Bids awarded for emergency services center

At Monday's meeting of the Rockcastle County Industrial Authority, County Judge Executive Buzz Carloftis told the board that bids had been awarded for the new emergency services center in Rockcastle Business Park South.

Carloftis said that some of the successful bidders lowered their prices, for a savings of $60,500 to help bring the bids in line with the $1.8 million construction estimate. However, the main savings was from the county who agreed to pay Goff Excavating, successful low bidder for the site work. Goff's bid was $151,800 and will be paid from grant money the county received from the Department of Transportation. Paving and street lighting will also be paid from the $200,000 grant. The county will use their own workers and equipment to lay the water and sewer line.

Carloftis also told the board that he was "not happy" with the way the bidding process was conducted by Codell Construction, managers for the project. "We allowed Codell to set up the bidding process with instructions to make the Man who makes death threat against Judge has his bond lowered from $100,000 to $5,000

A Livingston man, charged with intimidating a judicial officer, had his bond lowered from a $100,000 cash bond to a $5,000/10% bond during his arraignment last Wednesday.

Bradley Thomas Wesley, 28, was arrested last Tuesday and charged with intimidating a judicial officer after he said he would kill Family Court Judge Steve Hurt if he tried to take his children away from him. He also made similar death threats against family preservation workers and social service workers who were the first to report signs of abuse, which reportedly included cigarette burns on Wesley's 4-year-old son.

According to an audio tape of Wesley's arraignment last Wednesday, District Court Judge Jeff Lawless appointed a public defender for Wesley, who had not hired a lawyer. The public defender waived formal arraignment and entered a plea of not guilty for his client.

When Judge Lawless asked if both the prosecutor and defender had come to an agreement on a bond amount, Assistant Commonwealth Attorney Jeremy Bartley asked Wesley "how much can you make?" to which Wesley re-

A large crowd enjoyed the festivities and fireworks display at the annual Blast in the Valley on Sunday. The event was able to proceed without any rain. However, the fireworks display at the annual Freedom Celebration last Saturday night at the Brodhead Fairgrounds was cancelled due to heavy rains. Western Volunteer Fire Department said they were fortunate to set off their fireworks at their Quail Fire Station on Hwy 70 last Saturday night before the heavy rains came.

Severe rains wreak havoc on Fourth of July celebrations

Severe rains and high winds moved through the region last weekend putting a damper on some of the Fourth of July celebrations in the county.

Rockcastle Association of Kentucky Baptists assistant Virginia McKinney said they had to cancel their fireworks display, at the annual Freedom Celebration, due to heavy rains at the Brodhead Fairgrounds last Saturday.

McKinney said the event got off to a good start as they were able to make it through the live music and singing. However, when guest speaker Chuck McAlister was speaking, toward the end of the event, McKinney said the heavy rains began and the crowds started to scatter.

"Everything went fine until the heavy rains came while McAslister was speaking," McKinney said. "People scattered once it came and the majority of them left."

McKinney went on to say that they still set off about a third of their fireworks because they were already staged and ready to be deployed. She said event organizers have not decided whether to reschedule the firework display, at the time of publication. However, she said the door prize

Police bust drug deal in Dollar General parking lot

A Mt. Vernon woman was arrested for drug trafficking and a Brodhead man was arrested for drug possession, after police busted up an apparent drug deal in the Mt. Vernon Dollar General parking lot on Hwy 150 Monday afternoon.

Arrested at the scene was Jennifer Kidwell, 38, of Mt. Vernon and Sherman Wyan Collins, also 38, of Brodhead.

According to Mt. Vernon Police reports, Assistant Chief Barry Adams was patrolling the area when he noticed Kidwell's vehicle parked in the parking lot with Collins standing at the driver's side window. Police had recently ramblings...

Attended Blast in the Valley Sunday night and it was time well spent. This is one of the biggest events in the area and has been compared to Red, White and Boom in Lexington. I've never seen the Lexington event but have been told by those who have that our local production is just as good.

Usually, we are on the fringe because we don't want to get too far into the crowd, estimated at around 15,000 this year, but this year we ventured to behind Heritage Inn and the difference was magnificent. The fireworks were actually bursting right overhead and, for once, we could see the ones set off on the ground.

The Tourist Commission, City of Mt. Vernon and Rockcastle Fiscal Court are to be commended. This has turned out to be the biggest event in the county and it's free. One magistrate noted that it was a way to give back to county residents for the occupational tax.

Of course, with the occupational tax, the county has been able to do so much more in the way of economic growth which leads to job growth and a more stable economy for everyone.

Got a notice today of another class reunion for alumni of Versailles High School. It's scheduled for August but I haven't decided whether to go or not. My defense to the children when I talk about not going is that I don't normally like to hang out with old people. Of course, by the time they have pointed out the obvious, I'm mad and not speaking to them so I don't think I will even apprise them of the upcoming event. I went to the last one and left early. Jim was always good enough to go with me and I missed him terribly and really didn't feel like socializing so I slipped away early.

I have been gone from Versailles since 1966 and have lost touch with classmates. But, I am amazed the few times I have returned because they have all aged so much. I'm sure the same observation is made about me but, honestly, some of them are really old. If you notice, I have deliberately not mentioned which reunion it will be, that's no accident.

All of this not to mention that at the last one, I sat across from the most liberal classmate I had, at dinner, and had to physically restrain myself at times from reaching across the table and smacking her while she was extolling the virtues of the present administration. Now I know why I didn't like her in school.

Strange... But True?

by: Tonya J. Cook

It's Not a Bird, It's Not a Plane, It's Not Even Superman...It's the Spook Light!, Part III

In the past two columns of "Strange...But True?" a phenomenon known as "spook lights" was addressed. They appear as round or lantern shaped lights that appear at night. They may be a variety of colors such as orange, green, yellow, blue, etc. The light hovers about two or three feet from the ground, always a few yards ahead of those desiring to overcome the light and discover its mysterious source. The lights often lead the searchers astray and get them hopelessly lost.

Several legends make an attempt to explain the spook lights, depending on the country of origin. The American legends came with English and other European settlers as they migrated from the east coast expanding westward.

Some say the light generates sound. If you should encounter these lights, in an attempt to not be the victim, you are to turn your cap and coat inside-out, to confuse the light, I suppose. Also, you may stick a knife into the ground with the blade pointed upward. The spirit of the light will hurl itself on the blade, attempting to kill itself.

The spook light appears in many countries throughout the world. This week this column will focus on these countries.

In Asia the light is known as Aleya, or marsh ghost light. It is believed to be the ghost of dead fishermen. The lights cause the fishermen to lose their bearings and drown.

The Japanese know the lights as Hitodama or "human soul" as a ball of energy along with other names. They are usually associated with the graveyards, but occur all over Japan.

In South America, Brazil has the Boi-tata, a fiery serpent that survived a great flood. It feasted on the car-

Just A Swangin'

My wife recently inquired as to whether we might consider an "old time" wooden porch swing for our back deck, to which I enthusiastically replied with a resounding, "Yes!" The very idea took me back to the days when my mother (Bee) and I lived with her parents (Pop and Mommie Katie) when I was a very young boy. During that time, the front porch swing was a central gathering spot in the warm months of the year.

Pop's swing was positioned on the corner of the front porch, which wrapped around two sides of his house. He specifically placed the swing in that position in order for the cool breezes to come from either direction so that the family could be as comfortable as possible.

Pop had trouble sleeping on those nights when the temperature was hot because we had no air conditioning. (No one we knew had AC at that time.) When he got too warm to sleep, he slipped outside while still in his underwear and slept on the swing. (Mommie Katie hated for him to do that because she was afraid that someone would see him dressed that way outdoors - which would have been an absolute horror.)

I can remember countless nights when the family congregated around the swing as soon as the sun dropped below the horizon. It was the perfect place to seek as the cooler night air began settling in. Accounts of the day's activities were discussed, and Mommie Katie usually had some icy treat for us to enjoy. I will never forget her southern sweet tea that was usually served on the porch. Somehow, to this day, I have never tasted any

My younger brothers, Keeter and Andy, came down from the mountains over the week end for a short visit and to help me get some motors running on stuff that's been nonfunctional for quite a while.

Both of my tillers were dead when I called them last week, begging for help but my fantastic neighbor and sourdough bread baker, Charlie Gruen, actually had my toy tiller running like an Elgin watch before they got here. In the meantime I had broken a tie rod end off the steering on my lawn mower. I told the boys that I'd done it on purpose in case they got bored with only having to fix one tiller.

I have two, very old, Troybilt tillers that have served me well over the last 20 years and both were old when I acquired them. One of them is the smallest, self propelled, rear-tine tiller the company ever made. I believe they called it a pony but the name has been rubbed off over the years. I call it my toy tiller. It's good for cultivating between rows but nobody is ever going to be breaking any new ground with it.

The second one is called a horse and it will do some serious digging when it's running. But it should have been called a mule because it can get very stubborn. In fact, until Keeter and Andy came down last Saturday, it hadn't even been out of the barn in nearly two years.

Two different small engine mechanics had previously told me that the problem was a bad ignition coil in the first breath. Then, in the second breath, they'd told me "good luck finding one that will fit that motor."

The motor is so old that the plate where the model number was stamped is long gone. I talked Charlie into pulling the ignition module off and I began shopping around to parts places and repair shops all over central Kentucky. Nobody had it in stock and the couple who said they could order it wanted more than the cost of a down payment on a

Longest Day of Play thank you...

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank the enthusiastic crowd of over 490 community members who participated in the 2013 Longest Day of Play annual physical activity extravaganza and Community Health Fair last week at Rockcastle County Middle School Track. I am deeply grateful to the increasing number of community partners who embraced this event and gave their time and energy to assist with this year's evening of "play."

In an effort to increase activity among adults and youth and to promote a healthier Rockcastle County, each June the Rockcastle Healthy Communities hosts a "longest day of play" to celebrate summer solstice, the day with the longest amount of daylight. This year's event was packed with outdoor games and activities, including , water play, bubbles, duck pond, hula hoops, jump rope, obstacle course, karate training course, pool noodle madness, bean bag toss, sponge races etc.

In addition to the play activities we had several educational activities some of which included: child and summer safety information, Cancer info, Cumberland River Victims services, good dental health, KY Safe Foods, Recycling, Hand hygiene , rethink your drink, Asthma education, poison prevention and many more.

On behalf of Rockcastle Healthy Communities, I would like to express appreciation and gratitude to the volunteers and staff who assisted during the event as well as those who participated in planning over the past months. While it is impossible to list each agency and individual who contributed to the success of Longest Day of Play, I want to publicly thank some key folks who made our event possible. Rockcastle County Middle School for opening its doors to us: Jesse McHaffey and Angie Payne were essential in facilitating the booths' setting-up and just being there for us throughout the event. Rhonda Childress with her HOSA group helped us tremendously with various activities. WRVK and the Mt. Vernon Signal were instrumental in getting the word out to the community and DJ Charlie Napier as our Emcee throughout the event. King Bottling gave us a generous supply of water for all participants. Shari Proctor and the Bittersweet Cloggers, Ginger Taylor with KY Romp and Stomp and Eric Bullock with the Rockcastle Shaolin Do provided entertainment. The Rockcastle Regional Hospital for hosted the Fit Family Fun Run which had an astounding 168 participants.

Overall, the event provided exercise for the "whole" person- mind, body and spirit, as well as education about available community services. The result was a wonderful evening of FREE fun and fellowship among community families and agencies. The Rockcastle Healthy Communities group is composed of individuals and agencies with a common commitment to making Rockcastle a healthier county.

nage remaining after the disaster, especially the eyes of the victims. Now it has the power to see all, even at night. Also, in Argentina, the light is known as Luz Mala or Fuego Fatuo, the "evil light". It is seen in rural areas and is greatly feared.

Mexico has its share of spook lights, known as the "mia-mia light". These are supposedly witches that were transformed into orbs of light.

Australian folklore dates the lights prior to the settlement of Europeans. However, along with the increasing population, the lights increased, too. The lights approached people and when fired upon would disappear, only to reappear later. These are only a few of the countries to play host to the mysterious spook lights.

In an attempt to explain the lights, the scientific community, going back to 1776, has determined the cause to be methane gas sparked by lightning or spontaneous combustion. Others believe the light is a reflection from another light source a distance away, a fungus, fireflies, or reflections of barn owls.

The spook lights or "will-o-the-wisp" has been noted in literature, music, and art. They may be seen in Missouri, Texas, North Carolina, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Florida, Michigan, and Utah. There are postings of them on "YouTube", as well. Sources: As earlier noted in previous columns.

iced tea that could match hers. That delicious beverage was one of the comforts that I missed most when I left Mt. Vernon for UK in the summer of 1962.

On some nights when the adults were "swangin," my friends and I were playing in the big yard in front of the house. We occupied our time with playing hide and seek, lying on our backs watching the stars, or catching lightening bugs. Countless Mason jars were filled with those lit-up insects. It was a challenge to see who could catch the most fireflies. That time of day has some sort of magical quality all its own, with the darkness truly setting in and the lightening bugs just piercing the air in quick flitters—until you suddenly realize that it really is dark. By that time, their glow seemed to be a reasonable night light to lead you where you must go – most often, to bed.

Another memory I have of porch swings revolves around a girl whom I dated in high school. Her name was Joyce, and her parents released her to date in cars at about the same time that I got my driver's license. Joyce had to be home at a reasonable time, but we usually took a seat in her front porch swing as soon as I pulled into her driveway. As long as she was at home, she was permitted to sit on her porch for long periods. That was just fine with me, because I was occasionally able to steal a few kisses while we were "swinging." Joyce and her family moved to Denton, Texas when we were juniors in high school. I really missed her, and for a long time after that I would notice that swing every time I drove by her vacated home.

I also have fond memories of Bee and Mommie Katie sitting on the swing while breaking white half-runner green beans. Pop loved these beans so much that he always planted several rows in his big garden. When the beans were ready, Pop gathered buckets full and simply placed them on the porch. Then it was time for the ladies of the house to take to the swing and break beans. This went on for days each summer. Mommie Katie canned the half-runners and carefully placed them in the cellar so that we would be able to have them all winter long.

About the time that I started driving, Mommie Katie sometimes asked me to join her on the porch so she could give me some Godly advice. I actually loved these personal chats because it quickly became clear that she had been thinking about a potential problem that I was about to encounter. Even though she was not highly educated, she had a world of common sense, and she often shared special thoughts with me while we were sitting on that wooden swing. Once she had finished her task and believed that I had understood her advice, she usually placed her wrinkled hand into her apron and handed me a "wad" of crumpled cash. She was one of the most generous women I ever knew.

So the very idea of a front porch swing holds a special place in my heart because of my own background. My family members were drawn to that spot, and year after year we kept coming back – even though some of us moved away. On our visits home, that big old swing drew us back to the front porch where it felt like we would just pick up where we left off the last time we gathered there. That swing greeted us like a lifelong trusted friend.

Oh, how I cherish those memories of the times when we were just swangin!

I took photos of the part and sent them to a small engine place in Minnesota. To make a long story short, they sent me the module for $30.00 and that included shipping. However, taking a coil off is pretty much a piece of cake. Putting one back on is not so easy because it has to be lined up precisely right.

And it turned out that the mule had a host of other issues that had developed because it had been sitting too long and the fuel system had become terribly corroded. But Keeter can fix anything and Andy is almost as good. He just has two years less experience.

But they got the tiller going and the garden perfectly ready for summer planting before they headed back to the hills early Sunday afternoon. The lawn mower is also running like it has power steering even though we had to make one trip to Berea and two to Richmond and put 95 miles on Andy's car before we found the right tie-rod end.

We didn't eat supper Saturday night until after it got too dark to work in the garden.

Jimmy Robinson, who owns and runs Robinson Premium Meats (formerly known as Robinson Sausage) there in East Bernstadt, had send us a big box of stuff to grill on The 4th but I figured Jimmy wouldn't mind if I fed my brothers a little early because they won't be here for the holiday.

So Loretta steamed up a big kettle of snow peas we'd just picked, a big bowl of tater salad and a skillet full of bodacious sweet corn from lasts years garden that tasted like it had just been picked to serve up with a dozen big Robinson Polish Sausages.

The sausages are laced with sharp cheddar cheese and a variety of herbs. One of the 4-packs had also been laced with halapeno' peppers but she forgot which was which and you couldn't tell without tasting.

I happen to love hot peppers in meat dishes if the cook doesn't get carried away and I already knew that these were perfect , because I figured Jimmy wouldn't mind if I sampled them before I tried them out on other people. So, the week before the boys showed up I'd been eating one a day for four days just to be absolutely sure.

I looked across the table and Keeter was sweating like a race horse even though it was cool in our kitchen but he was literally stuffing that sausage away and I knew he'd latched onto one of the hot sausages.

received numerous tips that Kidwell was trafficking Oxycodone

When Adams ap-proached Kidwell’s vehicle, he saw Collins reach for his wallet in his right back pants pocket but when he noticed Adams he turned loose of his wallet. Adams also noticed Kidwell trying to place something in her right front pants pocket. When Adams asked her what she was doing she replied “nothing.”

Adams then asked Kidwell to step out of her vehicle and to not touch her pockets. As she exited the vehicle, Adams noticed that she had something in her left hand. Adams asked her to give him the object and when she did not comply he pried it from her hand and found that Kidwell was holding a zip-lock bag that contained three Oxycodone tablets.

After receiving consent from Kidwell to search her vehicle, Adams found $300 in cash, various business cards for a pharmacy in West Virginia and a pain clinic in Rome, Georgia. Adams also found two envelopes with pill counts marked on them.

Upon receiving consent to search Collins’ vehicle, Adams found two Oxycodone tablets. Collins told Adams that he had purchased the two Oxycodone tablets from Kidwell for $40.

Kidwell was charged with trafficking a controlled substance and tampering with physical evidence. Collins was charged with possession of a controlled substance.

Both Kidwell and Collins were lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center. Collins remains lodged on a $5,000 unsecured bond and Kidwell was later released on a $5,000 unsecured bond.

Bible Talk

In our study this month we would like to look at John’s exhortation in 1 John 2:15-17. “Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world. And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever.”

The World? - What does John mean here about the world? Does he mean the people? No, for God loves the world of people, Jn.3:16. Does he mean the planet itself? No, for the world (planet) is very good, Gen.1:31. The world that we are not to love is the realm of iniquity the domain of darkness, which Satan is king of, John 12:31, “Now is the judgment of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out.” Now let us consider the 3 avenues of enticement that the Devil uses to draw us into his realm, the world of sin and iniquity.

The Lust of the Flesh - Satan appeals to the desires of the flesh, seeking to get us to find fulfillment in an unlawful way: a short cut to satisfaction. Satan has used the same 3 avenues of enticement since the beginning of time as with mother Eve, in Gen.3:1-6.

The Lust of the Eyes - He appeals the lust, or desires of the eyes. The problem with all his allurements is the bondage of sin that comes with temptation that is partaken of. It is like when you go fishing, you have to put some bait on the hook to get the fish to bite the hook. It is the hook that Mr. Fish is not considering in the allurements. Even so, when Satan is luring us to commit sin, it is the pleasures of sin that is luring us to do wrong.

The Pride of Life - Satan lures us at times with the pride of life. Appealing to our ego and pride to do that which is wrong. Jesus was tempted by the same 3 avenues of temptation in Matt.4 and Luke 4. Temptation is common to all humanity, “There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it.” 1Cor.10:13. Let us look to Jesus and his word to see that sin wears a mask, and Satan is wanting to devour us as a roaring lion. Let us love God and what is right.

We invite you to study and worship with us at the Providence church of Christ.

Owens wins spot in USGA Tournament

Hannabeth Owens recently secured a spot in the 2013 U.S. Girl's Junior Championship to be held at Fort Wayne, Indiana later this month. Once all of the scores were in, Owens found herself in a tie for third place with Elsa Moberly of Science Hill and Chakansim Khamborn of Thailand. The three headed to the 10th tee for a sudden death playoff for two spots in the championship. After only one hole, Owens and Moberly defeated Khamborn to receive their spots in the biggest girl's junior tournament in the world.

Jackson Energy holds 75th Annual Meeting

Fireworks filled the night sky along KY HWY 290 last Friday as Jackson Energy's 75th Annual Meeting concluded with a bang. A crowd of more than 5,000 onlookers lined the roadsides, parking lots and fields for the pyrotechnic finale to an evening of entertainment and cooperative business.

Entertainer Ronnie McDowell performed his own country music and also a Tribute to Elvis show, which included help from the audience as he serenaded the crowd with his renditions of Elvis Presley's hits. The evening's business meeting began with Jackson Energy employee Renita Fox singing the national anthem, and also included the results of director elections. In the District 1 election for the Eastern Jackson County area, Gordon Phillips defeated incumbent Sally Brewer by a vote of 408 to 394. Directors who ran unopposed and were re-elected were District 3 Northern Laurel County, Steve Patton, Jr., and District 5 Rockcastle County, Phil Thompson.

Jackson Energy President & CEO Carol Wright addressed the crowd during the business meeting. Wright recognized veterans in the audience and special guests, including 18 Jackson Energy members who were honored as part of the cooperative's 75th anniversary celebration. The members were all born the same year the cooperative was incorporated, 1938.

Wright highlighted several programs that help co-op members save money, including energy efficiency rebates, energy audits and the Co-op Connections card, which offers discounts on prescriptions and at local businesses. Jackson Energy also recognized area scholarship winners.

Jackson Energy awarded a full scholarship to the Lineman's Training Center at Somerset Community College. The winner of the Lineman's scholarship, valued at $3,500, was Travis Angel of Annville. Each year, Jackson Energy also awards eight $1,200 scholarships to area students through an essay contest.

Receiving $1,200 scholarships were – Chris White, Jackson County; Matt Ruffner, Estill County; Andrew Arnold, Lee County; Bethany Denny, South Laurel; Kalisha Brandenburg, Owsley County; and James Williams, Clay County. Receiving scholarships but not present at the meeting were Trey Bryant, North Laurel, and Katie Clements, Rockcastle County.

Also recognized during the meeting were students who attended the Washington Youth Tour program, a week-long trip to Washington, D.C. for high school juniors sponsored by the cooperative. Youth tour students recognized at the meeting were Bianca Abner, Jackson County High School; Shelby Madden, Jackson County High School; and Zack Grigsby, Clay County High School. Youth tour students not present at the meeting were Angie Roberts of Owsley County and Andrew Worley of Laurel County.

The winner of the grand prize, a 2007 Chevrolet Impala, was Gwen Watts of Laurel County.

process “friendly” to local bidders.” Carloftis said instead Codell grouped different phases of the project into categories which, for example, kept local brick layers from bidding on just that portion of the project. “They didn’t do what they said they would do.”

The project totals $3,000,000 for everything, including furnishing the building and is being paid for by federal funds. Construction is expected to be completed in June of 2014.

In other business, RCIDA Executive Director Holly Hopkins told the board that she had received a draft of an amended lease from SourceHOV and would present the lease to the board when it was received in its final form.

Hopkins said that SourceHOV had changed the lease to reflect a consistent payment each month, instead of the lease amount being affected by the number of employees. “This was the only lease of its type in SourceHOV’s entire company and they do not want the number of employees to affect their lease payment.” The director said the change would probably result in an increase in Source’s monthly lease payment of $25,395 and that the company intended to pay the amount owing from when the company did not have 300 employees.

She also told the board that a hiring freeze had been lifted by the Veterans Administration. The freeze was brought on by the VA changing the way they submit information to Source and the sub-contractors located in the same building. “Source HOV is in the process of clearing up a backlog of applications and are still not taking new applications,” Hopkins said.

