

Local fire departments battled two house fires in Rockcastle County this past week. In the above photo, A home on Terry Street in Mt. Vernon caught fire Monday night. Authorities say a family had recently moved out of the home and another family was planning to move in sometime next week. The home was considered abandoned at the time of the fire and no one was injured. Mt. Vernon Fire Department was assisted by Brodhead Fire Department. The cause of the fire is unknown and is currently under investigation. In the bottom photo: Brindle Ridge Volunteer Fire Department responded to a trailer fire last Saturday on Sweetwater Road in Conway. Officials say the home was abandoned. The cause of the fire is unknown and it's currently under investigation. BRVFD was assisted by Brodhead Volunteer Fire Department.

Preliminary hearing held for Lawson

A well-known local man, who is charged with stealing more than $28,000 from three different bank accounts, appeared in court again this week.

Former Kentucky Music Hall of Fame Executive Director Robert Lawson had his preliminary hearing in Rockcastle County District Court on Monday. Lawson is charged with stealing more than $28,000 since July 2013 from accounts belonging to the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame, the Rockcastle County Cystic Fibrosis fund and the Rockcastle Tourism Taskforce.

During Monday's hearing, Rockcastle County Attorney Billy Reynolds called Kentucky State Police detective Shelby Slone to the stand. Slone is the detective who is in charge of the case and investigation.

Slone testified that he interviewed Lawson about 13 different checks that he wrote to himself for more than $28,000 from the three different accounts. He said he also interviewed him about a duplicate payroll check and another $7,000 check he wrote from one account to deposit in another account.

Slone testified that he interviewed representatives with the governing bodies of the three accounts and they told him they didn't authorize Lawson to write the checks in his name or perform the other two transactions in question.

Slone said he interviewed Lawson and asked if he had an explanation for the allegations against him. He said Lawson told him it was for "production fees" he was due and provided "limited explanation" and no documentation about all the transactions.

Slone went on to say that they have discovered some cash proceeds missing after completing another audit and that the investigation is ongoing.

Rockcastle woman arrested for giving nephew alcohol

By: Doug Ponder

A Rockcastle County woman was arrested last Saturday night in Garrard Co. for endangering the welfare of a minor after she reportedly tried to make her 14-month-old nephew drink alcohol.

Arrested at the scene was Angela Spoonamore, 29, of Orlando.

According to Lancaster Police Department records, officers responded to a home on Cardinal Circle in Lancaster after receiving a disturbance complaint at the residence.

Once officers arrived, they found Spoonamore in the parking lot of the complex. Officers noted that they could smell alcohol on Spoonamore and said she appeared intoxicated while performing field sobriety tests.

Witnesses said that

Spoonamore's behavior had gotten out of control and that she refused to leave the residence when asked. Witnesses said she picked the 14-month-old child up and threw him on the floor. They also told officers that she was trying to get the child to drink beer and rum from his "sippy cup."

Officers, who said Spoonamore was supposed to be babysitting the child that night, said the child sustained a cut on his upper lip after being thrown on the floor by Spoonamore. The

A semi-truck overturned Monday morning on I-75 northbound at the 56 mile marker near Mt. Vernon. Authorities say Interstate Construction Products driver Donald D. Cheek was travelling northbound on I-75 when he lost control of the semi causing it to overturn. Cheek was airlifted to the UK Medical Center where he was treated for non-life threatening injuries and later released. The interstate was closed for approximately two hours while crews worked to clear the roadway.

by: perlina m. anderkin
 Not sure this old heart can take another weekend of NCAA basketball tournament. Between wanting Kentucky to win so badly, and Louisville to lose just as badly, it's been draining. Daughter Paige giddily informed me when the tournament started that it was her "favorite time of the year." I didn't get the connection, so she explained that it was NCAA tournament time and she loved it.

Daughter Allison watched Saturday night's game with me and, at one point, we were concerned that her left arm was "tingling."

I know it's ridiculous to get so caught up in a college team's success on a basketball court when there are so many more important issues facing us today. But, hey, it's Kentucky and I have been a fan since my older brother introduced me to the game when he was attending UK in the late 40's (he was 17 years older than me) after having served in Japan in the latter stages of WWII. Ralph listened to Cawood Ledford call the games on the radio and I was right by his side.

The hoopla was at its highpoint when the children were small and Kentucky would be on TV. We have always been a noisy family and the decibel level had to be out the roof on those nights. I miss those times, a lot. Now, all the children have their own families and it's just not convenient to get everyone together to watch every game.

Saturday night was a pleasure although, at one point I had chickened out on watching and began playing on my phone. I looked up to watch a play, whereupon Allison immediately told me to "quit looking" because they were doing better when I wasn't paying as close attention, according to her.

I get extremely nervous if the game is close. When Kentucky defeated Kansas for the championship, I switched channels with about two minutes to go in the game because I thought I was going to have a heart attack. When son Travis called to talk about the game, I had to ask him who won -- he was quite disappointed in me to say the least.

I don't know if they can go 40-0 and bring home the national championship. One minute I am sure of it and the next, I'm torn with doubt. But, I really think they may be a team of destiny and it will be a season to always remember...

It's been a lot more fun to watch the games than it has been to worry about the "deal" that Secretary of State John Kerry and our President will work out with Iran. And, trust me, there will be a "deal" of some sort cobbled together.

There has been reports that it will be an oral agreement -- you know, the Iranians don't want to be bothered with a "deal" committed to paper and, of course, that's okay with us because the Iranians are so trustworthy and hold our country in such high esteem.

What, you are questioning if that is true why the Ayatolla would be chanting "Death to America" at a public speaking event while the negotiations are going on or why, in war games recently conducted by the Iranians, a mock-up of a United States battleship was blown to smithereens?

Doesn't mean a thing, says our President. According to him, the rhetoric was meant for domestic consumption, you know, to appease those pesky Iranians and make them think you don't like America either.

But, I am not even sure that is the worst threat facing our country. It may be the Rinos, in the form of our own beloved Mitch McConnell, John McCain, Peter King, John Boehner etc. whose goal in governing seems to be making the Democrats happy by caving on every issue they should be standing up for.

I don't know if I can support Ted Cruz but I do admire him for having tried to accomplish what he was sent to Congress to do, without apology.

The Way I See it

Need to spend time wisely

It's no secret that we live in a fast paced world. With the amount of time spent with our jobs, families, TV watching and checking our social media accounts, we rarely have time for anything else in our lives.

It seems like we are always on the go and always in a hurry. We have all heard the cliché about how "things aren't like they use to be" and how people don't take the time to talk with friends or family on the front porch, sit down and eat as a family, etc.

I believe modern technology is robbing us of our time and there has actually been numerous studies that have proven the theory. I also believe that modern technology has played a huge factor in making people believe that they are a lot busier than they actually are in their lives.

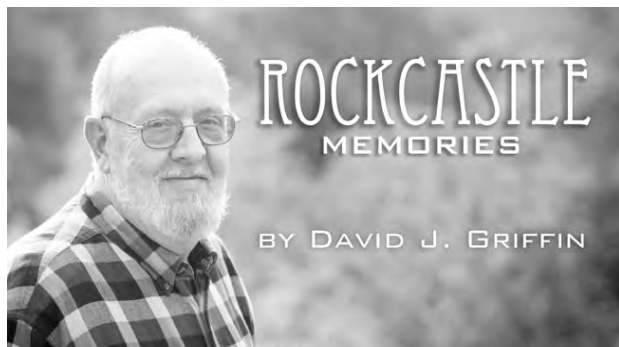

This realization recently hit home with me as I was remembering my Uncle Randall Caudill who passed away four years ago on March 18th. You always miss your loved ones and think about them a lot after they pass away, but it seems like you always miss them more and think about them more on the anniversary of their death.

I looked up my Uncle Randall's obituary on the internet and read all the online condolences people had written about their experiences with him. People commented on how he made them laugh or smile, how kind-hearted he was toward them, etc.

Aside from all of those memories, there was another talent people remembered in their condolences. That talent was his selfless giving toward other people and the time he sacrificed to help them or to spend time with them.

As I continued to read the condolences, I suddenly realized that I have been failing at doing the very thing that my Uncle Randall was most remembered for in his life.

Truth is, Randall was not a technology whiz. He

Entertaining Ourselves

When I was six or seven-years-old, my mother (Bee) allowed me to play outside on our small farm by myself or with other friends in the neighborhood without adult supervision. We had so many places to entertain ourselves that I suppose it would seem like an endless playground to today's kids, most of whom are limited to playing near their homes.

We could play in the woods, catch crawdads in the creek, climb trees in the yard, or "tame the west" with our cap pistols. If that wasn't enough to occupy our time, we always had softball, football, or -- our most favorite -- basketball.

We could get a game together in a moment's notice.

Life in those innocent days was simple. If we could not decide upon which game to play, we just made up one to entertain ourselves. It was not uncommon to invent games.

Imagination was our most valuable resource. We pretended that we were superheroes, cowboys, soldiers, police officers, or famous athletes. As soon as the choice was made, we then went about gathering the necessary items to make our adventure as real as possible.

One Saturday after we had experienced a strong thunderstorm, Kenneth Hansel and I were walking in the woods near my house when we found a large tree that had been up-rooted and was lying on its side. The way the limbs pointed slightly upward, sections of the broken tree reminded us of a large motorcycle. So off we went to my house to get Pop's hatchet to trim the limbs and make a saddle for us to sit on. (Seven year olds with a hatchet? Yes, indeed, and we knew how to use one.) We visited that tree for days until the limbs began to sag and it no longer reminded us of a motorcycle. Imagination is a wonderful thing.

When we selected cowboys and Indians as our choice of entertainment for the afternoon, off we went to Jim Winstead's tobacco barn to choose our most valuable steed from his collection of tobacco sticks. Those sticks made the best stick horses a boy could imagine. Sometimes we even painted them to match the horse of our heroes, or we attached ropes for a halter. I remember painting one with black and white patches, which was supposed to look like an Indian pony. I kept that stick horse for several months, stashed just outside the kitchen door.

One Saturday afternoon it was really windy, and Pop suggested that he help Kenneth and me to construct a Okay, the mail is still coming in but I'm tard of fooling with this Hillbilly/Appalachian slang exercise because it's wore me plum out. Of the several hundred responses to my recent quiz asking readers to tell me what 14 different words/terms actually meant, only 8 responders nailed them with exactly what I had in mind, while over a hundred got 13 and a half right. Meaning they simply were not specific enough to suit me with one word but got it half right. Another 200 or so only missed one and almost everybody got at least 12 Rufus Harrison of East Bernstadt (Laurel County) Marie Ward of London, Richard Shivel of Jamestown and Betty Alexander of Richmond, along with Letcher County natives, Susan Smith Mullins now in Berea, Mike Majority now in SC and Mike Watts of Roxana, KY. Susan is at least 20 years younger than anyone else with a perfect score and 50 years younger than a couple.

Here's what I was looking for:

1.Hard: means hired. They laid him off and hard him back before he had time to draw any rockingchair.

2.Tard: means tired. I got tard of this project real quick.

3.Give out: means plum tard. I plum give out on this job before I even got started.

4.Give up: means quit or surrender. I give up on ever getting this job done cause I'm too tard of it.

5.Booger: spook, monster, things that go bump in the night. The carbide light blew out and a big ole purple, one-eyed, people-eatin wooly booger chased us plum to the house.

6.Haint: ghost or maybe a booger. I'll walk by that old house after dark cause I aint a bit scared of no ole haint.

7.Fur piece: long ways off. It's a fur piece to walk from Blair Branch to Blackey.

8.Rat Cheer: right here. You wannatalk to Loretta? She's sittin rat cheer beside me.

9.Jasper: man or boy who's not from around here or not one of us and should, therefore, beridiculed. Don't loan that jasper that moved into John's old place nothing. He borrowed my anvil and broke it into three pieces.

10.Dope: soft drink. The term is a holdover from the early 1900's when Coca Cola and several other drinks actually did contain cocaine. The late Austin Miller used to holler at me from the porch at C.B. Caudill store. "Get out of the car and let me buy you a good cold dope."

11.Wasper: wasp. Them ole big red waspers can really put the hurt on you.

12.Brought up: place where you were raised. I was brought up on Blair Branch.

13.Chaw: a wad of chewing tobacco. That jasper took a big chaw of red man and turned real green before he puked.

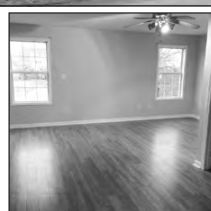

14.Slop: to feed the hogs. Don't forget to slop the hogs before dark unless you want them to root the

Another Day Is Ahead
By Howard Coop

Palm Sunday, one of the more significant observances of worldwide Christendom, was last Sunday. This special day commemorates what Christian tradition has named the Triumphal Entry of Jesus into Jerusalem at the beginning of the week before the Feast of Unleavened Bread.

When Jesus, on his way to Jerusalem, came near to Bethany and Bethphage on the Mount of Olives, he sent two of his disciples to the village ahead with instruction, "You will find a donkey tied there, with her colt by her. Untie them and bring them to me." When the disciples returned, Jesus mounted that donkey and proceeded over the western slope of the Mount of Olives along the ancient road to Jerusalem.

The awaiting crowd did not overlook the significance of what they saw. They recognized two things: An old messianic prophecy said, "Say to the Daughter of Zion, 'See, your king comes to you, gentle and riding on a donkey, on a colt, the foal of a donkey,'" and they knew that a king riding a donkey came on a mission of peace.

Recognizing that, the crowd went wild with excitement. Some tore fronds from nearby palm trees, a well-known sign for hailing a conqueror. Others spread their outer garments on the old road. All shouted, "Hosanna to the Son of David! Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord! Hosanna in the highest!" Their hopes, they thought, were fulfilled, and their struggles for a better life were over.

But the Triumphal Entry was on the wrong side of victory. Before the week was over, another mob was shouting, "Away with this man!" and "Crucify him! Crucify him!" And Pilate, the Roman Procurator of Judea, turned Jesus over to be crucified and attempted to wash his hands of any wrong.

Palm Sunday says one powerful thing: Things don't always work out, dreams don't always come true, and hopes are sometimes shattered. But we don't give up. We don't quit. Another day is ahead, and something good is beyond the moment.

Leadership Rally and Community Celebration Dinner...

Dear Editor,

On April 23, 2015, the Rockcastle UNITE Coalition will hold its annual Leadership Rally and Community Celebration Dinner at the Rockcastle County Middle School, beginning at 5:30 p.m. During the evening, the Coalition will elect upcoming Board Members and Officers and recognize several groups and individuals in our county who have made an impact through UNITE. The work of Operation UNITE will be highlighted through a program involving the student UNITE Club members from all five county schools: Roundstone, Brodhead and Mount Vernon Elementary Schools, Rockcastle County Middle, and Rockcastle County High School.

Everyone who attends will also learn how they can be involved in the fight against substance abuse in Rockcastle County. Following the dinner, the keynote speaker for the evening will be Bruce Frye. He was a talented musician who opened for the Oak Ridge Boys, Sawyer Brown, Charlie Daniels, and others. His lifestyle led him to a life of alcohol and drugs. Listen as he tells the story of what and how he changed his life.

T.J.'s Journal

by: Tonya J. Cook

Our Anniversary
Dear Journal,

As they say, "How time flies when you're having fun!" This is a very true cliché in the case of our anniversary. It only seems like yesterday since that warm summer day, August 1st, when we went on a picnic at the park. Things seemed to fall into place, and the next thing we knew we were getting married the next March 29th.

I had known Stanley more than twenty years, but as people do, we had lost track of each other. We had gone our separate ways since those days we worked together. He quit and began working elsewhere, and by this time had married. I remained at our mutual workplace and stayed in a relationship. To make a long story short, we both had married and dated others, and were in a relentless pursuit of finding a long-term mate.

Finally, we had given up on finding a mate and were both living a lonely life. We were good friends back at work, but had never thought of dating.

After many years passed and sadly enough, a mutual friend had died, we attended the funeral, seeing each other after many, many years. In a few days, I had cause to be in Mount Vernon again and I dropped by to see Stanley, and a few days from that came the picnic.

I remember making that picnic dinner even today. I made meat loaf, potato salad, and baked beans. For dessert, I made a peanut butter pie. Stanley said that I "set the hook" for a husband with the pie. I often make this meal again on August 1st to mark the anniversary of our first date.

By this time in my life, my mother was terminally ill. Stanley was planning to come to London to live with us. She was too ill to attend the wedding. We had begun the wedding plans in the fall and had most everything in place by early spring. On March 1st, Mom got worse and had to go to the hospital, and I stayed day and night with her. She died March 17th and the wedding was set for the 29th, only twelve days later. Should the wedding continue or not? We decided to go ahead with it since people had made arrangements to attend, the church was booked, flowers and other things ordered, and formal invitations were already sent.

We went on a honeymoon in Gatlinburg, thinking it would be close by if Mom got worse. Poor old Stanley had a very sad and weepy bride on his hands.

It's been a "long and winding road" to bring us to where we are today. In another way, it seems like we've been together a lifetime...and we're not a graduating high school senior from Rockcastle County High School who chooses to further their education. The scholarship committee also includes a general community scholarship, the Wayne Stewart scholarship and the Gatliff Craig scholarship.

One of the things that I am ashamed of in my life is not being more involved with the Rockcastle County Scholarship Committee and my dad's scholarship. In a lot of ways I feel like I have let my dad down because funds are low and I regret not being more involved throughout the years to help with fundraising and donations.

The Rockcastle County Scholarship Committee is currently holding a "flamingo fundraiser." The packet on one of the flamingos explains how to donate and how to choose who to "flamingo" next. We have been going around placing pink flamingos in people's yards so if you see someone placing them in your yard, don't call the cops on them!

I guess the moral of all my ramble is we only have 24 hours in a day, 7 days in a week, 365 days in a year and the number of years in each of our lives are uncertain and unknown. To say people should spend their time wisely is actually an understatement.

So just like my Uncle Randall and my dad, I plan to live my life more like them from here on out.

kite to fly. As that kite began to take shape, we became more and more exited. Mommie Katie came out and saw what we were making, but she immediately turned around and went back into the house. Moments later, and to our delight, she appeared with pieces of cloth to make a tail for our kite. It was just the finishing touch that we needed. (And it was just like Mommie Katie to do such a thing. She was always helping someone.)

When Pop finished, Kenneth and I took the new kite to a cleared field in Pop's garden and flew that baby all afternoon long. We got it so high that we ran out of string. We finally let it go and found it a few days later in a field near Big Fill Cave. Now that was fun. And it was a good example of what a great time could be had from ideas shared between kids and a thoughtful grandfather.

Many of us old codgers cannot help but feel sorry for kids today. Frankly, I wonder how it will eventually affect our society. How can a child develop his imagination with his head stuck inside a computer game virtually all the time? They don't know what marvelous things they are missing.

Here I am, sharing my memories of childhood fun and reflecting upon how it felt to have such a secure, simple, and blessed childhood. I can't help thinking: What memories of childhood are they going to have?

fence down.

At least three or four dozen writers confessed to "cheating" by looking the terms up the internet but apparently Google, wikipedia, etc. believe that jasper is something pure white, a booger is dried snot and dope is simply drugs.

When I was growing up on Blair Branch, several people had "booger lights", street light type security lights mounted on power line poles in their front yards that folks like my dad poked fun of because we didn't have one so he claimed the neighbors had put up the lights to keep the boogers from getting too close to their homes.

The most common complaint about this exercise, even from folks who missed 2 or more, was that it was too easy.

Rest assured that the next one won't be and that we will be doing this again after I get rested up and figure out a way to better manage and record the responses.

We had responses from Michigan, Ohio, Virginia, Tennessee, Indiana, Wisconsin, Texas, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, California, Florida, Georgia, Washington, D.C. and even one from Washington State (thank you, John Gebhart)

I lost track of the number of Kentucky Counties represented because it's impossible to tell where email is coming from. For that matter there may have been some other states represented as well. Suffice to say that small Kentucky city newspapers do get around.

In fact, I can think of no better and appropriate gift for friends or relatives who live a fur piece away than a subscription to their hometown newspaper. Subscriptions are generally very affordable, especially if you take the online route or if the paper is a weekly as opposed to a daily or tri-weekly. Call your paper for details.

Shell, Anderkin, Adams involved in statewide gubernatorial campaign

Kentucky Commissioner of Agriculture James Comer, who is a Republican candidate for Governor in this year's election, has asked several local figures to take an active role in his campaign. At a recent event in Lexington, Comer named State Representative Jonathan Shell as the statewide chair for his "Young Professionals for Comer" organization.

"Representative Jonathan Shell represents the future of this state. He is young, bright, and one of the hardest working individuals in the General Assembly. I appreciate his willingness to head up our campaign's Young Professionals organization," Comer said.

In addition to Shell, Comer announced at the Lexington event that Mount Vernon native Aaron Anderkin would serve on his Young Professionals Steering Committee. Anderkin is the Chief Operating Officer at Integrated Sign and Graphic, Inc. and is a former Executive Director of the Rockcastle County Industrial Development Authority.

"Our Young Professionals Steering Committee is composed of the state's most outstanding young people who are leaders in the private sector, government, and in communities all across Kentucky. Aaron Anderkin understands the importance and need for bold leadership in Frankfort. I value his support and know that his input will be a tremendous asset to my campaign and my work to make our state better for all Kentuckians," Comer said of Anderkin.

The Young Professionals for Comer Steering Committee is made up of over 40 Kentuckians between ages of 25 and 40 who represent all parts of the state. The group is advising Comer on issues important to their age group, industries, and communities.

"Commissioner Comer has proven himself an effective conservative leader during his time at the Department of Agriculture. He is the only candidate that has made an effort to engage the younger faction of the party, and he is the only candidate with a plan to bring greater economic opportunity to the Commonwealth. I know he will make an excellent Governor," Anderkin said of Comer.

In addition to Shell and Anderkin, Derek Adams of Brodhead, a former Executive Director of the Rockcastle Chamber of Commerce who now works at Eastern Kentucky University, was also named to the Young Professionals for Comer Steering Committee.

USDA extends ARC and PLC deadlines

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack today provided farm owners and producers one additional week, until April 7, 2015, to choose between Agriculture Risk Coverage (ARC) and Price Loss Coverage (PLC), the safety-net programs established by the 2014 Farm Bill. The final day to update yield history or reallocate base acres also will be April 7, 2015.

"This is an important decision for producers because these programs help farmers and ranchers protect their operations from unexpected changes in the marketplace," said Vilsack. "Nearly 98 percent of owners have already updated yield and base acres, and 90 percent of producers have enrolled in ARC or PLC. These numbers are strong, and continue to rise. This additional week will give producers a little more time to have those final conversations, review their data, visit their local Farm Service Agency offices, and make their decisions," said Vilsack.

If no changes are made to yield history or base acres by the deadline, the farm's current yield and base acres will be used. If a program choice of ARC or PLC is not made, there will be no 2014 crop year payments for the farm and the farm will default to PLC coverage for the 2015 through 2018 crop years. Producers who have an appointment at their local FSA offices scheduled by April 7 will be able to make an election between ARC and PLC, even if their actual appointment is after April 7.

These safety-net programs provide important financial protection against unexpected changes in the marketplace. As part of the strong education and outreach campaign launched by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) in September, to date more than 5 million educational postcards, in English and Spanish, have been sent to producers nationwide, and more than 5,000 events with more than 430,000 attendees, including training sessions and speaking engagements, have been conducted to educate producers on the programs. The online tools, available at www.fsa.usda.gov/arc-plc, which allow producers to explore how ARC or PLC coverage will affect their operation, have been presented to more than 3,400 groups.

Covered commodities under ARC and PLC include barley, canola, large and small chickpeas, corn, crambe, flaxseed, grain sorghum, lentils, mustard seed, oats, peanuts, dry peas, rapeseed, long grain rice, medium grain rice (which includes short grain and sweet rice), safflower seed, sesame, soybeans, sunflower seed and wheat. Upland cotton is no longer a covered commodity.

Producers need to contact the Farm Service Agency by April 7. To learn more, farmers can contact their local Farm Service Agency county office. To find local offices, visit <http://offices.usda.gov>.

The 2014 Farm Bill builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past six years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for the taxpayer.

Frankfort Report...

By Jared Carpenter, State Senator

Historical, life-saving legislation was achieved by the Kentucky General Assembly during the final hours of the 2015 session. Senate Bill 192, a comprehensive approach to combat the scourge of heroin addiction in Kentucky reached final passage after countless hours of bipartisan work throughout the session. This was the third consecutive year that the Senate has led the charge on an anti-heroin bill, and it was a huge relief when SB 192 was signed into law Wednesday morning by Governor Beshear.

Effective immediately because of an emergency clause, the new anti-heroin law will provide necessary tools to curb its deadly impact in our state. Penalties for dealing and trafficking increase to keep these criminals off the streets. Addicts also will have more resources for treatment and diversion with an infusion of $10 million to go toward rehabilitation options. This bill was a result of countless hours of dedication from both sides, and we hope and pray that it will start saving lives.

Working well past midnight on the final day of the session, other critical measures were resolved through intense negotiations between the Senate and the House. We were able to reach agreement on stabilizing the road fund important to Kentucky's infrastructure, and add a layer of protection to victims of dating violence.

To keep the road fund sound, the Senate and House agreed on House Bill 299 which sets a new minimum rate for the gasoline tax at 26 cents per gallon. That's less than the current rate of 27.6 cents per gallon, but more than a rate of 22.5 cents which was scheduled to take effect on April 1. Had we allowed the tax to drop to the scheduled level, our road fund would have taken a significant financial blow, which would have made it impossible to fulfill commitments already made to state and local road projects.

Senators answered a call to provide civil protection from domestic violence, sexual abuse or stalking in the form of a protective order by giving final passage to House Bill 8. The bill also streamlines the process to obtain protective orders for other victims, and allows an order to be expunged from someone's record if a judge dismisses the order.

Prior to HB 8 becoming law, victims of dating violence in Kentucky had to file criminal charges against their partner in the hope of preventing ongoing abuse. Only victims who are married to, have a child with, or live with their abuser can seek civil protection from dating violence or abuse, physical violence, or stalking and HB 8 was a responsible measure to protect all victims.

Combating heroin, resolving declining road fund revenues and addressing dating violence were the major bills that the Senate and House acted on in the final days of the session. However, other beneficial measures also were successful in the session's final days:

Tax check-offs. Senate Bill 82 creates state income tax refund check-offs to support pediatric cancer research and Kentucky's rape crisis centers. SB 82 originally focused solely on creating a tax check-off to support pediatric cancer research but was amended to include a check-off for rape crisis centers.

Child booster seats. House Bill 315 requires booster seats to be used in motor vehicles by children who are less than eight years old and are between 40 inches and 57 inches in height.

Ignition interlock. Senate Bill 133 expands the use of ignition interlocks for people caught driving under the influence of alcohol. It supplements hardship licenses – special licenses allowing people with suspended licenses to drive to work, school and doctor's appointments – with ignition interlocks. That's a device about the size of a mobile phone that is wired into the ignition system of a vehicle. A motorist must blow into the device in order to start their vehicle.

My colleagues and I will go back to our districts now, and, beginning in the summer continue to meet and work on issues during the interim period and through joint committee meetings.

A complete list of new laws is available on the Legislative Research Commission's website, www.lrc.ky.gov. You are invited to contact me at my office in Frankfort by dialing 1-800-372-7181 or 502-564-8100.

PUTTIN' ON THE RITZ

Judy started making these after finding the recipe in the Kentucky Living magazine. This is a favorite of mine and Dustin.

1 can sweetened condensed milk
1 cup chopped dates
1 cup chopped pecans
1 and 1/2 stacks Ritz Crackers®
Combine condensed milk, dates, and pecans. Cook over very low heat until mixture thickens—15 to 20 minutes. Let cool. Put by spoonfuls on Ritz crackers. Bake at 350° for 8 minutes. Let cool.

TOPPING: (for two batches)
1 stick margarine, softened
1 box (8 ounce) cream cheese
4 teaspoons vanilla
1 box (1 pound) powdered sugar
Mix margarine, cream cheese, vanilla, and powdered sugar until smooth. Put on top of cooled date mixture. Refrigerate to set up frosting. Makes 5 dozen.

PUMPKIN COOKIES

Judy started making these for me when I was in California. She makes a double batch of the frosting, since I like it almost as well as I do the cookies. When I drove back to California after my two year stay in Lexington, Judy made many of these so I could eat them on my drive west. I had to spend an extra day near Albuquerque, New Mexico because of the snow. There seems to have been a rumor that I was delaying my arrival in San Francisco to get out of sharing my cookies. No, no, no—it had to be the snow.

1 cup sugar
2 cups self-rising flour
1/2 cup canola oil
1 egg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
Mix all of the above ingredients together. Drop by teaspoon on ungreased baking sheet. Bake at 350° about 10 minutes. Don't let get real brown.

ICING:
4 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons milk
1 cup powdered sugar
3/4teaspoon vanilla
Over medium heat, cook butter, brown sugar, and milk until mixture begins to boil. Remove from heat. Add vanilla and powdered sugar. Stir until spreadable and all lumps are gone. Frost cookies. If icing gets hard, add a little milk, stir until it is again spreadable.

Archery teams compete at Pulaski

The RCHS and RCMS Archery Teams competed at Pulaski County High School on Saturday at the Eubank Elementary Warm Up for Nationals Tournament.

The RCHS Rockets were short a few team members and scored a team score of 2968 considerably below their season high score of 3190 which they earned at the state tournament.

The top shooter for the RCHS Rockets was freshman Jackson Cromer with a score of 271. Jackson ranked 11th out of all the high school boys at the tournament.

Fifteen bulleyes helped junior Erika Howard earn a 268 for the Rockets and a high school girls rank of 14th for the tournament. Third for the Rockets was freshman Megan Taylor who scored her season best with a 263 on Saturday. Close behind Megan was Alyssa Bustle with 260 and Joseph Cowan with 256. Rounding out the top 12 in scoring for the Rockets was Rachel Chadwell, B.J. Wynn, Sam Brickley, Tristan Begley, Megan Hampton, Faith Saylor, and Callie Carpenter.

The top shooter for the middle school Rockets was 6th grader Andrew Sargent. Andrew improved his previous season best by 16 points to earn a 251. C.J. Cameron was second for the team with a 233 followed by Jeremiah Powell with 224, Kyle Coffey with 219, and Ben Tyler with 214.

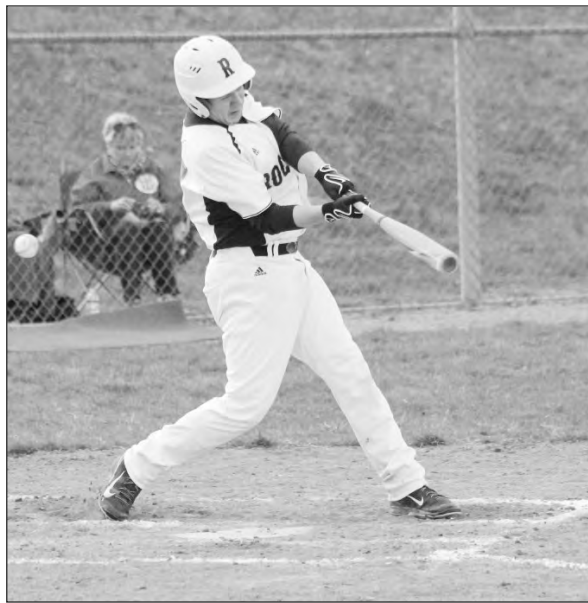

Other shooters for RCMS were Caimen McClure, Layne Bustle, Micah Sparks, Jillian Wallin and Joseph Coffey.

Cheyenne Gilliam gets a Lady Cardinal out at first base during the Lady Rockets 7-1 win over George Rogers Clark on Tuesday.

Lucas Jones attempts to get a player out at second during a game against Clay County last week. The Rockets are now 2-6 on the season and their next game is next Tuesday at home when they take on McCreary Central at 6 p.m.

Caymen McClure takes a swing during a game against Clay County last week. The Rockets played four games away this past week and were 0-4 after losing to Bryan Station last Friday 11-8, Danville last Saturday 0-7, Scott County on Monday 1-14 and Mercer County on Tuesday 4-15. McClure was incorrectly identified in last week's paper.

