entire farm, can also vote. Agricultural producers in each county submitted candidate names during the nomination period held last summer.

Eligible voters who do not receive a ballot can obtain ballots at their local USDA Service Center.

December 3 is the last day for voters to submit ballots in person to local USDA Service Centers. Ballots returned by mail must be postmarked no later than December 3.

Committee members apply their knowledge and judgment to make decisions on disaster and conservation payments, establishment of allotments and yields, producer appeals, employing FSA County Executive Directors and other local issues.

Newly elected committee members and alternates take office January 1, 2013.

More information on these and other FSA programs should contact their county FSA office or online at: <http://www.fsa.usda.gov>
Hispanic and Women Farmer and Rancher Agriculture Secretary
Tom Vilsack has announced that Hispanic and women farmers and ranchers who allege discrimination by the USDA in past decades can file claims between September 24, 2012 and March 25, 2013.

The process offers a voluntary alternative to litigation for each Hispanic or female farmer and rancher who can prove that USDA denied their applications for loan or loan servicing assistance for discriminatory reasons for certain time periods between 1981 and 2000.

Call center representatives can be reached at 1-888-508-4429. Claimants must register for a claims package (by calling the number or visiting the website) and the claims package will be mailed to claimants. All those interested in learning more or receiving information about the claims process and claims packages are encouraged to attend meetings in your communities about the claims process and contact the website or claims telephone number.

Website address: www.farmerclaims.gov
Phone: 1-888-508-4429
Claims Period: September 24, 2012 - March 25, 2013.

Independent legal services companies will administer the claims process and adjudicate the claims. Although there are no filing fees to participate and a lawyer is not required to participate in the claims process, persons seeking legal advice may contact a lawyer or other legal services provider.

AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

The Honorable Buzz Carloftis, Rockcastle County Judge/Executive
The Honorable Danetta Ford Allen, Rockcastle County Clerk
Members of the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court

Independent Auditor's Report

We have audited the accompanying statement of revenues, expenditures, and excess fees - regulatory basis of the County Clerk of Rockcastle County, Kentucky, for the year ended December 31, 2011. This financial statement is the responsibility of the County Clerk. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on this financial statement based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, and the Audit Guide for County Fee Officials issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion. As described in Note 1, the County Clerk's office prepares the financial statement on a regulatory basis of accounting that demonstrates compliance with the laws of Kentucky, which is a comprehensive basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. In our opinion, the financial statement referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the revenues, expenditures, and excess fees of the County Clerk for the year ended December 31, 2011, in conformity with the regulatory basis of accounting described in Note 1. Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the financial statement taken as a whole. The schedule of excess of liabilities over assets is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the financial statement. Such information has been subjected to auditing procedures applied in the audit of the financial statement and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the financial statement taken as a whole. In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated June 22, 2012 on our consideration of the Rockcastle County Clerk's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts and grant agreements, and other matters. The purpose of that report is to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. That report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards and should be considered in assessing the results of our audit. Based on the results of our audit, we have presented the accompanying comment and recommendation, included herein, which discusses the following report comment: 2011-01 Chattel Mortgage Collections Had Inadequate Oversight Resulting In Undeposited Receipts Of $3,926 This report is intended solely for the information and use of the County Clerk and Fiscal Court of Rockcastle County, Kentucky, and the Commonwealth of Kentucky and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties. Respectfully submitted,  Adam H. Edelen Auditor of Public Accounts plead their case for the court to reverse their decision not to purchase property belonging to Sam Mullins for the site of the new fire department planned for the area.

The court decided at their last meeting that the site would be too expensive, when the cost of developing the site for the planned building, was factored in. Mullins is asking $10,000 for the one acre site, located just off Hwy. 1912 and $5,000 for property needed for an access road to the property.

When they made their original decision to pass on the property, Magistrate Bill McKinney told James Ballinger, president of the Climax Fire Dept. board and spokesman for the

Rockcastle spared from earthquake

By: Doug Ponder
No physical damage was reported in Rockcastle County after a 4.3 magnitude earthquake shook eastern Kentucky last Saturday.

According to Rockcastle County CSEPP Director Hal Holbrook, only minor damage, such as pictures falling off the wall, was reported.

The U.S. Geological Survey said the earthquake struck about ten miles west of Whitesburg around noon last Saturday. The earthquake was approximately 12 miles deep under the Appalachian Mountains and the tremor reportedly could be felt in eight different states including Kentucky, Georgia, Indiana, North Carolina, South Carolina, Ohio, Tennessee and West Virginia.

Although Rockcastle County had only minor damage, other counties throughout the state reported more serious damage. The Kentucky Division of Emergency Management said Letcher County and Perry County officials found cracks in the drywall of some of the buildings in the county. Some of the floors and walls in the Letcher County courthouse also cracked as a result of the earthquake.

Holbrook said that he is glad Rockcastle County was spared from any major damage but that they are always prepared for the inevitable.

"As always we are prepared for the worst but we are lucky compared to other counties in Kentucky," Holbrook said.

group, the court was under the impression that the $5,000 for the access road was for an easement only to the property and the court couldn't approve this since it would mean they would be unable to spend county funds on a private road.

However, Ballinger told the court that the $5,000 was for the actual purchase of the property and that Mullins had agreed to move the boundary lines of the access road site slightly in order to lessen the cost to the county of building the actual road into the building site. Ballinger told the court that the site would be a "good location" for the proposed building for a number of reasons, primarily because of its central location within the area that would be serviced by the new department.

The department has been looking for a site for the new building for over a year and several sites, thought suitable at first, had to be dismissed, Ballinger said, because of issues such as flood

Brodhead prepares for the Christmas holiday

By: Doug Ponder
Several items were brought up at the monthly city council meeting on Monday night that dealt with the city preparing for their Christmas holiday festivities.

Brodhead Fire Chief and city councilman Larry Taylor said members of the Brodhead Fire Department proposed the idea of having a nighttime or "twilight" Christmas parade this year.

Taylor said the parade will likely draw more interest in the community as individuals and organizations can decorate their floats with Christmas lights. He said the parade should also draw a large crowd as they will be the first town in years to have a Christmas parade at night.

"I believe having the parade at night will make it more enjoyable for the children and get everyone else in the Christmas spirit as well," Taylor said.

Mayor Walter Cash supported Taylor's proposal. He said city workers will also be putting up the Christmas lights on Main Street sometime next week and that they will definitely be up before the parade in December.

The council agreed unanimously to have a nighttime Christmas parade on Main Street. The Brodhead Christmas parade is scheduled for Saturday December 1st at 6 p.m. with lineup starting at 5 p.m. at the Brodhead Elementary School.

Martin Vanzant resigns as School Board chairman

By: Perlina Anderkin
Division among board members about a senior class trip to New York, resulted Tuesday night in the resignation of School Board Chairman Martin Vanzant.

A lengthy discussion preceded Vanzant's action, taken after the trip was approved by a three to two vote. Vanzant and board member Angela Mink voted against the motion with vice chairman Tina Cain and board members Anna Goff and Mike Burdette voting in favor.

Vanzant, Mink and Superintendent David Pensol's objection to approving the trip centered around the board supporting the trip if all students couldn't participate.

A movement has been afoot in recent weeks to replace Project Graduation with the trip and, at the first meeting of parents to discuss the change, Pensol told the group that, instead of either Project Graduation or the New York trip, he would like to see a Senior Celebration put in place which would be financed by the board. He said he had been quite vocal to parents that he could not support the trip unless all students could participate.

At the first meeting, with a reportedly small attendance by parents, a vote was taken and the Senior Celebration was the pick over Project Graduation or the trip but the option for the trip was also approved. However, a second meeting drew a much better attendance, Vice Chairman Tina Cain said.

Cain said that, to date, 67 seniors had paid their $50

After following a reckless driver on I-75

Off-duty police chief leads officers to arrest

By: Doug Ponder
A Somerset man was arrested for DUI and possession of marijuana on Sunday at Wendy's in Mt. Vernon, after an off-duty police chief began following him on I-75 in Madison County.

Arrested at the scene was Ronnie Daniel Bird, 41, of Somerset.

According to Mt. Vernon Police reports, Police Chief Kevin Fletcher was returning home with his family from Lexington when he observed a reckless driver swerving back and forth across all three lanes of traffic, almost hitting multiple vehicles in the process.

Fletcher first spotted the vehicle travelling south on I-75 at the 81 mile marker in Madison County and called Madison County 911 to notify them of the reckless driver. Fletcher then continued to follow the vehicle as it turned off exit 62 in Mt. Vernon, traveling south on Hwy 25 before turning into Wendy's.

After requesting assistance from officers Jeff Harness and Adam Stallworth, who were on duty at the time, Fletcher approached the vehicle and displayed his police I.D. badge to Bird, ordering him to remain in the parking lot until officers arrived.

Once the officers arrived, they noticed Bird appeared intoxicated while

The Way I See it

Many people in the county honored past and present United States armed service members for Veterans Day on Sunday.

It always pleases me to see schools, churches and other community organizations hold events in honor of all veterans for their loyal service and for the sacrifices they made in order to keep our country free.

However, during one of the Veterans Day events I attended last week, someone confronted me and attempted to make a case as to why we shouldn't honor all of the armed service members on this holiday.

He gave me examples of three different men who he knew that had joined the armed services and explained their motives as to why they chose to join.

The first person joined the army after flunking out of college in hopes that the army would help repay some of his student loans, the second person previously had a prescription drug abuse problem and joined the army in hopes of staying clean while in service and the third person joined the Navy after going through a divorce because he had an affair with another woman and he simply wanted to run away from his problems at home.

He said their motives differed from what he believed should be the reason for someone wanting to join the military, to serve and protect their country.

After explaining the three men's stories to me, he then asked me again in a smart aleck tone "So do you honestly believe we should honor veterans similar to these three men on Veterans Day?" and my answer to him was still a defiant YES!

Veterans Day was created to honor ALL people who have served in any of the five branches of the armed service. It's a day to honor each of the veteran's individual service to our country instead of honoring their personal lives.

I understand that the army and the other four branches of the armed services offer college loan repayment programs and I also understand that joining the armed services could possibly offer a refuge to people looking to escape alcohol or drug abuse. If the armed services can possibly help people recover from problems in their past than I am all for it!

However, I personally don't agree with people

If I was going to start up a new restaurant in say, Harlan, Whitesburg, Hazard or someplace up in the hills where the big trucks groan slowly up the hills loaded with black gold and the train gondolas rattle and rumble through the valleys several times a day, I'd give serious consideration giving it a name with coal in it. The Coal Bucket Café has a nice ring to it, don't you think?

Now, if I was going to open an eatery in say Paint Lick, Lancaster or some other location in Garrard County where we grow more tobacco, per capita, than another county in the state, I'd give serious consideration to calling it The Backer Wagon or maybe even better, The Backer Barn.

But, believe it or not, Lancaster does have a brand new restaurant, opened just last week, and it's not named after tobacco. It is, in fact, called, drum-roll please--- The Coal Bucket Café! So how bout that for reversal?

Even though the only coal to be found down here is the scant-few, stray, gravel-sized blocks alongside the roads that managed to fall off the big trucks hauling it from the mountains to the Dix River Power Plant there on Herrington Lake. I don't even know anybody that heats with coal down here anymore even though I once did for nearly twenty years.

When I found about the new eatery and its name, I knew there had to be a story so I set about getting to the bottom of it. Turns out that The Coal Bucket was established and is owned by Garrard County Deputy Judge Executive, James Bushnell who moved here from Harlan County where his father still lives. The senior Mr. Bushnell has long been involved in a mine supply and equipment business in Harlan so coal has always played a big role in James's life and he simply wanted something to make Lancaster feel and taste a little more like home.

I'm not sure that James realized that he was not the only mountain boy transplanted in Garrard County but the Coal Bucket Café sure does work for me. The menu so strongly resembles

Remembering Comic Books

For the past five years (2007 - 2012), my wife and I have been watching a relatively new sit-com on CBS called The Big Bang Theory, which we find extremely entertaining. It revolves around four young men who are "geeks" with super intellects and an aspiring young actress who lives across the hall in an apartment building. (The show has won numerous awards.) A regular feature of the show is this group of guys spending time at a Comic Book Store. It always makes me think of my generation of kids with our own comic books during the early 50's.

Most folks who were young in the late 40's and early 50's remember the popularity of comic books and the dedication of young people to this form of entertainment. I cannot remember my exact age when I first began to read and collect comics, but it was probably somewhere around 1950 when I was six years old.

Comic books were narrative panels that represented scenes containing dialog. The first comic book appeared in the United States in 1933. American comics began to be extremely popu-

You didn't have to die.

From now until the end of our life,

You will be on our mind, every minute, every hour, every day

Appreciation to our Veterans...

Dear Editor,
Rarely, unfortunately, do we, as Americans, come together in complete and absolute unity for a cause or even in recognition of any particular group that helps our great country. When, however, it comes to holding up the flag of our nation and those who sacrificed their personal time to serve these United States in the armed forces, all of us are in total unity of purpose and respect for our armed forces veterans. This is certainly how it should be, and I join my small voice with all Americans to say a tremendous thanks to our veterans here in Rockcastle County.

When we look from the foundations of this nation, we can honestly acknowledge that, while not every war that involved our soldiers, sailors, airmen, and marines was popular here at home (I remember the riots and division among us during the Vietnam War), we still take immense pride – and rightly so – in the service of those who served our country in uniform to protect and defend our unique American heritage – a country, in many ways, unlike any other country that has ever existed.

