Senator Mitch McConnell holds Town Hall meeting

Special Election Clarification

In last week's Signal, our lead into the story of the upcoming wet/dry vote in the East Mt. Vernon precinct may have confused our readers.

We began the story with "An order by County Judge/Executive Doug Bishop will give residents of East Mount Vernon precinct the Community Trust Bank's location on the bypass.

McConnell gave a brief introductory talk highlighting how much more active the Senate is under his leadership touting that there were only "15 roll call votes on amendments" during 2014 under Harry Reid's majority leadership and that there have been "130 in the first half of 2015" under his leadership. "We are back in business under a new majority leader," McConnell told the crowd.

He touched on the controversial trade bill that President Obama is pushing, backed mainly by Republicans in the Senate, saying that there is a "lot of misunderstanding" about the bill that facts "demonstrate that America is not the loser" even though he acknowledged that being on the same side as the President against Reid and Pelosi was an "out of body experience."

McConnell went on to say that America is good at selling products overseas and has a $60 billion trade surplus with countries they trade with now. He also maintained that agriculture is a "huge winner" in the global economy.

He said that Obama's six plus years in office show that he "wants to Europeanize America" and he pointed to tell-tale signs of the country going in this direction such as big debt, high taxes, over regulation and slow growth.

He spoke of the federal government's "War on Coal" causing a depression in Eastern Kentucky although he said that coal does have a future but it is in Germany, India, China, all countries building coal-fired plants. "We are sacrificing our jobs and opportunities in a cause that no-

Court approves $6,637,235 budget; reappoints Clontz

At Tuesday's special called meeting of the Rockcastle Fiscal Court, the second reading of the 2015-16 county budget was held and the court approved the $6,637,235 budget.

Total numbers for the major departments of county government include expected revenue of $2,790,996 for the general fund; $1,495,986 for the road fund and $1,383,196 for the detention center.

The detention center's budget includes $847,626 in expected revenue from the state, primarily from housing state prisoners ($699,000), with the difference being made up of an estimated $510,570 transferred from the general fund.

The court had to meet Tuesday in order to comply with state statutes since the new budget takes effect Wednesday, July 1st.

The court also unanimously reappointed Joe Clontz, county treasurer for a four year term. Clontz's present appointment ran out June 30th.

In other business, the court discussed with Rockcastle County Coroner

Rockcastle County Clerk will now issue same-sex marriage licenses

By: Mike French

In a 5-4 ruling, the U. S. Supreme court recently voted in favor of same sex marriage nationwide. This decision will apply, by law, in every state and every county.

As expected, fallout has been evident throughout the country as many believe this decision to be "anti-Christian" and may force some county clerks to issue marriage licenses in direct conflict with their religious beliefs.

Protests across the country from both sides of the issue have been in the media since the decision.

In Kentucky, Governor Steve Beshear issued a letter to all 120 County Clerks which read in part, "The Obergefell Decision makes plain that the constitution requires all states must license and recognize the marriage of same sex couples."

Several County Clerks, including Rowan County, Casey County, Montgom-

Free Concert on July Fourth

As part of the Fourth of July festivities, the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame is hosting a free concert open to anyone who wishes to attend.

The classic country and soft rock group, Frontier, will perform inside the museum on Saturday, July 4th from 1-3 p.m.

Kayla Dobbs, Hall of Fame Director, says the concert is a way to show appreciation to the community. "We wanted to do something to give back to our community that gives so much to us," she said.

Make-A-Wish Foundation takes local girl on California adventure

By: Mike French

"A lot of crying was going on at my house. People were coming and going and bringing me gifts and I really couldn't understand all the medical terms and I was exploding inside. All I could think was, 'I'm just a little girl, and I have cancer.'"

Eleven year-old Abby Marie Langford, of Rockcastle County was diagnosed with osteosarcoma, last year.

But this Tuesday, she was on her way to California to have a personalized, backstage visit to the San Diego Zoo, Disney World and many other popular destinations, thanks to the Make-A-Wish Foundation.

Sitting in a warm, comfortable living room at her home, her mother Sharon Langford and brothers told the story of Abby's fight as they awaited a limo.

The battle has been a hard one thus far with the cancer spreading from her leg and into her brain. Now 12 years-old, Abby has experienced several surgeries and setbacks and victories.

"She hasn't lived yet. She is supposed to go to prom and date and experience life No one should go through this, especially not a little girl," said her mother Sharon. "Hospital after hospital and poking and prodding is not the life a child should have."