Congratulations to the members of the RCHS Winterguard on their performance for the 2015 season. The group finished their season at the 2015 Tristate Marching Arts Championships held at Ryle High School this past Saturday. The group has consistently shown an improvement in score each contest with an overall jump of nearly 30 points thanks to the help of instructor Steven Renner and assistance from Ms. Hannah Tyler. The Winterguard finished 8th in Scholastic B Class Competition on Saturday as they closed out the year. Members of the Winterguard are front from left: Captain Allison Renner, Liz Blair, Megan Peacock, Emily Alexander, and Brooklyn Lane. Second row from left: Megan Bond, Ashley Newland, Captain Jessica Harris, Abigail Fletcher, Hannah Mullins, Rachael Shepard and Trista Graves. Back row from left: Zach Feltner, Guilia Galizzi, Frankie Woodall, Captain Jonathan Case, Morgan Didelot, and Captain Caitlin Daugherty.

Lawson’s attorney Nathan Shirley questioned the checks and Lawson’s part in the organizations. Slone said they were all two party checks that were only signed by one person and that he was not given the authority to write the checks for his personal profit. Slone also testified the memo section on the majority of the checks was left blank and that one had “vent” for the memo. However, Slone said Lawson couldn’t provide documentation and Slone answered “no.” Shirley asked if Lawson ever admitted to any wrong doing during the investigation and Slone answered “no.” Shirley also made a motion to the court that Lawson shouldn’t be considered a flight risk as several days passed during the investigation leading up to his arrest, pointing out that Lawson had a chance to leave the area but didn’t. He also noted that Lawson has no criminal history and doesn’t present a danger to himself or others. Shirley also made the motion to amend Lawson’s bond to a third party signature bond. Reynolds retaliated saying that there are still cash proceeds unaccounted for and that the investigation is ongoing. He said Lawson has cooperated but hasn’t been able to provide any documentation. He went on to ask that the bond remain the same and for the case to be presented to the Rockcastle County Grand Jury. District Court Judge Katie Wood said that probable cause has been found in the case and that more funds are missing. She ordered that the bond remain at $30,000 cash/property. Lawson’s case is set to be reviewed by the court on Wednesday, May 27th.

ficking last Wednesday after officers responded to a call to a home on Pine Hill Circle in Mt. Vernon. Arrested at the scene was Jeffrey Thomas Renner, 46, of Mt. Vernon. According to state police reports, officers arrested Renner on a warrant after they received information, through an ongoing investigation, that Renner was selling suboxone strips, marijuana and hydrocodone pills from the residence. Renner was charged with two counts of first degree trafficking in a controlled substance and one count of trafficking marijuana. He remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $25,000 cash/property bond. In the second incident, a local man was arrested last Wednesday after officers raided a home on Snow Flake Lane in Mt. Vernon. Arrested at the scene was Jonathan Harold Lewis, 30, of Mt. Vernon. According to state police reports, officers received information that Lewis was selling Percocet pills at the residence and a warrant was issued for his arrest. Lewis was charged with trafficking in a controlled substance. He remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $25,000 cash/property bond. In the third incident, a local man was arrested on a drug trafficking warrant last Wednesday after officers went to a residence on Floyd Street in Mt. Vernon. Arrested at the scene was James Michael Clark, 46, of Mt. Vernon. According to state police reports, officers arrested Clark on a warrant after they received information, from an ongoing investigation, that Clark was selling Oxycodone pills at the residence. Clark was charged with first degree trafficking a controlled substance. He remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $10,000 cash/property bond.

will be helping them with resumes, interviews and everything needed to help them get the job they are seeking.. It’s always important to plan and get organized before applying for jobs.”

Rockcastle Adult Education Director Jenny Sweet said they are hoping to have annual job fairs and pre-hire classes twice a year in the future.

“People are often timid when trying to apply for jobs, working on their resumes, etc. So that’s why job fairs and pre-hire classes are important,” Sweet said. “We want to help people so they can reach their goals and be better prepared for their futures.”

For more information about the job fair contact the Rockcastle Adult Education Center at 606-256-0218 or visit www.rockcastleadulteducation.com.

The American Revolutionary War Patriots of Rockcastle

To celebrate and honor the county's American Revolutionary War Patriots and to enlighten the community about the service and sacrifice of these brave men, on behalf of the Rockcastle Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, I have compiled highlights of the service of the known patriots living in the county and who applied for a pension between the years of 1818 and 1842. All information was taken from the patriot's own account from his pension application and other historical documents. More information can be found on each patriot at the local library or the Rockcastle Historical Society. (Copyright Pending). If you are interested in joining the Daughters of the American Revolution or the Children of American Revolution, please contact Debbie Brown (606) 758-8659 or Iris Young (606) 256-2851.

Edward Evans Virginia

Edward Evans was born June 1758 Halifax, VA and died 25 October 1838 Lawrence, IN. According to his pension application, Edward gave the following account of his service on 27 August 1827 in Lawrence Co. IN. at the age of sixty-nine. He enlisted for the term of eighteen months on or about the tenth day of February 1778 in the state of Virginia in the Company commanded by Captain Thomas Dillard in the Regiment commanded by Colonel Morgan in the line of the state of Virginia as a private in the county of Pittsylvania. He also stated that he was at the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown while he was serving under Captain Daniel Carlin and Colonel Morgan. Notes that were made in his pension were that the Colonel that Edward would have served under would have been Col. Haynes Morgan, commissioned 10 May 1776 in the 2nd Battalion of Minutemen and from 20 December 1776 to 24 June 1777 in the 1st Regiment of the Virginia State Line. Neither of these were considered Continental service that would be covered by the pension laws under which Edward applied. He was rejected for a pension on the grounds that there was insufficient evidence to show that he served long enough to qualify for a pension. On 17 March 1853, Elizabeth's second wife, Elizabeth applied for a widow's pension. A letter from the Pension office dated 25 February 1857 stated that "Bounty Land was allowed her because in a spirit of liberality, it was thought more than probable that her husband had rendered as much as 14 days of service in the line of the Revolution, but could not be admitted that the proof on file justified the allowance of a pension."

After the Revolution, Edward's family along with some siblings migrated to Kentucky. Edward is listed in the KY Land Grant Records as receiving 83 acres in Lincoln Co. KY on the Dix River on 15 February 1786. He is also found in the KY Tax List of 1800 living in Lincoln County. Edward married for a second time (assuming that his first wife was deceased) on 21 February 1804 to Elizabeth Howard in Lincoln County. By 1810, the Edward was living in Rockcastle County with his wife and four sons, five daughters and two slaves.

Edward and his family picked up stakes and moved to Lawrence Co. Indiana sometime before the 1820 Census. The family had grown by one daughter and no slaves were listed in the census at that time. The 1830 Census shows that five children were still living with Edward and Elizabeth in Lawrence County. Edward died on 10 October 1838 in Lawrence Co. IN. He is buried at the Shiloh Cemetery in Lawrence, IN.

Edward and his wives had many children. They were Edward Evans (1770-1816). Nancy Evans (1784). Calvin Evans (1788) married Mary George on 1 December 1822 IN. They had six children. Robert Evans (1789 Lincoln Co. KY-1855). John George Evans (1790 Lincoln Co. KY-12 May 1855 Laurel Co. KY) married Nancy Miller and had at least three children: William, Polly and Clarinza. Clarinza Evans (1792 Lincoln Co. KY-1867 Rockcastle Co. KY) married Benjamin Poteet (1756-1850). He was an American Revolutionary War Patriot. They had four children: Mary, Charles, Edward and James. Sarah Evans (1792 Lincoln Co. KY-1867 Rockcastle Co. KY) married William B. Clementine (1790-1843). They had at least nine children. William B. Clementine, Evalina, Sarah, Mary, John, Stephen, Martha and William H. Elijah Evans (1794 Lincoln Co. KY) married Matilda Moore on 5 June 1820 Knox Co. KY. They had at least eight children: Jesse, Jerome, Margaret, T.L. James, Henry and Perry. Richard Evans (1798 Lincoln Co. KY-1872) married Nancy Toone on 30 August 1818 IN. He later married a Sarah. He is buried at Pine Grove Cemetery in Peoria, OR. Elbert Evans (1799 Lincoln Co. KY) married Nancy Adamson on 9 March 1826 IN. They had at least eight children. Eliza J. Evans (1802 KY) married John Boyd Jr. (1797-1871) on 12 June 1828 IN. They had eight children: William John, Robert, James, Sally, Polly, Emily and Emma. Susannah Evans (7 February 1806 KY-4 September 1887 IN) married Edmund Adamson on 24 May 1824 Lawrence Co. IN. They are buried at the New Union Cemetery in Lawrence, IN. They had eight children: Lorenzo, Eliza, Ivy, Elbert, Elizabeth, Rachel, Isaac and Susan. William Evans (1807 KY) married Nancy Waggoner on 10 March

SCC to host new art by Cory Bond in gallery

Somerset Community College will host "My Imagination," an art show by SCC student Cory Bond, a 2012 RCHS graduate, in the East End Gallery located in Stoner Hall on SCC's Somerset campus beginning April 1. The exhibit promotes autism awareness.

"My Imagination" will feature more than 45 new works by Cory Bond, who was diagnosed with autism at a very early age. Bond is studying painting at SCC with associate professor Darlene Libbey. Painting provides a wonderful outlet for Bond's creativity, said Libbey.

In April 2014, Bond's first exhibit at, entitled "Cory's World," was a resounding success with more than 100 people attended the artist's reception. The exhibit opened a dialogue about autism and the extraordinary abilities of individuals with autism. Bond's works have also been exhibited at the Promenade Gallery in Berea, the Berea Arts Council Gallery, Rockcastle Regional Hospital and Rockcastle Public Library.

"My Imagination" will be on display in the SCC East End Gallery from April 1 through April 30, 2015.

A reception will be held in the gallery, which is located in SCC's Stoner Hall, 808 Monticello Street, Somerset, on Thursday, April 9 from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. The reception is free and open to the public.

Former Kentucky State Police Trooper Jason Vanhook, 40, of East Berndstadt died last Wednesday after a year long battle with leukemia. Vanhook served as a state trooper for Laurel and Rockcastle County for more than nine years. Shown above is the procession of police and emergency vehicles escorting Vanhook's body on I-75 southbound to East Berndstadt. Members from all five volunteer fire departments in Rockcastle County were stationed on the bridge overpasses on I-75 to honor and salute Vanhook. Shown at left are Mt. Vernon Fire Chief David Bales, Mt. Vernon firefighters Wesley Durham and Brian Wynn and Western Rockcastle firefighter Barry Carroll saluting as Vanhook's procession passes by the Hurricane School Road overpass on I-75. Shown below is an aerial shot of several members from Brodhead Fire Department and Brindle Ridge Fire Department saluting Vanhook as his procession passes under the Hwy 1505 overpass on I-75. Members of the Livingston Fire Department and Pongo Fire Department gathered on other overpasses throughout the county. Several members from BVFD, MVFD, WRFD and PFD were stationed at fire departments in Laurel County yesterday so emergency personnel in Laurel County could attend Vanhook's funeral. Livingston Fire Department provided the additional coverage to other areas in the county while assisting Laurel County emergency services.

Local artist demonstrates oil painting techniques

On Saturday, April 4, Louie Northern, of Mount Vernon, will demonstrate his oil painting techniques from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea.

Northern prefers oil painting as his medium because it doesn't dry fast, and he likes the way oil paint handles using both a brush and palette knife. He often builds up the surface of his canvas to give it a more three-dimensional texture. Most of Northern's subject matter is rooted in his surroundings – farmland, mules, logging trucks and the woods that grow on his lands. Northern also creates more non objective paintings playing with color and texture, and he is adept at printmaking.

Always interested in art, Northern has been drawing since he was a small child. Today he is a farmer on 300 acres of land on his father's original home place in Rockcastle County. Although born in Dayton, Ohio, Northern returned to the land of his family's roots in 1977.

He studied art and began painting while in high school. He went on to earn a Bachelor of Arts degree in painting in 1999, from Eastern Kentucky University.

A selection of works by Louie Northern is regularly available at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea, located at 200 Artisan Way, just off Interstate 75 at Berea Exit 77. The center's exhibits, shopping and travel information areas are open daily from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. with the cafe open from 9:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Admission is free.

The Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea currently features works by more than 700 artisans from more than 100 counties across the Commonwealth. Special exhibits on display include, "Turn, Turn, Turn: Lathe-Turned Works by Kentucky Artisans" on display through Sept. 12, 2015, and in the lobby the exhibit "Kentucky Murals by Frank W. Long."

For more information about events call 859-985-5448, go to the center's website at www.kentuckyartisancenterky.gov or on Facebook at www.facebook.com/kentucky.artisan.center.

The Mt. Vernon Fire Department responded to a two car accident Tuesday on Hwy 25 near I-75 in Mt. Vernon. Authorities say a 2013 red Hyundai car, driven by Lisa Krebs, 57, of Fort Mill, South Carolina was traveling west on Hwy 25 when she attempted to turn left into a BP gas station and drove into the path of a gray Saturn car driven by Rick A. Barron, 24, of Livingston. Rick Barron and his passenger, Ricky G. Barron, 52, of Livingston were transported by ambulance to Rockcastle Regional Hospital where they were treated and later released. Krebs and her young son were not injured in the accident. MVFD was assisted by Mt. Vernon Police Department and Rockcastle EMS.

Bible Talk

In our study this month we want to talk about the three rules, or philosophies of life, as illustrated in the parable of the Good Samaritan in Luke 10:30-35.

Iron Rule - In verse 30 we read, "A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among thieves, which stripped him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead." The thieves spoken of here, were living by the Iron Rule. Do unto others before they do it unto you. Or, might makes right, the survival of the fittest. What yours is mine, and I'm going to take it. Sadly, we still have people like that in the world today. The criminal element live and die by the Iron Rule of living. When we take advantage and run rough shod over people, we are living by this philosophy of life and it is not a good choice.

Silver Rule - In verses 31-32 "And by chance there came down a certain priest that way: and when he saw him, he passed by on the other side. And likewise a Levite, when he was at the place, came and looked on him, and passed by on the other side." The priest and the Levite lived by the Silver Rule of life. Do not do to others what you would not have them do unto you. What's mine is mine and I'll keep it. They did not kick the man that was down, but they didn't help him either. Most people will fit into this category in general, minding their own business and they don't go around hurting or harming others. This is good, but it lacks the positive help that others need to be given from time to time. A self-centered spirit is in this mind set, thinking of "me, myself and I."

Golden Rule - In verses 33-34 we read, "But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was: and when he saw him, he had compassion on him, And went to him, and bound up his wounds, pouring in oil and wine, and set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn, and took care of him." This Samaritan lived by the Golden Rule of Life. "Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them." It's the mind set; what's mine is yours, and I'll share it. This rule includes the negative side that I will not hurt or harm you, but also the positive side of what we ought to do to help in times of need. He stepped up to help the man beat up and left half dead. He went out of his way to help and assist in his time of need. Which rule of life do you live by? It is more blessed to give than to receive.

We invite you to study and worship with us at the Providence church of Christ.

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...

What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?

Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.

Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?

A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.

Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?

C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again. Promoting the life of the carpet.
Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

Lawson resigns position on RCIDA Board

By: Doug Ponder

Several items of business were discussed at the monthly RCIDA meeting on Monday, including the recent resignation of Robert Lawson from the RCIDA Board.

Lawson resigned from the board after being arrested earlier this month for theft by deception. According to state police reports, Lawson reportedly stole over $28,000, since July of 2013, from three different accounts he was trusted with managing. Lawson remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $30,000 cash/property bond.

County Judge Executive Doug Bishop attended the meeting and told the board that he talked with Lawson personally at RCDC about the issue. Bishop said that Lawson told him that he had “already resigned” and that a deputy jailer was also present to witness his verbal resignation.

Board member Corey Craig said that he talked with Lawson before his arrest and that Lawson told him he would send an email stating his resignation. However, Craig said that he never received the email but that a verbal resignation to him and Bishop makes the resignation effective.

Craig said that the board needed to decide on a new chairperson since Lawson served in that capacity. Board member Dale Whitaker nominated board member Jason Coguer to serve as the new chairperson and the nomination was seconded by board member Tommy Mink.

The board agreed unanimously to appoint Coguer as the new chairperson. The board also voted to remove Lawson as a signer of the RCIDA checking account and add Coguer’s name as

Wildfires on the rise in Rockcastle

By: Doug Ponder

Local fire departments responded to several wildfires in Rockcastle County this past week.

Rockcastle 911 reported six wildfires in Rockcastle County since last Wednesday that have burned around 65 acres of land.

The largest wildfire happened last Wednesday on Chestnut Grove Road in Brodhead. Brodhead Fire Chief John Dyehouse said the wildfire burned approximately 60 acres and endangered several homes.

“This fire started when a property owner was burning off a field. Once the wind picked up, the fire got out of control and spread to four other properties,” Dyehouse said. “We were able to keep the fire from spreading to any structures and no one was injured in the fire. However, one dog and several wild animals like opossums were killed in the fire.”

Dyehouse said wildfires are more common when transitioning from the winter season to spring. He said homeowners and landowners always want to have a “spring cleanup” which almost always leads to wildfires after they attempt to burn something on their property.

“Fields and yards still have their dead growth from the winter months and the new growth hasn’t had time to come up yet,” Dyehouse said. “When people start to burn things or burn off areas of their property around this time of the year, that dead growth ignites quickly and, once the wind is factored in, the fire can get out of control in a matter of seconds.”

According to the Kentucky Division of Forestry, a spring burning ban is still in effect for Rockcastle County until April 30th. The ban is part of the Kentucky

Woman found dead in Rockcastle County

By: Doug Ponder

A Fayette County woman was found dead Monday night after police responded to a call on Crooked Creek Road in Orlando near the community of Johnetta.

According to state police reports, officers originally responded after receiving a call about an abandoned vehicle on Crooked Creek Road. Once officers found the abandoned vehicle, they discovered that it was connected to Amelia E. Jones, 41, of Lexington who had been reported as a missing person by her family.

After searching the area near the abandoned vehicle, officers found a dead body “a short distance away” from the vehicle. The body was later identified and confirmed as Jones.

Jones was pronounced

Points East

By Ike Adams

Time does, indeed, really fly after you pass 60 and then it just keeps getting faster. The reason I know the truth of this is because it does not seem possible that an entire year could have slipped by since I last implored readers of this column to assist my grandson, Tyler Kane Ochs (TKO) and me to raise some dollars to help fight Diabetes.

For the last three years Tyler, along with his family and friends, have participated in the annual Step Out Walk to Stop Diabetes that is held each spring at Keeneland Race Track in Lexington. It is a big event that draws over 2,000 participants from central and eastern Kentucky to join the battle to fight and call attention to this terrible, always debilitating, and far-to-frequently, deadly, disease. This year the walk will take place on the morning of May 30.

Diabetes is the 7th, most-listed on death certificates, cause of death in our country. However, it is most likely the root cause of a host of other killers such as heart disease, strokes, kidney failure, liver disease, blood poisoning and hemorrhages, to name a few, that are listed as the cause of death without mentioning diabetes.

For example, even though neither of them have done me in so far, I have had two strokes that the doctors tell me were probably related to my diabetes. The jury is still out on whether my intimate association with Mr. Parkinson was brought on by erratic blood sugar imbalances. The point is, that if either of them had proven to be fatal, my diabetes would not have been listed as a cause of death even though it would, most likely, have been the root cause. Thanks to diabetes, I have just completed one eye surgery and have three to go. Diabetes is one of, if not the most absolute, leading causes of blindness and is, by far, the leading cause of lower extremity amputations among adults. I could go on and on, but I think you get the picture.

The truth of the matter is that, other than visual impairment, I am not much bothered with the disease on a daily basis as long as I take my metformin, orally, twice a day, try to eat responsibly and get as much exercise as possible.

Our son, Christopher, is not so lucky. He has to have two daily injections of insulin.

Our six-year-old Grandson, Tyler, has to wear an insulin pump, and monitor every bite of food or drink, other than water, that he ingests. Tyler can and does count every carbohydrate that goes into his mouth and does up to half a dozen blood tests every day. The insulin pump is strapped to his lower abdomen and attached to a needle injected into his belly and he has to wear it 24-7. The needle location has to be changed every three days. While he has not yet mastered the science of changing the needle by himself, he has been doing his own blood tests and carb counts since he was age three.

The pump is far less painful than having 3 or more insulin shots every day and the dosage regulation is also much more precise. But the thing that most amazes me is that TKO does not allow the contraption or the disease to slow him down or prevent him from doing anything he wants to do. I can tell you, for sure that his parents and grandparents cringe and hold their breath every time he slides into second base or home plate but our worry doesn't

Yards to Paradise

By Max Phelps
Flowering Perennial Beds Add Beauty

Let's begin today with a little daydreaming about a new lovely and easy to care for bed of flowering plants that will keep coming back year after year. Then let's make a plan. Let's also discuss building that planting bed.

"Where should I build it?" "What should I plant?" We could ask many questions. You can study on where you want planting beds, of you can just pick a spot you desire a new bed and get busy with it. You can choose the design or layout—I like to mark the ground with paint, or you could use lime or flour from the kitchen, or borrow the water hose and play with layouts. You can make a list of plants you want to include—or you could take your chances by going on a shopping spree and see how it turns out. Actual preparation and planting chores, plus decorating the bed when finished with some new mulch are all things we will touch on.

Once you've decided on a location, and the overall look you want, try putting a plan together on paper.

The Clothes Line

While driving home from Mt. Sterling, I witnessed two sure-fire signs that spring had indeed arrived. As I came over a hill in Montgomery County, right before my eyes were hundreds of daffodils covering a field. A smile came over my face because I remembered these familiar blooms, which covered my grandmother's yard when I was a boy.

The second sign of spring occurred a few miles later. Passing a small frame house on KY 213, I saw an older lady hanging her fresh wash on a clothes line in the back yard. That, too, reminded me of my childhood in Rockcastle County. My mother (Bee) carefully hung our clothes on her clothes line, which was situated in our yard, nestled next to the woods behind our house.

No one at that time had a dryer to my knowledge. Your only choice was to hang clothes on a line or situate them near the stove or fireplace inside your home. That was precisely what Bee used in the winter months, when it was impossible to hang her wash outside. She arranged chairs

Drawing paper, copy paper, graph paper, the paper is not as important as just getting started. Let's draw up a plan and have some fun doing it.

Nobody needs to be an artist. Draw an outline for the bed on your paper. Sketch in some plants. Some colored pens or pencils or crayons might make this more fun! If you can't draw plants, draw circles of several sizes and then color them or write the name of the plant you are thinking of planting in each circle.

A color wheel can help you decide how to mix your colors. You can do an internet search for a color wheel, or most good gardening books may have one among their pages somewhere. Basically, some colors look much better when planted together than do other colors. This particularly pertains to the blooms of your plants—but yellow or silver or blue foliage mixing with green foliage may also play into the overall outcome of your new perennial bed. The color of the house and trim also should be considered when deciding on plant colors.

You can have a "hot" garden, a "cool" garden, a white garden or even a green garden! The green garden would be different; you'd need to use various shades of green and many contrasting textures of leaves and some with large leaves and some with small leaves, etc. It's your garden, so following rules is up to you of course.

To work up your planting site, here are some options: Dig up the grass (a sod cutter is great here), and begin planting. Another idea is to around our Warm Morning Stove and hung her wash there to dry.

Spring meant that Bee could now bring her wash out into the sunshine to dry. The fresh air would add a pleasant aroma to her wash. (Yes, there was a time when "fresh" air was always clean and fresh-smelling.) I remember the fragrance but I find it impossible to describe—it was a delicate and airy scent. It also gave clothing a cool, clean, and crisp feel. I can still hear that snapping sound that it made when the breezes came tossing around.

Bee's washing machine was the old standard wringer-type. She separated our wash into four machine loads: sheets and pillow cases, towels, white clothes, and finally, colored clothes. Each was hung together in groups on the line.

Before the first item was hung, the line was wiped down carefully to remove any bird droppings or insects. The clothes were hung with wooden clothes pins that clipped them to the line. (Come to think of it, those clothes pins were handy little things to have around; they made for a variety of uses.) At the end of each line—she had multiples—Bee used a wooden pole with a fork on the end to keep anything from dragging the ground.

Bee also used another technique in hanging clothes. Because she was such a very private and reserved person, our underclothes were always hung on the line located next to the woods, with the sheets hung in front of them to provide cover. She would never permit such items of clothing to be in view.

At different times throughout the day, Bee walked out to check and see if her clothes were dry and ready to be brought into the house. Each item was carefully removed and folded before it was placed into the laundry basket.

Shirts and blouses were

When the Cows Come Home

Dear Journal,

Finally it seems that spring has arrived. The weather is warmer, the bulbs are blooming, birds are building nests, and the grass in the yards is beginning to grow. Just this past weekend Stanley had to mow the yard at our house in London.

It is the time of the year people begin getting out in their yards to plant and beautify. I always get a few plants to bring home to "torture", as Stanley says. They usually die a long, slow, and torturous death. The people at Lowe's love to see me coming, though. They probably laugh and say, "She'll never learn."

Many people have old family cemeteries they maintain. These are usually way out in the country with only a few occupants and the last burial took place over fifty years ago. That is the case with the old Cook family cemetery in the Three Links area. When Stanley was growing up, his Mom and Dad, Harrison and Laura, would pack a picnic lunch and load up the necessary equipment in a pickup, and then head for the cemetery. They made a little outing of it and one that Stanley enjoyed. This is a dying practice. In fifty years or less, when the older generations are gone, the cemeteries like this will be lost to the brush and there will never be another flower put on a grave anywhere.

Stanley and his brothers, Dale and Larry, still clean and care for the old family cemetery at Three Links. One year, not long after we were married, neither Dale nor Larry were available to clean the cemetery, so Stanley and I went to clean it. When we got there, it didn't look too bad, fortunately. We had taken a little lunch, too, just for tradition's sake. The cemetery is out in the country, on top of a little hill, and surrounded by a beautiful forest. On another side, there is a pasture. In the pasture was a pond and several cows. It was so quiet and with a gentle breeze singing as it blew through the pines. In the distance was the gentle voices of the contented cows.

Stanley mowed the grass and ran the trimmer around the gravestones. I did what I could by picking up old flowers and garbage. As we worked, he told me stories of those buried there.

I soon finished my chores and took advantage of the beauty. I wandered around here and there. I soon found myself by the cow pasture fence.

The cows were far down the hill, grazing and drinking from the pond. I sure wished they would come closer so I could see them better and pet them a little.

Now I need to explain that although I was born and raised around London, right in the middle of rural Ken-

Eva Bullock

We would like to thank the members of Hospice Care Plus, who took such wonderful care of Eva Bettye Cope Bullock. Each and everyone was kind, compassionate, professional and helpful in every way possible. They made a difficult time much easier for her and us and were an uncommon source of comfort. She wanted to be home and we are so grateful they made it possible. Dr. Arvin and the staff at White House Clinic will always be special to us for the care and support they provided.

Special thanks to our friends at Dowell and Martin Funeral Home where the arrangements were handled with the utmost attention to every detail. That was so important to us at this heart-breaking time.

Thank you Pam Martin for the flowers from Sparks Flowers Shop. They were gorgeous and exactly what we wanted. Thank you Roy Martin for the beautiful rose casket spray. We are sure she would have loved it as much as we did.

Heartfelt appreciation goes to Bro. Jim Baldwin for his many visits, prayers and the wonderful job he did officiating at her service.

Lastly, let us thank everyone for the gifts of kind words thoughts, prayers, visits, cards, phone calls, flowers, food, money and presence. Everything was greatly appreciated.

But most of all, thank you Lord for letting us have 83 years of Eva Bettye Cope Bullock.

Donna June, Boyd, Eric, Cassie, Haley June, Ashlyn Grace and the rest of her extended family

Card of Thanks

Geneva Argenbright

The family of Geneva Argenbright would like to thank all of our friends and family who attended the visitation and funeral of our mom and grandmother. To those who sent flowers, cards, gifts or food, thank you so much.

To Bros. Dale McNew and Ova Baker, a special thank you for your kind words of comfort and prayer.

Thank you to the pallbearers. Mom would have been pleased and thankful.

Thanks to Jason Medley for his music that he played and sang to. The song that he dedicated to Mom during the summer made it even more special. It made the service complete.

To all the ladies of our church who prepared the dinner after the service, thank you. It was greatly appreciated.

Thank you to Drs. Bullock, Saylor and Rowe for taking care of her needs in her hospital time. Thank you to the Rockcastle Hospital nursing staff, for their care during her stays there.

To the Terrace nursing staff and therapy department, thank you for her care. Thank you to the nursing staff at Compassionate Care Center in Richmond for your care during her short stay. Your staff was so caring and kind.

To Mom's neighbors and friends who helped her and watched out for her, we thank you. We will never be able to repay you for all you did for her. To her nieces and nephews who called and checked on her, we thank you. She knew that if she needed you, she could call and you would come to her. We love you all.

Thank you to Dowell and Martin Funeral Home and their staff for all the help and support they gave us. We appreciate you so much.

If we left anyone out, it was not our intent and thank you.

Mom was special to so many of us. She will be missed and will forever be in our hearts.

Kentucky Afield Outdoors Spring is prime time for trophy bass

A winter back-loaded with cold, snow and high water can make the season's stay seem unusually long and especially harsh.

The first warm days of the year never come soon enough. But when they do, a feeling of euphoria sweeps over anglers because spring-time offers some of the year's best opportunities for trophy largemouth bass.

"Fall is a great opportunity to catch a big one, but your best shot at the biggest bass of the year or your life is right now," said Geoff Roberts, a conservation educator with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources and an avid bass angler.

The longer periods of daylight and the warming water temperatures of springtime tell largemouth bass that it's time to move shallow. It's also at this time when the big bass are at their heaviest, especially ravenous females that must pack on weight in preparation for spawning.

Kentucky boasts numerous lakes that hold "good" to "excellent" populations of largemouth bass. In its annual Fishing Forecast, Kentucky Fish and Wildlife classified almost 40 fisheries in those two categories.

Anchoring the list of "excellent" largemouth bass options are Kentucky Lake and Lake Barkley in the west and Barren River Lake in the southwest. Also making the cut were 760-acre Beshear Lake in Caldwell and Christian counties; 8,270-acre Cave Run Lake in Bath, Menifee, Rowan and Morgan counties; and 784-acre Cedar Creek Lake in Lincoln County; 32-acre Fishpond Lake in Letcher County; 767-acre Lake Malone in Muhlenburg, Todd and Logan counties; 169-acre Wilgreen Lake in Madison County and 36-acre Spurlington Lake in Taylor County.

Fish population survey work conducted by fisheries biologists last May on Cedar Creek Lake found vast numbers of 19- to 21-inch largemouth bass. There is a one-fish daily creel and 20-inch minimum size limit on the lake. Anglers have been catching bass in the creeks, and the areas around the KY 1770 bridge and mid-lake boat ramp near old U.S. 150 are two proven spots in a lake full of them.

"The number of really large fish is impressive," said John Williams, southeastern fisheries district biologist with Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "The area by the U.S.150 ramp has a lot of cover and shallow water with access to deep water."

Wilgreen Lake's bass population stood out in last year's research in the northeastern fisheries district. It yielded good numbers of fish over 15 inches and 20 inches, but bass don't have to search hard for food with gizzard shad prevalent in the lake.

"You can fish pretty much across the whole dam on that lake," said Tom Timmermann, northeastern fisheries district biologist with Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "We see some nice fish across the dam. That would be a nice place to try. If you're fishing Wilgreen, Lake Reba is just on the other side of Richmond. It has nice numbers of fish over 15 inches as well, and half of that is bank accessible. Those two lakes being the size that they are, it might make for a good day to fish one in the morning and then try to fish the other in the evening."

