Local band holds free concert to celebrate release of their second album

By: Doug Ponder

A local Christian rock band held a free CD release concert for their second album last Thursday night at the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame in Mt. Vernon.

7eventh Time Down's new album "Just Say Jesus" was released on Tuesday in stores and online. Fans who attended the free CD release concert were able to purchase a CD before the album release date and have it autographed after the concert by band members: Mikey Howard (vocals and rhythm guitar), Eric VanZant (lead guitar), Cliff Williams (bass) and Austin Miller (drums).

The album contains ten songs, including the band's hit single "Just Say Jesus" which recently climbed into the top 20 on several different Christian music billboard charts.

7eventh Time Down vocalist and rhythm guitarist Mikey Howard said they are all excited to have finally become a mainstream Christian rock band after all their years of hard work. However, he said their main goal is not to only be a successful band but to more importantly spread the gospel of Jesus Christ.

"I think we would all be lying if we said we didn't want to be the biggest and best band in Christian music," Howard said. "But that's not our focus. Our focus will always remain on Jesus and we will continue to share His love, His message and His cross with everyone we come in contact with."

Howard said that he, Eric VanZant and Austin Miller started their first band in 1996, while students at Rockcastle County Middle School and that Cliff Williams joined the band once he moved to Mt. Vernon while they were students at Rockcastle County High School. He said their band broke up in high school and they were all members of different bands before reuniting after graduating high school.

"We all kind of bounced around in different bands in high school but after we all graduated we got back together," Howard said. "Every one of us had decided that the music ministry is what God wanted us to do so we all sold pretty much everything we had and

RCIDA discusses amended lease with SourceHOV

At Monday's meeting of the Rockcastle County Industrial Development Authority, the board discussed an amended lease with SourceHOV.

The original lease, signed with SourceCorp in August of 2009, contained a clause specifying that the company must employ 235 workers for a period of three years and levied a penalty if that goal were not met. There was also a rent credit in another clause providing that the goal of 235 employees plus 50 were met and sustained for one year.

Currently, RCIDA says that the goal was not met and the penalty to the company is between $50,000 and $60,000. However, the collection process has been going on for almost two years at this point.

SourceHOV, which is a global company, has asked that these clauses be removed from the amended lease and the square foot charge raised to offset this particular source of income to RCIDA. This is the only lease of its type in the company's global network and their accounting procedures are not set up to accommodate payment of the penalty.

At Monday's meeting, Executive Director Holly Hopkins was given the authority to negotiate the new monthly rental fee. The company currently pays $12.19 per sq. ft. or $25,395.83 per month. The entire amount is applied to the debt at Community Trust Bank for construction of the building.

RCIDA did agree to reimburse SourceHOV for $60,000 in alterations/improvements to the building required by federal regulations. The reimbursement will take the form of a $3,000 per month rent credit for 20 months and a start date of August 2015 for commencement of the rent credit was offered by

Saturday's storms puts brief damper on Livingston Homecoming

By: Doug Ponder

A severe storm system rolled through Rockcastle County last Saturday putting a brief damper on the activities during Livingston Homecoming.

Livingston Mayor Jason Medley said the high winds and heavy rains caused some of the spectators and vendors to leave early Saturday afternoon. He said a lot of vendors also lost merchandise and had their tents blown away in the storm.

Medley said they were fortunate that they didn't have to cancel any of the events and only had to postpone one event for thirty minutes. He said a lot of people returned for the festivities and live music once they saw that the homecoming events were continuing as planned.

"We only had to postpone the live music for about thirty minutes while

Brodhead man is renowned horse trainer

By: Kelsey Mattingly

On a small farm in Rockcastle County sits a riding barn and obstacle course where a Brodhead man, and former State Police officer, now full-time horse trainer, Gary Lane, says he is bringing in business and tourism to Rockcastle County that has benefited us in more ways than one.

With his success and experience at Windswept Stables, in the southwest area of the county, Lane said he has been able to attract horses and their riders from all over the world. He said that training horses and working with Calvary Officers in the State Police has allowed him to become a certified Natural Horsemanship Clinician, who works to train riders as well as their horses.

Whether he is inviting in newcomers and their horses to experience our abundance of beautiful farmland or traveling the world and expanding his business, Lane is one busy man who has proven that you can do whatever you are passionate about with a "little help from the Lord and a really good horse."

Having hosted clinics in states such as Tennessee, Indiana, Ohio, and several New England states, Lane said that Rockcastle County is by far the most beautiful place to train.

"I've trained horses in all the United States, including other countries. You will be hard pressed to find a prettier place than Rockcastle County," Lane said. "We just take it for granted because we see it every day. For example, the Red Hill Horse Camp is a beautiful place to experience Rockcastle County."

"Students that come to our county always have good

By Ike Adams

I need to find me one of those tee-shirts, or maybe a sweat shirt, or maybe both, that has emblazoned in big bold letters, front and back, the following message:

I DARE YOU TO ASK ME ABOUT MY GRANDKIDS.

Because I figure that if you ask first I won't feel guilty about bringing up the subject of one or the other of them in the middle of any conversation about any other subject.

For example, you might ask me what I think about Obama Care and I'd probably respond by saying, "let me tell you about the trick Tyler pulled in his tee-ball game last Thursday."

Or you might ask what I think we ought to do to the tyrants in Syria and I'll say, "Well, I asked my two-year old granddaughter if she could count to ten and she said yep, uno, dos, tress, cuarto, sinco, sies, siete, ocho, nueve, diez." I swear to you that happened a couple of weeks ago when my daughter, Geneva Marie (Genny) her husband, Scott Tesh and their three kids, Mazzen, Ramzy and Isabel (Izzy) were here for a visit from Houston.

The woman who runs Izzy's day-care place speaks Spanish so the kid is going to be bi-lingual before she's in kindergarten. In the meantime, back to Tyler.

Daughter Jennifer and her husband, Kevin Ochs, live in Richmond and they have two boys. If you read this column regularly, you already know all about preschooler, Tyler Kane, better known in this space as TKO and our exploits on behalf of the American Diabetes Association. Big brother, second grader, Braden, gets short shrift in the press but even he would not want the attention if it meant being afflicted with juvenile diabetes and the blood tests and insulin injections his little brother has to deal with 24-7.

Both of the Ochs boys are on fall baseball teams. Dad, Kevin is a coach on both teams. Mom leads the cheerleading squad consisting of Grandmas Peggy and Loretta and Grandpa Ike. So I don't suppose I need to tell you that all of us will be at the Lake Reba athletic fields, there in Richmond, every Tuesday and Thursday night until the end of September. I'd rather be there than in the dugout at a Red's game because it's far more entertaining.

In Braden's league, the players have to hit pitched balls--pitched by Coach Dad—whose earnest desire is that every kid on the team gets a hittable pitch every time the ball crosses the plate. But there's still a lot of strike outs. On the other hand, there's a lot of fielding errors so making contact with the ball usually put the batter on base. This is not just Grandpa bragging here. Braden knocks the fire out of that ole ball and he can haul his little behind around the base path.

Tyler's league, of course, hits the ball off a stationary "tee", usually into the infield where up to a dozen fielders try to pounce on it at the same time. But no matter where the ball is hit, the batter only gets to take one base unless he or she is the last batter at the bottom of the inning, in which case it's an automatic home run unless, by some rare occurrence, the ball is actually fielded and he gets tagged out.

That's the situation TKO found himself in last Thurs-

Tabletop Jukeboxes

Remember the table-top jukeboxes that we fed our allowances to when we were beginning our teenage years? I recently read an article on the internet about how popular these nickel-eating machines were in the late 50's and early 60's. The story explained: "We put our nickels in the machine, and our songs played on the main jukebox in the back of the room."

First of all, the story reminded me of the financial times of those two decades when you could cough up a quarter and hear six songs of your choice. Today in some restaurants and bars, the jukeboxes are the new-fangled types with a touchscreen which allows for browsing through a vast library of artists and songs. The cost for two songs in these present establishments is a whopping $1.00. Some of the more popular songs actually cost a dollar just to play alone. Most of those same songs can be downloaded from the internet for 99 cents, enabling you to have them available for life. One guy in the article noted, "I love rock and roll but not enough to pay a dollar per song." I emphatically agree.

My first memory of a tabletop jukebox was at Kelsey's Restaurant on Main Street in Mt. Vernon when I was just twelve years of age. Kelsey's was our favorite hangout when we were merely beginning to listen to rock and roll music. Those were the days of Elvis, Roy Orbison, Jerry Lee Lewis, The Platters, Johnny Mathis, Buddy Holly, and even Pat Boone.

Rock music was just getting a strong-hold on teenagers, and our desire to hear and be a part of the music was overpowering. We pooled our allowances and took turns selecting our favorite artists, collectively listening while hanging out in one of our favorite spots. During that time, we ate potato chips (dipped in catsup) and washed them down with those classic bottles of Coke. On rare occasions, we moved en masse to the back of the eating establishment and danced to our music.

Jukeboxes were most popular from the 1940s through the mid-60s, particularly during the 1950s. The popularity of jukeboxes is often associated with early rock and roll music. The displays of bright lights with the color animation made them a hit with our age group. It was from jukeboxes that we often heard the newest songs first. The machines were programmed to record the number of times a song was selected. It was one of the first means of recognizing the true popularity of rock and roll music. It was the Seeburg Corporation that introduced an all 45-rpm vinyl jukebox in 1950, which led to the 45-rpm record becoming the dominant jukebox media for the last half of the 20th century.

Some of my friends and I took note of the days when the jukebox man was scheduled to come by to change out the records. He often gave us the scratched records which he needed to replace because of their condition. To us, that was a real treat. We took them home and played them on our own hi-fis. Free records were not easy to find, and we took advantage of his generosity. Some of those records had so many scratches that we could hardly recognize the songs. But we didn't care—we listened anyway. It was rock and roll!

For some of us who were there, Buddy Holly and The Platters will never sound as good as they did when they were blasting from the huge speakers of a jukebox. By 1956, there were approximately 750,000 jukeboxes swallowing nickels in the United States. It was the place to find the hits we wanted to hear. In Rockcastle County those unique places included: Kelsey's, The Dinner Bell, and (of course) Hamm's Drive-In. We kept the roads hot between these teenage hangouts.

By the late 50s, most of us had purchased our own stereo systems and our own 45 rpm records. It was then that we began to congregate at our parents' various homes in order to listen to our music and to dance. But we all got our start listening to our favorite jukeboxes. Some of us can still picture the fabulous Wurlitzers,

By:
Rick Branham

Last week the question was about station uniforms and how much heat they were to withstand for a 5 minute period. I gave you 4 choices as answers for the question. Did you guess correctly? The answer is 500 degrees. According to the National Fire Protection Association or NFPA 1975, the Standard on Station/Work/Uniforms for Fire and Emergency Services, requires that no garment will ignite, melt, drip or separate when exposed to heat at 500 degrees for 5 minutes.

Before I move on to the pants of the turnout gear, I need to mention the protective hood we wear. The protective hood or what is usually referred to as a Nomex hood, protects the firefighters ears neck and face. It is generally referred to as a Nomex hood because that is the material it is commonly made from. However it can be made from Kevlar, PBI or other fire resistant material. Protective hoods are used in conjunction with a self-contained breathing apparatus or SCBA face piece. Once the face piece is on the hood goes over your head for protection. Hoods come in a variety of colors and firefighters often purchase one that go with their own style.

Turnout pants or bunker pants are made the same as turnout coats. They have the 3 barriers just as the turnout coat does. Bunker pants come with suspenders that help hold up the pants. New bunker pants are now coming with a belt around the waist and some firefighters are opting not to wear suspenders and rely on the belt. Bunker pants can come with options as well. You can have lumbar support added to help support your back. Typically bunker pants come with a pocket on each leg to store gear in but you can opt to get a pocket at your ankle to store a tool or two. While I was at the academy in Lexington, I was told by a Battalion Chief to fill your pockets because you never know what you are going to need. The Battalion Chief has since retired but I still have my pockets full.

A couple of other pieces complete the turnout gear ensemble. First is the hand protection or gloves. The most important part of a structural firefighting glove is that they provide protection against heat, steam or cold and they are resistant to cuts, punctures and liquid absorption. Another glove that I use is a rescue glove. I

Card of Thanks

Timothy Martin

To One In Sorrow
Let me come in where you are weeping, friend,
And let me take your hand.
I, who have known a sorrow such as yours,
Can understand.
Let me come in -- I would be very still
Beside you in your grief;
I would not bid you cease your weeping, friend,
Tears can bring relief.
Let me come in -- I would only breathe a prayer,
And hold your hand,
For I have known a sorrow such as yours,
And understand.

The Family of Timothy Martin wishes to thank all the friends and family for the acts of kindness you showed us in the loss of our loved one. Signature HealthCARE is proud to announce that Rockcastle Health and Rehabilitation Center has earned a five-star ranking from the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS).

Under CMS' five-star rating system, nursing homes are assessed in three main categories: health inspections, quality measures and staffing. A five-star ranking is the highest score a nursing home can receive. Only ten percent of facilities fall into this category.

Facility Administrator, Steven Cook, states, "I would like to thank all of our department heads and stakeholders for their continued dedication and hard work. It isn't always easy work but it is always rewarding."

Our stakeholders, residents and families are honored to receive this distinguished recognition. We will continue to strive to give Quality Care, Close to Home.

Recent upgrades to boat dock are a welcome sight...

Dear Editor,

I want to congratulate the City of Mt. Vernon, Mayor Bryant, and the new operators of the boat dock, Teresa and Lester Radcliff on the recent improvements to the Lake Linville area. I have lived at the lake for over fifteen years and have always thought it was an under utilized resource for Rockcastle County.

The recent upgrades to the parking facilities at the boat dock, the beautiful new restaurant and in particular, the improvements to the playground are a welcome sight. I have seen many parents with their children at the new playground and my grandson loves to play basketball at the recently installed basketball goal which was donated by the Rockcastle Kiwanis club.

Lake Linville is a beautiful resource for all of us and I am very pleased that Mt. Vernon is taking steps to keep it that way. I encourage everyone to come out and enjoy our own little bit of heaven.

Dr. Larry R. Smith

Pleased with progress toward activities for children...

Dear Editor,

As a parent of a child who is less than 4 years-old, I would like to point out a relatively small but significant change in our community that I hope points toward even more progress. I am very pleased to note, after living in Mount Vernon for several years, progress toward providing activities for our children.

The construction of a new boat playground near Lake Linville was a brilliant idea. It is a valuable addition to the community, especially for those of us who have no extended family in this county and who have little children not yet of school age. Since the construction of the playground, the number of parents bringing their children to the new facility to play outside has increased dramatically. It is a great place for social interaction for the children and for mutual parental support. I have spoken with many parents since the addition of the new play area and they are uniformly complimentary of the changes. Children too often are forgotten in the search for progress.

I would like to thank Mount Vernon Mayor Mike Bryant for making it possible for our children to have a new and safe place to play and I, like many parents, am looking forward to more additions to the community that will benefit our little ones. Thank you, Mayor Bryant for your leadership and service to our community.

Sincerely,
Silvia Coldiron

day evening. Bases loaded. Tyle ris the last batter. Grandpa yells, “kill that ole ball TKO!! You da man!!” The Grandmas plead, “you can do it Tyler” and clap their hands.

My champ stands away from the tee, takes a few practice cuts, steps back up to the tee and scowls until the ball has been properly stared down. And then he connects with the ball on his first mighty swing. The ball has not been hit this hard all evening and it goes though the defense like a bullet through a hornets’ nest.

“Run Tyler! RUN! RUN! RUN!” But TKO needs no encouragement. He’s off like as shot. He passes the first of his fellow base runners at second and picks up speed. He passes the next one just after rounding third. If he’d had another three steps he would have beat the whole pack home.

Okay, I admit that this was not in strict adherence to the rules of the game but hey, it’s tee ball for crying out loud and they don’t keep score so what are they gonna do? I give the kid two thumbs up. Tyler grins and nods his head and mouths, “I know.” And I’m thinking that life doesn’t get much better than this.

Coming next week, The Lone Star Kids raid Paint Lick.

“On Call”

use these gloves in vehicle accidents or rope rescue. These gloves do not provide the same protection as structural firefighting gloves but they do provide protection from cuts and punctures. They allow for more dexterity and tactile feel of the tools. This is important when you are tying a knot in a rope or making a cut on a vehicle.

The last piece of the puzzle is the foot protection and is one of the most important pieces. You can imagine what we as firefighters walk and step on during a structure fire. There is fallen debris, glass, nails and copious amounts of water on the floor. There are 2 styles a firefighter can wear, leather or rubber. Rubber boots are the more traditional style and are very reliable however leather boots are now very popular amongst firefighters. Leather boots are more comfortable than rubber. If you are going to be at a structure fire scene for hours you definitely want your feet to be comfortable. While you are in the academy at Lexington you are issued a pair of rubber boots because it is tradition. While rubber boots are comfortable, they are not as comfortable as leather boots. At least in my opinion. Both styles provide the same protection. They must keep your feet dry and protect you from burns, punctures, cuts and crushing injuries. The boots have a steel plate on the bottom to protect you from these injuries.

Well that is the complete turnout gear worn for structural firefighting. Other types of turnout gear include wildland, aircraft firefighting, hazardous materials and technical rescue gear. Personal protective equipment is designed for a specific purpose. You would not want to wear structural turnout gear to fight a wildland fire or wear a hazardous materials suit for technical rescue.

Next week I am going to discuss the Self Contained Breathing Apparatus or SCBA. I am also going to talk about some of the atmosphere we encounter in a structure fire. For this week’s question let’s focus on an SCBA question. Brodhead uses Scott air packs as our primary SCBA. The cylinders on our air packs are designed to hold how many minutes of air? Is it 20 minutes, 30 minutes, 45 minutes or 60 minutes? The answer next week.

True Southern Exposure Answering the Call

Submitted By:
Melinda Alcorn

I am proud to be a part of Rockcastle County. We have some amazing people who live in these parts. In recognition of a few, here is an update on the goings on with ASPI and the Mt. Vernon Community Garden.

The ASPI 2013 Summer Youth Internship Program second session has come to an end. The youth participants set out on a journey and made some huge accomplishments. They showed work ethic in all they did and I hope had some fun while participating. We learned much from having them around and their impact was a lasting positive one.

The youth contributed to the Community Garden, helped with the Sunflower Forest, dedicated to Leon Davidson and Allen Pensol. They experienced vending at the local Farmer's Market. Trips were taken to Grow Appalachia sites at Grimaldo Farm, Berea College and Laurel County African-American Heritage Center. During these trips, the students were exposed to cultural diversity.

Best practices for gardening and significance of cover crops, were accentuated along with different methods and perspectives on farming and community gardens.

The importance of buy local campaigns was discussed. The Internship program provided firsthand experience working inside the non-profit world. Weeding and weed control methods were explored. Plant diversity and the benefits of such were covered. The students learned and repeated work on trellising, including the Florida Weave for Tomatoes, tee pees and support systems in place. Some of the youth canned and preserved food. The students worked with peers and Centre College interns. ASPI and Grow Appalachia would like to thank The RCHS staff and the Board of education for getting behind this program and making it a huge success.

In other ASPI news, a special shout out to Jack Weaver, Chris Mason, and Mayor Jason Medley for organizing an event for the Mt. Vernon Community Garden. Thanks to all who came out August 22nd to turn the shed; it was a sight to behold, with the cooperation of the Livingston and Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue Squads plus a few other emergency responders. Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue broke out the Jaws of Life and the men worked as a team to turn the shed now facing in the correct position for the roof to receive southern light exposure. We are ready for Josh Bills, of MACED, to install the solar panel.

To round out the update, we were happy to host the Rockcastle Garden Club's August 26th meeting. I was impressed and honored to have them at the Mt. Vernon Community Garden. Great conversations exist among such good people. Sheila Neal even prepared a beautiful dish on the spot. She gave us the pleasure to smell and taste a wonderful summer tomato salad. We cleansed our pallet with cake afterwards.

We are blessed to have a few thriving local business people as long time supporters: Lester Kirby's Tree Service, Lone Star, Dogwood Gifts and Garden, and Collins Backhoe and Hauling. Thanks for making our soil rich.

Ever notice how being around positive people is uplifting? If that is true then so is the opposite. Surround yourself with people that have pure intentions. Let us be the encouragers for the best tomorrow we can imagine.

Join us on Face book; Rockcastle Garden Club and Mt. Vernon Community Garden.