ASPI representatives were on hand to give the board an overview of their community garden project and to discuss future events. The community garden is located on land owned by RCIDA on Richmond Street and three families are currently involved with the project. ASPI plans to expand this number.

A dedication event is tentatively scheduled for July 18th, featuring entertainment by Drew Davidson and Beverly Sexton.

Louisville Lady Cards nominated for an ESPY

Fresh off an extraordinary season that saw the Lady Cards finish as National Runners-Up, the Lady Cardinals received word recently that their 82-81 upset of defending national champ Baylor in the Oklahoma Regional was one of four finalist for biggest upset of the year at the 2013 ESPY awards.

The 2013 ESPY awards will be held on July 17 at the Staples Center in Los Angeles and aired on ESPN. The winner is chosen by the fans, so log onto ESPN.com to cast your vote for Sara Hammond and the Lady Cards. Sara, along with teammates Bria Smith, Nita Slaughter, Shonni and Jude Schimmel will attend the event.

Sara also recently was one of only 33 college players invited to Tryouts for the USA national team that will participate in the World University Games in Russia in July.

Although she did not make the team, she was informed upon returning to Louisville that she was first alternate, and to be prepared to travel in case of illness or injury.

plied “I might can make $1,000. I would be lucky if I could make that.” Wesley later admitted that he had been unemployed for nine months.

Bartley recommended that Judge Lawless set the bond at $5,000/10%, which means he would only have to post $500 to make bail. However, Bartley recommended conditions to the bond which would place Wesley on house arrest with an ankle monitor and no movement from his home. He also recommended that Wesley have no contact or communication with the victims of his threats.

Wesley’s public defender was also in agreement with Bartley’s recommendations. Bartley could not be reached via phone to respond to why he made the recommendations to have Wesley’s bond lowered to such an extent.

Judge Lawless ruled in favor of Bartley’s recommendations for Wesley’s bond amount and bond conditions. Lawless also listed Wesley as a “flight risk” and a “danger to self or others.”

Wesley currently remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on the $5,000/10% bond. His preliminary hearing will be on Monday, August 12th in Rockcastle County District Court at 9 a.m. winner's names will be drawn and announced at a later date.

Western Rockcastle Volunteer Fire Department Chief Johnny Bengé said they were fortunate to complete their annual Fourth of July Celebration without any rain delays last Saturday at the Quail Fire Station on Hwy 70.

Bengé said it only came a light shower before the event started at 6 p.m. and they made it through the entire event before the heavy rains came later that night.

“We were fortunate to make it through the event without any rain,” Bengé said. “But about 15 minutes after we shot off the last firework, it started pouring so we just simply got lucky.”

Mt. Vernon Fire Department Chief David Bales said there was no rain during the “Blast in the Valley” Sunday and that they were able to shoot off all their fireworks as well without any problems.

“We were more fortunate than the other celebrations in the county as we had fair weather and clear skies for the most part,” Bales said. “It’s all just luck of the draw as we can’t control the weather. It’s liable to flood us out next year and not rain at all in Brodhead or Quail.”

residency available at the time of application. If more than 191 apply, a waiting list will be developed, in case additional funds become available later this summer.

The Rockcastle Health Department is providing Women Infant and Children (WIC) clients with free nutrition coupons as well. If you are a WIC client or qualify, please see health department staff for assistance.

The Rockcastle Farmers Market will get underway Thursday, July 11th from 12:30 to 4 p.m. at the Richmond Street location.

This year’s locations are: Saturday’s 8 a.m. until noon at the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame’s Aunt Polly’s House; Wednesdays 8 a.m. until noon at the Brodhead Fairgrounds and the 1st and 3rd Thursdays of each month from 11 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. in Livingston.

A new location in Mt. Vernon will be on Richmond Street between the Health Department and school board learning center from 12:20 p.m. until 4 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Farmers Market members started this new location to better serve those working public jobs. Customer’s supported the new site and marketing hours in a great way allowing for expansion to a second day.

Everyone is encouraged to help your family eat healthy locally grown fresh vegetables this summer by supporting the local Farmer’s Market.

Orlando native lands leading role in "The Music Man"

The Oldham County Arts Center presented famed Broadway musical, The Music Man, for three performances on June 14th-15th, starring local singers, dancers, and actors. Among them, Orlando native, Teresa (Renner) Boling, who lives in Crestwood, and Oldham County with four children, Brooke 17, Jon Thomas 15, Janae 14, Ethan 8, and husband Jeff. Cast along with the entire Boling family of dancers and singers, Teresa Boling played brilliantly the leading role of Marian the Librarian, who threatens to expose confidence man, Harold Hill, masterfully played by Gregg Jackson.

Professor Harold Hill has his work cut out for him to bamboozle the townspeople of River City, Iowa because the town librarian and piano teacher, Marian Paroo (Teresa Boling), is quite smart and will expose him instantly. Harold takes that as a challenge, both professionally and romantically. Eventually, Harold's crooning love songs convince the 26 year old Marian to dance the Shipoopee and meet him at the footbridge during the Ice-Cream social, a place she has never ventured before with any boy.

The Music Man is a musical, based on a story by Meredith Willson and Franklin Lacey. The plot concerns con man, Harold Hill, who poses as a boys' band organizer and leader and sells band instruments and uniforms to naive townsfolk before skipping town with the cash. In River City, Iowa, prim librarian and piano teacher Marian Paroo (Teresa Boling) sees through him, but when Hill helps her younger brother, Winthrop, overcome his fear of social rejection due to his lisp, Marian begins to fall in love with Harold. In the end, Harold, in turn, falling for Marian, risks being caught by Constable Locke (husband Jeff Boling) to win her heart and become her "White Knight". In the end, Harold exclaims that he didn't expect to get his foot caught in the door [of Marian's heart].

The Oldham County Arts Center production was well attended by hundreds with standing room only on opening night with all audiences enjoying the many songs from Marian Paroo (Teresa Boling) including Goodnight My Someone Goodnight, My White Knight, and 'Till There Was You.

Teresa Boling plays brilliantly the legendary soprano role of Librarian, singing "Goodnight My Someone Goodnight".

MVFD sponsorship raises awareness for breast cancer

The Mt. Vernon Volunteer Fire Department is requesting a sponsorship fee for a pink helmet to raise awareness about breast cancer.

The business or individual will sponsor a helmet for $200 for the first year which will cover the cost of the helmet and graphics. Every year after that the sponsor fee will be $100 which will be donated to the Rockcastle County Cancer Assistance Fund (Hope Fund.)

The business or individual will have possession of the helmet for eleven months of the year to be put on display in their location. MVFD will have possession of the helmets in October during National Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

The firefighters will wear the helmets during fire education at schools, parades and special events. The helmets will not be worn on fire runs or anytime where they might be damaged.

To purchase a helmet sponsorship contact Chief David Bales at mtvernonfire@twc.com.

Stars of Duck Dynasty to be at KY State Fair

Willie, Korie, Si and Kay Robertson, stars of A&E's Duck Dynasty, will entertain fans of the reality show and outdoor enthusiasts alike on the last day of the 2013 Kentucky State Fair. "A Conversation with the Robertsons" will be a part of the Main Stage Concert Series in Freedom Hall on Sunday, August 25 at 3:00 p.m.

Duck Dynasty, A&E's most-watched series, features a Louisiana bayou family living the American dream as they operate a thriving family business.

"We are thrilled to have the Robertsons bring a new type of entertainment to the fair this year," said Kentucky State Fair Board CEO Clifford "Rip" Rippetoe. "They have a large fan base who watch and follow them for their values, lifestyles and hobbies."

The Robertson family operates West Monroe, Louisiana-based companies Duck Commander and Buck Commander. They sell their famous handmade duck calls and decoys out of salvaged swamp wood, along with other duck hunting and deer hunting merchandise. The family-operated business is the basis of the A&E Duck Dynasty television show.

Willie Robertson, CEO of Duck Commander and Buck Commander, grew up with the family business and has been in and around hunting his entire life. As executive producer of the show, he has a passion for inspiring future hunters by showing the outdoor lifestyle in an entertaining way.

Korie Robertson, Willie's wife, serves as the office manager of Duck Commander. Alongside Willie, she has helped to expand their enterprise.

Si Robertson is most recognizable on the show for his blue cup and ability to never stay on task. He makes all of the reeds for the Duck Commander calls while sharing stories and offering his advice to the others.

Kay Robertson is the revered matriarch of the family. Known as Miss Kay, her cooking is recognizable with show fans for bringing the family together. Her most famous dishes being banana pudding, fried deer steak, crawfish pie and sticky frog legs. Family cookbook, "Miss Kay's Duck Commander Kitchen: Faith, Family, and Food," will be published November 5, 2013.

The 2012 Christmas episode ended season two as the most watched A&E episode at the time, only to be surpassed by the season three finale which totaled 9.6 million viewers.

Tickets to see "A Conversation with the Robertsons" began Monday, July 1 and are $48 and $38 which include Kentucky State Fair gate admission. Tickets are available at the Freedom Hall and Kentucky International Convention Center Ticket Offices and all Ticketmaster outlets. Charge by phone at 1-800-745-3000, or purchase online at www.ticketmaster.com.

The Kentucky State Fair is August 15-25 at the Kentucky Exposition Center. For more information and continued updates on the 2013 Kentucky State Fair, visit the official website at www.kystatefair.org.

The Signal office will be closed July 4th and 5th for the Independence Day holiday!

Joshua Linville

Linville receives scholarship

Joshua Lewis Linville of Brodhead has been awarded a Lake Cumberland Homebuilders Association Scholarship to attend Somerset Community College.

Linville is a 2013 graduate of Rockcastle County High School where he was involved as the captain of the Rockcastle County JROTC Rifle Team and worked more than 200 hours of volunteer community service. He plans to study pre-engineering at SCC and then transfer to the University of Kentucky for mining engineering.

Linville is the son of Rodger and Phyllis Linville of Brodhead.

KHESLC lowers interest rates on college loans

Kentucky students and parents who need help paying for college can now get lower interest rates on Advantage Education Loans from the Kentucky Higher Education Student Loan Corporation (KHESLC).

On July 1, interest rates dropped to as low as 5.29 percent. The exact rate will depend on creditworthiness, choice of payment plan and if payment is made by auto debit. The interest rate is fixed for the life of the loan.

The low-cost loans fill the gap between other financial aid a student receives and the total cost of education. Students should apply for all free aid, such as grants and scholarships, then for Federal Stafford Loans before applying for a private loan.

To qualify for a student Advantage Loan, the student must:

- Be enrolled in an approved school.
- Be 18 by the date of application.
- Be a U.S. citizen or a non-citizen with a proof of residency card.

•Have an acceptable credit history or an approved cosigner.

To qualify for a parent Advantage Loan, the borrower must:

•Be the parent or stepparent of an undergraduate or graduate student, as determined by the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).

•Be a U.S. citizen or a non-citizen with a proof of residency card.

•Have an acceptable credit history or an approved cosigner.

The loans are available to students attending eligible colleges and universities. Applications may be submitted online at kheslc.com. For more information, call 888-678-4625.

KHESLC is a public, nonprofit corporation that provides education loans for students and parents. It was established by the Kentucky General Assembly in 1978.

Modern Conveniences Are Not Always Convenient

The modern world is tremendously different from the world of fifty years ago. For those of us who remember back that far, we remember those days when modern conveniences did not exist. Many of these are things we now take for granted. They are so much a part of our lives that I wonder how we got along without them.

1. When I was a child, we did not have air conditioning in our house. All we had were a few shade trees, and yet I do not remember fretting about the heat. Perhaps this was because kids just do not notice these sorts of things or perhaps I just did not know any different. It may be true that “you can’t miss what you never had.” Today, I would give up a lot of things before I would part with my air conditioner.

2. Computers are a daily part of many people’s lives in the modern world. I can remember learning to type on a manual typewriter. (For you youngsters, that’s the kind of thing you see in movies made in the forties and fifties.) It took a firm keystroke just to make the key strike the paper. In my high school typing class we even had one electric typewriter! Yes, we were up-town! Students took turns typing on it, just so we would know what it felt like.

3. And what about copy machines? We continually run to the copy machine these days. If the copy machine breaks, whole offices come to a standstill. In the old days we used carbon paper. If you missed the experience of making five carbon copies on a manual typewriter, be thankful. Making a mistake meant that you had to stop and individually erase the mistake on each page before you could continue. It took awhile.

4. We had never heard of video cassette recorders, CDs or DVDs. Records were played on the stereo with the old LP record albums. These gradually wore out and would skip and hiss as they aged. If you wanted to watch a movie, you had to wait until it came to the local movie theater.

There were no DVDs to rent.

5. How many storage buildings are in your town these days? Where I live it seems there are thousands – and almost all of them are rented. In the old days only businesses had warehouses. Now individual families rent warehouse space. What did we do before storage buildings? Did we have more room at home to store stuff then? Do we have more stuff now?

6. Does your car have air conditioning? Can you imagine traveling without it? When I was a child, my grandparents lived in the southern part of Georgia. My dad always got his vacation in July. Do you know how hot it is in an un-air conditioned car in Georgia in July? In the days before I-75, the drive took sixteen hours. My sister and I barely avoided doing bodily harm to each other. I can only imagine my parent’s misery.

7. Talked to anyone on your cell phone lately? Cell phones have both advantages and disadvantages. You can call from anywhere, anytime, which is especially helpful if your car breaks down or you are lost. The disadvantage is that you never have a moment’s peace. Anyone who carries a cell phone is always at someone’s beck and call. If you younger folks can imagine this, when I was a child, we had no phone at all! We walked to the neighbors to use the phone. That was quite a chore but, on the positive side, no telemarketers ever called us either.

Local students named to SCC Dean’s List

Somerset Community College recently released the Spring 2013 Dean’s List. The Spring 2013 semester concluded in May. Six hundred and forty-four students were named to the list.

Local students were:

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...
 What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
 Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
 A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
 B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
 The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufactures recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
 C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
 D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
 E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
 The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
 Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

EARTHQUAKE CAKE

1 and 1/2 cups coconut
1 and 1/2 cups pecans, chopped
1 box German Chocolate cake mix plus ingredients on box
1 stick butter or margarine
1 box (8 ounce) cream cheese

4 cups powdered sugar
Preheat oven to 350°. Sprinkle coconut and nuts in bottom of 13 x 9 baking pan. Prepare cake mix batter as directed on box; pour over nuts and coconut.
Melt butter and cream cheese. Add powdered sugar. Spoon cream cheese mixture down center of batter—DO NOT MIX. Bake for 45 minutes at 350°. Let cool. Serve warm or chilled.

TEXAS SHEET CAKE

2 cups all-purpose flour
2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup water
4 tablespoons cocoa
1/2 cup vegetable oil
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 eggs
1/2 cup buttermilk
1 teaspoon vanilla

FROSTING:

1 stick butter or margarine
4 tablespoons cocoa
1 box (1 lb.) powdered sugar
6 tablespoons milk or cream
1 cup chopped pecans or walnuts

Preheat oven to 350°. Sift flour, sugar, soda and salt. In saucepan, bring to boil the water, cocoa, oil and butter or margarine. Pour over dry ingredients. Mix well. Beat eggs, add buttermilk and vanilla. Add to chocolate mixture. Mix well. Pour into greased and floured 9 x 13 pan (a 15 x 10 could also be used, but adjust cooking time). Bake for 25 to 30 minutes or until top springs back when touched. Prepare frosting the last five minutes of baking time. Frost as soon as cake comes out of oven. Melt margarine or butter and cocoa over medium heat, but do not boil. Take off heat. Add powdered sugar, vanilla, and milk. Mix well. Stir in nuts. Pour over hot cake. Frosting sets up as it cools.

McKinney's Tire and Service Center on Main Street in Mt. Vernon was heavily damaged Monday when a black truck crashed through the wall after being hit by a runaway car. Authorities say a silver Lincoln Town Car, driven by Tammy Newton, 41, of Berea, slammed into a parked black Ford Ranger owned by Blake McKinney causing the Ford Ranger to go through the wall of the building. Newton told authorities she realized her brakes had gone out after turning onto Old US Hwy 25 from Hwy 25. Newton managed to navigate down the curves on Old US 25, at times reaching speeds of 50-60 MPH before going between two other parked vehicles and slamming into McKinney's truck. Newton was transported to Rockcastle Regional Hospital where she was treated for non-life threatening injuries and released. Owner Bill McKinney said the wall has been patched up and that he will meet with his insurance adjuster later this week to determine damages from the accident.

Former school bus driver arrested for inappropriate communication

By: Doug Ponder
A former Rockcastle County school bus driver was arrested at the central office of the school board Tuesday afternoon for using electronic communications to solicit pornography and other sexual offenses to male minor students on his former bus route.
Arrested was Joshua Glenn Robbins, 29, of Brodhead.
According to Kentucky State Police reports, Trooper Scottie Pennington received complaints in June from the parents of two male students who rode Robbins' school bus on his former bus route.
The parents told Pennington that when they read some of their sons' Facebook messages and cell phone text messages they had found several inappropriate conversations between their children and Robbins. One of the male students had sixty messages that were reportedly inappropriate in nature and the other male student had three but said he had deleted a large number of his old messages.
In some of the messages between Robinson and the male students, the conversations were about inappropriate acts while looking at porn websites.
After discovering the inappropriate messages, one father sent a message to Robbins from his son's Facebook account telling him that he had been caught. Robbins reportedly replied and admitted to the father that he was wrong for having the inappropriate conversations with his son.
Robbins also told Pennington that he had been having inappropriate conversations with the two male students. After receiving consent from Robbins to search his phone, Pennington also found a message from Robbins asking one of the male students to come stay with him.

Rockcastle Fiscal Court opens bids for new Climax Fire Department at Tuesday's meeting

Four bids were opened at Tuesday's regular meeting of the Fiscal Court. However, the court was able to award only one bid, for wood framing and metal work. Keith Bullock submitted the low bid, $35,604 labor only, for this portion of the construction. The county plans to furnish all materials for the building since they are exempt from paying sales tax. The county will contact D&B Electrical and ask them to separate the materials from the labor in their bid.

The court also received a bid for the electrical work, from D&B Electrical LLC in Berea, of $36,235 but that bid included materials as did a bid for a "turn key" job for $279,261 from R&R Builders in Berea. County Judge/Executive Buzz Carloftis and magistrates agreed not to consider that bid because of the cost. The only other bid received was for $45,000 for wood framing and metal work from Rondal Baker. The county must still get bids for a heating and cooling system, plumbing, flooring, concrete work and drywall.

During the meeting, the court also agreed to pay $22,688 to complete payment for the City of Brodhead's new park. The park includes two shelter

Mayor Medley, others visit Virginia trail town

Livingston Mayor Jason Medley gave a report to the city commissioners Monday night on a recent visit made to Damascus, Virginia by himself, Commissioner Katha Carpenter, City Clerk Trish Doan and Police Chief Carl Swannigan, and their families. The group paid their own expenses for the trip.
Medley said the visit was made to get a feel for the issues Livingston will have to deal with in their development as a trail town. "Damascus's has a population of 1,000 people, with 11 bike rental shops and, each year, has 160,000 to 200,000 visitors," Medley said. There are no big hotels/motels in the town, most of the tourists stay at bed and breakfasts or go to nearby Abingdon where there are big motels/hotels.

The mayor also said that in 1999, the city had a yearly budget of $50,000. Today their annual budget is $1.5 million. Tourists are shuttled to the top of a mountain and then ride bikes to the bottom, about

School board will wait to raise drop-out age

On the recommendation of Superintendent David Pensol, the Rockcastle County Board of Education opted to not make a special motion to raise the drop-out age to 18. Instead the board will pass the law as part of their acceptance of their policy manual from the Kentucky School Board Association at a subsequent meeting.
The action came following Pensol's "Superintendent's Report" during which he told the board that the local district was already making strides in combating drop-outs, cutting the figure to 14 this year (not including those who left to be home-schooled), from 16 the year before. The superintendent said that all 14 were 18 and could sign themselves out. As to the lower rate of drop-outs, Pensol said "we are having individual conversations with students and making

Blacktopping concerns discussed at Brodhead Council meeting

By: Doug Ponder
A Brodhead citizen attended the city's monthly council meeting to discuss his concerns with the new blacktopping project.
Randy Abrams said he lives at the end of Proffitt Street in a cul-de-sac. Cul-de-sacs are oval shaped pavement designs that are placed at the end of dead-end streets for motorists to turn around.

The current blacktopping plans show that the city is only paving approximately two-thirds of the street and leaving out the section in front of Abrams' house and three other homes. Abrams suggested that the pavement toward the end of the street needs

Local police receive tips in search of missing Berea teen

By: Doug Ponder
The Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department and Mt. Vernon Police Department received a couple of tips last week about the alleged location of a missing Berea teen's body.
Sheriff Mike Peters said the tips dealt with the alleged burial of missing Berea teen Brookelyn Farthing, 18. Farthing went missing in Berea on Saturday, June 22nd.
Peters said they received one tip that her body was buried in the woods around the Climax area and another tip that said her body was buried in the woods around the Conway area. He said officers from the two departments extensively searched the woods in the two areas but they didn't find anything.
"We traced the woods in both areas and found nothing," Peters said. "We even retraced the same wooded areas as well as surrounding wooded areas in case we all missed something but we still didn't find anything."

Points East

By Ike Adams

I usually wait until after the State Fair to make this report, but this year there is some news that simply needs not to be postponed that long.

If you've been a POINTS EAST reader for the last decade or so, you already know that Loretta and I run a photography day camp for 4-H kids, under the auspices of the Garrard County Extension Service, every year in June. You also know that we are so tired by the time the whole thing is over that we swear we won't be doing it again because we're getting too old to keep up with a bunch of 10 to 14 year old kids who are pumped up on soda pop and sugary stuff.

But when the weather is cold and dreary in January, we start talking about how much fun we had in photo camp last year and bumping ideas off each other as to how we could make it better this year and it takes very little convincing that maybe we ought to do it one more time.

By the first of May we are in full-steam-ahead, day-camp mode, all the while promising each other that this will, indeed, be the last year we do it because just can't take it anymore.

And then we start talking about the kids who were there last year and how well they did at the State Fair after doing so well at the County Fair. These kids don't know it but we talk, behind their backs, about how wonderful they are, collectively and individually, and how talented they are and just how lucky we are to spend a scant few days in their lives. I can only hope that, one day, down the road, they'll feel good to have encountered Lo and me when they pull a camera---or a cane out--- but that's beside the point.

4-H is pretty awesome in Garrard County and it probably is in yours. Here in central Kentucky where we raise cattle, horses, sheep, goats, hogs and the hay and corn it takes to feed them. We used to raise tobacco up until about four years ago, but that's a different topic and it's subject to a different column down the road.

So, anyway, we spent a bunch of time with kids and cameras during the second week of June in the classroom and out there taking pictures on The Patterson Farm where Dorothy Murphy and her Mom have cherries ripening and peaches blushing and flowers in full bloom exactly when we do photo camp.

In fact, the week before we started I told Loretta that she'd better call Mrs. Patterson to see if the cherries were going to be ripe because we might have to put the day camp off for a week or two if they weren't.

Mrs. Patterson and Dorothy also have sheep, goats, cattle, chickens, a donkey and a spotted horse named Sugar who relishes the attention she gets during photo camp as much as the kids love petting on her. You may believe that Secretariat was the most photographed horse ever but Sugar would suggest that you might need to do some actual counting.