Grayson Lake in Carter and Elliott Counties showed improvement last year, earning the 1,512-acre reservoir up-and-comer status in this use weed killer and begin planting a day or two later. My favorite is to kill the grass with Spectracide or Roundup and bring in a load of good topsoil and spread it creating a rased bed that will also have fewer weeds and grass (that is if you can get weed-free and grass-free soil). In this new bed you easily and more quickly can plant. When planting is done, putting down some Preen or other brand of pre-emergent herbicide, perhaps some slow release fertilizer, and then finishing off the bed by mulching it. When it comes to mulch, everything from wood chips to hardwood mulch to cypress or cedar, pine needles, (even chocolate (cocoa) bean hulls that smell so wonderful.

Shopping for new plants is one of the most fun things for some people. You can go to a big box store or a major garden center, especially in larger towns, and find most of what you may be looking for in one spot.

But if you're into the adventure, I'd suggest finding some out-of-the-way little greenhouses and garden centers and even roadside stands where local farmers and gardeners have some unusual stuff to sell that may not be carried by the big stores. (Note: Buying direct from the local grower is better for the local economy and may be a more sustainable way of gardening. Plus you'll often meet new friends and may find lots of knowledgeable folks willing to share free advice.)

Online and mailorder are fine choices. Many nurseries ship actual potted plants these days, not just the cheaper springtime shipments of bare-root items. Getting shipments of growing plants in hot weather or in very cold weather is fraught with some concerns though, unless you pay the cost of airmail/airfreight. (Your plants could literally cook in a UPS truck all day.) Order with caution in summer and winter, but I've done it successfully most of the time over the years.

Are you ready to go shopping? Or do you have your plants and need to get the shovel or spade out? Trowels, picks, even my rock hammer gets used sometimes to make planting holes. For those into big power tools, a post hole digger, a bobcat with a big auger, or an electric drill with a small auger—you can make your planting tools.

That's more a man's way of taking care of the planting chore I would suppose.

No matter if you choose one of the ways suggested above, or your own method that works for you, consider creating a new bed of flowering perennials. Even mid summer is OK for this project, so long as you have a hose or other means of watering your new plants from time to time until they get well established. I know you will have a lot of lovely blooms before summer is out.

prevent him from doing so. Apparently, little league baseball players have a deep-seeded, inherent need to slide into bases, even when there's not the slightest chance that the fielders might try to throw them out. Tyler would rather play baseball than eat ice cream and that's a good thing because an ice cream cone could kill him.

Tyler would also be the first person to tell you that we don't participate in the Step Out Walk, hoping for some imminent miracle that would enable him to live without an insulin pump and such a severely restricted diet. And even though we don't totally rule out that remote possibility of a miracle cure, our focus is on kids, like TKO, who are not yet born and we firmly believe that that the American Diabetes Association will eventually provide medical science with the financial resources to fund the research and development to make that happen.

By helping sponsor Team TKO in the Step Out Walk you can join our battle, or we'd love to have you join us at Keenelanda couple hours after the sun comes up on May 30.

Last year, over 60 readers of this column donated more than $3,000 of the $5,200+ that Team TKO generated.

If you would like to help sponsor us this year, the easiest way is to go online to stepout.diabetes.org and click on "donate" at the top of the page, then click on donate to or through a team or person, type in Ike Adams and that will take you to Team TKO's page. I will try to update our progress on a daily basis.

If you would rather make a paper contribution, simply mail a check made payable to American Diabetes Association, with Team TKO on the memo line. Send it to my home address and Tyler and I will turn it in on Step Out Day.

placed on wire hangers; practically everything else was neatly folded. I loved opening my dresser to find newly washed clothes neatly folded in my drawers, including underwear, socks, tee shirts, and my handkerchiefs. My cotton shirts were always hung carefully in my closet. In those days, I usually wore white, oxford cloth, button-down shirts. Bee always made sure that we had clothes that were clean and pressed to wear to school or anywhere else.

Of course, I took all of this for granted, not understanding how thankful I should have been at the time. What a chore it was for her to accomplish this task. I hope that I at least thanked her every once in a while, but I cannot remember if I did.

I think doing the laundry in those days was surely a "mission of love," and Bee was the best. And that's why the little old lady on KY 213 reminded me of my mother, and of how she sacrificed to make sure our family was clean and presentable.

tucky, I know very little about rural life, farming, and such. I might as well have been raised in Chicago. Anyway, I decided I'd call the cows in hopes that they would come closer.

I didn't know how to call cows as I had never called one...barely had even seen any up close and personal, anyway. I was standing on the bottom of the fence, leaning over the top, and I put my hands to my mouth to amplify my voice. I yelled in their direction, "Heeeerree, cows! Heeerree, cows!" several times.

Stanley had finished mowing and came over to the fence only to discover what I was doing. He was kind of amazed, but yet found it humorous. He said that you can't call cows like that. I said, "Oh, yeah? I see some of them coming this way." He replied, "Maybe, but I don't know if I've ever seen a cow hold its sides laughing as it walked before."

Crappie time is just around the corner

Although the redbud trees may or may not have bloomed yet, it isn't too early to start fishing for crappie.

Black crappie are likely along rocky banks now in lakes that have them.

"With the water temperatures still in the mid-40s, white crappie are likely staging in deeper water right now," said Jeff Crosby, central fisheries district biologist for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "With the longer photoperiod and the warmer temperatures on the way, they will be moving up to the shallows."

The big twins of western Kentucky, Kentucky Lake and Lake Barkley, along with Green River Lake and Taylorsville Lake all receive oodles of fishing pressure for the crappie that swim in their waters. However, Kentucky is also blessed with other less known waters holding bountiful populations of crappie that don't receive the adulation and fishing pressure of their more well known brethren.

While known for its excellent largemouth bass fishing, wood strewn 2,315-acre Yatesville Lake in Lawrence County holds good numbers of quality white crappie with many in the 15-inch range.

"In our latest population sampling, Yatesville had the most crappie we've ever sampled in the 10- to 14-inch range," said Kevin Frey, eastern fisheries district biologist for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife.

Yatesville Lake, near the West Virginia border, more resembles a flatland reservoir with abundant woody cover than a mountain lake. Probe the fallen tree tops and submerged trees with live minnows suspended under a bobber and adjust the depth until you get bites. The timbered coves and banks near the confluence of Blaine and Greenbrier creeks hold crappie.

"In the upper part of Blaine Creek at the Rich Creek boat access, we've placed fish structures and cut down trees for bank anglers to catch crappie," Frey said. "There are numerous pull offs along KY 32 for bank anglers. It is good fishing in that area in spring."

Cave Run Lake is full of 2- to 3-year-old crappie, providing excellent opportunity for both black and white crappie. The deep weedbeds in the mouths of Skidmore and Leatherwood creeks in the Beaver Creek arm attract black crappie in March and into April. Black crappie tend to move into the shallows earlier in the year than white crappie. White crappie stay out in deeper water along creek channels while blacks may be in just a few feet of water along rocky banks at the same time.

The abundant woody structures around Bangor Boat Ramp and fallen trees along the island near Poppin Rock Boat Ramp in the North Fork Arm of Cave Run provide excellent fishing for white and black crappie.

One of the crappie sleepers flows off of Pine Mountain all the way to northern Kentucky. The Kentucky River holds considerable numbers of crappie a foot long or better. "The river goes in cycles, but there are some good fish in there," Crosby said. "The crappie in the Kentucky like those creek mouths and backwater areas with little current."

Tributaries at their confluence with the Kentucky River have abundant root wads, undercut banks and washed in tree tops and brush. Probe all of these with live minnows suspended under a bobber or with 1/16-ounce chartreuse Roadrunner style spinner baits dressed with a matching 2-inch curly-tailed grub. "Another flowing water to consider is the Ohio River. It is really, really good for crappie right now," Crosby said. The Ohio River offers good crappie fishing from Ashland downstream to the Purchase Region in far western Kentucky.

He recommends backwater areas along the river, often formed where tributaries meet the main stem of the Ohio. "With all of the flooding on the Ohio, those embayments should have fish right now. Target brushy areas with live minnows in those embayments."

Guist Creek Lake covers 317 acres in Shelby County. It is also overlooked for crappie. "We saw some really nice crappie last fall in our population surveying," Crosby said. "I think most of the fishing pressure there is on largemouth bass."

Early spring is a good time to catch large white crappie 11 inches and longer on Barren River Lake in Allen and Barren counties. Known throughout the Midwest and upper South as a superior largemouth bass lake and written up in national magazines, Barren River Lake holds a burgeoning population of black crappie as well, which now make up 60 percent of the total crappie population in the lake.

Casting banks composed of pea gravel with lime-green 2-inch curly-tailed grubs rigged on red 1/8-ounce leadheads is a productive presentation for black crappie. Drifting live minnows along creek channels in March and early April fools big white crappie on Barren before they move into the shallows to spawn.

The huge snows of just a few weeks ago are now in the dustbin of history. It is time to get out and catch some crappie.

year's Fishing Forecast.

"There are some nice fish in there, but it's a tricky lake to fish," Timmermann said. "Grayson Lake and Cave Run aren't that dissimilar in the fact that they're deep, clear, eastern Kentucky mountain lakes. If you don't put your time in to learn your spots you could struggle. But those guys that know what they're doing on Grayson tend to have fun with it."

Bass typically start to move shallow when the water temperature ranges from 55 to 65 degrees with farm ponds and smaller lakes warming up first.

"At a certain point, you've got fish in all three phases: pre-spawn, spawn and post-spawn," Roberts said. "If you try targeting the pre-spawners and you strike out doing that, try something a little different like sight fishing. And if you can't get anything going there, look for the post-spawn fish."

Good lures to have on hand in early spring are jig and trailer combinations, spinnerbaits, square-billed and lipless crankbaits, suspending jerkbaits and other shad imitations.

Try to intercept bass at spots that lead to spawning areas, Roberts said, such as deeper points and the deeper stretches of banks that lead into embayments, creeks or a big pocket, and work back.

"What you want to try to find are basically what bass use as highways," he said. "Bass like to feel secure and they like to have ambush points, so they're going to use whatever cover is available as they work their way back in until they go to where they're going to spawn. And then they're going to do the exact same thing coming back out."

"When they do get shallow, look for any stumps, lay down or structure like that because that's what they're either going to be spawning next to or hanging out by either in preparation for spawning or immediately after they spawn."

Spring fishing is grateful fishing, and the thrill of an early spring reunion with the water never grows old. The pull of a trophy largemouth bass only makes it better.

Booklets promote financial literacy

"It's Money, Baby," a booklet about financial literacy, is available free from the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA).

It can be used with students as part of April's National Financial Literacy Month activities.

The 32-page booklet includes sections about such topics as:

- Cash basics.
- Banking.
- Credit.
- Insurance.
- Fraud and identity theft.

To order a free copy, email to the following: publications@kheaa.com. Please include your mailing address.

An online version of the booklet is available on www.kheaa.com.

Compare award letters to find best college deal

By now, most high school seniors should have completed the college application process and will begin receiving financial aid award letters. Seniors and their parents should compare those letters to find the one that offers the best financial aid package, the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) advises.

The letter will usually show the total cost of attendance — what that school costs for one year, including tuition, fees, room, meals, books, supplies, transportation and personal expenses.

It may also show how much the student's family is expected to pay toward those costs, the expected family contribution (EFC). The EFC is subtracted from the total cost of attendance to get a student's financial need. The letter will then list various sources of financial aid offered to pay for the costs not covered by the EFC. Students can accept or reject any or all of those proposed sources.

Students can also appeal the awards made if they believe their family's financial circumstances have changed.

One consideration is how much of the aid being offered is in federal student loans, which will have to be paid back after a student finishes school. If the package includes federal loans and isn't enough to pay all expenses, students may be looking at a private loan. Comparison shopping is a must in that case.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES), need-based grants and other programs to help students pay their higher education expenses.

Take small steps to better health

(StatePoint) Staying healthy doesn't have to mean overhauling your lifestyle. Sometimes small changes can have big impacts. Take it from celebrity fitness trainer, Latreal "La" Mitchell, "Everyone can reach their health and fitness goals. It's all about setting attainable goals and staying motivated to see results."

To look, feel and live better, Mitchell is offering tips for small lifestyle changes you can make that can inspire you to make more in the future:

Get Moving

If exercise is not a part of your life now, don't worry.

"In a short time, you can be doing quality exercises," says Mitchell. "The key is to start small."

Try short sets of push-ups, planks, squats, and lunges and work your way up. Ten minutes can make a real difference. Remember, little things like taking the stairs instead of the elevator will keep you feeling great all day.

Just be sure to make exercise non-negotiable. Life is busy and it's easy to find any number of reasons to skip a workout. Make yourself a fitness schedule and stick to it - and then don't let anyone or anything stop you from staying on track.

Eat Right

The small goal of adding more fiber to your diet can lead you to better nutrition choices. Aim to get 25 to 38 grams of fiber every day. In addition to upping your fruit and vegetable intake and swapping out processed white bread and pasta for the whole wheat variety, fiber supplements can help you meet your fiber goals. But choose wisely, as some options have additional benefits beyond supporting digestive health.

For example, Meta offers products made with psyllium fiber which has multihealth benefits. Try adding Metamucil powder to a morning smoothie. Also try new MetaBiotic probiotic supplement.

For many people, snacking can be a downfall, especially during a busy workday. Try substituting your usual temptations with healthier options. For example, almonds and light popcorn are a good substitute for chips, and are more satisfying. If you have a sweet tooth, ditch the afternoon pastry that's high in calories but won't actually help you feel full. Instead, look for a delicious, easy-to-pack snack like a Meta Health Bar that helps satisfy hunger as a healthful snack.

Lastly, stay hydrated. Skip sugary sodas and sports drinks and opt for water throughout the day. If you need a boost of flavor, add a lemon wedge, cucumber slice or some fresh herbs. Water helps you feel full and process fiber, while helping to keep you hydrated.

Special Olympics Area 6 Spring Games next week

The Special Olympics Kentucky Area 6 Spring Games will be held Saturday, April 11, at Meece Middle School in Somerset.

The Area meet includes more than 200 athletes from Bell, Clay, Harlan, Knox, Laurel, Pulaski, Rockcastle, Wayne and Whitley Counties. The event gets underway with Opening Ceremonies, including the parade of athletes, at 9:45 a.m. The competition begins at 10:15. This is the fourth consecutive year Meece Middle School has hosted the event.

This is the first of four weekends of the Special Olympics Track and Field season, which concludes May 11 in Louisville. The Area 6 Spring Games is one of eight area track and field meets held statewide this year. In all, more than 1,500 athletes with intellectual disabilities throughout the state will participate in regional track and field competitions, making track and field the largest participation event in the Special Olympics program in Kentucky.

Participants in the Spring Games automatically qualify to compete in the Special Olympics Kentucky State Summer Games to be held June 5-7 at Eastern Kentucky University in Richmond.

served Crain traveling at a high rate of speed. Crain did stop when he observed a police vehicle but then sped away at a high rate of speed. Adams pursued Crain’s vehicle as he ran a stop sign and turned left onto Hwy 25 still at a high rate of speed. Moments later Crain turned left onto Upper Calloway Loop where people were standing on the shoulder of the roadway.

After traveling on Upper Calloway Loop, Crain once again turned onto Hwy 25 toward Livingston and the vehicle chase ended moments later when Adams managed to drive into the path of Crain’s vehicle in an effort to stop the chase.

Once Crain stopped his vehicle, Adams apprehended him moments later. Adams noted that Crain’s eyes were bloodshot and that he appeared intoxicated. Adams also noted that Crain repeatedly banged his head on the police cruiser and was extremely belligerent, verbally abusive and “wanted to fight.”

While searching the vehicle, Adams found an open whiskey bottle, another full whiskey bottle and several cans of beer.

Crain was charged with first degree wanton endangerment, first degree fleeing or evading police, DUI, possession of alcoholic beverage in vehicle and disregarding a stop sign. He remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center under a a $15,000 cash/property bond.

a signer for the account. Craig also proposed that the board agree to establish “staggered term limits” for members who serve on the board. He said state law KRS. 154.50 provides the guidelines for the term limits.

With the resignation of Lawson, Craig said the board currently has seven members. According to the state law, Craig said a seven member board should have two members for two years, two members for three years and three members for four years.

The law calls for any successors to be appointed to a four year term. The law also states that a member may be replaced as a result of misconduct or a conviction of a felony.

Bishop said that he was concerned about an appointment of an eighth member putting four people on four year terms. He said the law states an eight member board must have two members for two years, three members for three years and three members for four years.

Bishop said that he plans to appoint someone to fill Lawson’s position in the near future. He suggested term limits as two members for two years, three members for three years and two members for four years with the appointed eighth members filling the four year term seat.

The board agreed and designated the current members in their respective term limits. Steven Eversole and Jason Medley were placed on two year terms; Coguer, Mink and Donna Hopkins on three year terms and Whitaker and Craig on four year terms.

RCIDA Executive Director Holly Hopkins also gave an update on projects in Rockcastle County’s industrial parks. She said SourceHOV is adjusting their shifts to where they don’t have to work every weekend. She said they are only adjusting shifts and that no one is losing any hours or losing their jobs.

Hopkins said employees at the new CSEPP building are having trouble entering and exiting their facility in their vehicles as a result of employees from SourceHOV using the turn-about as a “continuous driveway” for the SoucreHOV building. Since the road is a county road, she said she will bring the issue up at next week’s fiscal court meeting and see about the possibility of installing a stop sign, yield sign, etc.

Hopkins said she is receiving a lot of interest from companies looking to buy or lease the former Anchor building as a result of the county passing the Right to Work ordinance. She said that she has also received calls about the former “sewing factory” building and is scheduling meetings for later this month.

Hopkins went on to say that Plastisud in the Rockcastle Industrial Park has laid off several workers after their parent company in France visited the facility and determined that production was down. She said the company was expecting to do another round of layoffs soon.

Hopkins said the company was not wanting to get rid of anyone but that it was simply a production issue. She said they are letting the laid off employees draw unemployment with the hopes of possibly rehiring all of them in the near future.

Spring Forest Fire Hazard Season which makes it illegal for anyone to set fires within 150 feet of any woodland areas between the hours of 6 a.m. and 6 p.m.

The state law is intended to prevent forest and brush fires by only allowing outdoor burning after 6 p.m. when conditions are less likely to cause a wildfire to spread.

Dyehouse went on to say that the local fire departments in Rockcastle County have had to respond to numerous wildfires that started with a controlled burn that got out of control. He said following the burning ban’s requirements and time period will help prevent future wildfires.

Clear Creek overran its banks last Friday and flooded two bridges that were recently condemned on Hwy 1786 in Wildie. The two bridges were condemned by the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet and are currently being reconstructed. The above photo was taken on the fourth bridge on Hwy 1786 and shows Clear Creek backed up and overflowing the bridge. The bottom photo shows the water backed up from the recently reconstructed bridge to the site of the other bridge which is currently under construction. The rushing waters also flooded several fields, yards and other property in the Wildie area.

Rockcastle Co. has been awarded Federal Funds under the Emergency Food and Shelter National Board Program.

Rockcastle Co. has been chosen to receive ~~$8,121.00~~ to supplement emergency food and shelter programs in the county.

The selection was made by a National Board that is chaired by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security’s Federal Emergency Management Agency and consists of representatives from American Red Cross; Catholic Charities, USA; National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.; The Jewish Federations of North America, The Salvation Army; and, United Way Worldwide. The Local Board was charged to distribute funds appropriated by Congress to help expand the capacity of food and shelter programs in high-need areas around the country.

A Local Board made up of local government and charitable organizations will determine how the funds awarded to Rockcastle Co. are to be distributed among the emergency food and shelter programs run by local service agencies in the area. The Local Board is responsible for recommending agencies to receive these funds and any additional funds available under this phase of the program.

Under the terms of the grant from the National Board, local agencies chosen to receive funds must: 1) be private voluntary non-profits or units of government, 2) be eligible to receive federal funds, 3) have an accounting system, 4) practice nondiscrimination, 5) have demonstrated the capability to deliver emergency food and/or shelter programs, and 6) if they are a private voluntary organization, they must have a voluntary board. Qualifying agencies are urged to apply.

Rockcastle Co. has distributed Emergency Food and shelter funds previously with Daniel Boone Community Action Agency, Inc. participating. This agency was responsible for helping families with mortgage/rental assistance and utilities as well as provide food for the local food bank at the First Baptist Mission. Public or private voluntary agencies interested in applying for Emergency Food and Shelter Program Funds must contact Tamara Cox, 105 E. Main Street Box 7, Mt. Vernon, Kentucky 40456 for an application. The deadline for applications to be received is April 17, 2015.

Annual Redbud Health Walk “blooming” success

Over 500 people, from Rockcastle and surrounding counties, participated in the 9th Annual Red Bud Health Walk. The free event was held April 1st starting and ending at the Little White Church in Renfro Valley.

The event was hosted by The Mt. Vernon-Rockcastle County Tourist Commission, the City of Mt. Vernon, the Christian Appalachian Project, Rockcastle Regional Hospital, TOUR Southern and Eastern Kentucky (TOUR SEKY), Renfro Valley Entertainment Center, ASPI and the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame. Special thanks to the volunteers that helped make it all possible: Lifeline Rockcastle Home Health, Rockcastle Health and Rehabilitation, Mt. Vernon Fire and Police Departments, Don and Carlene Burkhead, Mary and Pat Greene, CJ Frederick, and Andrew Robbins.

Participants walked along a predetermined path where they received health tips along the way. They were also treated to free health checks and a chance to win a $50.00 Visa gift card and two tickets to Shenandoah and Marty Roybon. The walkers also received free redbud seedlings, tote bags filled with gifts from walk sponsors and a healthy lunch from the Mt. Vernon Subway, while performer Jeff Watson entertained the crowd. Mark your calendars for next year's walk on April 1st.

A crowd of over 500 people, from Rockcastle and surrounding counties, participated in the 9th Annual Red Bud Health Walk held last Wednesday at Renfro Valley.

The American Revolutionary War Patriots of Rockcastle

By Karen Hamm Adams

To celebrate and honor the county's American Revolutionary War Patriots and to enlighten the community about the service and sacrifice of these brave men, on behalf of the Daughters of the American Revolution, I have compiled highlights of the service of the known patriots living in the county and who applied for a pension between the years of 1818 and 1842. All information was taken from the patriot's own account from his pension application and other historical documents. More information can be found on each patriot at the local library or the Rockcastle Historical Society. (Copyright Pending). If you are interested in joining the Daughters of the American Revolution or the Children of American Revolution, please contact Debbie Brown (606) 758-8659 or Iris Young (606) 256-2851.

James Kincaid

Virginia

James Kincaid was born 10 March 1763 Albemarle Co. Virginia and died on 8 July 1841 in Platte Co. Missouri. According to his pension application, James Kincaid gave the following account of his service on 5 November 1833 in Lafayette County, Missouri at the age of seventy. While residing with his father in Castleswood Settlement on the Clinch River about 25 miles north of Abington VA, James volunteered in the spring of 1776 serving as a private in Captain John Duncan's Virginia Company serving and guarded the Virginia settlements on the frontier for at least twenty eight days. He enlisted in the summer of 1777 to go to the aid of the frontier stations in Kentucky and served under Captain Henry Pauling Company, Colonel John Bowman's Virginia Regiment. They marched to Boonesborough and stayed there aiding the people of the fort. After some time, they received word that the settlement where James' father lived had been raided by Indians. James and his older brother Joseph received a discharge from Colonel Bowman in order to return home. Their time of service for this expedition was about fifty days.

In 1779 his father moved to Kentucky. James and Joseph enlisted and served under Captain Thomas Quirk's Company, Colonel John Montgomery and Colonel George Rogers Clark. James was appointed Quartermaster Sergeant and served under Quartermaster John Read. James was at the engagement at the Chickamauga Indian towns and then marched to Kaskaskia in Illinois and joined Colonel Clark, returned to the Falls of the Ohio and served until the fall of 1779. He enlisted in May 1780 and served eight weeks under Colonels Benjamin Logan and James Harrod and went on an expedition with General George Rogers Clark against the Shawnee Indians and was at the Battle of Pickaway Towns.

In the summer of 1781, he was appointed ensign and served under his brother, Captain Joseph Kincaid and Colonel James Harrod for a period of one month. He was stationed at McAfee's Station. In early 1782, he served one month as ensign under Colonel James Harrod and was in the Battle of Blue Licks (19 August 1722). His brother Joseph was killed during this battle. He served in 1782 as a Lieutenant under Captain John Irvin and Colonel Benjamin Logan and was in General George Rogers Clark's expedition against the Shawnee Indians, surviving several skirmishes and served a total of five to six weeks.

In 1787, James was appointed Captain of a Company of militia in Mercer Co. KY and served two tours, one lasting seven days and the other lasting fifteen days under Colonel Benjamin Logan against the Cherokee Indians. In 1791, he served thirty three days as a private soldier in Wilkinson's expedition against the Wabash Indians.

James lived in Kentucky for nearly fifty years. His residency ranged from Mercer Co, Madison and Rockcastle Counties. At one time the Kincaid family was one of the largest landowners in Rockcastle County including the Great Saltpetre cave. He later moved to Missouri, first to Boone County and then to Lafayette. He received his government pension on 5 November 1833 at the rate of $58.11 annually. James applied for his bounty land but his application was rejected. James died 8 July 1841 in Platte Co. MO and is buried with his wife on their farmland.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Farm Service Agency today announced that nearly 2,700 applicants will begin receiving disaster assistance through the Emergency Assistance for Livestock, Honeybees and Farm-Raised Fish Program (ELAP) for losses experienced from Oct. 1, 2013, through Sept.

The program, re-authorized by the 2014 Farm Bill, provides disaster relief to livestock, honeybee, and farm-raised fish producers not covered by other agricultural disaster assistance programs. Eligible losses may include excessive heat or winds, flooding, blizzards, hail, wildfires, lightning strikes, volcanic eruptions and diseases, or in the case of honeybees, losses due to colony collapse disorder. Beekeepers, most of whom suffered honeybee colony losses, represent more than half of ELAP recipients.

Congratulates

PETE

STAMPER

Pete made his first guest appearance on the Renfro Valley Barn Dance in the 1950s. He was later invited to become a solo member of the show's cast, and he has been a Renfro Valley Entertainer ever since.

Pete has called Rockcastle County home for many years now, and has performed on the shows at Renfro Valley Entertainment Center longer than any of their other cast member. In fact, Pete's tenure on the shows may be the longest of all time! Renfro Valley is only one of the experiences that have made up an amazing career in entertainment. Pete's career has taken him away from Renfro Valley just a few times over the years, but Pete explains they were just "vacations" and nothing more. He has always returned and we're very glad that he has!

Pete has a special gift for comedy and he shares it regularly with our audiences, a wit as keen and a style just as genuine. Renfro Valley is proud to have had Pete grace our stage for the last 60+ years, he is truly a Renfro Valley treasure.

Congrats Pete on being inducted to the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame! No one is more deserving than you!

SAWDUST SALAD

My sister-in-law introduced this salad to the family back in 1977. It was an instant hit with Will's family as much as it was mine. The "sawdust," of course, is really shredded cheddar cheese sprinkled on top. My family eats this as a dessert instead of as a salad. Either with your meal, after your meal, or as a snack, it is worth the effort. It makes an excellent potluck dish. In the summertime, the whipped topping and cream cheese may tend to melt some if it's left out in the sun too long, but you usually don't have to worry about that. It is among the first dishes to disappear. In San Francisco, I took this to ADP when I worked there and it turned out to be a favorite of co-worker Steve Aguirre as well as some of the other co-workers.

1 small box orange Jello®
1 small box lemon Jello®
1 can crushed pineapple, drained
1 bag miniature marshmallows
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 egg
2 cups juice and water
1 small container Cool Whip®, thawed
1 package (8-ounce) cream cheese, at room temperature
1 to 2 cups cheddar cheese

finely shredded

Drain pineapple; reserve juice. Mix Jello® with 2 cups boiling water until dissolved. Add 1/2 bag marshmallows. Stir until they are slightly melted. Add 1 1/2 cups cold water, pineapple and rest of marshmallows. Refrigerate until set. In the meantime, combine sugar with cornstarch, add beaten egg. Add enough water to the reserved pineapple juice to make 2 cups. Slowly stir into sugar mixture. Cook over medium heat until thickened. Let cool. Spread cooled pudding over Jello® mixture. Beat cream cheese, fold in Cool Whip. Spread over pudding. Sprinkle with finely grated cheddar cheese.

WATERGATE SALAD

1 small package instant pistachio pudding mix
1 can (15 ounce) crushed pineapple, undrained
1 container (9 ounce) Cool Whip®
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 small package miniature marshmallows
1 can mandarin oranges, drained
Mix dry pudding mix with the pineapple and juice. Mix well. Fold in Cool Whip® and nuts. Add marshmallows and oranges carefully as to not break up the fruit. Chill.

Happy 99th Birthday Joe Abney -- from family and friends.
Still looking good!

An Absolute Necessity

By Howard Coop

The old house on Hegira Road that was my childhood home lacked many things, but it contained one very important thing. My parents, a good mother and a good father, understood a basic principle of life, and they attempted to apply that principle in that old house: If children grow up to be responsible persons, they must be taught to accept self-control or self-discipline.

As I reflected upon those by-gone days and the training, sometimes administered with loving sternness, I received, words of Eileen Guder came to my mind, "But the whole point of training, or educating children, is to teach them to take responsibility for themselves."

One does not achieve a desired goal in life merely by wishing for that goal. The self must be disciplined to do what is necessary to attain it. The road that leads to success in life is paved with self-control. Harry Truman, the thirty-third president of the United States, said, "In reading the lives of great men, I found that the first victory they won was over themselves...self-discipline with all of them came first."

That's not new; it's been around for many centuries. Plato, the Greek philosopher of the fourth century B.C., said, "For a man to conquer himself is the first and noblest of victories," Thucydides, the Greek historian of about the same time, said, "Self-control is the chief element of self-respect, and self-respect is the chief element in courage," and Dietrich Bonhoeffer said, "Strict exercise of self-control is an essential feature" of life.

John Major got it right when he said, "It is time to return to core values, time to get back to basics, to self-discipline and respect for the law, to consideration of others, to accept responsibility for yourself and your family---and not shuffling it off on other people."

Self-discipline, defined as "planned control and training of oneself for the sake of development," is an absolute necessity if life is to be successful and rewarding.

Save money by taking more classes

Taking more classes each semester may help you cut the cost of college, according to the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA). That's especially important if, like many people, you'll need student loans to help pay for your education.

A full-time load for undergraduate students is generally considered 12 credit hours per semester. Associate's degrees usually require 60 credit hours to finish, bachelor's degrees 120 hours. If you take 12 hours each semester, you'll need five semesters to finish an associate's degree and 10 semesters to finish a bachelor's degree.

But if you take 15 hours per semester, you'll finish an associate's degree in four semesters and a bachelor's degree in eight semesters. Most colleges won't charge you any more for 15 hours than they do for 12 hours, which can save you hundreds, perhaps thousands, of dollars in tuition and fees.

When you're planning your schedule, think about taking that extra class each semester. The sooner you earn your degree, the sooner you can start job hunting.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers Kentucky's grant and scholarship programs, including the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES). It provides financial literacy videos at <http://itsmoney.kheaa.com>. KHEAA also provides free copies of "It's Money, Baby," a guide to financial literacy, to Kentucky schools and residents upon request at publications@kheaa.com.

To learn how to plan and prepare for higher education, go to www.gotocollege.ky.gov. For more information about Kentucky scholarships and grants, visit www.kheaa.com; write KHEAA, P.O. Box 798, Frankfort, KY 40602; or call 800-928-8926, ext. 6-7372.

Call for entries for Fall Exhibit at Artisan Center

Kentucky artists are invited to submit entries for the exhibit "It Takes Two: Collaborations by Kentucky Artisans" to be held Sept. 19, 2015 through Feb. 27, 2016 at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea.

Each year the Kentucky Artisan Center develops and presents several special exhibits to showcase works by Kentucky artisans. These exhibits focus on a specific medium, theme, technique, or subject and often include artists and works not regularly on display at the center.

The center's "It Takes Two" exhibit will showcase works created by Kentucky artists working together. Collaboration can result in exciting new work as each artist brings his or her own skills and aesthetics to the process. Pieces submitted for this exhibit can be two- or three-dimensional and can be created by two artists working in the same medium or by two artists working in different media. Artists will be asked to detail their specific contributions to the finished work.