Bible Talk

In our study this month we want to discuss 3 texts, Isaiah 6, Ezekiel 1; and Revelation 4-5. What they have in common is that they are throne scenes of God.

The Assyrian Threat - The context of time for Isaiah 6 is the problem of the mighty Assyrian nation looming as a conquering people. No doubt folks were apprehensive about this powerful nation that was defeating nation after nation. Isaiah was allowed to see a great vision in chapter 6: "In the year that king Uzziah died I saw also the Lord sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up, and his train filled the temple. Above it stood the seraphims: each one had six wings; with twain he covered his face, and with twain he covered his feet, and with twain he did fly. And one cried unto another, and said, Holy, holy, holy, is the LORD of hosts: the whole earth is full of his glory." Did Isaiah see the mighty Assyrian king on his throne? No. He saw Jehovah on the throne for God is in control of the world we live in.

The Babylonian Threat - Ezekiel had been carried away into Babylonian captivity with the second group that Nebuchadnezzar had taken away. When Ezekiel was allowed to see a great vision, what did he see? Nebuchadnezzar in all his regal glory and power? No. "And I looked, and, behold, a whirlwind came out of the north, a great cloud, and a fire infolding itself, and a brightness was about it, and out of the midst thereof as the color of amber, out of the midst of the fire... As the appearance of the bow that is in the cloud in the day of rain, so was the appearance of the brightness round about. This was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of Jehovah. And when I saw it, I fell upon my face, and I heard a voice of one that spake." Ezk.1:4, 28. Ezekiel saw Jehovah on the throne, Jehovah is in control of the world in which we live.

The Roman Threat - When John lived in the first century, the Roman emperors were the people to be feared. Some of them caused great persecutions to come upon the saints of God. When John was given a vision in Revelation 4-5, what did he see? Nero in his glory and power? No. He saw God on the throne in chapter 4, and Jesus at the right hand of God, chapter 5. No matter what the devil may hurl at the people of God, we have nothing to fear for God is on the throne. "So that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me." Heb.13:6.

We invite you to study and worship with us at the Providence church of Christ.

Our Time of Services:

Sunday 10am Bible Study, Worship 10:40 & 6:00pm; Wednesday 7:00pm.

Rockets fall to West Jessamine in Jamboree Bowl

By: Doug Ponder

The Rockcastle County Rockets football team lost to the West Jessamine Colts last Friday night 48-19 in the annual Jamboree Bowl.

Last Friday's game was the second straight year the Rockets have lost in the Jamboree Bowl and it was only the third time in the bowl's 23 year history that the Rockets lost the bowl game.

The Rockets outgained their opponent on offense with a total of 405 yards to the Colts 346. However, their inability to get the ball into the end zone would prove to be the deciding factor in the loss as they failed to score on three different occasions while they were inside their opponent's 20 yard line.

Head Coach Scott Parkey said the loss was disheartening for him and his team as they outgained their opponent in total yards on offense but still lost the game due primarily to not being able to push the ball over while deep in West Jessamine's territory.

"We were inside the red zone several times and came out empty. We can't miss opportunities like that to score on offense and expect to win games," Parkey said. "We have been working all week on our red zone offense to correct this problem. I believe it will turn around though and everything will click within the next few weeks."

Parkey said his staff had a good defensive plan going into the game and that he thought the players did a good job executing the plan. However, Parkey said several missed tackles, bad reads and blown opportunities for turnovers hurt them as the game continued.

"The defense played great but they struggled on stopping them on third and long when we had their backs against the wall," Parkey said. "We also dropped a couple of interceptions for touchdown opportunities as well. Momentum swings like that can be huge and we will be working in practice on taking advantage of turnover

Offensively, the Rockets were led by senior quarterback Corey McPhetridge who was 27 of 43 passing for 293 yards and one touchdown with one interception.

Junior Chance Ansardi led the Rockets in rushing with 60 yards and one touchdown. Junior Isaiah Adams rang up 38 yards, senior Jacob Bussell got 9 yards with one touchdown and senior Brandon Jones had 5 yards.

Senior John Hughes had a record-breaking night offensively as he tied the school record for most receptions in a game with 11 catches for 159 yards and one touchdown. Former Rocket receiver Josh Hale previously held the record with 11 receptions in a game.

Other Rockets making catches were senior Tyler Harper with six receptions for 78 yards, senior Brandon Jones with five catches for 35 yards and freshman Chayse McClure with four catches for 22 yards.

Defensively, the Rockets were led by Bussell with a total of eight tackles and one sack. Senior Jared Lake also had a big night on defense with a total of seven tackles and one sack.

Other Rockets picking up tackles and assists were Ansardi with seven, Adams with six, McClure and Jones with three each. Hughes, junior Kyle Denney and senior Koty Bengue were all credited with two tackles each and senior R.C. Kirby got one.

The Rockets will travel to London on Friday night to take on the South Laurel Cardinals. Kick-off is at 7:30 p.m.

Parkey said the Cardinals have improved from previous years under the leadership of their new head coach Matt Rymer.

"Rymer is their new coach and he is working hard to change the culture of the football program at South Laurel," Parkey said. "They run option and power plays well. Their defensive line is really good and will present our offensive line with their biggest challenge so far this season. We will have to win the battle in the trenches to come out with a win."

Senior quarterback Corey McPhetridge throws a pass to junior fullback Chance Ansardi during last Friday night's 48-19 loss to West Jessamine in the annual Jamboree Bowl. McPhetridge led the Rockets offense was 27 of 43 passing for 293 yards and one touchdown with one interception. Ansardi led the Rockets in rushing with 60 yards and one touchdown.

Senior defensive back John Hughes prepares to tackle a Colt receiver during last Friday night's loss to West Jessamine. Hughes had three tackles on defense and a record breaking night offensively as he tied the school record for most receptions in a game with 11 catches for 159 yards and one touchdown.

Senior Brandon Jones brings down a Colt running back during last Friday night's 49-19 loss to West Jessamine. Jones had three tackles on defense and five catches for 35 yards on offense.

The RCHS marching band kept fans entertained during last Friday night's game against West Jessamine. The band also performed their "Flight" show at half-time which is a collection of original compositions based on melodic representations of the act of flying.

Archery hunting for deer begins Sept. 7th

Kentucky's 2013-14 deer season opens on Saturday, Sept. 7, the first day of the 136-day archery season. The season continues through Monday, Jan. 20, 2014.

For the past three seasons, record harvests have been posted for the month of September: 5,577 deer in 2012, 4,945 in 2011 and 4,407 in 2010.

"Even though weather conditions aren't always ideal in September, there are some advantages to early season hunting," said Tina Brunjes, deer program coordinator for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Most deer, even mature bucks, are still in their summer pattern when bow season opens. They are more visible during daylight hours than later in the season and their daily movements are more predictable. Deer frequent crop fields and weedy pastures in the Senior receiver Tyler Harper reaches out for a McPhetridge pass while battling with a West Jessamine defender. Harper had six receptions for 78 yards in the game.

Senior running back Jacob Bussell outran a host of West Jessamine defenders during last Friday night's 48-19 loss in the Jamboree Bowl. Bussell rushed for 9 yards with one touchdown and led the Rockets on defense with a total of eight tackles and one sack.

“Deer”

late afternoons, especially when the rising moon is high in the sky at dusk. In September, these quarter moon periods fall on the 12th and 26th of the month.

The current statewide population estimate for Kentucky's deer herd is about 750,000, before fawning, with a stable to slightly decreasing trend. "Hunters who are monitoring trail cameras or spending time observing deer in the afternoons realize it has been a good year for deer reproduction and survival," said Brunjes. Heavy rains in the spring and early summer created lots of food and escape cover for deer.

The outlook for deer season is excellent, but ultimately the weather during modern gun season in November has the biggest impact on overall harvest.

Last season's deer harvest was the highest on record. Deer hunters reported taking 131,395 deer, a 9.8 percent increase from the 2011-2012 season. "A higher percentage of our hunters were successful," said Brunjes. "The record harvest was opportunity driven. They saw deer and they took them."

The 2012-13 harvest included 42 reported entries, 31 typical and 11 non-typical, into the Boone & Crockett Club record book. These record deer came from 35 of Kentucky's 120 counties.

Counties are assigned a zone status which affects season lengths and bag limits. Kentucky is divided into four deer management zones.

The management strategy for Zone 1 is herd reduction. For Zone 2 and 3 counties, herd maintenance is the goal. Increasing the herd is the aim for Zone 4 counties. This season there were no changes in the zone status for any of Kentucky's 120 counties.

Overall age structure of the harvest indicates that the majority of hunters are recognizing and passing up male fawns. Most antlered bucks taken in the 2012-2013 season were 2 1/2 years old or older. The female harvest was also primarily comprised of adults, rather than fawns or yearlings.

In the past decade, the Zone 1 counties in northern Kentucky have experienced the most herd growth. "Populations took off in the late 1990s and have remained high," said Brunjes.

Hunters who would like to donate venison should visit the Kentucky Hunters For the Hungry website at www.huntersforhungry.org for the list 57 processors who are accepting deer.

"This is our 13th season of providing nutritious venison to needy Kentucky families," said Ivan Schell, KHFH Executive Director. "The 70,000 pounds of venison processed annually provides about 500,000 meals."

KHFH pays for the processing and hunters who donate a deer receive a car sticker confirming their "doe-nation."

late afternoons, especially when the rising moon is high in the sky at dusk. In September, these quarter moon periods fall on the 12th and 26th of the month.

The current statewide population estimate for Kentucky's deer herd is about 750,000, before fawning, with a stable to slightly decreasing trend. "Hunters who are monitoring trail cameras or spending time observing deer in the afternoons realize it has been a good year for deer reproduction and survival," said Brunjes. Heavy rains in the spring and early summer created lots of food and escape cover for deer.

The outlook for deer sea-

Hello people! My name is Sasha and I am a female Blue Heeler mix. I was picked up as a drop out and I am now searching for a new home. I am very easy going and friendly with everyone I meet and I would make a wonderful lifelong companion for any type of household. (kennel 16)

Hi everyone. My name is Sadie and I am a Walker Coonhound. I am very heavy with pups and I will be having them before long and I am really excited about that. One thing I'm not so excited about is that I don't have them a home to call there own. I have been trying to find a rescue organization that will take me and my soon to be family but I cant find one that has room for us. Maybe someone out there reading this will open their heart to my babies and I and give us a chance to show you how loving and grateful we can be. Contact the shelter @ 256-1833. (kennel 19)

FFA attends Kentucky Leadership Training

Submitted by:
Tiffany Bowman
On, July 1st, the Rockcastle County FFA Chapter officers and assistants traveled to Breckenridge County to the Kentucky Leadership Training Center. Every year, for one week of the summer,

County was one of the chapters chosen to pre-side over a camp meeting one night, and they done an outstanding job. Congratulations to Kayla, Tiffany, Eric, and the rest of the chapter.

Ag. Teachers take many students to camp to teach them valuable skills, such as leadership, which they can carry home to the chapter for the year. This year, everyone had a blast, competing in athletics, making new friends, taking fun and helpful classes, and even competing in some competitions.

At the very beginning of the week, a camp counsel is chosen, and Kayla Reynolds was chosen as the Sentinel for the week. Not only that, but she was recognized as being an outstanding leader. Too, while at camp, Kayla Reynolds was chosen to be on the all-star basketball team, while Tiffany Bowman was chosen to be on the all-star volleyball team as well.

Eric Bullock competed in the camp quiz contest, where he placed second overall. Along with these achievements, Rockcastle Kayla Reynolds was chosen as camp counsel sentinel.

The master plan was funded by a grant from the Appalachia Regional Commission. Vitalize Mt. Vernon Manager, Lynn Tatum applied for the grant and the city was the fiscal agent. comments on the cooking and how beautiful Rockcastle County is,” Lane said of the tourists and riders he’s attracted. He also commends the county leaders for working to clean up the area.

“Brodhead, Livingston, and Mt. Vernon have accomplished huge strides in making the county more appealing to the eye for tourist to see and enjoy.” All in all, Lane sees nothing but positives for Rockcastle County.

Lane said his work is putting Rockcastle County not only on the Kentucky and U.S. maps, but the world-wide spectrum as well. Lane mentioned that last year, he had the opportunity to welcome Dr. Alex Virgolici from the Romania riding team to our county, as well as students from Germany, Canada, Netherlands, England, France and Israel. He’s also had the honor of working with specialists such as Dr. Marty Langhofer, the best equine dentist in the United States and Europe, from South Bend, Indiana.

Lane said his business has helped to benefit our county by welcoming “80 students this year who have rented motel rooms and enjoyed good home cooking at local restaurants.” He said his training business has attracted tourists and riders alike, drawing attention to Rockcastle from all people inwalks of the world.

Adding to Lane’s great successes in the horse training industry, he has authored a book entitled, “Training the Gaited Horse: From the Trail to the Rail.” It is the best-selling gaited horse book in the U.S. and Europe, Lane said, with Israel and then Canada being his best-selling countries.

Lane said he is also quite proud of two new products, one being the Lady Light Saddle—a saddle specially designed to fit the body type of women—and the other, New Freedom Bits.

“I’m very proud of the new Freedom Bits and the Lady Light Saddle, Lane said. “Both patents are pending but the cool thing is they were invented here in Rockcastle County,”

It’s clear that Lane has had a passion for horses from an early age and has achieved success doing what he loves most, all the while helping Rockcastle County bring in a diversified group of people who can now experience all that we have to offer.

You can contact Gary Lane about training for your own horse via his website, www.windsweptstables.net and see more information about his products at www.nationalbridle.com.

bought a van to tour in. God provided for us and the rest is history. God is faithful.”

Howard said they came up with the band’s name “7eventh Time Down” from a popular verse of the Bible in 2 Kings Chapter 5.

“2 Kings Chapter 5 tells a story about the redemptive healing work of God when we submit to His will,” Howard said. “In verse 14 the Bible says that on Naaman’s seventh time down he came up clean, so we came up with the name 7eventh Time Down.”

After creating the band, Howard said all four of them were originally focused on what God wanted them to do as His servants. However, he said they all soon became focused on only getting a record deal and that they almost disbanded as a result.

“At some point after our founding everything became about getting a record deal and that is when we almost quit,” Howard said. “We all sat down together and decided that if we were going to do this that it was going to be for God’s glory and not ours. It wasn’t until then that the record deals and tours started to happen.”

The band released their first album “Alive in You” in 2011. The album included hit singles “Alive in You,” “What About Tonight” and “Jesus Machine.” During the tour for their first album, 7eventh Time Down toured with the Newsboys, King and Country, KJ-52, Manifest, Fireflight, Stellar Kart and many other notable Christian music artists.

7eventh Time Down kicked off their new album “Just Say Jesus” tour on August 3rd at the Belfry KJ Pneumafest in Belfry, Kentucky and the tour will end on November 3rd at the Star 883 event in South Bend, Indiana.

During their 22 concert tour dates, the band will play alongside other popular Christian music artists including Matthew West, Switchfoot, Third Day, Abandon, Ryan Stevenson, Sanctus Real, KJ-52, Disciple, Toby Mac and Jeremy Camp.

Howard said that touring and spending time on the road causes a lot of different emotions for all of them. But at the end of the day, he said the sacrifices they make are worth it to them.

“It is often exciting but stressful and depressing at the same time as we all miss our family and friends back home,” Howard said. “Life on the road has all kinds of different emotions. Sometimes we drive 15 hours to play for 15 minutes in hopes that someone will accept Jesus Christ as their Lord and Savior. This is what it is all about for us and it’s the core reason why we do what we do.”

Pine Hill Baptist Church had their “It’s All About Jesus” float in the Livingston Homecoming parade last Saturday. Homecoming organizers have already projected this year’s parade and festivities to be the largest ever in the annual event’s 29 year history.

Three people were injured and one person had to be extricated by Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue after a two car collision last Saturday morning on Hwy 25 near the 59 exit in Mt. Vernon. Authorities say Lorene Ponder, 78, of Mt. Vernon was exiting off southbound I-75 and attempting to turn south onto Hwy 25 when she pulled out into the path of Dustin Cromer, 21, of Mt. Vernon who was traveling north on Hwy 25. Ponder’s female juvenile passenger and Cromer were transported by ambulance to Rockcastle Reional Hospital where they were treated and later released. Ponder was flown to the UK Medical Center where she is currently being treated for serious injuries.

In other business, Hopkins told the board that the chance for a $350,000 grant for the proposed Rockcastle County Food Hub looks good. The grant would be from the Kentucky Department of Agriculture and will be awarded through Growing Warriors and ASPI. The executive director also told the board that she was presently working to find a site suitable for a distribution center in the county which, if built here, would bring an additional 40 new jobs to the county.

Hopkins also reported that a decision would be made shortly by Anchor Packaging on which facility to install a new multi-million dollar piece of machinery they have purchased. Hopkins said she “thinks it is coming here,” which would help to boost employment numbers at the company. She said that Anchor has recently assured her that “everything was fine.”

we fixed the main tent and sound system,” Medley said. “We were ready to rock and roll after we beat the pins back down on the tent and blew the sound systems out. Then a lot of people came back, once they saw the tent was fixed and the music started back up again.”

Despite the storm, Medley went on to say that homecoming organizers have already projected this year’s homecoming to be one of the largest ever in its 29 year history.

“We had over 300 people come to see the famous Moron Brothers Saturday night and all the other events had a lot of people at them as well even though there was bad weather at times,” Medley said. “Everyone seemed to be having a great time at the events and having a great time reminiscing with each other. That’s what the homecoming is all about.”

Yards to Paradise

By Max Phelps
Consider a Pond
in Your Yard

Over time fashions come and go. In the world of pond ownership, the invention of biofalls units and the no-fuss skimmer was a game changer. This allowed ponds to come into vogue. Lovely, natural looking, water gardens have added a whole new landscape dimension to more than a few yards. Ponding has become a relaxing lifestyle.

Studies have shown a correlation between soothing sounds of water and more peaceful and civilized behavior among people. Better health from a relaxing environment would be one good reason to consider a pond at your place.

There is beauty in a quality water feature. People travel great distances to visit famous waterfalls around the nation and the world. It is possible to have this beautiful environment, on a smaller scale perhaps, in your home landscape.

Value is added to a property beyond the cost of the installation with a pristine appearing, well designed and properly functioning pond, stream or waterfall.

A small rubber lined 500 gallon pond of recirculating water, an energy efficient pump, a couple waterfalls and a short stream to tie them together and give birds a shallow bathing area, plus some attractive plants and a few fish is all the average pond owner wants. Pondless, that is you have a waterfall and a stream but no pond to care for, is a popular option with busy folk who have no desire for fish.

You may know someone with a green, ugly, mosquito and muck infested little spot in the yard they refer to as their pond. Unfortunately, even current editions of books and magazines on display at "big box" stores and garden centers still enthusiastically show the novice how to build one of these "lovely" ponds!

The technological breakthrough of the mechanical skimmer and the biological filter/waterfall box along with mass marketing made ponds a hot landscape item several years ago, even folks who had never considered a pond before became pond owners. (Caveat: some of the old ways may actually work with bog filtration, so success is not just about fancy gadgets or equipment; rather, success is about creating an ecosystem that pretty much takes care of itself...like in nature.)

Even with a good design, some creativity and the best of pond equipment, a lot of new ponds fail either from the moment they are turned on or fail over time. This is a shame, and is not a fate one has to be resolved to.

My thinking and advice goes like this—you don't get a mechanic or a lawn mowing guy to build an addition onto your home, instead you seek out an experienced builder with a great reputation—similarly, be wise and find a pondbuilder with lots of happy customers to create the pond of your dreams.

A poorly designed, leaky pond will be an expense for a future homeowner to tear out. But a pretty, properly working and easy-to-care-for pond will be a major asset and a joy to own for a long time.

If you're still with me on this paragraph, then indeed you have considered the topic of a pond. In closing, I want to mention that ponds are a wildlife habitat. They bring back some of what the builder dozed away to clear a spot to build. And that birdbath won't have to be filled up every day or two anymore, as birds will prefer the flowing water in your stream for their bathing from now on. - 0 -

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...
 What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
 Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
 A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
 B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
 The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufactures recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
 C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
 D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
 E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
 The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
 Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

Frankfort Report...

By Jared Carpenter,
State Senator

Every 10 years after each national census, Kentucky's Constitution requires the State Legislature to realign our voting districts according to population. The Governor called the Legislature back into Special Session to accomplish just this. The 34th senatorial district is now made up of Madison and Rockcastle counties with a portion southern Fayette. The new plan in the Senate divides the minimum number of counties and no precincts. It is not a partisan, politically driven map, no incumbents are drawn together, and the map meets all the tenets of a constitutionally correct redistricting plan.