Let's just say that Sugar's mug, mane and tail have been prominently featured in one aspect or another by 4-H kids at both the Garrard County Fair and the Kentucky State for the last dozen years or so because she is not camera shy.

So Loretta calls me up on opening night from the fair grounds and says, "Guess who won Grand Champion in photography in the open class?" Open class is for photo hobbyists, serious amateurs and professional photographers and you'd better be pretty good with a camera before you enter a photo. Lo and I both had entries this year, as did some people who take pictures for a living.

But I didn't miss a heartbeat before saying to her, "If Cassidy's shot of Sugar didn't win you better be firing the judges." I'd seen the picture and watched when Cassidy took it. Perfect sunset light on Sugar's face and ears and eyebrows with her tongue stuck out as if to say, enough already!

Been Around A Long Time

To my surprise, we just received a package from Amazon that my wife had ordered; it contained the latest CD release by Delbert McClinton -- one of our favorite blues/country/rock artists. He is one of the few artists we will actually seek out for a live concert, because that is basically Delbert at his best.

For those of you who are having a hard time figuring out just who McClinton is, let me remind you that he was the harmonica player on the 1962 number-one hit by Bruce Channel, Hey Baby. The song remained in the number one spot for three weeks and remains one of the most requested rock-and-roll songs of the early 60's.

McClinton is a legend among Texas roots music aficionados, not only for his longevity but also for his ability to combine blues, country, soul, and rock and roll. He has been playing that harp and singing for over 50 years. Kathy and I did not "discover" him for ourselves until the early 90's, when we attended an outdoor concert of his in Bardstown. The music was amazing, bringing the crowd to its feet for most of the concert. Many of the fans rushed to the front of the stage and remained there for the entire show. It is kind of hard to sit still when Delbert and his band turn loose. Kathy and I have followed him all over the state for the past 20 years and have seen him in concert many times -- never to be disappointed.

The latest CD by McClinton is entitled, Blind, Crippled and Crazy. The first song on the disk caught my eye even before I was able to listen because it is called "Been Around A Long Time." It came to me once again that Delbert and I are roughly the same age -- and yes, we have been around a long time. Listening to the lyrics, I found that I agreed with the sentiments expressed in the song:

I ain't old but I been around a long time

Long enough to know age is just a state of mind

Some things just get better like fine wine

I ain't old but I been around a long time

I've seen 'em come and go and come back around again

Some of life's hard lessons finally started sinkin' in

If you don't do nothing your're gonna live to regret

You won't have to live with what you can't forget

I ain't old but I been around a long time

Some people say you burn out if you go too fast

But I just want to live it up as long as it lasts

If there's a secret to life I've ever found

It's all about staying in the here and now

I ain't old but I've been around a long time

Keep your expectations under control

You just might surprise yourself

To see how far you go

Don't hold too tight, let it all unwind

Keep a positive state of mind

I ain't old but I been around a long time.

This sort of philosophy about life is certainly aligned with mine. I have never thought of myself as old, but if you look at my birthdate -- I have been

Strange... But True?

The Elusive Unicorn

Being a lover of all animals, except the creepy-crawly ones, I've wondered about the existence of the mythical unicorn. I tend to believe there, at one time, the unicorn must have existed. It is noted several times within the pages of the Bible as a "re' em" (Hebrew).

The Hebrews believed the unicorn to be an animal of great strength and agility, but it was untameable. It had one or two horns. The American Standard Bible translates "re' em" to be "wild ox". The unicorn is mentioned in Numbers 23 and 24, Deuteronomy 33, Job 39, Psalms 22, 29, and 92, and Isaiah 34. The classical Jewish understanding of the Bible did not identify the "re' em" animal as the unicorn. Instead, the "tahash" animal (Exodus 25, 26, 35, 36, and 39; Numbers 4, and Ezekiel 16) was thought to be a kosher (suitable for eating or sacrifice) unicorn with a coat of many colors that only existed in biblical times. The unicorn can be seen as early as 1213 as depicted in mosaics on a church floor.

The unicorn is not found in Greek mythology, but in accounts of natural history as writers of natural history were convinced in the reality of the unicorn. Some of the writers attempted to render the unicorn to be a kind of antelope, wild ass, or a rhinoceros. One writer, Pliny the Elder, describes the unicorn as an "oryx" (a kind of antelope) and an ox, possibly a rhinoceros, as one-horned beasts as well as a fierce animal called a monoceros, which had the head of a stag, feet of an elephant, tail of a boar, body of a horse, and had a black horn projecting from its forehead about two feet long.

Several Asian cultures have a mythological creature rendered to be a unicorn, of sorts. The Chinese unicorn is said to have a deer's body, lion's head, green scales, and a long horn. Other cultures to include the unicorn are the Japanese and Vietnamese.

The unicorn has a long and rich history that has woven itself into the fabric of many cultures. Today, it is thought of as only a creature of legend. It is thought to be a white horse with a single spiraled horn protruding from the forehead. It is at this point we have to question a few facets of the unicorn. It was a common animal of reference in the Bible. It was supposedly still in existence during the classical Greek era and to a point thereafter, and noted quite often during the Middle Ages and Renaissance.

On Call.....

Submitted by Rick Branham, Captain
Brodhead Fire Dept.

Do you know the difference between a volunteer firefighter and a career firefighter? The answer, a career firefighter gets paid to risk his/her life. Whether you're a volunteer or career, you receive the same training; utilize the same gear and equipment. A volunteer does it for no pay. Did you know that 80% of this country's fire departments are staffed with volunteers and some paid department s have volunteers on staff to respond to certain incidents.

Rockcastle is comprised solely of volunteer fire departments with each member volunteering their time and risking their lives to protect the citizens of this county. They are trained to the same level as the paid departments and take great pride in being a firefighter.

This column, hopefully, will provide a source of education and interest regarding the first responders of Rockcastle County. In this column you will read about the history of each department and of the fire service. Each week will cover a different topic, for instance, what type of tools are used to extricate a person from a vehicle or discover that it's not actually the wood that is on fire in your campfire. Also, I want to include what each department does for the community. What fundraisers they are doing, the responses they make and the equipment they are using.

I am very excited about this column. Who am I you ask. My name is Rick Branham. I have been in the fire service since 2000. I am a Captain on the Brodhead Volunteer Fire Department and in 2009 I started working for the Lexington Fire Department. I am a certified fire instructor and an EMT. By serving for both types of fire departments, I see firsthand how each operates and through this column I hope you will as well.

I entitled this column, On Call because as a firefighter you are always on call. Volunteers are on call 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Most carry a pager or radio and are ready to respond when a call is dispatched. Career firefighters are on call while on duty. Their shifts typical last for 24 hours and usually have 48 hours off. However they could be called in for duty given a large incident.

Until next time, I leave you with a question. When and where was the first full-time paid fire department formed?

The Family Room

By Guest Columnist
Amy Oakley

For the past ten years, she has been married to a man who is emotionally abusive. She has put up with his constant threats, manipulation, and mind games because she didn't think they qualified as abuse. But last night, he threatened to hurt her if she didn't get the house cleaned up. He put his fist through the wall to prove that he meant it.

She is terrified. She decides to meet with her pastor. She tells him about the turmoil she's been living with. She confesses that she is afraid of her husband and that she wants to leave the relationship. She hopes that the pastor will help her figure out what to do.

The pastor tells her that he doesn't believe in divorce and that a woman should obey her husband and stick with him no matter what. He suggests that they should go through marital counseling to save the relationship. She leaves the meeting discouraged and confused. She doesn't know where else to turn. She is so embarrassed by the pastor's response that she decides not to go to anyone else for help. The domestic violence stays a secret.

While this particular story is fiction, it represents reality for many domestic violence victims who seek help from their faith communities. At their best, churches (and temples, mosques, and synagogues) can be a refuge for victims: a place where they can find resources and comfort from people who share their religious beliefs. At their worst, churches can reinforce the shame and guilt that a victim feels. They can make her believe that what is happening is her fault and that she must accept it and learn to live with it.

Which do you want your place of worship to be?

Ways to create a church that helps domestic violence victims:

1. Let victims know that they are not alone. Preach against domestic violence from the pulpit. Add victims and survivors to prayer lists. Display informational brochures and posters with contact information for Family Life Abuse Center.

2. Become educated. Study scripture that is sometimes used to justify domestic violence, such as Ephesians 5. Hold a training for pastors and church staff so that they understand how to respond to domestic violence victims. Invite a speaker from Family Life Abuse Center to your Bible study or Sunday School class.

3. Partner with Family Life Abuse Center to show that your church doesn't stand for domestic violence. You can provide support to the shelter by giving monetary or material donations, or you can engage in service by volunteering at the shelter.

Family Life Abuse Center provides emergency shelter and services to victims of domestic violence and their families. If you are in a dangerous relationship and need help, please call Family Life Abuse Center at any time at 1-800-755-5348. All calls are free and confidential.

Good to know people care...

Dear Editor,
Last Friday night my grandson, Justin, wrecked when the truck he was driving slid off the roadway and flipped several times due to the wet roads.. This was on Hwy.1505.

We want to take the time to thank all who helped direct traffic, the Brindle Ridge Fire Dept. and the EMS for treating and transporting him to the E.R. Thanks also to the Kentucky State Police and the nurses and doctor at the Rockcastle Hospital. A special thank you to the young lady who was at the scene and kept him calm and comforted me over the phone.

It's good to know that there are so many people out there who really do care for others. If I left anyone out, thank you from our hearts. Justin has minor scratches and cuts to his face and left hand, and he hurt his back. We would appreciate your prayers for him and our family.

*Thanks again,

FSA acreage reporting deadline is July 15th

John W. McCauley, USDA Kentucky Farm Service Agency State Executive Director, is reminding producers that the acreage reporting deadline for the 2013 crop year is July 15, 2013. Acreage reports are required for many Farm Service Agency programs. Producers who file accurate and timely reports for all crops and land uses, including failed acreage can prevent the potential loss of FSA program benefits. Crops reported after July 15, will be considered late filed; however, the late file fee will be waived for the 2013 crop year for crops reported July 15 through September 15.

Producers are also reminded that August 2nd is the deadline to sign up for DCP.

To report prevented or failed acreage, producers must complete Form CCC-576, Notice of Loss for applicable crops. Reporting prevented or failed acreage to FSA will ensure compliance with current farm programs, and possible eligibility for future disaster programs. Once a CCC-576 has been submitted, it cannot be withdrawn or revised.

Reporting forage crops and pastures is also required. For 2014, perennial forage, fall wheat, and other fall seeded small grains will have a December 15, 2013 reporting date. All crops on the farm, including forage crops and pasture are used to determine overall eligibility for some FSA programs, so accurately reporting these crops is important.

If a producer misses the reporting deadline for prevented planting, they may still report prevented planting acreage as long as the disaster condition may be verified by a field visit and a late filing fee is paid

For questions regarding crop certification and crop loss reports, please contact your local FSA office.

Money Tip for Students

Take advantage of meal plan

Many colleges require students to have a meal plan, especially if they live on campus. Meal plans vary among colleges, but most will give students a certain number of dining hall meals per week and the option of adding flex dollars that students can use at the campus food court or other locations. The larger the school is, the greater flexibility students may have.

Students who choose their meal plan carefully may be able to cut college costs by selecting the plan that is best for them, according to the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA).

Most often, the meal plan will come out of students' financial aid or their parents' money if they're footing the bill. Funds will be loaded on a card students swipe at on-campus cafeterias and restaurants.

Students can waste a lot of money eating off-campus and even rack up credit card debt by charging food. Most meals on-campus are already paid for through the meal plan, so students should eat on-campus as much as possible.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers Kentucky's grant and scholarship programs, including the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES). It provides free copies of "It's Money, Baby," a guide to financial literacy, to Kentucky schools and residents upon request at publications@kheaa.com.

To learn how to plan and prepare for higher education, go to www.gotocollege.ky.gov. For more information about Kentucky scholarships and grants, visit www.kheaa.com; write KHEAA, P.O. Box 798, Frankfort, KY 40602; or call 800-928-8926, ext. 6-7372.

"Memories"

around a long time. But, there is a lot of truth to the notion that age is simply a state of mind. So I'll be happy to "keep my expectations under control" and just "see how far I can go." It has never really been hard for me to keep a positive state of mind – in spite of my familial inclination to worry.

And you have to admit that one of the best pieces of advice that anyone can be given is to "stay in the here and now." It is usually one of those things that people don't really acknowledge until something drastic happens, good or bad. It is then that people seem to realize that staying in the moment is an important part of successful living. After all, it is all we are certain that we have. I think that Delbert expresses that sentiment quite effectively in that song – in both lyric and in music.

McClinton has been awarded Grammys for his musical talents. In 1991, he released a song with Bonnie Raitt, which won for Best Rock Vocal, Duo or Group. In 2001, his most acclaimed CD was called Nothing Personal, and it proved to be the most popular recording of his career, earning him a Grammy for Best Contemporary Blues Album. If you were only limited to hearing one of his records, that album is the best example of his talent and showmanship.

Receiving this album has reminded me to be thankful for the life that I have led – as well as for that life that I continue to lead. There is something about Delbert's sound that seems to get his messages through in a most unique manner. Maybe that is why he is so successful in so many different styles of music. Because it is certain that he is good for my spirits; it is like sharing his high energy as the song carries you along. And in this particular song, it comes packaged with a bit of wisdom – from a man who has been around a long time.

KY Artisan Center celebrates 10 years as showcase for the arts

The Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea celebrates 10 years as Kentucky's showcase for the arts with three days of celebration beginning Friday, July 19, with a host of activities including a demonstration of clay face jugs by Robert Brigl, from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the center.

Drawn to the traditional forms of American folk pottery, Brigl makes both functional and sculptural ceramic jugs and bottles on the potter's wheel. He sculpts these thrown forms with faces and figures by adding coils and pieces of clay to their surfaces. He often makes the eyes from white porcelain clay.

Brigl often finishes these pieces with glaze and sometimes adds semi-precious stones or sand blasts the surfaces to make the glazes appear to be time-worn. He also makes a line of hand-built and pinched face "Nuts" in a variety of sizes, from 2-4 inches.

Brigl, of Bowling Green, is a juried member of the Kentucky Art Council's Kentucky Crafted Program and regularly shows his work at the co-operative studio and gallery, The Pots Place in Bowling Green, as well as at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea.

Born in North Dakota, Brigl grew up in the Midwest and came to Kentucky when his family moved to the state for his father to finish his doctorate. Brigl studied ceramics at Western Kentucky University, in Bowling Green, under the direction of Professor Bill Weaver.

After graduating with a Bachelor of Arts degree in education in 1974, Brigl apprenticed for four years with Weaver, assisting him in the our day camp three years running and she could be teaching it. This year we talked three or four of our 4-H day campers into entering the big league and unassuming, Miss Modesty, Cassidy Watkins, won the whole she-bang! YESSSSSS!!!!

I absolutely could not possibly be prouder nor anymore elated. If I could have a room full of motivated, eager-to-learn kids like Cassidy Watkins I'd be back teaching in a heartbeat. It is so way, way beyond wonderful when your student out-performs the teacher.

"Strange"

When did the unicorn cease to exist, since there aren't any today? Was it after the Great Flood? Did the unicorn drown? During the Middle Ages or Renaissance when the horn was thought to have magical powers and they were hunted to extinction? Were there any real unicorns or just an ox, stag, bull, etc., being called a unicorn? Did God intentionally destroy the unicorns at some point, and if so, why? These are questions that may never be answered. In next week's column of "Strange...but True?" we will examine more history of the elusive unicorn.

building of a studio and kilns. During this apprenticeship, Brigl pursued his Master of Arts degree in public administration, receiving it in 1976. He then worked as the exhibits curator for the Kentucky Museum for 10 years. From 1986 to 2011, he taught high school art in the Warren County Public Schools and now works full time as a potter.

Pottery by Robert Brigl is regularly available at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea, located at 200 Artisan Way, just off Interstate 75 at Berea, Exit 77. The center's exhibits, shopping and travel information areas are open daily, year-round, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., and the cafe is open from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Admission is free.

Celebrating 10 years in 2013 with three days of events and activities July 19-21, the center currently features works by more than 650 artisans from more than 100 counties across the Commonwealth. Special exhibits include, "The Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea: Celebrating 10 Years," on display through Aug. 24; and "The Founding of the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea" and "Highlights of the First 10 Years," on display in the lobby through Nov. 17, 2013. An encouraging word:

A Choice That Makes A Difference

By Howard Coop

Recently, a beautiful spring morning began as mornings usual do. Breakfast was prepared, and we gathered around the table to enjoy it. After the usual short prayer that contained thanksgiving for a night of restful sleep, gratitude for the expected blessings of a new day, a request for guidance through the day, and gratitude for the food before us, I looked, and there beside a bowl of my favorite cereal was a number of pills to be taken before I ate.

I began to take those little pills, and as I did so, I remembered, with gratitude, that I had been taking one of those little pills for thirty-one years. After trying a number of medications to control my blood pressure, a wise physician suggested that I try a different medicine. It worked marvelously and has continued to do so over the years. Now, my blood pressure is consistently on the low side of normal, and I am, indeed, grateful for that.

Before enjoying the bowl of cereal, I finished taking my medication, and at once, an intriguing thought occurred to me: There is an even better medication that is available to everyone. It can, and does, have a profound effect upon life, and it is free for everyone. But, unfortunately, there is another medication, free to everyone, that is harmful. For about three thousand years, it has been proverbial that “A cheerful heart is good medicine, but a crushed spirit dries up the bones.” Now, who wants a crushed spirit when one can have a cheerful heart?

How one looks at life is determined by one’s own choosing. If one chooses, one can develop a cheerful heart and, even in difficult situations, walk on the sunny side of the street. Likewise, one can, if one chooses, develop a crushed spirit attitude and live in the unpleasant shadows on the wrong side of the street of life. It is a choice that makes a difference.

The job will be posted thru Saturday, July 13th.

mayor also gave a report on the progress of cleaning-up the former Livingston School building. Medley said the school was 95% cleaned up. “We are within one room of having all debris out of the school but the damage is extensive.” The city has a facebook page called Livingston Revitalization which documents the clean-up process.

Medley said he would like to see the building eventually house artisans, a fitness center, perhaps some rooms for tourists to spend the night but said a committee would be appointed to decide what would be best for the community. He also said the police department would eventually be housed in the building which would enhance their public appearance and help with keeping the building secure. Medley also said that there was a possibility of fixing 6 to 8 rooms for overnight stays by tourists in the Forster Mullins’ building and also told the commissioners, “Activities in the entire county will have to be included in our plan. We can’t stuff everything in Livingston.”

The mayor also announced that there will be a Rockcastle River Day on Saturday, July 20th at the ford of the river, if the river is down. There will be live music, a bonfire, hot dogs and marshmallows grilled, a duck race and wacky boats and camping will be available.

“Robbins”

Pennington said that he was still identifying and interviewing other alleged victims at the time of publication and that Robbins’ case remains under investigation.

Robbins is charged with 63 counts of prohibited use of electronic communication system to procure a minor/peace officer regarding sexual offenses. He was lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center where he was later released on a $5,000 cash/property bond.

Superintendent David Pensol said that Robbins is no longer employed in the Rockcastle County School District as a bus driver. He said prior to his investigation and arrest, the board had never received any complaints from parents or students about Robbins’ alleged behavior and actions.

“All of our employees go through a state background check as well as various other extensive background checks and there wasn’t any red flags before his employment with us,” Pensol said. “We never received any complaints from parents and we didn’t learn about the allegations until we were informed that KSP had started an investigation on him.”

Pensol also said, “We will continue to cooperate with the investigation and we will always do everything we can to look out for the welfare of our students in our school system.”

Kentucky Full Throttle 14U earned runner-up honors in the Kern’s State Invitational Tournament at EKU. The team knocked off Lexington After-shock and Jinx in the first two rounds of the elimination bracket, before falling to a strong second year Krossfire-98 squad in the championship game. Local team members are Bailey Chasteen, Juliann Kirby and Shelby Ham.

three hours of entertainment for $24 (the bike rental fee).

While in Damascus, the group met with city officials, including the mayor, city manager and tourism director.

One big piece of news for the city is that Steve Barber, director of the Sheltoewe Trace has contacted Medley about the possibility of moving their headquarters to Livingston which would give the town a big boost in their efforts to become the number one trail town in Kentucky. “The Sheltoewe Trace is a 267 mile mostly hiking trail and tourists would be shuttled to the trail from Livingston,” Medley said.

Card of Thanks

Ernest E. Bullock, Jr.

There are no words to describe the exemplary care that Ernest E. Bullock, Jr. received from the Rockcastle Regional Hospital during his stay. Everyone from the ambulance EMT's, emergency doctors and staff, all the nurses, respiratory therapists, assistants, dietary, cafeteria workers and even housekeeping were kind, compassionate, professional and helpful in every way they could be.

During his short stay at the Rockcastle Health and Rehabilitation Center, the same was true. He and we were treated fantastically well. Their quick and professional actions allowed us to share eight more treasured days with him.

The staff at White House Clinic will always hold a special place in our hearts for the wonderful care and support they provided and nothing could compare with the excellence of care that Dr. Arvin supplied to our loved one. He went above and beyond to see he received the best of care plus was an uncommon source of comfort to all the family.

Special thanks goes to our friends at Dowell and Martin Funeral Home where the arrangements were handled with the utmost attention to every detail. That was so important to our family at this heartbreaking time. Thank you Pam Martin for the gorgeous flowers from Sparks Flower Shop. They were exactly what we wanted. Thank you Roy Martin for the beautiful rose casket spray. We are sure he would have loved it as much as we did.

He would have been as proud and honored as we were to have the Masonic Lodge members perform their last rites ceremony for their Brother. Deep appreciation goes to Bro. Randy McPherson for the great job he did officiating. We would like to thank the Mt. Vernon Fire Department for driving the fire truck in the funeral procession. He would have loved that touching gesture. Lastly, let us thank everyone for the gifts of kind words, prayers, thoughts, visits, cards, phone calls, flowers, food and money. Everything was greatly appreciated.

But, most of all, thank you Lord for letting us have 83 years of Ernest E. Bullock, Jr. (affectionately known as "The Man In Black.")

NOTICE TO Rockcastle County Taxpayers

Danetta Ford Allen, Rockcastle County Clerk, pursuant to KRS 424.130 announces that the 2012 Delinquent Real Property Tax Bills (Certificates of Delinquency) will be published in the Mount Vernon Signal on July 11, 2013. The list of Certificates of Delinquency is also available for public inspection during the hours of Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Thursday 8:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. and Saturday 8:30 a.m. to Noon at the County Clerk’s office located at 205 East Main Street, Mt. Vernon, Kentucky 40456. This list may also be inspected on the Rockcastle County website. The Uniform Resource Locater (URL) of the website is www.rockcastlecountyclerk.com

The tax sale will be held on August 16, 2013 beginning at 2:00 p.m. All interested participants must register with the County Clerk’s office by the close of business on August 1, 2013. Please contact the County Clerk’s office if you need additional information about the tax sale registration process, the required registration fee or the deposit amounts that will be needed. Taxpayers can continue to pay their delinquent tax bills to the County Clerk’s office anytime prior to the tax sale.

Please Note: All payments must be received in the County Clerk’s office prior to the tax sale date listed in this advertisement. Payments received after the tax sale has been conducted will be returned without exception. Some delinquencies - although they have been advertised - will be excluded from the tax sale in accordance with the provisions of KRS 134.504(10)(b).