Information about the exhibit and an entry form are on the Artisan Opportunities page of the center's website www.kentuckyartisancenterky.gov. You can also request an entry form and prospectus by mail at: Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea, Attn: "It Takes Two", 200 Artisan Way, Berea, KY 40403 or by calling 859-985-5448. Deadline for entry is June 27, 2015.

The center features works by more than 700 artisans from more than 100 counties across the Commonwealth. Special exhibits currently on display include, "Turn, Turn, Turn: Lathe-Turned Works by Kentucky Artisans," through Sept. 12, 2015; and on display in the lobby "Kentucky Murals by Frank W. Long." For more information about events call 859-985-5448, go to the center's website at www.kentuckyartisancenterky.gov or visit us on Facebook at www.facebook.com/kentucky.artisan.center.

JROTC holds Military Ball

Submitted

This past Saturday the Rockcastle JROTC Battalion held their 20th Annual Military Ball at the Rockcastle County Area Technology Center.

There were two portions of the Military Ball, a formal ceremony followed by a dance. During the formal portion of the night, we were treated to a wonderful meal catered by Limestone Grille. After the dinner, there was a presentation of two slideshows. One slideshow was to showcase what the Battalion has been involved in over the past year, and the other was a tribute to our senior cadets and our appreciation for their parents support.

To close the formal ceremony, a Military Ball King, Queen, Prince, and Princess were crowned. These cadets led off the first dance into the informal portion of the night. The King and Queen for the night was Will Martin and Tiffany Horn. The Prince and Princess of the night was Holden Abrams and Victoria Barron.

The Rocket Battalion would like to thank the special guests: Superintendent David Pensol, Principal Jennifer Mattingly, Assistant Principal Becky Smith, and all of the senior parents for their support, Tammy Sowder Photography, Carolyn Holt Flowers, SFC Keith Graves, and CPT Jeffrey Thompson.

ary 1802 KY-1 August 1858 Santa Clara, CA) married Mary Farris on 29 March 1827 Lincoln Co. KY. He was a judge by profession. They are buried at the Mission City Memorial Park Cemetery in Santa Clara, CA. They had four children: Campbell, Harvey, Sarah and James.

“Relief”

disaster funding at $20 million per federal fiscal year and the Budget Control Act of 2011, passed by Congress, requires USDA to reduce payments by 7.3 percent, beginning Oct. 1, 2014. To accommodate the number of requests for ELAP assistance, which exceeded 2014 funding, payments will be reduced to ensure that all eligible applicants receive a prorated share.

Today's announcement was made possible by the 2014 Farm Bill, which builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past six years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for the taxpayer. Since enactment, USDA has made significant progress to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. For more information, visit <http://www.usda.gov/farmbill>.

To learn more about ELAP, visit www.fsa.usda.gov/elap. For more information about USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) disaster assistance programs, visit disaster.usda.fsa.gov or contact your local FSA office at <http://offices.usda.gov>.

The RCMS Builders Club and 8th grade Leadership Team members participated in the Red Bud Community Walk at Renfro last Wednesday. After the 2-mile walk, the group enjoy a free lunch and music from Renfro Valley musician Jeff Watson. We would like to thank all of the walk sponsors for this event. Walkers were front row: Jordan Nicely, Sarah Cornelius, Destiny Brogan, Emily Hall, Zoe Burdette, Rebekah Kersey, Casey Rowland, Kassie Lay, Jamison Roberts, and Michael Allen. Back row: Keaton Renfro, Dalton Durham, Connor Noble, Benton Kuntz, Brittany Doan, Katie Vance, Woodrow Williams, Jonmark Loudermilk, Sebastian Poynter, Cole Ballinger, Bailey Taylor, Evan Hendrickson, Joseph Coffey, Logan Kidwell, Hannah Bryant, J.D. Hamilton, Sydney Hines, Conner Robinson, Cade Burdette, Hallie Hines, and Zach Baker.

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet? Some things to think about...

What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?

Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.

Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?

A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildew, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.

Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?

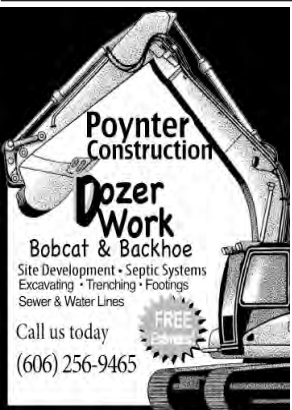

C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again. Promoting the life of the carpet.
Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

Red Bud Ride; Founders Day

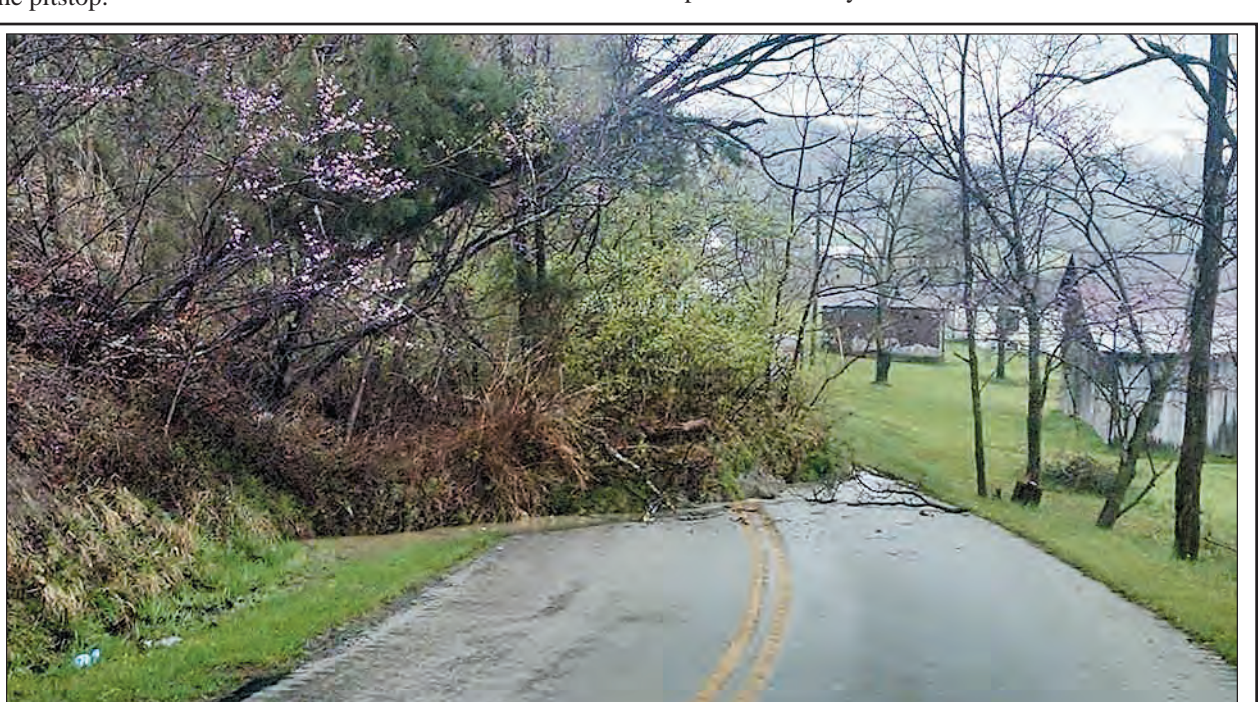

At Monday’s meeting of the Livingston City Commissioners, the upcoming Red Bud Ride was discussed, along with plans for Founders Day scheduled for May 8 and 9. Mayor Jason Medley told the commissioners that 800 plus bicycle riders are expected to come through Livingston on April 25th as part of the 100 mile Red Bud Ride, which will originate in London and end in Berea. At the Livingston pit stop, Medley said that volunteers will be providing food, water and other drinks to the riders and there will be a Blues Bros. theme to the pitstop.

Livingston Fire Chief Chris Mason was also at the meeting and told the com-

Another round of heavy rains came through Rockcastle County again earlier this week causing a wide variety of problems throughout the county. Local weatherman Bud Cox recorded 1.96 inches of rain on Monday and 1.29 inches of rain for Tuesday. Shown above is a mudslide that happened Tuesday on Hwy 3245 in Brodhead. Officials said heavy rains and the extremely saturated ground were contributing factors of the mudslide. Hwy 3245 remained closed for several hours while crews removed the debris. Shown below is an aerial photo of the Rockcastle River near Livingston. Officials said the water level of the river is approximately 40 feet above its normal level causing it to overrun its banks and flood the wooded areas and bottom areas near the river. The photo also shows the original banks of the Rockcastle River along the tree lines in the background and the foreground shows the flooded wooded areas with the water running through the trees.

Registration deadline for May Primary Election almost here

By: Doug Ponder
The deadline to register to vote in the May Primary Election is next week. Rockcastle County Clerk Danetta Allen said the last day to register to vote in the Primary Election is next Monday at 4 p.m. She said all registrations must be made in her office by that time. Allen said that in-house voting will take place Wednesday, April 29th through Monday, May 18th and that only those who qualify for in-house voting under KRS. 117.085 can vote with an in-house ballot. She said the election machines will be open for in-house voting during regular business hours at her office. Allen went on to say that those who wish to vote absentee can already do so by

Streams will return to normal and so will smallmouth bass fishing

Many of us who remember the March 1997 floods in Kentucky recently had uncomfortable pangs of foreboding as storm systems dropped heavy amounts of rain freight-trained across the state.

It looked like another 1997 for a day or so. Small, normally docile neighborhood creeks suddenly filled basements, eroded roadways and carried away belongings. Lexington set an April record for rainfall over the span of one day.

"The biggest problem from all of this rain is not only is the flow too high to fish, but it will take awhile for the clarity to come back," said David Baker, stream biologist for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "Temperatures are in the mid-to high 50s on some streams, so it will soon be a good time for fishing. We just need a little more time."

Baker believes smallmouth bass waters lying downstream of major lakes such as Green River or Barren River will likely be blown out for a considerable time. Smaller streams clear and return to normal much quicker than larger streams and make the best option for smallmouth bass right now.

"This is a time when you can catch some of the biggest stream smallmouth of the year as they prepare to spawn," Baker said. "They are a little more accessible and easier to catch."

Wading is an excellent way to fish smaller streams for smallmouth bass, especially after the recent high water events likely undercut many streamside trees, tipping them over into the stream, providing potentially dangerous impediments to paddling.

The streams in south-central Kentucky near Bowling Green in the Barren River drainage such as the Gasper River and the Drakes Creek system are good places to try.

"The Gasper usually will come down pretty quickly," Baker said. "We do see smallmouths up to 18 inches and we get reports of 20 inches from Gasper."

Baker said the Drakes Creek system drains a large geographical area in karst topography and takes longer to flow out, but contains a healthy population of smallmouth bass from 12 to 16 inches long, with a few in the 18-inch range.

The Drakes Creek system and Gasper River are part of the Warren County Blueways, a cooperative project from governmental agencies, Western Kentucky University and other groups to provide access to streams in south-central Kentucky. The website at www.trailsrus.com/blueways/ contains good information on access points with a detailed map.

Baker said those streams flowing through public land in eastern Kentucky provide productive wading fishing opportunities for smallmouths. The Middle Fork of the Red River inside Natural Bridge State Resort Park in Powell County holds a decent population of smallmouth bass with good access.

Rock Creek inside the Daniel Boone National Forest in McCreary County offers wading anglers easy access with roads paralleling the creek for most of its length. The best fishing is upstream of Rock Creek's junction with White Oak Creek. Rock Creek is known Anthony Houk winds up for a pitch during the 6-14 loss during West Jessamine last Saturday. The Rockets also lost to Collins last Saturday 2-9 and won against Boyle County on Monday 11-4.

Brent Lovell takes a swing during the Rockets game against West Jessamine last Saturday. The Rockets lost the game 6-14 and are now 3-9 on the season.

Rockcastle 7th grader Tori Dotson put together the greatest meet ever for an RCHS distance runner on Saturday at the Bates Creek Commodore Classic in Lexington. She established two new RCHS records and came very close to several meet records. In the 4 x 800-meter relay, Tori, Kensie Sheffield, Taylor Bullock, and Sierra Mercer finished a strong 2nd and nearly broke the school record with an awesome season's best time of 10:17.07, the second fastest performance in school history and currently #2 in Class 2A. In the 1600-meter run, Tori battled University of Florida signee senior Maddox Patterson of Sayre down to the wire, finishing a close 2nd with an amazing time of 5:20.71, a new all-time personal best and a new RCHS record in the event. From there Tori went to the 800-meter run and continued her brilliance, defeating Patterson and winning the event with an all-time personal best and Class 2A state best time of 2:25.00. This was also the second fastest time ever in RCHS history. Tori closed out the meet with another amazing performance in the 3200-meter run. She placed 3rd overall with another RCHS record and all-time personal best, finishing with an incredible time of 11:54.40. Tori amassed an unbelievable 26 total points in the meet.

The Rockcastle County FFA chapter traveled to ECU to compete in various competitions on March 27th.

All of the counties in our region competed at ECU.

Those counties are Bell, Breathitt, Jackson, Knott, Knox, Lee, Lynn Camp, North Laurel, OBI, Owsley, Perry, Rockcastle, South Laurel, and Whitley County.

as one of Kentucky’s true mountain trout streams, but the creek holds a stable population of smallmouth bass.

The Russell Fork in Pike County offers several productive public wading spots for smallmouths. The public river access at Ratliff Hole (also known as Potters Ford) inside the boundaries of Breaks Interstate Park on KY 80 south of Elkhorn City makes one of the most scenic wading spots in Kentucky.

Wading anglers may also access the Russell Fork at Carson Island Access via Carson Island Road off KY 80, just east of Elkhorn City. The Elkhorn City Park in downtown Elkhorn City grants anglers public wading access to a productive stretch of the Russell Fork.

Elkhorn Creek in Franklin County fishes well even when the water is up a bit. Anglers may wade fish the Elkhorn at T.N. Sullivan Wildlife Management Area off KY 1262 and at the two Voluntary Public Access spots near the junction of Peaks Mill Road (KY 1900) and KY 1262.

All the lures you need for a successful wade easily fit inside a cigar box. A pack of 1/8-ounce leadheads, some black finesse worms, a bag of green-pumpkin tube baits along with a bag of 4-inch Senko type soft plastic jerkbaits in the same color all catch stream smallmouths. Add a floating/diving minnow lure like a Rapala and you’re set.

“Look for gravelly bottoms adjacent to the current,” Baker said. “A lot of times you can see the smallmouths in spring. Pitch a tube or soft plastic bait rigged on a leadhead near them and they will attack. Also, work areas adjacent to current with a soft plastic jerkbait or a floating/diving minnow for smallmouths. The thing I love most about smaller streams is that any cast can be a good one.”

Sitting on the front porch glider-swing that Rufus Harrison crafted for Loretta over ten years ago, last Friday morning, enjoying my too-manyth cup of coffee and a bowl full of good English pipe tobacco, waiting for the mail to run, watching the grass grow and, generally, just minding my own business, I heard the rumbling roar, coming from way up the road, a full minute before I saw its cause.

I may never know who owns it nor what it was doing on Charlie Brown Road, but I want the owner of the quintessential, lemon-yellow, "hot rod Lincoln" to know that he absolutely made my day, if not my decade. I had not seen one of these babies since the late 1960's when a few owners would shine them up and drive them in parades in Pikeville, Prestonsburg and Paintsville.

I believe the popularity of the vehicle was inspired by a band, in the mid 1950's, called Commander Cody and The Lost Planet Airmen. They had a huge hit song, called Hot Rod Lincoln, that received as much radio air play on country music stations as it did on early rock & roll radio, so it may well have been one of the first ever successful "cross-overs" between those genre's. All you have to do to hear the song is google "hot rod Lincoln" and you will hear why it was so well received.

The song was still going strong, as late as 1963, on Whitesburg's WTCW, 920 on your AM dial, when Jimmy Branham signed the station on with his country/bluegrass "show" at 6:00 AM and Ron Statzer shut it down at 6:PM with his "rock show". "Hot Rod Lincoln" got played at least twice on both programs, along with Bill Monroe and Merle Haggard in the morning and Elvis Presley and Jimmy Gilmer and The Fireballs in the late afternoon.

The hot rod Lincoln was not a Lincoln at all, but a Model-A Ford body and chaises with a V-12 cylinder Lincoln Zephyr motor stuck in the frame where a straight 6 cylinder Ford motor used to be. It was neither practical nor much ingenious because the big Lincoln engine was much stronger, in terms of raw horsepower, than the Ford frame and drive train were made to handle, but it was still a rich boys' favorite toy for a decade or so between 1955 and 1965.

The only one I ever drove and took for a ride was owned by a kid in Pikeville, last name was Coleman, in the summer of 1968. The young man's father had actually built it around 1960 and allowed his son to drive it out to then Boy Scout Camp Shawnee on Dewey Lake, near Prestonsburg,

Grit Magazine
When I was around ten or eleven years of age, the only job I had ever had was mowing my grandfather's yard. He paid me fifty cents an hour to complete the job—a more than generous amount for the time. But I mentioned several times to my mother (Bee) that I wished that I could make some extra money. She saw an ad in the Courier Journal encouraging young boys to deliver a weekly Grit Magazine from door to door. We discussed the possibilities of the position and decided to at least check it out.

Bee called the company in order to find out the particulars of the position. The magazine would be sent on Thursdays so that I could make the sales and delivery it over the weekends. The job did not require any sales of subscriptions. The company simply sent me a huge stack of the magazines, and I was to sell them door to door.

The customer paid 10 cents for each paper, and I was permitted to keep 4 cents for each paper sold, not counting tips—which usually turned out to be more than the profit from selling the papers. It is my recollection that I averaged making eight or ten dollars per week. In 1954 that was a HUGE amount of money for a ten-year-old young man. This very profitable position allowed me to visit Helton's Five and Dime and buy all the model cars that I wanted.

Of course, most of my sales were made in my own neighborhood. However, Bee also took some of them to the Greyhound Bus Station (where she was the ticket agent) and helped me sell a few to her fellow employees. I also took the routes of my friends' streets in Mt. Vernon in order to sell a few copies on Saturday afternoon. That turned out to be a great idea because most of them would not say no to me!

I think the company initially began by sending me 50 copies of the paper. By the end of the first month, I was ordering double that amount. The contents of the magazine actually appealed to many. Most of the articles were on a national basis with a few that were just funny. For example, the paper in 1954 had five sections included in the 44-page magazine: News, Comics, Family, Women's, and a personal Story section. Ordinary people could write stories and submit them to the magazine to be considered for the story section.

Grit was sold across the country by children and by teenagers, many recruited by ads in comic books and newspapers. I have discovered that during the 1950's, approximately 30,000 children were delivering the publication's 700,000 copies per week.

The paper had a good reputation for strong family values and for telling the truth in its articles. Its first issue was dated "Saturday evening, December 16, 1882," and it is still in publication after 133 years. Today, its format is a glossy, full-color version, although I have not seen one in a very long time.

No one seems to know how the name Grit came to be; however, it is said that it took sheer grit to keep it on its feet in the early days. One reason for its success was because it was being distributed by children, and families found it almost impossible to say "no" to young boys who were trying to earn some money.

I was an employee of Grit for a period of about two years. I finally stopped when I was old enough to work for my Dad at his service station.

In some ways, it seems like I have come full circle in the domain of publication. After teaching high school chemistry for 38 years, I retired in 2003 and began working as a reporter and photographer for the Clay City Times. That position lasted approximately six years. And my last job was as editor of a locally owned magazine called Focus, which covered ten central and eastern Kentucky counties.

I cannot help but note the irony that my first and my last jobs were for magazines. Maybe selling those Grit newspapers planted something in me that did not come to fruition until my latter years—seems fitting, doesn't it?

T.J.'s Journal

by: Tonya J. Cook

Sucker for the Soaps
Dear Journal,

I guess it all began when I was a little girl, even before I went to school. I learned to watch the daily soap operas with my mom and grandma. Back in those days, there were more soaps to be seen than today. Every channel had its offerings. There were such titles as "The Secret Storm", "Another World", "Search for Tomorrow" and "The Edge of Night" to name a few.

Mom and Grandma only watched two or three, and I watched, too. Then the sad day came along when I had to go to school. Mom would catch me up when I got home. Later, when I worked, if there was a television in the break room, I'd watch what I could of the soaps and rely on others to keep me informed.

Then, one day a new soap came along, "The Young and the Restless". It soon became a favorite, and I watch it even today and its sister soap, "The Bold and the Beautiful".

Unfortunately, the soap opera generation is literally a dying breed. There are only a handful of soaps left. The younger generation don't seem to care for them as a whole.

I've watched "The Young and the Restless" since day one. I've seen characters come and go, but my favorites are the old timers: Victor, Nicki, Jack, Jill, and others through the years. Of course my very favorite was Katherine Chancellor, who passed from us about a year ago in real life.

I'll never forget her final scene. She was telling Jill good night, and walked up the stairs and into immortality. What a fitting closing, as it turned out. She always said that you've got to live, live, live until you die. She really did some living on-screen and off. I think I really liked her lifestyle, in her latter years, anyway...not when she was young and a drunken lush. I always lusted over her jewelry, too.

I've watched the show so long that the ones that were young and restless back in the day are now old and settled down with grandchildren.

It has been quite a journey. The soaps are one reason I hate having to die. You die and never know how the story line ends.

Thank You...

Dear Editor,
The Camp Wildcat Preservation Foundation, overseer of the Civil War Battlefield on top of Wildcat Mountain, wishes to express our sincere appreciation to Mr. John Tyler and Mr. Christopher Baker and the Rockcastle County Boy Scouts for their assistance on Park Day.

They picked up a lot of trash and disposed of it legally. They also cleaned out a lot of leaves from the entrances to the culverts.

This is the the third or fourth year in a row they have assisted us. We have grown to rely on them.

Thanks again, buys.
We also wish to thank all the other people from Rockcastle County that helped us.

EKU to host annual Alumni Weekend

Calling all Eastern Kentucky University alumni: you're invited to a celebration of "all things EKU" during the University's annual Alumni Weekend April 24-25.

"We have designed a more robust experience, a weekend that appeals to alumni of all ages, and provides unique opportunities for alumni to connect with today's campus and students," said Nick Perlick, vice president of development and alumni relations for the University.

"The weekend will be high-energy, lively and full of excitement," added Kari Martin, assistant vice president for alumni and donor engagement.

This year's event features special reunions for the classes of 1945, 1950, 1955, 1960, 1965, 1970, 1975, 1980, 1985 and 1990; members of the Class of 1965 will be celebrated as Pioneers. Alumni of all class years are welcome, as are their families, Martin emphasized.

One highlight of the weekend is the Alumni Celebration Luncheon, which beginning this year incorporates the annual inductions into EKU's Hall of Distinguished Alumni and other award presentations, as well as recognition and induction of EKU's new class of Pioneers. The event, which begins at noon on Saturday, April 25, in the Keen Johnson Ballroom, will be "fun, festive and celebrate all things EKU," Martin said.

Other highlights include concerts on Saturday evening, April 25, by country music duo Sundry Best, which originated in Prestonsburg, and Rosanne Cash, daughter of country music legend Johnny Cash and a much-celebrated artist in her own right. The Sundry Best concert, at 7:30 in the Van Peursem Amphitheatre in the Ravine, is free. EKU alumni can enjoy a 15 percent discount at the Cash show at the EKU Center for the Arts (tickets sold separately; refer to #ForeverColonel for discount rate), also at 7:30. The 15 percent alumni discount also applies to a concert on Friday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m. at the Center by the Australian Chamber Orchestra.

The five inductees into the EKU Hall of Distinguished Alumni are: Brent Barton, Richmond, director of bands, Madison Central High School; Dr. Paul Motley, Richmond, retired EKU Foundation Professor of physical education; Michael W. Poehlitz, Tampa, Fla., retired, U.S. Embassy in Belgium; Reginald G. Walters, Indianapolis, Ind., co-founder and director, Indianapolis Symphonic Praise Choir; and Dr. Donald Whitaker, Muncie, Ind., retired educator and administrator, Ball State University.

Also, Kelly Thorne Gore, Paint Lick, owner of iBloom, and John Wilson, Salt Lake City, chief photographer for KSL-TV, will receive Young Alumni

Other Alumni Weekend features include:

- Campus Beautiful trolley tours, Friday, 3:30-5:30 p.m., led by Student Alumni Ambassadors and Admissions staff.

- Alumni Welcome Reception with President Michael Benson, Friday, 5:30-7:30 p.m., a festive evening in the historic Blanton House, featuring live music, hors d'oeuvres and drinks. "It's a unique opportunity to reminisce with good friends while getting to know EKU's 13th president and other wonderful EKU alumni," Martin said.

- Alumni Weekend Breakfast, Saturday, 8:30 a.m., Keen Johnson Building, a chance to reconnect with friends and get the latest news from numerous departments across campus.

- Color of Maroon 5K Run, Saturday, 10 a.m., cheer on the runners as they race through campus "wearing" splashes of every color in the rainbow. Alumni can also serve at the alumni water station or even register to run ($20 in advance) at www.athletpath.com/thecolorofmaroon5k.

- Class Reunions and Enrichment Mini-Sessions, Saturday, 10:30 a.m., Keen Johnson Building, class photos plus mini-sessions featuring Colonel Commanders, a Pioneer Story Exchange, Estate Planning 101, and more.

- Colonel Connections and Softball Tailgate, Saturday, 2:30-4:30 p.m., depart from Keen Johnson Building, with transportation provided, and enjoy a chance to explore EKU through the eyes of current students. Experience the world of the ever-popular EKU Dance Theatre, enjoy an exclusive Hummel Planetarium presentation, take a behind-the-scenes tour of the University's newest residence halls, visit or even tackle the new Challenge Course, participate in an EKU service project, and more. All Colonel Connection participants will receive an #EKUstrong t-shirt. Immediately after the Connection experience, tailgate with friends and cheer on the EKU women's softball team as it hosts Tennessee Tech.

For a complete, up-to-date schedule of Alumni Weekend events, visit the EKU Power of Maroon Facebook page, follow on Twitter (@easternalumni) or visit www.alumni.eku.edu.

The total cost to participate in any or all weekend activities is a flat fee of $50; children under 12 are free. Advance registration by April 20 is encouraged. For more information, or to make reservations, contact the Office of Alumni and Donor Engagement at alumni@eku.edu or 859-622-1260.

where I was Program Director, at the time.

The Camp Director, that year was a career Boy Scout Executive, nearing retirement, from Grundy or Clintwood Virginia, whose name was Clifford Judd, who insisted that he simply be called "The Judd" by his subordinate staff and the 150 or so campers we had every week.

Anyway, young Coleman promptly learned from The Judd that campers, other than adult leaders, were not allowed to keep vehicles at Camp all week. Coleman tried to insist that, at age 16, he was an adult leader of his troop and The Judd told him he wasn't even old enough to be shaving and that he had to get the hot rod off the premises which covered over 900 acres.

To make a long story short, The Judd discovered that Coleman only had a learners permit so he called the kid's mom, made arrangements for her to drive me back to camp and I drove the cherry red roadback to Pikeville. I didn't get to the Coleman residence until after I had made a couple of passes through campus to make sure that all the summer students got an eyeful of the hot rod Lincoln.

The car had so many coats of hand-rubbed lacquer on it that it literally looked like it was encased in glass. Most of the engine was exposed, fitted with chrome valve covers and a huge chrome breather cover. An array of chrome manifold pipes ran down both sides. It had rocket spoke magwheels and it looked as fast as it probably was. I never dared try to find out how fast that might have been because all that power seemed way too much for such a skinny body and frame. I was also terrified that I'd get pulled over by the law because it had no sign of mufflers and, even at an idle it roared.

The guy who was out tooling around last Friday on my road appeared to be at least my age or a bit older. His rod also appeared to have many coats of lacquer. He waved as he drove by and I hope I stopped drooling long enough to wave back.

If I had it to do over, I would be waving both arms and jumping up and down and yelling, "Wait. Wait. Wait. I'm desperate for a ride to the Paint Lick Post Office and I'm wondering if you'll give me a lift. I'll gladly walk back to the house."

Yards to Paradise

By Max Phelps
*Amelanchier:
 The Serviceberry is Pretty and Practical*

Attention grabbing white blossoms in the hills and woods edge, and in many a home landscape, are a clue that winter is past and spring has arrived. The amelanchier or service berry bush or tree is such a versatile native plant, it blooms ahead of Bradford pears, dogwoods or redbuds, and bears delectable purplish blue or reddish purple fruits. Called sarvis, shadbush (named after the little fishes), Juneberry, and Saskatoons. There are some 33 listed species in the world, but probably several are natural hybrids as they are hard to tell apart. This cute, adorable bush (or small tree, depending on species and how many trunks or stems it has) is native to all the United States except Hawaii.

The serviceberries make wonderful low-maintenance trees for the yard. Somewhat the size of a redbud or dogwood in time, the serviceberry grows pretty slow. A few native ones have reached 70 feet in the wild, but that requires a hundred plus years. Some varieties never seem to get much bigger than blueberry bushes. There have been several named cultivars that have been selected and are available in the landscape trade. Autumn Brilliance is one—an amelanchier x grandiflora with very good fall color.

A multi-stem serviceberry may make you think of a crepe myrtle, except the blooms are white in March or April and the trunks are smooth until they are old, but don't peel like the crepe myrtle. Think of putting one in your yard as a substitute for a dogwood or crepe myrtle or forsythia.

Sarvis or serviceberries are also edible, and really tasty (if you beat the birds to them)! They make a wonderful contribution to the sustainable, edible landscape. Plus they are well-behaved, colorful, are a good host for some butterfly species and are loved by most all birds. I often recommend one in a landscape plan, you can hardly go wrong with this lovely little tree. You don't even have to plant two for pollination as they are self fruitful—but I'd plant several so the birds don't eat all of them.

Some of the common species in the Appalachian area are: Amelanchier lacies or Allegheny serviceberry; a. arborea perhaps the largest of the trees as I know where there are a few 60 to 70 feet specimens; a. Canadensis, hardy from Georgia to the Hudson Bay in Canada; a. grandiflora, "Autumn Brilliance" being a common patented variety; a. alnifolia, or downy serviceberry, is also know as a Saskatoon, and has larger fruit and more rounded leaves and seldom reaches more than ten feet or so; a. stolonifera is a dwarf; and amelanchier Lamarckii is probably a natural cross made centuries ago in North America. This one is also called Apple Serviceberry, and has probably the best fruit for snacking. It has been widely planted and has naturalized in England.

The hybrids, such as amelanchier x grandiflora and amelanchier Lamarckii are more adaptable to all kinds of soils. They like moisture rather than drought, but they won't tolerate standing water in the planting hole or frequent flooding.

In the wild they often survive on the poorest hillside and light up a grey world before the leaves of most trees come out in the spring. This is a useful shrub or small tree that I highly recommend for landscape plantings. Even if it didn't bloom or have fruit, it would still be a good little tree that isn't fussy and has some fairly good yellow orange pink or red fall color. Consider it next time you want a new small tree for your yard.

Reducing your sugar intake can make you feel better

(StatePoint) You may not realize it, but your sugar consumption has likely increased over the last several years. Beyond what you add to your coffee or the occasional sweet treat, you may be getting hidden sugar from an array of processed foods, such as ketchup and salad dressing. Even conventional baby food contains added sugar. And all those additions can be troubling to your health, say experts.

"Sugar is directly linked to obesity, tooth decay, diabetes, fatigue, headaches, arthritis, adrenal burnout and physiological or emotional problems such as ADHD and PMS," says Dr. Steve Weston, Director of Ambassador Relations/Nutrition Expert of Sunwarrior, a producer of raw, plant-based supplements.

For improved health, here are several ways to become more mindful about your sugar consumption:

- There are many names and forms of sugar so learning to read food labels helps. Generally speaking, if an ingredient ends with the suffix -ose, then it's a sugar.

- Keep the sugar off the table and in the pantry. You'll be less likely to add it to your meals. That being said, there are plenty of foods that you may be adding sugar to that are already sugary on their own -- from cereal to fresh fruit. Once you get used to the natural taste of these foods, you won't miss the added spoonful.