Many served during peace; many served during devastating wars in the past two centuries to stand at the wall against those who would be aggressors to our unified system of individual states. While many never returned, we remember and honor their sacrifices and hold them and those who did return to their businesses, farms, and jobs to carry on the great tradition of being an American citizen in the highest regard.

To you who are veterans, regardless your age or the era – whether during peace or war – in which you served, I express my sincere thanks and appreciation for your personal sacrifice of time – and sometimes your life – for this noble cause.

*Most Respectfully to You,
Buzz Carloftis

Ignite the 'Fire' at regional prayer rallies...

Dear Editor,
Every day ... I am saddened when I hear stories of children in our region suffering from abuse or neglect because their parents are addicted to drugs.

Every day ... my heart breaks for families struggling to cope with a loved one's addiction.

Every day ... nearly three people die in Kentucky because of drugs.

Every day ... I pray that something can be done about the escalating abuse of prescription painkillers.

Drug abuse and addiction are prevalent in every community. The average age of first-time drug use in southern and eastern Kentucky is age 11. It is a problem that won't go away on its own, and cannot be solved unless we all take a stand.

Let's ignite a "Fire in the Mountains" at 3 p.m. Sunday, November 18, at three simultaneous regional prayer rallies to be held at the Eastern Kentucky Expo Center in Pikeville, Somerset Christian School Auditorium in Somerset, and the Old Corbin Civic Center in Corbin. "Fire in the Mountains" is a free event for people of all faiths who are concerned about drug abuse, addiction and recovery to come together as one through prayer.

Each program will feature prayers led by leaders representing many segments of the community – reflecting the broad impact of the drug epidemic – as well as special speakers and worship selections.

We hope the rallies will give concerned citizens an opportunity to volunteer to make a difference in people's lives, whether through prevention, treatment, or support for those dealing with addiction-related issues. We envision the "Fire" to spread throughout southern and eastern Kentucky, sparking on-going prayer events in all counties.

For more information about "Fire in the Mountains" contact Carl Varney at 606-594-8144 or mailto:cvarney@centertech.com

We need everyone is involved. Let us all come together at 3 p.m. on Sunday, November 18, to pray with one unified voice crying out to God for help with the drug problem.

the restaurants' that I grew up frequenting in Letcher County that I literally had a lump (no pun intended) in my throat when I had breakfast there last Friday. A breakfast that turned out to be the best restaurant meal I've had down here in a long, long time.

I'm also pretty sure that meal was prepared by Debbie Price at the long-gone Garrard Stockyards before they closed down several years ago. So you can imagine my surprise and absolute delight to walk into The Coal Bucket and be greeted by Debbie, who happens to be its manager, or, as she says, Chief Cook and Bottle Washer. That's when I knew I was in for a treat.

I had the "2 eggs, steak, biscuits and gravy" special and coffee, which, at $6.00 is the most expensive of the twenty entrees on the breakfast menu. I actually ordered the steak because Debbie has cooked for me so often over the years that she knows how I like my steak without even asking. In other words, it has been on the grill long enough to stop kicking and saying, "mooooo", it's done enough for me. In other words, everything turned out and tasted as perfect as perfect gets.

The Coal Bucket lunch and dinner menu has well over 30 items with specials on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. You can bet your last nickel that Loretta and I will be there two or three times a week. Hours are 6 a.m. – 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday, 7 a.m. till 3 p.m. Sunday. It's located on Campbell Street across from the old Garrard Health Dept and there is more than ample, convenient parking.

The phone number is 859-792-1405.

If you plan to be in Garrard County, I promise you faithfully that you will not be disappointed if you eat at The Coal Bucket Café.

Deadline for next week's Signal is Monday at 4 p.m.

lar after the publication of Action Comics, which was the debut of the superhero Superman. The year was 1938. This exciting form of entertainment lasted until World War II ended. After that time, the world of comic books expanded to include genres such as westerns, romance, humor, detective, and finally Classic Comics. This particular comic book form featured adaptations of literary classics such as Moby Dick, The Three Musketeers, and The Count of Monte Cristo.

My mother always encouraged me to read – no matter the form of literature. When she spotted my interest in comics, she began to purchase Classic Comics to broaden my knowledge of what she considered good literature. Of course, I was not aware that she had just started me on a journey that would in many ways last a lifetime, even laying the ground work for the recent publication of my first book.

At that age in my life, I was accustomed to placing my valuables in a wooden ammunition box that my father had given to me. It contained a hasp and a padlock so I could protect my personal belongings. That box was kept under my bed so I could guard it at night while sleeping. This was the location where I kept my comics.

I cannot remember many of the titles that I collected, but I distinctly remember having five Classic Comics under my bed. They were: White Fang (1951), Mutiny on the Bounty (1952), Treasure Island (1949), William Tell (1952), and Last of the Mohicans (1942). I have no idea why, but these five comic books were my favorites. I read them over and over and could relate the stories to my mother if she asked me about the plot. I even used Classic Comics to complete book report assignments in grade school (Please don't tell my teachers!).

Albert Lewis Kanter created Classic Comics in 1941 with the debut issue of The Three Musketeers. He recognized the appeal of early comics, and he believed that he could use the new medium to introduce young and reluctant readers to "great literature."

I suppose my most prized of the Classics was White Fang by Jack London. The comic book inspired me to read other books by London, including his most famous novel, The Call of the Wild. His stories of the frozen North Country combined with his Alaskan Husky dogs interested me thoroughly. I can even remember taking my first dog, Frisky, which was a Spitz breed, and pretending that he was White Fang. We played in the woods behind my house chasing bandits who were attempting to raid my gold mines. The two of us were always in pursuit of Northern outlaws. Not a single nugget of gold was ever taken from my mines. We were dedicated!

I often wonder what happened to that old ammunition box that was securely locked and stored under my bed when I left Mt. Vernon to attend the University of Kentucky. My childhood treasures and my comic book collection somehow disappeared after I moved to Lexington. I suppose my mother got tired of dusting that old wooden box and moved it to the attic in our house.

At any rate, what a treasure chest it would be today. I looked up the prices of some of the comics that I had in the late 40's and early 50's to discover that the prices today would range from $23 to a whopping $6,100. Many of the original edition Classic Comics in near mint condition (which mine were) command prices in the thousands of dollars. But to tell the truth, they are much more valuable as a springboard into those magical memories.

(You can reach me at mtmnan@mis.net or you can drop me a line at P.O. Box 927 – Stanton, KY 40380. I appreciate your comments and suggestions.)

cheating on their spouse or abandoning their children and families. I also believe cheating or adultery is morally wrong.

Although, I still honor them as armed servicemen, because without them our safety, freedom and rights could easily be taken away from any of us if it wasn't for our veterans who fought to protect them for us.

Regardless of a veteran's or soldier's personal life, which a lot of us may not agree with, I still encourage everyone to remember our veterans for everything they have done for us during their time of service and I also encourage everyone to thank our current soldiers for everything they continue to do for us.

Even though we may not honor veterans for the decisions they have made in their personal lives, we must still honor them for the decision they made in joining the United States military.

Blast from the Past!!!

This week's photographs are of two Rockcastle County Civil War Veterans. These gentlemen were close friends and strong supporters of the Baptist faith here in the county but fought for different sides in the War Between the States. If you have a photograph for Blast From The Past, contact David Owens at 606-256-9870 or scoopowens24@yahoo.com.

Photo at left: John C. Carmical, 7 May 1838-11 Oct 1906. Mr Carmical served as a private in Company I, 3rd Kentucky Infantry (Union). He was the first pastor of the First Baptist Church in Mt. Vernon and oversaw the moving of the church from Church Street to its current location on West Main. Although a strong Baptist, his wife was a Presbyterian as Mr. Carmical is buried in the old Presbyterian Church Cemetery on West Main in Mt. Vernon.

Photo at right: Thomas Stallsworth 1838-6 Jan 1904, was a private in Company C, 59th Tennessee Mounted Infantry (Confederate). Mr. Stallsworth was a Deacon at the Pine Hill Missionary Baptist Church and is buried in the Pine Hill Cemetery.

First Annual Rockcastle's Got Talent was a success

The newly-formed organizations, the Livingston Community Lions Club and R U Safe? combined efforts to sponsor the first annual "Rockcastle's Got Talent" on October 20, 2012, at the Rockcastle County High School auditorium.

There was a variety of acts to perform. In the Children's "Under 12" division, Lincoln Hines won first place, with Aden Amburgey coming second. The Duet division had Team Praise with Isaac Day and Vanessa Cromer as first place winners. In the Teen Soloist division, Julianna Singleton won first place with a piano solo and was the overall winner. Monica Gray took second place. The Adult Soloist division had Melissa Benson winning first, and Courtney Hale coming in second. Kentucky Romp and Stomp won the group division.

The Livingston Community Lions Club and R U Safe? wish to thank all of those who made this evening a success, especially those who performed and those who came out and supported. This was a new event to the area, and one with hopes to be held annually. Next year's show hopes to be bigger and better with even better awards and prizes.

An encouraging word:

A Day on Which We Remember By Howard Coop

As I pushed a cart through the grocery store looking for items on my shopping list, I saw movement in another aisle that caught my attention. Another man pushing a cart was looking for items on his shopping list. But there was a difference. He appeared to walk with ease but on two artificial limbs. And I wondered.

They are all around us. Every day, in one way or another, we come into contact with them, greet them, and engage them in conversation. For the most part, they are just one of us---ordinary folk who live and work in our midst as our neighbors, our friends, and, maybe, even members of our extended family. But there is one thing that sets them apart and gives them uniqueness: They are military veterans who---sometimes in time of crisis---served our country in some branch of the military.

Their service, noble in our eyes and sacrificial to them, helped to keep this land we love safe and preserve the precious freedom we, as citizens of the United States of America, have enjoyed since 1776 when independence was declared from Great Britain and a new nation, "conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal," was established.

Since June 1, 1954, when President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed a bill, passed by both houses of the Congress and sent to his desk, naming November 11 Veterans Day, that day has been a set apart as a national holiday. But it is more; it is a special day on which we of this land remember, with gratitude and appreciation, the unselfish service and personal sacrifice of veterans living in our midst who, without hesitation, reported for duty, obeyed orders, faced life-threatening danger, and went wherever duty required to defend and protect our beloved land and preserve the precious freedom we enjoy every day as citizens of this great land.

Because of their service to our country, veterans deserve our deepest appreciation and respect.

Operation Christmas Child brings joy and hope to children in desperate situations worldwide through gift-filled shoe boxes and the Good News of God's love. Here is how you can pack a shoe box and make a difference in the lives of those children:

Pack A Shoe Box: Use an empty shoe box (standard size) or plastic container. Determine whether your gift will be for a boy or girl, and the child's age category: 2-4, 5-9, or 10-14, then fill the box with gifts. Some suggestions are:

School Supplies (pens, pencils, crayons, markers)

Toys (small cars, balls, dolls, stuffed animals, yo-yos, jump ropes)

Hygiene Items (toothbrush, toothpaste, mild soap, comb, washcloth)

Other: hard candy and lollipops, mints, gum, T-shirts, socks, ball caps, sunglasses, hair clips, toy jewelry, watches, flashlights with extra batteries

Include $7 (make checks to Samaritan's Purse) to help cover shipping and project costs.

“Cram the Cruiser” food drive...

Kentucky State Police kicked off their third annual ‘Cram the Cruiser’ food drive this week. Food collection sites have been established at all 16 posts throughout the state and at the Headquarters location in Frankfort. The campaign extends through December 14, and is designed to collect non perishable food items for needy families. The food will be distributed to local shelters, churches or other organizations serving those in need during the holiday season. Suggested donations include canned fruit and vegetables, canned meat, macaroni and cheese, cereal, peanut butter, jelly, canned soups, chili or spaghetti sauce, brownie and cake mixes, coffee, water, powdered milk and juices. Last year KSP collected 50,931 pounds of food. Visit the KSP website at kentuckystatepolice.org for a listing of the post locations.

zones, massive fill requirements, sight distance problems and, at one site on Loman Hill, impacting the water source of King Bottling. Ballinger told the court that the Mullins property had utilities readily available, good visibility, great security because of nearby neighbors, location on a state highway (1912) and minimal grading needed for construction. He also pointed out that the new building would create the only public building in Eastern Rockcastle County which would, no doubt, become a hub for public functions. In an update to the court on the formation of the department, Ballinger said there were presently over 30 members actively undergoing training to acquire the needed 150 hours for state certification and over 10 members attended the Kentucky Fire Commission State Fire Rescue Training in October.

Ballinger also pointed out that the new department obviously had the support of the community since a June horse ride fundraiser netted the department $1,000.

He also told the court that the department already had one fire truck, extrication equipment and lots of gear that cannot currently be accepted because there is no place to store it.

The Climax area has a population of 2,500.

A poll of the magistrates by County Judge/Executive Buzz Carloftis brought a consensus of approval of the site and the purchase of the property was passed unanimously.

The site of the voting precinct for Orlando was discussed during the meeting with County Clerk Danetta Allen.

The precinct has been moved to Mt. Vernon Elementary and, Allen said, she realized that voters in the precinct were “highly in favor” of a precinct in the Orlando area. “We have a dead year for elections in 2013,” Allen told the court “which gives us some time to find a suitable location.”

The pay for election officials was brought up by Magistrate Lee Earl Adams and Allen was asked to call surrounding counties to see what their pay for officials is and report back to the court.

Adams also brought up the Cass Bridge in Brodhead, which he said is in bad need of repair.