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact the County Clerk’s office at 606-256-2831 to attend the Rockcastle County High School Volleyball tryouts on July 15th-16th, 2013. I understand that attending this tryout does not reserve a position on the Freshman, JV, or Varsity volleyball team. I hereby authorize the coaching staff of Rockcastle Co. HS Volleyball to act for me according to their best judgment in any emergency requiring medical attention and I hereby waive, release, and agree to hold harmless The Rockcastle Co. Volleyball coaching staff, suppliers, sponsors, participants, and Rockcastle County Schools for any and all liability for any injuries or illnesses incurred while at volleyball tryouts. I acknowledge that participation in this tryout may result in accidents and/or injuries. Even though I know there are risks involved, I still give my approval for the above named player to participate in any and all tryout activities and I expressly assume all risks and hazards incidental to such participation. I have no knowledge of any physical impairment that would be affected by the above named camper's participation in the tryouts.

* Individuals participating in tryouts must have a current sports physical. Students will not be permitted to participate until proof of physical is given.

Brindle Ridge Volunteer Fire Department responded to a single car accident last Friday on Hwy 1505 in Brindle Ridge. Authorities say Justin Bretz, 20, of Brodhead was traveling north on Hwy 1505 when his truck hydroplaned and dropped off the roadway into the ditch and flipped several times. Bretz was transported to Rockcastle Regional Hospital where he was treated for non-life threatening injuries and released.

houses, connecting graveled pathways, three picnic tables and lighting. The project was financed primarily with an $80,000 50/50 matching grant from the state.

During the meeting, the court also approved the 2013-14 budgets for the Tourist Commission and the Rockcastle County Board of Health.

The Tourist Commission budget shows expected revenues of $361,100 from the motel/transient and restaurant tax, $16,000 from state government, $6,800 from museum tours/donations, $14,500 from craft sales and $120 from bank interest. This, along with a carryover from last year's budget of $124,000, will give the commission total available revenue of $522,520.

Appropriations include: $126,400 for personnel, $276,570 for operations, including $113,900 for advertising and printing, $58,350 for administration and reserves and $61,200 for debt service.

The health department's budget shows expected revenue of $243,234 and, coupled with a carryover of $177,835, total revenue available of $421,069. Appropriations listed, include $208,102 for operations (which includes a $188,882 contribution to the Cumberland Valley District Health Department) and $212,967 for reserve for transfer.

In other action, the court approved $500 for a paving stone in the Kentucky National Guard Memorial and $2,271.81 for utility bills for the Pongo Fire Department for January thru June of 2013.

The court also entered into a Memorandum of Agreement with the Department of Local Government for $52,000 in coal severance funds which will be used toward construction costs of the Climax Fire Dept.

Carloftis also made the court aware of FLEX funds available this year for repaving of roads already surfaced. The court will have a total of $367,713 for the work which includes $42,000 leftover from the last fiscal year and funds not completely expended in 2005 and 2010.

Last year, the court had $566,893 available from these funds and 88%, or $400,369, was spent on Lambert Road. Carloftis told the court that Flat Gap Road, which runs parallel to Lambert Road, will be widened this year but no flex funds will be spent on it. He said tiles necessary for the widening had already been purchased.

The judge gave the magistrates a list of roads available for the FLEX funds but said an estimate of the cost of each road would have to be obtained from Greer Bros. and the state will have to approve the roads selected by the magistrates for patching or complete repaving with the funds.

In addition, the judge told the court that he was proposing new surfacing for: Redstart Lane, Arrowhead Lane and Goochland Rd. The cost of paving these roads would have to be paid from road funds.

In other action, the court approved the transfer of $155,000 from the general fund. $50,000 will be transferred to the jail fund, $100,000 to the road fund and $5,000 to the CSEPP account.

individual plans with them (to help them stay in school). The state is not offering anything in the way of a plan to keep children from dropping out. Ultimately, any plan by the state will pass down to us and we will have to finance it. They're showing no leadership."

The state offered a $10,000 grant to the first 96 school districts to adopt the 18 year old drop out age and Pensol said he resented the implication by the state that if a district didn't immediately raise their drop-out age to 18, then they don't care about kids. As of last night, Pensol said that 94 district had adopted the new drop-out age. He said the state had put up a website with a map showing which counties have already adopted the new law. Once the 96 school district mark is reached, the law automatically goes into effect for all of the state's 174 school districts. "I think it's important that we don't play their game," Pensol said. "It's a wash anyway with the $10,000 grant since what you can use it for will be so limited." Pensol also noted that the school district has been working on the problem. "Without fanfare, our department heads, principals and teachers have been working on this problem for some time and it shows."

School board member Angie Mink commented that she felt if the legislature wanted the drop-out age to be 18, they should have passed the legislation. "You can sure see a hemp flag flying near the state capitol showing a lot of support for making the growing of that legal," she said.

Actually, Kentucky's graduation rate already exceeds the national average. And, it has been proven in other states that increasing the dropout age to 18 has had little effect on improving overall graduation rates, according to an opinion piece in the Crittenton Press, Marion County on July 4th. Crittenton County Board of Education has also not changed the school district's compulsory attendance age from 16 to 18, along with Jessamine, Madison, Fayette, Clark, Casey and others.

The board also adopted a streamlined enrollment form, beginning with this school year. Director of Student Services and Pupil Personnel told the board that the two 8x10 sheets would replace the 1 1/2 to 2 inch packet of forms normally required for enrolling students in the system. She did caution that other forms would have to be filled out such as from the health department, school lunch program, etc.

The superintendent's personnel action report showed one certified personnel hiring - Anna Reynolds as a special education teacher at BES.

to be blacktopped as well.

"The cul-de-sac holds water and has only been patched and not blacktopped in the past which has caused it to be uneven," Abrams said. "I pay taxes like everyone else and considering the road's condition, I would like to have the rest of the road blacktopped if it is possible."

Abrams also said people drive off the roadway and turn around in his yard while they are turning around in the cul-de-sac.

"I can be in my front yard and watch people drive in my yard while they are turning around in the cul-de-sac," Abrams said. "People don't even have the courtesy to stay on the road while they are turning around and I have even seen a whole car in my yard turning around before."

Councilman and Brodhead Fire Chief Larry Taylor said Proffitt Street and its cul-de-sac is a part of the driving training course for their new firefighters and that they have never had any problem turning around in the cul-de-sac.

"If we can turn around a fire truck there than other people should be able to turn around in their smaller vehicles," Taylor said. "We can't help that people are getting off into yards because they have enough room to turn around if they would just have the courtesy to stay on the road."

However, Taylor said he was in favor of blacktopping all of Proffitt Street including the cul-de-sac versus patching only part of the road.

"When we went out and looked at it, we noticed it was raised up toward the end of the street toward the cul-de-sac and we thought the blacktop was still in good shape," Taylor said. "We never looked at it that close but we still have an allotment in our blacktopping plan to fix that small section."

Councilman Mark Buras agreed with Taylor and said that adding blacktop to the remainder of the street would be feasible.

"Since there is not a lot of traffic on the street and it is not in terrible shape, we can just add an inch on top of the old blacktop and that should be substantial," Buras said. "I think it would be better if we go ahead and blacktop the remainder of the street instead of doing piecemeal work."

The council agreed unanimously to leave the cul-de-sac the same size but put another inch of blacktop on top of the current blacktop.

“Meth”

Chief Barry Adams and Deputy Sheriff Matt Bryant received information that Carpenter had ingredients inside his bedroom that were used to manufacture meth.

Once officers arrived, Carpenter admitted that he had ingredients to manufacture meth inside his bedroom. Carpenter also admitted to officers that he had items used to manufacture meth hidden inside a fireplace at the home as well.

After receiving consent to search his bedroom, officers found crushed-up pseudoephedrine tablets in a hand tied plastic wrapper along with several other small plastic baggies. Officers also found several packs of lithium batteries and coffee filters hidden inside the fireplace.

Carpenter later told officers that all the materials found by them were going to eventually be used to manufacture meth.

Carpenter was charged with manufacturing meth. He remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $25,000 cash/property bond.

he hopes Farthing's case is solved soon for her family's sake.

"For the family's sake I hope the body is recovered soon," Peters said. "But there is still hope that she is alive. Maybe she just decided to run away from home or something and hopefully she will turn up soon."

According to the Kentucky State Police, witnesses said they last saw Farthing the morning of Saturday, June 22nd at a home on Dillon Court in Berea.

The same house Farthing was last seen at also caught on fire the same morning. No human remains were found inside the home but KSP and arson investigators are still trying to determine what caused the fire and if it is related to Farthing's disappearance.

KSP said Farthing did not live in the home but she reportedly attended a party there on Friday night, June 21st. Another friend, who was also the homeowner, said he was with Farthing before he left his home early in the morning on June, 22nd and when he came back Farthing was gone and there was a fire inside the house. The home had been without electricity for several weeks because the homeowner was in the process of moving out.

KSP investigators believe that Farthing did not disappear on her own as a lot of her belongings were left inside the home.

Farthing is described as 5'1" with blonde hair and brown eyes. She was reportedly wearing a gray Madison County FFA t-shirt and denim shorts at the time of her disappearance.

KSP is requesting that property owners in Estill, Jackson, Rockcastle and Madison counties check their own property for any signs of Farthing. They said particular attention should be paid to ditch lines, freshly turned earth and unusual smells in remote areas.

Anyone with information regarding the missing person investigation is encouraged to contact KSP at 859-623-2404 or call toll free at 1-800-222-5555. You can also use the "text a tip" feature by texting your tip to 67283.

added up to a total of 1.55 inches of rain. He said there was only 2.28 inches of rainfall recorded for the month of June and, after the first ten days in July, the total is already 3.22 inches of rainfall.

City of Mt. Vernon Administrative Assistant Jill Medley said the high amount of rainfall also put a damper on the activities during the Grand Reopening of the Lake Linville Boat Dock. She said all the activities went as planned but that the fireworks display had to be postponed from last Thursday night to Friday night.

"There was still a good crowd at the event despite the rain," Medley said. "We did have to postpone the fireworks but everything else went smoothly."

According to Rockcastle County CSEPP Director Hal Holbrook, the high amount of rainfall last week did not cause any flooding damage in the county.

"We received no complaints of flooding or property damage as a result of the rainfall," Holbrook said. "The steady rain allowed the water to soak into the ground and not cause any serious flooding issues which was definitely a good thing for the citizens of our county."

Man arrested for stalking and assault

By: Doug Ponder

A Berea man was arrested for stalking and assault Monday morning after police responded to a domestic dispute at Rockcastle Villa Apartments in Mt. Vernon.

Arrested at the scene was Justin Lee Bishop, 20, of Berea.

According to Mt. Vernon Police, Assistant Chief Barry Adams responded to the scene after receiving a complaint about a "baby screaming" in an apartment at the Rockcastle Villa Apartments.

Once Adams arrived, a bystander told him that Bishop had fled into the woods toward the Woodland Place Subdivision. Adams was driving on Woodland Place Road when he noticed some bushes shaking next to the road.

Adams then exited his cruiser and found Bishop trying to hide from him in the bushes. Adams noticed Bishop had blood on his mouth and that he appeared to be extremely intoxicated. He apprehended Bishop for his own safety and took him back to the Rockcastle Villa Apartments for further investigation.

When Adams returned to the apartment complex, he spoke with Bishop's former girlfriend who was found crying in her apartment. Adams observed blood on her shirt and blood on the face of the couple's two-year-old son.

The woman told Adams she wasn't home Sunday night was told that someone could be heard in her apartment Sunday night and that they had reportedly jumped out of her window around 7:30 Monday morning. She said she locked up her apartment before leaving Sunday night but admitted to leaving the living room window open.

Around 8 a.m. on Monday, Bishop's former girlfriend said Bishop came to the front door of her apartment and tried to kick in the door. After opening the door, she said Bishop barged in and started arguing when she was questioning him about who had been in her apartment Sunday night.

The woman said Bishop then shoved her to the ground and started to physically assault her. She also told Adams that she was eight weeks pregnant and the punches to her stomach caused her to vomit. Bishop also reportedly told her that he hoped the baby died.

Bishop's former girlfriend said she told Bishop to leave several times and threatened to call police. He told her to go ahead and call the police because he wasn't afraid of them.

Rockcastle EMS responded to the scene but the woman refused medical attention even though she was advised to seek medical attention due to her being eight weeks pregnant.

Before leaving the scene, a Rockcastle Villa Apartment employee informed Adams that a driver's side mirror had been broken off one of their resident's vehicles. Another bystander told Adams that Bishop had broken the mirror of the resident's vehicle and had also cut tires on four other parked vehicles before assaulting his former girlfriend. The bystander said Bishop told him that he broke the vehicles mirror and cut the tires before he fled from police into the woods.

Bishop is charged with first degree burglary, second degree stalking, fourth degree assault and five counts of third degree criminal mischief. He remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $20,000 cash/property bond.

Registered sex offender arrested for creating Facebook account

By: Doug Ponder

A Mt. Vernon man, who is a registered sex offender, has been arrested for having an active Facebook account.

Arrested was Floyd Lee Thermon, 38, of Mt. Vernon.

According to state police reports, Trooper Eric Moore responded to an anonymous tip that Facebook had an active Facebook account. Moore also discovered that Thermon had changed his legal name from Christopher Collins to Floyd Lee Thermon. However, Thermon was still listed under the Kentucky sex offender registry as Christopher Collins.

Thermon admitted to Moore that he had a Facebook account under his current name and that he failed to change his name from Collins to Thermon on the sex offender registry.

Thermon is charged with sex offender IM/chat/social network use. He was lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center where he was later released on a $2,000 surety bond.

Man stabs his brother during violent altercation

By: Doug Ponder

A Mt. Vernon man was arrested for assault last Thursday after he stabbed his brother with a knife when a verbal argument led to a physical altercation in a trailer at Ramsey Trailer Park in Mt. Vernon.

Arrested at the scene was Jeremy Douglas Caldwell, 32, of Mt. Vernon.

According to Mt. Vernon Police reports, Officer Ryan Messenger responded after receiving a complaint of a stabbing at the trailer park.

Once Messenger arrived, he was met in the trailer's driveway by a woman who was crying hysterically. The woman told Messenger that Caldwell had stabbed his brother during a physical altercation. She also told him that Caldwell's brother had left the scene after being stabbed and that they didn't know where he went.

Caldwell told Messenger that he was sleeping on a couch inside the trailer when his brother woke him up and began arguing with him and led to a physical altercation. During the fight, Caldwell said he grabbed a knife and stabbed his brother in the lower left side of his stomach.

Caldwell would later tell Messenger that he and his brother were fighting over money owed for a "dime bag," which is a common name for a bag of illegal drugs that is sold for $10.

After further investigation, Messenger found a four-inch fixed blade knife on the kitchen table. The knife had blood on the blade as well.

Caldwell was evaluated on the scene by Rockcastle EMS crews but he refused treatment and transport to the hospital. Caldwell's brother was later located at Rockcastle Regional Hospital where he was treated for his stab wound and later released.

Caldwell remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $10,000 cash/property bond.

Fish offshore for post-spawn largemouth bass

The wet and unseasonably cool weather pattern lately seems more consistent with Derby week than with the upcoming Fourth of July holiday.

Chris Hickey, black bass research biologist for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, said the cool weather delayed the largemouth bass spawn a couple of weeks, but now everything is on schedule as we head into the heat of summer.

He said anglers report largemouth bass gathering on the channel ledges on Kentucky and Barkley lakes.

Summer fishing for largemouth bass frustrates many anglers, although anglers themselves are usually the source of the problem. The anglers often don't change the presentation or places they fish from the spring season, although their summer catch often consists of a few small male "buck" bass.

Forget fishing the visible cover along the bank and instead concentrate on off-shore structures such as channel ledges, submerged islands, humps and long points to catch bass during the day in July and August. Studying a map of the underwater features reveals these fish-holding structures. Anglers should plan on probing several during a day of fishing.

"I look for three things for deep ledge fishing," said Ryan Oster, federal aid coordinator for the fisheries division of Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "The first is the presence of bait, second is stumps and third is current. Mussel beds on the ledge are also a big help."

Oster, formerly western fisheries district biologist who helped manage Kentucky and Barkley lakes, prefers deep running crankbaits, 7- to 10-inch straight-tailed worms rigged on Shakey heads and heavy football jig and trailer combinations to fish ledges from 12 to 25 feet deep in these lakes.

"I like the Sexy Shad color for clear water and the chartreuse Sexy Shad for stained water in my deep crankbaits," Oster said. "Typically, bass want it raking across the bottom. On some days, the fish want a slow and steady retrieve and on others, they want it fast. Mix it up until they hit."

Boat positioning is important to keep these lures crawling on the bottom and across those underwater ledges and humps. Some anglers use marker buoys to visualize the ledge or hump.

Slowly crawl a Shakey head rig along the bottom, stop it every few feet and shake the rod tip to wiggle the worm and entice bass. Anglers fishing jigs may also work the bottom, but many "stroke" a heavy football jig by ripping it off the bottom with their rod tip and letting the lure fall on a slack line. Trophy largemouths often hit the jig on the fall.

Use at least 1/2-ounce of weight to get down on the deep structure. Many opt for 3/4-ounce or 1-ounce jigs. Shakey worms in green pumpkin, black or purple work well in deep water. Black jigs in combination with blue, purple, brown or chartreuse produce deep bass.

During the hottest times of the year, largemouth bass suspend over the ledge or hump and ignore lures worked on bottom. A swimbait works well for suspended bass.

Pearl-colored swimbaits with shades of gray, blue and light purple work well. Fish the swimbait just above bottom rigged on a 1/4-ounce or 3/8-ounce head as heavier heads deadens the lure's action. Oster prefers 5-inch swimbaits.

Points that extend well out into the lake are high percentage spots for summer largemouth bass. Jigs slowly crawled across the point in water 15 to 25 feet deep draws strikes. Points with stumps or chunk rock on them hold the most fish.

The best ledge fishing is on Kentucky Lake, Lake Barkley and Barren River Lake. Most lakes across Kentucky have long extended points and many have underwater humps.

Get off the bank and catch huge bass on the hottest days.

Author Lee McClellan is an award-winning associate editor for Kentucky Afield magazine, the official publication of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. He is a life-long hunter and angler, with a passion for smallmouth bass fishing.

Adoptable Shelter Dogs

Hello Everybody!! Aren't we just the cutest things you ever saw?! We are Walker Coonhound/Beagle mixes and we were dropped out on Hwy. 461. That is a dangerous place to be left all alone, especially when your just about 7 weeks old. We are now being taken care of at RCAS and we are hoping that someone will open their home and heart to us. We LOVE to play and have fun and we cant hardly wait until we find families that we can call our very own! If you would like to adopt one or all of us then contact the shelter @ 606-256-1833. (kennel 19)

Hey There! My name is Tank and I am a Beagle. I am approximately 2 years old and I was picked up as a stray and brought to the shelter. I am now anxiously awaiting my new home. I am very friendly with everybody I meet and I get along great with other dogs as well. If you would like to have me as your loyal friend then call RCAS @ 606-256-1833. (kennel 6)

Op-Ed Piece Abortion Healing Story

Hi, I'm Donna Dean and I would like to tell my story and what I do. For over two years now, I have been active in helping get the Kentucky Memorial For the Unborn Garden a reality in the Frankfort Cemetery in Frankfort, Ky. This memorial is a place for families who have suffered miscarriages, stillbirths and abortions. A place where they can go to mourn the children they have lost and also a place for closure.

I first saw Kathy Rutledge on television, speaking and showing her film of the memorial. She stated that she had gone through a terrible abortion at the age of 19. After suffering with this for some time, she wanted to place a stone in a cemetery for her baby. They wouldn't let her do this without a body so, out of this came her dream of a memorial site for these babies.

I, like Kathy and many others, had an unwanted abortion at the age of 19. No one in my family ever knew of this and I confided in a very few. I lived with this guilt and pain for almost 40 years when, by watching Kathy, I finally knew that God had forgiven me of my sin and then the long, hard task of forgiving myself began. I had been volunteering at the Richmond Pregnancy Center for a while.

The director, Chris Jolly, went through a Bible study called "Surrendering the Secret" with me and one other lady. This was a very hard, yet very helpful, study. It made me guilty, angry, hurt and eventually, with God's help, at peace with what I had done and left me with a great desire to help other women and/or men who had gone through this.

I had a yard sale, at which people in the county brought things to me that I will never know but will be eternally grateful for. We made $500 for the memorial. My next journey was an interview at WRVK with Charlie Napier, who has been a big part and support in all I do for this cause. I spoke publicly the first time, thanks to Charlie, to the Kiwanis Club. I also spoke at a church in Berea and then to my home church.

The next time I spoke, Kathy asked me to give my testimony in downtown Lexington at a rally. It was 19 degrees that day, but we didn't notice. Mrs. Pam Martin of Sparks Flower gave me beautiful white carnations for the ladies to give as a memorial for their babies. Next, I was invited to give my testimony at the Capital Rotunda in Frankfort when they had the Right to Life Rally.

I have worked hard and have had interviews and phone calls with Mrs. Georgette Forney of Pennsylvania, president of The Silent No More Awareness Campaign. I am now, proudly, one of the regional coordinators in our area. This is for women, men and families of women who have gone through the devastation of an abortion and are seeking help in learning to deal with this. First you have to believe that God forgives you of your sins and then you have to learn to forgive yourself. We serve an awesome God and He will get you through whatever trials you are facing. I would love to make people in our area aware of just how bad and what an epidemic abortion really is. There are thousands of babies aborted every day. I have and will more than gladly, talk to groups at churches, organizations, schools or anywhere else I might be invited. It is my lifelong desire to do all in my power and, with the help of God, to educate and hope that people will step up and help us end this terrible disease. You can find more about these programs by going to kentuckymemorialfortheunborn.org and silentnomoreawarenesscampaign.org

You can also contact me at ddeanj52@twc.com or call me anytime at 606-308-4627. I will be attending a retreat in August called Rachel's Vineyard which is also a healing retreat. I can give you information on that also.

Thank you all very much for listening to my story and a big thanks to Charlie and Pam Martin for supporting me.

BEFORE CONSOLIDATION

The Golden Age of Rockcastle County Basketball

David Owens and M.T. Publishing Company, Inc. are joining forces to bring you Before Consolidation: The Golden Age of Rockcastle County Basketball. This history/pictorial book will explore times before consolidation, when the county had three high schools, Mt. Vernon, Livingston and Brodhead.

The 1950s was known as the Golden Age of Basketball throughout Kentucky, which was probably when the county rivalry was at its height. This extraordinary book will take you through intense rivalries, when 36 players instead of 12 represented Rockcastle County or when passion was so strong that local police had to come to prevent hostilities from breaking out between Red Devil, Blue Devil or Tiger fans!

Only a limited number of books will be printed, therefore it is necessary to take all orders in advance. The pre-publication price is $37.50 for the deluxe standard edition and $64.95 for the genuine bonded leather edition if ordered by the pre-order deadline of July 31, 2013.

This 8 1/2" x 11" hardbound book will have a full color dust jacket and contain a minimum of 128 pages. You may have your copy personalized with a name stamping on the cover for a nominal charge. All pre-ordered books will contain the wording "Commemorative Edition" on the cover and a printed personal note from the author. These commemorative edition books are numbered as they are sold.

Complete the order form below and remit with payment no later than July 31, 2013. To order with credit card, go online to www.mtpublishing.com or call toll free 1-888-263-4702. Credit card orders will be kept on file and charged 30-60 days before shipping.

Make sure you order one for yourself and your family members too! The price will increase after publication, so don't hesitate, order your copies today!