- Don't use artificial sweeteners. While it may seem natural to reach for an artificial sweetener when you're attempting to cut back on the real deal, it's a grave mistake. Most artificial sweeteners actually increase cravings for sugary foods. If you do need a boost of sweetness, stick to more healthful whole food options, such as honey, date sugar, coconut sugar and pure organic maple syrup.

- Seek out sweet flavors, while reaping the benefits of plant-based proteins with a protein blend such as Sunwarrior Protein, an easily digestible nutrient-filled superfood that tastes great and has zero grams of sugar and no unhealthy additives.

"A healthy protein powder can ensure you're getting a complete array of the essential amino acids needed to build and repair muscle, drive metabolism, keep skin young and elastic, build and balance hormones and carry out a host of other processes by allowing the body to create the right enzymes," says Dr. Weston.

Using low temperatures, enzymes, whole grains and superfoods, Sunwarrior's unique process creates plant-based proteins that are silky smooth, mix well in smoothies, water, almond milk, coconut milk, shakes and other beverages, taste great and supply all the essential amino acids your body craves. More information can be found at www.Sunwarrior.com.

- Pay attention to your skin, which is a reflection of your health and the quality of your nutrition. If you consume too much sugar, particularly from processed foods, a chemical reaction can form a rogue molecule known as an advanced glycation endproduct. Undesirable effects include wrinkles and droopy skin.

By learning more about the foods you eat and making wise choices, you can reduce your sugar intake without missing out on flavor.

I can help with your long-term financial health.

When Reason Controls

By Howard Coop

It was a little thing, hardly noticeable, when it occurred, but it was of sufficient importance to remind me of a few lines of verse that I remembered from many years ago. In that verse, a little child opined, "We have the nicest garbage man, he empties out our garbage can. He's just as nice as he can be, he always stops and talks with me." After that observation, the little child continued to opine, "My mother doesn't like his smell. But mother doesn't know him well."

Although we have been reminded for centuries that we should not "make a habit of judging others, if you don't want to be judged yourselves," it often occurs in everyday life that value judgments and character assessments, that is, rendering an opinion or an estimate, based on first impressions and insufficient information are made on a regular basis. Maryrose Wood indicated this when she said, "All books are judged by their covers until they are read." Usually, those judgments made in haste are inadequate, for first impressions are not always correct. So, Malcolm Gladwell, a Canadian journalist, wrote, "It would be interesting to find out what goes on in that moment when someone looks at you and draws all sorts of conclusions." But that is the basis of many decisions.

Judgments, large and small, are a necessary part of life. Every day situations that require them are faced, and it is impossible to avoid them. Often, they come without warning at a moment's notice, and although they can have profound and lasting results, they have to be made in what has been called a split second. So, at all times, one has to be prepared to make judgments, and hopefully there are good ones. Maybe, Benjamin Franklin, known by some as "the First American," gave the best advice when he said, "If Passion drives, let Reason hold the reins." When reason controls, good judgments are more likely to follow.

Carloftis and Proven Winners at Keeneland and Historic Botherum

On Wednesday evening, April 22nd, the first of a series of events, sponsored by Jon Carloftis and Proven Winners, will be held at historic Botherum (home of Jon Carloftis in Lexington). A cocktail party with food prepared by Ann Evans, executive director of the governor's mansion. Signature Maker's Mark cocktails will be served (courtesy of recipes by Canal House).

Cost of the event is $50 per person. Then, on Thursday, April 23rd, in the Lexington Room at Keeneland, join Rob Samuels (CEO of Maker's Mark), Bill Thomason (president of Keeneland), Jon Carloftis, Patrick Howard (Keeneland Floral Designer), Janna and Ashley Pemberton, Tim Wood and Marshall Dirks for breakfast, lunch, the races and more in the Lexington Room at Keeneland. The cost of this event is $125 per person and attendance is limited to 200 guests.

Proceeds from these events go toward restoring historic gardens in Kentucky.

To make reservations, go to Proven Winner's website Life + Style.

Later events will be held at the governor's mansion, Old Taylor Distillery, My Old Kentucky Home and a tour hosted by Rob Smith at Maker's Mark Distillery.

Blood drive next Tuesday

The Kentucky Blood Center is hosting a blood drive in Mt. Vernon on Tuesday, April 21st.

Those wishing to donate can do so at the Mt. Vernon First Baptist Church gymnasium from 1:30 to 6:30 p.m.

To schedule a donation visit kybloodcenter.org or call 1-800-775-2522. Blood donors must have a photo ID, be seventeen-years-old, weigh at least 110 pounds, be in good health and meet other additional requirements.

Sixteen-year-old donors must have a signed parental permission slip which can be found at www.kybloodcenter.org.

doesn't matter if they will be working for five minutes or five hours, signs still need to be put up to warn drivers."

Councilmember Ronnie Cash said that the traditional "men working" signs are no longer acceptable because they are "gender exclusive." He said the signs would have to have phrases like "flagger ahead," "road work ahead," etc.

The council agreed to research prices for the signs and for reflective vests or outfits for city workers.

Todd also talked about the large amount of vandalism at the city's old park and new Depot Park.

Todd said that he recently visited the new Depot Park and said he saw several structures and objects that had been vandalized.

"The pump house structure was full of trash and a nearby picnic table had graffiti on it," Todd said. "We need to box in the pump house or put a cage door on it or something. We need to do everything we can to prevent vandalism, litter, drug use or whatever it may be."

Todd said that he and his family also went to the city park at the intersection of Tyree Street and Albright Street. He said that he was amazed at the condition of the park.

"I don't know if there is a building inspector in the county but if there was, they would probably condemn the shelter in the park," Todd said. "I walked under it and quickly walked out of it. A lot of the trusses or beams are in bad shape and one of them was completely snapped. It's dangerous."

Cash agreed and said that they need to look at the shelter and if it's dangerous they need to tear it down. He said the building is in bad shape mostly because of vandalism instead of age.

"It's hard to do things and make things better when you have thirty something people trying to tear something down," Cash said. "We need to look at that shelter and if it's dangerous then we need to tear it down."

Councilmember Keith Graves said that they could create an "adopt a park" program similar to the "adopt a highway" program.

"We have a lot of church groups or other community groups that would be interested in something like that," Graves said. "They could put up a sign saying it's maintained by them and for students it would be great because they could log community hours to have when they apply for college scholarships. It would also be safer and more convenient for them too as they wouldn't be on a roadway." The rest of the council agreed to contact groups to see if they would be interested in adopting a city park to maintain. They also agreed to examine the shelter and determine if it's safe or needs to be removed.

problem with people adopting pets then getting tired of them and turning them loose for them to breed again and we have more animals to pick up."

Bishop said he would like to see a uniform system that would include animals being spayed/neutered before being put up for adoption. "That is being more humane by not having to euthanize so many animals."

The court also agreed to come up with a policy to deal with all the requests they get for donations to traveling sports teams in the county.

Tim McIntosh was at the meeting to ask for a donation for a traveling girls softball team he coaches but Magistrate Bill McKinney said that since the team had no affiliation with leagues in the county he felt it might not "be legal" for the court to make the donations.

On Bishop's recommendation, the court agreed to work to set a uniform policy to deal with these requests.

The court was fairly generous during the meeting on several requests before them. They made a $1,000 donation to Katha Carpenter to be used for the Founders Day activities planned for May 8 and 9 at Livingston. They also donated $1,000 to the City of Brodhead for their Dix River Festival and, they agreed to donate $1,000 for field rental for the Southeastern Tractor & Engine Association for their show planned for October 2, 3 and 4 at Renfro Valley and to furnish a dumpster for the event.

The court also was asked for a $7,200 donation by Hospice Care Plus which represents $100 for each patient Hospice cared for in 2014 from Rockcastle County. However, McKinney said that the county's donation to Hospice last year was $10,000 and he felt this should be the amount donated since Hospice "serves a great purpose for this county." The motion passed unanimously.

The court also agreed to pay $4,600 for two historical markers to be used to help mark the Daniel Boone Trace in the county. The payment was made at the request of the Kentucky Historical Society.

Donations were also made to the Kentucky Sheriff's Boys and Girls and the Special Olympics of $250 and $300, respectively.

The court also agreed to front expenses for Kimberly Gibson to attend four days DOC MRT Training in West Virginia. The training is necessary for Gibson, a social worker with the Rockcastle County Detention Center, to administer the "Road to Justice" program which is mandated to be in effect in each county by 2017.

Gibson told the court that a grant will be applied for to reimburse the court for the $1500 in expenses through County Attorney Billy Reynolds' office.

The court also approved the payment of the court's audit of $16,902.19 and the audit of the jail commissary of $6,676.67, along with unemployment insurance premium payments for the sheriff ($3,000.53) and the fiscal court ($3,609.80).

The court also found out the premiums for their property/liability insurance and their workmen's compensation for 2015-16. The county's premiums had been locked in for three years but that contract expires as of June 30, 2015. The premiums increased by $15,775 for property/liability and $21,000 for workmen's compensation for a total of $252,878.

Judge Bishop noted that the county was paying insurance on 38 total vehicles and he said an inventory needed to be done so that any unnecessary vehicles could be taken off the insurance plan.

Bishop also told the court that the road department needed several pieces of equipment and he felt they could be purchased cheaper through the state contract.

The court approved up to $150,000 to be set aside for new equipment.

The court also discussed with RCIDA Executive Director Holly Hopkins payment due the county for damage to the former Anchor Packaging building when the company moved out.

The court was originally told that Anchor would repay the county for damage to two doors and to the concrete floor while Anchor was in the process of moving out.

However, when the bills for the repairs were submitted to Anchor, the county was told they would have to recover damages from the third party involved in providing moving services for Anchor.

McKinney also reminded Hopkins that there are still several lights out in the industrial park that had been pointed out to her some time ago. Hopkins said she had called her contact at Jackson Co. RECC twice about the lights but had not received a call back.

and $1.70 for kindergarten through fifth grade students.

Board member Angela Stallsworth Mink asked if the proposed 2015-2016 meal prices would keep them in compliance with the federal law that requires meal prices be raised at least $0.10 every year until a full paying student is paying $2.51.

Isaacs said that she asked the KDE consultant about that particular federal law and she said they told her that they are no longer using that model for food services. She said the KDE consultant assured her that they wouldn't be reviewed on that model and that the data collected from food services showed that this school year's prices were sufficient.

The board agreed unanimously to keep the school meal prices the same for the 2015-2016 school year.

Isaacs also updated the board about the possibility of all students receiving free meals under the Community Eligibility Provision. The CEP program allows high poverty schools to offer both breakfast and lunch to all students regardless of their parents' or guardians' income.

Isaacs said they have submitted the required information to KDE and that they are already reviewing their data and making suggestions. She said KDE consultants told her that the number of students receiving free meals are high enough for the school district to consider the CDE program.

Isaacs asked the board to give permission for the district to start the application process for the CEP program while district personnel continues to weigh the "financial feasibility" of the program. The board granted permission to begin the CEP application process.

Isaacs went on to propose an amended 2014-2015 school calendar to the board.

Isaacs said that the state legislature passed the same provisions as last school year for inclement weather days. She said the state legislature removed the required 170 school days but kept the required 1,060 school hours in place, which ultimately gives school districts more flexibility with amending their calendars.

Rockcastle County Schools have missed 17 days because of inclement weather. She said the amended calendar calls for school to be dismissed for Election Day on Tuesday, May 19th and Memorial Day on Monday, May 25th.

Isaacs said that the last day of school will be Friday, May 29th and that the Rockcastle County High School graduation will be on Thursday, May 28th at 6 p.m.

The superintendent's personnel action report showed three classified hirings of Kathy Owens as RES cook/baker, Mikhael Shaffer as RCMS assistant baseball coach and Zackary McClure as a lawn care worker.

There was also one classified substitute hiring of Vicky Mullins as a substitute bus driver and one volunteer hiring of Tanner Perkins as a RCHS assistant baseball coach.

Resignations were Sarah Hasty as RCHS girl's assistant basketball coach and Lee Tran as a RCHS math teacher.

Rockcastle County voters will have several decisions to make for state offices when they go to the polls on Tuesday, May 19th.

Rockcastle County republican voters will be casting their votes for several races including governor and lieutenant governor, attorney general, state treasurer and commissioner of agriculture.

In the governor and lieutenant governor races, republican voters will choose from Matt Bevin and Jenean Hampton, James R. Comer and Chris McDaniel, Hal Heiner and K.C. Crosbie and Will T. Scott and Rodney Coffey.

The race for the attorney general republican candidate will be between Michael T. Hogan and Whitney H. Westerfield. The race for the republican candidate for state treasurer will be between Kenneth Churchill Imes, Jon Larson and Allison Ball. The race for republican candidate for commissioner of agriculture will be between Richard Heath and Ryan F. Quarles.

Rockcastle County democrats will be voting for governor and lieutenant governor, secretary of state and state treasurer in the May primary election.

For governor and lieutenant governor, democrats will decide between Jack Conway and Sannie Overly or Geoffrey M. Young and Johnathan D. Masters. The race for the democrat candidate for secretary of state is between incumbent Alison Lundergan Grimes and Charles Lovett. The race for democrat state treasurer candidate will be between Rick Nelson, Neville Blakemore, Jim Glenn, Daniel B Grossberg and Richard Henderson.

missioners the fire department would be a stop for a motorcycle Poker Run, beginning in Cincinnati, Ohio, on Sunday, May 3rd. Mason said that between 350 and 400 riders are expected and the fire department will be gas for the riders.

Founders Day activities will begin on Friday, May 8th with an Awards Recognition Ceremony, followed by a gospel singing.

On Saturday, a Pancake Breakfast in the former Livingston School cafeteria will kick off events, followed by a Civil War Reenactment on Main Street, a parade, bluegrass music and a Pioneer Pageant where the contestants will be asked to wear 1800s era dresses. The events on Saturday will include music by The Medley Boys just before the fireworks.

A complete list of events with times will be in next week's Signal.

Also during the meeting, the commissioners discussed with Mason, obtaining high water signs for the ford on Rockcastle River and for the county line on River Road.

They also made more plans to obtain a survey of Livingston residents for information for two federal grants the city is trying to obtain to renovate the school building and the Forster Mullins building.

The surveys will first be sent out with water bills and also distributed at a public hearing that will be scheduled for a later date. The surveys are an important part of the grants being obtained, Patrick Kirby who is the grant writer said. Kirby told the commissioners that he hoped to have the grant applications completed soon, leaving only the public hearing and surveys to be included before submission

As one of America's best emergency care hospitals

Rockcastle Regional Hospital recipient of Women's Choice Award

Rockcastle Regional Hospital has been named a recipient of the Women's Choice Award® (WCA) as one of America's Best Hospitals for Emergency Care. This coveted credential places Rockcastle Regional Hospital in the top one percent for emergency care, which was achieved by less than 10% of the emergency rooms that report data to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid.

"We are exceptionally proud to be receiving this honor for our emergency care," said Stephen A. Estes, president and CEO of Rockcastle Regional Hospital and Respiratory Care Center. "We place a tremendous focus on making our emergency department a place of excellence for both quality care and patient experience. This recognition tells us our efforts are continuing to make a positive impact for our patients."

Emergency services account for more than 125 million hospital visits annually, and all clinicians must have expertise in caring for patients across their life span, often when their healthcare needs are urgent and unplanned and patients' anxiety and fear are at their peak.

When it is needed most during the time of an emergency, "The Women's Choice Award® seal delivers a powerful message to women, offering them the peace of mind that the recipient is clinically excellent and highly responsive to the patient's experience," notes Sharyn S Lee, RN, MS, FACEHP, president of the WCA Healthcare Division.

Hospitals earning the Emergency Care Award consistently rank in the top 25 percent of the 3,800 hospitals reporting on their emergency department's performance for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS). The eight measures CMS publicly reports relate primarily to the

Livingston Community Lions and Leo Club to host Red Bud Ride Stop

The Livingston Community Lions and the Livingston Leos Club will be hosting their third Red Bud Ride stop in downtown Livingston on Saturday, April 25. The first cyclists usually arrive in Livingston around 9 AM and continue visiting the stop until around noon. The stop allows the cyclists bathroom breaks, nourishment, and a rest. The Red Bud Ride is a series of biking trails that pass through the scenic countryside of several southeastern Kentucky counties. The trail that comes through amount of time taken in the ER such as time for diagnosis, medication, and admission to the hospital, and are weighted according to the priorities of women surveyed.

A hospital can be eliminated from the award if it falls outside the 25th percentile for two or more of the eight measures, depending on their importance. The award is also limited to those hospitals with a solid recommendation on Hospital Consumer Assessment of Healthcare Providers and Systems.

Of the eight measures reported by emergency departments to CMS, women rate "door to diagnostic time" or in other words, "door to doctor," as the most important criteria when selecting an emergency room.

Of the "door to doctor" measure, emergency department coordinator Patti Halcomb, RN, says it is one of the areas Rockcastle Regional Hospital has been working on diligently over the past few years.

"We track the number of minutes each patient spends in our department, from the moment they enter, to the time they are discharged, and every step in between. We continually review these numbers to see how we can improve the wait time, and ultimately making a better experience and health outcomes for our patients," said Halcomb.

Information gained from tracking wait times has revealed an increased need for "rapid care." As a result, Rockcastle Regional Hospital will create a quick care clinic on the first floor of the Outpatient Services Building, adjacent to the emergency department. The new clinic is expected to open in July 2015.

"The opening of the quick care clinic expands the variety of services for our patients," said Estes. "It is another example of how we continue to deliver on our mission to provide convenient access to quality care, here in this community."

ABOUT Rockcastle Regional Hospital

By Karen Hamm Adams

To celebrate and honor the county's American Revolutionary War Patriots and to enlighten the community about the service and sacrifice of these brave men, on behalf of the Rockcastle Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, I have compiled highlights of the service of the known patriots living in the county and who applied for a pension between the years of 1818 and 1842. All information was taken from the patriot's own application and other historical documents. More information can be found on each patriot at the local library or the Rockcastle Historical Society. (Copyright Pending). If you are interested in joining the Daughters of the American Revolution or the Children of American Revolution, please contact Debbie Brown (606) 758-8659 or Iris Young (606) 256-2851.

Wonsley Baker Maryland

Wonsley Baker was born 1762 in Frederick Co. Maryland and died sometime after 1840 in Laurel Co. KY. According to his pension application, Wonsley gave the following account of his service on 1 October 1836 in Rockcastle Co. KY. At the age of seventy four. He was drafted out to Captain Brashear's Militia in the county of Frederick, state of Maryland in the fall of the year or rather he was drafted he thought in the last of August and went to service about the first of September. He could not remember the date of the year, but it was in the year that General Burgoyne was taken by General Gates and about six weeks before as he believed (October 1777).

He marched out under Captain Abraham Huff as a guard and was stationed about one mile and one half from the town of Frederick in the state of Maryland where he remained a guard in actual service until sometime in March following and until his term of service had expired. He was well acquainted with General Gates, Captain Shreeker and Captain Bell and played the fife at the militia musters for Captains Bell and Shreeker. He received a discharge from his Captain. But had lost it long since. He had no documenting evidence of his service but offered to the testimony of Bazel Baker and PL Parker.

After the Revolution, Wonsley moved to Virginia and from there to Kentucky in Madison County and from there to Laurel. He applied for his pension in Rockcastle County because he lived too far out in the country in Laurel County and it was too difficult at his age to make the journey to court in his county. It was closer to file his papers in Rockcastle. Wansley's pension application was rejected by the government on the basis that he served less than six months.

Wonsley was married to Charity Phelps (1766-1853) and had at least eight children according to census records. Their names are not listed in his pension papers or in the census. The possible children of Wonsley and Charity were: Wonsley Baker (1784 NC-1850 Madison Co. KY) married Letty Henderson (1793-1882) on 4 October 1809 in Madison Co. KY. They had six children: Sarah, Lourinda, Elizabeth, Ellender, Charlotte and Wonsley III. Wonsley Jr. served in the 2nd Regiment (Jennings) KY Volunteers as a Private during the War of 1812. He received 50 acre land grant on 22 March 1838 in Rockcastle Co. on Clear Creek. Braddock Baker (1791-1878)

The Rockcastle Dar to host second Annual Tea

The Rockcastle chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be hosting their second annual tea, A Mother's Day Evening Tea: "A Sentimental Journey", on Friday, May 8th at 6 p.m. until 8 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church. Seating will begin at 5:30 p.m.

This year's theme will revolve around what is known as "the greatest generation", the Big Band era of the 1940s. Entertainment for the evening will be provided by a live eighteen piece Big Band era sound band, "Young at Heart".

The tea is being catered by DAR member, Mary Henderson-Fore, formerly of Mount Vernon. She will be serving three courses of delicious hors d'oeuvres, including scones, country ham on cheddar biscuits, roast beef with onion jam, hot-brown tarts, curried chicken salad, shortbread cookies, chocolate and lemon tarts. Each course will be served with a different flavorful tea.

Plan now to attend this exciting, fun-filled, and "tasteful" evening. Men are welcome and encouraged to attend. You may dress as formal as you wish, but "Sunday best" attire is acceptable. The evening will be a perfect way to kick off Mother's Day weekend. The tickets are only $15 each. Seating is limited, and no tickets will be sold after May 1. Unfortunately, there won't be tickets sold at the door in order to allow for proper food preparation. Tickets go on sale soon. Check next week's Mount Vernon Signal for further information about the tea and ticket sales.

Volunteers needed to assist children in foster care

Citizen Foster Care Review Boards in 46 counties are seeking volunteers to make a difference in the lives of local children in foster care. Volunteers are needed to review cases of children placed in foster care because of dependency, neglect or abuse to ensure these children are placed in safe, permanent homes as quickly as possible.

Volunteers are needed in every region of Kentucky. The counties most in need of volunteers are Anderson, Barren, Bell, Bourbon, Boyd, Boyle, Breathitt, Bullitt, Calloway, Carter, Casey, Christian, Clark, Clay, Clinton, Daviess, Fayette, Floyd, Franklin, Graves, Hardin, Harlan, Henderson, Hopkins, Jefferson, Jessamine, Laurel, Letcher, Lincoln, Madison, Magoffin, McCracken, Nelson, Oldham, Owsley, Perry, Pike, Pulaski, Rockcastle, Russell, Scott, Shelby, Spencer, Taylor, Whitley and Wolfe.

Volunteers are not required to reside in the county where a board meets.

The Kentucky General Assembly created the state CFCRB in 1982 as a way to decrease the time children spend in foster care. CFCRB volunteers review Cabinet for Health and Family Services files on children placed in out-of-home care and work with the cabinet and courts on behalf of the state's foster children. The volunteer reviewers help ensure that children receive the necessary services while in foster care and are ultimately placed in permanent homes.

All volunteers must complete a six-hour initial training session and consent to a criminal record and Central Registry check. A recommendation is then made to the chief judge of the District Court or Family Court for appointment.

Individuals who are interested in volunteering may get more information and apply to volunteer on the CFCRB web page at <http://courts.ky.gov/courtprograms/cfrb/Pages/default.aspx>

Potential volunteers are encouraged to apply as soon as possible so they may be scheduled for training.

800 volunteers serve as members of the Kentucky Citizen Foster Care Review Board. The Administrative Office of the Courts oversees the boards. The AOC is the operations arm for the state court system and supports the activities of court system employees and elected justices, judges and circuit court clerks. The AOC also executes the Judicial Branch budget.

Five students attend FCCLA State Leadership Conference

Submitted

The 70th Annual Kentucky Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) State Leadership Conference was held on March 30-April 1, in Louisville, at the Galt House Hotel.

Five students from the Rockcastle County High School's chapter of FCCLA attended this event.

FCCLA is a dynamic student organization that has the mission to promote personal growth and leadership development through family and consumer sciences education.

The following students were recognized for earning their Power of One Degree: Megan Houk, Jaiden Barnes, Chelsea Barnett, and Amelia Berryman. Megan Houk and Brittany Carpenter also received recognition for earning their State Degree.

Megan Houk served on the State Bylaw Committee and Brittany Carpenter served on State Membership Committee, as well as, the State Nominating Committee.

Rockcastle County High School was recognized for participating in the state community service project, Pennies for Patients, for meeting the state goal to increase membership, and for participating in Unite to Read.

Finally, Megan Houk and Brittany Carpenter earned second place in the state's STAR Event competition, Focus on Children, for their work at Mt. Vernon Elementary. Their project, Hooked on Reading, qualified for nationals. They will be competing in the national meeting in Washington, D.C. this summer.

Yards to Paradise

*By Max Phelps
Paradise Has Water, Doesn't It?*

What do you think of when you hear the word “paradise”? Close your eyes—if it helps. The paramount question in today's column: Is there water in paradise? Secondly, would it be paradise without water?

For fourteen years Yards to Paradise continues. (Some editors leave the banner off.)

With each new subject or installment of gardening or landscaping wisdom being covered, adding to the 120+ so far, they all point back to that banner under which they've appeared from the beginning. We're encouraging readers to create paradise at their place.

If we're turning yards to paradise, what is paradise, anyway? Look in a dictionary and get a number of uses (once upon a time they were definitions, now they are uses). Be it fact or no, one of the meanings for paradise is Garden of Eden.

Now Eden is mentioned as having four major rivers flowing around or through it according to the account in your Bible. So if it is synonymous with paradise, then paradise must have running water.

Over 2500 years ago in the Persian empire, well before the Greeks defeated Medo-Persian King Xerxes, paradise in the Persian tongue referred to something we might describe as a park.

Country songwriter John Prine wrote a song entitled “Paradise”. It was a beautiful area along the Green River in the Commonwealth of Kentucky. (At least until Mister Peabody's coal train hauled it away!)

I think we can all agree that paradise commonly refers to a beautiful place. A safe and peaceful place. And a restful place. The kind of place I wish we were all able to come home to following a day of work.

When imagining paradise, do we think of lush greenery, flowing waters, and fruit hanging in the trees? Frankly I do.

Some folks named a town Paradise. You'll find it in Pennsylvania. There's Paradise Golf, Paradise school, Paradise church, Paradise Valley, even a paradise bar in Orlando where girls can pick up girlfriends. (My idea of paradise would be closer to being shipwrecked with Brooke Shields in the “Blue Lagoon” rather than a gay bar, but I digress.)

I think of the Little River or Dudley's Creek in East Tennessee. I think of Cumberland Falls State Park. I think of the Rocky Broad at Lake Lure or the Nanthahala or the New. Our forbear built their cabins alongside streams. No wonder we've become a rat-race society in the city, having gotten so far from the America the pioneers knew.

So, now that you've given some thought to paradise, would you say there is a stream or a river or a lake or a waterfall in paradise? I would.

Among all the various advice on how to create paradise in your yard and at your home, I've described water features with about five percent of my writings. But, if paradise contains water, and we're creating paradise, we're going to have to create a lot more waterfalls, streams, ponds and so on! (Rain gardens and rain collection will be topics we get to in the nearer future.)

As you contemplate and then follow through with turning your place more nearly into paradise, consider a water feature: in your dreams, then in your yard. You'll be nearer to the Garden of God. Paradise has water, doesn't it?

Rockcastle Co. KY) married Susannah McSwain (1795-1876) 4 April 1815 Madison Co. KY. They had three children: Wonsley, Robert and Jesse.

The last record of Wonsley was the 1840 Census. He was living with his wife in Laurel County. It is believed that the “Worley Baker” buried in the Bryant Cemetery in Bernstadt, Laurel Co. KY may be Wonsley. He would have been ninety six years of age.

As to date, no descendant has joined the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Remember to dial 8-1-1 for National Safe Digging Month

With the increasing warmth of the season come increased thoughts of making home upgrades and repairs, or putting renovation projects in motion. But one detail that often gets overlooked is how to safely execute those projects, particularly when they require digging underground.

As part of April's “National Safe Digging Month,” Louisville Gas and Electric Company and Kentucky Utilities Company urge customers to dial 8-1-1, the Federal Communication Commission's designated call-before-you-dig number, to identify buried lines that could be damaged as a result of excavation work.

Whether it's a home owner or contractor, and whether installing a mailbox, putting in a fence, building a deck or laying a patio – Kentucky law requires all excavators to contact operators of underground utilities before performing any excavation work.

According to Common Ground Alliance, a national organization focused on protecting underground utilities across the country, an underground utility line is damaged every eight minutes because someone decided to dig without calling 8-1-1 first.

How to use Kentucky 811:

- Start by planning ahead – Know what you plan to do, where you plan to do it and when you'd like to begin your dig.
- Call Kentucky 811 – Call 8-1-1 at least two days before you plan to dig and provide the required information about your dig to the call agent. Kentucky 811 is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.
- Wait the required time for marking – When you call Kentucky 811, they coordinate with Kentucky 811 member utilities in your area, including LG&E and KU, to have underground utility lines marked. This work is performed at no cost to you.

A “locate request” goes out to member utilities, including those who provide natural gas, electric, telephone, cable and water service. Crews either mark their underground facilities or notify the excavator they have no underground lines in the area.

- Respect the marks and dig with care - Markings are completed using paint or flags according to the standard color code system. If you have any questions, you should contact the appropriate utility directly.

LG&E customers should dial 8-1-1 before they dig. KU customers can visit the company's website to see if they need to call 8-1-1 or KU directly based on the area where they are digging.

About the Women's Choice Award®

The Women's Choice Award sets the standard for helping women make smarter choices by collectively identifying the brands, products, and services most recommended and trusted by women – those that deliver a customer experience worthy of their recommendation. Awards are based on surveys of thousands of women, as well as research conducted in partnership with the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania on what drives the consumer experience for women versus men. As the leading advocate for female consumers, WomenCertified Inc., home of the Women's Choice Award, created the first national award based on the ratings and preferences of women to provide them with a collective voice. Women can make their preferences heard and be part of the mission toward a million voices strong by visiting the Women's Choice Award's official website and joining the network.

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...

What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?

Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.

Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?

A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150* degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
 B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
 The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.

Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?

C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
 D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
 E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
 The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again. Promoting the life of the carpet.
 Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

A Lincoln county man was injured by a hit and run driver last Thursday on Hwy 150 near Citizens Bank in Mt. Vernon. Authorities say Homer R. Hendrickson, 70, of Crab Orchard was traveling west on Hwy 150 when another driver crossed the center line and collided with Hendrickson's vehicle. Hendrickson was transported to Rockcastle Regional Hospital where he was treated for non-life threatening injuries. Kentucky State Police Trooper Delzie Kelly is in charge of the investigation and he said they have a suspect in the accident but their name has not been released.

Mt. Vernon Council approves personnel ordinance and new healthcare plan

By: Doug Ponder

The Mt. Vernon City Council passed the second reading of their personnel changes ordinance and approved changing the employees' healthcare plans which saves the city almost $100,000.

The meeting got off to an awkward start when councilmember Cliff Mullins voted "no" on the minutes from the March council meeting. Mayor Mike Bryant asked Mullins if he had an issue with them and Mullins replied "yes." Bryant asked if it was something that could be discussed and Mullins replied "yeah" but that he would like to discuss it "behind closed doors."

The second reading of the ordinance to change the personnel policy was the first item of business during the meeting. The policy rearranges several city positions and creates a new position.

The policy renames the former tax administrator position as the city administrator. The policy also calls for several changes to, and rearrangement of, positions in the public works department. The former superintendent of public works, assistant superintendent of public works, chief sewer plant operator and chief water plant operator have now all been combined into wastewater superintendent and water superintendent positions. The policy also creates the position of Lake Linville Manager which oversees the city's marina, restaurant, RV park, park and other recreational centers at Lake Linville.

After no discussion or questions about the personnel ordinance, the council unanimously approved the second reading of the ordi-

Man injured in hit and run

By: Doug Ponder

A Lincoln County man was the victim of a hit and run accident around 4:30 p.m. last Thursday on Hwy 150 near Citizens Bank in Mt. Vernon.

According to state police reports, Homer R. Hendrickson, 70, of Crab Orchard was traveling west on Hwy 150 when another vehicle, traveling east on Hwy 150, crossed the center line and collided with Hendrickson's vehicle. The collision sent both vehicles in the ditch along the roadway.

Hendrickson was transported to Rockcastle Regional Hospital where he was treated for non-life threatening injuries. Witnesses told officers that the driver of the other vehicle fled the scene and was picked up by another motorist.