Adams reminded the court that they had a quote from Kevin Hopkins of Lincoln County to put a new deck and wing walls on the bridge for $19,500.

Carloftis agreed to contact Rick Long with the state transportation department and ask if the bridge would qualify to be replaced under a plan whereby the state would pay 80% of the cost and the county 20%.

The court also discussed the purchase of new playground equipment for Livingston and the construction of some primitive campsites, in order to comply with requirements for the naming of Livingston as a “Trail Town.”

Carloftis told the court that there were grants available to acquire new equipment from Little Tykes toy company but that the cost of the equipment would probably still be less if the county purchased the equipment themselves instead of from Little Tykes which gives out the 30% discount grants.

Carloftis said the old Livingston playground had to be dismantled, mainly because of safety concerns and that the county would use that same site, for now, for the new equipment and for the campsites with a permanent location to be acquired later.

During the financial part of the meeting, the court approved the transfer of $50,000 from the occupational tax fund to the jail fund.

All 11 defendants were placed under a $20,000 cash/property bond.

Jason A. Ruch, 27, Wewton, NC, indicted on four counts: trafficking in a controlled substance, operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol/drugs, tampering with physical evidence and trafficking in marijuana.

His bond was set at $50,000 cash/property.

Christopher D. Riddle, 23, 345 Paul Street, Mt. Vernon was indicted on one count of assault, second degree and his bond was set at $25,000 cash/property.

Jake Wagers, 54, of 427 Sowder School Road, Mt. Vernon was indicted on seven counts. Three of the counts were for wanton endangerment, first degree. He was also indicted for leaving the scene of an accident, operating a motor vehicle on suspended or revoked license, fleeing or evading police and operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol/drugs.

Wagers bond was set at $50,000 cash/property.

Dallas R. Clifford, 39 of 335 Skyline Road, Mt. Vernon, was indicted on three counts, including possession of a controlled substance, operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol/drugs and tampering with physical evidence.

Clifford’s bond was set at $25,000 cash/property.

Steven E. Coffey, 26 of 20 Topaz Lane, Berea and Nathan L. Gadd, 32, of Becky Lane, Brodhead were named in a joint indictment on two counts, one for manufacturing methamphetamine and the other for tampering with physical evidence.

Both men were placed under a $25,000 cash/property bond.

performing field sobriety tests. Officers also observed an open beer can and a marijuana pipe in the center console of the vehicle.

Officers then used Mt. Vernon Police Canine Lakey to search the vehicle. Lakey alerted officers to the center console where a marijuana pipe and two red containers containing marijuana were found.

Bird was charged with DUI, possession of marijuana, drug paraphernalia and possession of open alcohol beverage container in a motor vehicle.

Bird was lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center where he was later released on a $3,000 surety bond.

After initiating the traffic stop, Fletcher couldn’t find the two tablets inside Gadd’s vehicle. Fletcher then requested assistance from officer Nathaniel Price and Deputy Sheriff Shannon Franklin in order to be able to interview witnesses and watch the suspect.

Upon further investigation, employees of the Mt. Vernon Dry Cleaners told officers they saw Gadd throw two white boxes inside their plastic trash bin before officers arrived.

Inside the plastic trash bin, officers found two white boxes, each containing a Craig Android tablet. After further questioning, Gadd told officers she took the tablets from Rite Aid so she could give them to her children.

Gadd was charged with theft by unlawful taking/shoplifting and was lodged in the Rockcastle County deposit for the trip and that 80 were needed to warrant two buses being taken on the four day trip. Total cost of will be between $800 and $900.

Vanzant’s opposition to approval of the trip centered around the board supporting an event for “50-60 kids and other children can’t go and I think the price is high.”

However, Goff said she felt that it wasn’t fair that ball teams got a full week of spring break, when other students didn’t, so they could go to Florida for spring training and that if the New York trip wasn’t approved then “how can the board approve trips for sports?” Goff also pointed out that money raised by individuals through fundraisers can be designated to other students who do not have enough funds from parents to pay for the trip.

Even though she voted against the motion to approve the trip, Angela Mink said she actually didn’t have a problem with students going on the trip but also didn’t like the idea of all students not getting to go.

Board member Mike Burdette told the board that his class went on a senior trip and it was “the best trip of my life. I bonded with kids that I had been in school with for years.”

Following the vote to approve the trip, the board then took a vote to approve various fundraisers proposed, including for the senior trip, and this motion was also approved.

Following that vote, Vanzant told the board that since their board team commitments called for supporting each other, he would be resigning his position on the board, effective Wednesday, since he could not support the majority vote on this issue.

Vanzant, who has served 15 years on the board, presently lives in the Orlando area and won reelection to another term in the general election as the board member from that area.

However, he recently bought property in Hunter Ridge Subdivision and plans to move there in the near future. This would have necessitated his resignation because of his moving out of the district from which he was elected.

Instructional Supervisor Jason Coguer provided the board with additional assessment training on the new testing system which brought the district’s ranking down from their usual upper echelon ranking.

Coguer told the board that the new system was totally different from the previous test. He said that under the new system, standards increased, the test was more rigorous and the grading formula was different.

He said one of the advantages of the new test was that scores could be broken down to grade levels and “schools can now associate date to faces and names.”

Rockcastle County High School, which was the only “Needs Improvement (Focus School)” in the county because they scored three points under the standard deviation in reading and language mechanics, would be presenting a 90 day plan to administrators by the end of November and, if approved, would be held accountable for implementing the plan.

Pensol told the board that the expected improvement on test scores was one point a year on total test scores but he felt that this was too low an expectation. “We will do better than that,” he told board members.

Under the superintendent’s personnel actions report, Andrew Cash was employed as an LBD teacher at Mt. Vernon Elementary and Linda Osborne, Rick Barnett, Melinda Osborne and Sharon Lovell were all approved as substitute teachers.

Hammond gets 20 and Player of the Game in Louisville's win over Texas A&M

It was a battle of two top 15 teams, as #15 Texas A&M visited #9 Louisville in the Lady Cards home opener.

Behind the play of sophomore Sara Hammond, UofL led 31-21 at the break, and by as many as 14, 37-23, early in the second half. That's when A&M (2010-2011 National Champs), turned up the defense and inserted a 6'7" post to go along with a 6'4" post. That size advantage helped A&M get a lot of second chance baskets and take a 44-41 lead late in the game.

in the game, gave Louisville the lead, and win 47-45.

Hammond who battled not one but two post players was named Player of the Game, finishing with 20 points, 13 rebounds, 1 blocked shot and two steals.

Sara, one of three sophomores in the starting lineup, followed that up with 6 points, 9 rebounds, 2 blocks, 2 assists, and 3 steals in just 23 minutes in the Lady Cards 95-46 drilling of Portland University.

The next home game is November 28 vs ECU at 7:30. The UK game at Louisville on December 2 has been changed to 6 p.m.

Tiger Pause

On November 9th, in honor of Veterans Day, the fifth grade students hosted a school wide assembly to recognize those men and women who have so bravely served our country. Over 20 veterans were in attendance who shared a touching moment with students and staff in honoring Veterans Day. Students lead patriotic songs, and shared thoughts and feelings on what Veterans Day means to them. Members of Brodhead Elementary School would like to extend a special thank you to all veterans in appreciation of their service.

Storybook characters filled the streets of Brodhead as Brodhead Elementary presented a school wide storybook parade on October 31st. The Storybook Parade presented an opportunity to promote the love of reading that students at Brodhead have developed. Superintendent, Mr. David Pensol, led the procession as the Grand Marshall of the Storybook Parade. Local businesses joined BES parents to celebrate the march through downtown Brodhead, cheering on students and staff decorating in costumes to embody their favorite storybook character.

Thanks to Mrs. Skyler Bradley and BES storybook committee for arranging the events and occasion for Brodhead Elementary to generate connections with our community.

Managing stress in financial crisis

Rockcastle County Extension Office

During today's economy, many families are stressed by their finances.

Sources of Stress:

- *Prices rise, but your income stays the same.
- *Cut-backs, layoffs or other restricting creates job instability.
- *You feel frustration with family members spending or debt.
- *You have medical, automobile or household expenses that pile up.
- *An unexpected event or crisis creates money problems for the family (illness, death, divorce, etc.).

Take Care of Your Body:

- *Try to eat a healthy and balanced diet.
- *Take time for an enjoyable physical activity to relieve stress.
- *Get enough sleep. We tend to be more on edge and have less to give when we are tired.

Take Care of Your

Emotions:

- *Try to maintain a positive outlook. Remember that the economy has cycles; sometimes they are down, but they will go back up again.
- *You need to set aside some time every day, to laugh, relax and enjoy life.
- *Make sure you have someone you can talk to if times get tough. This could be a spouse, partner, sibling, parent or good friend.
- *Don't be afraid to ask for help if you need it. Most people are willing to lend a hand when others are having a difficult time.
- *Consider seeing a doctor, marriage and family therapist or other professional if you feel overwhelmed.

For more information on handling your finances during tough times, contact the Rockcastle County Extension Office at 256-2403.

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...

What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?

Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.

Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?

A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufactures recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.

Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?

C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

Mt. Vernon man dies after suffering from severe burns

By: Doug Ponder

A Mt. Vernon man has died after officials found him in his backyard last Thursday afternoon with burns to 98 percent of his body.

According to the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Office, Kentucky Division of Forestry crews were dispatched to a residence on Chestnut Ridge Road around 2:30 p.m. after a forest fire was spotted from the air.

Once forestry crews arrived at the scene, they called 911 after finding Robert (Bob) Childress, 64, lying in the backyard of his residence, suffering from severe burns to his body.

Childress was taken by ambulance to the Rockcastle Regional Hospital and was airlifted to the UK Medical Center Burn Unit. He was pronounced dead by the Fayette County Coroner's Office last Friday morning around 1 a.m.

Brodhead couple arrested for allegedly using drugs in the presence of their grandchildren

By: Doug Ponder

A Brodhead couple was arrested for drug possession last Saturday afternoon after the Kentucky State Police responded to a complaint of a couple using drugs in the presence of their grandchildren at the Castle Village Apartments in Brodhead.

Arrested at the scene were Richard Dean York, 53 and Crystal Annette York, 45 both of Brodhead.

According to State Police reports, trooper Jason Vanhook responded to the complaint and, after receiving consent to search the apartment, Crystal York showed Vanhook a needle she had hidden under the sink in the kitchen. Crystal York also told Vanhook she had used the needle to "shoot" Oxycodone into her body last Friday while her grandchildren were in school.

Upon further investigation, Vanhook found Richard York asleep upstairs. Once Vanhook aroused him, he dropped a cellophane baggie containing three Xanax pills onto the floor.

Crystal York was charged with drug paraphernalia and endangering the welfare of a minor. Richard York was charged with drug paraphernalia and possession of a controlled substance, third degree.

Both were lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center. Crystal York was released on a $100 partially secured bond and Richard York was released after pleading guilty in Rockcastle County District Court on Monday.

Under the terms of Richard York's release, he received 180 days probation for two years and will be supervised by Future Hope with random drug tests throughout his probation.

Well-known children's book author visits BES

By: Doug Ponder

A famous children's book author visited Brodhead Elementary School last Thursday to read and speak to second grade students about how to live healthier lives.

Michelle Bain, 45, of St. Louis, Missouri used characters from her children's books to encourage BES second graders to eat healthier and exercise regularly.

Bain started her career in 2002 after writing her first children's book "The Adventures of Thumbs Up Johnnie." She came up with the main characters of her first book as a result of an accident that occurred while sending a birthday card to a former classmate in Texas.

In the birthday card, Bain was using an ink pad to stamp some outgoing mail and got ink on her thumbs. As a result, the back of the birthday card became decorated with some unexpected thumbprints of possible different children's book characters.

"Rather than use a different envelope to send the card, I started using my imagination," Bain said. "I used the thumbprints to create an exuberant cowboy which became the main character in The Adventures of Thumbs Up Johnnie."

Once Bain's former classmate received the birthday card, she was impressed with the thumbprint illustrations and encouraged Bain to pursue a career as a children's book author.

Before Bain pursued

A famous children's book author visited Brodhead Elementary School last Thursday to read and speak to second grade students about how to live healthier lives. Michelle Bain, 45, has created a series of more than thirty children's books targeting young readers between the ages of four and eight and focusing on topics such as helping children understand cancer, diabetes, asthma, eating healthier foods, not smoking and many other health related issues. Bain is shown above with BES students, faculty and "Darby" the kangaroo as they take a pledge to eat healthier. The Kentucky Health Plan and Centene Corporation partnered with Bain in sponsoring the tour of local elementary schools across the state.

by: perlina m. anderkin
Had our annual Thanksgiving family dinner Sunday and, as always, it was a wonderful day. We do that to get everyone before they have to scatter to various in-laws' homes on the actual day. I was stubborn for many years and this necessitated several of my children having to juggle two or more Thanksgiving dinners on the same day.

Thanksgiving is a special time. When my children were small, it seemed they looked forward to Thanksgiving more than Christmas because we made a special effort to connect with family that we didn't get to see as often as we would have liked.

You raise children expecting them to always be around but not realizing that circumstances often create distances that keep you from seeing them on a daily basis. I am fortunate that the furthest away any of my children are is, one in Lexington, one in Nicholasville and one in Springfield with the others still in Mt. Vernon. Of course, some of the older grandchildren are further -- one in Prestonsburg -- and although we all make an effort to keep in touch it's not the same as seeing them on a regular basis.

We had a weekend family gathering in a cabin in Pigeon Forge, TN recently that was wonderful and that was followed closely by Thanksgiving and, of course, Christmas will be here before we know it.