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...
What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufactures recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

Go Bare Root and Save Money on Landscaping

If you've ever ordered a mail-order fruit tree from Stark Brothers or any of dozens of other nurseries, you may have wondered if the three foot long stick with a bunch of roots really would live, and grow to become the fruiting tree you saw pictured in their catalog. I can assure you, most of the time, with proper care, it will.

It is possible to completely landscape a new home with bare root plants if one is not too concerned about how they will look for the first couple years, and you can save a good deal of money on the plants and the digging will be easier at planting time. Even those not quite convinced can plant a few big balled-and-burlapped trees, and fill in the other planting spots with bare root trees and shrubbery for substantial savings.

A three foot tall 'stick' can grow into a ten foot tall silver maple tree within 18 months, for instance. That ten foot tall tree would cost $75 to $175 in a large black pot, and from $45 to $120 as a B&B tree. That little bare root tree will cost you under $10 in most cases, and perhaps under $5 if you buy a minimum order of perhaps $100. So, that would be one big tree with great looks from a local garden center—or 20 three foot tall trees that don't look so great at the moment from a nursery or mail-order company. The choice is yours of course, but I wanted to explain to perhaps that new homeowner that they can sure save a ton of money by choosing to plant bare root trees.

If this all sounds difficult, most nurseries are in the habit of shipping clear and precise planting instructions with diagrams along with your new plants. But, even if you decide to hire a landscaper, it will still be more economical to purchase bare root plants.

Price is a major reason why someone would decide to order and plant bare root trees. Limited funds can go a lot further. (Even if you bought 20 bare root trees and had a couple not make it, think how much you still saved.)

Diversity is another reason to go bare root. Let's say you want a couple pawpaw trees, maybe some fir trees, perhaps a privet hedge or 5 colors of lilacs. It could be you have thought of a tree you want and no nursery you ever shop at has it: Kentucky Coffee Tree comes to mind. I guarantee you somebody will sell and ship it to you wrapped in plastic and enclosed in a cardboard box. Another example might be some unique dogwood like pagoda dogwood, giant dogwood, evergreen dogwood or Cornelian cherry dogwood. FedEx, UPS and the USPS carry such packages all the time.

Availability is a related subject. A local garden center may carry 20 different kinds of trees and perhaps twice that many shrubs in pots or in burlap. But, when there exists thousands of trees one might easily plant and grow successfully, ordering them with no dirt on the roots can make sense. (In fact, some states won't allow potted plants of certain kinds to be shipped, but may allow bare root plants to cross it's borders. The issue is soil born pathogens that might spread diseases. Puerto Rico is an example where they can order bare root from Americans, but not with dirt on the roots.

The US Forest Service often plants pine trees on areas that have been logged clean or that have had a devastating forest fire. They never use potted trees or balled and burlapped trees. They use little seedling trees maybe a foot or two feet tall. And ten years later...there is a new pine forest! I believe one could obtain additional useful information from the USFS on this subject.

It costs a lot less to ship trees minus the dirt. A tractor trailer load of trees might be 300 with dirt on the roots, but thousands could be shipped for the same freight bill if they were bare rooted.

Planting a small tree with a few roots dangling below the 'stick' sure is easier than digging a hole three feet wide and deep for a $175 tree from the local garden center too. Anybody can do it. Ofcourse, some kinds of plants have better success rates than others. Regardless, I usually have close to 100% success myself.

Bare root trees and shrubs can only be dug during late fall and winter. Growers of this type liner or fruit material typically sort, grade and store in special cold storage houses. They can sell until they have sold out, or until hot weather, perhaps in May. Any trees not sold as bare root will have to be potted up or will have to be taken back to the fields and replanted by the nursery and grow them another year. (Otherwise they die and potential profits are lost.) And, for you, it's necessary to order bare root plants during the fall or winter or early spring so that you can plant them before the weather gets terribly hot or dry.

Planting of bare root trees is where some get worried. But, if you're planting thousands like the forest service, you put your tool in the ground, stick the plant in, and remove your tool. That's pretty much it. But, if it's an apple tree or a pear tree that is six feet tall, you may want to go to some more trouble. Just dig a hole like for any other tree, add a small amount of soil amendments to the planting hole, perhaps a fertilizer tablet or two that won't burn the roots, and leave the surface with a bit of a bowl effect to funnel rain or water from your hose towards the trunk of the new tree. Again, there are directions shipped with a package of trees—read them.

Water your new trees until the ground is soupy wet. Most of the time, deciduous trees that are planted bare-root do not need to be staked. (Another savings.)

Just like when you buy and plant a big tree at a garden center that is wrapped in burlap, you need to prune some on the limbs. One reason a large B&B tree does poorly the first couple seasons is because many roots got cut when it was dug, but nobody wants to take their new tree and cut half it's branches off! (They would be happier three or five years later if they did though). So, on your new bare root tree, trim off any broken or mis-placed limbs with sharp pruning shears. The more you remove the faster the little tree will take off growing. I would also add that removing broken roots, or extra-long roots may be desirable before you plant—just don't cut off the taproot if it has one—you know, that big root that goes straight down.

Bare root trees should be planted soon as possible when you receive them. Do not let them get too hot, too cold or the roots too dry. (But, don't think of putting the roots in a bucket of water and leaving them overnight either!)

If it will be days or weeks before you can plant your new bare root stock, "heel" them in somewhere. (This consists of planting the wad or bundle of trees in some soil, preferably in the shade outdoors somewhere in some loose topsoil.) You can take them up and plant when you are ready—hopefully before they leaf out in the spring though, as that will lessen their chances of survival.

The biggest down side to bare root tree planting is that you begin with a smaller size and have to be patient.

Like any other tree, it's smart to wrap the trunks or stems of your new bare root plants to keep the sun and varmints from harming the trunk of the new tree. Adding some mulch is also good...just don't put a bunch of fresh mulch up against the trunk of your new tree, keep it an inch or two away from the stems.

We could elaborate all day on this topic. But what I really wanted to do was to get the reader to think of an option for landscaping on a budget that they may not have considered previously. Bigger plant selections, lower costs: those are two good reasons to consider doing some or most of your plantings without the dirt, and skipping the high costs you'll pay at a garden center.

STUFFED CHERRY TOMATOES

24 cherry tomatoes
1 small box (3 ounce) cream cheese, softened
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 cup tuna, well drained
2 tablespoons finely chopped fresh basil
2 tablespoons chopped capers
2 tablespoons chopped cucumber
1 tablespoon chopped black olives (optional)
Cut tomatoes in half. Hollow out insides with small spoon. Place tomatoes, cut sides down, on a plate lined with paper towels. In a bowl, mix cream cheese, lemon juice, tuna, basil, capers, cucumber, and olives (if desired). Cover and chill for 10 minutes. To stuff tomatoes, spoon filling into a zip lock bag. Snip off a corner and pipe filling into tomatoes.

TOMATOES WITH BUTTERMILK VINAIGRETTE

3/4 cup buttermilk
1/4 cup white wine vinegar
3 tablespoons canola oil
1 or 2 teaspoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon mustard seeds
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
4 pounds grape or cherry tomatoes, halved
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup minced green onion
In a small bowl, whisk the first ingredients until blended. Refrigerate, covered, until serving. Just before serving, arrange tomatoes on a platter; sprinkle with salt and drizzle with vinaigrette. Sprinkle with green onions.

CUCUMBER SALAD WITH TOMATOES

3 medium cucumbers, peeled and sliced 1/4 inch thick
1 medium onion, sliced and separated into rings
3 cups cherry tomatoes, halved
1/2 cup vinegar
1/4 cup sugar
1 cup water
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon fresh coarse ground black pepper
1/4 cup oil

Combine ingredients in a large bowl and mix well. Refrigerate at least 2 hours. Drain before serving.

A quick-moving storm system blew across the state last Saturday afternoon causing uprooted trees, downed utility lines and structure damage in several different areas of the county. Shown above is a downed tree next to the Pine Hill Holiness Church parking lot in Mt. Vernon. Shown at right is a snapped utility pole that caused power lines to temporarily stretch across Pine Hill Road until electric crews could remove the lines and make the repairs. Service was restored in that area approximately 1:30 Sunday morning.

Rockcastle EMS achieves Advanced Life Support ranking

By: Doug Ponder

The Rockcastle County Ambulance Service recently upgraded to Advanced Life Support (ALS) system on one of their ambulances and hired multiple paramedics for their staff.

Ambulance Service Board Chairman David Pensol said the ambulance service plans on installing ALS systems on more of their ambulances in the future.

Pensol said the other five ambulances still provide basic life support (BLS) to ill or injured patients by performing basic and intermediate health procedures. He said their five BLS ambulances are each staffed with two Emergency Medical Technicians (EMTs.)

However, the chairman said the new ALS ambulance can provide transport to patients who need a higher level of care than the service provided by the BLS ambulances. He said their new ALS ambulance has advanced airway equipment, advanced cardiac life support equipment and cardiac monitors.

Pensol also said that the ALS ambulance is staffed with at least one paramedic on board at all times. He said paramedics are required to have more training hours than EMTs. "Having a paramedic in an ambulance makes a huge difference as they are the only professionals who can perform advanced life support techniques," Pensol said. "They can perform more advanced health procedures on patients before they even arrive at the emergency room."

Pensol estimated that staffing the paramedics on their ambulance service cost about $170,000 to $180,000 more a year. He said they have currently hired six part-time paramedics to work rotating shifts on the ALS ambulance.

With the new ALS ambulance and the hiring of paramedics, Pensol said, "Our main goal is to always make an effort to improve the level of care we provide to our service area. Having an ALS ambulance and paramedics has helped us move toward the main goal we have here at the ambulance service."

Severe storms cause damage in Rockcastle

By: Doug Ponder

A fast-moving storm system moved across the state last Saturday afternoon, wreaking havoc throughout the county.

CSEPP Director Hal Holbrook said the storm, which only lasted about an hour, uprooted trees, downed utility lines and caused structural damage in several different areas across the county. He also said many Rockcastle Countians were without power for a short time after the storm.

Holbrook said the Sand Springs Road and Pongo communities were the hardest hit. He said Rockcastle 911 received several calls of trees down near Buffalo Baptist Church on Sand Springs Road. The high winds also ripped off the panels of a barn in the same area.

Several members of Pongo Volunteer Fire Department and Buffalo Baptist Church spent hours removing trees from the roadways and residential yards in their area. Kentucky State Highway and Rockcastle County Highway workers were busy removing fallen trees off the roadways throughout the county as well.

Holbrook went on to say that there were also reports of trees across the roadways on South Wilderness Road, Turner Mountain Road and Big Cave Road. He said the

Mt. Vernon Council discusses city parks

It was a light agenda for Monday night's regular meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council. The only item under new business was Resolution #2013-3 giving the fire department approval to submit an application for a grant from the Kentucky Office of Homeland Security.

Fire Chief David Bales told the council that the grant application will be for $19,800 and will be used for turn-out gear. The council gave Bales approval to make the grant application.

Mayor Mike Bryant brought the council up to date on the water tank project. He said beginning construction was "right around the corner," since the city has purchased the needed property for one of the tank sites.

He also discussed proposed annexation of some businesses in the county, in an effort to make the city's boundary lines more even. Bryant said that discussions had been held with Hansen Aggregate who were "supportive of what we are trying to do." Under annexation laws, businesses can be annexed without their approval while industries must consent. Bryant said Hansen had earlier signed an annexation agreement but wanted to look at it again.

If industries want to contest annexation, then the city would have to include a certain number of residences and the matter would have to be placed on a ballot if a certain percentage of residents protested the annexation.

Bryant also brought the council up-to-date on two new city parks in progress. Bryant said the skateboard park, behind the city park in ramblings...

by: perlina m. anderkin

Saw the movie Heat last Friday night and it kept my attention -- which for me gives it an "A" rating. Of course, one reason it kept my attention was because I had to keep reminding myself to close my mouth which flew open often at the language used.

Movies have gone downhill so badly in my lifetime. If you don't like animated movies, movies about zombies or about drunken bachelor parties, then you're pretty much shut out of the movie world for entertainment.

My husband loved westerns and, of course, I love action movies (with the good/bad guys clearly defined), mysteries or a teary romance story. I read voraciously and so many of the books I read would make excellent movies but evidently Hollywood is not making movies for the over (barely) 70 set these days.

One thing today's movies have taught me is to be devious about getting my refreshments in from outside. I know my children get tired of hearing about my 30c double feature Saturdays when I was a child. But, it's true. It cost 15c to get in the movie, popcorn was a dime and a soft drink was a nickel. Friday night, after paying $6.75 to get in (senior rate), I paid $9.75 for a junior popcorn and medium soft drink. That amounts to $16.50 to have to sit through numerous commercials and enough previews of upcoming duds that the movie that was supposed to start at 6:20 didn't start until 6:40. I paid the usury price for the popcorn and soft drink because it was a girls' night out -- me and three of the daughters -- and the youngest, Allison, has been known to go into the theater almost crying because she was afraid the candy and soft drink police were going to arrest me for having those items in my purse when I came in from outside the theater. Of course, with the number of times I have ruined a purse (not to mention all the contents) when my drink slanted the wrong way, I am probably behind in money saved but it's the principle of the thing.

I would comment on all the outrageous revelations coming from our federal government, particularly the IRS but I just don't know where to begin. I stress out each year on how I'm going to pay my taxes only to find out that $50 million has been spent by the IRS on "conferences." This is not to mention the over $70 million given out as employee bonuses recently (evidently just because), and then reading that they have targeted conservative groups with intense scrutiny and "inadvertently" publicly released thousands of social security numbers, mainly of members of said conservative groups.

It is mind-boggling and I feel helpless. But, I have decided that if a conservative group ever decides to wage a protest sit-in near the IRS office, I'm there.

The Way I See it

By Doug Ponder

Tuesday night, I had to make the decision that no dog owner ever wants to make. I had to decide to have my childhood dog euthanized (put down.)

Fuzzy was a half spitz/half collie breed that my dad got for me when I was 5-years-old. I am now 24 and Fuzzy was 19-years-old, so he had been with me for over 80 percent of my life.

Nineteen years is a long time for a dog to live and he would have been 133 in human years, according to the universal rule of thumb that one dog year equals seven human years. That is amazing to think about and it is still a concept that is hard for me to grasp.

But similar to a lot of other older dogs, Fuzzy had started to develop arthritis in his hind legs. He had struggled to get up on his own for the last two years of his life but the past few days it had gotten to where he could no longer get up on his own anymore.

When I would wake up in the morning and come home from work in the afternoon, I would have to pick him up after he had fallen and laid on the ground for hours without being able to bring those forward.

I want to start off by diving into the history of the fire service. The past is how the fire service gets its traditions. It's how the fire service grows and learns. If it was not for the firefighters before us developing tools and training, the fire service would look very different. We continue to look to the past to improve upon the future. But first, last week I left you with a question to answer. When and where was the first full time paid fire department? The answer, Cincinnati Ohio on April 1st 1853 became the first full time paid professional fire department.

The first paid fire department may have been formed in 1853 but volunteers have been around a lot longer and from a greater distance than Ohio. Firefighting can be traced back to all the way to ancient Egypt. I know this sounds far-fetched but evidence of firefighting machinery, even a water pump, has been found to exist during this period.

Now fast forward to ancient Rome. The machinery existed in ancient Egypt but it was around the reign of Rome when the organization began taking shape. Romans formed a fire brigade of around 500 people to combat fire whenever a call goes out. However, if you wanted your property saved a price had to be negotiated first. I imagine these negotiations were a little one sided and often went in favor of the Roman fire brigade.

The Romans used a bucket brigade to try to put out the flames, but poles, hooks and even weapons of their time were used to destroy adjacent buildings next to the building on fire. This was done to minimize the spread of the fire. Unfortunately for the Romans this did not always work. In 64 AD Rome suffered the worst fire in their history where two-thirds of Rome was destroyed.

We'll stop here with the history lesson for this week. But, before I leave everyone with a question I want to congratulate my fire department for a job well done this past Thursday. Brodhead fire department took part in a meeting located at our state capitol to showcase some very specialized equipment involving structural collapse we have received through a grant. It

ROCKCASTLE MEMORIES

BY DAVID J. GRIFFIN

Local law enforcement of long ago

Does anyone remember the days in Mt. Vernon when the local police officers walked the streets while on duty? When I was a young boy, Mt. Vernon had two policemen who patrolled the streets on foot. In those days, there were no cell phones, hand-held two-way radios, or other sophisticated forms of communication. Even our home calls had to be handled by the operator. We simply told her who we wanted to call or gave her a three-digit phone number. Almost every home phone was on a party line, and we listened to a certain ring before picking up the receiver.

I distinctly remember hearing McKinley Arnold and Clifford Pitman using their shrill police whistles in order to stop a car or for it to move out of the way. They used the whistles to direct traffic, control crowds, and on occasion, to chase criminals. They were equipped with a nightstick, a badge, handcuffs, and a sidearm. All of the young boys thought they were too cool.

I remember one particular evening when I was coming out of the Vernon Theater when I heard Officer Pitman blowing his whistle over and over again as he ran down the sidewalk. We found out later that someone had been involved in an automobile hit-and-run incident, and he was "on the chase." At that time, neither of our officers had a police car -- they actually were a walking police department.

The only real reflection that we had of actual crime work was mainly through the original Dagnet radio show, which was in its prime. It ran from June of 1949 until through February of 1957. On the other hand, the television broadcast aired from January 1952 until August 1959. That show was perhaps the most famous police procedural drama in media history. It provided the audience with a feel for the boredom and drudgery, as well as the danger and heroism, of real-life police work. It unquestionably improved public opinion of real police officers. Jack Webb wanted the series to be realistic with unpretentious acting -- which I suppose he achieved. (I must say, however, that I don't recall any actual police officer speaking in such a flat monotone.)

I also remember listening to that radio show with my mother, Bee, when she sat in her big rocker while sewing. Occasionally, she would say, "Listen, I want to hear this program." She was a big fan of Jack Webb and, like so many others, she made the move from radio to television.

I personally enjoyed the TV show more than the radio program. Two distinctive phrases from the series are long remembered. The beginning of the program announced: "The story you are about to hear is true -- only the names have been changed to protect the innocent." The other was the popular catchphrase, "Just the facts, ma'am," which still remains in our linguistic culture.

Officer Arnold in Mt. Vernon had a son who was also named McKinley, and he was in my class in school.

In Loving Memory of Artie Mae Thompson 3-8-1948 to 7-19-2008

Do not stand at my grave and weep,

I am not there, I do not sleep. I am the thousand winds that blow,

I am a diamond in the snow, I am the sunlight on the ripened grain,

I am the gentle summer rain, I am the soft stars that shine at night, and the warm sun in the morning light.

I am the brisk wind blowing through the leaves, I am the branches in the tallest trees.

So do not stand at my grave and Weep because I am not there you see.

For every beautiful thing you see,

Is just a small reminder of me. Mamma, we miss you so much,

Apologizes for speeding...

Dear Editor,
I would like to take this means to apologize to the citizens of Mt. Vernon for my carelessness in speeding through town. I was caught doing 69 mph in a 45 mph zone and for doing this reckless driving with only an intermediate license.

I apologize for putting the citizens of Mt. Vernon in any danger, I didn't mean to do this, I just wasn't thinking.

It was not intentional. I was on my way home, tired and in a hurry. I was not thinking of anything at the time and now I think of every little thing that could have happened. It has been a learning experience and I hope everyone can forgive me for my actions that night and I will make sure it doesn't happen again. I'm actually thankful for the deputy who pulled me over and kept anything from happening because I was goofing off.

Again, I am very sorry for my careless driving and ask the citizens of Mt. Vernon for their forgiveness.

Before Consolidation- The Golden Age of Rockcastle County Basketball

Dear Editor,

I would like to take this opportunity to relate some information regarding the book, Before Consolidation- The Golden Age of Rockcastle County Basketball. I have been receiving a lot of calls regarding ordering the book. I will not have editions for sale the only way to order or receive the book is to mail in one of the order forms distributed throughout the county at different business locations. Also order forms have been published in the Signal. Or get on line at <http://www.mtpublishing.com/> (Click on Need to pre-order Publication.) The deadline to order is July 31st. In order to keep costs down the publisher is only going to print as many books as are ordered.

Numerous individuals have asked me for a brief description of the book. The book has 128 pages and is divided into four chapters. The first chapter has early history of how basketball began in the county as well as the complete district and region tournament history from 1927 (first year Rockcastle Schools joined KHSAA) to 1972 (the last year before consolidation.). This includes All-District & All-Region Players, Conference alignments, etc. There is a chapter on each school (Mt. Vernon, Brodhead, and Livingston) and includes a school history, campus photographs, reprinted basketball articles from the Signal, list of coaches, school fight song, etc... If you played or cheered at any of the three former high schools from the years 1953 to 1972, your picture will be in the book. Anyone playing/cheering from the years 1915 (first year of basketball in the county) to 1952 it is hit and miss in regards to your picture being in the book. Also cheerleading did not start until the 1940s.

The book is in large 11X8-1/2 coffee-table format printed on slick photographic paper so it will be very high quality with the pictures at high resolution. The book is scheduled to ship out on October 1st. If you checked the Library delivery box on the order form you can pick up your edition there. The publisher will provide a roster of names for the staff there for easy pick-up. Or you can have the book delivered directly to your home address. I hope this helps clarify individual questions.

Thanks,
David Owens

Thank you for support in Facebook incident...

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank everyone for the concern and support shown for my grandchildren. The negative and hurtful things posted on facebook are not true and were not posted by Roger Thomas. My grandchildren are fine and well taken care of.

Everything is under investigation and the adults who posted the horrible statements should be ashamed of themselves for humiliating and causing such a mess for the family and young children.

I can assure you my grandchildren are safe and well taken care of. Once again, thank you for all the concern and support for my grandchildren.

Thank you,
Patsy Thomas

We have to do something about city's water...

Dear Editor,

Everyone I talk to seems to still filter their water from our lake. With a bit of research and phone calls we can find that the water cannot be helped very much, according to the info I have gleaned from various sources. .

Look at the position of the lake, it drains all the farmland and septic system that are above the level of the lake. Since water runs downhill, we are constantly adding nutrients to the water which makes algae grow, die and stink. Tastes bad too.

While on the city council, I once brought up the question of aligning with adjoining counties to acquire property and build a super lake. The man sitting next to Wayne Bullock sternly said "Well, good luck with that!"

We need to take matters into our hands as citizens and demand that our councils and fiscal court members work on SOMETHING. Mt Vernon controls both water quality and price county wide. We do not need to wait until some realtor or person with money tells us it is ok. Stop unnecessary spending on goodies such as gatherings and plaques. Surely we have not forgotten how to visit and if we are being paid for a job we do not need a freakin plaque. We get a check. Welfare anyone?

Ronald Regan said one thing that is memorable, "Anything is possible if we do not care who gets the credit." Hold the photo op and the plaque.

Politicians, after election, spend either 2 or 4 years working to get re-elected, then start the process all over again. They need to work for us.

Years ago my Dad had the franchise to deliver whiskey in Rockcastle and surrounding counties. Politicians were bought off. Ask me and I can give you one prominent name that was a County Judge when they had judicial power. Now if illegal activities work, why not legal ones?

If this makes anyone angry then you need to speak to my mule.

Don Jones

mans can't.

After being required to take all of those personality tests in grade school, I discovered that I always had more introvert tendencies compared to extrovert, meaning that I enjoy spending more time alone than spending time around people. Don't get me wrong, I enjoy spending time with friends and family but I also enjoy my alone time as well.