I am pleased to have the chance to keep representing the people of Rockcastle County. It has been a pleasure to work alongside your community in efforts to promote real economic development, defend the values important to the area, and work to combat prescription drug abuse. No matter what the outcome would have been from redistricting, I was eager to keep working on behalf of the Rockcastle community.

Costs of special sessions are a concern that many Kentuckians have and I certainly share those concerns. Since the Legislature was scheduled to be in Frankfort, Senate and House Leadership decided to move all of the August interim committee meetings to the week of session, in order to offset the cost of a Special Session. This included the Natural Resources and Energy Committee which I chair. We had an informational meeting about the economic impact of the natural gas and oil industrial on Kentucky. This sector has grown significantly both in production and job creation and become a viable economic driver.

At the conclusion of the special session, the Governor signed House Bill 1, the redistricting bill. With the special session in the books,

I will continue my committee work in Frankfort and prepare for the regular session in January. I can be reached through the Legislative Research Commission's toll-free message line at 1-800-372-7181. You can also check the committee schedule and learn more about what the committees are doing at www.lrc.ky.gov.

Rainbow Ridge residents meet with fiscal court

20-25 residents of Rainbow Ridge Subdivision, near Mt. Vernon, met with the Rockcastle Fiscal Court Tuesday to ask for help with fixing their streets that are “almost impassable,” according to PVA Administrator Margaret Offutt, spokeswoman for the group.

Ms. Offutt noted that the county currently maintains a portion of the main road into the subdivision and this is the road that the residents were asking the county to extend maintenance of. Danny Offutt, also a resident of the subdivision, told the court that he had gotten an estimate for paving the 208 feet long, 18 feet wide section, of $5,108. Ms. Offutt said this would help the residents since it was becoming almost “impossible for ambulances to get in and out.”

County Judge Executive

Buzz Carloftius told the residents “I truly understand” their plight but state and county laws come into play.

County Attorney Billy Reynolds, who had only a short time to research the question, said that, according to a county ordinance for accepting roads into the county road system, there must be 50% occupancy of the platted lots, the road(s) must be up to standards and then must be deeded to the county. A public hearing must also be held and 50% of the property owners must agree in writing to accept maintenance.

Reynolds also noted that, according to the ordinance, the subdivision’s developer, the late Clarence Carter, should have posted a $20,000 bond to ensure that

School Board discusses ways to help students become more college ready

By: Doug Ponder

Many items were discussed during the monthly school board meeting Tuesday night that dealt with how the Rockcastle County Board of Education can help students become more college ready.

Superintendent David Pensol said they are creating a Rockcastle County

College Center in January to help Rockcastle County people who are looking to go to college or who are currently in college.

“We want a center that helps Rockcastle County people with ACT issues, college enrollment, financial aid issues, registration, etc.” Pensol said. “We want to make sure all Rockcastle County people have all the help they need while they are looking to go to college and while they are in college.”

Pensol said he has met with several other school district officials about establishing a college center and he said everything is still in the early planning stages. He said plans are to located the center in three vacant rooms at the Rockcastle Adult Education Center near the middle school. He said equipment already in those rooms will be utilized but additional equipment might have to be purchased after the center is established.

Pensol also told the board that Program Assistant Mary Ann Childress will be the college center’s coordinator and there won’t be an increase in her salary with her additional role. He said they are planning on having the college center open two days a week after school hours but he said they will be flexible to try and meet the parents’ and students’ time frames.

“Childress is excited about it. She has already hit the ground running and contacted several different colleges nearby about coming to the center,” Pensol said. “We would eventually like for colleges to send their representatives over to more thoroughly explain the application process, financial aid process, how to transfer credits, etc.”

Pensol went on to say that he has also been working with high school officials about the possibility of offering more dual credit classes and regular college classes in the future to students while they are still in high school.

“We want to make all options we can available for every student who wants to earn college credit while still in high school. We are hoping to accomplish this at the college center in the future,” Pensol said. “We also want to do everything we can to make sure the students who feel overwhelmed about the application process, or their first semester, has all the help and encouragement they need available to them.”

Board member Angie Stallworth said she already thought the high school guidance counselors helped students with ACT registration, application questions, etc. High School Principal Jennifer Mattingly said that the guidance counselors will still help students as well.

“The college center will

GRW presents water rate study to Brodhead City Council

By: Doug Ponder

Representatives from GRW Engineering firm in Lexington presented their water utility rate study to the Brodhead Council during their monthly meeting Monday night.

The City of Brodhead received the grant in 2012 for the purpose of evaluating current and projected water utility financial conditions, as well as the sufficiency of existing rates and charges. The firm also made recommendations for rate adjustments as well.

GRW employee Laura Gilkerson presented the rate study to the council. Gilkerson said the city currently has 538 water customers and three master meters that supply an average of 8,000,000 gallons per year to Western Rockcastle Water Association. She also noted that the City of Brodhead had annual water purchases from the City of Mt. Vernon for the past three years of 64,424,500 gallons in 2010, 60,281,200 in 2011 and 59,433,500 in 2012.

Gilkerson said that the anticipated revenues and expenses between 2011 through 2016 will cause the city to no longer have a positive operating balance unless they increase their rates.

Gilkerson went on to say if the city keeps the current rates, they will have an estimated net revenue of -$21,426 in 2012, -$14,914 in 2013, -$14,014 in 2014, -$17,184 in 2015, -$20,150 in 2016 and -$23,206 in 2017. She said these figures also includes projected operation and maintenance expenses of 3 percent each year and it also includes the 36% increase implemented by Mt. Vernon Waterworks in September 2012. She also said that a loan from Rural Development to construct a new storage tank in 2009

Healthy Joe Expo is next Thursday

The fifth annual Healthy Joe Expo men’s health fair will be held next Thursday at Rockcastle Regional Hospital at 5p.m. in the Wellness Center on the third floor.

The event will be Duck Dynasty-themed with Duck Commander duck calls as door prizes, plus the chance at extra door prizes for those who come wearing camouflage.

Event organizers say people might not know it’s health-related at first glance. They say it might look more like a hunting camp if attendees get into the spirit of the evening.

“This is an important event from the standpoint of health and awareness, but there’s no reason we can’t make it fun as well,” said organizer Dwain Harris.

Important health screenings such as blood pressure checks will be available and vouchers will be handed out for free cholesterol and blood sugar checks as well as PSA tests.

The PSA test measures the blood level of PSA, a protein that is produced by the prostate gland. The higher a man’s PSA level, the more likely it is that he has prostate cancer. However, there are additional reasons for having an elevated PSA level, and some men who have prostate cancer do not have elevated PSA.

The evening will also feature a free meal and two short presentations, one by Dr. David Bullock and another by the Rockcastle Regional Hospital physical therapy department.

This year, though participants are of course free to come alone. However, organizers are encouraging everyone to bring a friend or family member.

“We’re understanding more and more that health decisions aren’t made in isolation,” Harris said. “Family or social networks have a big influence on our health and lifestyle decisions.”

Rockcastle County road and maintenance crews have begun construction on the widening of Flat Gap Road in northern Rockcastle. County Judge Executive Buzz Carloftis said they are widening the road two feet on both sides of the road where it is most needed. Carloftis said the project should be completely finished by the summer of 2014.

by: perlina m. anderkin

Just as everyone else, the atrocities in Syria have horrified me. But, I am of two minds on what, if anything, needs to be done.

I am upset with the President making his emphatic "Red Line" pledge than dithering but at the same time, I have an aversion to interfering in another's country civil war, especially when neither side seems to be anywhere near our country's political philosophy (whatever that is these days).

I do think there should have been swift and sure retaliation for the Benghazi attack which took four American lives. I also definitely think it does matter what happened, unlike our former Secretary of State Hilary Clinton, who obviously doesn't with her famous (infamous) "What does it matter?" statement at the Senate hearings. I also am still upset that there was no effort to send in help from troops evidently stationed within striking range of the tragedy.

I also think everyone will be very surprised at how quickly Obamacare destroys our health care system. But, that will be the subject of another column.

On a local level, I am amazed at how many items are considered essential these days for a newborn baby.

Here we go again, but, back in my day, if you had bottles, diapers and a crib, you were in business. Now I did forget my walker. Since I never had a playpen I used the walker instead and actually think it helped teach my children to walk. I also never had a diaper bag. If we went somewhere, I folded a diaper around a bottle and we took off. I always teased my first daughter-in-law that she and her baby could survive in the Arctic for six months on the contents she carried around in her diaper bag.

Anyway, Allison was recounting to me the proceeds from her first shower recently and I didn't recognize half the items she was so excited about receiving. I've decided it is a generational thing. My mother was impressed with my high chair and walker and she would have been even more impressed with Allison's Boppy, Bumby, Pack 'n Play and the myriad other "essentials" she is gathering up.

I was finally forced with the birth of Allison to use a car seat and it was pure aggravation, although, I will have to admit, safer. She hated it and cried from the time I put her in it until I took her out.

Now you have to have about four different sizes to get a child to the seatbelt stage -- it's just too complicated.

The Way I See it

By
Doug Ponder

As of last Wednesday, I have officially been accepted in to Liberty Baptist Theological Seminary in Lynchburg, Virginia where I will be seeking my Master of Divinity degree, the standard professional degree for Christian ministry.

I've already registered for 12 credit hours this semester online and I intend to complete my entire degree online while I continue to work here at the Signal.

The whole process of "discerning the call" to ministry has not been easy for me. Actually, it has been extremely trying at times. It all started in March through my daily Bible reading. During this time, I began having a kind of inward pull toward ministry and to attend a Bible college or seminary.

When this first happened, I completely ignored it because I thought it was just something I was dreaming up in my head. I convinced myself that it wasn't something God actually wanted me to do and I removed those thoughts completely from my mind because I never want to make those types of decisions unless I know for sure that it's what God wants me to do.

After the first incident, there were two more distinct times between March and May when I knew God was calling me and each time I would once again try to justify it and use my own reasoning in interpreting what God was asking of me. I found myself thinking "why would God want to use me like that? God really can't be calling me to do something like this, not me!"

For each of those three times, just when I thought those thoughts were gone, God would lay it on my heart once again. Sometimes it was days later, weeks later or even a month or two. No matter how hard I tried to shut those thoughts out, God was always persistent in bringing it back up to me and laying it on my heart over and over again.

The fourth and final time was when I heard Brother Stayton's COME message on Sunday morning, June 9th and it was the icing on the cake. I finally realized it isn't just me dreaming it up because every time I tried to remove it from my thoughts and sweep it under the rug it would always come back. So I finally just said "okay, God I will do it."

I immediately started researching and seeking out different Bible colleges and seminaries. I requested information and visited some of the colleges but I was very hesitant about making a quick decision because I didn't want to go to a college that God didn't want me to attend.

I applied and was accepted to Clear Creek Baptist Bible College in

That Pesky Kudzu

When I was about four-years-old, my dad, Hobe Griffin, was named foreman of the State Highway Garage in Rockcastle County. I was too young to remember much about his new position, but I do recall that one of his duties was to plant kudzu on the sides of US 25 and US 150. It was a plan devised in order to control erosion and to enhance the quality of the topsoil. Little did anyone realize at the time how prolific and hardy the plant could be or how successfully it would spread.

In approximately three years, the vine began its climbing, coiling, and trailing – on its way to covering everything in its path. Native to southern Japan, kudzu acts as an invasive species, climbing over shrubs and trees so rapidly that it not only overtakes them, it destroys the other plants with its heavy shading. It kills by literally cutting off the process of photosynthesis for anything that it climbs over, resulting in death by suffocation.

Kudzu spreads by vegetative reproduction or by producing runners. It can also spread by seeds, which are extremely hardy. However, they may not germinate for several years, which can result in the reappearance of the kudzu years after it was thought to be eradicated at a specific site.

Daddy and his crew were extremely proud of their work because in almost no time the sides of the roads in Rockcastle County were covered by this aggressive new plant species. It is strikingly deceptive in its looks, as it can appear quite lovely with its dense mass of green. It is now common along roadsides throughout most of the southeastern United States because it was introduced by road crews in many southern states.

It was actually introduced in the US in 1876 at the Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia. Since that time, it is said to have continued spreading at the rate of 150,000 acres annually.

I distinctly remember riding with Daddy when he began his taxi business. As we drove the roads of Rockcastle County, he would point to huge areas of flourishing Kudzu and proudly announce, "Joe, my crew and I planted this vine all over the county; see how well it has been growing." He had no idea how overwhelming this Japanese plant would become over the next fifty years. Nor did he have any clue about how arduous and challenging it would be to eradicate this particular species.

Points East

By Ike Adams

It's been three weeks since my Texans were here for a couple of days and I'm still basking in the afterglow.

My daughter, Genny, her husband, Scott Tesh, and their three kids, son Mazzen who is 11, son Ramzy is 8 and daughter Isabel (Izzy) is 2.4 going on 12. The Maz is into basketball and i pads, Ramzo is into guitar and i pads and Izzy-ka-dizzy-ka-do is into absolutely everything that isn't securely locked and bolted down.

Genny teaches American Culture and English to international students at The University of Houston. Scott calls himself a "geek whisperer" for Dell where he develops and teaches online seminars for computer technicians across the country and around the world that enable them to communicate with folks like you and me.

They are both extremely busy and it's usually difficult for them get away from work and the boys away from school all at the same time. They managed 9 consecutive days off in August, 4 of which were on the road and 5 thinly spread visiting a host of friend and relatives in Tennessee and Kentucky. Two days with me is easily the best present I'll get this year and far better medicine than anything injected or out of a pill bottle.

We put up lots of photographs on facebook and exchange email and have the occasional phone call so it's easy enough to keep up with health issues and sort of know what's going from year to year, but there's nothing to compare with 36 hours or so of touching-hugging-talking-laughing-eating together, broken up only with a scant few hours of sleep.

I hadn't seen them in over a year. In fact, Izzy wasn't even a year old, but when they pulled into my driveway she was yelling "Grandpa! Grandpa! Grandpa!" Her little arms stretched out as she tried to wiggle out of her kiddy seat. I slid the van door open and those arms were around my neck as she glared at her Mom and brothers and proclaimed "This is MY Grandpa. AIIIIII mine." In other words don't even think about getting any of MY Grandpa.

I'd been a bit worried that Izzy would be shy and standoffish because she certainly wasn't old enough for me to have made much of an impression during only the handful of times we'd connected when she was an infant. But apparently her mom and brothers have made sure that she's seen pictures and they have made me enough of a subject in conversation that she knew exactly who I was the instant she saw me. And it has been a long, long time since anything has touched me so deeply.

I'm sure the boys had told her, "there stands Grandpa", because I was impatiently waiting in the yard as they drove up. Or maybe it's just plain ole chemistry that I've always had with the little girls in the family. Both Genny and

In Loving Memory of Ivan McKinney 11/09/21 - 9/18/12

His body lies there sleeping beneath a mound of clay,
But Ivan isn't really there;
he just up and flew away!
He soared into the heavens,
with the angels by his side,
And Jesus stood there waiting to welcome him inside.

While those of us left here below, still wracked with grief and pain,
Often feel if God should grant, we'd call him back again.

But we must stop these idle dreams of one who's made it home,
And plan that great reunion when we gather 'round the throne!

“Points East”

Jennifer were like the ultimate Daddy's Girls when they were growing up. All I know for sure is that Izzy-ka-dizzy-ka-do was either in my lap, hanging onto my pants leg or holding my hand for at least half the time my Texans were here. She spent a little time riding my shoulders with her legs wrapped around my neck but not as much as she might have if I wasn't coping with Mr. Parkinson 24-7.

Izzy's Mom, Dad and big brothers don't do baby talk nor does her Spanish Speaking day care provider. And all 5 of them dote on her. She speaks in complete sentences and she's growing up with two languages. Genny whispered to me, “ask Izzy if she can count to 10. So I did and she immediately did just that---in Spanish.

In the early afternoon before they got ready to hit the road, we all went for a walk. Loretta had us posing here and there for photos as we trooped the three-quarter mile loop of Charlie Brown Road and Old Railroad Grade.

All through the visit I'd been sing-songing “Izzy-ka-dizzy-ka do. She simply don't know what to do.

She can't even tie her little shoe. No strings. She's Izzy-ka-dizzy-ka do.” And I'd come up with some other lines because Izzy was so absolutely delighted to be the subject of a song and she'd demand that I “please sing the Izzy song again.”

So we're walking along the road. Genny holding one of Izzy's hands and me the other one and we're pretty quiet because we knew that in a hour or two the visit would be over but Izzy broke the silence and the melancholy and you could have heard all of us laughing when she broke into song, exactly the same tune I'd been using.

“Mommy-ka-yummy-ka-mooo”, she sang and our blues simply evaporated like a drop of water hitting a red hot stove.

“I See It”

Pineville. But through Bible study, prayer and circumstances in my life, I finally realized God was leading me to Liberty Baptist Theological Seminary instead so I withdrew from Clear Creek.

There is one phrase that Brother Stayton used in his “Come” message that has always remained in my mind through this whole process and that is “God will use anyone that is usable. The only ability needed is availability.” After looking back at his notes on our church's website, he ironically even had this phrase highlighted.

In 1 Corinthians 12, Paul explains that there are different kinds of spiritual gifts that Christians can have to glorify God and enlighten others but that God is the source of them all and He uses them in different ways as He works through His people. Paul later explains in the chapter how the different spiritual gifts make up the Body of Christ just as different human body parts make up the human body.

For months now I have prayed on a daily basis that God will use whatever talents or spiritual gifts He has given me for His honor, glory and will. As Christians, we should all desire to be used by God with the different talents and spiritual gifts He has given us and we should all pray for His direction in how to best serve Him.

Regardless of what spiritual gifts we have been given, as Christians we should be attentive to what spiritual gifts God has given us and how He is directing us to use them. However, to do this effectively we still need to surrender our life to God and make ourselves “available” to be used by God in the best way that He sees fit.

I now fully understand that in order to make myself usable with the spiritual gifts God has given me, I must first make myself fully available to Him. There is no meeting God in the middle with a compromise or making myself only available to Him part-time.

It's either all or nothing. For me it is ALL and I hope it will always be the same for my fellow Christians as well.

Memories”

Many years after the plant was introduced, ecologists began to see what was happening and to attempt its long-term control – only to find that this process was almost impossible to achieve. It was first believed that the plant could be killed by fire, but this was not successful. If any portion of a root remained, the kudzu plant simply grew back and again took over anything in its path.

In order to properly manage Kudzu, the plant must be cut as close to the ground as possible and then treated with a systemic herbicide. This process is an effective means of transporting the herbicide into the plant's extensive root system. Even then, if seeds remain in the soil, kudzu will begin its expansion once more.

After initial herbicide treatment, follow-up applications are usually necessary, depending on how long the plant has been growing in the area. Incredibly, it can require up to 10 years of supervision after the initial chemical placement to make certain that the plant is truly eradicated.

Daddy and I never did discuss his introduction of kudzu in Rockcastle County later in his life, so I don't really know how he felt about being a participant in the kudzu project. My brother Al and I often discuss how kudzu originated in the county and how it has created vine-infested habitats. We are not proud of its conquest, but we can't help but think of Daddy whenever we see it growing over the tops of trees or covering old barns and outbuildings.

So I have a personal heritage involved with this exotic Japanese plant and the landscape that it has created over the decades. It seems that it is here to stay. And now, in some ways, I guess it has become a marker of being in the south, especially in the countryside. To some of us, it has become a sign of being home.

Frankfort Report...

By Jared Carpenter,
State Senator

This month's Interim Joint Committee on Natural Resources and Environment was a high-profile one with an overflowing committee room. The topic was discussion of the Bluegrass Pipeline with representatives from the company itself, the Kentucky Oil & Gas Association, state agencies, and the Kentucky Resources Council which represents landowners. The pipeline project will carry natural gas liquids from the northwest part of Kentucky through the central south portion on its way toward the Gulf of Mexico. It promises new investment with new dollars but there are significant private property concerns.

The Bluegrass Pipeline is a joint project by Williams, an energy infrastructure company, and Boardwalk Pipeline Partners. Representatives discussed the importance of the pipeline for jobs and energy independence and stressed their safety record and rigorous safety standards. They estimated that Kentucky schools would benefit from $136 million in new tax revenue over the first 10 years. They said they were committed to work with landowners and be respectful of property rights. The pipeline would be buried underground. The company will be hosting a series of town-hall meetings throughout the state to make sure information is relayed to communities.