We all have a great deal to be thankful for and this should be the case throughout the year. I am especially guilty of forgetting to count my blessings. I don't grumble over a lack of material things but I do forget how blessed I have been and to be thankful for those blessings.

Something that I do remember to be thankful for, usually on a weekly basis, is our cadre of loyal subscribers and readers. We appreciate that loyalty and pledge to work hard to keep it.

Happy Thanksgiving from Perlina, Paige, Spencer,
Doug and Jimmy

I'm not sure why the day after Thanksgiving is called Black Friday but I assume that it has something to do with black ink that merchants will use on their profit and loss calculations for sales at the end of the day because it marks the unofficial opening of the Christmas shopping season.

I'll be making Friday any blacker. I will be at home reading. However, Loretta and my girls will almost surely be spending most of the day standing in check out lines at name every department and specialty store in central Kentucky but I sincerely hope they are not shopping for me. I have made it abundantly clear that the best thing, in fact the only thing, I want and will make use of, is a gift certificate to amazon.com.

I will use said certificate to purchase books that I will download to the Amazon Kindle that Loretta gave me three years ago and which has turned out to be the most used Christmas gift I've ever received.

In fact, if you have an avid reader on your shopping list for whom you are considering spending a hundred bucks, you might consider giving a Kindle. Actually, the cheapest one can be had for less than seventy dollars and that's what I have. When Loretta got it for me it was top of the line and cost twice that but it's still plenty good enough for me even though there are far fancier versions now.

Do you remember?

While chatting with my friend Bud Cox, we got on a tangent of memories from the 50's. Bud and I were born in the 40's, but most of our experiences together occurred in the 50's and 60's, and we had a blast discussing some now defunct items we were exposed to in those wonderfully simplistic days.

One of the first things that we talked about were the big, blue, flash bulbs that photographers used when we were teenagers. Both of us remembered two guys who were photographers in those days. Elmo Anderkin was notorious for snapping pictures for the Mount Vernon Signal, and we witnessed his work first hand.

When one of those bulbs went off, a person couldn't see normally for a couple of hours. The other photographer was Red McClure. I am not sure if he was doing his photography as a hobby or if he was a free-lance "shutter bug."

And what about those aluminum ice cube trays with the handle on top? Both of us remembered our parents and grandparents filling those trays with Kool Aid, placing a popsicle stick in each compartment, and making homemade popsicles. Mommie Katie made these wonderful, cold treats for my friends who were playing in our yard. It was such a refreshing snack

Local artist demonstrates oil painting at Artisan Center

On Saturday, Nov. 24, artist Louie Northern, of Mount Vernon, will demonstrate his oil painting techniques from 10:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea.

Always interested in art, Northern has been drawing since he was a small child. Today he is a farmer on 300 acres of land on his father's original home place in Rockcastle County. Although born in Dayton, Ohio, Northern returned to the land of his family's roots in 1977. He studied art and began painting while in high school. He went on to earn a Bachelor of Arts degree in painting in 1999, from Eastern Kentucky University.

Northern prefers oil painting as his medium because it doesn't dry fast, and he likes the way oil paint handles using both a brush and palette knife. He often builds up the surface of his canvass to give it a more three-dimensional texture. Most of Northern's subject matter is rooted in his surroundings - farmland, mules, logging trucks and the woods that grow on his lands. Northern also creates more non objective paintings playing with color and texture, and he is adept at printmaking.

A selection of works by Louie Northern is regularly available at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea, located at 200 Artisan Way, just off Interstate 75 at Berea exit 77. The center's exhibits, shopping and travel information areas are open daily from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. with the cafe open from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Admission is free.

The center currently features works by more than 650 artisans from more than 100 counties across the Commonwealth. A special gallery exhibit, "The Threads that Bind: Textile Works by Kentucky Artisans," is on display through Feb. 23, 2013. For information about the center's programming, call 859-985-5448, visit us on Facebook at www.facebook.com/kentucky.artisan.center, or go to the center's website at www.kentuckyartisancenterky.gov.

The Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea is an agency in the Tourism, Arts and Heritage Cabinet of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

by: Tonya J. Cook

"In Remembrance of Thanksgiving Long Ago"

The first Thanksgiving was simply a gathering of fifty-two Pilgrims and ninety-one natives to celebrate a bountiful harvest in the fall of 1621 following a harsh and devastating 1620, the year of the Pilgrim landing at Plymouth Rock. The celebrating lasted for three days and the gathering wasn't repeated the next year. The "thanksgiving" was more of a traditional English harvest festival with little "thanks" involved.

The next "thanksgiving" was fifty-five years later on June 29, 1676 in Charleston, Massachusetts to express thanks for the good fortune the colonists of the area had in their community. By this time, the colonists had forgotten the help the native people had given them to ensure their survival and were "thankful" for a recent victory over the "savages" in the area. It had become apparent the natives were nothing more than a hindrance standing in their way in the quest for more land.

A hundred years later, in October of 1777, all thirteen colonies had a celebration of thanksgiving to commemorate a patriotic victory over the British at Saratoga. This was a one-time affair.

It wasn't until 1789, about the time Mount Vernon was being settled, that George Washington proclaimed a National Day of Thanksgiving. Some colonies were against the celebration. The reason being that some of the colonists weren't prospering as some of the others were and it was looked on as being an unjust act to celebrate when some were suffering hardship. President Thomas Jefferson later opposed the day, as well.

The Thanksgiving that became the national day of feasting and celebration we have become to know was first proclaimed by President Abraham Lincoln in 1863 with each proceeding president endorsing the day. It was held each November on varying days until 1941 after a sanction by Congress.

It seems apparent that the early Thanksgivings weren't held here in the backwoods of Appalachia. It also isn't clear when the first Thanksgiving was held here in the county, but it is safe to say it took several years until more settlers came through the Cumberland Gap to bring the custom along with them.

Even when the Thanksgiving was held, the foods served were vastly different than the food today. Turkey was a generalized term used to describe any kind of wild fowl. Vegetables from the English gardens were served with the exception of potatoes and tomatoes. They were considered poisonous by many. (However, the potato saved the Irish from famine in Ireland.) Spices and flour were scarce in the early days, so foods with these ingredients probably weren't served. Cornmeal cakes were served rather than yeast rolls. Various berries were plentiful and gourd types such as squash and pumpkin.

Eventually, Thanksgiving did come to the county as it did to the whole of the country. It has endured wars, the Depression, and all of the hardships along the way, and still survives. Unfortunately, many today see it as only an "English harvest festival", a day of feasting, watching football, and generally doing whatever satisfies the soul and perceiving it a "bump in the road" on the way to Christmas.

However, there's some excellent reading out there that simply can't be put on a kindle or any other e-reader.

For example, I just polished off two very excellent new pieces of fiction written by my good friend and fellow Letcher County native, Jim Cornett, who has lived in Burnside, KY since 1982. Some of you readers may recall that I touted, here in the column, about three years ago, Jim's first work of fiction entitled The Frog Farm, which he did after writing and self-publishing more than 20 documentaries pertaining to Appalachia.

The book, published in 2005, was so well-received that he wrote a sequel, Return to Frog Farm, published in 2010. Now the ink is barely dry on his third fictional work entitled Up on the Mountain; Down in the Valley. I've just finished reading these last two and I've seldom been as royally entertained as Jim Cornett's writing does for me. In all three cases, as I neared the last page, I've thought to myself, "oh please don't end so soon".

It's difficult to describe Jim's style but I would call it pure, un-distilled, Appalachia. Readers will be reminded of, among others, Jesse Stuart, Jan Watson and John Fox, Jr. All three books are set in the hills of Kentucky, wryly humorous, happy-ending love stories. Readers can simply kick back and enjoy an easy, entertaining ride with plenty to smile about along the way.

But don't expect slick covers and fancy art work. Jim Cornett is about the ultimate in self-publishing. He writes on 8.5" X 11" inch white paper and his wife, Janice Jewel, helps him proofread it at least a dozen times. Once they are satisfied with the manuscript, he heads to Office Depot to have it printed. He makes his own covers from cardstock, punches the holes himself and then puts the documents in a spiral binder, one at a time.

Jim sells most of his books at fairs and festivals throughout south and eastern Kentucky and through direct mail. His market scheme is largely word of mouth and the occasional review by folks like me. I am, personally, very proud to help him out.

All three fictional titles are priced at $7.50 each, including postage, and would make excellent Christmas presents for anybody who loves good Appalachian fiction.

You can order copies and/or obtain a price list for his other work by sending a check for whichever books you want to: Jim Cornett, PO Box 336, Burnside, KY 42519.

when we were hot in the summer months.

Another item we laughed about was Jiffy Pop popcorn. Do you remember the aluminum pans with the foil on top? When you placed the pan on top of a stove burner, the foil on top began to expand and fill with freshly popped corn. My mother discovered this simple method of preparing a snack for me when I was a teenager. It was first marketed in 1958. I will never forget how the heated pan caused the foil to unfold and puff up. The name "Jiffy" came from the short cooking time needed to prepare this delicious treat.

As boys, both Bud and I used water balloons as toy weapons. He did not play with these items as much as I did, but he remembered other teenagers sneaking up on someone and blasting them with a dose of cold water. The youngsters in my neighborhood had wars with balloons filled with water from Pop's garden hose. We simply stretched the mouth of the balloon over the hose and turned on the water. Sometimes we left the balloon on the hose too long, exploding it in our faces. I guess you could say that those balloons were good "clean" fun!

And who remembers phone numbers that had only three digits? My grandparents had one of those huge, old, wooden phones which hung on the wall in the living room. In the beginning, that phone had a three digit number; it was listed that way even in the phone book. It is hard to take in how phones have changed since those days. My grandmother would have a stroke if she knew that I carry my phone in my pocket every day.

Two of the items that Bud and I discussed were common terms that were used in the 50's, like service station. Generally, it meant that when you pulled onto the lot, someone would come to your car, ask whether you wanted Ethyl or regular gasoline and begin to fill your tank. As the filling was taking place, your windows were cleaned, your oil was checked – along with your radiator, and if needed, your tires were filled with air. All of this was done without you even asking for the additional service. Can you imagine that happening today? If someone actually did perform such services, it would cost a fortune to fill up your tank because you would also be charged for the service to your automobile.

The other term that we discussed was "peel out," meaning that you accelerated so quickly in an automobile that the rear tires spun on the pavement and thereby caused the tires to squeal. Another term that meant the exact same thing was to "lay rubber." In those days, the more power your car had, the more rubber you could lay on the highway. We squealed our tires to make a statement about how hot our cars were, and we were proud if we could make the loudest noise or the longest mark.

To most of us Baby

Boomers, these were the best of days! We share memories of a time in which things began to change rapidly, and we were swept up in the excitement of it all. TV was born, and there was no telling where that would lead. The age was becoming "modern," and most of us were living it one curve at a time. We didn't even realize that the pace of daily life was picking up speed.

I suppose that this generation must feel somewhat the same way. But there will come a time when today's young will, too, begin looking back and reminiscing about the way things were back in the "good old days." But I just can't help it – think our good old days were better. I hope they enjoy remembering their times as much as I do remembering mine.

An encouraging word:

Thanksgiving Comes From The Heart

By Howard Coop

In 1925, Johnson Oatman, Jr. published a song associated with Thanksgiving that has become well known to many people. It contains the words many of us remember well: "Count your many blessings, name them one by one, and it will surprise you what the Lord hath done."

As far back as I can remember, I have been in numerous congregations and heard those words sung during the thanksgiving season. Those words are poignant reminders of a profound thought: If we take the time and effort to take note of them, every day is precious because it is filled with both little and big surprises from some source that make life pleasant and give it real meaning and genuine significance.

Thursday, November 22 is a significant holiday in our land. We call it Thanksgiving and rightly so, for it commemorates a great heritage.

On Thanksgiving Day, this nation will pause, hopefully, to remember the hardy Pilgrims at Plymouth and the big feast they shared with friendly Indians as they took time from their labor to give thanks to God for surviving a severe winter with very little food and arriving at the first harvest they experienced in the new world. In commemoration of that rich heritage, many families will gather around a heavy-laden table and indulge in a big feast and call it thanksgiving.

But true thanksgiving is more, much more, than a family coming together to share big feast of turkey, dressing, and all the trimmings that go with them. An anonymous individual has written, "Gratitude is the memory of the heart," and all of my life I have heard, "The mouth speaks what the heart is full of."

Now, gratitude is a feeling of appreciation for things or benefits received and remembered, and thanksgiving is the verbal expression of this feeling. When we remember all of the things---both little and big surprises---we have received, our hearts overflow with gratitude, and sincere expressions of thanks follow. That's true thanksgiving, for it comes from the heart.

What I do to keep patients safe:

Debbie Carpenter, Phlebotomist, has worked at Rockcastle Regional Hospital & Respiratory Care Center for 30 years in the Lab. "Sometimes people are uncomfortable with needles and blood work, so it's important for me to monitor the patient's status at all times. I let patients lay down if they feel faint or take them down to their car in a wheelchair." Debbie also checks names and birth dates of all patients to verify accuracy of tests that are being administered. And that's what Debbie does to keep patients safe!

K-Prep info available to RCHS parents

Rockcastle County High School will offer several opportunities for parents/guardians of high school students in grades 9-12 to receive information about their child's 2012 K-Prep assessment results. You may participate in any of the following options:

- Assessment Information Workshops: Dec. 4th and Dec. 11th at 6:00 p.m.