The accident is still under investigation by the Kentucky State Police and Trooper Delzie Kelly is in charge of the investigation. Kelly said they have a suspect in the accident but their name has not been released.

If you have any information regarding the hit and Drug Czar Boticelli re-schedules visit to Rockcastle

The Director of the White House Office of National Drug Control Policy (ONDCP) will visit Rockcastle County High School in May as a part of his Kentucky tour.

White House ONDCP Michael Boticelli was originally scheduled to visit Rockcastle County High School in February but the event had to be cancelled because of inclement weather.

Boticelli will now visit RCHS on Wednesday, May 16th. Boticelli and U.S. Representative Hal Rogers will speak in the RCHS auditorium at 9 a.m.

UNITE is also hosting their "Celebrate Successes" luncheon on Tuesday, May 15th. Boticelli, Rogers and Corporation for National and Community Service CEO Wendy Spencer will all be at the event.

The free event is at the EKU Manchester Campus in Manchester and everyone is invited to attend. The event will begin at 11 a.m.

Those wishing to attend are being asked to RSVP by Wednesday, April 29th by emailing Cheryl Keaton at ckeaton@centertech.com.

The White House ONDCP is a position that is often known as the "drug czar" throughout the country.

Boticelli is a former deputy director of the ONDCP. He became acting director following Gil Kerlikowske's resignation after Kelikowske was appointed commissioner of U.S. Customs and Border Protection.

One arrested after police find over five grams of crystal meth

By: Doug Ponder

A Laurel County man was arrested on meth charges last Thursday after police found more than five grams of crystal meth inside his vehicle.

Arrested at the scene was Clemous R. Tabor, 46, of London.

According to the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department, Deputy Brandon McIntosh responded to several calls received by Rockcastle 911 about a reckless driver near I-75 exit 59 in Mt. Vernon.

McIntosh caught up with the reckless driver, later identified as Tabor, as he was merging on I-75 southbound at exit 59. McIntosh attempted to make a traffic stop on Tabor's vehicle but Tabor did not stop his vehicle until he reached the 55 mile marker on southbound I-75.

Once McIntosh approached the vehicle, he asked Tabor to step out of

The canopy over top of the diesel pumps was damaged last Thursday at the Derby City South Truck Plaza on Hwy 25 in Mt. Vernon. Authorities say a semi-driver, hauling a large excavator, attempted to pull underneath the canopy and the excavator clipped the top of the canopy breaking some of the beams. Several fire departments and emergency personnel were dispatched and on standby in case the canopy collapsed. The pumps were temporarily shutoff while the canopy was being removed. No one was injured in the incident.

I have always prided myself on being "tough" as far as minor illnesses are concerned. I did not take a pill of any type until three years ago when I had to have a stent which brought on a whole plethora of meds which I will have to deal with for the rest of my life.

But, last Wednesday morning, at 3 o'clock, I was awakened from a sound sleep, very sick to my stomach. I thought I had eaten something that disagreed with me and, since I hate, loathe and despise to throw up, spent the remainder of the night fighting it, although I lost the battle a couple of times.

Managed to work only a few hours Wednesday and Friday but by 2 a.m. Saturday, had to give in and go to the ER -- thought I was dying and, at that point, didn't really care.

They're very professional and caring at Rockcastle Hospital's emergency room (I'm getting to know some of them personally) and they were able to get some fluids and Zofran in to me that made me feel a lot better. It was a stomach virus and, of course, there's no medication for viruses so I had to tough it out. It lasted uncomfortably through Sunday but by Monday a.m. I decided I wasn't going to die. The bug kicked my butt. I just hope I didn't give it to any other member of the family.

I lost several pounds, just couldn't eat and it created a problem because the aforementioned medicines have to mostly be taken with food so I'm sure that didn't help the nausea situation any.

This is probably way too much information for you readers but I was truly astounded because it's one of the few times that I have been felled with one of the "bugs" that traipse through the community with regularity.

My three "local" daughters, did a good job of caring for me and I appreciate it -- Jax and Penny are not real good caretakers in these situations.

Anyway...

I will probably have more ills to deal with by the time we get through the upcoming horrendous Republican presidential campaign.

I haven't decided who I like the best, a fact that no

ROCKCASTLE MEMORIES

BY DAVID J. GRIFFIN

Lifelong Photographer

Now that I am retired, I have a lot more time to surf the Internet looking for information on things in which I have an interest. I typed the following into my Mozilla search engine: "100 Best Photographs of All Time" and was overwhelmed by the results. Photos displayed twelve at a time appeared on my screen, and I was highly impressed by the professionalism of them. Included in the selections were: portraits, nature scenes, animals, and children.

Photography has always been one of my life's passions.

As I have probably mentioned before, I received a nifty Brownie Hawkeye camera as a gift when I was in elementary school. In those days, black-and-white photographs were used most because of the prohibitive cost involved in processing color.

I remember sitting in the rafters at Memorial Coliseum when the Mt. Vernon Red Devils made it to the state tournament. I could barely see the basketball court, so I held my Brownie high above my head and snapped a shot. When the film was developed, I had a wonderful picture of one of our guards making a jump shot. That photo, along with the fact that I had my own camera, set me on a path that I have followed in one form or another until this day.

After I began my teaching career in 1965, I purchased my first 35 mm camera, a Ricoh with interchangeable lenses. Once I began using it, I was truly hooked. Of the 38 years that I taught high school, 35 of those years I was also the Yearbook Advisor at two different schools -- Mt. Sterling High and George Rogers Clark High in Winchester, Kentucky. In 1976, the Mt. Sterling yearbook was awarded a National First Place Award by Columbia Scholastic Press Association. I was elated.

I was not only pleased for myself. That year was the school's final one. The following year, it was consolidated with the local county school. Therefore, it seemed somehow appropriate that our yearbook staff ended things on such a high note. I found it quite gratifying.

I soon decided that I needed a better camera. I chose a Nikon F2S, which was the camera that the United States took to the moon in 1969. Because of my love for photography, I

Points East

By Ike Adams

During my earliest years, there in the head of Blair Branch, my Dad would get the itch to trade off the mule he had fed all winter and get one better suited for spring plowing. Which, of course, brings into question, why on earth he had kept the mule all winter to begin with? I suppose it was so he could have something besides the cow and chickens to feed all that corn and fodder that he'd slaved to raise and get into the barn the previous year. And Heaven knows he couldn't have done that without the mule.

That, plus the fact that mules didn't fetch nearly as much, price wise, at the fall stock sales and if he'd sold him then, he wouldn't have had anything to trade on come spring. My Dad, at that time in his life, fancied himself a muletrader from way on back. He was proud of the reputation that you couldn't trade nickels with him without throwing in a penny to boot. He would often trade milk cows so frequently that they didn't even have time to get used to their new names. Sometimes mules only lasted on our place for the week between Saturday auctions at the Isom, Kentucky "Stock Sale."

He'd bring one home and discover that he or she walked too fast or too slowly or that it was bad to "take the studs", meaning it would "balk" and simply stop right in the middle of whatever he had it doing and just stand there walling its eyes and swishing its tail and refusing to move its feet. Sometimes he'd discover that it didn't know gee from haw, gidup from whoa, that it was blind in one eye or couldn't hear thunder.

In other words, it took one heck of a mule to suit my Dad. But the truth of the matter is that he didn't mind bringing home a "plug" because that gave him an excuse to go back to the Stock Sale and, in essence, try to trade up to a better model.

But all that was before he brought Ole Dock home one spring in the late 50's.

Dock was not a mule. He was a 1600 pound Percherondraft horse that Dad purchased for logging timber. He dwarfed any mule that I had ever seen and nobody at the time, Dad included, would have ever believed he had any utility when it came to plowing a garden because he was about a thousand pounds too big and either one of his front feet would have covered at least 4 mule tracks.

During the first two or three years that we had Ole Dock, Dad also kept a plow mule on the place. Unlike most mules, Old Dock was very loveable, possessed a friendly disposition, thrived on affectionate petting and, to this day, I believe he thought he was a dog. I know, for sure that my Mom loved him better than any dog we'd ever had on the place. Suffice to say that the merest hint that he might sell or trade Ole Dock generated enough ire that Dad, very rapidly dropped the notion.

Dad also discovered that he could turn a bottom under with Ole Dock in about half the time required with a mule. A bottom turning plow is about 4 times heavier and as many times harder for a draft animal to pull than a bull tongue plow that was used to prepare most gardens for plowing. Mules have to stop and rest very frequently and they are notorious for doing just that. The old saw, "stubborn as a mule" is well earned, even though most things, other than my wife, aren't.

But pulling a turning plow was scarcely more strenuous to Dock than a leisurely stroll around the pasture because he was accustomed to pulling saw logs that more than a ton.

I'm not exactly sure how it happened but one spring somebody offered Dad more than twice as much cash for a little chestnut mare mule, than he thought she was worth. Her name was Mertand she turned out to be the last mule we ever had on the place because her absence enabled Dad to discover that Dock was just as nimble at plowing a garden as a mule and far better at the chore than most.

To make a much longer

The Way I See it

By Doug Ponder

I took a small road trip on Sunday through the backroads of Livingston and Jackson County.

Traveling on the country roads and through the rural areas is always beautiful this time of the year as everything is in bloom and the terrain changes from its dull and dead looking color to a more bright and vibrant color.

I started my road trip in Livingston and drove the route to McKee on Hwy 490 and Hwy 89. On this route, motorists can see the Rockcastle River right next to them as both highways practically follow the outline of the river.

It had been almost a decade since I had been on this route and it was just as beautiful now as it was then. The trees have budded and are a bright green color, the red-bud trees are in bloom and the water in the river looked clear and even had a turquoise color in certain places.

The photographic opportunities were practically limitless and there were several places along the route that looked like a Thomas Kinkadee painting.

I also had flashbacks of my childhood when I was driving the route. As a child, my grandfather Dell Ponder would take my cousins and me fishing on the Rockcastle River along Hwy 490 and Hwy 89. We had several favorite fishing spots along the route that had their own unique names such as the "Whirl Hole," "Redeye Rock," etc.

I have heard several people say that the route between Livingston and McKee is one of the most scenic routes in the state. Bicyclists and motorcyclists travel it all the time. Actually, hundreds of bicyclists will travel the route this weekend during the annual Redbud Bicycle Ride.

It's no secret that Rockcastle County has several scenic roadways, waterways and trails throughout the county and includes several historic trails such as the Wilderness Road, Boone Trace, etc.

The fact of the matter is, we really do have all kinds of outdoor opportunities in our county, both scenic and historic. It excites me and makes me proud of the fact that Livingston has been designated a "trail town," the original Boone Trace is in the works of being preserved by several dedicated people and my list could go on and on...

There are several outdoor opportunities for adults to make memories with their

In Loving Memory

In Loving Memory of Mildred Ann Bullock

You left us so fast, we had no time to say goodbye or to tell you how much we loved you. And, although it has been 23 years since you went away from us, the love we have for you is still the same as then.

I think of you everyday and remember your pretty smile you had for everyone. I try not to think of you as being gone for you are still alive in my heart. We will meet in Heaven some day I know.

*Love forever,
Mom*

Hospice's Bucket-List Challenge gets challenge gift

Hospice Care Plus launched an online Bucket-List Challenge on its Facebook page on April 9 to raise funds for patients' last wishes. The goal was to raise $5,000. But a very generous gift from Mrs. Anna Caudill has raised the stakes.

Caudill contacted the non-profit hospice after seeing its bucket-list stories on Facebook. She said hospice cared for her father, and that she loved the stories.

"She told us to keep telling these stories, and then she pledged a $20,000 gift," says Brenna Wallhausser, director of public relations.

The donor gave Hospice Care Plus permission to use her pledge as a matching challenge: raise $20,000 themselves, and her gift will kick-in to make the total $40,000 for bucket-list wishes.

The stories are about bucket-list wishes that hospice care helps patients meet: a Texas native who wants to taste the authentic Mexican food of his home and youth, a young child who wants to have Christmas with her family one more time, a grandmother who desperately wants to be there when her grandson boards the school bus for the first time, a mother who wants to live until Thanksgiving and be strong enough to teach her daughter how to make the meal, a bereaved widow who wants to learn to drive, and many more.

The Bucket-List Challenge was originally scheduled to end on April 16, but has been extended to April 27 to increase the likelihood that hospice raises the $20,000 needed to receive the $20,000 donation from Mrs. Caudill. As of Friday afternoon, the campaign had raised $7,040.

"It's ambitious, but I think we can get there," says Wallhausser. "And what's so nice about an online fundraiser is that, even if you truly can't give even $10, you can help in other ways—by sharing the bucket-list stories on social media, for instance, or contacting friends, family, co-workers and church members and encouraging them to support the challenge."

Gifts can be given online through Hospice Care Plus's Facebook page, or offline by contacting hospice at 859-986-1500 or hospice@hospicecp.org. The bucket-list stories are all posted on the Facebook page as well.

"Even if you can't give, just take a moment to read the stories," says Wallhausser. "What I love about them is how they show that, in the last months of life, what becomes important are relationships—with family, with culture, with place. I think that's the common thread that runs through these stories. There isn't a single story about wanting to take a cruise or purchase a big-ticket item. These are simple, modest hopes about things that matter."

Hospice Care Plus is a non-profit organization serving Estill, Jackson, Lee, Madison, Owsley and Rockcastle counties. Services include hospice care, palliative care, bereavement support, and hospice inpatient care at the Hospice Care Plus Compassionate Care Center.

UNITE Leadership Rally and Community Dinner...

Dear Editor,

On April 23, 2015, the Rockcastle UNITE Coalition will hold its annual Leadership Rally and Community Celebration Dinner at the Rockcastle County Middle School, beginning at 5:30 p.m. During the evening, the Coalition will elect upcoming Board Members and Officers and recognize several groups and individuals in our county who have made an impact through UNITE. The work of Operation UNITE will be highlighted through a program involving the student UNITE Club members from all five county schools: Roundstone, Brodhead and Mount Vernon Elementary Schools, Rockcastle County Middle, and Rockcastle County High School.

Everyone who attends will also learn how they can be involved in the fight against substance abuse in Rockcastle County. Following the dinner, the keynote speaker for the evening will be Bruce Frye. He was a talented musician who opened for the Oak Ridge Boys, Sawyer Brown, Charlie Daniels, and others. His lifestyle led him to a life of alcohol and drugs. Listen as he tells the story of what and how he changed his life.

We hope you will make plans to attend the Rockcastle UNITE Coalition's Leadership Rally and Community Celebration Dinner. We hope you will also choose to make a difference in our county by taking a stand against substance abuse. In order to make arrangements for the dinner, we ask that you RSVP the number who will be attending from your church, business, or family, by Monday, April 13, 2015. RSVP by contacting Mrs. Michelle Martin at: michellemain@rockcastleky.com

If you have any questions about the April 23rd Rally, please contact any of our schools' UNITE Clubs or an officer of the Rockcastle UNITE Coalition.

John Hale, Chairman*

RCMS Academic Team thanks sponsors...

Dear Editor,

The Rockcastle County Middle School Academic Team would like to thank our sponsors for their support during the 2014-2015 season. Thanks to our sponsors, we competed in tournaments in Mammoth Cave, Danville, Somerset, Lancaster, Nicholasville, Richmond, Lexington and Louisville. During each of those competitions, we were proud to represent all of Rockcastle County and our school as academic leaders of our community, and we know that it would not have been possible if it were not for the help of our sponsors.

Our team was very successful this year. We won the District Championship against schools from Garrard County and Lincoln County and placed second overall in our Region Tournament against schools from all around central Kentucky. Four students placed as state finalists at Region and moved on to compete at the Governor's Cup State Finals in Louisville on March 15th. After competing against over 300 students in each subject at the state competition, the following students were ranked in the top thirty students in the state. Katie Vance placed 18th in Social Studies and 17th in Arts and Humanities. Tessa Pickle placed 24th in Language Arts. Drew Bullock placed 19th in Social Studies. And, Aden Amburgey placed 23rd in Arts and Humanities.

We would like to thank our sponsors who made all of this possible. Two very special sponsors helped us cover most of the expenses for supplies and travel this year. We are so appreciative of both Kentucky South Central Pools and Rockcastle County Kiwanis Club for their very generous donations.

We would also like to thank the rest of our sponsors who have all pitched in to help our team realize our dreams!

Thanks to Richmond Street Eye Care, Brodhead Pharmacy, Stevie Miller Concrete, RockPeds, Cash Machine Tool, Rose Auto Restoration, Mink Logging, Rockcastle Regional Hospital, Ralph's Salvage, The Law Office of Amburgey and Rowe, Limestone Grill, Brodhead Baptist Church, Citizens Bank, Collins Respiratory Care, Pongo Volunteer Fire Department, Jackson Energy, Brodhead Farm Mart, Eliza Jane York, Janet Vaughn, Touch of Class Hair Design, Mt. “Memories” (Cont. from A2) opened a professional studio on Main Street in Mt. Sterling. I continued teaching, but I operated my own studio for over ten years. With the help of an assistant/secretary and occasionally an additional photographer, we concentrated on portraits, weddings, and commercial photography.

It was hard work but I loved it. Even though it has been years and years since I ceased doing professional photography, I still get the occasional inquiry as to whether I still shoot weddings. (For the record, I do not.)

During this time, one day I was driving my automobile on a backroad in Mt. Sterling, and I saw the most beautiful sunset that I had ever witnessed. I immediately stopped my car, pulled out my trusty camera and began taking multiple shots as the sun slowly disappeared over the horizon. It was a spellbinding beauty. One of those photographs was entered in a national Professional Photographers of America (PPA) contest and won second place. That photo, now mounted on canvas, hangs in my home today.

Once the digital age arrived, I purchased a Canon EOS 6D and began storing my photos on my PC and on my laptop. That involved a significant learning curve for me because all of my photographic knowledge revolved around using negatives or slides and storing them in a physical location. Now I use “flash drives” to store my most important photos. That Canon also came equipped with software which enables me to alter my photographs even after I am away from a shoot. That, I must say, seems almost magical to me.

I am now also using my iPhone to capture images that do not need to be of a professional nature. I believe that I have a bank of more than 700 photos on my phone. Old habits are hard to break.

As the processes of photography evolved, so did I and my equipment. These days, shooting good photographs is not anywhere near as demanding as it was with film. When I am trying to capture a vision that is important to me, I simply vary my exposures and shoot oodles of images. Then, when I am at my computer, I select the ones that are worthy and discard the remaining frames.

That was never a feasible approach using film because it would have cost a fortune. Today, once you buy the camera, you have most everything that you need. Additionally, having an instant view of each shot located on the backside of a camera saves so much time, not to mention money.

From big blue flashbulbs to digital strobe lights, photography has come a long way. And so have I. And I must admit that, with my increasing age, I'm very happy that getting the shot that you desire is so much easier!

(You can reach me at themtnman@att.net or you can drop me a line at 2167 Furnace Road – Stanton, KY 40380. I appreciate your comments and suggestions.)

story short, Ole Dock taught all three of my younger brothers and me to plow. He was patient with us too. During the learning process, when we would accidentally let the plow run out of a furrow or a tad too deeply into unplowed ground, he would stop, turn his big head and stare us down until the plow was righted. If we got to the end of the furrow and needed to turn right but, instead, commanded “haw” instead of “gee”, Dock would stop and turn his head as if to ask, “Are you sure about that?” I'm reasonably sure that I'm not the only person who has frequently apologized to a horse.

By the time my brother, Keith, was 9 and I was 11 we were plowing most of the gardens on Blair Branch and even Doty Creek and Spring Branch after school and on Saturdays. If the ground stayed dry enough we could earn more money in a week in April, than Dad did shoveling coal for 50 hours in a deep, dark mine.

My old Troybilt horse tiller has finally bit the dust and it pains me to no end that a new one is going to cost me about 3 times as much as my Dad paid for old Dock. I probably don't need to be telling you which one I'd rather have even though my little garden would not come close to getting Ole Dock through a hard winter.

Arbor Day and Tree Planting*

As much as Arbor Day is in the news, now is a good time to ask where does this holiday come from, and why.

A man named J. Sterling Morton moved from Michigan to Nebraska in the 1800’s and found almost no trees. He missed the trees he was used to, and came up with the idea for a tree planting holiday on January 4, 1872. So, the Nebraska legislature took the idea and passed the first Arbor Day law. Arbor Day was celebrated that year on April 10, 1872, and over a million trees were planted in Nebraska on that day.

Today the J. Sterling Morton Arboretum in Nebraska City, Nebraska commemorates and continues the legacy of Mr. Morton. The Arbor Day Foundation, a 501 (3) c charitable organization, was founded on the centennial of the first Arbor Day. Arbor Day has spread to many nations. In the United States the date is the last Friday in April each year. (Many communities choose to celebrate on other days.) Arborday.org or a search on the web for the Morton Arboretum will give those interested a more in depth history.

Basically, it’s the “Tree City” program that most people seem to be aware of. I suppose this is because of all the “tree city” signs as one crosses into the city

Hayden Bradley Isaacs was born February 17,2015 at St. Joseph East Women's Hospital in Lexington. He weighed 9 lbs 15.4 old and was 20 1/2 inches long. He was welcomed home by big brother Bently. He is the son of Andrew and Dorrie Isaacs. Maternal grandparents are David and Bea Chasteen of Berea. Paternal grandparents are Elzie and Pam Isaacs of Lancaster.

As a young adult, Bruce Frye left his home in North Carolina to pursue his dream of becoming a star. He traveled to Nashville and was a regular at the honky-tonk bars around the original Grand Ole Opry. But after years of performing on the club circuit and opening shows for Sawyer Brown, the Oak Ridge Boys, Charlie Daniels and others, he was unable to escape the nagging feeling that something was missing in his life. After a life of empty dreams and drug and alcohol addiction, he finally found what he was looking for. Come hear Bruce share through stories and song the amazing transformation that has taken place in his life!

Emme Barker waits on the ball during the Rockets 12-2 win over Casey County Tuesday night. The Lady Rockets lost to Boyle County last Thursday 2-8, lost to Taylor County last Friday 10-11 and beat Somerset last Friday 3-0. The Lady Rockets are now 15-4 on the season and 3-0 in the district.

John Cornelius attempts to put the tag on a Wayne County Cardinal at second base during the Rockets recent 5-4 win over Wayne County. The Rockets are now 6-10 on the season and 2-0 in the district.

Chayse McClure takes a swing during the Rockets 5-4 win against Wayne County last Saturday. The Rockets played Wayne County in a double header and lost the first game 3-6.

Cody Burton walks to first base after getting hit by a pitch during the Wayne County game last Saturday. The Rockets next game is this Thursday night at home when they take on Casey County at 6 p.m.

children here in the county. Places where you can drag your children away from the distraction of tablets, phones, video games or whatever other electronic devices that exist in today's modern world.

The truth is, awesome video games or cool YouTube videos aren't what people actually end up remembering about their childhood as they grow older. You can do a survey of people in their teens or 20s and I guarantee that if you ask them about their best memories of their childhood you will rarely get an answer like "I played this awesome video game when I was five-years-old or I got an iPad when I was ten-years-old."

Instead people remember things such as fishing at the Whirl Hole on the Rockcastle River with their grandfather or walking in the footsteps of Daniel Boone on Boone Trace with their family. These are the types of things that last forever in peoples' memories of their childhood and we can find those opportunities right here in our own backyard!

It's just simply up to us to take advantage of the opportunities we have available to us...

Bailey Chasteen gets a steal during the Lady Rockets 12-2 win against Casey County on Tuesday. The Lady Rockets next two games are at home as they play Somerset this Thursday at 5:30 p.m. before playing the number one team in the region East Jessamine at 6 p.m.

Juliann Kirby gets a hit during the game against Casey County Tuesday night. The Lady Rockets played Casey County in a double header and won both times with a score of 12-2.

Courtlyn Vanhook serves the ball during her match against West Jessamine last Saturday. Vanhook lost her match. The Lady Rockets next match is next Monday when they travel to Stearns to take on McCreary Central at 5:30 p.m.

Tessa Nicely returns the ball during her tennis match against West Jessamine last Saturday. Nicely was up 4-2 before her Lady Colts opponent came back to win 8-5.

one but me cares about I'm sure.

I'm amazed that the Dems are content with just Hillary for a candidate. Absolutely nothing but "It's my turn" and "I'm a woman" to recommend her to voters.

However, the "I deleted 30,000 e-mails that were all personal from my private server, trust me" certainly should cancel out either of those two reasons.

I am aligned with several of the Repubs (not Jeb Bush's) views on both social and economic issues. Scott Walker has an edge with me right now, especially if he would pick Dr. Ben Carson or Marco Rubio for a running mate.

The fact that he didn't finish college is not a liability for him in my opinion and the fact that he is not a lawyer is actually a plus.

It has already gotten a little ridiculous with the New York Times asking in a front page story if the fact that he is allergic to dogs will keep him from winning the Presidency...really?

TJ Comer attending meet-and-greet Thursday at National Heritage Inn

TJ Comer, wife of Agriculture Commissioner James Comer, will attend a meet-and-greet being held in support of her husband’s gubernatorial campaign this Thursday from 4PM-5PM at the National Heritage Inn in Renfro Valley.

TJ is involved in efforts to combat child hunger and has stated that as First Lady she will make it a priority to tackle this issue head on.

On Thursday, TJ will be bringing items for Rockcastle’s Backpack Program which helps provide food to kids in need and invites guests to do the same. Needed items are Capri Suns, cheese/peanut butter crackers, fruit snacks, and canned soup.

The informal event is open to anyone who would like to learn more about the James Comer for Governor campaign.

Katie Hensley had a great opening weekend of turkey season in Rockcastle County, killing two long beards. One weighed 22 lbs., had a 10” beard and 1 1/4 inch spurs. The other one weighed 21 lbs., had a 10” beard and 1” spurs. Great job, Katie!

T.J.’s Journal

by: Tonya J. Cook

The Great Hunt

Dear Journal,

This past week, I've been very busy with several projects. One of the things I took time out of my schedule to do is some hunting.

It began last Tuesday when Stanley went to the 49er Fuel Center to pick up a called-in to-go order when he got in from work. He saw a big, white Great Pyrenees dog alongside the road on his way. It was still there on the way home.

He told me about the dog when he got home. We decided that we should go back and take some dog food so it could eat. We planned to try to rescue it, too, if we could.

We drove back up Highway 25 and found the poor creature, still wandering. It was cool and rainy. I'm sure the dog was wet, hungry, and miserable.

It's hair was matted with vines and briars caught in it's fur. It appeared he had been wandering for days.

I tried to get close enough to catch the dog by tempting him with food. Stanley and others who had stopped to help tried to no avail. We had to abandon the mission, but I did leave the dog food on a piece of cardboard that was laying beside the highway.

We went back home, and I worried about the dog most all of the night. I went back the next morning to try again. I didn't see the dog this time. I tried again in the mid-afternoon, late afternoon, and again around dusk. By the end of the day the food that I had left had been eaten. I hoped it had been eaten by the Great Pyrenees.

The week wore on and the weekend came and went, without ever seeing the dog again. I continued to leave bread and dog food, but it may have been eaten by other animals. I don't know whatever happened to him, but I hope he found a good home. I don't ever expect to see him again. Sadly, this is the fate of too many dogs and cats. I really wish people would do more to help the homeless animals.

A representative from the Kentucky League of Cities attended the meeting to propose a new health plan for city employees that would save the city around $8,222.73 a month or $98,672.78 a year.

Bryant said that the KLC plan has increased benefits for employees at a reduced price. The KLC representative told the council that the lowered premium for better benefits is a result of a “stable and healthy group of employees.”

The council unanimously passed the new healthcare plan with the Kentucky League of Cities.

Bryant also said that Bible Baptist Church in Mt. Vernon had asked for permission to use the city’s parking lot for a fundraiser. Bryant said the city ordinance states that approval from the council is needed for people, groups or organizations to use the city parking lot for yard sales or fundraisers.

Bryant said that Bible Baptist requested the use of the city parking lot so they could have a fundraiser in order to raise money for a mission trip. Everyone on the council voted yes with the exception of Mullins who voted no. The motion passed with a majority vote.

A concerned citizen, who recently had a water leak at her residence while she was gone for approximately two weeks, was also present at the meeting. She said the leak left her with around a $900 water bill. She was concerned about how she would pay the large bill and asked if the ten percent penalty would be applied to the unpaid balance each month.

Mayor Mike Bryant said every government or utility organization has a “penalized” system and he said the city approves payment plans for “good-paying” customers who aren’t trying to “beat the system.” He also said that the penalty is just applied one time as long as the customer contacted them and agreed to a payment plan.

The concerned citizen also asked if there was a device that could be hooked to a water meter to alert homeowners if they had a leak. Bryant said that the city is always trying to stay updated with the latest technology and that water employees check the meters once a month.

Police Chief Brian Carter presented the council with his department’s activity report for March which showed: 75 total calls for service, one non-injury accident, 31 total arrests, five drug charges, 27 traffic violations, 11 other criminal charges, 21 warrants served, one DUI and two criminal summons.

Fire Chief David Bales gave the council his department’s activity report for March which showed: three structure fires, three vegetation fires, nine vehicle accidents without extrication, three vehicle accidents with extrication, one false alarm, two service calls, three public service assistance calls and two automatic aid calls.

After receiving consent to search the vehicle, McIntosh found two zippered pouches containing a white crystal substance that was believed to be methamphetamine. McIntosh also found several other drug paraphernalia items and a large machete inside the vehicle.

McIntosh later weighed the suspected crystal meth and determined that there was 5.4 grams in the pouches.

Tabor was charged with trafficking in a controlled substance (methamphetamine), possession of a controlled substance (methamphetamine), drug paraphernalia, DUI and careless driving.

He was lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center and later released on a $25,000 10% bond.

Shell reappointed to oversight committee

State Representative Jonathan Shell was recently reappointed to the Tobacco Settlement Agreement Fund Oversight Committee by House Republican Floor Leader Jeff Hoover.

The Tobacco Settlement Agreement Fund Oversight Committee oversees all matters pertaining to the state agriculture development board. Those duties include requests for grants and loans, planning short-term and long term goals for the board, expenditures under the Early Childhood Development Fund, efforts of agencies and educational institutions to assist in the revitalization and diversification of tobacco farms, assisting in conducting alternative crop development research, review of the county agriculture development council plans and the use of the Tobacco Master Settlement Agreement money.

Hoover said he reappointed Shell to the committee as a result of his outstanding leadership during his time in office and because of his previous work on the Tobacco Settlement Agreement Fund Oversight Committee.

"Given his background and experience as a tobacco farmer, Shell has become an important asset in management of MSA funds in Kentucky," Hoover said. "This is why I appointed him to serve another term."

Shell said he knows "firsthand" how important tobacco has been and continues to be for the state's overall economy.

"I understand the need to diversify our agriculture base," Shell said. "By continuing to serve on this committee, I can continue to play a role in disbursing funds from the Master Settlement Agreement to make sure farming stays strong in Kentucky."