The Public Service Commission discussed the limits of their power to oversee natural gas liquids. They stated that it would take legislative action in the form of the new statute for them to have the power to regulate the pipeline.

Tom Fitzgerald of the Kentucky Resources Council, an environmental group, warned against the dangers of the pipeline questioning the routing as well as oversight of the project.

Finally, Secretary of Energy Len Peters spoke to the committee. He bluntly explained that the lawyers in his cabinet do not think that Bluegrass pipeline developers can invoke imminent domain which is the concept that organizations, usually public utilities but in this case a private company, can use land for an express public purpose.

During the last few days of special session on redistricting, the Senate passed a resolution urging the pipeline companies to make every effort to work with landowners without using eminent domain. As chairman of this meeting, I wanted to make sure all sides had a platform to present their perspectives. I feel that the meeting was successful and laid the groundwork for future discussions prior to session.

This was a great informational meeting which I see as one more way we can educate our constituents about this important issue that will surely also play a large role in the 2014 Session. Please call me with any questions, comments, or concerns at 502-564-8100 or toll-free at 800-372-7181. If you miss watching the proceedings on KET, meetings are archived at www.ket.org.

York participates in Circuit Court Clerks Summer College

Rockcastle County Circuit Court Clerk Eliza Jane York recently participated in the 2013 Circuit Court Clerks Summer College in Frankfort. The Administrative Office of the Courts provided the judicial education program June 4-5 for the state's circuit court clerks. (Please see the list below for the name of your local circuit court clerk who attended the college.)

The circuit clerks attended sessions on driver licensing, accounts receivable and the process for handling court filings by people seeking to have someone deemed disabled or court ordered to get treatment for alcohol and/or drug abuse. Susan Stokley Clary, clerk of the Supreme Court of Kentucky, was the keynote speaker for the college.

The college also included an overview of legislation passed by the 2013 General Assembly and House Bill 308, which took effect in 2011. HB 308 requires Kentucky to notify the FBI when a court finds an individual mentally incompetent. The FBI adds the person's name to the National Instant Crime Background Check System, which federally licensed gun dealers use to screen their customers. Federal law prohibits the sale of guns to anyone adjudicated as mentally defective or who has been committed to a mental institution.

"In this era of technology, it's important for circuit court clerks to look for ways to improve our processes," said Boone County Circuit Court Clerk Dianne Murray, who was elected president of the Kentucky Association of Circuit Court Clerks during the college. "The college provided training on the rollout of electronic reporting on HB 308, which will ensure that the FBI knows when a court has made a decision that impacts a person's ability to purchase firearms. We also got a chance to discuss tips for running a successful office, including how to keep up morale during these tough budgetary times."

The circuit clerks received an update from the Trust for Life program during the program. The KACCC sponsors Trust for Life to promote organ and tissue donation through driver licensing and the Kentucky Organ Donor registry.

The college included eight hours of continuing education credit for the circuit clerks.

Money Tips for Students

Time to start repaying loans

If you finished college in May and have student loans, it's almost time to begin repaying them. These tips from the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) may help.

One of the smartest things you can do is pay more than your scheduled payment amount. The extra is applied to the principal, so you will pay less interest over the life of your loan.

You should let your lender know if you change your name, address or phone number; if something changes your status, such as going back to school; or if you have problems making your payments.

You have several repayment plans from which to choose. The standard repayment plan calls for equal monthly payments over 10 years. The minimum monthly payment is usually $50. Other options include:

- Graduated repayment, which starts with lower repayment amounts that get higher over the maximum 10-year period.
- Income-sensitive repayment, with monthly payments based on gross income.
- Income-based or income-contingent repayment, with monthly amounts based on income and family size.

- Extended repayment, which lets you take up to 25 years to repay your student loans if you borrowed more than $30,000 and none of your loans were made before Oct. 7, 1998.

You will pay more interest over the life of the loan if you use any option other than standard repayment.

If you are having trouble making payments, contact your lender immediately. You may qualify for a deferment or forbearance, which can let you make lower payments or stop making payments temporarily.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers Kentucky's grant and scholarship programs. It provides free copies of "It's Money, Baby," a guide to financial literacy, to Kentucky schools and residents upon request at publications@kheaa.com.

An encouraging word:

The Heart Reflects The True Self
By Howard Coop

It was a beautiful spring morning many years ago, and I had one thing planned for the day. Since childhood, I had heard many times of the unusual beauty of Cumberland Falls and the moon bow for which the Falls is known. That morning, for the first time in my life, I was going to see the place about which I had heard so much. Indeed, I was excited.

As we went over the hill and approached the park from the south side of Cumberland River, the first thing I saw was an old bridge that spans the river a few hundred yards upstream from the Falls. Resting upon large piers that are connected by artistically designed arches, it was, to me, a beautiful bridge that was constructed during the difficult years of the Great Depression. But after looking at the bridge for a moment, I saw something that, to me, was even more spectacular. The image of the beautiful bridge and the surrounding green hills were perfectly mirrored in the crystal clear water of the river that calmly flowed under the bridge.

After finding a good place that gave an excellent view of that picturesque scene, I carefully focused my camera and made a picture of it. Through the years, I have looked at that old black and white picture and the reflected image of the bridge and recalled that experience. Each time I do so, I am reminded of something of real significance. For nearly three thousand years, it has been considered proverbial that "As water reflects a face, so a man's heart reflects the man."

Regardless of everything else, a person is what a person is. There is no way to escape it. One may construct a façade behind which one may attempt to hide in order to project an unreal image of the self, but sooner or later, the real self comes through and is clearly visible. The heart always reflects the true self.

Harvest Festivals and Farmers Markets Good for Economy

Tis the season for apple festivals, honey festivals, and numerous other local and regional festivals for both fun and for making local purchases from local growers and producers. Also, farmers markets contribute to the local community in numerous ways; dollars spent locally recirculate locally. Dollars spent with huge chain stores, dollars spent on items imported or from places far away are not helpful to our local economy.

Why make this a landscape issue? Well, first, you may want to grow some of your own food in your landscape. Further, you may have friends or family who farm, and buying their produce that is both fresher and generally cheaper helps them, and again recirculates the dollars locally. Or if you're a service contractor or a merchant, you know the local economy affects your income, and what you can afford. That swimming pool or patio or pond or sunroom may not get to happen if the local economy sours too much. That real estate saleslady may close fewer sales at reduced fees. How many people stop to realize (or look at the labels at the store) to see where the item they're about to buy is coming from? The bottom line I want to draw your attention to in today's column is that when those profits go to foreigners (or even distant American cities), it drags down the livelihoods of almost all the local citizenry.

Growing some yourself, be it from a blueberry bush, a pawpaw tree, or a farm pond stocked with fish is a really sensible activity. Not to mention the exercise and relief from mental stresses we are bombarded with these days. Even the computer and tv can get us all wound up—back when kids walked to the creek with a pole over their shoulder, we had a much more decent country. And back when families grew all or part of what they ate, they had a greater appreciation for their bounteous blessings. And the local economy afforded kids out of school for the summer a chance to make some spending money picking berries, housing tobacco, hauling in bales of hay, and so forth. Today the local economy is about drug growing or making, and that's a real shame. But, did anyone think or have the foresight to know buying California strawberries, Washington apples, Mexican tomatoes and peppers, or Chilean grapes had anything to do with that?

Helping your neighbor who has a few veggies by the highway for sale, or at a local farmers market, or buying some eggs from a coworker at the office can yield some mighty fine vittles. It can also make our communities more prosperous—and that ain't too shabby for just a little inconvenience.

Not to even mention—how much tastier fresh local produce is. And, local apples may have a few bumps and not have any wax to make them shine, but do you really want to know what is on those peels or what the wax is made out of? If it comes from someone you know, you can simply inquire if you have concerns—most farmers are the most honest folks around.

As you see pumpkins, apples, honey and a variety of other local produce for sale, consider stopping and spending some of that grocery money with a neighbor. You'll receive excellent product for a fair price, and you'll feel good about helping keep the local growers and the local economy stimulated.

September declared as National Childhood Obesity Awareness Month

September is National Childhood Obesity Awareness Month. In Kentucky, efforts to curb childhood obesity continue to gain momentum. A number of efforts are underway including the work of the Shaping Kentucky's Future Collaborative, a multi-foundation approach to policy-level change designed to make the healthy choice the easy choice.

"Lowering childhood obesity rates is a positive lever for overall health change, reduced risk of chronic disease and an improved quality of life. Foundation polling and recent news reports signal growing awareness among Kentuckians of the importance of and the need for lowering our obesity rates," said Susan Zepeda, President/CEO of the Foundation for a Healthy Kentucky. "A recent Greater Louisville Project (GLP) report examined the impact of obesity on health, education, jobs and a vibrant economy. Good health and a good economy are inextricably linked"

Two important studies undertaken through the Cabinet for Health and Family Services – Shaping Kentucky's Future: Policies to Reduce Obesity (2009) and Unbridled Health: A Plan for Coordinated Chronic Disease Prevention and Health promotion (draft in preparation) – contain policy recommendations for work communities, corporations, schools and the state itself can do, to help us all eat better and move more. Nationally, the recent report F as in Fat: How Obesity Threatens America's Future 2013, compiled by Trust for America's Health and the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation will be discussed during a Congressional briefing in Washington, DC Thursday (September 12) morning. The report includes a growing set of strategies that have improved health — but stress that they are not yet implemented or funded at a level to reduce obesity trends significantly. Some key recommendations from the report regarding strategies that should be taken to scale include:

- All food in schools must be healthy;
- Kids and adults should have access to more opportunities to be physically active on a regular basis;
- Restaurants should post calorie information on menus;
- Food and beverage companies should market only their healthiest products to children;
- The country should invest more in preventing disease to save money on treating it;
- America's transportation plans should encourage walking and biking; and
- Everyone should be able to purchase healthy, affordable foods close to home.

"Here at home, Kentucky will host the Southern Obesity Summit in 2014 and several organizations are hard at work to advance health policies that support sound nutrition and active living at work, at school and in our communities," concluded Zepeda. "These efforts create opportunities to discuss strategy and create more awareness of the compelling need to reduce childhood obesity rates in the Commonwealth."

About the Foundation for a Healthy Kentucky

The Foundation for a Healthy Kentucky is a non-profit, philanthropic organization working to address the unmet health care needs of Kentuckians. Our approach centers on developing and influencing health policy, to promote lasting change in the systems by which health care is provided and good health sustained, to:

- improve access to care,
- reduce health risks and disparities, and
- promote health equity.

The Foundation makes grants, supports research, holds educational forums and convenes communities to engage and develop the capacity of the Commonwealth to improve the health and quality of life of all Kentuckians.

Rockets lose to South Laurel, 19-8, for third loss of season

By: Doug Ponder
The Rockcastle County Rockets dropped to 0-3 on the season, following a 19-8 loss at South Laurel last Friday night.
The number of turnovers on offense, and the inability to score, would prove to be the deciding factors in the Rocket's loss as they had four turnovers and failed to put any points on the scoreboard during the first three quarters of the game.
The Rockets didn't score until early in the fourth quarter when senior quarterback Corey McPhetridge threw a 27 yard touchdown strike to senior wide receiver John Hughes. The two point conversion was good to cut South Laurel's lead to 8. However, time would run out for the Rockets as they would fail to get into the end zone on two more drives making the final score 19-8.
The Rockets offense was led by McPhetridge who finished the game 15 out of 30 passing for 243 yards and one touchdown with two interceptions.

Junior fullback Chance Ansardi led the ground attack with 35 yards on seven carries. Junior running back Isaiah Adams rushed for 4 yards on five carries.
Senior Tyler Harper led the receiving corp, catching five passes for 97 yards. Senior John Hughes also had a big night, catching four passes for 74 yards and one touchdown.
Other Rockets making receptions were freshman Chayse McClure with one for 26 yards, senior Brandon Jones with two catches for 25 yards, junior Kyle Denny with two receptions for 17 yards and sophomore Dylan Rowe with one catch for 4 yards.
The Rockets defense was led by Ansardi with 12 tackles. Senior Jared Lake also had a big night defensively with 7 tackles, including one sack and an assisted sack.

Other Rockets picking up tackles and assists were McClure with 8, Hughes and Denny with 6 each, senior R.C. Kirby with 4, including one sack, senior Koty Bengue with 3, including one sack, Adams got 3 and Jones had 2. Freshman Dalton Rowe and junior Justin Hughes were credited with one each.
Head Coach Scott Parkey said the missed opportunities on offense hurt the Rockets in the game and it also hurt the defense as they were on the field for a huge percentage of the game.
"We had 8 dropped passes, two fumbles and two interceptions on offense. We only had one offensive penalty which was the only bright spot," Parkey said. "This really hurt the defense who played well but the offense was not able to relieve any of the pressure off of them."
Parkey said he was pleased with the overall performance of the defense as they defended South Laurel's option offense well and held them to only 19 points in the game.
"The defense played pretty well, especially since the option offense is very tough to defend. Defensive Coach Josh Martin did a great job adjusting to the option offense throughout the game," Parkey said. "But in order for the defense to be really good, the offense needs to put points on the board and get ahead early which allows them to control the tempo of the game."
Parkey went on to say that this was one of the most disappointing losses he can remember as head coach.
"The team doesn't need to let mental or emotional breakdowns control them in the game. We can't expect to win if we let these things get to us," Parkey said. "But we will bounce back from this and the team will be looking to seek redemption against Whitley County next week."
The Rockets will travel to Williamsburg on Friday night to take on the Whitley County Colonels. Kick-off is at 7:30 p.m.
Parkey said the Colonels only have three starters on defense from last season's team. However, he said they still have enough talent and experience on offense to make them a tough competitor.
"They are big, physical and they have speed in the right positions. They are also hard to defend with their option-oriented offense," Parkey said. "We play them on their turf which is a tough place for us to play. We will have to bring our A game and take care of the ball if we want to come out of Williamsburg with a win."

Senior wide receiver John Hughes gets tackled during last Friday night's loss to South Laurel. Hughes had a big night, catching four passes for 74 yards and one touchdown.

helped spin the figures into the negative as the future principal and interest payments will total approximately $10,260 annually until 2047.

Gilkerson said her company suggested one of two rate increases for the council to approve. The first option was a system wide rate increase of 6% for 2013 and 1.5% annually for 2014, 2015 and 2016.

The second option would increase the amount per thousand sold to WRWA by 54% and only have a system wide rate increase of 1.5% for 2013, 2014, 2015 and 2016. Gilkerson said that the city currently charges WRWA $2.93 per thousand which is the same rate they buy it from Mt. Vernon. She said that by adding the city’s operation and maintenance cost to the current WRWA rate of $2.93 per thousand gallons would result in a 54% increase to $4.52 per thousand gallons.

“You all don’t charge WRWA any more than what you buy it from Mt. Vernon. We’re suggesting that you all pass along the operation and maintenance costs of supplying that water to WRWA,” Gilkerson said. “You have expenses of that water passing through your lines and expenses of it being stored in your tanks. WRWA should meet that.”

Councilman Keith Graves said they need to re-think everything before they vote for one of the two plans. He said they need to figure rates up for the average customer before they make a decision.

“When an average citizen hears about a 6% rate increase or a 54% rate increase, it makes them want to pull their hair out,” Graves said. “But if we lay it all out for them and say this will affect your bill on an average increase of $6 a month it makes sense to them.”

Councilman Mark Buras agreed with Graves and said they should discuss things further before making a hasty decision.

“It hasn’t been long since our customers had a 36% increase in September 2012 after the City of Mt. Vernon increased their rates,” Buras said. “Then if we come along and add a 6% in the first year on top of that. That’s almost a 50% increase for them.”

Water Superintendent Roger Bray reminded the council that if they don’t keep a positive balance that it will be harder for them to get loans or grants.

“With Cumberland Valley if you don’t get your butt out of the red it is hard to get money,” Bray said. “Pretty much if you try to get any loan or grant money you aren’t going to get it until you’re out of the red.”

Gilkerson went on to suggest that the city choose the second option which would increase the amount per thousand sold to WRWA by 54% and only have a system wide rate increase of 1.5% for 2013, 2014, 2015 and 2016. She said they believe this plan will accomplish the best chance of minimizing impact on the majority of customers while attaining the necessary financial goals of Brodhead Water Utility.

Mayor Walter Cash suggested that they talk with officials at WRWA before they make a decision. The council agreed unanimously with Cash and said they will likely decide on which rate increase plan to go with at an upcoming meeting.

“Schools”

just be an expansion and not a replacement for the things our guidance counselors help students with.” Mattingly said.

Mattingly said that the guidance counselors have started requiring interviews for graduating seniors to help them identify their career goals, college choice, college major, etc. She said the counselors could refer the students to the college center based on what they gather from the interview to help better serve their needs even after they graduate high school.

“These interviews are very detailed and they do a good job of uncovering what the student’s true goals are for their life,” Mattingly said. “They encourage them to reach for their goals and they can now also reassure them that they have all the help they need in reaching their goals.”

Stallsworth went on to say that she thought creating a college center would be a great idea for the citizens of Rockcastle County.

“I know a lot of students in college that I work with and they are always fine with filling out the FASFA their first year because they have people at the high school to help them,” Stallsworth said. “But when they have to fill it out again their sophomore year a lot of them are lost and don’t have that help anymore. A college center would be a great thing to have for cases like this.”

Pensol also presented the Educational Planning and Assessment System results to the board and he said the students were close to meeting the state average scores in the core curriculum of English, mathematics, reading and science.

The system involves three phases of testing, the Explore which is given to 8th graders, the Plan which is given to 10th graders and the ACT given to 11th graders.

Students in the eighth grade scored 15.4 on the composite score of all subjects, which tied the 15.4 state average.

In science, 8th graders scored the same as the state average 16.7; English was 14.5 to 14.6 for the state average; mathematics 15.0 to 15.4 and reading 14.8 to 14.5.

10th graders were a little further back in the composite score 16.7 to 17.3 state average. In English it was 16.2 to 16.6; mathematics 16.6 to 17.1; reading 16.3 to 16.8 and science 17.3 to 18.1.

11th graders were close to the composite score for all subjects 18.5 to 19.2. In English it was 17.0 to 18.4; mathematics 18.1 to 18.9; reading 18.7 to 19.4 science was 19.6 to 19.5.

In voting action, the board approved Finance Officer Melanie Lyons’ 2013-2014 working budget for the school district. Lyons told the board that she would present the quarterly figures to them during October’s meeting. The board also approved Lyons as the authorized signature for the school district’s financial obligations as well.

The Healthy Joe Expo was created to reach those who are hardest to reach with health education and for whom that education might be most important. Men drink more than women, smoke more than women, don’t live as long as women, engage in more high-risk activities than women. Yet, men are notorious for not seeing a doctor when they should. The American Academy of Family Physicians reveals that 55 percent of U.S. men haven’t seen their M.D. in the past year.

“Court”

funds were available for road repairs if needed.

Reynolds told the group, “I don’t see any way the fiscal court can fix these roads with this ordinance.”

The problem might arise in this particular subdivision that a single property owner owns, two, three or even four lots thereby causing the requirement for 50% occupancy of the lots to come into play since each of the lots are counted individually under the 50% requirement.

Several options were discussed including rescinding at least a part of the existing ordinance and levying a special assessment on abutting property owners for a proportional share of the cost of blacktopping. Even if the last option were considered, the roads would still have to meet requirements established to be included in the county road system.

It was decided the first step needed was to ascertain the occupancy level of the streets in the subdivision.

In other action, the court accepted the bid of Humana for the county employees’ health insurance coverage. Humana’s bid came in $2,485.45 per month cheaper than the current premium with Anthem. However, according to Patricia Martin, secretary to Carloftis, this savings will be more than nullified if the eight employees, who currently do not have insurance, decide to join the plan to keep from being penalized under Obamacare. Martin said the additional cost to the county will be about $5,000 per employee per year.

The court also voted to keep providing the $500 flex cards, which each employee enrolled in the insurance program receives to help defray the cost of their deductible. Carloftis told the court that the total cost to the county per year for these cards could run as high as $27,000 but, in the first year, the costs accumulated by employees was only around $18,000. Figures from the second year were not available.

The court also voted to bundle their vision, dental and life insurance plans, along with their health insurance, under Humana which will result in an additional 2% savings on premium costs.