RCHS Parents are invited to attend one of two informational sessions on our state's testing system and pick-up your child's individual assessment report. Counselors and administrators will be present to explain results and answer any questions you may have. Both evening sessions will take place in the school's auditorium.

- Assessment Results will also be available for parents/guardians Dec. 3rd-Dec. 13th. You are welcome to come to the school, at your convenience, and pick-up your child's individual report and talk with counselors and/or administrators between 8:00-3:30 each day. On Dec. 14th, Individual assessment reports that have not been picked up will be sent home with students.

Please contact Jennifer Mattingly, principal, at the high school if you have any questions regarding individual score reports. We look forward to meeting with you about these important assessment results!

Alexander leads UC with 17 points

The University of the Cumberlands Women's Basketball team fought hard as a group this weekend at the Morris College Classic, coming away with an easy win over Point University 79-24 while banding together to hold onto a 58-50 victory on Saturday against Emmanuel College. Being put in two completely contrasting situations, the Patriots proved they could handle anything and belong in the top 25 in the country with both victories coming on the road.

On Friday, the Patriots took on the Skyhawks of Point University, clipping the Skyhawks' wings in a 79-24 victory. While the Patriot ladies shot 53% from the field and 90% from the free throw line on the offensive side, it was the smoldering defense that propelled them to victory, holding Point University to a season low 15% shooting as a team.

RCHS graduate Jackie Alexander, Junior, led the charge with 17 points and 5 rebounds, while Dace Bicane (Riga, Latvia) scored 15 points of her own and got 3 steals. Jill Herman (Powell, TN) chipped in with 13 points to the Patriots total as well.

On Saturday afternoon, the Patriot ladies faced a much tougher test against Emmanuel College, battling until the very last minutes where Cumberlands came out on top with the 58-50 win. While the Patriots shot a strong 52% from the field, the defense of the Saints attacked constantly forcing the Patriots to 21 turnovers on the evening. However, with solid ball movement and consistent hustle, Cumberlands held on to put away the Saints. Jessica Upchurch (Stanford) put up 14 points on the night along with 2 blocks and 2 steals while Bicane and Ashley Mullins (Totz, KY) added 12 points each.

With both wins, the Patriots now move to 4-0 on the season.

Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue and Rockcastle County EMS responded to a single car accident last Thursday morning on I-75 southbound at the 59 mile marker in Mt. Vernon. Authorities say a Candian couple was traveling south to Florida after recently buying a house in the state, when the driver fell asleep and lost control of their 2013 Ford Flex after hitting a guardrail. No one was injured in the accident.

Kentucky law states that if someone is not indicted within 60 days of their arrest they will be released from custody and their case dismissed. However, Kentucky law also states that there is no statute of limitations for felony cases meaning Durham can be indicted on his felony charges by the Rockcastle County Grand Jury at any time in the future.

Assistant Commonwealth Attorney Jeremy Bartley said the reason why Durham was not indicted within the 60 day time period was because all the evidence acquired from the meth lab during the raid, at which Durham was arrested, has not been processed and returned to them from the Kentucky State Police crime lab. He said they will not present the case to the grand jury until they have all the tested evidence results back from the lab.

The KSP crime lab tests the evidence retrieved from drug crime scenes to make sure the drugs are actually the same types of drugs as they are labeled. Bartley said it is not uncommon for alleged prescription pills to actually be over the counter drugs or for suspected methamphetamine to actually be other legal substances.

Bartley said that it often takes two to five months to receive the results from all the tested evidence at the KSP crime lab. He said this is a common occurrence in drug-related cases because of the large number of drugs the KSP crime labs are currently testing and also because of the large amount of evidence involved in this case that has to be evaluated by the KSP crime lab.

Bartley said that the Commonwealth Attorney's office will never present a case to a grand jury unless they have all the evidence available to them for their prosecution. He said that once all the evidence is returned from the lab, they will proceed with the prosecution of Durham's case and present it to the Rockcastle County Grand Jury.

“We hope to have all the evidence results back within the next couple of months,” Bartley said. “Once we get them back, we will pursue Durham's case and present it to the grand jury.”

a reckless driver swerving back and forth across the center lane on South Wilderness Road.

After talking to the driver, officers returned to their cruiser and noticed Sowder, who was riding in the rear passenger seat, take a bottle out of her bra and place it in one of her pants pockets.

Officers also found a loaded .22 caliber revolver and a butterfly knife inside Sowder’s purse at the time of her arrest.

her new career, she was an owner of a healthcare services company in Kansas City, Missouri. However in 2002, Bain also founded a new company entitled Pixie Stuff, LLC where she has now created a series of more than thirty children’s books targeting young readers between the ages of four and eight.

Bain’s books touch on topics such as helping children understand cancer, diabetes, asthma, eating healthier foods, not smoking and many other health-related issues. Bain also said she was commissioned this past summer to write seven more books. As a result of the growing demand, Bain now works with five illustrators, a technical writer, a chief business officer and an intern.

Bain said she owes all her success to the tiny cowboy character named Johnnie whom she first created by accident.

Officers also found one morphine tablet and four more counterfeit $20 bills inside Coates’ purse. Officers then used Mt. Vernon Police canine Lakey to search Coates vehicle. Lakey alerted officers to the passenger door where a bag of syringes were found. Lakey also alerted officers to the trunk where a bottle of urine and suspected methamphetamine were found.

Coates told officers that she was a drug addict. She also told officers that the bottle of urine didn’t belong to her and the morphine that she “shot up” with was prescribed to her.

Coates was charged with three counts of possession of a controlled substance, criminal possession of a forged instrument, tampering with physical evidence, drug paraphernalia and DUI. She remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $15,000 surety bond.

Both were lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center and were later released on a $2,000 unsecured bond.

Community supports local cancer patients

What does a horse show, a youth football team, a pink t-shirt, a group of grandmas, a group of students from Rockcastle County Middle School and a non-competitive walk have in common? They all involve groups of people in the community who are supporting local cancer patients through contributions to the Hope Fund.

Rockcastle Regional Hospital began providing cancer care services to the community in 2004 and has continued to grow the service. The Chemotherapy Clinic opened in the Outpatient Services Center in 2007 after an affiliation with UK Markey Cancer Center. Since then, patients from Rockcastle County and surrounding communities have had access to oncologists and nurses trained at UK HealthCare. The frequent trips to Lexington for cancer care were lessened and cancer care was brought closer to home. However, each year, hundreds of people from the county and the region are faced with the extraordinary emotional and financial difficulties associated with a cancer diagnoses.

The Hope Fund was established to provide financial support for basic necessities to individuals and families dealing with cancer. When Melissa Brock, Rockcastle Regional Hospital Oncology Service Line Manager, started the Hope Fund, she had no idea the overwhelming support that the community would provide. "I am humbled at the response The Hope Fund has gotten from the community. We didn't have a set fundraising plan to sustain the Hope Fund when we started. We knew there were individuals and families in the community that were struggling and we wanted to be able to help," said Melissa.

"Sometimes a gas card can mean the world to a patient who has to go to Lexington for an aspect of their cancer care. To be eligible for assistance, patients must meet certain criteria and complete an application, but we try our best to provide assistance to those who need it."

The primary fundraiser for Hope Fund this year was the Strides Against Cancer Horse Show in September that profited nearly $17,000. Previous events from the year included a youth football team collected donations and the Rockcastle County Rockets football team sold t-shirts. A group of grandmas, the Grandtaztics, sold pink t-shirts and spread breast cancer awareness education around the community. The Leadership Team at Rockcastle County Middle school sponsored several fundraisers at the school to raise money for the Hope Fund. And in April, the Woodstock Community Center hosted "Woodstock Cares for a Cure" and donated the proceeds from the non-competitive walk.

If you are interested in supporting the cancer patient assistance fund, contact Melissa Brock at 256-7703 or Arielle Estes at 256-7880.

Stars and educators celebrate families at Hall of Fame

Renfro Valley was packed on Saturday, November 10, with families from 18 Kentucky counties all celebrating the important roles that parents and grandparents play in education. Berea College's Office of Externally Sponsored Programs and the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame hosted the event. The Berea office sponsors college access programs across the region, including GEAR UP, Promise Neighborhood, Upward Bound, Upward Bound Math & Science, Educational Talent Search and i3.

The highlight of the day was a program featuring Nashville recording artist Jimmy Wayne, whose number one hit "Do You Believe Me Now" and top ten hits "Stay Gone" and "I Love You This Much" brought star-power to the stage. Wayne performed and spoke to parents and students about his journey through the foster care system and the difference that one family made in his life. "This family allowed me to stay in their home for six years. I was a 16-year-old kid, had been homeless, had been living on the street, had been in the system, had gone to 12 schools in two years," Wayne said. "This family gave me an opportunity to chase my dream. And not only to chase my dream, but to catch it."

Local businesses and organizations donated door prizes for attendees. Currier's Music World in Richmond and the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame each donated a guitar. Dora Lewis, parent of a Madison County middle school GEAR UP student and Tyler Haste, a Breathitt County student, won the guitars, and met with Jimmy Wayne backstage. Billy Rose, owner of the Berea Dairy Queen, donated an iPad, which was won by Jaime Lakes, a family member of a Madison County GEAR UP middle school student. The Rockcastle County Kiwanis Club provided door prizes, also. Local bluegrass group Sugartree also performed for families as they ate lunch and toured Renfro Valley.

Renfro hosts 2012 alumni show

The Old Barn at Renfro Valley rang loudly with memories and music recently when performers from the past met once again for the 2012 Renfro Valley Barndance Alumni Show held Saturday, November 3.

These musicians performed for many years on the Barndance and, each year, thanks to the staff at the Renfro Valley Entertainment Center, they come together once again for a show filled with fun and entertainment for the audience and filled with memories of the past for the alumni members.

Vester Parker and the Parker Brothers Band of Berea opened the show and provided backup for the performers, in addition to members of the house band (J.D. Miller and Rob Parker). Also performing were: Harold Russell and Ralph Marcum from McKee, John Cosby from Richmond, Jenny Robbins of Hamilton OH, Jeannie Gibson of Burkesville, Bun Wilson of Paris, TN, Pete Stamper of Renfro Valley, Pam Perry Combs of Berea, Jerry Isaacs "Chicken Man" of LaFollette, TN, Betty York and Gwen Flannery of Mt. Vernon, and Kathee Staton Ingram of Brodhead, who also coordinated the Alumni Show and acted as emcee. A note of appreciation was extended to Mark Laws, Entertainment Director at Renfro Valley for his assistance in making the show possible.

Since this year's show was held in conjunction with the Anniversary Show, the Alumni Show was dedicated to John Lair, founder of Renfro Valley. Among those recognized in the audience were his two daughters, Ann Lair Henderson of Mt. Vernon and Barbara Lair Smith of Hopkinsville, Jean Clark of Berea and Sara Grace Miracle of Mt. Vernon (widow and daughter of Old Joe Clark), Vivian Pennington also of Berea (widow of Glenn Pennington), and Terry "Trooper" Cromer, who provides outstanding technical and sound service for all the

Renfro Valley events, as well as former entertainers Linda Martin of Mt. Vernon, Boyd Ingram of Brodhead, Ann Honeycutt of Clinton, and Sonny Morgan

and they were RIGHT!

Jewel and Jerry Hansel

After checking with Jackson Energy, Jewel and Jerry Hansel found they were eligible for a $258 Button-Up Rebate if they would upgrade their insulation. "Between the rebate and the dollars we were sure to save each month... we knew the investment would pay off quickly," said Jerry. And pay off it did. "Our energy bills averaged $145 for the few years before the extra insulation to our floor and attic," added Jewel, "and our average for this past year has been $118. That savings adds up over the year!"

Button-Up and SAVE!

Rockcastle County 4-H gets license plate funding

Kentucky Commissioner of Agriculture James Comer announces that, for the first time, proceeds from the farm licenses plate - voluntary donations -- have been divided equally among 4-H, FFA and Kentucky Proud. Farmers can make a $10 donation when they renew their license plates.

The 4-H share for the fiscal year, ending June 30, 2012, was $121,708.64 and benefits all levels of Kentucky 4-H. The Kentucky 4-H Foundation splits the donations equally between the county from which the funds originated and the foundation. Half of the donations used by the foundation will support state level programs. The other half will support county programs where the donation originated, making this a great opportunity for local 4-H Councils, clubs and members to increase financial support for their program.

"The voluntary donations from the Kentucky farm license plates renewals will help Kentucky 4-H give young people around the Commonwealth opportunities that develop leadership, citizenship and life skills," said Agriculture Commissioner James Comer.

Over 228,000 youth are involved in KY 4-H programs. Kentucky ranks in the top 10 in several 4-H enrollment categories nationwide.

"The Kentucky 4-H Foundation is working with Commissioner Comer and the Kentucky FFA Foundation to raise awareness about the farm license plate voluntary donation program," said Keith Rogers, Executive Director of the Kentucky 4-H Foundation. "This is an excellent opportunity for our agricultural community to support the youth of Kentucky and Kentucky Proud program. We encourage those with farm tags to make the $10 donation next March when they renew their farm license plates."

Robby Bradley, Will Martin, and JD Morgan were winners in the Male Division of the Ag Olympics.

FFA Fall Cookout

Submitted by Chapter Reporter Bethany McKinney

On September 20th, many of Rockcastle County's FFA members and their families came together at Quail Park to have a good meal and also to play games and have fun. Part of the fun had at the fall cook out consisted of members partaking in the Ag Olympics and the bow shoot.