Master Musicians Festival releases McFerron painting

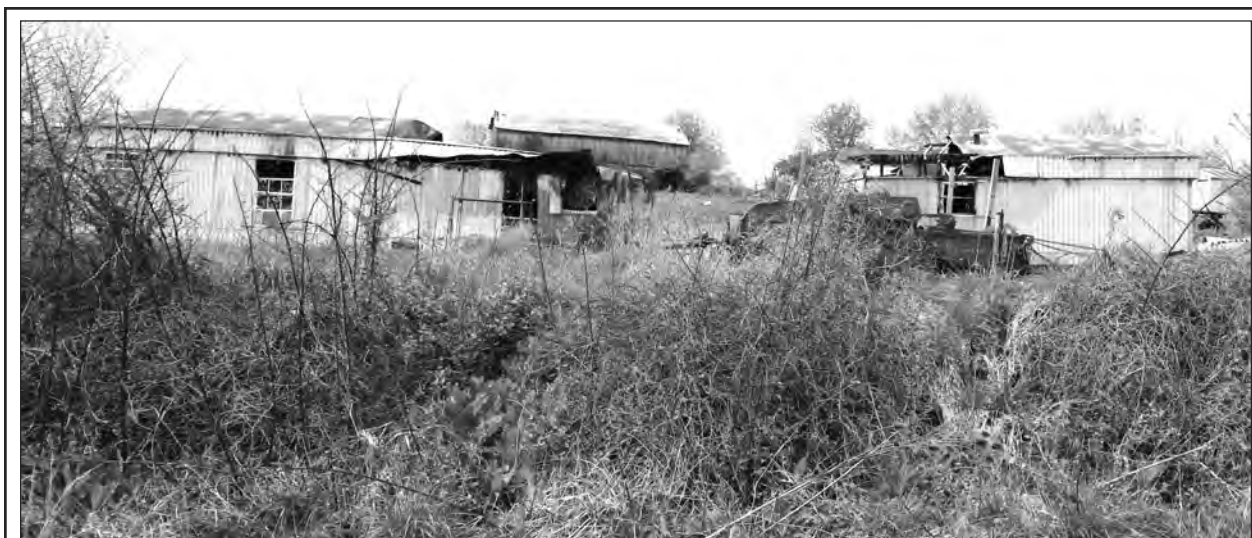

Somerset is pleased to announce that the winning painting and 2015 Visual Artist of the Year, is Kentucky artist Mark T. McFerron of Louisville, for his painting, For the Love of Music. The painting will be available for viewing and purchase at the festival on July 10 - 11.

For the Love of Music is a tribute to Kentucky's significant musical heritage and influence. The painting is genuinely unique in that the McFerron used Kentucky bourbon and walnut stains as part of his painting media. It represents the visual theme of this year's Master Musicians Festival, where it will be auctioned in support of this popular summer event.

This year's festival includes headliner, Kentucky's own Dwight Yoakam, as well as other popular artists.

The use of Kentucky bourbon and walnut stains create a historical visual reference to Kentucky's roots in the American musical landscape. Painted from the perspective angle of the fan, the work captivates the viewer with color, transporting them to a setting of excitement, energy and sound.

"McFerron's style is born of his life in Kentucky. Raised in the company of farmers, coal miners and stone masons, McFerron honed his craft to reflect the individualism that permeates the Kentucky back country. Simple, honest and straightforward, his paintings tell a story that people do not soon forget. His adroitness, in creating images of art that prompt memories and thoughts that can be both haunting and auspicious at the same time, is a rare quality," said Honorable Jeffrey T. Burdette, Brodhead Fire Department responded to a trailer fire Monday morning around 3 a.m. on Fort Harrod Road in Brodhead. Authorities say the home belonged to Franklin McClure and that he was inside the residence at the time of the fire. McClure was transported to Rockcastle Regional Hospital where he was treated for non-life threatening injuries and later released. The cause of the fire is unknown. The home is considered a total loss. BVFD was assisted by Mount Vernon Fire Department, Western Rockcastle Fire Department and Crab Orchard Fire Department.

Hidden Among Us

By Karen Hamm Adams

To celebrate and honor the county's American

Revolutionary War Patriots and to enlighten the community about the service and sacrifice of these brave men, on behalf of the Rockcastle Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, I have compiled highlights of the service of the known patriots living in the county and who applied for a pension between the years of 1818 and 1842. All information was taken from the patriot's own account from his pension application and other historical documents. More information can be found on each patriot at local library or the Rockcastle Historical Society. (Copyright Pending). If you are interested in joining the Daughters of the American Revolution or the Children of American Revolution, please contact Debbie Brown (606) 758-8659 or Iris Young (606) 256-2851.

Joel Watson - Virginia

Joel Watson is somewhat of a mystery. There are very few records of any kind about this man. The only record of his service during the American Revolution is found in the pension application of Rockcastle County Patriot, John Ham. In 1824, Mr. Watson gave an affidavit on behalf of John Hamstating that he was acquainted with John in the Continental Army in Virginia. He served under General Greene in North Carolina and was a soldier in the Army under Colonel Daniel Morgan's Rifle Regiment. He is not in the muster rolls nor did he apply for a pension of his own.

It is believed by some researchers that he was born about 1764 in North Carolina. He would later move to Virginia. Joel is listed in the 1810 Census living in Washington Co. VA with his wife and four sons and four daughters. After the Revolution, Joel migrated to Kentucky. He is listed in the 1819 Tax List of Rockcastle owning one horse with value of $40.00. In 1820, Joel is listed owning 80 acres on Negro Creek and three horses listing total value of $250.00. He is listed in the tax records of Rockcastle through 1825. The only Joel Watson in the 1830 Census is Joel's son, Joel Jr. living in Rockcastle County.

Joel's death date and final resting place is unknown to this researcher.

Joel and his unnamed spouse produced at least eight children. Only three names of those children have been found. Mary Watson (1790 VA-23 March 1857 Rockcastle Co. KY) married Samuel Carson (1783 VA-1847 Rockcastle Co. KY) in 1827. Samuel was the grandson of Patriot, James Dysart. She died from cancer. Samuel is buried at the Rock Springs Church Cemetery in Rockcastle Co. KY. It is thought that Mary is also in that cemetery in an unmarked grave. They had at least three children. William Watson (1795 VA-October 1852 Rockcastle Co. KY) was married and had at least nine children. Joel Watson Jr. (1801- Garrard Co. KY) was married and had at least six children (listed in the 1840 Census living in Garrard Co. KY).

As to date, no descendant of Joel Watson has joined the Daughters of the American Revolution. He would be considered a new Patriot for the Society.

RCHS Student Council closing out school year with major positive impacts

By Kelsey Mattingly

At Rockcastle County High School there are several clubs and extra-curricular activities available to students. Among them is one that requires rigorous time and attention from its student representatives for the betterment of the school experience for its students.

History teacher Herbie Brock is finishing out his fifth year as the sponsor of the Rockcastle County High School Student Council. Eight representatives (two per grade level) that were hand selected based on an application and interview process, serve on the council and act as a voice for the entire student body and liaisons between peers and the administration.

Thus far, the Student Council has accomplished several goals that were brought to their attention by the student body, the most popular being the implementation of two new dances at RCHS.

The Sadie Hawkins Dance and Homecoming Dance were added following a request from the administration to implement a dance policy, one of the council members said.

"The new dance policy was requested by the RCHS Administration when we proposed having more school dances. We researched dance policies at other schools and penned a policy that addresses the issues at our dances," said senior council representative, Anna Poynter.

The RCHS Student Council didn't stop their efforts once they had accomplished their goal of increasing school dances for their peers.

"We've also secured a grant from a local organization that we are going to use to purchase two water bottle filling stations to place in the high school," said senior council representative, Shelby Ponder.

The installation of these filtration systems will decrease plastic water bottle waste within the school, allowing students to recycle and refill their bottles with clean water.

In addition to the outstanding accomplishments the RCHS Student Council has made this year alone, they are in the process of establishing an honor roll system to recognize and encourage hardworking students, as well as adding items to the a la carte selection at lunch.

The recent success of the Student Council is undoubtedly due to the hard work of their caring and encouraging sponsor, Herbie Brock, who has been working with the council for five years to implement a "Bring Your Own Device" policy.

"We have helped in getting more technology per student with the addition of labs and mobile labs. The hesitation toward BYOD is more a result of numerous obstacles that the administration has faced and less about their not seeing the potential benefits of it," Brock said.

The council is still working to increase student access to technology and plans on doing so until there is full access to technology in the classroom.

As for the future of the RCHS Student Council, representative Shelby Ponder weighed in on her hopes for the council following the graduation of she and other senior representative Anna Poynter.

"Next year and in the years to come, I hope the Student Council will take care of any unfinished business from this year, because we often times have too many ideas and projects to take on at one time. I hope that the Student Council can find an effective way to spread the word about the awesome things we've already done and have yet to do, because the most vital part of our organization is our constituency, and most of them have no idea what we're doing."

PUBLIC NOTICE

Rockcastle County Fiscal Court in conjunction with the Kentucky Association of Counties (KACo), and the Kentucky League of Cities (KLC) will be accepting bids via a Reverse Online Auction on May 6, 2015 at 11am Eastern (10am Central) time for the purchase of road salt for the respective road department.

For bid participation/registration and specification contact Orbis Online at 210-831-6070 or log onto www.orbisonline.com or contact Scott Martin with KACo at 800-264-5226.

Rockcastle County Fiscal Court reserves the right to reject/accept any and all bids. Bids will be accepted online only.

ATTENTION:

The following is an invitation to bid on the harvesting of the hay from the property belonging to the Rockcastle County Industrial Development Authority (RCIDA) located on Hwy. 150 known as Rockcastle Business Park South for two harvests during the months of May-September 2015. The subject property is approximately 42 acres. The contract will be awarded to the highest per acre bidder (based on 42 acres). The contract for the hay is subject to the following terms and conditions:

The hay must be cut 1 time in May -June 2015 and 1 time in August-September 2015;

Once the hay is cut, it must be moved from the field within 2 weeks (weather permitting);

Any area that cannot be mowed for hay, must be bush hogged within 2 weeks; No member or direct family member of the Rockcastle County Industrial Development Authority or the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court is eligible to bid on the contract;

In the event the RCIDA sells a portion of the property to an industrial prospect in the middle of the contract, the person awarded the contract would be refunded monies on a pro-rata basis. Example: the person awarded the contract bids $1 per acre and has paid the RCIDA $40 and hasn't cut the hay yet. The RCIDA sells 10 acres, the person awarded the contract would be refunded $10 or if the hay had been cut once the person would be refunded half of the pro rata amount or in the case of this example $5;

The successful bidder will be required to pay the contract amount in full by May 8, 2015.

Incomplete bid sheets, unsigned bid sheets or bid sheets that are returned not sealed in an envelope will not be accepted. No late bids will be accepted.

All bid sheets should be sealed in an envelope and returned to: Attention: Holly Hopkins, Executive Director, Rockcastle County Industrial Development Authority at the RCIDA Office, located on the 3rd floor of the Rockcastle County Courthouse by 11:00 a.m. on Monday, May 4, 2015. Bid sheets should be returned in person. If no one is available in the RCIDA Office, please leave at the County Judge/Executive's office on the 2nd floor.

The bids will be opened at 11:45 a.m. on Monday, May 4, 2015 by Holly Hopkins.

The successful bidder will be notified via the contact information provided below if not present at the RCIDA Monthly Meeting on Monday, May 4, 2015 at 11:30 a.m. In the event that the successful bidder becomes in default of one of the above mentioned terms and conditions at any time during the term of this contract, the contract will be taken from that person and awarded to the next highest bidder.

I _____, agree to all of the terms and conditions

PARENT SBDM NOMINATION FORM

April 2015

Parent members of the SBDM Council must be the parent, stepparent, or foster parent, of a child who will be enrolled at the school during the term of office. Legal guardians are also considered parents if the child lives with them. Parent members may not have a conflict of interest as defined by KRS Chapter 45A, which deals with doing business with the district. They must not be Brodhead Elementary School or Central Office employees, relatives of Brodhead Elementary School or Central Office employees, and members of the district school board or spouse of district school board member.
Parents employed at other schools in our district and their relatives may serve as parent members of our council. For this purpose "relative" is defined as either a "father, mother, brother, sister, husband, wife, son, daughter, aunt, uncle, son-in-law, or daughter-in-law."

The Parent Teacher organization shall oversee the election of two parents to serve on the council. These parents shall be selected during the month of May each year. All parents (except those previously excluded) who will have children attending Brodhead Elementary School during their term shall be eligible to be elected to serve on the council. All parents who will have children attending the school are eligible to vote in the parent elections.

The term of office begins on July 1, 2015 and ends on June 30, 2016.

All terms of office for teachers and parent council members shall be for one year with re-election permitted as long as they meet the eligibility requirements. No term limits shall be imposed on members who are nominated and elected to consecutive one-year terms. (KRS 160.345)

If you would like to nominatesomeone, please contact that individual to see if they would be willing to serve. Then complete the information below and return this form to Ms. Satica Morgan by Thursday, April 30, no later than 3:30 pm.

Election will be held Thursday, May 7, at 4:00 in the school cafeteria.

Summer entertaining ideas to help keep your cool

(StatePoint) Hosting warm weather gatherings is a perfect way to spend time with friends and family in summer. Reduce stress by following these four simple tips for a great summer soiree that both you and your guests will enjoy.

Pick a Theme
Get started by choosing a theme for your summer celebration. A defined focus will allow you to quickly narrow down menu and décor selections. Easy ideas include seasonally inspired concepts, like Christmas in July; location-specific parties, such as a Hawaiian luau or Parisian café; and era themes, like the Roaring Twenties.

Streamline Your Menu
Looking for recipes that require little prep work but are sure to please? Consider whipping up a large batch of seasonal appetizers, such as guacamole, a yogurt-based vegetable dip or a cold soup.

Make a style statement by serving them in glass shooters with chips, veggies or pita bread for perfectly sized servings. Slow-cook a few chicken breasts ahead of time that can be shredded and quickly tossed with a delicious sauce for healthy sliders.

When selecting desserts, use seasonal ingredients. A mixture of sliced fruits pairs well with pieces of shortcake on skewers that can be assembled ahead of time. Sorbets are also simple to make in a blender and only require a few ingredients -- fruit, ice and a sweetener. By choosing recipes that allow you to prep some elements ahead of time, you'll find yourself with more time to mix and mingle.

Select a Useful Kitchen Sidekick

When fixing your menu, a must-have kitchen partner is a high-performance blender that does all the hard work for you. One versatile option, the Vitamix Professional Series 750, features five pre-programmed settings, including programs for smoothies and frozen desserts, helping reduce prep time and cleanup, and allowing you to create a variety of delicious party recipes.

With a Vitamix you can much more easily chop ingredients for gazpachos, salsas and coleslaws; achieve a silky smooth texture for hummus and spreads; emulsify vinaigrettes and marinades; quickly prepare seasonal sorbets; and even blend frothy frozen beverages.

Make Beverages a Breeze

Ensure your guests have easy access to drinks and will avoid running for refills, by setting up a station with pre-mixed, thirst-quenching beverages housed in large glass or plastic dispensers. This station will help you create a central beverage zone and get imaginative with drink concoctions.

Mixtures of lemonades or flavor-infused waters are the perfect combination for keeping everyone cool on a warm day. For a more unique approach, let guests personalize drinks with flavored simple syrups, frozen fruits and -- for added flair -- frozen herb ice cubes, which are a great way to add refreshing flavors. Complete the beverage station by labeling the drink options with small chalkboard signs and display a collection of seasonal cups and colorful straws.

With just a bit of creative planning and pre-event prep work, you'll be ready to host stress-free parties and enjoy more time with your guests this summer.

Terms:

The sale shall be made subject to all easements, set back lines, restrictions or covenants of record or otherwise and shall be sold "as is". Each surveyed tract shall be sold separately or may be combined with any other tract in the event Ford Brothers, Inc. sells the real property under a multi-parcel format.

The auction shall take place on the premises and the tracts' order of sale shall be determined by Ford Brothers.

The real property shall be sold for cash or upon credit of 30 days with the purchaser required to pay a minimum of twenty percent (20%) of the purchase price in cash on the date of the sale and to secure the balance with a bond bearing interest at the rate of then percent (10%) per annum.

Unpaid taxes or liens of record at the time of entry of judgment shall be paid out of the proceeds of the sale (subject to the priority set out elsewhere in this judgment).

The purchaser shall pay the year 2015 Local, County, State and School taxes and all subsequent years on the property.

The purchaser(s) shall have possession of the real property upon compliance with the terms of the sale.

In the event the plaintiff is the successful bidder and the sale price does not exceed the amount of the plaintiff's judgment, no deposit or bond shall be required and the property will be conveyed to the plaintiff in due season upon payment of the expense of the sale.

Mulch, mold and fungi

Tom Mills

Rockcastle County Extension Office

Mulch can be beneficial in many ways on plant beds, around foundation shrubs and other gardening locations in your yard, but mold can threaten its benefits.

In landscape beds and gardens, mulch helps control weeds, prevent extreme soil temperature fluctuation, decrease water evaporation and improve drainage. Mulch also reduces mower and string trimmer damage on shrubs and trees by suppressing vegetation near their trunks. As it decomposes, mulch produces organic materials to improve soil and otherwise benefit plants.

You need to periodically re-apply mulch to continually get these benefits.

Slime molds are more unsightly than harmful.

They don't cause plant diseases and aren't parasitic. Slime mold spores usually appear from late spring to fall. Abundant wet weather stimulates above-ground appearance of these fungi that initially appear slimy but quickly become dry and powdery when converting into spore masses. You'll often see slime molds quickly appear and usually disappear in one to two weeks. They tend to reproduce in the same location every year.

Fungicide use isn't recommended because slime molds aren't harmful.

When mulch hasn't been composted, it might contain fungi that cause plant diseases. This situation is rare, however, and only occurs in non-composted mulch. Plant material fertility problems can arise when fungi in decomposing mulch remove nitrogen from the soil.

Insufficient moisture problems can develop when fungi permeate thick layers of dry mulch creating a surface that's difficult for water to penetrate.

To gain the most benefit, you should use composted mulch with a high bark content and little wood material. Avoid finely ground, woody products that haven't been composted.

If you buy fresh wood chips from a tree-maintenance firm, add water to the chips and allow them to partially compost for about six weeks. If this material doesn't have fresh leaves, you can add some nitrogen to speed up the process. Avoid using fresh or partially composted wood chips near the house foundation because they can provide a food source for termites.

Immediately after you put mulch around plants or trees, soak it with water to enhance bacterial activity to initiate decomposition. Periodically wet mulch during the growing season.

Avoid soured mulch because it tends to injure plants. You can spot sour mulch by its acrid odor.

CABBAGE AND MEATBALLS
SAUTÉ in a large skillet:
2 tablespoons butter
1 onion, finely sliced
ADD to the onion mixture and cook for 10 minutes
1 can (10 ounce) tomato soup
1 can water
2 cups chopped tomatoes
1/2 cup sliced celery
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon sugar
Juice of one lemon
WASH and slice one head of green cabbage. Boil or steam until tender. Add to above sauce. MIX together in a large bowl:
1 pound lean ground beef
1 cup cooked white rice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Form meat mixture into balls with a tablespoon. Place into greased casserole dish. Pour sauce over meatballs. Cover tightly. Bake at 350° for 45 to 60 minutes.

KRISTIE'S CABBAGE SALSA
This recipe is courtesy of Jeff Williams and his wife. Jeff and I worked at Atlantic Credit Union in Malvern, Pennsylvania. As a matter of fact, he is the one who taught me all I know about being a teller. Adjust the amount of jalapeños to reflect your own taste. The quantity of tomatoes varies by size of cabbage.

Head of cabbage, shredded
1 or 2 cloves of garlic, finely minced
1 jalapeño finely, chopped
Juice of 1 or 2 limes
1 red onion finely, chopped
Plum Tomatoes, seeded and chopped
Cilantro to taste
Mix everything together. Add salt to taste
FRIED CABBAGE
This is my favorite way to cook cabbage. Mum and I both liked this almost burnt.
6 slices bacon
Salt
1 head green cabbage, shredded
Pepper
1 t. sugar, if desired
Wash cabbage and cut in half. Slice cabbage as thinly as possible (as if to make cole slaw). Fry bacon until crispy and fat has been rendered. Remove from skillet. Add cabbage to skillet. Sprinkle with sugar (if desired), salt and pepper. Over medium heat, fry for 10 to 15 minutes, stirring occasionally, until cabbage is tender and browned. Crumble bacon over fried cabbage and serve.

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet!

Some things to think about...

What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?

Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.

Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?

A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildew, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.

Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?

C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again. Promoting the life of the carpet.
Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

Commonwealth Attorney announces thirteen cases resolved in March

Commonwealth Attorney Eddy Montgomery's office recently announced that 13 court cases were resolved in Rockcastle Circuit Court during the month of April.

According to Assistant Commonwealth Attorney Jeremy Bartley, 13 cases were resolved during motion hour on Friday, April 10th.

Cases resolved were:

Terry Cromer, 50, of Mt. Vernon pled guilty to trafficking in a controlled substances. Bartley recommended a sentence of five years to run consecutive with other charges for a total of eight years imprisonment.

Aaron Blackburn, 37, of Owensboro pled guilty to third degree burglary. The commonwealth attorney's office recommended a sentence of four years and sentencing was set for Friday, May 8th.

Robert Christoffel, 66, of Brodhead was sentenced to one year imprisonment for theft.

Laurel County man arrested after finding human remains near Roundstone Creek

By: Doug Ponder

A Laurel County man has been arrested for tampering with physical evidence after he found human remains last Thursday night along Roundstone Creek near Livingston.

According to state police reports, Bruce Lee Smith, 31, of East Berndstadt told officers he was mushroom hunting along Roundstone Creek when he found what he believed to be skeletal remains. Officers later learned that Smith reportedly took a skeletal bone from the scene and he was in possession of it when they met with him last Friday afternoon.

Smith told officers that he found the skeletal bone in a different location and that he believed the bone was not human remains. However, Rockcastle County Coroner Marvin Owens told officers that he believed the skeletal remains were "human."

When officers asked Smith to show them where he found the skeletal bone he had in his possession, he refused to show them. Smith was then arrested and

Storm causes damage and brings large hail to county

By: Doug Ponder

An unusual storm system moved through the state last Saturday, bringing golf ball size hail to several sections of Rockcastle County.

The National Weather Service issued a thunderstorm warning and a tornado warning for Rockcastle County last Saturday afternoon as the storm blew through the county.

The NWS reported .25 inch hail in Mt. Vernon with larger size hail in northern Rockcastle County. The largest hail was reported in Boyle County at 3 inches in diameter, which is considered baseball size.

Several Rockcastle Countians posted pictures of the hail and hail damage to their vehicles on social media sites. Some Rockcastle Countians even shared pictures and videos on social media sites of what they believed to be funnel clouds. The NWS reported no tornadoes in the county but recorded winds of up to 40 mph.

CSEPP Director Hal Holbrook said he visited areas of northern Rockcastle County and didn't notice any major damage. He said Rockcastle 911 only received one report of hail last Saturday night on Copper Creek Road in northern Rockcastle County.

"I drove through the Conway area and other areas in the northern end of the county on Sunday," Holbrook said. "People have been reporting hail damage to cars but I didn't notice any major damage."

Holbrook went on to say that Rockcastle County was spared from the worst of the storm that rolled through the state.

"There were some insurance companies that set up tents in parking lots in Berea so they could better help people with storm damage. There was also some 'dent doctors' coming in to Berea to fix vehicles with hail damage," Holbrook said. "We might have had some damage but we were fortunate not to get the amount of damage that was reported in the rest of the state."

National Day of Prayer is May 7th

The 64th annual National Day of Prayer service is next Thursday at noon on the courthouse lawn.

The theme for this year's observance will be "Lord Hear Our Cry." The scripture passage will be from 1 Kings 8:28 "Hear the cry and the prayer that your servant is praying in your presence this day."

Guest speaker will be Norm Brock, pastor of First Baptist Church in East Berndstadt. Special music will be provided by Zach Rice of Corbin.

Lunch will be served by the Kiwanis Club following the service.

The event is sponsored by the Rockcastle Association of Kentucky Baptists and the public is invited to attend.

Drug Czar Michael Botticelli visiting county next week

The Director of the White House Office of National Drug Control Policy (ONDCP) will visit Rockcastle County High School next Wednesday.

White House ONDCP Michael Botticelli and U.S. Representative Hal Rogers will speak in the RCHS auditorium at 9 a.m.

Botticelli was originally scheduled to visit RCHS in February but the event had to be cancelled because of inclement weather.

UNITE is also hosting their "Celebrate Successes" luncheon next Tuesday. Botticelli, Rogers and Corporation for National and Community Service CEO Wendy Spencer will all be at the event.

The free event is at the ECU Campus in Manchester and everyone is invited to attend. The event will begin at 11 a.m.

The White House ONDCP is often known as the "drug czar" throughout the country.

Botticelli is a former deputy director of the ONDCP. He became acting director following Gil Kerlikowske's resignation after Kelikowske was appointed commissioner of U.S. Customs and Border Protection.

As White House ONDCP Director, Botticelli is responsible for the National Drug Control Strategy which outlines efforts to reduce drug use, drug related crime and violence, manufacturing and trafficking of drugs and drug-related health consequences. The strategy places an emphasis on community-based prevention programs, diverting non-violent drug offenders into treatment instead of jail and expanding access to substance abuse treatment.

For more information about the events contact UNITE at 606-330-1400 or unite@centertech.com.

Brodhead Fire Department responded to a house fire last Thursday on Arvil Lane in the Copper Creek community. Authorities say the home belonged to Eugene Chasten and that the house was already engulfed in flames before firefighters arrived. The home is considered a total loss. No one was injured in the fire. BVFD was assisted by Mount Vernon Fire Department and Brindle Ridge Volunteer Fire Department.

Human remains were discovered last Thursday night along Roundstone Creek near Livingston. Authorities say the skeletal remains were scattered along the creek bank within a 100 to 150 foot area. Officials believe the skeletal remains were old and had been in the location along the creek bank for several years. The remains were sent to the State Medical Examiner's Office to be examined by a forensic pathologist who will be able to identify the remains and the preliminary cause of death. The results are expected later this week or next week.

charged with tampering with physical evidence. He remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $15,000 cash/property bond. Officers noted that Smith is not a suspect in the death investigation of the human remains.

After further investigation, officers discovered several other skeletal remains scattered along the creek bank within a 100 to 150 foot area.

KSP Public Affairs Officer Lloyd Cochran said that they believed the skeletal remains were “old” and that they had been in the location along the creek bank for several years. He said investigators also found tattered clothing along the creek bank but they are not sure if the clothing is associated with the human remains found.

Cochran said they also found teeth at the scene and are hoping that the remains can be identified through dental records. He said that the remains were sent to the State Medical Examiner's Office to be examined by a forensic pathologist.

Cochran went on to say they expect the identification of the human remains and the preliminary cause of death to be released later this week or next week.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

City of Livingston Visitors Center/Community Center Renovation Project

To all interested citizens of Livingston, Kentucky:

The Kentucky Department for Local Government is accepting applications under the 2015 Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program. The City of Livingston intends to apply for assistance for renovating the Mullin's Building as a Community Center, as well as completing various goals within the current Visitor's Center. The County will hold a public hearing prior to the submission of the application. The public hearing will be held on Monday, May 11 at 5pm (EST) at the Livingston Visitors Center, Main Street, Livingston, KY 40445.

The purpose of this hearing is to obtain views on public facilities and community development needs, review proposed activities, review the proposed application, and solicit public comments. Technical assistance is available to help groups representing low and moderate income persons in developing proposals.

The following information concerning the CDBG program is available for public inspection at the Office of the Mayor during regular business hours from 9:00 AM – 4:00 PM as follows:

Amount of funds available and range of activities that may be undertaken.

Estimated amounts of funds proposed to be used for activities benefiting persons of low and moderate income.

If applicable, plans for minimizing displacement of persons as a result of activities associated with CDBG funds and plans for providing assistance to those persons to be actually displaced as a result of CDBG-funded activities.

Records regarding the past use of CDBG funds.

A summary of other important program requirements.

Comments on Application

A copy of the CDBG application material will be on file with the Office of the Mayor for citizens' review and comment during regular business hours from April 30 through May 14. Comments on the proposed application may be submitted to the attention of the Mayor, until 4:00 PM on May 14, 2015.

Discrimination Clause

The City of Livingston does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, age, religion or disability, and provides, upon request, reasonable accommodation, including auxiliary aids and services, to afford an individual with a disability an equal opportunity to participate in all services, programs and activities. Any persons requiring special needs assistance should contact the County at (502) 543-2262 at least 48 hours prior to the meeting. Deaf and hard of hearing may contact the County through the Kentucky Relay Service by Voice at 711 and 1-800-648-6057 or TTY at 1-800-648-6056.

INSPECTION PERIOD FOR THE PROPERTY TAX ASSESSMENT ROLL

The Rockcastle County real property tax roll will be opened for inspection from May 4 through May 18, 2015. Under the supervision of the property valuation administrator or one of the deputies, any person may inspect the tax roll.

This is the January 1, 2015 assessment on which state, county and school taxes for 2015 will be due about September 15, 2015.

The tax roll is in the office of the property valuation administrator in the county courthouse and may be inspected between the hours of 8:00 am and 4:00 pm.

Any taxpayer desiring to appeal an assessment on real property made by the PVA must first request a conference with the PVA or a designated deputy. The conference may be held prior to or during the inspection period.

After the conference with the PVA or designated deputy, any taxpayer still aggrieved by an assessment on real property may appeal to the county board of assessment appeals.

The taxpayer can appeal his assessment by filing in person or sending a letter or other written petition stating the reasons for appeal, identifying the property and stating the taxpayer's opinion of the fair cash value of the property.

The appeal must be received in the county clerk's office no later than one work day following the conclusion of the inspection period.

A taxpayer failing to appeal to the county board of assessment appeals, or failing to appear before the board, either in person or by designated representative, will not be eligible to appeal directly to the Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals.

Appeals of personal property assessments shall not be made to the county board of assessment appeals. Personal property taxpayers shall be served notice under the provisions of KRS 132.450(4) and shall have the protest and appeal rights granted under the provisions of KRS 131.110.

The following steps should be taken when a taxpayer does not agree with the assessed value of personal property as determined by the office of property valuation administrator.

- (1) He must list under protest (for certification) what he believes to be the fair cash value of his property.
- (2) He must file a written protest directly with the Department of Revenue, Office of Property Valuation within 30 days from the date of the notice of assessment.
- (3) This protest must be in accordance with KRS 131.110.
- (4) The final decision of the Department of Revenue may be appealed to the Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals.

Cemetery Notices

McKinney Cemetery

The McKinney Cemetery's annual potluck dinner and meeting will be held Sunday, May 24th at approximately 1 p.m. at the shelter. Everyone is invited to bring a covered dish and lawn chair to visit with family and friends.

Either during the dinner, or right after, there will be a meeting to elect two committee members to the board. Everyone with an interest in the cemetery is eligible to vote.

The cemetery committee is asking for donations for the mowing/maintenance fund and upkeep of the cemetery. This is the only way we have to provide for the mowing and upkeep and we hope that family and friends will be generous and help support our endeavor to keep the cemetery well maintained.

If you are not able to attend decoration or the potluck, you can make a donation to the mowing fund or the savings account to be placed in the CD when it is due to renew any time by mailing it to McKinney Cemetery Committee, P.O. Box 1691, Mt. Vernon, Ky. 40456.

Please indicate where you want your donation to be made - to the mowing fund or the savings account.

Hope to see everyone there.

An encouraging word:

The Foundation Stone of Society

By Howard Coop

In recent months, much has happened from Ferguson, Missouri to New York City and other places across the nation that has provoked a lot of serious discussion about the root cause of these events. In those discussions, some have attributed these events to the breakdown of family life, and there is good reason for this attribution. All known facts indicate that there are more and more broken families in our society and more and more children are growing up in single parent homes. This phenomenon has diminished the molding influence of good parents, and the result is observable in society.

Across the years the family has been regarded as the strength of the nation, and if it breaks down, the result is weakness. Lee

Iacocca was right when he said, "The only rock I know that stays steady, the only institution I know that works, is the family."

If the basic foundation stone upon which society is founded is weak, the structure built upon it is weak. Therefore, everything possible must be done to strengthen the family.

When I was active, the week preceding Mother's Day was set aside and observed as Christian Family Week.

That observance was a reminder of two things: "It is (the) primary responsibility (of) parents to raise children who will make a difference in the world" and "Parents need to be intentional about the family they are building."

Although the week is still noted on some calendars, I do not remember a single time since I retired that Christian Family Week has been mentioned.

But an annual observance that stresses the importance of the family is not enough. As Michael J. Fox said, "Family is not an important thing. It's everything."

Therefore, everything possible must be done to strengthen the foundation stone of society. A. P. J. Abdul Kalam, President of India from 2002 to 2007, said, "If a country is to be corruption free and a nation of beautiful minds, I strongly feel there are three key societal members who can make a difference. They are the fathers, the mothers and the teachers."

Began our summer league last night at Galaxy Lanes in Richmond. We wound up with four "family" teams - Paige and Spencer chose golfing league over us, can you believe it?