Abby sat quietly with an occasional smile as her mother related some of their experiences over the past year.

"She's had a stroke from the brain tumor and the pain from the leg tumors and lung tumors are there all the time," she said.

However, even through the adversity, this family somehow views this experience as a glass half full instead of half empty.

"I can't even believe, no one would believe, how many wonderful, good, Christian people there are here. Rockcastle County has been blessed with a wealth of good-hearted people," said Sharon.

The family had t-shirts made that read "Knock out Cancer. Abby's Team" Those shirts have sold at local schools and churches to help raise funds for all the medical expenses.

"The whole school wore our shirts on 'Abby Day' and people have held fund raisers and auctions, and worked tirelessly to help Abby," Sharon said.

Abby's plight has even gone viral on the internet. "We get cards and such from all over the world. People even show up and mow our yard," she said.

Sharon's voice became shaky as she talked about cancer coming so close to home. "I had heard of people getting cancer all my life. I always felt bad for them and thought how terrible that must be for the family. But my life went on and that was it," she said. "But now, when it strikes your home it is so real. I had no idea what those people went through. Was there something I could

Big smiles were abundant as Abby Langford and her mother, Sharon, entered a limousine provided by the Make-A-Wish Foundation. No one in the family had ever been in a limousine and Abby enjoyed exploring the inside as they started their trip to California.

Just because it's new, doesn't mean it's better

This week I visited my mother and asked her how she was doing. She told me she was tired. When I asked why, she explained that it was the television's fault.

"I sit here and watch my soap and that darn TV turns off and a big message pops up saying that my TV is going to turn itself off because of inactivity," she said. "So I get up and do dishes and mop and whatever and it still doesn't come back on. How does it even know how inactive I am?"

I tried to explain, but knowing both of our's aversion to technology, I just let it go. Me trying to explain anything digital, is like a certain political party trying to explain "freedom." They just don't understand the concept.

But the digital world is with us and there's no avoiding it. I was brought up in a time when things were much harder to do, but easier to understand.

If a car wouldn't start, I just put a stick in the carburetor to choke it. There was no need for special tools and a degree in engineering.

When I grew up, pushing a button caused something to happen. Then the next time you pushed the same button, that exact same thing happened again, every time. My iPhone 6c-s-43.2 blah blah phone, never does the same thing twice no matter which button I push.

It was indeed more trouble to walk to my television and change channels back in the day. But there was no remote to cause everything to go blank for no reason. Apparently my remote has a "self-destruct button." I know this because I have hit it on several occasions and had to call my son-in-law to make my TV be a TV again instead of a 50-inch black wall hanging piece of plastic art.

My wife recently bought a brand new fancy cooking machine. She calls it a microwave, I call it the Devil. I just don't understand why anyone needs 26 buttons to heat up a pizza. All I need is an "on" button and an "off" button and a little knob to set the temperature.

I tried to make popcorn with this big white spaceship-looking thing this week. After about 7 or 8 loud beeps and nothing happening, a little display showed up that read, "XXX". What in the world does that mean? Had I found a pornographic microwave site?

It's a lazy world. Making things easier and more complex every day.

I guess I'm just like my grandmother was. We like things simple and we don't want a car telling us to "make a U-turn" while it "recalculates."

I'll never forget when my dad and I put my grandmother's first ever bathroom in her home. Until then, she used the outhouse and we thought we were doing such a wonderful thing for her. No more cold treks through the snow to go to the bathroom. No more sitting under wasp nests while she did her business.

We brought her into the new bathroom and showed her the tub and how to use it. She was so pleased. We showed her the sink and how she can have hot water without boiling it on the stove.

But, when we showed her the new commode, she became irate. "You mean you want me to poo inside my own house????? How lazy do you have to be that anyone would do such a thing!"

I guess back then, a commode was the iPhone of the 70s.

Either way, I'm going to try my best to keep up. At least at a minimal level that will keep me from being dysfunctional. But I will say this, The next machine that tells me or my mother that we are being inactive, is going for a swim in my pond.