The contribution by employees to their health care plan was left the same. “In past years when our premiums have increased a lot, we’ve not increased the employees contribution so we need to leave it where it is now,” Magistrate Bill McKinney told the court.

Wage increases for employees was also discussed. The magistrates were given the current wages of employees and told that a $1 an hour increase would amount to an additional cost of $127,500, including benefits, per year to the county. After studying the wage information, Magistrate Ralph Allen told the court, “We pay some employees more than they’re worth and some not enough but they all have the same expenses,” and he made a motion to give the $1 per hour increase. His motion was seconded by Lee Earl Adams and, in a voice vote, the motion ended in a tie with Carloftis siding with Allen and Adams and Magistrates Bill McKinney, William Denny and Gary Burdette all voting no.

Adams then made a motion to make the increase 50c an hour saying, “Nobody gives a $1 an hour raise these days.” And, Denny noted that “state workers haven’t had a raise in seven years.” McKinney seconded Adams’ motion and all voted yes, except for Allen who wouldn’t record a vote.

The 50c an hour increase will add an additional $63,000 to the county’s annual payroll costs.

Following McKinney’s opinion that the $1 an hour increase was too high, Carloftis remarked that the county “could afford it” to which Denny retorted that “we won’t be if we keep doing this.”

As one of the last items of business, the court voted to transfer $300,000 from the occupational tax fund to the general fund. $75,000 of that amount will be transferred to the jail fund.

The county also approved the board of education’s tax rate for the coming year. The board took the compensating rate of 40.4c per $100 assessed value. The county also took the compensating rate of 7.8c per $100 assessed value which will garner them $295,000 in revenue.

Hospital offers free cholesterol screenings

Children, young adults and older Americans can have high cholesterol. Learn how to prevent high cholesterol and know what your cholesterol levels mean.

September is National Cholesterol Education Month, a good time to get your blood cholesterol checked and take steps to lower it if it is high. National Cholesterol Education Month is also a good time to learn about lipid profiles and about food and lifestyle choices that help you reach personal cholesterol goals.

September 23-27, 2013, Rockcastle Regional Hospital is offering free cholesterol screenings from 7 a.m. until 10 a.m. No appointment is necessary. Please arrive at least 12 hours prior to screening. Registration for the free screening will be in the second floor lobby in the Outpatient Services Center. For more information, contact Arielle Estes at 256-7880 or a.estes@rhrcc.org.

Cholesterol is a waxy, fat-like substance found in your body and many foods. Your body needs cholesterol to function normally and makes all that you need. Too much cholesterol can build up in your arteries. After a while, these deposits narrow your arteries, putting you at risk for heart disease and stroke.

High cholesterol usually doesn't have any symptoms. As a result, many people do not know that their cholesterol levels are too high. However, doctors can do a simple blood test to check your cholesterol. High cholesterol can be controlled through lifestyle changes or if it is not enough, through medications.

It's important to check your cholesterol levels. High cholesterol is a major risk factor for heart disease, the leading cause of death in the United States. Source: CDC

JROTC attends Junior Cadet Leadership Camp

Submitted by
Dana Hatfield

On May 29th, 2013 several Rockcastle county cadets from the JROTC course went to the annual Junior Cadet Leadership Camp, held at the Bluegrass Army Depot in Richmond. Cadets Austin Ramsey, Josh England, Justin Mason, Tiffany Horn, Caleb Price, and Alissa Snyder went to the camp and learned the basics of Army leadership. The program was a five day long camp designed to put each cadet involved in an army based leadership position.

Day one consisted mostly of integrating the cadets into the army life, organizing lockers and bunks, and making military fashioned beds. Day two was survival training that involved; making shelters, learning about water sources, etc. and a history of Fort Boonesbough. Day three was a leadership day where the cadets negotiated various military obstacles designed to test teamwork and agility. It was a mentally challenging day where many cadets conquered their fear of heights and swung down a tower as well as rappel down another tower. Day four was a fun day for the cadets, and the focus was water training. They learned various swimming techniques in the pool and then headed to the lake for boating skills manned by Rockcastle County JROTC instructors Captain Thompson and Sergeant Graves. Day five was a small day consisting only of an awards ceremony, where many awards were given based on leadership effectiveness, physical excellence, and execution of the training they were given over the course of the week.

Overall the cadets had a great time at the JCLC Camp. They not only had fun, but they learned the essence of leadership. They came back with a vast knowledge over many areas that they were trained in. Now the cadets are ready to improve the Rockcastle county JROTC Battalion with what they have learned.

Mt. Vernon CHIROPRACTIC

I would like to take a moment to thank the community of Mt. Vernon and the people of Rockcastle County. I have been in practice here for the past 4 years and have loved the people I have met and had the honor of being the one they came to when they needed chiropractic care.

So, it is with a heavy heart, that I say that I am closing Mt. Vernon Chiropractic. It has not been an easy decision or an easy road to get here to this point. I cherish the friendships I have made and the people I have seen on a daily basis.

We live in an increasingly tougher economic time with lots of changes in the healthcare fields coming soon. This decision was made out of necessity, not because I wanted to leave.

We all want to provide for our family the best we can and sometimes we have to make the tough choice to be able to do that.

I would love the opportunity to continue serving you since I am not going very far. I will be practicing at Chiropractic Health Solutions in Berea. Phone number is 859-985-0606. I hope to see everyone again soon. Thank you for a wonderful 4 years.

Matthew Tackett, D.C.

Giles Corey and His Curse on Salem, Massachusetts, Part II

Last week, we began the study of Giles Corey and his curse on Salem, Massachusetts. The story began in 1692 during a "pure" era in the country's history. The colonists of the area led simple lives governed by staunch religious beliefs and customs. They, at least those around Salem, harbored great fear of the devil and witches. It was a death sentence to be found guilty of the crime of witchcraft. The offenders were hung, burned at the stake, or drowned. If the accused sank and drowned, they were guilty, whereas the innocent would float to the top and escape drowning.

To make matters even worse, the government could seize their land and all that they owned, even personal effects. Giles Corey had the forethought that in the rash of accusations circulating, he prepared a will giving all he had to two sons-in-law, thus protecting the property. Giles, being a man of means, wanted to protect what he had for his family. He had a wife, who died during the witch trials, but wasn't accused. Her death was probably due to the extreme torture of her husband. Giles had three surviving daughters, but women weren't allowed to own property at the time.

A 19-year-old girl, Mercy Lewis, had accused Giles of being a witch. He was taken for questioning, but refused to plead guilty or innocent. Therefore, he had to be "pressed" in order to get a plea. He was taken to a field near the jail, where he was lain in a pit, a board put across his body, and heavy stones applied atop his body, attempting to get a plea. He was given only a few bites of bread and a few sips of water, quite an ordeal for an elderly man.

A plea was never uttered, so he couldn't be tried. He died an innocent man, therefore, his property was passed to his family as he had wanted. As Giles Corey died, with his dying breath, (which makes a curse stronger, I've heard) cursed the town of Salem and the office of the sheriff. Soon, the curse came calling. Only four years later, in 1696, Sheriff George Corwin died of a heart attack while in office. He was only the first to taste the curse. Every sheriff to follow died in office or was forced out of office due to a heart or blood problem according to Sheriff Robert Ellis Cahill, who had to leave office due to a blood condition. Today, the town of Salem has no official office of sheriff.

But remember, the curse wasn't just limited to the office of the sheriff; it included the town of Salem, as well. The ghost of Giles Corey is said to wander in the area of the cemetery where he is buried. It is the same location where he was pressed to death and died, September 19, 1692 around twelve noon. When a sighting of Giles Corey occurs, disaster awaits Salem. His sighting is like an omen of pending doom. He was seen wandering the streets near the cemetery prior to the great fire of Salem in 1914 that almost destroyed the town.

Through the years, many have seen the ghostly figure of Giles Corey wandering in Salem. It is said that if he should speak to you, you will die within the week.

Is it all a coincidence? Is there a curse affecting Salem? Was Giles Corey a witch to have such power over three hundred years later? Anybody want to be sheriff in Salem?

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...
 What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
 Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
 A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
 B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
 The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufactures recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
 C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
 D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
 E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
 The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
 Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

Mt. Vernon Council approves 2013 tax rate

At Monday night's regular meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council, the tax rate for 2013 was set at 16.6 cents per hundred dollar assessment of real estate and personal property.

The council chose to take the compensating rate of 16.2c plus 3%. Mayor Mike Bryant told the council that this rate gives city taxpayers a small break from last year's rate of 16.7c and still garners about $3,700 in additional tax revenue for the city. The 16.6c rate will bring in an estimated $122,497.74 in real estate tax revenue, as compared to $118,775.31 in 2012 and $13,613.89 in personal property revenue. The 16.7c tax rate on motor vehicles is unchanged from last year's rate.

In other business, Bryant told council members that the only bid received for blacktopping city streets was from Greer Bros. for $78.50 per ton. The mayor said this was an increase of about $10 over last year's bid but attributed it to fewer roads in the city needing resurfacing this year. "This is the high end of the bid the more blacktop used, the price will go down," Bryant told the council. He said only a couple of streets needed resurfacing before winter and most of the work will be done in the spring.

Bryant also brought the council up-to-date on the beauty pageant which will be a part of this year's Bittersweet Festival. The pageant itself will be held on Tuesday, October 1st at the high school auditorium and all participants will be introduced as part of the festival events on Saturday, October 4th. The mayor told the council that the pageant will involve a "broader spectrum. It will not just be a beauty contest."

The city's newest police officer was introduced to the Council. Shay Helton, 25, was introduced by Chief Brian Carter who told the

Man arrested for stealing copper from cell tower

By: Doug Ponder

A Berea man was arrested last Thursday after he allegedly stole a large amount of copper from a cell phone tower near Davis Lane in Mt. Vernon.

Arrested at the scene was Larry Wayne Morrow, 46, of Berea.

According to Mt. Vernon Police reports, officers responded after receiving a complaint about a man climbing the cell phone tower near Davis Lane. When officers arrived, they spoke to a witness who said they saw Morrow climb the tower and throw something to the ground from the top of the tower.

council that Helton will likely begin the 21-week training course at the police academy in Richmond on October 28th, since the Sept. 30th class was filled.

Carter also gave the council the activity report for July and August. Combined, the figures were: total calls for service, 965; non-injury accidents, 22; injury accidents 5; total arrests 37; drug charges 16; traffic violations, 40; other criminal charges 15; warrants served, 21; cases opened, 19; DUIs, 3 and indictments 2.

Mt. Vernon Fire Dept. Chief David Bales also made his report to the council for August. It showed responses to: 10 accidents with injuries; two accidents with injuries and entrapment; two vehicle fires; one tractor trailer accident; one motorcycle accident with injuries; one structure fire; one woods or brush and grass fire; three fire alarm activations; two smoke investigations; CSEPP training; one rescue from a roof and one assist to EMS to gain entry into a residence.

Bales also told the council that the department had received notice of the award of a 50/50 matching grant from the Kentucky Division of Forestry in the amount of $8,540. The funds will be used to purchase fire hose and nozzles which will replace 28 sections of hose and eight nozzles.

The chief also noted that in the last 3 1/2 years, MVFD has received nearly $190,000 in grant funds.

Four years added to Robinson's sentence

By: Doug Ponder

Circuit Court Judge Jeff Burdette recently sentenced the fifth and final defendant for her involvement in the shooting death of Jackie Bullock, 34, of Mt. Vernon.

Jessica Hailey Robinson, 22, of London was sentenced by Burdette in Rockcastle County Circuit Court last Friday to 26 years in prison.

During her five day jury trial in August, the jury originally convicted Robinson in Rockcastle County Circuit Court and found her guilty of wanton murder, complicity to first degree robbery and complicity to manufacture methamphetamine. She was also found to be a persistent felony offender because of her prior felony offenses in 2011.

The jury recommended 22 years imprisonment for wanton murder, 15 years for complicity to first degree robbery and 22 years for complicity to manufacture methamphetamine. But Robinson would have only had to serve 22 years in prison as the jury recommended that the sentence for the three counts be served concurrently.

However, during sentencing last Friday, Burdette added four years onto the jury's recommendation due to the nature of the case and how it resulted in a murder.

"Meth and illegal drugs are a scourge on our communities all the way from the city streets of Louisville to the countryside of Rockcastle County," Burdette said. "But in this particular case the result of making meth and using meth led to the death of a man."

Burdette said he heard

Joetta M. Garrett-Head, 48 of Bussell Street, Brodhead and Rose C. Osborne, 60 of Liberty Drive in Mt. Vernon were named in a joint indictment. Garrett-Head was indicted for theft of identity and Osborne for complicity to theft of identity. Bond for both women was set at $25,000 cash/property.

Phillip Clay Falin, 38 of Whitlin Hollow Road, Mt. Vernon was indicted on two counts -- theft by unlawful taking of property over $500 and as a persistent felony offender. Falin's bond was

Child Play Space program underway

The Rockcastle County Development Board has formed a committee that is currently developing a play space for young children between one and five-years-old.

There will be two locations in Rockcastle County. One location will be in Mt. Vernon and the second location will be in Livingston. Organizers hope both locations will be developed in building space donated to the project rent free. However, utilities will be the responsibility of the program called "Space2Create."

Volunteers are meeting to construct the parent-run program that they hope will help young children socialize and their parents net-

Local educator takes professional development overseas

By: Kelsey Mattingly

Rockcastle County Middle School 7th grade science teacher Ken Mattingly recently took a week off from school to share his professional development in educating students (something he's been doing in the U.S. for years) with instructors in Hong Kong, China.

On August 17th, just a few days into the new school year, Mattingly said he left the United States for a week-long trip to Hong Kong with three other educators from Ohio, through Pearson, an education company. He said he has been working with Pimser, another education company, for several years and was grateful that Pearson wanted him on board and gave him the opportunity to take his work transcontinental.

"I was surprised by it, it kind of came out of the blue. It was the opportunity of a lifetime," Mattingly said. "I appreciate my principal and superintendent for allowing me to take advantage of this opportunity."

Mattingly said that the work he is able to do in places such as Portland, Colorado and Kentucky were the same presentations he took overseas. He said the point is not to improve the way students are assessed, it's to improve the way students learn. He was able to help educators in Hong Kong understand this concept. Though there were difficulties such as the language barrier, Mattingly said that his audience in Hong Kong was eager to learn all he had to offer.

"There were some language things you had to clear up. They don't use the term 'post-test' and don't have any idea what 'blue print' means, so you had to kind of watch your language and be a little bit more patient," Mattingly said. "If you speak too fast or present too much information you'll confuse them. It has nothing to do with intelligence, it's just the language barrier."

Mattingly went on to say that he believes he made an impact on the educators he encountered during the course of his work-packed week in China. He claimed there wasn't much time for leisure, stating that their day began at 6 a.m. and ended around midnight and that most

Mt. Vernon Mayor Mike Bryant swore-in a new police officer Tuesday morning for the Mt. Vernon Police Department. Shay Helton, 25, of Mt. Vernon will not assume full-time duties with the department until he completes the 21 week training course at the police academy in Richmond. Helton will start the course on October 28th since the September 30th class has already been filled. Until Helton completes the course he will continue to tide with officers and receive one-on-one training. Shown above from left are: Officer Adam Stallsworth, Helton, Bryant and Chief Brian Carter.

By Ike Adams

Besides the 6 blood-related grand kids, Loretta and I have 4 other little girls and a grown up who call us Grandma and Grandpa.

In 1986 I started up an after school and week-end recreation and counseling program in Mount Vernon. Called the Rockcastle Teen Center, it was operated by The Christian Appalachian Project (CAP) which had a relatively long history of providing summer camp opportunities and week-end excursions at no cost to a few thousand teenagers.

The belief at that time was that kids who had access to supervised recreation were more apt to stay out of trouble than those who didn't. So the Teen Center catered to kids whose families simply could not afford the costs associated with extra-curricular activities at school and to those on the verge of academic failure because they couldn't afford tutors.

The first two kids I met during the course of renovating and readying a building to house the center, were twin boys, Jack and John Edwards, and for a bunch of reasons, they stuck to me like ticks. They were getting ready to enter their sophomore years of high school.

First one and then the other and then both of them started coming home with me on Saturday nights. Loretta and I had just moved into an old house that came with a host of maintenance problems.

We also had lawnmowers, weed eaters, a tiller and a chain saw that needed frequent fixing. To this day I have no idea where they learned the skill but the Edwards boys knew the workings of small engines better than anyone I've ever met. They were both enrolled in vocational electrical and carpentry classes at school and they could fix anything.

They both loved running anything that had a motor and fixing it if was broken or not running as well as they thought it should. Nintendo had just made the scene and my kids had to have the very first one to hit the market. Neither of the Edwards boys had the slightest interest in Zelda but they might pause to play Nintendo golf or baseball if there was absolutely nothing else to do.

We heated with wood at the time but I never cut a stick. Jack and John would fight over who got to run the chainsaw. They'd take a lawnmower engine apart, put it back together, mow the lawn and try to convince you that they had the mower running better than it was before they dismantled and cleaned every single spring and needle jet in its carburetor.

After two years of working with teen agers. I moved into a management position

The Chevrolet Bowtie

While washing my '54 Chevy in preparation for a "Cruise-In" in Mt. Sterling, I noticed the small, blue bowtie of the Chevrolet emblem on the trunk. It made me recall my grandfather, Pop, explaining to me as a young man how the bowtie had been a symbol of the Chevrolet brand for as long as he could remember. Actually, it was 1913 when the bowtie emblem first appeared on a Chevy.

When I learned that the bowtie has been the logo for the past 100 years, it aroused my curiosity as to how that had come to pass. My research was not as easy as I anticipated that it would be.

On November 3, 1911, Swiss race-car driver Louis Chevrolet consulted with his friend William C. Durant to discuss founding a Motor Company in Detroit in order to compete with the popular Ford Model-T. It was a mere two years later that Durant introduced the Chevrolet logo. The origin of the design is somewhat vague, with three completely different stories that propose to explain how it was first designed.

Was it inspired by wallpaper in a French hotel? Durant's version of how the logo came into existence is well known. He and his wife were world travelers. They were staying in a French hotel when he noted the pattern of the wallpaper design in their room. As the story is told, Durant tore off a small piece of the wallpaper so that he could show it to his friends at the motor company. He said, "This will make a good nameplate for our new cars." This is probably the most accepted theory of how the Chevrolet bowtie first originated.

Was it a dinner-table sketch? Apparently, another tale came from Durant's daughter, Margery. In 1929, she published a book entitled, My Father. It was in that book that she told of how Durant sometimes doodled nameplate designs on small pieces of paper at the dinner table. "I think it was between the soup and the fried chicken one night that he sketched out the design that is used on the Chevrolet car to this day," she wrote. However, this theory is not as accepted as the one of the original wallpaper that was told by Durant himself. I suppose that there could be some truth to both.

Was it borrowed from a newspaper ad? The third version of the bowtie's origin was recounted more than a half-century later by Durant's widow, Catherine. It was 1986 that she recalled being on holiday with her husband in Hot Springs, Virginia in 1912. While reading a newspaper in their hotel room, Durant spotted a design published in The Constitution, an advertisement by the Southern Compressed Coal Company for "coalettes," a refined-fuel product for fires. The logo for the ad contained the slant in the bowtie form, very similar to the shape that would soon become the Chevrolet icon. The date of that paper was said to be just nine days after the incorporation of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

On Call

By:
Rick Branham

Last week marked the twelve anniversary of 9/11. Many can still remember where they were the morning of the attacks, I know I do. I had the privilege of attending a ceremony in downtown Lexington to commemorate those lives lost on that day. Many lives were lost that day, but firefighters remember a specific number. That number is 343. That is the number of firefighters that answered a call and never made it back home. These firefighters started their morning like another other work day, like any day they were on call. But on September 11, 2001 they responded to the World Trade Center buildings doing their job, doing what they have been trained to do and that is to help people. Firefighters remember 343 and their sacrifice they made doing what they loved to do. We will never forget.

I know I missed last week's paper and I apologize for that. The question I left of with was concerning the length of air that a self-contained breathing apparatus or SCBA holds. The answer is, for Brodhead's department is 30 minutes. A typical SCBA cylinder will hold 30 minutes of air and that is what we use at Brodhead. There is other department s that uses larger cylinders. Lexington uses 30, 45 and 60 minute cylinders, but mainly 30 minute.