The Ag Olympics consists of several farm games such as: Hay Bale Toss, Hay Hurdles, Hay Stacking, Wheel Barrow Racing, Feed Sack Racing, and The Tractor Tire Role.

With the Olympics split into two divisions, the winners of the female division were: Annamarie Leader, third place; Shawna Stoneking, second place; and Mary Bishop, first place.

The winners of the male division were: JD Morgan, third place; Will Martin, second place; and Robby Bradley, first place.

We also had winners in the annual Bow Shoot; Elizabeth Lawrence placing second and David Gabbard placing first. Congratulations to all the winners and we would also like to thank our local Alumni for cooking the meal served.

David Gabbard and Elizabeth Lawrence were the winners of the bow shoot during the recent FFA Fall Cookout.

Mary Bishop, Annamarie Leader, and Shawna Stoneking were winners in the Female Division of the Ag Olympics.

Mike Robbins, President of the Rockcastle County 4-H Council, presents Treasurer, Virginia Hansel with a check for $272.44 from the 4-H Foundation.

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...

What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology
of dry foam?

Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.

Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?

A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150* degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet
driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufactures recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.

Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?

C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-
Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.

Landscape Comments on Thanksgiving

As we've past the harvest season and reached the time our nation has established for a national Day of Thanksgiving, I believe it only fitting that we pause and appreciate our many blessings. Individual blessings as well as those of our families and of our nation. 'Tis fitting that the most blessed nation on the face of the earth should have this special day.

When the Puritans left England in 1608 to get away from harsh religious persecutions, they went to Holland. From there they sailed in September 1620 and reached Plymouth Rock some 63 days later. (Incidentally, it was the Geneva Bible, not the 1611 KJV they brought over on the Mayflower.)

Over half died of sickness and not enough food or shelter that first harsh winter in the New World.

Following help from some friendly Indians, who apparently learned some of the English language rather easily, the colonists grew corn and other crops in 1621. And, being grateful for their harvest, they made a Thanksgiving feast, and invited the Indians. The Indians brought food too, and they feasted together in peace for three days.

We do know the Puritans had declared some Thanksgiving days following particularly tough times before back in England. And they of Berea.

After the show, a delicious meal was served at the Renfro Valley Lodge, compliments of Owner and Chef, Cliff Mullins and his staff.

On Saturday night, the group performed as The Renfro Valley Alumni Chorus on the Barndance. This was an added event this year and certainly allowed the alumni members to complete the “walk down memory lane”.

Plan now to attend next year's special weekend of events at Renfro Valley.

certainly wanted to let their God know they were grateful for the bountiful harvest of the first growing season in the new colony. Many years later the nation chose the day for a national holiday as the last (and then the fourth) Thursday in November.

Now, today, those who celebrate and decorate for Thanksgiving do so for a variety of reasons.

Some are truly thankful. Others find an occasion to stuff themselves (with stuffed turkey?) and watch football or take a nap. And some look forward to kicking off holiday shopping the following day.

Like so many of our holidays, many of the modern Thanksgiving customs come from pagan religions in ancient times. The cornucopia basket of fruits displayed everywhere for Thanksgiving season is the Horn of Plenty from ancient Rome and Greece...where the gods kept the rams horn filled with whatever the owner desired (at least so goes the myth).

But, even though the God of the Bible tells us He does not want to be worshipped using the customs of how the pagans worshipped/worship their gods—I believe the American Thanksgiving is a noble occasion when all believers in this great country can take some time to reflect on the abundance we enjoy, and give thanks from whence it came. (From the owner of everything, Haggai 2:8 and elsewhere).

What's sad is the news media and the liberals in education now refer to it as “Turkey Day”, desiring to leave God out of everything. The current US President wont even mention God when saying the pledge to the flag. And people everywhere want to get past Thanksgiving so they can go shopping.

Decorations for Christmas (which has it's origins way before Christ, but that's another story) start coming out before school supplies hit the shelves almost anymore. We ought to take time to be thankful, while we still have so much. It may not always be that way.

The staff and students at Brodhead Elementary would like to extend a special thank you to our cafeteria and custodial staff for hosting the annual Thanksgiving lunch on November 14th. Their exceptional efforts allow our families and community members to share this special day with us during lunch. Nearly 400 guests were in attendance to partake in this year's special meal. We very much appreciate the additional hard work that goes into preparing and serving such a large crowd and are grateful for the outstanding cafeteria staff and support that we have at Brodhead Elementary.

Two people are dead as a result of two crashes that happened this past week in Rockcastle County. In the above photo: Brindle Ridge Volunteer Fire Department responded to a single car accident Sunday afternoon on Flat Gap Road in Conway. Authorities say Carl Edward Taylor, 38, of Berea was traveling west on Flat Gap Road when he lost control of his Chrysler PT Cruiser and ran off the road before colliding with the I-75 concrete underpass. Taylor was transported to the Saint Joseph Berea Hospital where he was later pronounced dead by the Madison County Coroner's Office. Investigators say he was not wearing his seat belt at the time of the accident and there was no indication of braking at the scene. In the photo below: Livingston Fire Department and Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue responded to a single car accident last Friday morning on Hwy 25 near White Star Auto Parts in Livingston. Authorities say Hiram A. Still was pronounced dead at the scene by Rockcastle County Coroner Billy Dowell. Investigators say Still was wearing his seat belt at the time of the accident.

Local man arrested for attempting to shoot his son-in-law

By: Doug Ponder

A Mt. Vernon man was arrested for wanton endangerment after reportedly attempting to shoot his son-in-law last Wednesday night at a home on Willailla Road in Brodhead.

Arrested at the scene was Robert E. Evans, 63, of Mt. Vernon.

According to state police reports, Trooper Scottie Pennington responded to a home at 2029 Willailla Road after receiving a complaint of a shooting that had occurred at the residence.

Once Pennington arrived at the residence, Mark Teague, who is Evans' son-in-law, told Pennington that he and Evans had previously been arguing about a woman who wanted to stay with Evans.

Teague told Pennington that he was standing in the doorway of the front door when Evans grabbed a .38 caliber revolver and attempted to shoot him, hitting the middle of the front door instead. He also told Pennington that Evans attempted to shoot him again, but that his wife managed to take the gun away from Evans.

Evans was charged with terroristic threatening and wanton endangerment, first degree. He remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $5,000 unsecured bond.

Livingston man arrested for abuse of public trust

By: Doug Ponder

A Livingston man was arrested Monday afternoon for abuse of public trust after officers from the Mt. Vernon Police Department made a traffic stop on Hwy 25 near Country Sam's furniture store in Mt. Vernon.

Arrested at the scene was David Steven Blackburn, 44, of Livingston.

According to Mt. Vernon Police reports, officer Adam Stallworth made the traffic stop after observing Blackburn's vehicle swerving back and forth across the center line on Hwy 25.

Once Stallworth approached the vehicle, he noted that Blackburn did not make eye contact with him during their conversation.

Stallworth also noticed Blackburn appeared intoxicated while performing field sobriety tests. After ordering Blackburn to open his mouth, Stallworth observed a white residue on the left side of his teeth and tongue. When Stallworth asked Blackburn to spit the residue out of his mouth, he refused.

Upon further investigation, Stallworth discovered that the vehicle Blackburn was driving had Kentucky state official tags and was owned by the City of Livingston Sewer and Waste Division.

Blackburn told Stallworth that he had just got off work and was traveling back home from visiting a friend on Maple Street in Mt. Vernon. He also told Stallworth that he used the Livingston Sewer and Waste Division vehicle for his own personal use.

Blackburn was charged with abuse of public trust, tampering with physical evidence and DUI. He was lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center where he was later released on a $5,000 surety bond.

Blackburn was also previously arrested on January 11th after officers received an anonymous tip that Blackburn was driving the City of Livingston police cruiser on Hwy 25 in Mt. Vernon and that he was not a police officer.

Officers made the traffic stop after observing Blackburn driving a Ford Crown Victoria with the word POLICE written

Lil's Place soon to be under new ownership

By: Doug Ponder

A popular Livingston restaurant is now under new ownership.

Lil's Place owner and Livingston Mayor J.C. Griffin said he sold the restaurant on Tuesday to Pam Wilson and Jerry Franks of Stanford. Griffin said they are still finalizing the deal but that the new owners will take over operation of the restaurant "in a few weeks."

Points East

By Ike Adams

When I was growing up, there in the head of Blair Branch, my younger brothers and I would commence aggravating Dad and Mom the day after Thanksgiving about Christmas.

Actually we'd worn out the pages in the Spiegel's Christmas Catalogue weeks before Turkey Day, but we'd been under strict advice that if we so much as mentioned Christmas before Thanksgiving, we should just forget about it entirely.

But the deal was that we could pick something out of the "Santy Book" and Mom would forward it on to the jolly old elf and he might or might not show up with it on Christmas Eve. We didn't know it at the time, but Mom had to get her order in the mail by the end of November so the package would arrive before Christmas.

Of course, she also put a $5.00 price limit on whatever we picked out because, "Times are hard and Santy's on a budget."

That eliminated, even in the late fifties, more than half the stuff in the book. We couldn't even think about a bicycle or a bb gun, but one year the nicest electric train set in the catalogue showed up under the tree with a note that read, "For Ike Reece, Eric Keith, Andy and Steve to SHARE." To this day, I vividly remember the smell that train emitted when it was running.

I suspected that the package actually came to the Jeremiah, KY Post Office but I wasn't able to verify that fact until I was in fourth grade and had taken on a GRIT, weekly paper route, which meant that I had to be at the PO bright and early every Saturday morning to pick up my papers.

One cold December morning, the Postmaster, George Hampton, asked me to tell Mom that she had a package there that was way too large for me to be packing around on my three-mile route. "So who's it from", I wanted to know?

George said, "Spiegel's". I'd harbored serious doubts about the Santa Clause ruse for two years but this was absolute proof that the North Pole was not involved in Mom's Christmas order. When I got home that afternoon, I told Mom about the package and she shook her head and said, "I thought George Hampton's had more sense than that. And if you tell your brothers, you won't be getting anything out of that package."

I figured George thought that any kid old enough to have an all day paper route had long since figured out the Santa deal.

Anyway, I waited until after Christmas to tell Brother Keeter that I knew something he didn't. Keeter said, "If you're talking about that Spiegel's package I found behind the big trunks in the hall closet the day before Christmas, Mom's already said she'll kill us both if we tell Steve and Andy."

To this day, it's still hard for me to get ahead of Keeter on about anything.

Okay, now, if you want to do something good and wonderful, while the Christmas Spirit is upon you, here's a suggestion. I have a cousin, in Letcher County, who is a very, very sick young lady right now. She is in her early thirties, has

The Honeymooners

When I was eleven years old, my mother (Bee) and I were television fanatics, watching our programs on a wooden, black and white, table model unit in our living room. Because we were watching a 17-inch screen, we had to position ourselves in chairs close to the TV to be able to see the details of our shows. The year was 1955, and we were about to discover one of our favorite programs: The Honeymooners. The series actually debuted on October 1, 1955 on the CBS network.

The first time that we saw the show, we were hooked. Bee loved Jackie Gleason, and I never saw her laugh as hard as she did when he was playing the part of Ralph Kramden. The Honeymooners was one of the first U.S. television programs to portray working-class married couples in a less than idyllic manner. The couple lived in a run-down Brooklyn apartment complex. The show focused on four main characters on fixed sets, and it was broadcast live in front of what was estimated to be about 1,000 audience members. Each week, those seeking to be a part of the live audience lined up around the block in order to secure tickets to the broadcast.

In addition to Kramden, who played a bus driver, were Alice Kramden played by Audrey Meadows, Edward Norton played by Art Carney, and his wife, Trixie Norton, played by Joyce Randolph. Ed was a New York sewer worker and Ralph's best friend. The Nortons lived "upstairs" and visited their friends on a regular basis.

Ralph and Ed were constantly in a debate about some meaningless subject, and Ralph frequently threw Ed out of the apartment when he became irritated. They were both members of the fictional Raccoon Lodge.

Ed once gave a glowing and detailed description of his sewer job when he said, "I am a Sub-supervisor in the sub-division of the department of sub-terranean sanitation. I just keep things moving along." He often bragged about making $62 per week. He also admitted to having 19 charge accounts, and he always needed additional money to make ends meet.

Jackie Gleason desired to have a show which was a realistic portrayal of life in the poor areas of Brooklyn. He explained, "This is a show about a poor husband and wife living in an apartment. The couple is bound to fight constantly, but ultimately show their love for each other." The show actually mirrored the struggles of Gleason's early life. He took great pains to design the sets to duplicate the interior of his own early apartment. He even used his boyhood address, 358 Chauncey Street.

Early in the show's history, Alice bore the brunt of Ralph's insults and threats.

Bee loved to see Ralph get all irritated and say, "One of these days Alice ...POW! Right in the kisser!" or "BANG, ZOOM! Straight to the moon!" Bee would laugh until she would almost be crying.

I even remember how the weekly show began. Announcer Jack Lescoulie would say "Brought to you by ...Your Buick Dealer. And away we go!" The program aired on Saturday evenings at 8:30 and was opposite The Perry Como Show on NBC. At the end of the show, Jackie Gleason gave a brief sales pitch for Buick automobiles.

The popular sit-com was immediately in stiff competition with The Perry Como Show and ended its run after a mere 39 episodes. That number was used in giving the show its current label as the "Classic 39." The final episode of The Honeymooners aired on September 22, 1956. Bee and I were terribly disappointed with the show's demise.