By Ike Adams

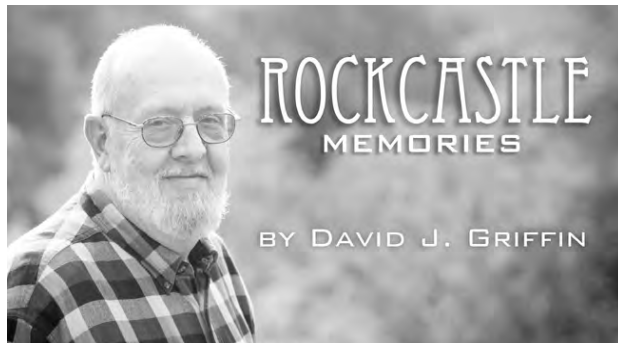

Thanks to Mr. Parkinson I cannot, currently, even bear the thoughts of boarding an airplane without suffering a terribly debilitating anxiety attack. I am told, however, that there is therapy available that may enable me to cope with that.

I have just returned from 4 days on Galveston Island and I want, almost desperately, to go back, but I know now that another road trip is strictly out of the question. I will not bore you with the details but viewing Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, and east Texas from a car window is something I never intend to do again unless it boils down to a very long series of one-hour rides with day-long rest stops between them. Actually, I hadn't even thought about that until just now! Two weeks to get there and two weeks back, starting in say, February, actually sounds like fun.

We could rent a U-Haul trailer. I could lie around motel swimming pools and read while Loretta hit ever yard sale in the Deep South. This is sounding better all the time. And I think my wife will also be excited.

I know how bored I usually am when people come home regaling about their vacations, but please indulge me just this once and I promise not to do it again for at least another year.

All I know for sure is that for three consecutive nights I spent late evenings until well past midnight on the patio of a condo overlooking The Gulf of Mexico, usually with a bowl full of good English pipe tobacco fired up, feeling more lucid than I have mentally and more physically refreshed than I have felt in at least ten years. There were early mornings and dusky times on darn near private, literally deserted, beaches that seemed to stretch for miles in both directions when Mr.

ROCKCASTLE MEMORIES

Fashions of the 60's

When it came to style and fashion, my generation entered the 1960s with few expectations. Our attire to that point was based on jeans, tee shirts, bass Weejuns, and an occasional oxford cloth, button-down shirt. The girls usually wore below-the-knee skirts, button-up blouses, white socks, and saddle oxford shoes. If you walked into Kelsey's Restaurant on Main Street in Mt. Vernon in the early sixties, you would see booths filled with girls and boys dressed in these fashions. It simply was the style.

The early 60's fashions changed partially because of the music of the times. Even the style name was called the rockers. Girls began to dress in tight fitting, short skirts, tall brightly colored boots, and tightly fitting sleeveless tops. Capri trousers and, for some, Stiletto heels were even part of the design. Guys were into bright and colorful attire, with matching shirts and socks in pink or yellow. Wide ties, boots, and collarless jackets were often worn. Casual dress included plaid button-down shirts (Madras) and khaki slacks worn with white socks and penny loafers.

I began to notice these radical changes when I entered the University of Kentucky in 1962. Many of the clothes that I had loaded into my '58 Chevy for college no longer fit the collegiate style. That fact did not really bother me because I was a jeans-and-oxford-cloth kind of guy. It took me many months to evolve into the new styles.

After the mini skirt was introduced in 1964, fashions of the 60's changed forever. The mini skirt was eventually worn by nearly every stylish young woman in the civilized world. The leaders of the mid-1960's style were the British, brought to the United States by the European rock groups. Bands such as The Who, The Kinks, and The Rolling Stones had been influencing American youths for some time. When The Beatles hit the charts, youthful attire continued to change. The clothing fads followed close behind the music of the time.

I can remember seeing British-style clothing at UK soon after The Beatles rose to the top of the charts with the hit, "I Wanna Hold Your Hand." Levi's were the only type of jeans worn. Flared trousers and bellbottoms began to hit campuses across the nation. By the mid-to-late 60's, the hippie generation was a major influence in the clothing styles. Culottes began to be worn by the ladies of the time. Hemlines kept rising, and by the end of 1968, they had reached well above mid-thigh. Psychedelic prints were found on every college campus in the United States. The hippie movement had arrived!

The days of corsets, seamed tights, and skirts covering the knees were over. For me and many of my male friends, we continued for most of our lives to

by; perlina m. anderkin

As my parting shot in last week's column, I said that things that used to be wrong are now right and things that used to be right are now wrong.

The same-sex marriage decision by the Supreme Court proves that point exactly. I have always felt that if a same-sex couple wants to ensure they can inherit each other's property or be covered by their partner's health insurance, etc. then a civil contract could be issued.

Not particularly in favor of that either but I am certainly not in favor of the SCOTUS making laws in this country -- not exactly what the framers of our Constitution had in mind, in my opinion.