The 4 rescue engines and Rescue 1 uses 45 minute cylinders and they carry one in their rapid intervention team or RIT bag. The rescue companies have larger cylinders due to having to search a structure or carry out a rescue operation of a victim or a downed firefighter. A 60-minute cylinder is typically used in haz-mat situations when firefighters must wear a class-A haz-mat suit. This suit fully encapsulates the firefighter and wearing a 60-minute cylinder allows the firefighter to enter a hazardous area, do what task needs to be done and return to decontaminate them.

We as firefighters wear a SCBA any time there are respiratory hazards that are immediately dangerous to life and health or IDLH atmosphere. There are 4 common respiratory hazards with a fire. They are oxygen deficiency, smoke, elevated temperatures and toxic atmospheres.

An oxygen deficient atmosphere is an atmosphere with less than 19.5 percent of oxygen. Typically there is 21 percent of oxygen in the air at all times. When you start to fall below that you began to experience symptoms from the lack of oxygen. At 17 percent your breathing increases and you will have some impairment

The Curse of the Kennedys

Last week the subject of curses came up in the study of Giles Corey and the curse he left on Salem, Massachusetts, and its line of sheriffs. This week we will take a look at a curse that has followed the Kennedy family for many generations.

We are all familiar with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, then the same fate would follow his brother, Bobby Kennedy. In 1969, another brother, Ted Kennedy was involved in a serious auto accident where his secretary, Mary Jo Kopechne was killed. He was blamed for not doing more to save her and this incident followed him for years.

Another brother, Joseph Kennedy, was killed in an airplane crash while piloting an Air Force plane over England. The plane exploded in midair with no other aircraft involved. Through the years, other Kennedy family members have met with disaster and death, far too many to mention here.

It makes you wonder where and how the curse came to be, and why it follows a certain family. It is said that it may have begun in 1842 in County Galway in Ireland. Thomas "Honey Fitz" Fitzgerald, Rose Fitzgerald Kennedy's father, is said to have discovered a hoard of treasure. As it turned out, "Honey Fitz" had dreamed that gold was hidden, but didn't know where until he described it to an O'Malley who directed him to Ourid.

He soon settled there, and became a herdsman for local landowners. One night, he and others came upon a dying woman in the road. She was taken in at a near by house and got better during the night. On a big black pot hanging in the fire place there was an engraving saying, "The other side of the tree is just as good", that she interpreted from a foreign language. Soon "Honey Fitz" figured out what it meant and began digging around a hawthorn tree and found some gold coins.

However, they were supposed to be very unlucky, and most were afraid to touch them. If any one took the gold, misfortune followed. There were enough coins to share with people such as the O'Malleys. The coins, once found, even cursed the entire town, beginning with O'Malley's wife, who killed herself. The village was almost destroyed by high winds and what survived was wiped out by famine.

Later, Fitzgerald came to America, bringing the curse with him. There is another legend that claims to be the origin of the Kennedy curse. We will take a look at it next week.

A Reminder of Basic Truth

By Howard Coop

For many people, Saturday, September 14, will be an ordinary day. As usual, it will pass without special note. But for others, the day may be different; for them, it will have special significance. While it is not a holiday, it is the 199th anniversary of the writing of our beloved national anthem.

In 1814, a war, known as the War of 1812, was raging, and Francis Scott Key, an attorney from Washington, went to the Chesapeake Bay near Fort McHenry to visit the British fleet to attempt to secure the release of Dr. William Beanes, a civilian prisoner of war held by the British. During the night of September 13, 1814, the British attacked Fort McHenry, and Key watched through the night as “the rocket’s red glare and the bombs bursting in air gave proof” to him “that our flag was still there.” Then, “By the dawns early light” on the morning of September 14, he saw that our flag was still waving over Fort McHenry, and he knew that the fort had withstood the British siege.

Because of that dreadful experience, Key “was so moved” that “he vented” his feelings by writing a poem on September 14, 1814 that

Underground Parking Lot...

Dear Editor,
Rockcastle County now has an underground parking lot! That's right, folks. Thanks to Buzz and the RCIDA we now have $19,000 of your tax money buried in an unfinished underground parking lot in Industrial Park South. Had it not been for SourceHOV's plant manager speaking up and being honest about not needing additional parking, there would have been more public money spent on an unneeded parking lot. So hats off to SourceHOV's plant manager.

Every member of the fiscal court and RCIDA that voted to build that underground parking lot should have to chip in and pay back to the county that wasted $19,000 out of their own pockets then maybe they would be better stewards of public monies (your tax dollars).

The waste of $19,000 could have provided a number of benefits to county residents such as at least one job for a year. Blacktop and gravel for the many pot holes in the county roads or mowing of the county roads sooner. Our right-of-ways were not mowed until the last part of July and August, which is a shame and dangerous.

Thanks to the citizens who used their lawnmowers and tractors to mow parts of the county right-of-way. Thanks again, fellow citizens.

at CAP's central office in Lancaster. But, if anything, that only served to intensify our family relationship with the Edward's boys. They became our biological son Christopher's big brothers. They fell naturally into the habit of calling me "Old Man" and Loretta, "Mom".

And so it follows that their kids naturally call us Gramma and Grampa and we feel natural in those roles.

Jack married almost straight out of high school so his first two, Chelsea and Cody are grown and gone. We stay in touch with them on Facebook. Now in a second marriage, Jack and Nancy have 5 year old Ginger who I call Ginger Tea or Ginger Bread or Ginger Snap and she pretends to be terribly upset about it but she grins when she scolds me.

John and Celeste have three girls who call us grandparent names and we sure believe we are just that. Eleven year old Johnna, who I call Johnica June is stoic and studious. 8 year old Alyssa (Sissy Lou to me) has more energy than a foot ball team and she can have an anvil in 3 pieces in less than a minute. The baby, 5 year old, Shyanne does not yet have a grampa nickname because I'm having trouble coming up with something that is quite the opposite of shy.

While we don't see Jack, Nancy and Ginger Tea, nearly as much as we'd like to, we do get to spend a weekend afternoon and evening with John's crew about once a month and the bond is tight. The grand kids simply keep us grounded and grinning, and I truly believe that they keep us younger than we'd be without them.

of muscle coordination. At 12 percent you begin to experience dizziness, fatigue and headache. At 9 percent unconsciousness occurs and at 6 percent death will occur within minutes from respiratory and heart failure.

The second hazard a SCBA protects us from are elevated temperatures. Introducing heated air into the lungs can cause a decrease in blood pressure and failure of the circulatory system. Heated gases can cause pulmonary edema, which is an accumulation of fluids in the lungs and associated swelling. This can cause death. Thirdly a SCBA protects us from smoke. Everyone knows the danger of smoke, but do you know what smoke consists of. In a typical structure fire you will find that smoke consists of oxygen, nitrogen, carbon dioxide, carbon monoxide and an assortment of products that have been released from the materials involved in the fire. Those can consist of hydrogen chloride which comes from burning plastic and hydrogen cyanide which comes from burning wool, nylon, rubber and paper. And lastly a SCBA protects us from toxic atmospheres that are not associated with a fire such as a chlorine gas leak.

Ever notice that firefighters don't have beards. That is because facial hair can compromise the seal between the facepiece and the wearers face. This is just one of the limitations the wearer has when wearing a SCBA. Having facial hair is certainly not a great limitation but can cause the wear to lose their air supply quickly if there is not a good seal around your face. Other limitations are the weight of a SCBA. A SCBA will add 25 to 35 pounds of extra weight to carry around fighting a structure fire. Carrying that extra weight around increases your physical exertion those causing a 30-minute cylinder to only last 15 minutes because you're sucking down the air in the cylinder. You know when a firefighter is breathing fast in a SCBA when the cylinder is starting to ice over.

Lastly a very important part of the SCBA is the personal alert safety system or PASS device. This device can come as a detachable option or they have become integrated into our SCBA's. The PASS device is designed to alert firefighters that a firefighter is in distress. If a firefighter becomes lost or disoriented, they can set off the PASS device. The device emits a loud pulsating shriek that can be heard from far off. Also if the firefighter becomes motionless for approximately 30 seconds the PASS device will automatically sound alerting nearby firefighters. This device saves firefighters and is a crucial part of firefighter safety.

Next week I am going to start to talk about fire behavior and the science of fire. The question this week deals with the fire triangle. For years now firefighters have been taught the three components needed for a fire to occur. Can you name the three components that make up the fire triangle? The answer next week.

he entitled The Defense of Fort McHenry. After the poem was published on September 20, 1814 in a Baltimore newspaper, it immediately became popular and the name was changed to The Star Spangled Banner. Then, 117 years later, in 1931, by an Act of Congress that was signed into law by President Herbert Hoover, the Star Spangled Banner became the national anthem of the United States of America and has remained so for 82 years.

The Star Spangled Banner, beloved as it is, should be more than a national anthem to be sung on special occasions. It should be a poignant reminder of a basic truth: There is a glimmer of hope in the worst situations we face. Therefore we do not give up; we keep on

Whichever story is true, it was within a few years that the image of the bowtie would emerge as the iconic Chevrolet logo. Many variations in coloring and detail of the Chevy bowtie have come and gone over the decades since its introduction in late 1913. But the essential shape has never changed. In 2004, Chevrolet began to phase in the golden bowtie that today serves as the brand identity for all of its cars and trucks marketed globally.

As it turns out, the bowtie design is one of the most-recognized automotive emblems in the entire world.

Since 1913, 215 million cars and trucks have worn the badge. This year, Chevrolet's globally recognized bowtie is celebrating its 100th anniversary. Today, sixty million Chevrolets are on the roads worldwide. A Chevy brand of car, cross-over, or truck is sold every 6.39 seconds in one of 140 countries. Chevrolet's Chief Marketing Officer, Tim Mahoney recently claimed, “The Chevrolet bowtie is recognized around the world and has become synonymous with American ingenuity.”

I am glad that Pop and I had our brief conversation about the bowtie all those years ago. Because he pointed out the small design to me, I have been paying attention to its detail and to its changes ever since our talk – when I was probably not more than nine-years-old. Again, it seems like coming full circle – after all, I have a Chevy of my own that is the image of Pop's now sitting in my driveway.

Yards to Paradise

By Max Phelps

*Creativity In Landscaping
Must Successfully
Navigate a Few Mine Fields*

It is a rewarding labor to help bring people's dreams into reality for them. Sometimes it involves helping them build the dream. Not everyone knows what they want. For others it's convincing them you can actually do what it is they are asking to have done. And perhaps the task more challenging than creating a masterpiece of a landscape for a client is sometimes resisting the urge to price a job a little too cheap to be sure and not lose the work. Today's topic may not help with designing the pretty yard, but if it clears some of the mines to successful landscaping then it will have helped both the customer and the landscaper.

In 1998 yours truly earned over $30,000 before taxes laboring for a landscaping partnership in Lexington, Kentucky. The owners paid me once I clocked in, except for subtracting out thirty minutes at lunch time, for all the hours until I clocked out. Then, just driving to and from the office were the only hours I didn't get paid for.

As a landscape and water garden contractor, I may take more money to the bank than the $30, 000 per year, but I would hasten to say that when all the bills are paid—then taking what is left and dividing it up among the hours driving from the office to the job, the hours going to meet someone and then the hours to accurately design and calculate costs of implementing my design—then searching out and acquiring and transporting all the necessary materials to the job site, getting all the 'ducks lined up right'—then actually using a shovel, hammer, pitchfork or whatever including the old back and getting the hands dirty—then when the customer is satisfied you've done your job, get him to pay for the lovely work without extra trips to collect the next day and the like—then do the banking, the bill paying, and yes the taxes too, it takes billing for more than thirty or fourty dollars per hour for the time actually sweating on the job in order to have even minimum wage when it's divided among the hours that go into a successful design and completion of a major landscaping project.

Another way to say the same thing is that in 1998 the efforts of my crew and one other crew made enough money to not only pay our own wages, plus benefits, but we paid for the architect and for the salesman who obtained the jobs, as well as paid pretty well for the two owners of the company. Each hour I worked had to earn enough to pay my wage, pay the office help and pay the owners, and then actually have a little left for PROFIT, (for growing the company is a main reason for not just clocking in and out and going home to relax when the day is done).

I think some of my good customers think I should be able to quote their job for a whole lot less than the big company with all the non-productive people getting paid. Let me say, as a do-it-all contractor, I am those other people doing the 'un-productive' chores too. And if I am like one self-employed contractor I know who charges $15 an hour for this time on the job and nothing for all the other hours, it's no wonder he has to have a real job for fourty hours a week so he can do what he loves the rest of his daylight hours. As for me, I know I earn every dollar I charge, and I sleep good at night. (And occasionally I fail to get a job I bid on because someone mistakenly thought I was about to get paid more per hour than what they make at their job.) OK, too much about me. And not enough on mines and traps one can encounter on the way to a lovely lovely landscape masterpiece.

A homeowner is smart to carefully go over a landscape plan and to come to see and understand it before signing a contract. For once two people agree to something, it's not so simple to change it. And the landscaper is not going to want to do extra things, nor re-do things, without an additional charge, additions the customer may decide they want. Both the contractor and the homeowner should know what is about to take place and have some idea what the finished product will look like.

Another little mine in the sand can be working with the homeowner who always thinks he has to get you to give a few dollars on your price or get you to throw in a couple 'little things' he is not being charged for. If the landscaper sees this behaviour coming, he is smart to pad his bid a little higher to begin with, so he can give a little to these folks and not have to close his notebook and go home without the job because he already quoted it as cheaply as he was willing to do it for.

Having a good reputation, which is earned by both doing super work at a fair price, as well as being a man of your word and not promising more than you deliver, but delivering without fail on what you promise. Word of mouth spread by satisfied customers is worth hundreds if not thousands in advertising. When someone says good things about me, I truly appreciate it. (And even if I get the rare negative comment, if I learn from having not impressed that particular client in some fashion, it is still to be appreciated that they shared with me the part where they think I could have done better.) As a matter of habit, I generally include a plant or two for a customer that is more than what we agreed to; it may not be expensive, but it does a lot for the feeling of getting a little extra.

It is smart to charge for time and travel costs to consult with a prospect in any business. (The exception here would be where they have hired a professional to draw up a blueprint, and my job is to simply put my price on doing it for them.) When someone who has an improperly functioning project done by some competitor, it is imperative to charge for one's expertise. For a simple diagnosis of what is not working might possibly get me a thank you, but when I've told the homeowner what was not done right, they usually then go call the guy who did it the first time and let him fix it. If I don't ask for money to cover my gas and time, I won't get it covered. We all know somebody has to pay for those sorts of trips...but it shouldn't be the one that is giving the useful advice.

(And once you've seen two or three messes or gombs created by a competing contractor, any glee or thrill goes away fast upon reflection you spent a half day of productive time and twenty-five dollars in gas to look at the mess, while telling them it will now cost more to tear it out and redo it correctly than what they paid originally, knowing full well they aren't going to ask 'where do I sign'?)

Just as risky as the unexploded grenade on a battlefield, so is giving money to someone you don't know without asking for references (and then actually checking those references and any other source of information both good and bad on the company or owner).

A slick well-groomed salesman can talk an eskimo into buying ice cubes sometimes. But who is going to do the work? Who is going to come review the finished job and collect the balance due? Avoid this problem by asking to meet the person or persons who will be tearing up your yard before you sign the contract. (And don't even think about giving the fast talker a deposit without a contract proposal you are given time to read and understand.) (How many voted for Obamacare without reading it...and how many would have NOT signed on if they'd really understood what was in the bill?) Be the same way with hiring a contractor, know what you're getting and what it's going to cost you.

Sometimes we all face unexpected snares along the way. Do you suspect a landscaper who just put in a $50,000 landscape masterpiece in Boulder, Colorado is going to have an issue collecting on a project that washed away in the flood? Or one where half the plants died from flood or drought...conditions not considered when the deal was struck.

Sometimes the utility company may mark paint all over the yard, but when you get a backhoe and start digging five feet away and tear up a fiber optic cable, or worse yet a natural gas line that could blow up the whole block, who has to be responsible? Problems not foreseen can be problems indeed when they have to be dealt with under pressure.

Once in awhile I bid a commercial job. Maybe a municipal job. There is always the risk of somebody who knows personally the chairman, the judge, the mayor, and so forth getting the job even though their proposal was not better nor cheaper. And maybe one or more even were shown my bid before they turned theirs in. Not all bids are sealed bids, nor are all done on a level playing field. Only when the rules are understood and they are applied to everyone alike, only then is it good to spend valuable time quoting work. It's unproductive to play with a stacked deck. The honest official, committee, chairman, etc., will be doing everyone a favor (expect special interests). Such persons in positions of responsibility spend wisely the peoples money they are entrusted with. (How rare this is in politics!)

So, navigating the obstacles can be half the chore when it comes to creating a work of art with plants and stones and mulch and the like for an expectant homeowner. Finding that special client who appreciates the extra attention of the landscape artist who knows their stuff and enjoys working—let's just say, I've been blessed to meet quite a few and have had the pleasure of placing some of my artwork where they can appreciate it regularly from both outside or inside their castle.

Rockets defeat Whitley, 28-9, for first win of season

By Doug Ponder

The Rockcastle County Rockets won their first game of the 2013 season by defeating the Whitley County Colonels 28-9 last Friday night in Williamsburg.

The Rocket defense forced four turnovers and held the Colonel offense to 192 total yards with 111 rushing yards and 81 passing yards. Unlike the Colonels, the Rockets had a great night offensively as they gained a total of 348 yards - 134 yards on the ground and 214 through the air.

Junior fullback Chance Ansardi got the Rockets into the scoring column first with a 9 yard touchdown run. The extra point was good and gave the Rockets a 7-0 lead late in the first quarter.

The Rocket defense shut down the Colonels offense on the next possession when junior defensive back Kyle Denney intercepted a pass from Colonels' quarterback Luke Woods. The Rockets took advantage of the momentum swing after the interception as senior quarterback Corey McPhetridge threw a 14 yard touchdown strike to senior wide receiver Tyler Harper. The two point conversion attempt was no good making the score 13-0 early in the second quarter.

The Rockets scored again on their next drive with another rushing touchdown from 17 yards out by Ansardi. The two point conversion was good to make the score an even 21-0.

Whitley County fired back on their next possession when running back Austin Ysidro broke free for a 45 yard touchdown run. The extra point was no good cutting the Rockets lead to 21-6 in the middle of the second quarter.

The Rockets made it to the red zone in their next possession before Ysidro intercepted a pass from McPhetridge. The Colonels then drove the ball 84 yards before freshman linebacker Austin Mills recovered a fumble by Woods to put an end to the Colonels scoring threat. However, the Colonels forced a fumble on the Rockets next possession and, with time running out in the second quarter, Colonels kicker Alex Conlin drilled a 39 yard field goal to make the score 21-9 at halftime.

The third quarter proved to be a defensive battle between the two opponents with neither team putting any points on the board.

In the fourth quarter, the Rockets put the game away when McPhetridge connected with Harper on a 26 yard touchdown pass. The extra point was good making the final score 28-9.

Offensively, the Rockets were led by McPhetridge who was 13 out of 20 pass attempts for 214 yards and two touchdowns with one interception. McPhetridge picked up 21 yards on the ground as well.

Ansardi also had a big night on offense leading the Rockets in rushing with 64 yards on 13 carries and two touchdowns.

Other Rockets picking up rushing yards were junior Isaiah Adams with 24 yards on four carries and freshman Dalton Rowe with 15 yards on four carries. Senior Brandon Jones and freshman Chayse McClure were both credited with 5 yards on one carry.

Senior Tyler Harper led the receiving corps with seven catches for 103 yards and two touchdowns. Senior John Hughes made two catches for 70 yards and Jones had four catches for 41 yards.

Defensively, the Rockets were led by Mills who had the best performance of his career with 14 tackles, two sacks, two fumble recoveries and a blocked punt.

Other Rockets picking up tackles and assists were McClure with 9, senior Jared Lake and Ansardi with 6 each, freshman Logan Coffey with 4 and one sack, Adams with 4, Denny and Hughes both had 3 and one interception each, senior R.C. Kirby and senior Koty Bengé with 3 each, junior Justin Hughes with 2 and Rowe with one.

Head Coach Scott Parkey said he was impressed with his team, especially freshman Austin Mills who made his debut at middle linebacker and got 14 tackles, 2 sacks, 2 fumble recoveries and one blocked punt.

“To have a freshman put up those numbers in his first start at middle linebacker is amazing,” Parkey said. “He was reading plays and flying to the football all night.”

Parkey said he was also impressed with everyone on defense as they played great together as one unit.