One reason that the show was so popular was that the episodes were never rehearsed. Gleason felt that rehearsals would rob the show of its spontaneity. The theme song for The Honeymooners, "You're My Greatest Love," was composed by Gleason and performed by an orchestra led by Ray Bloch.

Art Carney won a total of five Emmy Awards for his portrayal of Ed Norton. In 1956, Gleason was nominated for Best Actor and Meadows for Best Actress for their work on the program. Gleason lost the award to Phil Silvers, and Meadows came in second to Nanette Fabray.

Every time I see a re-run of the program, I am reminded of the hours Bee and I spent laughing until we cried way back in 1955. I don't think we ever enjoyed another sit-com like we did The Honeymooners.

The Roots of Rockcastle

by: Tonya J. Cook

"The Life and Times of Dr. Robert Gladstone Webb in Livingston, Part 4"

From time to time in the Roots series, we have visited another era in the county through the eyes of a small town physician, Dr. Webb, of Livingston. His journals take us back to another time as the county grew, to an innocence not seen today but only lives in memory and within the pages of old, frail journals of small town doctors. This series will go back even earlier than the 1950s as visited before, to the year 1940.

As was his habit, Dr. Webb was in his office on New Years Day. The first patient of the year was Leonard Jones, who picked up some medicine for "baby" and twenty-five cents was charged to his account. Eight patients were seen, seven dollars charged, three dollars paid, and a dollar and a half paid on account. Total cash received for January was $197.50.

Dr. Webb also made personal notes in his journals. On Tuesday, January 16, he went to do some banking in Manchester. February 21, he went to the Lexington Auto Club's directors meeting. On Tuesday, February 6, he attended a Mount Vernon road right-of-way meeting, and saw four patients. On the eighth, he attended an L & N surgical meeting in Lexington.

Dr. Webb knew, I'm sure almost the entire portion of southern Rockcastle and often made entries in the journal as "Dad Collins", "Clark boy", "Griffin boy", and "Red Hill lady". Dr. Pennington of London also made an office visit with no charge. It was professional courtesy, I suppose.

The medical journal acted as a record of many things, including the weather. On Friday, April 12, it was "bad cold" and "snow". He went to Mount Vernon and saw three office visits. He made $3.50.

Other notes of interest were on April 24, which had the doctor seeing seven patients and going to Mount Vernon concerning a "Chas Rice case". On May 3, he paid Bessie Sowder $8.10 for thirteen and half hours work plastering.

Every doctor deserves a day off. Finally, on Sunday, June 9, he went to "Bloomfields" and "done nothing". However, he saw ten patients in the office on the Fourth of July, and made $2.00.

Now for a bit of history. Dr. Webb, on Saturday, July 6, attended a Piney Branch school and road meeting.

On Friday, October 4, Dr. Webb had dinner with Dr. Lewis in Wildie. The next day, he had to stitch up some inmates at the jail. The town of Lexington was charged $5.00. On the thirteenth, he went to Richmond concerning seeing a Lions Club president. On the seventeenth, the doctor was sick Smoke Free Kentucky...

Dear Editor,

The scientific evidence is clear: Secondhand smoke is a proven cause of serious diseases and premature death. A growing number of cities, states and countries are enacting laws that require all work and public places to be smoke-free and I'd like to see Kentucky join that movement by passing a smoke-free Kentucky, which would protect the rights of everyone in our state to breathe clean air.

Rockcastle Healthy Coalition supports Smoke Free Kentucky. We are pleased to announce that the list of smoke free businesses in our county continues to grow. The latest addition to the list is the Lake Linville Boat Dock. A big thank you to all the businesses in Rockcastle County who are smoke free!

If you are a concerned citizen and would like to voice your support of a Smoke Free Kentucky there is an easy to navigate website to which you can add your name to the Kentucky Smoke- Free Kentucky Coalition.

Thanks giving from the Rockcastle Detention Center

As I sit in my cell at the Rockcastle County Detention Center, I know the following to be true:

God is an awesome God and I am proud to be a Christian. "This too shall pass," and my recent arrest is not a result of my actions toward my enemies, but a definite intentional vengeance toward me.

I am thankful for Brenda and Lynn Albright, the most loving and caring parents a girl could ever ask for. You are both my heroes and without you, I would not have the strength and determination to wake up and face each day in this place.

To Jerry Cox. Thank you for giving me hope in a time when it seems as if all of the odds are stacked against me. You give me hope in the facts and there is a justice system, even in Rockcastle County, and that the truth can prevail and be heard. Now I have faith that you can be innocent until proven guilty, instead of the opposite, which is what most people want to make into my reality.

I am amazed at how quickly family and friends you think will always be there for you, read the paper or hear all of the gossip and turn their backs. I look at it this way, now I know who will walk beside me and stand firm in their decision to believe in me and my innocence. To Kim Hunter, Angie Pittman Payne and Lindsay Dowell Gabbard, thank you for your kind words and supportive friendship. I love you all. To Karen King, I love you and thank you so much for being there for me and my parents. You are a true example of Jesus' love toward others and you never ask for any credit or praise. Blessings to you my dear friends. To Anthony Bradley, you are a true friend and man of your word, which is a rarity in this world and in my life. Even through your own burdens and struggles, you have gone above and beyond to help me and all my family. It is good to know that after all of these years, I can call you my friend, so thank you.

To Jon and his family, thank you for teaching me that God places people in your life at the exact moment you need them and the valuable lessons learned are to be treasured in this life. Blessings to you in your new journey in Jesus Christ. I love you all, stay strong. I am so proud of you and your church family.

Last, but certainly not least, thank you editor and my Mt. Vernon Signal family for printing an article stating "alleged." You all are fair and focus on the facts and I thank you for that.

To all of you in Rockcastle County that feel you may never find yourself locked up in RCDC, I close with this. You never know what is around the corner or what test you will be facing tomorrow.

Never say never. There are good and bad individuals in every profession, in every small town. On the downside, there are always going to be certain people who abuse authority and attempt to get away with it. But, on the upside, the truth shall set you free. I hope I am reading this at home later this week and putting this all behind me.

Thank you,
Natalie Lynn Albright

special needs, is confined to bed and can't even have visitors for fear of catching something else. However, she loves to get mail and doing so is one of the few things that truly make her day.

All you have to do to brighten up her life is send her a post card or greeting card. She is particularly fond of Mickey Mouse and any other Disney characters. If you want to give someone who needs and so richly deserves something to smile about during this season, simply send a card to: Kristiana Banks, 264 Cross Road, Jeremiah, KY 41826.

Please, also, consider adding Kristiana to your Church prayer list and maybe engaging your cohorts in the card endeavor.

I can hardly imagine anything else, so simple and inexpensive, doing so much good. I hope that you will join me in spreading some joy by making sure that Kristiana gets some mail. It could be one of the most meaningful things you do for Christmas. Lo and I are also sending her a Donald duck t-shirt (XL) and we're looking for a Mickey Mouse ball cap. Small gifts like that would also be welcome, but, at least, please consider sending Kristiana a cute little card.

but saw two patients: Rev. Clouse and Melvin Barnett.

On the verge of World War II, Dr. Webb examined eight inductees in Mount Vernon on November nineteenth. There was no charge. The only inductee noted was James Irwin Reynolds. Later, on November 30, the doctor examined two inductees from Orlando. All through the month of December, young men from the county were examined for duty in the Army.

There must have been an outbreak of something the latter portion of December, as Doctor Webb saw twenty-two patients on Christmas Day and eighteen the day before. Thirty patients were seen on December 26. December 27 saw forty-one patients in the office, with similar scheduling the remainder of the year. The number of patients seen was usually five to ten.

Dr. Webb earned just over $4,000 dollars for the year but did an unmeasured amount of good for the community.

(The information contained in this column has been obtained from the journals of Dr. Robert G. Webb of Livingston and intended for the enjoyment and reminiscence of the reader. Keep in mind that it would be impossible to determine the exact personage of those patients noted herein.)

(Remember, I'm always looking for a bit of Rockcastle history. If you have a story to tell, and all of us do, please contact me at therootsofrockcastle@windstream.net)

Improve your diet during the Winter months

Rockcastle County Extension Office

The cold days of winter can lead to cravings for comfort foods, many of which are high in calories and can lead to weight gain. As you go through the winter season avoid or cut back on certain unhealthy foods and ingredients. Taking steps to make these changes can reduce your risk of developing many chronic health problems, including heart disease, high blood pressure and some cancers. Take some time this winter to reduce the following foods and ingredients in your diet.

SODIUM:

- Cut back on salt to improve blood pressure
- Consume less than or equal to 2,300 mg sodium or about 1 teaspoon of salt a day
- Use herbs and spices instead of salt, use less processed food
- Avoid adding salt at the table

REFINED GRAINS:

- Examples: White flour, white rice and white bread
- Eat no more than 3 ounces of refined grains per day

- Lack fiber
- Choose products made with whole grains
- Products made with refined grains, such as cookies and desserts, are high in fat and sugar

SUGARY DRINKS:

- High in calories with very few other nutrients
- Make water your drink of choice
- Unsweetened tea and diet drinks are good choices

SATURATED FAT:

- Increases risk for heart disease, heart attacks, stroke, and other chronic conditions
- Cut back on saturated fat:
- Replace higher-fat red meat for lean red meat, seafood or skinless chicken
- Use low-fat or fat-free versions of milk and dairy products.

CHOLESTEROL:

- Raises blood cholesterol levels
- Increases your risk for heart disease, heart attacks, stroke and other chronic conditions
- Use oatmeal, oily fish, walnuts, and flax seed, olive and canola oils

Native woman has risen high in academic ranks

Dr. Willadene (Willa) Thacker Tolmachoff, CGFM, a native of Rockcastle County, has many academic achievements to her credit.

The daughter of Wanda Thacker of Scaffold Cane and the late Willie Thacker, Dr. Tolmachoff began her education at Walnut Grove School and then graduated from Mt. Vernon High School.

Having decided as a high school student that she would pursue the area of accounting as a career, Dr. Tolmachoff did her undergraduate work at George Mason University, graduating with a Business Administration degree in 1975 with a concentration in accounting. She then graduated from Benjamin Franklin University with a MCS degree with a major in Finance in 1978 and then received an Executive Masters in General Administration from the University of Maryland University College in College Park, Md. in 1994.

She then decided to pursue a Doctorate degree, which she said was a "tough one!" and, in September of 2010, graduated from Argosy University in Sarasota, Florida with a PhD degree in Business Administration with a concentration in accounting.

Dr. Tolmachoff started her professional career in 1975, working at the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) as a Financial Analyst. She assisted HUD with the Low Income Housing Market. In 1978, she went to work at the National Security Agency at the Department of Defense as an auditor with the Office of the Inspector General (OIG). She left DoD in 1981 and went to the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) as a Financial Auditor to audit airlines for subsidies from the Federal Government in order to enhance the safety of the airlines. Dr. Tolmachoff then went to the General Services Administration (GSA). While at GSA, she worked in the Chief Financial Office as an Accountant and Internal Auditor, assisting in closing down GSA regional offices. From GSA, she went to the Department of Agriculture OIG in 1989 and remained there for ten years.

She retired in 1996 from the federal government and went to work for the large CPA firm KPMG as a Senior Auditor, working on various contracts. She left KPMG in 1998 and went to work for the District of Columbia (DC) Government for approximately twelve years as an Audit Manager and Single Audit Coordinator for programs, operational audits and certified audits of financial reports.

Dr. Tolmachoff worked as a volunteer in several professional organizations, such as serving as president of the Montgomery Chapter of the Association of Government Accountants. She was also the Director of Student Activities of the American Society of Women Accountants. Dr. Tolmachoff is a member of the Organization of Internal Auditors, Organization of Certified Fraud Examiners and the American Institute of Certified Public Accounts. She is a Certified Government Financial Manager and has received outstanding performance awards for her work in the DC Government. She currently teaches accounting, finance and auditing at Strayer University. She enjoys working with her students and accounting professionals.

She has been married for 40 years and lives with her husband in Northeast Washington, D.C. Dr. Tolmachoff likes to walk, bike, read and travel as hobbies as well as visit museums in the D.C. area and the Metropolitan in New York City.

She has eight siblings: Cecil Thacker, Wendell Thacker and Joyce Machal, all of Mt. Vernon, Bailey Thacker of Paint Lick, Sylvia Barnes of Berea, Rebecca Goss of Franklin, TN, Maxine Cain of Richmond and David Thacker of Waco, eight nieces and nine nephews.

KU warns customers of scam for bill payment

Kentucky Utilities Company wants to alert customers of a new telephone scam whereby a caller claims to be a utility employee and asks for bill payment over the phone or in person, and threatens to disconnect electric or natural gas service if the targeted customer does not cooperate.

The companies have alerted authorities and offer the following advice to residential and business customers in the wake of this new scam:

- KU never calls and ask for credit or debit card numbers or other personal information.

Blood Drive is December 6th

Area residents are invited to be life-savers at the upcoming Kentucky Blood Center blood drive scheduled for Thurs., Dec. 6th from 1 to 6:30 p.m. at First Baptist Church in the gym at 340 W. Main St., Mt. Vernon.

Forgo your t-shirt when you donate and Kentucky Blood Center will give the value of it to the Salvation Army. The value of your t-shirt can provide: healthy snacks for four children, two meals for homeless women and children, Gatorade and snacks for three firefighters or a hat and gloves for a homeless person.

To schedule a donation, or for more details, visit kybloodcenter.org or call 800-775-2522.

Blood donors must have a photo I.D., be 17-years-old (16 with parental consent), weigh at least 110 pounds, be in general good health and meet additional requirements. Parental consent slips for 16-year-old donors can be found at kybloodcenter.org.