This is where Fuzzy would always fit into my life. After a long day of being around people and out in the public, I could always come home, escape the real world and unwind with Fuzzy.

Dogs are the only creatures on earth that act like they will never see you again whenever you leave home to go out or go to work. But whenever you come home at the end of the day, they are extremely excited and always act like you are just getting home from a four year military stint.

The only thing Fuzzy required of me was food, water and my undivided attention. He never talked, argued, complained, or wanted me to do things for him. He just simply wanted to be around me, whenever I was home. Even when I was grumpy and tired, his opinion of me or attitude toward me never changed.

In my opinion, this is the main reason why dogs are called a man's best friend. No matter what we do in life, their opinion of us never changes. All they ever want is our attention and to simply be around us whenever they can.

Fuzzy fit that criteria of a man's best friend to a tee and in a lot of ways he actually did more for me in my life than I did for him.

After nineteen years and over 80 percent of my life spent with him, it's unfortunate that everything had to come down to me having to agree to euthanize him. But it doesn't shock me at all because he was just simply too tough to die on his own.

But I knew it was something I had to do so he wouldn't suffer any longer. As the old saying goes "sometimes you have to love them enough to let them go."

was the State Technical Rescue meeting. Several departments from the state were in attendance, including Lexington and Louisville. But, what made us being there unique; Brodhead was the only volunteer fire department. Every other department at the meeting was a paid department. We are the only volunteer department in the state to deal with structural collapse equipment. This equipment requires hours of specialized training to set-up and operate. We are now a part of a special response team for the state. This is an amazing accomplishment for Brodhead and Rockcastle County.

The question the week will tie into next week's column. What two founding fathers of America were volunteer firefighters?

KENTUCKY FARM BUREAU

BIG ON COMMITMENT.™

By Ike Adams

The main drag through the Paint Lick suburb of Lowell is called Old Railroad Grade because it occupies a portion of the real estate on which the tracks from Lancaster to Paint Lick to Richmond once sat. Of course neither Lancaster nor Paint Lick have been within twelve miles of a railroad in nearly a century but that's another story for another time.

So anyway, as you might imagine, our equivalent to a main street is nearly plumb flat and the curves are very gentle except for one little uphill-downhill stretch that bypasses the first tunnel. Charlie Brown Road was, I believe, originally a side track that runs parallel to The Grade for a quarter mile.

The second tunnel actually was in use up until the turn of the new century. Daughter Jennifer, Loretta and I drove through it twice a day on our way to and from school and work and all three of us, at one time or another, have had to engage in serious negotiations with drivers headed in the opposite direction as to who had to back up when you met, head-to-head, in the tunnel.

I've actually gotten into terrified little old ladies' cars and backed them up a hundred feet or so to one of the wide spots on each end of the tunnel so that I wouldn't have to back my truck up 200 yards or more.

The tunnel was only just over a tenth of a mile in length but it curved in such a way that you couldn't see daylight from one end to the other and it took a big imagination to determine its width to be even one lane. Passing another vehicle in the tunnel was out of the question. But it shaved two crooked miles off the drive to Lancaster on old Highway 52.

When the new 52 was built in the late 90's, the tunnel was closed and a spur was constructed to connect back to Old Railroad Grade.

Now, for the most part, our road is only used by just over a dozen families who live alongside it, by service vehicles and apparently by the occasional never-dowell trying to outrun the law.

But when we first moved here, it was a popular short cut used by drivers headed west on 52 because it saved both time and distance. The new road solved those problems. I only use Old Railroad now to get to Lancaster when I want to see how my neighbor's gardens are doing or to see if Lois Todd's big mare has a new mule colt.

For the most part, the folks who live here have sense enough to know that 35 mph is about the maximum safe speed for the grade. Even though it's flat as a fritter and reasonably straight, it's just barely wide enough for two vehicles to get past one another and there are a couple of blind intersections that have seen their share of collisions made by even sensible drivers.

Still, at least once or twice a week, while I'm sitting on the porch, I'll see some fool going by at well over 60mph. That's like driving 100 on a full size road.

It's almost always a vehicle with which I am unfamiliar, hence my assumption that it must be someone trying to dodge or outrun the law. Unfortunately, I don't live close enough to the road to get license tag numbers and it would probably be an effort in futility if I did.

If you've never been on Old Railroad Grade, and I would wager that 99% or more of my readers have not, the 5 mile drive from one end to the other is a wonderful way to see what life in the country is all about. Just be careful. Keep your speed to 25mph and a sharp eye out for children playing close to the road, for dogs sleeping on it and for livestock that somehow got over or through the pasture fence.

Strange... But True?

by: Tonya J. Cook

The Elusive Unicorn II

The elusive unicorn was examined in last week's column of "Strange...but True?" and this week the series will take another look at this most unusual creature. It is noted several times in the Bible, but is now reduced to being only a myth, much like a fairy or creature of legend.

The unicorn is often portrayed in medieval art, stemming from biblical and other ancient sources. The unicorn is used as a symbol of Christ and is often pictured with the Virgin Mary. The "Annunciation with the Unicorn Polyptych" is a prime example of this, as can be seen in the National Museum of Warsaw, Poland, in the piece of artwork from 1480. According to many myths, the unicorn can only be captured by a virgin.

The unicorn has come to symbolize a variety of beliefs. The unicorn symbolizes chaste love and faithful marriage. According to many classical authors, the unicorn's horn if used as a cup can neutralize poisons. The horn is said to be made of alicorn and has magical properties as well as medicinal purposes. Fake alicorn powder from the tusks of various animals was sold in Europe as late as 1741. Cups made from the fake tusks were also given as gifts for kings.

In heraldry, the unicorn is often depicted with a goat's cloven hooves and beard, lion's tail, and a slender horn on its head. One of the best-known is from the royal coat of arms of Scotland and the United Kingdom. Two unicorns support the Scottish arms; a lion and a unicorn support the U. K. arms, representing the 1707 union of England and Scotland.

In 1663, the mayor of Magdelug, Otto Von Guericke, had a reconstructed fake unicorn made from the bones of animals found in the Unicorn Cave in Germany's Harg Mountains.

Seals dating back to 2500 BC have been unearthed in the Indus Valley (what is now Pakistan, parts of India, Afghanistan, and Iran) depicting an animal that resembles a unicorn.

As you can see, the unicorn has been around for many centuries, either in reality or in the hopes and imaginations of many civilizations. We may never know for certain if the unicorn ever existed, it may only exist as long as people desire it to exist in art, writings, in their hearts, and in the pages of the Bible, which is a very accurate source.

50th Wedding Anniversary

Former Brodhead resident Thomas R. Blevins and his wife Victoria celebrated their 50th Anniversary with 150 family members and friends on July 6th. Celebration was hosted by their sons Reed and John at Reed's home.

Thomas is the son of former residents of Brodhead, the late Frank and Lola Blevins. He is the brother of the late Betty Sue Holcomb of Brodhead and Jerry Blevins of Mareburg. Cousin to John Holbrook of Renfro Valley.

To top off the festivities there were surprise visits from niece Linda Burton and her grand-daughter Megan Burton of Brodhead and nephew Chuck and his family from Alaska. Not only surprise to the couple but to rest of family members too.

Kirby - McHargue

Howard and Lucille McHargue, along with Thomas and Lisa Kirby, would like to announce the forthcoming marriage of their children, Wesley McHargue and Miranda Kirby.

The couple will be united in marriage on July 20, 2013 at Northside Baptist Church. All family and friends are invited to attend. A reception will follow immediately after the ceremony.

Ryan - Worley

Andrew and Scarlett Ryan announce the engagement of their daughter, Langdon Stites Ryan, to Preston Clark Worley, son of Ed and Jamie Worley of Richmond, and grandson of James and Thelma Mullins of Mount Vernon.

Miss Ryan is a 2007 graduate of Transylvania University where she earned a B.A. in English, while Mr. Worley graduated from the University of Kentucky in 2007 with a B.A. in History.

Miss Ryan and Mr. Worley met at the University of Kentucky College of Law, from which they graduated in 2010. Both are now practicing attorneys in Lexington, Mr. Worley at McBrayer, McGinnis, Leslie and Kirkland and Miss Ryan at Golden and Walters.

The wedding ceremony will be held at First Christian Church of Winchester on November 16, 2013.

Knights are runners-up in USSSA World Series

The 10 and under Knights played in the USSSA World Series July 10-14 in Kingsport, Tennessee and brought home the runners-up trophy.

The festivities began on Wednesday, July 10th with a parade of athletes and pin exchange. On Thursday, pool play began. The Knights captured the number one seed in the tournament by allowing only two runs in pool play.

Following pool play, the Knights were undefeated in tournament action Friday and Saturday. On Sunday morning, they played a semi-final game, defeating a team from Riley, Indiana, putting them into the championship game still undefeated.

In the championship series, the Knights suffered their only losses to a team from Greenville, Tennessee.

The team and coaches would like to thank all the hometown supporters for helping them to go to the 2013 World Series. They include: City of Brodhead, Collins Respiratory, Brodhead Pharmacy, Dari Delite, Brodhead Farm Machinery, Pam's Flowers, Bradley's Garage, Dyehouse Farms, Peg's Food Mart, El Cazador, Atty. Five people arrested in two separate meth busts

By: Doug Ponder
Five people were arrested this past week in two separate meth busts.
In the first incident, four people were arrested for manufacturing methamphetamine last Friday after police made a traffic stop on Hwy 461 near Mt. Vernon.
Arrested at the scene were Christopher Ryan Stringer, 25, Jordan Michael Crabbs, 20, Ivana Joann Bell, 21 and Margaret Lakeisha Bell, 22, all of Somerset.
According to state police reports, Trooper Eric Moore made the traffic stop after observing Stringer's vehicle swerving back and forth across the center line on Hwy 461.
When Moore initiated the traffic stop, Stringer stopped his vehicle in the middle of the roadway and fled on foot across Hwy 461 while dodging traffic.

Moore pursued Stringer and gave him several loud commands to stop. He eventually caught Stringer and apprehended him. At the time of his apprehension, Moore found a small purple plastic tub inside his pants pocket that contained two zip-lock bags of suspected methamphetamine.
Moore also noticed that Stringer appeared extremely intoxicated and that his pupils were dilated. However, Moore didn't conduct a field sobriety tests due to Stringer being a flight risk after fleeing.
After apprehending Stringer, Moore asked his passengers Crabbs, Margaret Bell and Ivana Bell to exit the vehicle. Upon searching the vehicle, Moore found 131 pseudoephedrine tablets, 28 lithium batteries, one bottle of drain cleaner, one can of starter fluid and a pack of coffee filters.

Moore also found a zip-lock bag of marijuana inside Margaret Bell's purse at the time of her arrest.
All four were charged with manufacturing methamphetamine and unlawful possession of a meth precursor. Margaret Bell was also charged with possession of marijuana and Stringer was separately charged with first degree fleeing or evading police, DUI, meth possession and first degree wanton endangerment.
All four remain lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on $25,000 cash/property bonds.
In the second incident, a Mt. Vernon man was arrested for manufacturing methamphetamine after police raided a home on South Wilderness Road in Mt. Vernon.
Arrested at the scene was Delbert Wayne Mullins, 50, of Mt. Vernon.
According to the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department, Deputy Sheriff Matt Bryant went to Mullins' residence after receiving in formation that he had been selling meth.
When Bryant arrived, he received consent from Mullins to search his property. Bryant only found pieces of burned aluminum foil in Mullins' bedroom. However, Bryant found several items used to manufacture meth inside Mullins' vehicle, including an HCL gas generator, bottle of liquid fire drain cleaner and a bag of rock salt.

Mullins was charged with manufacturing methamphetamine and he remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $25,000 cash/property bond.

ship service, large group session and small group sessions.
Northside Celebrate Recovery director John Brown said they got the idea to create the program after a group of them saw a need for it in their church and county.
“Northside has been in the business of helping those trapped in addictions for several years,” Brown said. “There was an obvious need and Northside stepped up to the plate by sharing the love of Jesus and the healing that comes through a personal relationship with him.”
Brown said he started attending Northside and their SWAT recovery program several years ago while he was struggling with an Oxycontin addiction. Through Northside and their Celebrate Recovery program, Brown said he has found the tools and support he needed to overcome his addiction.
“Early in my sobriety I was taught how crucial it was to change your environment and surround myself with moral people,” Brown said. “I have found exactly what I needed with our Celebrate Recovery program at Northside.”
Through much needed prayer and fellowship, Brown said the Celebrate Recovery program at Northside in February. He high winds also downed a power line on Pine Hill Road near Pine Hill Holiness Church.

Although a lot of damage was reported, Holbrook said that they were relieved and thankful that they didn't receive any reports of injuries due to the storm.
“As always we are prepared for the worst but we were glad to hear no one was injured,” Holbrook said. “You can replace material things but you can't replace lives.”

said the program is based on twelve Christ-centered steps that include biblical comparisons and principals focused on God's word.
Brown said the program focuses on helping people with life's hurts, habits and hang-ups. He said the small groups divide into separate groups for those dealing with drug addictions, alcohol addiction, depression, physical abuse, sexual abuse, eating disorders, etc.
Brown went on to say that the program has already impacted over a hundred people in our county and that motivates them to continue the program.
“There is an entire family that has been impacted and restored since they have attended the program,” Brown said. “Now you will see this family at every church service and weekly meetings. It's all about healing and seeing souls being saved by Christ.”
As far as the vision and future for the program, Brown said the church hopes the Celebrate Recovery program provides a solution to Rockcastle County's drug problem.
“We hope and pray the future brings healing to countless individuals in our county and that they realize Christ is the solution,” Brown said. “We hope to share the love and eternal healing that only Jesus can give and that everyone will find total freedom in Him from life's hurts, habits and hang-ups.”

the parking lot on the former Perry Mink property, should be open within the next couple of weeks. The area has been fenced and security cameras have been installed, the Mayor said. Needed signage and ramps will also be installed. The only access to the park will be over a footbridge from the rear of the city park.
A pirate ship play center has been installed at the park at Lake Linville, adjacent to the ball field. There are also two small shelters, picnic tables and swing sets.

Chief Bales gave the council the fire department report for the month of June.
According to the report, 266 runs were made and 3,500 gallons of water were used to answer: 10 accidents with injuries, an accident with injuries and entrapment, two accident not located, two vehicle fires, one structure fire, two woods or brush and grass fires, two fire alarm activations, one dumpster fire, one mutual aid request from Brindlee Ridge Fire Dept., one special detail - Blast in the Valley, one traffic control due to US 25 being closed because of a bear sighting, one hazardous materials call when vandals poured chemicals into the Valley View office and one ATV accident with injuries which was determined to be in Jackson County. The report also showed 181 runs for the year to date.
Police Chief Brian Carter presented the council with the June activity report for his department.
The report showed 464 total calls for service including 20 non-injury accidents, 6 injury accidents, 29 total arrests, two D.U.I. arrests, eight drug charges, 11 traffic violations, 16 warrants served, two criminal summons served, 16 cases opened and 11 indictments.

RCHS archery team competes in NASP World Championship

Submitted by Cindy Chadwell

The RCHS archery team recently traveled to St. Louis, Missouri to participate in the 2013 NASP World Championship Archery Tournament. The NASP World Tournament was held at the St. Louis Convention Center and the Edward Jones Dome on June 29th and 30th. Over three thousands archers registered from 32 states, including Alaska. Participants also came from as far away as Canada, South Africa, and New Zealand.

Each of the archery teams must have had at least 12 archers. NASP requires a team comprised of both male and female shooters, at minimum four each. Every student, regardless of grade level shot 15 scored arrows at 80cm Morrell targets from both 10 and 15 meters. A perfect score is 300 (30 bulls-eyes). Team scores are established by summing the top 12 scores among the team's archers. Both genders must be represented in the team scores.

Rockcastle County High School archers include: James Clay Ballinger, Tristan Begley, Jeremiah Brown, Callie Carpenter, Rachel Chadwell, David Gabbard, Gwen Hampton, Austin Harris, Elizabeth Lawrence, Michael McCauley, Curtis Miller, Josh Neeley, Aaron Pevley, Anna Poytner, Christian Sagraves, and Billie Wynn.

Michael McCauley and BJ Wynn were Rockcastle County's top archers at World. Each archer received a certificate of participation and are known as the best of the best in high school archery. Two Rockcastle County High School seniors have received collegiate scholarships for seniors.

RCHS archers are "world-class" and represented Rockcastle County with respect and integrity. Coaches John Chadwell and Jenetta Begley want to thank everyone involved who helped to get these students to St. Louis.

Set for August 17th

4th Annual Rockcastle Run, Bike or Hike

The fourth annual Rockcastle Regional Hospital Run Bike or Hike will be held in Rockcastle County Aug. 17.

The event, which will begin and end at the Lake Linville Recreational Area (near I-75 exit 62), will feature a 2-mile walk, 5K run, and a duathlon.

The duathlon is a 3.1 mile run followed by a 16.8 mile bike ride and a 2.2 mile run.

The event attracts athletes from across Kentucky and some from other states. Organizers expect more than 200 to participate this year.

Pre-registration for runners and walkers ends Aug. 12 at 12 noon, but they may also sign up on race day. The duathlon is pre-registration only (Aug. 12 at 12 noon).

The Rockcastle County Chamber of Commerce and UK HealthCare is co-sponsoring this year's event. Proceeds go to the American Cancer Society's Hope Lodge in Lexington.

For more information, go to rockcastleregional.org/runbikeorhike.

4-H State Communications was held at the University of Kentucky Saturday, July 13th. Shelby Newland and Laiken Coffey represented Rockcastle County. Shelby participated in the 11 year old division speech contest, she received a blue ribbon. Laiken participated in the 18 year old division speech contest and also received a blue ribbon. Congratulations to each of the participants.

Room 4 Me collecting back to school supplies

Local organization, Room 4 Me, is collecting school supplies, backpacks, gift cards and monetary donations to support their Back to School event, which we be held at First Baptist Church on August 12th from 5 to 7 p.m. for kids entering grades K-5.

The event will be carnival themed and students will have the opportunity to play games, receive tickets, and cash them in for cool school supply prizes.

A tablet will also be given to a randomly selected student who attends this event and was present at the Longest Day of Play booth. A few other small grand prizes will be given as well.

Any and all donations are welcome! Drop donations off at RCHS during office hours or contact Kelsey Mattingly to set up a drop off time.

Pride Spring Cleanup very successful this year

Rockcastle County Solid Waste Coordinator

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the groups and individuals that participated in the 2013 Pride Spring Cleanup. Once again, we had a very successful Spring Cleanup.

There were a total of 927 volunteers (including inmate labor) that worked a total of 1625.25 hours to clean up 1876 bags of trash, and 58 tires over a span of 77.72 miles along 67 different stretches of roadside. These numbers do not include the totals from the Cities of Brodhead, Livingston and Mt. Vernon.

Congratulations on an outstanding Spring Cleanup!

Nurse nominated for extraordinary service

Ephraim McDowell Fort Logan Hospital (EMFLH) is pleased to recognize and honor one of its nurses for her extraordinary patient care. Kacey Scoggin Nicely, BSN, R.N., CLC, a nurse in the Emergency Department at EMFLH, was one of many nurses nominated for the DAISY Award. A resident of Rockcastle County, Nicely has been caring for patients at EMFLH for 5 years.

She was nominated by two co-workers. One of the co-workers said “Kacey is a great resource for this hospital. She is always attentive to her patient’s needs and truly has their best interests at heart. Her bubbly personality always adds to a positive environment for everyone around. She is always willing to help others whether it be in a procedure, charting or even just to toss around ideas on different interventions for patients. There is never a time that she doesn’t stop what she is doing to answer one of my many questions. Her co-workers would agree that she is always there when you need a helping hand. I feel honored to call her my co-worker and friend.”

Ephraim McDowell is proud to recognize nurses with the DAISY Award, a national program that honors the compassionate care and clinical excellence that nurses bring to their patients every day. Nomination forms for the DAISY Award are available at various locations throughout EMFLH and Ephraim McDowell Regional Medical Center and online at www.emhealth.org.

BEFORE CONSOLIDATION

The Golden Age of Rockcastle County Basketball

David Owens and M.T. Publishing Company, Inc. are joining forces to bring you Before Consolidation: The Golden Age of Rockcastle County Basketball. This history/pictorial book will explore times before consolidation, when the county had three high schools, Mt. Vernon, Livingston and Brodhead.

The 1950s was known as the Golden Age of Basketball throughout Kentucky, which was probably when the county rivalry was at its height. This extraordinary book will take you through intense rivalries, when 36 players instead of 12 represented Rockcastle County or when passion was so strong that local police had to come to prevent hostilities from breaking out between Red Devil, Blue Devil or Tiger fans!

Only a limited number of books will be printed, therefore it is necessary to take all orders in advance. The pre-publication price is $37.50* for the deluxe standard edition and $64.95* for the genuine bonded leather edition if ordered by the pre-order deadline of July 31, 2013.

This 8 1/2" x 11" hardbound book will have a full color dust jacket and contain a minimum of 128 pages. You may have your copy personalized with a name stamping on the cover for a nominal charge. All pre-ordered books will contain the wording "Commemorative Edition" on the cover and a printed personal note from the author. These commemorative edition books are numbered as they are sold.

Complete the order form below and remit with payment no later than July 31, 2013. To order with credit card, go online to www.mtpublishing.com or call toll free 1-888-263-4702. Credit card orders will be kept on file and charged 30-60 days before shipping.

Make sure you order one for yourself and your family members too! The price will increase after publication, so don't hesitate, order your copies today!

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...
 What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
 Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
 A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
 B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
 The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufactures recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
 C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
 D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
 E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
 The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
 Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

Mamaw's Kitchen

By Regina Poynter Hoskins

POP'S MEATLOAF

1 and 1/2 pounds ground beef
1 egg
1 cup oats, uncooked
1/2 cup shredded carrots
2 tablespoons tomato catsup
1/3 cup milk
Salt

Preheat oven to 350°. Crumble ground beef into large bowl. Add egg, oats, carrots, tomato catsup, milk, and salt. Mix well with a wooden spoon. Turn out into a lightly greased loaf pan. Top with two strips of bacon. Bake for one hour at 350°. Let set for about 15 minutes before slicing.

PISTACHIO DESSERT

I believe this recipe came from Mom Hoskins. It was one of her favorites to make, as well as to eat.

CRUST:

1 cup flour
1 stick butter or margarine
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 chopped pecans
Mix crust ingredients. Press into 9 x 13 baking dish. Bake at 350° for 15 minutes. Cool.

FILLING:

1 block (8 ounce) cream cheese
2/3 cup sugar
1 container (9 ounce) Cool Whip®, divided Blend cheese and sugar.

TOPPING:

2 small packages instant pistachio pudding
2 and 1/2 cups cold milk
Remaining Cool Whip®
Mix pudding mix and milk on medium speed for 2 minutes. Spread over cream cheese mixture. Spread with remaining Cool Whip®. Chill.

POP'S NO-BAKE

PUMPKIN PIE

Pop used to put spice in this pie until Mom was diagnosed with diverticulitis and couldn't eat spices anymore. The pie is good either way.

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup self-rising flour
2 eggs
2 cups pumpkin, cooked or canned
1 cup milk
1 cup frozen vanilla ice cream
1 baked pie shell
Combine sugar and flour in heavy saucepan. Add slightly beaten eggs and pumpkin; stir to combine. Over medium heat, slowly add milk. Stir until thickened—about 15 minutes. Remove from heat and add ice cream. Stir until ice cream melts, pour into pie shell. Refrigerate for two hours before eating.