“The defensive line played great getting penetration and altering the path of their fullback on their option plays which disrupted their whole offensive scheme,” Parkey said. “The secondary played great too as they covered the field and knocked a couple of passes loose that would have been first downs.”

Parkey said he was impressed overall with the offense as well as they operated with a more balanced approach due to the excellent blocking the offensive line provided for the running backs.

Casey Chattelle makes a pass to Katie Adams during last Thursday night's match at Pulaski County.

“When our running game is good we can use more play action passing allowing McPhetridge to connect with some high percentage throws and hit the big plays over the top of the defense,” Parkey said. “Our wide receivers also did a great job of finding holes in the zone and knowing when to look for the ball.”

The Rockets will play the Pulaski County Maroons at home this Friday night at 7:30 p.m.

Parkey said the Maroons will be one of the best teams they will play against this year. He said the Rockets will have to play together as a team and not as individuals if they want to win.

“They have a talented mobile quarterback, good receivers and strong backs that make up their spread offense,” Parkey said. “Their defense is good as well. The difference in the game will likely be how well our line matches up with them and how well we can play together as one team.”

Stream smallmouth bass love early fall

If you are a river or stream angler, this past spring and summer has filled your belly with enough frustration to pull your hair out by the handful. Mother Nature greeted every stream fishing trip you planned for the upcoming weekend by rudely parking a heavy thunderstorm in the headwaters of the intended stream two days before the trip. A torrent of glutinous, rust colored water followed the monsoon, looking like the stream flowed from the bottom of a hog pen. Instead of fun fishing, it became time to mow the yard instead.

The recent dry spell means streams are finally low and clear. The smallmouth bass that live in them are hungry.

"It is the ideal situation right now on our Kentucky streams," said David Baker, stream biologist for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "Streams are at their prime now. On lakes, the water is hot and the fish lethargic. Stream smallmouths are feeding like crazy."

The low and clear water puts smallmouth bass at an advantage over their prey, which they exploit with abandon. "There are more stable flows now in our streams," said Jeff Ross, assistant director of fisheries for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "The baitfish and smallmouth bass are in closer proximity. They are feeding up now with the shorter days to prepare for winter."

During a recent trip to a central Kentucky stream, Baker caught over 20 smallmouth bass longer than 12 inches. It takes about five years for a stream smallmouth bass to reach a foot in length.

"This time of year, smallmouths are schooled up," Baker said. "If you catch one, spend some time in that spot. The low water concentrates the smallmouths and you can catch several from the same pool."

Topwater lures draw incredibly savage strikes from stream smallmouths in September. The banana or cigar-shaped 3- to 4-inch long topwater lures worked with the "walk the dog" retrieve are deadly right now. Fish these lures across flowing shoals, beside undercut banks and in the tailout water above and below riffles.

"Don't spend too much time fishing soft-plastic lures really slow right now," Baker said. He prefers searching for smallmouth schools by throwing lures that cover water such as 1/

One in four households with children struggle to purchase enough food

The recession has meant that high numbers of all types of households have been struggling to purchase adequate food, but households with children suffered extraordinarily high rates, according to a new national report released today. In surveys running for five years through 2012, nearly one in four households with children in the U.S. said they couldn't consistently afford food, even as the House Majority Leadership is proposing to cut the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP, formerly food stamps) by a staggering $40 billion.

Food Hardship 2008-2012: Geography and Household Structure, released by the Food Research and Action Center (FRAC), found that in surveys from 2008-2012, more than 26 percent of households with children in Kentucky said there were times in the prior year when they did not have enough money to buy food that they needed for themselves or their family. More than 19 percent of households without children in Kentucky said they faced the same struggle.

"What these data tell us is that there's a new reality for too many Kentuckians. Hunger and poverty rates spiked at the beginning of the recession and have stayed high ever since," said Tamara Sandberg, Executive Director of the Kentucky Association of Food Banks. "And the food hardship data reveal the extraordinary frequency of the struggle to afford enough food for households with children. September is Hunger Action Month and these data should spur all of us to take action to solve hunger in Kentucky."

This report is consistent with data released by the federal government this month which show how many Americans continue to struggle. Food insecurity data, released by the Economic Research Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), show that 1 in 6 Kentuckians in state struggled with hunger during the 2010 to 2012 period. (Those data are not broken down by households with and without children.) And data released yesterday by the U.S. Census Bureau showed that the national poverty rate has remained at elevated rates since the recession began; Kentucky's poverty rate exceeds the national rate.

The FRAC analysis examines food hardship rates – the inability to afford enough food – for households with and without children. Data are available for the nation, every state and region, and 100 of the country's largest Metropolitan Statistical Areas (MSAs), including Louisville-Jefferson County. Findings for childhood food hardship for surveys from 2008-2012 in Kentucky include:

- 26.5 percent of households with children in Kentucky said they were unable to afford enough food. The food hardship rate for households without children was 19.5 percent.

- Kentucky has the sixth highest food hardship rate for households without children and the 16th highest rate for households with children.

- For the Louisville-Jefferson County MSA, the food hardship rate for households with children was 28 percent which is the tenth highest food hardship rate in the nation for households with children.

The full analysis is available on FRAC's website (www.frac.org).

“Smallmouth”

8-ounce white and silver spinnerbaits, floating/diving minnow-shaped jerkbaits in shad colors and smaller minnow-shaped crankbaits.

"The flat bedrock areas are holding fish," Baker said. "I don't usually fish flat, boring bedrock, but crayfish and minnows are holding on them right now."

He said the minnows he's witnessed in streams are roughly three to four inches long. Lures should match that size.

Stealth is important since streams are flowing at their lowest level since last winter. "The fish can see you coming," Baker said. "Make long casts and stay off the areas you plan to fish."

Under-utilized small-mouth streams course all across Kentucky. If a local flow has water at least waist deep and a rocky bottom along with pools and riffles, it likely holds smallmouth bass.

The Kentucky Fish and Wildlife website at fw.ky.gov has two excellent resources for Kentucky anglers to locate and learn more about the smallmouth fishing streams in their area. Click on the "Fishing and Boating" tab, then on the "Where to Fish" tab and then on the printable "Kentucky Smallmouth Streams" brochure.

You may also click on the Blue Water Trails tab on the same screen and locate two dozen streams profiled that provide public access points, floating mileages, printable maps and fishing information. Many of the streams featured in the series contain good small-mouth bass populations.

The great stream small-mouth fishing continues well into fall. Once water temperatures fall below 50 degrees, usually by mid-November, the fishing slows drastically.

There is long way to go before now and then. Get out in the next few weeks and enjoy the best stream smallmouth fishing of the year.

of the sightseeing happened on the way to and from presentation sites. Although Mattingly did say the group ate at nice, authentic Chinese restaurants. Nonetheless, Mattingly said he still tried to abide by the Chinese customs.

“I used chopsticks every meal I was over there because I thought it was the respectful thing to do,” Mattingly said. “It wasn’t so much that I had to adapt to anything, but their culture and the way they show respect to somebody.”

Mattingly used an example of the ways they show respect by stating that they saw him as “the expert” because he was there presenting. He said it was hard for them to ask questions because they believe it looks disrespectful and as if they weren’t paying attention. Mattingly said this made it somewhat difficult on his presentation because he was never sure if they were “getting” what he was saying. But overall he made it clear that they were very intelligent and eager to learn.

“They were all super nice, and sometimes we don’t think about this, but the world is full of good people,” Mattingly said. “It’s just the governments sometimes get in the way, but there are lots of good people.”

Mattingly spoke of his experience, doing what he loves overseas, with great pride and often said how he hopes there will be more opportunities to go out of country again though he hopes it’s not during the school year because he said though it was an amazing opportunity, he missed his students and hated not being able to be there. He did end the interview with an excellent point, and wise words that not only his students, but students from across the county can learn from, “This kind of work makes me a better teacher and keeps me at the forefront of what’s going on. And the best part about it is it shows my kids, (or I hope I can convey this to my students), that you can do anything you want to do,” Mattingly said. “If a guy like me from rural Kentucky gets to do something like go and work with teachers from another country, you can do anything you want to do if you put your mind to it.”

the defense’s cases throughout the trial and that he believed Robinson played an integral part in the murder.

“I believed based on your intelligence that you not only played an important role in the murder but that you were the material instigator in the murder,” Burdette said. “You were an intelligent motivator in the crime and most of that was the result of the manufacturing of meth in which you also played an integral part.”

Burdette went on to sentence Robinson to 26 years in prison. He said she will have to serve 85% of her sentence before she will be eligible for parole.

Robinson’s sentence came as a result of the December 2011 incident that resulted in the shooting death of Bullock. According to the Rockcastle County Sheriff’s Department, Bullock was at a home on Lone Oak Drive on December 1, 2011 before he was murdered. He was later found dead in the driver’s seat of his vehicle, after it had rolled approximately 300 yards down a hill off Lone Oak Road near the residence where he was last seen.

Deputy Sheriff Matt Bryant, who was in charge of the vehicle accident investigation, later determined that Bullock’s death was a homicide after discovering a gunshot wound in his side.

In December of 2011, Bryant arrested and charged Mt. Vernon residents Gary Lee Kirby, 19, Joshua Duane Cameron, 25 and Bobby Peters, 36 with the murder of Bullock. After further investigation, Bryant arrested Mary Hannah Hunsucker, 24 of Mt. Vernon and charged her with murder as well. Robinson was later arrested on an warrant after she was indicted by a grand jury.

Upon further investigation, Bryant determined that all five people allegedly murdered Bullock during an attempted robbery of his prescription medication. Bryant also found a meth lab at Peters’ home during the investigation.

Kirby, Cameron, Peters and Hunsucker all pled guilty to murdering Bullock, during their respective trials in 2012. Hunsucker was sentenced to 20 years in prison while Kirby, Cameron and Peters were sentenced to 25 years in prison, due to separate charges for manufacturing methamphetamine. However, Robinson pled not guilty to the charges of murder, first degree robbery and manufacturing methamphetamine during her court appearances in 2012.

Robinson currently remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center without bond. Officials said she will remain lodged at RCDC until the Kentucky Department of Corrections can evaluate her and select a prison where she will serve her sentence.

While searching the area around the tower, officers found four of the copper plates and three pieces of copper wire lying beside the driveway that led up to the tower.

Upon further investigation, officers found Morrow in the wooded area near the tower. He told officers that he was mushroom hunting. Officers also found a climbing harness, roll of duct tape and ratchet/socket set lying near a tree in the woods where they found Morrow.

Hospital offers free cholesterol screenings

Children, young adults and older Americans can have high cholesterol. Learn how to prevent high cholesterol and know what your cholesterol levels mean.

September is National Cholesterol Education Month, a good time to get your blood cholesterol checked and take steps to lower it if it is high. National Cholesterol Education Month is also a good time to learn about lipid profiles and about food and lifestyle choices that help you reach personal cholesterol goals.

September 23-27, 2013, Rockcastle Regional Hospital is offering free cholesterol screenings from 7 a.m. until 10 a.m. No appointment is necessary. Please fast 12 hours prior to screening. Registration for the free screening will be in the second floor lobby of the Outpatient Services Center. For more information, contact Arielle Estes at 256-7880 or a.estes@rhcc.org.

Cholesterol is a waxy, fat-like substance found in your body and many foods. Your body needs cholesterol to function normally and makes all that you need. Too much cholesterol can build up in your arteries. After a while, these deposits narrow your arteries, putting you at risk for heart disease and stroke.

High cholesterol usually doesn't have any symptoms. As a result, many people do not know that their cholesterol levels are too high. However, doctors can do a simple blood test to check your cholesterol. High cholesterol can be controlled through lifestyle changes or if it is not enough, through medications.

It's important to check your cholesterol levels. High cholesterol is a major risk factor for heart disease, the leading cause of death in the United States. Source: CDC

Remembering Sue Bennett College

By David W. Owens, SBC Class of 1980
Recently I had an opportunity to travel to London, Kentucky and drove onto the old Sue Bennett College campus, now the Bennett Center, and a flood of memories overwhelmed me. I attended this historic institution during the school terms of 1978-79 & 1979-80.

I find it ironic now how much the school meant to me because I originally did not wish to begin my college education there. Following high school at Rockcastle County I wanted to attend Eastern Kentucky University where I had received a partial scholarship to play football and baseball for the Colonels.

My parents had other plans for me and in hindsight I am thankful they did. I think if I had not attended Sue Bennett first I would not have graduated college. Attending Sue Bennett College was very much like attending high school. All the teachers knew you by name and the students had a wonderful fellowship.

Sue Bennett College origins began as a private college in 1897 as the Sue Bennett Memorial School.

It was operated by the United Methodist Church and provided grade, high school, and teacher training for the mountain youth of Southeastern Kentucky.

The school's name sake was Susan Ann Bennett (1843-1891), a nineteenth century social activist, from Richmond, Kentucky. She was one of eight children of Samuel Bennett and Elizabeth Chenault Bennett. The Bennetts and Chenault families had close political ties to the famed abolitionist Cassius M. Clay's family of Madison County and were known for social reform.

This large and close-knit family greatly valued education and service to the church and community. Miss Sue devoted her life to these causes as seen by her service as Superintendent of Sunday School at the Methodist Church in Richmond and Secretary of the Kentucky Conference of Women's Missionary Society.

She became very interested in the education of the mountain children of Southeastern Kentucky in 1889 after meeting with and observing first-hand the success of Reverend J.J.

Dickey's school in Jackson, Kentucky. Upon giving her address to the Kentucky Conference she stated, "Let us illuminate some dark corner in the mountains with a school."

Miss Sue died in 1891 and did not live to see her dream manifest. Her younger sister Isabel (Belle) Bennett took up Miss Sue's cause and financed a trip through nine mountain counties; Rockcastle, Laurel, Jackson, Clay, Knox, Bell, Leslie, Whitley, and Harlan Counties in search of a suitable campus location.

Miss Belle's original recommendation for a campus site was in Manchester, the Methodist Conference agreed, on the condition that local residents raise $5,000, to match the Conference's $5,000 investment. However Clay County businesses were not successful in raising the funds so an alternate campus site was needed.

In 1893, Reverend Dickey advised Belle Bennett to locate the school at London in Laurel County, then one of the most cultivated and progressive communities in Southeastern Kentucky. Later Belle met with London officials and was impressed by the proposed campus site as well as the modern homes, churches, and the value placed on education.

After reporting back to the Kentucky Conference, the Methodist Women agreed to invest $20,000 in endowment if London would match the amount. In two short years London raised the necessary money and 20.5 acres were purchased from the Calloway family on a hill overlooking London for the sum of $2,000.

On the morning of June 23, 1896, through the collaborative efforts of Belle Bennett, the Methodist Women, and the township of London, Sue Bennett Memorial School was dedicated. Miss Belle placed a box of Miss Sue's momentos in the cornerstone of the administration building. Susan Ann Bennett's dream of a school was now a reality.

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...
What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufactures recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.

Missing Manchester man found safe early Monday morning

A missing Manchester man was found alive and well Monday morning on Chestnut Ridge Road in Mt. Vernon.

Ricky Smith, 31, of Manchester was reported missing, in a wooded area near Chestnut Ridge Road, on Sunday night.

According to State Trooper Adam Childress, Smith, and some of his friends, were ginseng hunting around 1 p.m. Sunday in a wooded area off Chestnut Ridge Road when Smith became separated from the group. He said Smith didn't have a cell phone with him at the time of his disappearance.

Childress said Smith's friends searched for him for hours in the woods before calling Rockcastle 911.

Once Childress arrived, he requested mutual aid from Mt. Vernon Fire Department, Brodhead Fire Department and Pongo Fire Department to help him in the search for Smith. Search crews scanned the woods where Smith was last seen for hours before finally ending the search around 3:30 a.m. Monday morning. Search crews continued their search and, around 8 a.m., they spotted Smith walking along Chestnut Ridge Road.

Mt. Vernon Fire Chief David Bales said that Smith told him when it got dark, he decided to crouch down and "bed up" for the night to conserve his energy and stay warm. Smith told Bales that once the sun came up, he started walking through the woods and eventually found the road.

Bales said that Smith didn't receive any injuries and refused medical treatment at the scene. Bales went on to say that he was glad that Smith was found alive and safe.

"You hear a lot about people missing on the news and unfortunately a lot of

The Way I See it

By
Doug Ponder

Earlier this week, I started reading our local historian David Owens' new book "Before Consolidation: The Golden Age of Rockcastle County Basketball." The book has been released and will be distributed to those who preordered on Saturday at the library. There will also be copies for sale on the same day.

The book provides the history of Rockcastle County basketball before the consolidation into Rockcastle County High School which gave us the Rockcastle County Rockets. Before the consolidation, each town in Rockcastle County had their own high school and their own sports teams, which primarily consisted of basketball. Those sports teams included the Mt. Vernon Red Devils, Brodhead Tigers and the Livingston Blue Devils.

Owens has spent six years gathering pictures, news articles and written excerpts from people who lived during that era. With these materials, Owens portrays how the love by the coaches, players and fans for these three individual teams was just as strong as the love UK basketball fans have for their beloved Wildcats.

During this time period, basketball was king in Rockcastle County and the three high schools in the county obviously became bitter rivals. Certain pictures in the book also show how the gymnasiums of the three teams would be packed during their home games and you can visually see how the atmosphere was comparable to a miniature Rupp Arena.

Personally, I am thankful that David Owens edited this book because any other editor without a Rockcastle County connection would have likely changed the sentence structure and reworded the sentences from the excerpts people had submitted. Changing how these excerpts were worded would have totally changed the personality of the book by removing the personal touches of each author.

This book has brought on a wide range of emotions for me in so many different ways. Reading my grandpa Dell Ponder's excerpt about Livingston basketball brought a smile to my face. When I started reading what he had written I immediately went back to my childhood memories when all of the grandkids would be sitting with him on his front porch as he told us stories about his childhood, such as his first basketball having a knot on one side and when he would dribble it he never knew which way it would bounce.

While I was reading my grandpa's excerpt, it was like he was in the room with me and I could audibly hear him saying those exact same words from stories I have heard numerous time that never grew old.

The same was true for my late grandmother Shirley (Cummins) Caudill who was a Mt. Vernon cheerleader from 1951-1954. She made a scrapbook of the newspaper issues that had her picture in it and she also saved the news articles from when the Red Devils went to the Sweet Sixteen tournament in 1953. She would lay the scrapbook on the kitchen table as she flipped through the pages and tell us her story of every picture and article as if those events happened yesterday.

This book was organized and created for people to reminisce on days gone by of an exciting time period in Rockcastle County's history. For those who had the luxury of living in this time period, it will bring back those memories and for those of us who have heard our parents and grandparents stories from this time period it will bring back memories as well.

Either way, this book is guaranteed to bring back memories for every Rockcastle Countian in one way or another.

Life in the 50's was awfully good to me

I was having a conversation with a friend of mine who is considerably younger than I am, and he asked, "Were you all that much better off living in the 1950s?" My answer was a resounding yes, and I began to provide a few specific examples that I thought would illustrate my point. Some of you may agree; some may not. There are many perspectives from which to view such a question. But I believe that there are a few ways in which my generation had an advantage in those days of long ago.

My first thought was how much we made in the early 50's. The U.S. federal minimum wage was only $1 per hour. While in high school, I worked several jobs, taking home a whopping $8 per day - and I thought I was in "high cotton." I was able to drive my own automobile and to provide the fuel necessary to keep the streets of Mt. Vernon hot. I even had enough left to customize my own ride. (It is hard to believe but I am again able to drive one of those hot cars - my '54 Chevy!)

Speaking of driving, I reminded my friend that the cost of a gallon of gasoline when I was in high school was only 29 cents. Twenty nine cents per gallon! Today, that same gallon of fuel costs $4.39. In those days, if anyone had suggested to my dad, who owned the Standard Oil station behind the Rockcastle County Courthouse, that fuel would be $4.10 higher, he would have had a heart attack. For that meager 29 cents, he was able to provide air in your tires, water in your radiator, clean all of your auto's windows and check your oil. It was unheard of to forget to clean the windows or to ask if you wanted the oil checked. That was simply standard operating procedure. Today, you could never expect someone to check your oil or clean the windows, even at $4.39 a gallon. As a matter of fact, you really don't much expect there to be a person on hand at all!

When I was only eight-years' of age, I was allowed to walk about a mile to pick up a few grocery supplies. I remember being instructed to go get a loaf of bread. My mother gave me a quarter, and I could also get a RC Cola with the change. She did not worry about me being out of her sight. In those days, we rightly felt pretty safe. It was extremely rare to even hear a rumor about a child being accosted by an adult who might mean him harm.