- As a courtesy, KU does make computer-generated calls to remind customers if their payment is late, and the call includes an option for customers to select if they want to make their payment by phone.
- Customers who receive a live phone call, an e-mail or letter that is suspicious should call the companies, who will always verify official communications. KU customers should call 1-800-981-0600.
- The utilities offer customers a variety of official payment options. A complete list can be found at www.legu.com/ways_to_pay.asp.

Customers who have been impacted by this scam should report it to their local police department.

Although the latest scam targets individuals and businesses by phone, KU encourages customers to always obtain positive identification in the event someone appears at their door stating they are there on the companies' behalf. Authentic KU ID badges — whether issued to an employee or a contractor — show the companies' logos. An employee ID card always has the employee's name and color photograph on the front as well.

Sometimes there are legitimate service-related reasons the utilities may need access to a customer's home, but in-person contact at a customer's home never involves collecting payment for a monthly bill.

Rockets lose to Clinton County in season opener

By: Doug Ponder

The Rockcastle County Rockets varsity basketball team lost in overtime on Monday night 63-56 in their season opener against the Clinton County Bulldogs.

The Rockets came out firing on all cylinders in the first quarter as they outscored the Bulldogs 22-15. However, the Rockets' enthusiasm stalled in the second quarter when the Bulldogs cut the lead to 27-24 at halftime.

The Rockets got into early foul trouble after halftime as Josh Mason, Jon Curtis Wilson and Ashton Arvin were all benched in the third quarter with four fouls each. Mason would later foul out of game toward the end of the fourth quarter.

With most of the Rockets starters remaining on the bench for the majority of the second half, the Bulldogs managed to tie the game at 50-50 with about two minutes left in the fourth quarter. Both squads missed their shots on their next possession sending the game into overtime.

The Bulldogs made some key three-point baskets in overtime as they took the early lead on the Rockets. In an attempt to stay in the game, the Rockets went for some quick fouls in hopes of saving some time on the clock. However, the Bulldogs nailed their free throws and eventually came out of overtime with a 63-56 win.

The Rockets were led in scoring by sophomore guard Sam Pensol who had 17, Mason was next with 16 points, McPhetridge had 11, sophomore guard Dakota Hasty scored 9, Wilson had 2 and senior Bryson Amyx got 1.

Head Coach Benny Blanton said that despite the loss, he was impressed with his team's effort against a tough opponent in their season opener.

"Clinton County won twenty-five games last year and was a tough opponent for us right out of the gate," Blanton said. "Although a win would have been great, I am still satisfied with the way we played."

Blanton said that his team has the rest of the season to improve and that they need to learn how to give one hundred percent for all four quarters and also learn

Thanksgiving weekend is traditionally the kickoff of rabbit and quail hunting across Kentucky.

"Rabbit numbers are up, and that doesn't surprise me, considering the ideal weather conditions we had in the spring and early summer," said Ben Robinson, small game biologist for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "We're already getting reports of good hunting."

Rabbit and quail seasons are now open statewide and continue through Feb. 10, 2013, in Allen, Ballard, Butler, Caldwell, Calloway, Carlisle, Christian, Crittenden, Daviess, Fulton, Graves, Hancock, Henderson, Hickman, Hopkins, Livingston, Logan, Lyon, Marshall, McLean, McCracken, Muhlenberg, Ohio, Simpson, Todd, Trigg, Union, Warren and Webster counties.

The statewide daily bag limit is four rabbits and eight quail.

"We had a mild winter and a good carryover of adult rabbits heading into the spring breeding season," explained Robinson. Rabbits begin nesting in February, with the peak of nesting occurring by early summer, although rabbits can continue to nest into early fall, if conditions are right.

Annual surveys conducted by Kentucky Fish and Wildlife, with the help of rabbit hunters and rural mail carriers, offer important details of population trends and hunting activity.

The 114 hunters that submitted information for the 2011-12 rabbit hunter log survey went on a combined 1,959 hunts in 105 counties, hunted a combined 7,393 hours, jumped 12,875 rabbits and harvested 5,702 (an average of 2.9 rabbits per hunt).

Hunting pressure declined as the season progressed. Hunting peaked

Lady Rockets edged, 59-55, by Wayne County

By: Doug Ponder

The Rockcastle County Lady Rockets varsity basketball team lost their season opener at home to the Wayne County Cardinals on Tuesday night 59-55.

The Lady Rockets got into early foul trouble when top-ranked senior guard Michaela Hunter was benched for the remainder of the first half, as a result of two early fouls.

However, junior forward Kayla Reynolds drilled a three pointer toward the end of the first quarter giving the Rockets an early 11-8 lead. But the Lady Cardinals battled back as they put up 16 points in the second quarter giving them a 24-17 lead at the end of the first half.

After halftime, Hunter came off the bench and gave an amazing performance with four three-point baskets and 19 points, leading the Lady Rockets to a 41-40 lead at the end of the third quarter.

However, the Lady Rockets second half effort would stall in the fourth quarter as the Lady Cardinals pulled away from the Lady Rockets, giving them a 59-55 win.

The Lady Rockets were led in scoring by Hunter who had 29 points, Reynolds was next with 7, senior forward Emily Miller scored 6, sophomore guard Alaina Coguer 5, senior guard Sara Adams and senior guard Brianna Hansel with 3 each and senior guard Alexis Chasteen with two.

Head Coach Chrysti Noble said having to bench Hunter, who had two early fouls, made a huge difference in the game.

"Having to bench Hunter within the first minute of the game really hurt us a lot," Noble said. "But our team can't depend on just one player and we need more players who want to step up and score."

Noble said her team also needs to tighten up and improve on defense in order to

Taylor was transported by ambulance to the Saint Joseph Berea hospital where he was later pronounced dead by the Madison County Coroner's Office. Investigators said Taylor was not wearing his seat belt at the time of the accident and there were no indications of braking at the scene.

The accident is still under investigation by the Kentucky State Police Department and trooper Eric Moore is in charge of the investigation. Drugs or alcohol are suspected to be factors in the accident.

son Burkhart, 36, of Mt. Vernon.

According to Mt. Vernon Police reports, Assistant Chief Barry Adams received a call from Rockcastle 911 in reference to a burglary at 285 Newcomb Avenue.

Once Adams arrived at the residence, Floyd Burkhart's wife, Melanie, told Adams that someone had entered her home and stolen an I-Phone, X-box 360 and two X-box 360 games. Mrs. Burkhart also told Adams that the total amount of the missing items was valued at approximately $700.

Upon further investigation, Adams observed Floyd Burkhart in a white Dodge truck at the intersection of Maple Street and Richmond Street in Mt. Vernon. After receiving consent to search the vehicle, Adams found the I-Phone that was identified by Melanie Burkhart. Floyd Burkhart also admitted to Adams that he had taken the items from Melanie Burkhart's residence.

Floyd Burkhart was charged with burglary, second degree and violation of a Kentucky DVO. He was lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center where he was later released on a $5,000 unsecured bond.

how to stay of out foul trouble.

"We need to avoid getting into foul trouble so early in the game," Blanton said. "As the season goes on, we will have to learn how to stay out of foul trouble and learn how to close out games when we have the early lead."

The Rockets will join the Lady Rockets in a double header on Friday night as they will both take on the Lincoln County Patriots at home. Tip off for the Rockets game is at 7:30 p.m.

Blanton said the Patriots are the number five team in the 12th region and that they will be another tough test for his squad this early in the season.

"Lincoln County is a tough team with a lot of experienced players at each position," Blanton said. "If we want to leave the court with a win, we have to keep their big guys from scoring and getting rebounds in the middle and also keep their talented point guard from penetrating the lane."

Quail

during the month of December, in terms of the percentage of hunts and harvest.

The rural mail carrier survey provides biologists with small game population trends, based on the number of rabbits and quail observed along roadways, per 100 miles driven. This survey has been conducted annually in July since 1960.

"The eastern region of the state continues to lead all regions in the number of rabbits observed," said Robinson. "The mail carrier survey shows a 6 percent increase in the number of observed rabbits statewide between 2011 and 2012 which means there should be plenty of rabbits for harvest this fall."

Kentucky's profound drought, especially in the western third of the state (west of I-65), impacted both rabbit and quail breeding success from mid-to-late summer.

"Quail experienced good nesting conditions early on, but over time the effect of the drought likely had an impact," said Robinson. "The drought limited quail nesting cover and success, food availability (insects) and brood rearing cover."

The peak of quail nesting in Kentucky is June and July, which is a bit later than some adjacent states. Rain throughout the summer is important to quail because it provides more cover and better food sources.

"Adult quail need seeds, especially as the season progresses," said Robinson. "When chicks hatch they need insects, and in drier weather there are fewer insects."

Hunters should expect quail season to be similar to last year.

"Areas where there was adequate rainfall could experience good quail hunting this fall," said Robinson. "In western and central Kentucky look for forested areas that suffered damage during the 2009 ice storm, which should provide good cover for quail. Forest edges near row crops fields could also be productive."

For more information on the upcoming rabbit and quail seasons, consult the current Kentucky Hunting and Trapping Guide, available wherever hunting licenses are sold. You may request one by calling 1-800-858-1549 or view a printable version on the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife webpage at fw.ky.gov.

"We have got to do better on communicating with each other on defense," Noble said. "We had a tough time fighting through their screens and providing help defense for each other."

The Lady Rockets will join the Rockets in a double header on Friday night as they both take on the Lincoln County Patriots at home. Tip off for the Lady Rockets game is at 6 p.m.

Noble said the Patriots will be one of the toughest teams that they will face all year as they are ranked number one in the 12th region and number 10 in the state.

Rockcastle Regional wins marketing award

On Tuesday, November 13, the Kentucky Society for Healthcare Public Relations and Marketing (KSHPRM) held its annual Thoroughbred Awards. The awards luncheon, held in conjunction with the KSHPRM conference at the Kentucky Derby Museum at Churchill Downs, honors and recognizes excellent work throughout the Commonwealth in the areas of healthcare marketing and public relations.

Rockcastle Regional Hospital & Respiratory Care Center was a big winner for the day and was recognized seven times. The accomplishments include: a Thoroughbred Award for the quarterly external newsletter "Health Signal" and the special purpose publication Rockcastle Strides magazine. Rockcastle Regional Hospital was also recognized with Certificates of Merit for the 2011 annual report "Leaps and Bounds in Healthcare", the special purpose publication "freshAir", for a feature writing story "Community Coach", a video presentation (whiteboard video) for the 2011 annual report "Leaps and Bound in Healthcare", and a promotional item for the Jingle Bell Run/Walk trophy.

Organizations are eligible to submit entries in 24 categories ranging from television advertising to direct mail design. All entries are sent to a sister society in another state for judging. This year, entries were judged by the Tennessee Society for Marketing and Public Relations. In total, 23 organizations submitted 89 entries for consideration. Entries receiving 23-26 points earned a Certificate of Merit while those receiving 27-30 points earned Thoroughbred Award Statues. The following is a list of all winners in both award categories.

Castleberry honored for contributions to Laboratory Medicine

The American Society for Clinical Pathology presented Barbara M. Castleberry, PhD, MASCP, MT(ASCP), of Orlando, with the 2012 ASCP Mastership at the ASCP Annual Meeting, Oct. 31–Nov. 3, in Boston. The award was presented in recognition of her many outstanding contributions to the field of laboratory science and to ASCP.

During her distinguished 40-year career, she has served as a first-line medical laboratory scientist, educator, academician, scholar, mentor, and administrator. She began her career at Tampa General Hospital, Tampa, Fla., where she worked from 1967 to 1968 as a laboratory professional. In 1970, she joined the faculty at the University of Texas Health Science Center, Dallas, where she served as Chair of the Department of Medical Technology. In 1981, she joined the ASCP staff as Vice President of the ASCP Board of Registry (now the ASCP Board of Certification).

Over the years, she has championed efforts to establish the benchmarks that define quality and competency for laboratory professionals. In recognition of her contributions to laboratory medicine and exemplifying the highest qualities of a laboratory professional, ASCP established the annual Barbara M. Castleberry Lecture at the 2011 ASCP Annual Meeting.

"As an educator, it was my responsibility to recruit others into the profession," Dr. Castleberry said. "I loved talking about careers in the laboratory. It was always an easy sell to talk about a career that allows you to apply a love of science and medicine in a profession that helps others."

She first became involved in ASCP as a member and active volunteer in 1977, and credits the Society with expanding opportunities for her to advance her career. "ASCP gave me access to education to improve my skills in laboratory medicine and mentors who assisted me by unselfishly sharing their knowledge and support," she said.

When she retired from ASCP in 1999, Chicago, she returned to live in a rural area of Appalachia in eastern Kentucky, where she was born and attended elementary and high school. "I love the old time skills of raising a vegetable garden, canning, and preserving foods that I grow," Dr. Castleberry said. Additionally, she enjoys quilting and making homemade soaps. She is a fan of the University of Kentucky Wildcat basketball team.

Jewel and Jerry Hansel

After checking with Jackson Energy, Jewel and Jerry Hansel found they were eligible for a $258 Button-Up Rebate if they would upgrade their insulation. “Between the rebate and the dollars we were sure to save each month... we knew the investment would pay off quickly,” said Jerry. And pay off it did. “Our energy bills averaged $145 for the few years before the extra insulation to our floor and attic,” added Jewel, “and our average for this past year has been $118. That savings adds up over the year!”

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...

What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?

Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.

Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?

A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufactures recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.

Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?

C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.