Adoptable Shelter Dogs

Hello. My name is Smoke and I am a male Collie/Australian Shepherd mix. I am approximately 1 year old and I came to the shelter after showing up at someone's house after being dropped out along Hwy. 461. I am really friendly and laid back and I don't get to excited about much but I would probably become ecstatic if I could find a family that would love me forever!! If you could help me then call the shelter @ 606-256-1833. (kennel 13)

Hey There! My name is Tank and I am a Beagle. I am approximately 2 years old and I was picked up as a stray and brought to the shelter. I am now anxiously awaiting my new home. I am very friendly with everybody I meet and I get along great with other dogs as well. If you would like to have me as your loyal friend then call RCAS @ 606-256-1833. (kennel 6)

Local police warn people of scam about compromised debit and credit cards

By: Doug Ponder

Local police are asking Rockcastle Countians to be skeptical of text and email messages informing them that their debit or credit cards have been compromised.

Rockcastle County Sheriff Mike Peters said his office has received numerous reports from people and banking institutions about the scam.

Peters said the messages tell people to contact their financial institution at a telephone number provided in the message. When indi-

Indictments returned

Three indictments, against five defendants, were handed down by a Rockcastle County Grand Jury on July 12th.

Indicted were:

William D. Kelly, 29 and Robert Tillery, 30, both of Sweetwater Road, Mt. Vernon.

The two men were indicted for the offense of manufacture of methamphetamine, first offense and both men's bond was set at $25,000 cash/property.

Donald Ray Newcomb, 34, of Smith Ridge Road in Eubank and Larry J. Lawson, 25, of Terry Street, Mt. Vernon, were named in a joint indictment.

Both were indicted for burglary, first degree, theft by unlawful taking and criminal mischief. Newcomb was also indicted on three counts of possession of a firearm by a convicted felon.

Both men's bond was set at $75,000 cash/property.

The third indictment handed down was against Nathaniel D. Whitis, 25 of Smith Hollow Road, Somerset, for criminal abuse, first degree of a 12-year-old child, Whitis's bond was set at $75,000 cash/property.

22, of London is charged with murder, manufacturing methamphetamine and first degree robbery. Her trial will be next Monday at 9 a.m. in Rockcastle County Circuit Court.

According to the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department, Bullock was at a home on Lone Oak Drive in Mt. Vernon on December 1, 2011 before he was murdered. After he left the home, he was later found dead in the driver's seat of his vehicle after it had rolled approximately 300 yards down a hill off Lone Oak Road and smashed through a fence.

Deputy Sheriff Matt Bryant, who was in charge of the vehicle accident investigation, determined that Bullock's death was a homicide after discovering a gunshot wound in his side.

In December of 2011, Bryant originally arrested and charged Mt. Vernon residents Gary Lee Kirby, 19, Joshua Duane Cameron, 25 and Bobby Peters, 36 with the murder of Bullock. After further investigation, Bryant also arrested Mary Hannah Hunsucker, 24 of Mt. Vernon and Robinson, charging them with the murder of Bullock as well.

Upon further investigation, Bryant determined that all five people allegedly murdered Bullock during an attempted robbery of his prescription medication. Bryant also found a meth lab at Peters' home during the investigation.

Kirby, Cameron, Peters and Hunsucker all pled guilty to murdering Bullock, during their respective Fiscal Court loans funds to Livingston for building purchase

At a special called meeting of the fiscal court Wednesday, Livingston Mayor Jason Medley asked the court to loan the city $35,000 to purchase the Forster Mullins building and make it "structurally sound."

Purchase price of the building, located on Main Street, is $20,000, Medley said and an estimated $13,500 will be used to replace the back wall of the structure.

Medley said the city plans to generate revenue from the over 5,000 sq. ft. building with possibly a coffee shop, retail store and renovating part of it for a hostel/inn for visitors to the city which was recently officially designated the second Trail Town in Kentucky.

The mayor said the town could repay the county at the rate of $300 a month.

Medley told the court that, to date, the city has received about $5,400 in donations, primarily from alumni of Livingston School. "The energy is very positive in Livingston from both alumni and local residents," Medley said. Much of the renovation of the Mullins' building will be done by volunteers Medley told the court.

Magistrate Ralph Allen made a motion to approve the loan to the city. It was seconded by County Judge/Executive Buzz Carloftis and Magistrates Bill McKinney and Lee Earls Adams voted yes. Magistrates Gary Burdette and William Denny were not present for the meeting.

The court also approved an application by the Livingston Volunteer Fire Dept. for a Homeland Security grant, through the state, to purchase water rescue equipment.

In other business, the court approved a list of roads to be submitted for approval by the state for FLEX fund usage. The county currently has $367,000 to spend on these roads.

Carloftis told the court that estimates of the cost of repaving sections of each of the roads will have to be made by Greer Bros. before the list can be submitted to the state.

The list of roads include: Wildie, Anglin Falls, Freedom School, Hummel, Wind Chime, Grace Loop, Smallwood, Lear Lane, Possum Kingdom, Chestnut Grove, Brushy Ridge, Wolf Creek, Sand Hill, McCollum, Doc Adams, Cane Branch, Copper Creek, Grassy Branch, PurrRigsby, Buffalo Branch, Bloss, Foggy Hollow, Poppy Lane, Stallsworth Branch and Sweetwater.

Knoxville man arrested after involved in a two vehicle accident on I-75

By: Doug Ponder

A Knoxville man was arrested Monday afternoon after he was involved in a two vehicle accident on I-75, southbound at the 54 mile marker in Rockcastle County.

Arrested was Ryan Edwards Peters, 33.

According to the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department, Peters was traveling in the middle lane when he reportedly hydroplaned and drove into the path of another vehicle, driven by Priscilla Bernhold, 66, of London, who was traveling in the right lane.

After the two vehicles collided, they both ran off the roadway and hit a rock embankment, eventually coming to rest approximately 25 yards from the point of the collision.

Bernhold as well as Peters and his passenger, Mary Elizabeth Wilson, 36, of Knoxville were all transported by ambulance to Saint Joseph London Hos-

Brodhead man arrested for growing marijuana

By: Doug Ponder

A Brodhead man was arrested Monday afternoon for cultivating marijuana and drug possession, after officers from the Kentucky State Police Department raided a home on Goldfinch Lane in Brodhead.

Arrested at the scene was Danny L. Deborde, 57, of Brodhead.

According to state police reports, officers responded to the residence after receiving information, from an aerial spot by a state police helicopter, that marijuana plants were growing on the property.

After receiving consent to search the property, officers found eight marijuana plants, along with several other items associated with

Mom had an old Stromberg Carlson radio sitting on top of the Maytag refrigerator in our kitchen when I was a little boy. She had a piece of copper wire run through the kitchen window out to her steel clothes line to use for what she called an "aerial" to pick up faraway stations. We later found out that it was really called an antenna.

We could get several local daytime stations without hooking the aerial up and even a few of the big city AM stations at night when they turned their broadcast power up. WCKY from Cincinnati, WSM from Nashville, WNOX from Knoxville, WJJD from Chicago and maybe a dozen others whose call letters I don't remember and who mostly didn't play anything worth listening to.

But with the aerial plugged in, we could sometimes pick up radio stations in Canada that played country music on clear nights. The Canadians liked to record and replay last week's Grand Ole Opry and it got us boys standing in kitchen chairs and reaching for the top of the appliance again because we thought that Grandpa Jones and Roy Acuff and Cousin Jody and Minnie Pearl, and Patsy Cline, And Mama Maybelle Carter had collectively hung the moon.

It was always hit or miss with those stations out of Toronto, Montreal, Windsor and Quebec because they might have the power turned up one night and the next night you couldn't get a thing. One station even had an announcer who only spoke French so you couldn't understand a word he was saying but all the records he played were USA top 40 country hits.

I've forgotten what the station was but it was out of

American Graffiti – The Soundtrack and Video of My Youth

I watched the movie American Graffiti again.

I don't have any idea how many times I have seen it, but I am always just as spellbound as I was the first time I saw the 1973 film. Set in 1962 Modesto, California, American Graffiti is a study of the cruising and rock-and-roll values popular among the baby boom generation. It is a nostalgic portrayal of teenage life in the early 60's, spun out in a series of vignettes, featuring the story of a group of teenagers and their adventures within one late summer evening. Nominated for the Academy Award for Best Picture, it has become one of the most profitable movies of all time.

The movie was directed by George Lucas and produced by Francis Ford Coppola. It starred Richard Dreyfuss, Ron Howard, Paul Le Mat, Charles Martin Smith, Candy Clark, Mackenzie Phillips, Cindy Williams, and (my favorite) Wolfman Jack. Interestingly, I have discovered that in 1995, the United States Library of Congress deemed the film "culturally, historically, or aesthetically significant" and selected it for preservation in the National Film Registry.

Lucas used his own early 1960s teenage experiences – cruising and listening to rock music – to document the entire experience. He also used the character of Wolfman Jack and his radio show to carry the music throughout the film relying on the popular hit songs of the day. It begins with the hit Rock Around the Clock and includes forty-one songs that were chart toppers around 1962 (my senior year).

Strange... But True?

The Pooka

Anyone who knows me very well can tell you I'm a classic movie fan. As Stanley always says, "If it's in color, you'll not like it." It's true, most of my favorite movies come from the "golden age of Hollywood", the 1930s, 1940s, and early 1950s. One of my favorite classic movies is a movie called, "Harvey", from 1950. It's a movie (in black and white) adapted from a Pulitzer prize-winning play that had a very successful run on Broadway. It stars James Stewart as Elwood P. Dowd, whose best friend is a huge 6'4" rabbit-a "pooka" named Harvey. Elwood and Harvey manage to surprise, embarrass, exasperate, and charm everyone they meet, even Elwood's sister that shares a house with the two. She admits in a moment of weakness, "Sometimes I think I see him (Harvey), too."

Harvey is a pooka. What is a pooka you may ask? It is an impish spirit, especially in Irish folklore; a mischievous spirit that takes on the form of an animal. They usually appear as horses, goats, rabbits, dogs, or goblins, but always dark in color. They are said to be the bringer of good or bad fortune, and may either help or hinder a situation. They have their roots in northwestern European cultures such as Welsh mythology, where they appear as fairies and live near stones. The old people of Ireland said that the pooka were plentiful long ago, and they were "wicked-minded, black-looking bad things..."

It is said that even having the form of an animal, the pooka has the power of human speech. They have been known to give wise advice, although they enjoy causing confusion and terrifying humans. The pookas have a reputation of never causing any serious harm.

The pooka is closely associated with Scottish or Irish harvest festivals that are held on October 31-November 1. When the last of the crops are brought in, a portion is always left as "the pooka's share" to feed them through the winter ahead. November 1 is the Pooka Day, the day all pookas are on their best behavior. Any food left out after November 1 is spoiled by the pookas making it not fit for human consumption. Wild berries, such as blackberries, that spoil on the bush are said to have been ruined by the pookas, even in the summer. This is closely related to Halloween and All Saints Day.

On November 1, the pooka may appear and offer prophecies and warnings to those who inquire. They are nature's folk, and live in the hills and mountains, or bogs and marshes. Don't be sur-

On Call

By: Rick Branham

Last week I left off with this question, what two founding fathers of America were volunteer firefighters? The answer is Benjamin Franklin and George Washington.

Benjamin Franklin is credited with forming the Union Volunteer Fire Company in 1736 in Philadelphia. His fire company was often referred to as Benjamin Franklin's Bucket Brigade. Now doing some further research on Wikipedia, because you can find all kinds of information on Wikipedia, I discovered some interesting facts about the department. Each member agreed to have six (6) leather buckets and two (2) linen bags. These items had to be purchased at their expense and they were expected to have these items at every fire. The buckets were used to shuttle water to the fire, hence the name bucket brigade. The linen bags had to be sturdy in order to place and hold property that was in danger of the fire. The department was limited to 30 members and met eight (8) times per year. There meetings were important and you were fined for being late or missed a meeting. By the end of 1791 the fire department had in their possession 250 buckets, 13 ladders and 2 hooks.

George Washington volunteered for the Friendship Veterans Fire Engine Company in Alexandria, Virginia. Not much is known about Washington's volunteer career but in 1774 he purchased a new fire engine for the town, which was their first fire engine.

There is so much of American history revolving around these two gentlemen, which is hard to believe that at one point in their lives they were volunteer firefighters. The history of the fire service is fascinating and knowing that two of our founding fathers were a part of that history is amazing.

Some other historical parts of the fire service that is worth mentioning, is that the first horse drawn steam engine was invented in 1829 but was not accepted in structural firefighting until 1860. In 1907 the arrival of internal combustion fire engines led to the decline of the steam engines by 1925.

Earlier this week Mt. Vernon and Brodhead worked together to contain a structure fire in a trailer. Both departments did an outstanding job and were able to save much of the property. That was not always the case. During the early to mid-1800's New York City fire companies, responding to a structure fire would often break out in a brawl to determine who would fight the fire in order to get paid the insurance money. Often times they would send a runner out with a barrel to cover the closest fire hydrant so the opposing fire company would not have a water source. Even to this day there are disagreements between departments about the territories they cover. However, that is not the case in Rockcastle. Each department works together to provide the citizens with the best possible protection.

That is all for the history of the fire service. Next week I am going to start into actual firefighting. What the duties of a firefighter are and tools we use? Later I will get into the science of fire and fire behavior. The question I leave you with is, there are certain goals that firefighters strive to achieve when fighting a fire, can you name them?

Anthony Dean Reams

Anthony Dean Reams, 50, of Orlando, died Friday, July 19, 2013 at the Compassionate Care Center in Richmond. He was born in Rockcastle County, December 23, 1962 the son of Elmo and Delia Stewart Reams.

He worked in control assembly for the Trane Co. for 29 years and was a member of the Flat Rock Baptist Church. His first passion was racing. He drove a bomber, road hog, open wheel, modified, and late model race cars. As a driver, as well as at work, he was a friend that was loved and respected by all.

Later in life, his passion was horse riding. His favorite horse was his baby, "Bucky". He loved to socialize and meet new people as he rode. He spent many a night on the basketball court. He played in many leagues and tournaments, where he played fiercely, but fairly, best known for his sportsmanship. He had a kind spirit and a wonderful sense of humor.

He was a devoted husband to his loving wife of 12 1/2 years, Jody Ann Riddell Reams. He was a loving dad to A.J. Reams of Berea and Coty Reams of Savannah, GA, and a caring papaw to Sawyer, Jackson, and Cayden Reams. He was a caring brother to Phyllis and Manuel McGuire, Darla and Gary Moore, and Kenny and Melissa Reams, all of Orlando, Perry and Linda Montjoy of Scaffold Cane, and Jerry and Janet Montjoy, Roger Reams, and Glenna and Larry Settles, all of Mt. Vernon. He was a loving uncle to many nieces and nephews. He was met in heaven by his mommy, daddy, his twin brother, Bobby Jean Reams, and his sister, Linda Montjoy.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday, July 23, 2013 at Bible Baptist Church by Bros. Zandell Hasty, Don Stayton and Clyde Miller. Burial followed in Briarfield Cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Eric Denney, Donovan Pigg, Brandon Reams, Bryant Reams, Jared Reams and Mikah Reams.

Dowell & Martin Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Tennessee and two or three nights a week a preacher named Garner Ted Armstrong came on with a 15 minute program called The World Tomorrow. He predicted that time was going to end in the 70's and listeners needed to send him money so he could get the world ready for it.
Garner Ted also sold books and offered a free subscription to The Plain Truth magazine which my Mom read like it was another version of the Bible. The radio show wouldn't have been so bad if I hadn't had to listen to it. The only way it would come in loud and plain enough to hear and understand was if somebody stood in a chair and kept their hand on top of the radio. Guess who got stuck with that duty.
Then on another night of the week there was a preacher with a 15 minute faith healing show on the same station who claimed that he could cure anything if you'd just hold your hand on the radio and let him pray for you. He always had testimonials from deaf people who started hearing, blind folks that started seeing again, crippled up people who started walking again and stuff like that.

There wasn't much cancer going around back in the 1950's but every once in awhile he'd cure a case or two of cancer or maybe TB. Anyway, I'd have to stand up there and hold my hand on top of the radio until the testimonials were all done and it came time to do some serious healing then Mom would let me get down so she could reach up and touch the radio and get cured. She could reach it from the floor without having to stand in a chair and I was always glad to get down because there was hardly ever anything wrong with me except for a touch of tonsillitis every now and then.
I'd have felt pretty stupid having that faith healer working on tonsillitis when he had all those deaf, blind, crippled-up and heart patients to deal with. Not to mention the occasional case of cancer and TB.

prised if they appear as a disfigured goblin who demands a share of the harvest (Trick-or-treat).
There is also a Pooka curse. It is a spell caused by the Crystalline Cauldron, an apocalyptic weapon created by the insane King Valentine prior to his death that works through the power of crystals. The victim is turned into a small rabbit-like creature and is also given immortality. Along with the immortality, the victim must spend their life searching for the Valentinian coins in order to receive one wish.
Until recently, I had no knowledge of a pooka until I looked it up as a taxi driver did in the movie, while at the mental institution where Elwood was taken. If you see the movie, you will see that Harvey has a lot of fun at the expense of everyone except Elwood. Youtube has a few clips from the movie...it may be as close as we'll ever get to seeing a pooka.

Jack's radio show) used in the motion picture were actual calls made by real people. Information released by Lucas notes, “Wolfman Jack's radio show was the backbone of the film. The Wolfman was an ethereal presence in the lives of young people, and it was that quality we wanted and obtained in the picture.”
It has always amazed me how many themes in the film were actually part of my life personally as well as the lives of most Rockcastle County teenagers. With the exception of the population of Modesto, California, the cars (58 Chevy – Deuce Coupe – 55 Chevy and a variety of Hot Rods), the Drive-in restaurant, drag racing, high school dates and sock hops, dances (Jitterbug – The Twist – waltzes), parking, and going steady – those were the things that occupied our time and attention in those days.
Lucas accurately used some of the most popular, customized hot rods of the era. Even the climactic drag race at the end of the movie was so perfectly filmed that it took me back to the days of drag racing in Rockcastle County. A character known as “Toad” used a flashlight to start the final drag race. I can remember several of my friends waving a handkerchief to initiate the beginning of races of our day. Another teen would stand at the end of the marked quarter mile race on US 25 highway in order to determine the winner of the race. It is amazing how accurately the filmed scenes were portrayed. I felt nervous just watching that deuce coupe line up against the “souped up” 55 Chevy. It reminded me of so many of my friends trying to decide who had the “badest” car in the county.

I don't think we ever determined a county-wide winner. One week Charles Hensley would be on top, while the next week it might be one of the Fain boys. Sometime later, it would be a totally different teen who claimed to have the hottest ride in the county. Oh, how we loved those competitions!
Even the high school “sock-hop” appeared identical to the days at Mt. Vernon High School. So many of the guys were too nervous to “jitterbug” but would crowd the gym floor as soon as songs like The Great Pretender, I Only Have Eyes For You, or Only You began to play. Many of us gathered in the corners of the gym to hold our dates close as the Platters serenaded us.
Any old-timer like me will be transported to another era when watching this film. It can make you feel like you are sitting in one of those cars, cruising and listening to our radios. Time magazine wrote, “American Graffiti reveals a new and welcome depth of feeling. Few films have shown quite so well the eagerness, the sadness, the ambitions and small defeats of a generation of young Americans.” Variety observed, “The movie was a vivid recall of teenage attitudes and morals, told with outstanding empathy and compassion through an exceptionally talented cast of unknown actors.” I couldn't agree more!

If you get the chance to catch the film (or better still to see it in a theater), I highly recommend that you do so. I fail to see how anyone could improve on this depiction of that magical time and its charming, almost naive, youngsters and their way of life. I'm one of the lucky ones – I got to live it.

Reporting 2013 Losses
Excessive rain across the state have damaged some crops and slowed development of others. USDA reminds producers faced with questions on crop losses to contact their crop insurance companies and local USDA Farm Service Agency Service Centers, as applicable, to report damages to crops or livestock loss, and not to destroy or discontinue care for your crops.

Farmers are reminded to report any loss within 72 hours of discovery to their insurance company. Farmers must report prevented planting acreage to their insurance company, in writing, within 15 calendar days after the final planting date.

Losses must be reported and an insurance adjuster must view and release the crop before the crop is destroyed.

Farmers are also reminded to contact their insurance agent if they have any questions about coverage, prevented planting, or for reporting and processing a claim.

Producers who have not purchased NAP insurance may report losses within the 15 day time period and file the FSA Notice of Loss form for reporting purposes only.

USDA reminds livestock producers to keep thorough records of losses, including additional expenses for such things as food purchased due to lost supplies.

For additional information and updates about USDA's efforts, please visit www.usda.gov/disaster.

Direct and Counter-Cyclical Payment Program (DCP)
The American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012, enacted on Jan. 2, 2013, amends the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 and provides for a one-year extension of the Direct and Counter-Cyclical (DCP) program. To be eligible for direct and counter-cyclical payments, producers must enroll their farms in DCP during the sign-up period which began on Feb. 19, 2013 and ends on Aug. 2, 2013. Please call 606-256-2525 to schedule an appointment.

Crop Acreage Reporting Extended
Farm Service Agency (FSA) reminds agricultural producers of the acreage reporting requirements that must be met prior to receiving program benefits. Filing an accurate acreage report for all crops and land uses, including failed acreage and prevented planting acreage, can prevent the loss of benefits for a variety of programs. Has been extended to August 2nd which now is the final date to certify all crops, except small grains.

Producers must report acreages to maintain eligibility for Price Support Programs, Noninsured Crop Assistance Program (NAP), Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) and Direct and Counter-Cyclical Program (DCP). All cropland on farms must be certified to remain eligible for these programs

2013 FSA COUNTY COMMITTEE ELECTIONS
Do you know someone who is interested in serving on a local USDA Farm Service Agency County Committee?

From June 17th through August 1st, you can nominate a candidate to run for a position on your local county committee.

Nomination forms are available on our website www.fsa.usda.gov/elections or from your FSA County Office and must be postmarked or delivered back to your county office by August 1. Voting takes place this fall.

Nominate and vote; FSA is counting on you.

For more information about this and other FSA programs please visit your local FSA county office or visit <http://www.fsa.usda.gov>.

Ben “Cooter” Jones to be at Renfro Valley

Ben Jones from Dukes of Hazzard fame is performing at Renfro Valley with his band called Cooter's Garage Band on August 10 at 8 p.m.

Jones has had a long and distinguished career in entertainment and politics. He grew up in a railroad shack in Portsmouth, Va., and he began acting professionally in theatre while attending the University of North Carolina.

He has appeared in more than 80 theatrical productions, 25 feature films and hundreds of television programs. He became internationally popular as one of the stars of the Dukes of Hazzard TV series, which is still a hit today in more than 50 countries. Jones played the role of ‘Cooter,’ the mechanic who was always busy fixing up cars, including the General Lee. The General Lee, an orange Dodge Charger, has been named one of the most popular cars in TV and film history.

From 1989 to 1993, Jones served in the U.S. Congress, representing Georgia's fourth district, and as a political commentator, he has appeared on many national television programs.

The Dukes craze is still alive today, thanks in part to Jones and his wife, Alma. The couple is planning “Dukes of Hazzard Fan Fair”, a Dukes of Hazzard themed festival in June 2013 in Nashville.

In addition, Jones and his wife are the proprietors of two Dukes themed stores/museums called Cooter's Place. The two locations are Nashville and Gatlinburg, TN.