As far as most of the groceries were concerned, we grew the majority of our own vegetables, and our yard was filled with chickens. And we had a hog lot.

In school, we were taught patriotism and Christian principles. We had prayer, pledged allegiance to the flag, and our teachers read to us from the Bible. When I began teaching in the early 60's, teachers worked for approximately $5,000 per year. My first job in education paid $5,800. I was able to purchase both a new home and a new Pontiac on that salary.

In my mother's home, we never had air conditioning. We just put screens in the windows and left our windows and doors open to let the cool night air come through. When we went to bed, we simply latched the screen door to keep animals out of the house. We knew everyone in the neighborhood, and we trusted them completely.

When we were playing in a neighbor's yard, we were disciplined by our friend's parents. We played baseball, football, basketball, hide and seek, mumble peg, and read comic books. It was just good old clean fun. We did not fear for our lives. In those days, there was no Internet, and we certainly never heard of video games. We played in the yard, and kids from all over the neighborhood gathered at one of

By Ike Adams

On July 8, I planted a row of bodacious sweet corn just shy of being 100 feet long. Brothers Keeter and Andy had visited over the previous weekend and Keeter had convinced me that I could plant mountain-er half runners and corn at the same time without having the bean vines smother the corn.

I usually let my corn get nearly knee high before I plant beans in it but I figured what the heck and what's to lose because the flying rats, also known as starlings, had already destroyed over half of my early corn crop.

So at every foot or so of row, I dropped two bean seeds and I believe it's safe to say that every one of them came up. In a few places the vines are so thick that it looks like they may have come up twice. We've harvested all the corn and never saw a blackbird in it because, I believe, the bean vines had it camouflaged. We wound up with as much corn from the one row as we did off three of the early crop.

By the time the corn was ready, I'd already picked one five gallon bucket full of beans and over the course of three weeks I'd picked three more. As with corn, what beans we don't eat and squirrel away in the freezer we give to in-laws, out-laws, friends and neighbors.

After the corn was picked the bean vines got so heavy that the corn stalks broke over everywhere and ear had been pulled so that now the corn is practically invisible and it looks more like a thick hedge row across the garden. Early last week, Loretta went out and picked a bushel basket heaped full and I got another bucketful. Lo has canned five quarts, frozen some and we've given both beans and corn to about everybody we know in three counties.

Well, actually, we took a mess down to Rufus and Phyllis Harrison in Laurel County last Saturday, so make that four counties.

Loretta had picked a lot of pods that were turning yellow thinking that I might save them for seed because she thinks they're not pretty enough to can but I don't save anything besides heirloom seeds that you can't find in the hardware or farm supply stores. The little handful of seed that I planted in July cost fifty cents and I had seed left over. It would take two hours of time and trouble to shell them out, dry them,

The Curse of the Kennedys, Part II

Last week, the subject of a curse that followed the Kennedys for a few generations, even until today, was noted. Some say it was due to some cursed gold coins Rose Fitzgerald-Kennedy's father found. Some say otherwise.

Others say that the curse comes from the other side of the family; the Kennedys, not the Fitzgeralds. The Kennedys were making illegal money from bootlegging. JFK's father, Joe Kennedy, ran an illegal bootleg operation for years. Some believe that the curse came from JFK's sister, Rosemary, that was given a lobotomy to help JFK's career. She died in a mental institution in 2005 after spending most of her life there.

Other than the four cursed Kennedy brothers, the curse touched those closely connected to them. In 1956, Jackie Kennedy, JFK's wife, gave birth to a stillborn daughter (to be named "Arabella").

In 1963, she gave birth to a son, Patrick, who lived two days.

JFK's sister, Kathleen, and a male companion were killed in a plane crash in 1948. In 1964, JFK's brother was in a plane crash but survived. In 1973, Joe Kennedy II was in a horrific auto wreck. The same year saw Edward Jr. losing a leg to cancer.

David Anthony Kennedy died from a drug overdose in 1984. William Kennedy-Smith was charged with rape, but acquitted. Michael Kennedy was killed in a skiing accident in 1997. JFK Jr. was killed in a plane crash along with all aboard the small plane he was piloting in 1999.

These are some of the

On Call

By:
Rick Branham

Last week I left off with this question, what three components make up the fire triangle. They are oxygen, fuel and heat. If you remove any one of these components a fire cannot start and if burning, it will be extinguished.

You may think firefighting is simple. You put the wet stuff on the red stuff and poof the fire is out. To a certain extent this is true; however there is a certain science involved. Fire can take many forms but all involve a heat-producing chemical reaction between some type of fuel and oxygen. This chemical reaction has been added to the triangle thus creating the fire tetrahedron.

The fire tetrahedron is comprised of the same components of the triangle, oxygen, fuel and heat. But when you add a self-sustained chemical reaction the fire tetrahedron is formed. This explains flaming combustion more accurately. Over the next few weeks I am going to go into detail on each component of the fire tetrahedron. I want you to understand how a fire starts through this tetrahedron, but for now I want to try to explain what fire is.

A fire is an exothermic heat reaction called combustion. Now, I need to explain two things in the previous sentence. First, an exothermic reaction is a chemical reaction between two or more materials that somehow changes the material and produces heat, flames and toxic smoke.

Secondly, combustion is a self-sustaining process of rapid oxidation of fuel that produces heat and light. Fire is a form of combustion.

With combustion you have two types, flaming and nonflaming. Flaming combustion is when both liquid and solid fuels are heated to a point where they give of vapors and mix with oxygen and can burn thus producing flames. Nonflaming combustion is when oxidation occurs on the surface of the fuel causing charring. A couple of examples of nonflaming combustion is burning charcoal or smoldering fabric.

I am going to stop here because I have thrown a lot at you this week. Believe it or not, I have just scratched the surface. Moving forward I am going to talk about the fire tetrahedron and how fire forms. Next week we will start with the heat component. And with that, your question is this. What do the initials BTU stand for?

I wanted to mention this week that starting on Monday September 30th five members, myself included, of the Brodhead Volunteer Fire Department will take part in a grueling eight day training course consisting of ten hour days on Structural Collapse in Lexington. These members are giving up there time with no pay to take part in this training to better serve our community in a time of emergency. This training goes along with the structural collapse equipment we received a few months ago through a grant.

our houses and spent most of the day running and playing. We stayed in good physical shape because of the exercise provided by our physical activity.

In the 50's, Elvis Presley arrived on the scene and changed music for all time. Most of the girls loved him; the boys wanted to be like him; and our parents generally considered him to be a terrible influence on the younger generation. Little did they know that he would become known as The King of Rock and Roll or that his popularity would continue for the next sixty years. We learned that he was a very generous, helpful, and caring role model. He even served in the Army and earned an honorable discharge.

Several other things also made living in the 50's a positive experience. You could go to the Vernon Theater, enjoy a Coke and popcorn for only 25 cents. We never ran out of country ham. Our teachers cared about us, and our parents were thankful for those teachers and the efforts that they made to educate their children. We went to school every day and never worried about someone having a gun.

As far as I am concerned those are many of the features of living during the 50's that made life better. A few conventions from that time might improve our current home life situations. Things such as having sit-down dinners with our families. And as I have mentioned before, it would be a wonderful idea to bring family board games back into our homes.

It is my hope that the younger generation will at least give some consideration to slowing down at bit. The speed of life today has become much too fast, and families don't get to spend much close time together – to the detriment of our society. It is worth it in more ways than words can say. I know, because that's how it was in the 50's.

bag tem up and find a place in the freezer to stash them. On the other hand, I am beyond thankful for the opportunity to save Bufford Caudill and Black Satin Fall beans and Bertha McQueery's goose bean seed.

So anyway, I decided to save a bucketful as shuckey beans which I grew up calling leather britches.

Shuckey beans are dried and later eaten with the pods intact. It is a lot of trouble because it usually takes 5 or 6 sunny days to get them thoroughly dried, but once you do, they'll keep for years in the freezer or even in a cloth sack.

When I was growing up, Shuckey beans were on the menu at least once a week from Thanksgiving until the first of June. We dried several bushels every year. Mom had very large sewing needles that were only used for the purpose of stringing up leather britches.

The needles were threaded with stout nylon twine that had been used to sew and seal the tops of hundred pound live stock feed sacks. The string would unravel to six or eight feet lengths with one smooth motion when you got it started.

We tied a big green bean to the end of the twine, then poked the needle through green bean pods and slid them down until the string was full, whereupon we tied another pod to that end and they were ready to dry. During the day, they were hung on clothes lines and at night they were brought into the house and hung behind the cook stove to dry.

Once dry, Mom put them in a white feed sack, doused them with black pepper to keep bugs out and stored them in the pantry. We also dried several cushaws every year by first cutting them into rounds about an inch wide, peeling off the rind and hanging the rounds on a mop handle to dry behind the stove.

There was way more in a cushaw than one family could eat at a single meal. We ate the necks while they were still fresh and dried the main body to eat when all the green ones were gone. My brothers and I much preferred dried cushaw than fresh.

I'm gonna buy a cushaw in a week or two to dry and have with my leather britches when the snow's a' blowing and the cold wind's a howling come the middle of next January.

Rockets lose to Pulaski

By: Doug Ponder

The Rockcastle County Rockets dropped to 1-4 on the season following a 54-14 loss to the Pulaski County Maroons at home last Friday night.

The Rocket loss was largely due to the amount of stalled drives on offense as they had a total of 6 turnovers and 3 punts on the night. The Rockets offense produced only 282 total yards with 124 yards rushing and 158 yards passing yards.

Unfortunately, The Rockets weren't able to stop the bleeding on defense as the Maroons amassed a total of 444 yards on offense with 256 yards on the ground and 188 yards through the air.

In the first quarter, the Rockets offense was first to take the field in the game. After two plays on offense, senior quarterback Corey McPhetridge threw an interception on the Rockets 27 yard line. The Maroons then scored on one play, following the interception, with an 18 yard passing touchdown. The extra point was good giving the Maroons the early 7-0 lead.

The Maroons would score again on their next offensive drive after another passing touchdown for 56 yards. However, the Rockets blocked the extra point attempt making the score 13-0.

McPhetridge finally got the Rockets into the scoring column late in the first quarter with a 47 yard touchdown strike to senior receiver Tyler Harper. The two point conversion was good cutting the Maroons lead to 13-8.

The Maroons then put up an unanswered 20 points until late in the second quarter when junior running back Isaiah Adams scored on a 17 yard touchdown run. The two point conversion failed making the score 33-14 at the end of the first half.

After halftime, the Rockets would never see the end zone again as the Maroons put the game away with three unanswered touchdowns for the final score of 54-14.

The Rockets were led on offense by McPhetridge who was 15 out of 26 passing attempts for 149 yards and one touchdown with four interceptions. Freshman Chayse McClure also saw some time at the quarterback position and was 1 for 1 passing for 9 yards.

McPhetridge also led the Rockets in rushing with 37 yards on eight carries. Junior fullback Chance Ansardi also had a big night on the ground with 33 yards on 10 carries.

Other Rockets picking up rushing yards were freshman Devon Robinson with 25 yards on 6 carries, Adams 20 yards on four carries and one touchdown, senior Brandon Jones 4 yards on three carries, McClure 3 yards on one carry and junior Steven Rector with 2 yards on one carry.

Harper led the receiving corps with two catches for

The Rocket defense was led by senior Jared Lake who had 7 tackles, a sack assist and one fumble recovery.

Other Rockets credited with tackles were Ansardi with 7, Adams with 5 and an assisted sack, freshman Austin Mills with 5, Jones and junior Kyle Denney with 4 each, Dalton Rowe and junior Justin Hughes with 3 each, and senior R.C. Kirby with one. McClure, Robinson and freshman Lucas Jones were all cred-reports, officers responded to the scene after Duncan's wife said she caught him having sexual intercourse with the girl.

During questioning, Duncan told officers that he had sexual intercourse with the girl at least three other times before being caught by his wife.

Duncan was charged with first degree rape and incest. He remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $100,000 cash bond.

During his arraignment in Rockcastle County District Court last Wednesday, Judge Katie Wood ordered Duncan's bond remain at $100,000 cash bond as Duncan presented a clear danger to others.

“Rockets”

ited with two each.

Head Coach Scott Parkey said that Pulaski County was the best team the Rockets had faced all year and that what makes the Maroons even better is their lack of mistakes on offense.

"They didn't make physical or mental mistakes on offense that stalled their drives," Parkey said. "They also didn't make any mistakes on defense that led to big plays. When you don't make mistakes you win games."

Parkey also said that the Maroons play with confidence, which is something the Rockets lacked throughout the game.

"We struggle playing with confidence. The feeling of doubt creeps in when something doesn't go as planned," Parkey said. "This always leads to another mistake or a play where we try so hard not to mess up that we are not physically free to fly around and make a great play."

Parkey went on to say that at every practice, the coaching staff constantly preaches "winning," "success" and "confidence." He said he wants the team to recognize they can achieve these things even through adversity.

"We want the team to believe they can win every time they step onto the field. They also have to keep that belief throughout each game," Parkey said. "When they play loose and free, I believe we can beat anyone on our remaining schedule. Our goal is to win district and it can be done when our players play with confidence."

The Rockets will travel to Hazard on Friday night to take on the Perry Central Commodores. Kick-off is at 7:30 p.m.

Parkey said the Commodores lost a lot of their star players last season to graduation but that their young players are starting to settle in to their new roles on offense and defense.

"This will be a tough game for us as we play them at their new stadium on their new turf field," Parkey said. "This is a must win for us heading into our bye week and preparing for district play."

An injured four month old pig was rescued Tuesday afternoon from the busy roadway of I-75 near the 59 exit in Mt. Vernon. Deputy Sheriff Matt Bryant responded to a call to 911 about a pig allegedly falling off a truck and hitting the blacktop and then bouncing into the median. When Brynt arrived, he noticed the pig didnt seem to be in pain but had a broken leg. Justice for Abused Animals, an animal rescue organization from Corbin, learned about the injured pig and sent represenatives to pick up the animal. While waiting on JFAA representatives to arrive, Bryant researched the nearest pig rescue facility and discovered The Pig Preserve in Jamestown, Tennessee. JFAA transported the pig named “Lucky” to The Pig Perserve from where they took “Lucky” to the University of Tennessee Hospital for animals. UT veterinarians say Lucky has a broken left elbow and that they are giving him pain medicine but that he is eating and drinking. You can follow Lucky’s progress on JFAA Facebook website at <https://www.facebook.com/justiceforabusedanimals>.

Hospital offers free cholesterol screenings

Children, young adults and older Americans can have high cholesterol. Learn how to prevent high cholesterol and know what your cholesterol levels mean.

September is National Cholesterol Education Month, a good time to get your blood cholesterol checked and take steps to lower it if it is high. National Cholesterol Education Month is also a good time to learn about lipid profiles and about food and lifestyle choices that help you reach personal cholesterol goals.

September 23-27,

2013, Rockcastle Regional Hospital is offering free cholesterol screenings from 7 a.m. until 10 a.m. No appointment is necessary. Please fast 12 hours prior to screening. Registration for the free screening will be in the second floor lobby of the Outpatient Services Center. For more information, contact Arielle Estes at 256-7880 or a.estes@rhcc.org.

Cholesterol is a waxy, fat-like substance found in your body and many foods. Your body needs cholesterol to function normally and makes all that you need. Too much cholesterol can build up in your arteries. After a while, these deposits narrow your arteries, putting you at risk for heart disease and stroke.

High cholesterol usually doesn't have any symptoms. As a result, many people do not know that their cholesterol levels are too high. However, doctors can do a simple blood test to check your cholesterol. High cholesterol can be controlled through lifestyle changes or if it is not enough, through medications.

It's important to check your cholesterol levels. High cholesterol is a major risk factor for heart disease, the leading cause of death in the United States. Source: CDC

Team attends Brushy Fork Institute

The Rockcastle County Development Board organized a team to attend the 2013 Brushy Fork Annual Institute at Berea College September 18, 19, and 20th. The team was selected to represent Rockcastle's three cities: Lynn Tatum – Mt. Vernon, Mayor Jason Medley – Livingston and Courtney Hale – Brodhead.

Each year Brushy Fork Institute offers training for community leaders. In addition, scholarships are offered to distressed counties and teams qualify to apply and receive ARC grants (Appalachian Regional Commission) to create community capacity. This year the Rockcastle County Development Board will apply for an ARC grant to revise the 2009 County Strategic Plan in 2014. Typically, plans are revised every five years so it can remain current. Many of the suggested projects identified in the 2009 plan have been completed and new visions need to be identified to continue progress over the next five years.

DAR Rockcastle Chapter commemorates September patriotic events

September is filled with patriotic events in which the Rockcastle Chapter DAR participated. Chapter members assembled display boards and informational pamphlets (above) about the writing of the U.S. Constitution to be displayed in the local school libraries during Constitution Week (September 17th-23rd).

In honor of Patriot Day, Amanda McNew, representative of the Woodsman of the World, presented the chapter with the 9/11 Flag of Honor (below) at their September meeting. The flag was created by John Michelotti and it contains the names of all those that perished in the World Trade Towers, the Pentagon, United Flights 175 and 93 and American Flights 11 and 77 during the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001.

Blast From The Past...

One of this week's Blast From the Past comes from Bobbie Ann Durham who taught at Sowder School in 1958-59. This was Ms. Durham's, who was 19 at the time, second school to teach. She was able to identify all the children in the photo and said they "were the sweetest and best children in the world. I'll always cherish the time I spent with them." In the photo are, front row, from left: Floyd Bradley, Garner Mink, Gorden Mink, Jerry Moore, Barbara Wheat and Lavania Wheat. Second row: John Fletcher, Carter Mink, Bob Bradley, Joann Moore, Willene Mink and Wathalene, holding Ms. Durham's baby (Sherry Lynn Durham, 9 months old). ## 10 local students named Sen. Jeff Green Scholars

Ten 2013 graduates of Rockcastle County High School have been named Senator Jeff Green Scholars by the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) for outstanding academic performance in high school. Students earn this designation by achieving a 4.0 grade point average each year of high school and scoring at least a 28 composite on the ACT.

Local students who earned this prestigious designation are Charity Adams, Aaron Adkisson, Jessica Bentley, Hannah Bullock, Logan Durham, James Hasty, Virginia Johnson, Austin Jordison, Angel Spurlock and Alexis Young.

These students have also earned $2,500 a year in Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES) awards. Their awards may be renewed each year of college if they continue to earn high grades, making the total value of their KEES worth $10,000.

The title honors the late state Sen. Jeff Green of Mayfield, who served in the Kentucky General Assembly from 1992 to 1997.

KEES and other Kentucky student aid programs are administered by KHEAA. KEES awards are funded by net Kentucky lottery proceeds and may be used at most colleges and universities in Kentucky. In some cases, the award may be used at out-of-state schools if the major the student is pursuing is not available in Kentucky. No application is necessary for KEES awards, and students may access their KEES account information on www.kheaa.com by setting up a MyKHEAA account.

To learn how to plan and prepare for higher education, go to www.gotocollege.ky.gov. For more information about Kentucky scholarships and grants, visit www.kheaa.com; write KHEAA, P.O. Box 798, Frankfort, KY 40602; or call 800-928-8926, ext. 6-7372.

Mrs. Linda Clontz's second grade class at MVES recently walked to the Courthouse and Judge Katie Wood did a lesson about abandonment with the class. The class would like to thank Judge Katie and Eliza York.

Minds in the Middle

This Friday is fall picture day. Students should not wear green.

This Friday is the end of the first grading period. Report cards will go home next week with the students.

Remember to be collecting your Box Tops for Education. The teams are in competition to see who can bring in the most. The current contest will run through October 25th.

We had a great turnout for "See You at the Pole" on Wednesday morning. We appreciate all of the students and staff who participated in that program.

Congratulations to Mrs. Ballinger's 6th grade Enterpriserson winning the attendance battle last week. Mr. Gabbard's 6th grade homeroom came in second followed by Mrs. Hopkins' 7th grade Adventurers.

Applications for the 7thgrade Duke Talent Identification Program have been mailed. In order to qualify, students needed a 95th percentile score or better on K-Prep Math or Reading in 5th or 6thgrade. If your child did not qualify or you have questions about participation in the program, call Ms. Cromer.

On Thursday, Oct. 3rd, we will be having our annual book give-away in the media center. The Leadership Team will also be hosting Candy for a Cause to raise money for cancer patients.

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...
What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufactures recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.