Hopefully, I will wind up just subbing. Had to bowl this week because Travis's wife, Laura, had to stay home with their boys because they have an early bedtime until school is out.

Jim and I always kept it simple, the children kept going until fatigue overtook them and we picked them up from wherever they dropped and put them to bed. See, no fuss.

I don't really think I can make it as a regular though. It is a two person team and you bowl on two lanes against another team. It is a no-tap league which means if you get nine pins on the first ball, it's the same as a strike. We bowled three games in one hour and fifteen minutes, mainly because a man on the team we were bowling against only had about four frames in three games where he didn't either have an actual strike or nine pins.

Travis and I took longer although in the last game, Travis only had one frame that wasn't a strike and it was a spare for a whopping 278 score -- that's also the only game we won. No, I'm not telling you my score that game. Suffice it to say that my high game was the second one, a 166, even with nine pins on the first ball counting as a strike -- it didn't help.

Travis thought I was kidding when I said that next week, I will have to take an oxygen tank to get me through bowling three games that quickly.

I got home in time to catch Megyn Kelly's show which again detailed the goings-on in Baltimore.

It's heartbreaking to see, and a little scary, although Tuesday night's events were much calmer, mainly due to the arrival of the National Guard and a curfew.

The riots began after the death of a 25-year-old black man from injuries sustained while in police custody. Of course, that is inexcusable and, hopefully, an investigation will determine exactly what happened and keep it from ever happening again.

However, there is no excuse for the rampaging, pillaging and destruction of private property that has been going on in Baltimore, primarily in poorer neighborhoods where most inhabitants are hanging on by their fingernails anyway.

I believe in supporting law enforcement and I also believe that 99.9% of our law officers are in the profession primarily because they want to help people, to make a difference. Are there some bad apples? Of course there are just as there are bad apples in every profession.

But that doesn't excuse mindless lawlessness, egged on, no doubt, by Baltimore's mayor saying that rioters would be given "space to destroy" to vent their anger. She later emphatically denied saying it but she was on tape. Perhaps she misspoke but why not just say, "I misspoke" instead of doubling down with a denial?

I would be of no help whatsoever in resolving this situation since I have no experience with dealing with this kind of anger and lawlessness but I do know I was raised by parents who taught me respect for the law and for my fellowman which would keep me from ever acting out in this manner.

T.J.'s Journal

My Trip to Lexington

Dear Journal,

Well, the day had finally arrived. I had an appointment for about six months to have an MRI and see my surgeon to determine if my brain tumor had returned. The day of the report was here.

We got to the UK Medical Center complex and I had the MRI. It is never a pleasant experience. I got sick on the contrast dye they gave me per IV. In a short while, I saw my surgeon. He had read the MRI report and said that he didn't see a thing on my brain. Others had suspected the same thing for years. What a relief! I knew everything was probably fine, but there was always a chance it wasn't.

By this time, Stanley and I were starved. Where to eat? We ended up at a little place we had found called Max's Loudon Square Buffet. It has been a fixture in Lexington for many years. It isn't the fanciest place you could go, but it has good, homestyle food at a very reasonable price. They rely on not only new customers, but old regulars. I noticed that quite a few customers knew each other. They chatted and greeted others as they entered.

Ride Away

Have you seen the TV commercial where a chicken hops into a railroad boxcar and heads west? The "free ranging" chicken sends photo postcards home to his owners. Kat and I find it an amusing advertisement, a rarity it seems. Anyway, during the ad, I also heard a familiar sound in the background that was most distinguishable. I remarked to my wife, "Is that Roy Orbison singing on that commercial?" She replied, "It has to be!"

As I have likely mentioned a dozen times or more, there is probably no bigger fan of Roy than I am. But there was something amiss. Neither of us recognized the song that he was singing in this ad. Wow. You've got to be kidding. There is a song by Roy Orbison that I have never heard? Surely not. I was certain that my music collection contained them all.

It began when I was a teenager, of course. Roy (Yes, I call him "Roy." I may not have known him personally, but I certainly feel as if I did.) has always been my favorite early rock-and-roll star. My most preferred song of his is "Only the Lonely," which was released in 1960. I sang that song through all my days at Mt. Vernon High School. Even the music critics of the time recognized it as something special. They referred to it as an operatic rock ballad because of his unique voice and that particular sound which had yet to be heard in rock music.

Once we determined that the name of the Orbison song in the Geico commercial must be "Ride Away," I had to do a music search on iTunes to be able to find out if it was available. (It is. Yeah!) It was released as a single from his album called There Is Only One Roy Orbison, which released in July of 1965. I could not believe that there was an Orbison song that I did not recognize or have in my collection! I have had all of his music for a very long time -- or at least I thought I did.

I was shocked to learn that the song had climbed the Top 100 charts in 1965, reaching the number 25 slot. I know that my mind is slipping these days, but I generally have a very good memory. And yet, I would have sworn that I had never heard that tune. Just goes to show that you don't always know what you think you know.

Of course, I downloaded "Ride Away" onto my computer almost immediately. I have been listening to it for days and days. (My wife

By Ike Adams

Elaine Adams tells me she has only found 230 morels (dry land fish/mushrooms) this year and doesn't really expect to find anymore there in her secret patch of woods in Laurel County. My little Brother, Steve, says that he has found 30, mostly around the edge of his yard there at Hotspot in Letcher County.

Steve said he'd actually found 31 but that he had left one standing "for seed." I told Steve that'd I'd bet good money that Elaine could come on his place, walk over where he'd already hunted, and find at least 30 more. The only other human with whom I've hunted dry land fish who was probably as sharp-eyed as Elaine at finding them was the late William McClure in Rockcastle County.

I have stood, elbow-to-elbow, deep in the early spring woods beside both of them and had them ask, "How many can you see from right here, right now?" Usually I could not see a single one while either Elaine or William would tell me they could see up to a dozen or more and then they would proceed to pick them. I have accused both that they were willing them to come up on the spot just to spite me.

One fellow, whose first name I have temporarily forgotten, but his last name was Linville and he lived in eastern Rockcastle County near the corner horn where it borders with both Jackson and Rockcastle County once had them (late 1970s-early 80s) coming up by the hundreds all over his yard and orchard.

Every year he would let half a dozen or so stand for a few days until they started to dry up. Then he would pick them, making sure he got the entire plant, bottom and all, freeze them hard as rocks, wrap them in a paper towel, still frozen, and pound them to smithereens with a butcher knife handle. Then he would scatter the tiny crumbs around his place and even tear the towel to shreds he hid under leaves in his fence row and in the orchard.

I'm not sure if that's the reason he had his own little dry land fish plantation but I do know that he repeated the process, year in and year out because I've watched him do it. I also know that he had far, far more in that one little acre spot than I've ever seen found in a 400-acre forest after an entire day of hunting with a team of experts.

William McClure, however, was dubious about propagating morels. William always told me to pick every one you can find because there's going to be that many more that you don't find and they're the ones that will make sure there's more in years to come. He believed that Mr. Linville asked me if I was going to “wear it out.) I find it astonishing that I do not remember these lonely verses: Two wheels a turnin’, One girl a yearnin’ Big motor burnin’ the road I’ll ride the highway. I’m going my way I’ll leave a story untold Pretty girls behind me but pretty girls are everywhere Big motor wind up, ride away from here ... She thinks she needs me, she cries for me But I know she’s lying, crying for others to see What can I say, I’ll just ride away Big motor run run ride away Ride on away from Heart-ache and misery I’m bound to wander, Way over yonder Someone be waitin’ just for me True love to cling to, I need a dream to share Someone to know me, someone to show me they care Ride away, ride away from tears and sorrow Like there’s no tomorrow Tonight I’ll ride away! After purchasing the song, I could not stop hitting “repeat” on my music player. After hearing the song multiple times, Kathy said, “Are you going to play that song all day?” I almost could. The story it tells is daunting and keeps playing in my mind. It is so easy to picture him sitting astride his Harley as he rides into the sunset looking for that particular girl:

I’m bound to wander Way over yonder Someone be waitin’ just for me.

Whenever I think about Roy Orbison, it brings back another bittersweet memory. I could never forget the day that Roy died. It was a Tuesday, December 6, 1989.

My late son, Todd, was 13 years old when called me from Nashville and said, “Dad, did you know that Roy Orbison died? I am so sorry! I know how much you loved him.” That was the kind of sweet and thoughtful child he was. He knew that, for me, this was like a personal loss, and he wanted to express his condolences. He was a good boy.

Roy collapsed at his mother’s home just before midnight. He had been preparing to issue his new CD called “Mystery Girl.” It was released posthumously a few weeks later. Roy was only 52. He did indeed “ride away.” But his music lives on forever.

had such an abundance because they had found a patch of ground they really loved and that they would keep coming back even if Mr. Linville hadn’t done a thing to help them along in the regeneration business.

Anyway, about 1990 or 91 or so, about this time of year, I went back to the Linville place and discovered that he had gone on over to that great dry land fish patch in the sky. His old house, little barn and orchard were long gone and a pretty little double-wide with a white picket fence sat on a graded-flat lot where his place had been. I didn’t even bother to stop and ask whomever was living there if they’d found any mushrooms because the shrooms would have had to sprout through several feet of disturbed soil. I doubt that they can do that.

My first experience with morels happened when I was in first or second grade. Mom’s cousin, McKinley (Kinley) Adams, his wife Ruth and only son, Ronnie, (my age) had just moved back to Blair Branch from rural, southern Indiana and our families had hiked to the top of the mountain for an Easter picnic/walkabout.

A mine road dead-ended at the edge of Pap’s (my Grandpa Mose Adams) old mountaintop apple orchard where the trees were all dead and rotting and Kinley spotted a morel (he called them cow teats). Somehow he convinced my parents that these things were not only good to eat, but, in fact a delicacy that could only be had in late March and April.

Mom had to watch him eat a couple to make sure they didn’t kill him before she was willing to try them, but once we found out how delicious they were, hunting mushrooms was my brother’s and my favorite thing to do this time of year.

We later discovered that just about everybody, besides us, on the holler knew about “cow teats” but kept the information to themselves because they didn’t want any competition when it came time to hunt for them.

I do know that on that Easter Sunday in 1954 or 55, Ronnie Adams and I lost all interest in hunting colored eggs because hunting the mushrooms was infinitely more fun than any sport the eggs had to offer. Only a day or two later I discovered that they tasted way, way better too.

I had never heard morels called dry land fish until I moved “down here” which is actually “up here” if you look at a map, but the hills aren’t nearly as high even when you can find one. But I soon caught on the fact that William called them by that name and I’ve gotten used to it even though Elaine looks at me sort of crooked when I say “dry land fish” because they are simply “morels” to her and need no nickname..

Still, if you slice them in half, roll them in corn meal and fry them golden d brown, they do taste remarkably like a bluegill fillet.

US 25 yard sale returns to Rockcastle County

Submitted
June 4, 5, 6 will be a busy weekend in the Rockcastle County area as the US 25 Yard Sale returns for the 4th time. Stretching 565 miles from Woodfin, N. C. & Clinton, Tennessee to Covington, Ky., this event has quickly become the nation's 4th longest yard sale event!

Our goal is to get folks off the interstates and get them to slow down and visit our downtowns. And we encourage people to have a huge yard sale to get folks to visit! Almost every city, village and town along the route participates.

Folks will have lots of choices for set up spots and shopping. It's an opportunity for non-profits, church and school groups to set up shop & make some money. If you'd like to participate, consult local officials as to permit requirements, set up legally and safely along or close to US 25, price it to sell and go for it! You will have more luck if you set up on at a site along the main road or use extra visible signage, because getting these shoppers off US 25 and down a side road will be tough. They're on a mission!

No use of the US25 right-of-way is permitted and those who set up to sell must control parking and are responsible for clean-up when you are finished. It is a free event. If you are renting out spots, we would recommend securing a modest-refundable clean-up fee from those you rent out to. Let us know on Facebook or via phone if you have rental spots available, as we get calls daily requesting rental spots for all areas. For info call 859-779-3005.

What sells?—just about anything old or vintage in good condition. Oddities, antiques, old farm and kitchen items, old records, tools, guns, hunting and fishing equipment all sell well. If you have lots of clothing, it should NOT be the focal point of the sale.

We need vendors—it's a great event for the seller—because there are lots of shoppers. Go to our Facebook page, "Like and Share" it and find info, hot spots lists and maps of the route at website address www.facebook.com/U.S.25YARDSALE"

We'll see ya'll there! ON US 25!

Cancer Survivors Dinner

Cancer Survivors: In honor of your battle against cancer, the 2015 Relay For Life of Rockcastle County would like to extend to you a special invitation to participate in our Survivor's Dinner. You are a personal testimony of the progress we're making in our fight to eradicate cancer!

Please join us Friday, May 15, 2015 at 5:30 p.m. at Rockcastle County Middle School for a dinner in your honor. Each Survivor is entitled to bring one guest to the dinner.

There is no cost for you or your guest to attend this celebration! All Survivors will receive a gift!

Please register by Tuesday, May 12 by calling Melissa Brock at 256-7703 or Jana Bray at 256-7880. We look forward to seeing you there!

P.S. The Relay For Life Opening Ceremony and Survivor Lap will begin at Rockcastle Middle School track at 7:00 p.m. after the dinner.

Remember and Honor those touched by cancer

It's one of the most inspirational moments at the American Cancer Society Relay For Life. The Luminaria ceremony offers everyone at Relay the opportunity to pay tribute to those who have faced cancer.

Your luminaria donation to the American Cancer Society will light the path for those walking through the night to fight back against cancer.

Would you like to honor or remember someone with a luminaria during the Relay For Life Luminaria Ceremony? Please complete the form below.

To see your luminaria, please join us at Relay For Life on Friday, May 15, 2015.

From Arbor Day

Tree-care booklet with $3 donation

The Arbor Day Foundation is offering a handy tree-care booklet designed to help people plant and care for trees.

Anyone can receive Conservation Trees, a user-friendly booklet featuring illustrations, colorful photos, and easily understood descriptions, by making a $3 donation to the Foundation this month.

"Conservation Trees is an ideal resource for tree planters," said Matt Harris, chief executive of the Arbor Day Foundation. "Taking care of existing trees is just as critical as planting new ones, and proper care ensures communities are able to fully enjoy the diverse benefits of urban forestry."

The booklet provides details about the right way to plant and prune trees. It also includes tips on using shade trees and windbreaks to save on energy costs, attract songbirds, and create a living snow fence.

To receive the Conservation Trees booklet, send a $3 check along with your name and address to Conservation Trees, Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska City, NE 68410, or order online at arborday.org/conservationtrees.

5 free regional basketball camps to be held in June

Five free regional Shoot Hoops Not Drugs basketball camps conducted by former University of Kentucky all-star Jeff Sheppard will be offered by Operation UNITE this summer. All school-age youth are invited to participate in any of the camps, to be held at the following dates and locations:

- Monday, June 8, at Magoffin County High School in Salyersville.
- Tuesday, June 9, at Prestonsburg High School.

• Thursday, June 11, at Jackson County High School in McKee.
• Tuesday, June 16, at Lynn Camp High School at Corbin in Knox County.
• Thursday, June 18, McCreary County Middle School in Stearns.
Each camp begins at 4 p.m. and concludes about 7 p.m. Participants are asked to arrive 30 minutes early for registration. (There is no advance registration.)

Shoot Hoops Not Drugs camps provide basketball skills instruction in conjunction with anti-drug and self-esteem messages. For safety and comfort while participating, youth are asked not to wear open-toe shoes or sandals. All participants will receive a free event T-shirt, regulation-sized signature basketball, food and water, and be entered into a drawing for two portable basketball goals given away at the conclusion of each camp (you must be present to win).

Presented by Ameritox, Shoot Hoops Not Drugs camps are fun, interactive and provide a safe, drug-free activity where children have an opportunity to interact with positive role models while learning fundamental basketball skills. In addition, parents and guardians will have an opportunity to attend a brief UNITE Foundation-sponsored education program on marijuana. Information on the signs, symptoms and dangers posed by prescription drugs will also be provided.

Golfers can hit the links with Lung Assoc. Golf Book

Perfect golfing weather has arrived in Kentucky, and the American Lung Association has a great offer for golfers who want to save money on their rounds.

It's the Kentucky Golf Tour Book, which includes discounts on more than 5,000 rounds of golf at over 250 fine facilities in Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee and Ohio. All Kentucky state park courses are included in the program.

Each participating golf course offers book holders a reduced rate on one or more rounds of golf; some courses permit one round a month; and 59 clubs allow unlimited play. The book also includes driving range and indoor golf discounts.

Golf Tour Books may be purchased for only $35 a piece or four for $105 – a buy 3, get 1 free "fabulous foursome special."

"As golfers hit the links this spring, they are looking for ways to save money so they can play more often," said Carolyn Embry, who coordinates Kentucky Golf Tour Book program for the American Lung Association. "The Golf Tour Book is packed with discounts for the golfer, while also saving lives by supporting lung disease research and other critical lung health programs," she said.

Savings apply throughout 2015, said Embry, who encourages people to pick up extra Golf Tour Books for family members and friends or for any special gift-giving occasions.

All proceeds from Golf Tour Book sales benefit the American Lung Association. Revenue generated from the program helps fund life-saving medical research; education; support groups for people with chronic lung ailments; and advocacy for public policy in support of the charity's mission to save lives by improving lung health and preventing lung disease.

Golf Tour Books may be ordered by calling the American Lung Association at 1-877-893-5864 or by sending a check to American Lung Association, P.O. Box 9067, Louisville, Kentucky 40209. They are also available at branches of AAA in Louisville, Elizabethtown, Owensboro, Bowling Green and Paducah or at the Benton Golf and Country Club in western Kentucky.

Rockcastle County Judge-Executive Doug Bishop threw out the ceremonial first pitches for each league to open the Rockcastle County Little League in Brodhead Monday night. Over 200 players from Rockcastle will take the field this season. Also pictured at left is RCLL President David Sargent.

The Horticultural/Greenhouse classes have been working very hard this semester to grow various types of plants. The types of plants are ferns, annuals, and hanging baskets. The greenhouse is located behind the high school. Hours are Monday-Friday from 3 p.m. - 4:30 p.m., and Saturday from 9 a.m. -12 p.m. The cost of these vary depending on each plant. The 4 inch pots cost $1.50, sets of 3 cost $1.50, the hanging baskets cost $12, and the ferns cost $18. All proceeds help support the local FFA. Pictured above are students Samantha Callahan, Hannah Prewitt, and Brianna Mink who are currently taking Greenhouse/Horticulture classes.

PEACH COBBLER

This is one of Will’s favorites. Whenever Judy knows that he will be coming to Mt. Vernon with me, she usually makes this for him. Don’t tell her, but, it is one of my favorites also. 3 cups canned peaches, sliced, undrained
1 cup milk
1 cup sugar
1 stick butter or margarine
1 cup self-rising flour
Pour peaches in medium saucepan. Heat until bubbles form around edges of pan. Do not boil. Turn off heat. Preheat oven to 350°. Put butter into a 9 x 13 cake pan. Put in oven until butter melts. In a bowl, mix sugar, milk, and flour together until smooth. Slowly pour batter over melted butter. Spoon peaches on top of batter and gently pour juice over peaches. Do not stir. Bake for 30 to 35 minutes. As it bakes, batter will rise to top and fruit will be on the bottom and peeking up through the batter.

NOTE: Can also use fresh peaches, hot sweetened blackberries, blueberries, or cherries.

STRAWBERRY CAKE

For most of my young life, Mum bought my birthday cake from Burke’s Bakery in Danville, Kentucky. After we moved away from Danville, I started asking Mum to fix this cake as my birthday cake.

1 box white cake mix
1 box (10 ounce) frozen strawberries, thawed
1/2 cup vegetable oil
1/2 cup water
2 eggs
1 box (3 ounce) strawberry Jello®
1 teaspoon vanilla
Preheat oven to 350°. Pour cake mix in large bowl. Chop strawberries, measure out 3/4 cup, add to cake mix along with oil and water, mixwell. Set aside remaining strawberries to use in frosting. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Add dry Jello® and vanilla; beat well. Pour into greased and floured 13 x 9 cake pan. Bake about 40 minutes at 350°. Cool.
FROSTING:
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 box (1 pound) powdered sugar
1 stick butter, room temperature
Combine confectionery sugar, butter and remaining strawberries in mixing bowl until well blended. Spread over warm cake.

TJ Comer visits Rockcastle...

Last Thursday, over 50 local Republicans attended a meet-and-greet with TJ Comer, wife of Commissioner of Agriculture and candidate for Governor James Comer, in support of her husband's campaign.

Rockcastle PVA Janet Vaughn introduced Comer who talked about how she and her husband first met, his record and accomplishments at the Kentucky Department of Agriculture, and his plans if elected Governor.

In addition to discussing the Comer for Governor Campaign, TJ Comer talked about her efforts to fight child hunger across Kentucky. She brought a donation, and invited guests to donate, to Rockcastle's Backpack Program.

The Primary Election is May 19th.

Pictured at top: TJ Comer presents Kim Hunter, and Angie Payne with the donations that were collected at the Comer for Governor event in Renfro Valley to benefit Rockcastle's Backpack Program.

State Auditor Report:

Rockcastle Regional example of financial strength among Kentucky's rural hospitals

State auditor Adam Edelen's special report last month on the financial strength of Kentucky's rural hospitals highlighted Rockcastle Regional Hospital and a Respiratory Care Center as a success story.

The study's purpose was to assess the financial strength of the state's hospital network to understand the challenges these organizations face in "an era of unprecedented transformation."

Each hospital's financial health was evaluated and given a score based on their performance in four key areas: profit margin, cash on hand, debit financing, and depreciation. The study found the financial condition of 68 percent of the rural hospitals in the state scored below the national average.

Rockcastle Regional was given a financial health rating of "good," ranking 12th in the state. There are 66 rural hospitals in the state, 22 of which either declined to participate in the study or didn't provide the type of information requested.

The auditor's report specifically mentioned Rockcastle Regional multiple times as an innovative rural hospital creating a niche for itself to maintain its financial strength.

"Other innovative solutions appear to play a role in hospitals that are not in poor fiscal shape. Rockcastle Regional Hospital, for example, serves a small community but has developed a specialty by providing ventilator-dependent care to patients with spinal cord injuries, genetic

To celebrate and honor the county's American Revolutionary War Patriots and to enlighten the community about the service and sacrifice of these brave men, on behalf of the Rockcastle Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, I have compiled highlights of the service of the known patriots living in the county and who applied for a pension between the years of 1818 and 1842. All information was taken from the patriot's own account from his pension application and other historical documents. More information can be found on each patriot at the local library or the Rockcastle Historical Society. (Copyright Pending). If you are interested

Jesse Williams

Maryland/Virginia

Jesse Williams was born 9 June 1750 in New Castle Co. Delaware and died 29 September 1835 in Rockcastle Co. KY. According to his pension application, Jesse gave the following account of his service on 28 August 1832 in Rockcastle Co. KY at the age of eighty two. He entered the service of the United States in the summer of 1776 while living in Baltimore Co. MD as a Private in the 9th Battalion of the Maryland Militia serving under Captain James Gittings and Colonel Walter Tolly. He rendezvoused at Baltimore and served a tour of about three weeks and then was discharged.

In the fall of 1777, Jesse served as a Private under Captain Zachariah Union's Company and Colonel Darby Lux's Regiment for about five weeks and was again discharged. In the spring of 1778, Jesse was promoted to Sergeant and served five weeks under the same officers and was later promoted to Ensign in 1779 and served four more weeks. His main duty during his tour was to defend the city of Baltimore against attacks from a squadron made up of British soldiers, Tories and Negroes who were led by Old Dunsmore (John Murray, 4th Earl of Dunsmore), the former Governor of Virginia.

In 1781, Jesse was called again into service in Culpepper Co. VA under Colonel Slaughter, Major Beal, Captain Lillard and Lieutenant Triplett. They marched to Malvern Hills on the James River and continued from there to Blackwater on the Chickahominy, New Castle and finally to Claiborne Ferry. This was in General Steven's Brigade directly in the rear of General Lafayette at or near Claiborne Ferry, where he was discharged shortly before the Siege of Yorktown. Jesse had served a tour of two months.

Jesse stated in his pension application that he was born in New Castle Co. Delaware and lived in Baltimore Co. MD when he entered the service. He lived there until 1780 and moved to Culpepper for eleven years and then moved to Stafford Co. VA. He later moved to Orange Co. VA and from there, he and his family moved to Garrard Co. KY. They lived in Garrard County for about ten years until they finally settled in Rockcastle County.

He was awarded a pension in the amount of $21.26 annually commencing 28 August 1832. Jesse does not mention a spouse or children in his application with the exception of one child, David Williams, who was living in Franklin Co. KY at the time. Jesse married Elizabeth Rachel Gott (3 May 1754 MD-10 October 1794 Culpepper Co. VA) on 24 November 1774 in Baltimore Co. MD. He died 29 September 1835 in Rockcastle County and is buried in a marked grave at the Phillips Cemetery near Wildie, Rockcastle Co. KY.

The children of Jesse and Rachel were: Joseph Williams (16 October 1775 Baltimore Co. MD-14 June 1855 Fleming Co. KY) married Elizabeth Settle (11 February 1778 PA-9 May 1853 KY) on 21 May 1795 Culpepper Co. VA. They are buried at Locust Grove Cemetery in Fleming Co. KY. They had thirteen children: Edward, Nancy, Frances, Elizabeth, Jesse, Lorenzo, Lewis, Louisa, Beverly, Alois, Mary, Lemuel and Belleville. Elizabeth Williams (16 March 1778 Baltimore Co. MD-1878 Knox Co. KY) married Levi Vale (1770-1860 AL) in 1794 VA. They had three children: Rachel, Daniel and Elizabeth. Susan Williams (1781 Culpepper Co. VA).

Sarah Williams (16 January 1784 VA-1794). Richard Gott Williams (23 May 1786 Orange Co. VA-3 January 1876 Rockcastle

ATTENTION:

The following is an invitation to bid on the harvesting of the hay from the property belonging to the Rockcastle County Industrial Development Authority (RCIDA) located on Hwy. 150 known as Rockcastle Business Park South for two harvests during the months of May-September 2015. The subject property is approximately 42 acres. The contract will be awarded to the highest per acre bidder (based on 42 acres). The contract for the hay is subject to the following terms and conditions:

The hay must be cut 1 time in May -June 2015 and 1 time in August-September 2015;

Once the hay is cut, it must be moved from the field within 2 weeks (weather permitting);

Any area that cannot be mowed for hay, must be bush hogged within 2 weeks; No member or direct family member of the Rockcastle County Industrial Development Authority or the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court is eligible to bid on the contract;

In the event the RCIDA sells a portion of the property to an industrial prospect in the middle of the contract, the person awarded the contract would be refunded monies on a pro-rata basis. Example: the person awarded the contract bids $1 per acre and has paid the RCIDA $40 and hasn't cut the hay yet. The RCIDA sells 10 acres, the person awarded the contract would be refunded $10 or if the hay had been cut once the person would be refunded half of the pro rata amount or in the case of this example $5;

The successful bidder will be required to pay the contract amount in full by May 8, 2015.

Incomplete bid sheets, unsigned bid sheets or bid sheets that are returned not sealed in an envelope will not be accepted. No late bids will be accepted.

All bid sheets should be sealed in an envelope and returned to: Attention: Holly Hopkins, Executive Director, Rockcastle County Industrial Development Authority at the RCIDA Office, located on the 3rd floor of the Rockcastle County Courthouse by 11:00 a.m. on Monday, May 4, 2015. Bid sheets should be returned in person. If no one is available in the RCIDA Office, please leave at the County Judge/Executive's office on the 2nd floor.

The bids will be opened at 11:45 a.m. on Monday, May 4, 2015 by Holly Hopkins.

The successful bidder will be notified via the contact information provided below if not present at the RCIDA Monthly Meeting on Monday, May 4, 2015 at 11:30 a.m. In the event that the successful bidder becomes in default of one of the above mentioned terms and conditions at any time during the term of this contract, the contract will be taken from that person and awarded to the next highest bidder.

I _____, agree to all of the terms and conditions

listed above and I bid and agree to pay $_____ per acre for the 42 acres of hay.

Minds in the Middle

The 8th graders will be hosting a yard sale this Saturday beginning at 8:00 a.m. The event will be held in the RCMS cafeteria and will have a wide variety of great items including clothes of all sizes. Proceeds will go toward the 8th grade trip.

We have been excited to have the 5th graders visiting with us this week. On Tuesday, May 5th, the 5th graders and their parents are invited to RCMS for Movin' to the Middle night beginning at 6:00 p.m.

Congratulations to Zach Taylor, Gracelyn Owens, Michael Allen, Aidan Cain, Jacob Cook, Kerrigan Medley and Joseph Frith whose historic monologue presentations were chosen to be presented to our 5th graders. Thanks also to Addyson Topf on sharing her 6th grade point of view to the 5th grade students.

Applications for 4-H camp can be picked up in the Youth Services Center.

RCMS Cheerleading try-outs will begin with clinics on Thursday, May 7th, from 3:30 – 5:00 p.m. and Friday, May 8th, from 3:30 – 5:30 p.m. Try-outs will be held in the RCMS gym on Tuesday, May 13th from 3:30 – 5:30. Attendance of the clinics is required for try-outs.

Yearbooks are still available. Get your order in before they are gone. Cost is $35.

Thanks to Unite Club members Cole Ballinger and Joseph Coffey on helping to lead the pledges at the Annual Unite Community Awareness Celebration last week.

Congratulations to Mrs. Heather McGuire's 8th grade Challengers homeroom on winning the attendance race last week.

Students should have brought report cards home last Friday.

MASH Camp applications are available in Mrs. Cromer's office. This is a 4-day camp at Rockcastle Regional Hospital. It is especially great for students who are interested in a career in the health field. The camp is limited to 20 students and is available to students who are currently in the 7th or 8th grade.

Keep in mind that the spring state assessment will begin on May 11th. Please avoid appointments during that 2-week window.

DAR presents local fifth graders with Essay Awards

The National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution actively supports historic preservation, promotion of education and patriotic endeavors. One way the Society promotes education is to sponsor every year in the school systems the American History Essay Contest open to all 5th-8th graders.

This year's essay topic was "A Child's Journey through Ellis Island". The year 2015 marks the 125th anniversary of Ellis Island as an immigration station. On a typical day, immigrants arriving on the island could expect to spend up to seven hours in processing activities intended to determine whether or not they were legally and medically fit to enter the United States. Writers were challenged to write a 500-1000 essay (depending on grade level) imagining themselves as a child traveling through Ellis Island in 1892. They were to describe their experience to their cousin who had never seen Ellis Island. Each essay submitted was judged by the local DAR chapter. One essay winner from each grade level was eligible to be submitted by the local chapter for state competition. State winners will be judged on national district level and finally district winners will be eligible for the national competition in Washington this July. National winners will be awarded at Continental Congress and presented a medal, certificate and monetary award.

The Rockcastle Chapter awarded this year's chapter winner and runner up of the American History Essay Contest to Miss Emma Hackworth and Mr. Bryson Atkin, both 5th graders at Roundstone Elementary School. Teachers, students and DAR members were present when Chapter Regent, Debbie Brown presented Mr. Atkin with a runner up certificate for his participation and achievement in the essay contest. Miss Hackworth was awarded with a chapter certificate and medal for her achievement. Miss Hackworth was also presented the KSDAR State Award for winning first place in her grade level in the essay contest. She received a certificate and monetary award from the State Society. Her essay will represent Kentucky in the National District judging in Washington D.C. later this summer.

Next year's essay topic has already been chosen for those students who would like to participate in the 2015-2016 school year. The topic is "A Colonial Family's Reaction to the Stamp Act". 2015 marks the 125th anniversary of the Stamp Act. Passed by the British Parliament in 1765; this new tax required all colonists to pay a tax on every printed piece of paper they used. The Stamp Act was viewed by the colonists as "taxation without representation." Each writer is to describe a colonial family's discussion about the new Stamp Act and what role it played in organizing the colonists against the British King and Parliament.

Any student interested in participating in this essay contest may contact your history teacher or the DAR Rockcastle Chapter Historian, Karen Adams at adamskaren11@cs.com.