In 2008, Jones released his first book titled Redneck Boy in the Promised Land. In the book, Jones shares his inspiring story and improbable rise to fame.

Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue and Brodhead Volunteer Fire Department responded to a trailer fire Sunday night on Barnett Road in Mt. Vernon. Authorities say the trailer was owned by Harriet Griffin of Mt. Vernon and no one was hom at the time of the fire. The trailer was a total loss and the cause of the fire remains unknown.

court trials in 2012. Hunsucker was sentenced to 20 years in prison while Kirby, Cameron and Peters were sentenced to 25 years in prison, due to their separate charges for manufacturing methamphetamine.

Commonwealth Attorney Eddy Montgomery is reportedly recommending either life without possibility of parole or life with possibility of parole in 25 years after taking the death penalty off the table as a possible punishment for Robinson, during her motion hearing in Rockcastle Circuit Court last Wednesday.

Robinson currently remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $500,000 cash/property bond.

dividuals contact the number purporting to be for their financial institution, they receive an automated message asking them to enter their account information in order to stop any fraudulent activity. Once the victim enters their account information, Peters said it allows the con artists to use the victim’s account for unauthorized purchases.

“These messages are very sophisticated and tricky,” Peters said. “These con artists pose as the individuals’ banking or credit card company to make it appear to be real. Once you give them your information, they’ve got you over a barrel.”

Peters said it is hard for his office or any other law enforcement agency to track down the con artists because the messages are always traced back to areas outside the United States.

“The messages are almost always traced back to another country overseas,” Peters said. “They make it hard for us to track them down and they are really good at covering their tracks.”

Peters went on to say that his office encourages people to be wary of unsolicited messages asking them to input their personal information such as account numbers, social security numbers, etc. He said people can always determine the validity of the messages by calling their financial institution.

“People need to simply call their financial institutions to find out if the messages are real or fake,” Peters said. “Of course, people need to call the correct phone number for their fi-

were added to the list: Halcomb East, Cove Branch, Derby Lane and Mullins Station. Two roads included on the list, Ford Hollow and Calloway Branch, will not be worked on until logging operations currently using the roads are completed.

As the final item of business of the special called session, County Treasurer Joe Clontz presented the court with the final settlement for all funds for fiscal year 2012-13.

The settlement showed a total of $856,661.23 as a cash balance for all funds with a balance of $702,132 in the general fund. This fund includes the balance in the occupational tax fund. The county’s financial statement for all funds, and a list of the county’s liabilities, will appear in an issue during August.

Officers also found two unlabeled pill bottles containing several Percocet and Clonazepam tablets.

During an interview, Deborde told officers that the marijuana plants belonged to him. Officers also found a firearm belonging to Deborde during their search. Upon further investigation, officers found that Deborde was not allowed to possess any firearms after being convicted of a felony in 1996.

Deborde was charged with two counts of possession of a controlled substance, cultivating marijuana (five plants or more), possession of marijuana, drug paraphernalia advertisement and possession of a firearm by a convicted felon. He was lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center and later released on a $5,000 unsecured bond.

pital where they were treated and later released.

After the three were transported from the scene, Deputy Sheriff Shannon Franklin found several drug-related items inside Peters’ vehicle, including marijuana, suboxone strips and a pill bottle containing Xanax and Vyvanse tablets.

Franklin immediately informed Kentucky State Police Post 11 in London about what he had found and they dispatched Trooper Scottie Pennington to the hospital. While in the hospital, Peters told Pennington that he had smoked marijuana the night before the accident. Pennington also noticed that Peters appeared nervous and had slurred speech.

Upon further investigation, Pennington found an Ohio woman’s purse inside Peters’ vehicle. Both Peters and Wilson gave Pennington conflicting stories about how they obtained the Ohio woman’s purse. Pennington later learned that the couple had stolen the purse from a concert in Ohio.

After being released from the hospital, Peters was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana, possession of a controlled substance, DUI, first degree wanton endangerment, receiving stolen property and operating on a suspended license. He was lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center where he was later released on a $2,000 unsecured bond.

The case is still under investigation by Kentucky State Police and Trooper Scottie Pennington is in charge of the investigation. Further charges were pending at the time of publication.

Three generations of native's family serves in the military

Ed's Note: LaMar Doutaz, a former resident of Spiro, and his descendants were the subject of a July 6th feature article in the News and Record in Greensboro, NC. Mr. Doutaz, the son of the late Roy and Cleo Gentry Doutaz, joined the Navy when he was 17 and served in WWII. He returned after his service and married Elizabeth Hunt, daughter of Virgil and Mary Hunt of Maretburg, who was a teacher at Poplar Grove at the time. They moved to Richmond, Indiana in 1948 and he now lives in High Point, NC. The photo, by Harry Theford, is reprinted below.

Unusualness does not stop with La Mar Doutaz's name. A street-level glance at his High Point lawn, garden, landscaping, garage and workshop signals he takes unusual neatness to a new level. His idea of pre-mises could be pre-covenanted out in lesser neighborhoods.

Once past the neatness crevasse, Doutaz grades out as an unusually wonderful and terribly compatible neighbor. Disarmingly humble, he is trim and fit, dresses neatly, converses engagingly and offers you the best chair on his shady and friendly front porch.

That is not to say Doutaz is unexcitable. He can become unusually animated when it comes to freedom, patriotism and cross-generational members of his family who have answered the call to serve his country.

Suprisingly, Doutaz's personal World War II Navy story begins at Glenn High School with Matthew Gentry Seman. Seman is a ROTC student and La Mar's great grandson. Seman is "leaning Air Force upon graduation," his great grandfather said.

Tyler Manning, another Doutaz great grandson, is an Army medic now serving in Japan after completing a one-year deployment in Afghanistan.

The zip in Doutaz's conversation continued on the grandchildren level, too. Grandson Jeffrey Doutaz and granddaughter Angela Beth Seman Nance, both served in the Navy.

Keith Doutaz, the only son of La Mar Doutaz, served in the National Guard during the Vietnam era. Karol Seman, the only daughter of Doutaz, was a Navy reservist.

July 4th is a 365-day event for Doutaz households. Ever the neatnik, La Mar has one son and one daughter, two granddaughters and two grandsons, five great granddaughters and five great grandsons. Doutaz, and his wife, Elizabeth, were married more than 63 years when she died in 2009.

Since three generations of military Doutazes had been covered, I almost forgot the purpose of our visit -- to vet the military story of La Mar Doutaz. Surprises continued to come up void.

La Mar Doutaz presented a museum-level book that chronicled his World War II Navy career from start to finish. "My daughter did all this," he said.

Doutaz was 5 years old, and living in Kentucky, when his father was killed in a car wreck. Years later, Doutaz recalled seeing a family photo of his father in a Navy uniform. He suspects his father was in the Navy during the World War I era, but that remains unconfirmed.

At any rate, his mother gave approval for her oldest son to enter the Navy in 1943 at age 17. Twenty-one of his buddies dropped out of school and did likewise. Many years later, their school awarded honorary diplomas to each of them.

"I served all my Navy duty aboard a destroyer escort, the USS Doherty. I was a cook," Doutaz said. "We stayed at sea most of the time, escorting convoys and performing antisubmarine operations." Doutaz has quite an unusual cache of military memorabilia to show for his duty as a cook.

"Oh, when you are a ship's cook, other crew members look out after you; they want to stay on your good side," he said, justifying his souvenirs, many of which are handmade and one-of-a-kind.

Even though the Doherty did not earn any battle stars, she constantly patrolled in dangerous waters from 1943 until the war ended.

Doutaz particularly remembers May 15, 1945.

"One of our B-29 bombers was struck by enemy fire and forced to ditch in the Pacific," he said. "By the time we reached them, two of the crewmen had died, but we were able to rescue the other 11. The next day, we sunk the damaged aircraft with our 3-inch guns to keep it from coming into enemy hands."

Doutaz is proud to have served his country during World War II and proud of at least three other generations of his family who have chosen military service.

After World War II, Doutaz returned to Kentucky and married his high school sweetheart, who had become a schoolteacher. He took advantage of the GI Bill, with farming as his major. The marriage outlasted farming by 40 years. Doutaz retired in 1987 and in 2001 moved to High Point to live near his daughter.

Doutaz is a busy guy with many interests. Besides keeping his premises immaculate, he plays bingo at McDonald's on Tuesdays and canasta at the Senior Citizens' Center on Thursdays. He attends Thomasville Church of Christ.

News from the Rockcastle Courthouse

Risk Management deadline unchanged FSA reporting deadline extended to August 2nd

John W. McCauley, USDA Kentucky Farm Service Agency (FSA) State Executive Director, announced an extension of the FSA acreage reporting deadline. Farmers and landowners have an additional 18 calendar days to submit their annual report of acreage to their local FSA county office with the deadline extended from Monday, July 15, 2013, to Friday, Aug. 2, 2013. Only the FSA reporting deadline has been extended. The acreage reporting requirement for crop insurance has not changed and remains July 15.

"We want to ensure our producers maintain their program benefits by filing their reports accurately and in a timely manner for all crops and land uses, including prevented and failed acreage," said McCauley. Accurate acreage reports are necessary to determine and maintain eligibility for various programs, such as the Direct and Counter-cyclical Program (DCP); the Average Crop Revenue Election Program (ACRE); the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP); and the Non-insured Crop Disaster Assistant Program (NAP).

Acreage reports for FSA are considered timely this year when filed at the county office by the new applicable final crop reporting deadline of Aug. 2, 2013. Producers should contact their county FSA office if they are uncertain about reporting deadlines.

While FSA is able to extend its deadline, Risk Management Agency (RMA) Administrator Brandon Willis emphasized today that RMA's acreage reporting date remains July 15, 2013, for most spring planted crops in the country. Farmers are reminded to report any loss within 72 hours of discovery to their insurance company. Farmers must report prevented planting acreage to their insurance company, in writing within 15 calendar days after the final planting date. Losses must be reported and an insurance adjuster must view and release the crop before the crop is destroyed. Farmers are also reminded to contact their insurance agent if they have any questions about coverage, prevented planting, or for reporting and processing a claim.

Crop insurance is sold and delivered solely through private crop insurance agents. Contact a local crop insurance agent for more information about the program. A list of crop insurance agents is available at all USDA Service Centers or on the RMA web site at www.rma.usda.gov/tools/agents/.

Producers also should visit their USDA Service Center to complete acreage reporting for FSA. For questions on this or any FSA program, producers should contact their FSA county office or seek information online at www.fsa.usda.gov.

Don't let a speech delay interfere with your goals

By: Shelby Newland

Kids who have speech delays, I want you to listen carefully to me. This speech is about how you can speak out, work hard in school and do activities in order to accomplish your goals. I know it will be hard, and you might have trouble, but you can make lots of friends and achievements. You have got to trust me, because I have a speech delay and I know how you feel.

Some kids are afraid to speak out. Speaking out is especially challenging for a kid with a speech delay. For example, when I was in first grade, I used to hide and not talk because I was shy about talking. I was shy because I was afraid someone might not understand me or make fun of me. I used to not have any friends because I would hide. When I realized i had no friends, I stopped hiding and made some. When I had a rough time, my friends would help me get through it. Finally, at the end of my first grade year, my friends gave me the courage to not be afraid and, most importantly, to do my best. It took me a while but I realized that I was not the only person in the world to have a problem speaking. In the Old Testament of the Holy Bible, it states that Moses was slow at talking. Moses had a speech impediment! He went to the Pharaoh of Egypt and said, "Let my people go!" He was not afraid to speak out. Also, Julie Roberts had a stuttering problem. She is a very successful female actress. Do you think she was afraid to speak out? Kids don't be afraid to speak out either!

Kids who have speech delays, why not work hard in school? In second grade, I was afraid to read out loud or talk to my friends. My first reading fluency test, I didn't get too far but when my friends gave me courage, through a pep talk, I did better. During my next fluency test, I got much farther. A person in history that proved working hard in school helps accomplish your goals is Helen Keller. She was a blind and deaf woman who studied hard in order to learn how to communicate with adults and children. She was 13-years-old before she learned how to speak, but when she was an adult, she went around the world (to 39 different countries to be exact) visiting disabled, deaf and blind children. She became a role model for those children and even for us today.

Some kids are afraid of doing activities like a speech contest or singing. When I was in fourth grade, I was afraid of doing the 4-H Speech Contest. I was afraid the judges wouldn't understand me. When I asked my friend if I should have done the speech contest, he said, "Shelby you should have done the speech contest. You can talk just fine. They could have heard you." I said, "I know, but I was just nervous." He replied, "After you work hard in school you can do anything." It is because of his encouragement that I am participating i this speech contest today.

Another activity I do is playing basketball. Guess what? You do have to talk in basketball! I have to call out the plays so my team will know where to go on the court and how to work together. If we don't work together, we can't win games. This a great activity, win or lose!

If you are not into sports, maybe you want to sing. Just work hard in school, speak out and you got it! Mel Tillis is a well-known country singer, who, you guessed it, has a speech problem. He stutters, but he also sings. He has performed in front of large groups of people on stage and on TV. He was not afraid to do an activity he enjoyed, so you don't have to be afraid to do activities either.

I have made many accomplishments by speaking out, working hard in school and doing activities. That makes me feel awesome and proud Who knows, you may finish speech lessons before I do. Kids don't let a speech delay interfere with your goals! One more thing -- keep trying!

Cain graduates from 2013 Rogers Scholars program

Rockcastle County High School student Rachel Cain graduated this summer from The Center for Rural Development's 2013 Class of Rogers Scholars.

Cain attended a one-week summer session of Rogers Scholars held for the first time on the campus of Lindsey Wilson College in Adair County. "Rogers Scholars has helped me develop leadership skills that I can use to better serve my community," said Cain. "The program also has given me the opportunity to get to know some amazing people that I now consider some of my closest friends."

The Rogers Scholars program provides leadership and exclusive college scholarship opportunities for rising high school juniors in Southern and Eastern Kentucky to realize their full potential as the region's next generation of leaders and entrepreneurs.

"This year's class of Rogers Scholars is an exceptional group of young leaders," said Delaney Stephens, community liaison and youth programs coordinator for The Center. "I have high hopes for all of them as they return to their hometowns in Southern and Eastern Kentucky. There is no limit on what these Scholars can do, and I look forward to seeing them develop into future business and civic leaders this region needs."

Rachel is the daughter of Lee and Marcia Cain.

For more information about Rogers Scholars, contact Delaney Stephens, community liaison and youth programs coordinator, at 606-677-6000 or email youth@centertech.com. Visit the website address, www.centeryouthprograms.com to learn more The Center's youth programs.

The Rogers Scholars program is provided free of charge to selected participants within The Center's 45-county primary service area and is operated solely on financial contributions and charitable donations.

The program, started in 1998, continues to pursue a goal set by U.S. Congressman Harold "Hal" Rogers (KY-05) that "no young person should have to leave home to find his or her future."

Graduates of the Rogers Scholars program earn access to exclusive scholarship offers from 18 partner colleges and universities.

Volunteers from 8 counties to be honored by KCEOC

Volunteers are a valuable resource to our communities. In an effort to recognize their hard work and dedication, KCEOC Community Action Partnership is inviting you to nominate a person you believe personifies the spirit of volunteerism for the "Helpful Hands, Hopeful Hearts" Volunteer of the Year Award.

The "Helpful Hands, Hopeful Hearts" Volunteer of the Year Award was created to recognize one individual in the Cumberland Valley Area Development District that has made a significant impact on our communities through his/her efforts as a volunteer. The nominee should demonstrate leadership in terms of challenging themselves and others and must live or volunteer in Bell, Clay, Harlan, Jackson, Laurel, Knox, Rockcastle or Whitley County.

The winner will be honored during the "Helpful Hands, Hopeful Hearts" award ceremony to be held at the Corbin Technology Center on November 23rd. Nominations can be online at www.povertyisreal.org or paper forms can be picked up at any KCEOC location. Paper forms can be mailed to: KCEOC Community Action Partnership, P.O. Box 490, Barbourville, Ky. 40906 Attn: "Helpful Hands, Hopeful Hearts" Selection Committee.

Nominations must be completed and returned by October 4th to ensure consideration.

BIG ON COMMITMENT.™

Zach Gentry won the Rick Anderkin Invitational Tournament this past weekend at Cedar Rapids shooting a total score of 140.

John W. McCauley, USDA Kentucky Farm Service Agency (FSA) State Executive Director, today announced that the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) will accept 1.7 million acres offered under the 45th Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) general sign-up. The Department received nearly 28,000 offers on more than 1.9 million acres of land, demonstrating CRP's continuing appeal as one of our nation's most successful voluntary programs for soil, water, and wildlife conservation. Under Vilsack's leadership, USDA has enrolled nearly 12 million acres in new CRP contracts since 2009. Currently, there are more than 26.9 million acres enrolled on 700,000 contracts.

CRP is a voluntary program that allows eligible landowners to receive annual rental payments and cost-share assistance to establish long-term, resource-conserving covers on eligible farmland throughout the duration of their 10 to 15 year contracts.

Under CRP, farmers and ranchers plant grasses and trees in fields and along streams or rivers. The plantings prevent soil and nutrients from washing into waterways, reduce soil erosion that may otherwise contribute to poor air and water quality, and provide valuable habitat for wildlife. In 2012, CRP helped to reduce nitrogen and phosphorous losses from farm fields by 605 million pounds and 121 million pounds respectively. CRP has restored more than two million acres of wetlands and associated buffers and reduces soil erosion by more than 300 million tons per year. CRP also provides $2.0 billion annually to landowners—dollars that make their way into local economies, supporting small businesses and creating jobs.

In addition, CRP sequesters more carbon dioxide than any other conservation program in the country, and also reduces both fuel and fertilizer use. Yearly, CRP results in carbon sequestration equal to taking almost 10 million cars off the road.

USDA selected offers for enrollment based on an Environmental Benefits Index (EBI) comprised of five environmental factors plus cost. The five environmental factors are: (1) wildlife enhancement, (2) water quality, (3) soil erosion, (4) enduring benefits, and (5) air quality.

Rick Anderkin Invitational held at Cedar Rapids

Brodhead Bengals Cheerleading sign-ups will be Thursday, August 1st at 6:30 p.m. at the new Brodhead Park.

Cheerleaders must be in 2nd - 5th grade.

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...
 What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
 Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
 A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
 B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
 The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufactures recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
 C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
 D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
 E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
 The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
 Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

An encouraging word:

Just Make Lemonade

By Howard Coop

On a beautiful spring morning, the telephone rang. I was expecting a call, but I was totally unprepared for the disappointing message that it brought. I was informed that I had been transferred to a new situation, which I expected, in place I had not expected. It was a bad way to begin a new day.

For a period, I had lived and worked in a stressful environment in which an entire community was torn apart by a bad situation in the local school system. I was hoping to be moved to a more pleasant and more peaceful environment, but I was informed that I was to move to a community that had an even greater notoriety. Because of that notoriety, it had received an abundance of national publicity. The county seat of the county to which I was scheduled to move had just been dubbed "Sin city USA" by LIFE magazine. I had no desire to live and work in that kind of environment, but that was where I was assigned to work.

With a heavy heart and many doubts, I spend the next few days preparing for the move. When the time came, the move was made. When we arrived at our new home, we were warmly greeted and graciously received by a wonderful group of caring and supporting people.

For four years, we lived and worked in that pleasant community. After fifty years, I remember the warm friendships that were established, and I look back upon those four years as one of the more pleasant and rewarding experiences of my career.

Life does not always give us what we want. Sometimes it gives us experiences that are unpleasant and faces us with situations we do not like. But it isn't what life gives us; it's how we react to, and what we do with, what life gives us. The old adage I have heard repeated all of my life says it well: "If someone gives you a lemon, just make lemonade."

Although Kentucky Utilities and Louisville Gas and Electric Company's power system continues to successfully meet customers' increased energy demand, the companies encourage customers to take simple energy efficiency steps to help lower energy consumption during a heat wave.

While record-breaking energy demand isn't forecast this week, KU reminds customers that taking steps to reduce energy use — particularly during the hottest parts of the day — can help the utility better manage peak load on its electric system.

"We always request that customers think about using energy wisely, but this becomes even more important during high energy use periods," said Chris Whelan, Vice President of Communications for LG&E and KU. "Our employees work hard to safely and reliably meet customers' energy needs around the clock, and we ask customers to partner with us in managing overall energy use during the continued heat wave."

As always, it is important for customers on critical life support to maintain a back-up source of energy at all times. Industrial customers should also take high temperatures into account when planning their production schedule.

Customers can help better manage energy demand by taking the following actions:

- Set air conditioners to the highest comfortable setting during the day: 78-80 degrees works for most people. In addition to helping LG&E and KU manage load, raising your air conditioner setting by one degree can save you 4-7 percent on the cooling portion of your energy bill.

- Turn off all unnecessary lights.

- Turn off all unnecessary appliances. If you must run your dishwashers, dryers and washing machines, do so during the evening hours (after 7 p.m.) when energy consumption is lower.

- Use ceiling fans to circulate the cool air. Fans do their jobs by cooling you — not the room, so turn them off when you leave the room. Window fans, ceiling fans or whole-house fans use much less power and are an alternative to air conditioners.

- Cook outdoors on your grill; use a microwave oven or crockpot or prepare cold meals.

The all-time LG&E and KU system peak energy use record occurred on Aug. 4, 2010, at 3 p.m., when customers demanded more than 7,175 megawatts of electricity. (One megawatt can power up to 720 households using an average of 1,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity each for one month).

Visit www.lge-ku.com/savingenergy for additional tips and information concerning energy efficiency programs.

DEBBIE'S POTATO SALAD

5 lbs. red skinned potatoes (chopped in large pieces)
3 or 4 stalks of celery (finely chopped)
1 or 2 small bunches scalions (green tops only - finely sliced)
16 oz. container sour cream
1 to 2 cups mayonnaise (depending on how wet you like it)
2 tablespoons whole celery seed
Salt to taste

Bring large pot of water to boil. Leave skin on potatoes, clean and cut off any bad spots, chop in large pieces and boil for 25 minutes. After potatoes cook, cool them either in the refrigerator or under cold water (water is much faster). Drain and place potatoes in very large bowl; slice up any large pieces while combining all ingredients well. Refrigerate for at least one hour then enjoy!

REGINA'S POTATO SALAD

5 medium-sized white potatoes
1 tablespoon dill pickle juice
1 to 2 tablespoons yellow mustard
1/3 to 1/2 cup Miracle Whip®
1/2 cup chopped sweet pickle
1/3 cup chopped onion

1/2 cup chopped dill pickle
2 hard boiled eggs, chopped
Salt
Scrub potatoes and place in large pan. Cover with cold water, add one teaspoon salt and boil in their jacket about 20 minutes or until fork tender. Drain and let cool until you can peel them without burning your hands. In a large bowl mix the dill pickle juice, mustard and Miracle Whip®. Dice the potatoes into the dressing. Add rest of ingredients and stir.

JEFF'S POTATO SALAD
8 medium white potatoes
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup white wine vinegar
1/2 cup vegetable oil
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 cup shredded parmesan or cheddar cheese
Wash potatoes. Cook the whole potatoes in boiling salted water until tender but still firm, about 20 minutes. Peel the potatoes while still warm and cut into slices. Place in a large bowl. In another bowl, combine the salt and vinegar. Mix until the salt dissolves. Add the oil and parsley and mix well. Pour over the potatoes and toss gently, but thoroughly, until all the liquid is absorbed. Sprinkle with cheese. Serve warm or room temperature.