I, personally, do not care whom you love. It's not any of my business. But for five non-legislative branch lawyers to overturn established law since this country was founded was the height of arrogance.

In his dissent, Chief Justice John Roberts said something to the effect that the court should have followed the law as it is not as they want it to be. Of course, this came one day after Roberts, writing for the majority chose to ignore the law, as it was written, pertaining to Obamacare. I guess it just depends on whose ox is getting gored, right?

This ruling opens up all sorts of questions about what is in store for churches who do not choose to perform same-sex marriages. I have heard it said that the ruling protects those institutions. Not as I read it. The "protection" simply said that churches can "advocate" and "teach" the one man-one woman marriage tradition it does not say flat out that they can refuse to perform same-sex marriages.

Another part of this "slippery slope" was brought out by a commentator (okay, it was Martha McCallum on Fox News), who asked how this would effect three people who wanted to get married - you know, polygamy?

I'll admit, I'm old and old-fashioned and I don't like change particularly. I especially don't like change when it is being force-fed to an entire nation by a progressive administration that seems determined to knock the pins from under this great country to fit their own socialist agenda.

The Rainbow lighting of the White House was a direct slap in the face to a vast section of this country from an ideological President who used the "People's House" to do a huge "gotcha."

As to the "old" part. It is one of the saving graces of aging that I will probably be saved from reaping most of what my generation and preceding ones sowed by our inattention and lack of participation in electing our representatives. I do, however, owe an apology to my descendants for my shortcomings in this area.

Our Own Little Zoo

Dear Journal,

This beautiful spring weather has certainly presented some excellent times to sit on our front porch, as I've noted before. Although the porch is rather junky right now due to some painting, cleaning, and the resurfacing of flooring. I figure it's better to box up everything out of the way and bring it back into the house gradually.

While I've been sitting on the porch, I've noticed a wide variety of woodland creatures scurrying about the yard. There are various birds, mostly robins, squirrels, ground squirrels, rabbits, bits, and even a terrapin.

The animals behavior is something to see. I've watched the robins build a nest on a branch of a maple tree. They worked for days and finally I heard the chirping of their new family. One day, there was a male robin looking for food. He found a nice big juicy worm in one of my unkempt flower beds. Then, he hopped around here and there with his find. He waited and waited, and didn't eat the worm. A female robin soon came by and he proudly put that worm in her mouth, and she swallowed it down quickly. That's true love at its finest.

Thanks to everyone for their prayers, phone calls, cards, gifts, flowers, visits and food brought to our home.

We thank Doug Smith and Susan Coffey for the beautiful songs at the service. Thank you to the pallbearers and honorary pallbearers. We appreciate you all very much.

Thank you to Bro. Dean Davis, Bro. Kenton Parkey, Bro. Gary Pettyjohn, and Anthony Coffey for the comforting words and sweet memories you shared. Our hearts were really touched by the beautiful service and we know Jack would have been so pleased.

To all the ladies at the church who prepared the dinner after the service, thank you. It was greatly appreciated.

Thank you to Dowell and Martin Funeral Home and their staff for all the help and support they gave us.

May God bless everyone that took part in any way. We will never forget the love we have been shown and, most importantly, thank you for the prayers that helped us make it through this difficult time. Please keep them up during the long days ahead.

Again, thank you all and God bless. Your acts of kindness will never be forgotten. Dad was special to so many. He is greatly missed and will forever be in our hearts.

Sincerely,

The Family of Jack B. Dailey

Thanks to the BRVFD...

Dear Editor,
I want to thank all the volunteers of the Brindle Ridge Fire Department.

They worked tirelessly until the job was done to pump out my flooded basement.

I don't know all their names so I won't mention any.

I want to thank them again for all they do for our community.

Sincerely,
Sandra Shearer

Symbols often get misused...

Dear Editor,

Symbols. Powerful for good and evil. They are used by governments worldwide, religions, aristocratic families, civic organizations, and businesses.

Some have been used for thousands of years. And some have, at times, been hijacked by groups in order to create a visible rallying banner. Consider the swastika, for example. That cross has been found on coins, pottery, and buildings dating back thousands of years before the Christian era.

It meant different things to different cultures that used it. During the 1930s, however, a ragtag political movement adopted it, perhaps because of its simplicity. Because of the atrocities committed by that political party upon mankind, the symbol is now associated only with those despicable acts, making it a reviled symbol worldwide.

The controversy today regarding the Confederate battle flag is also a case in point showing how a symbol, originally used by its designers as a rallying point for individual states' rights and disconnect from a powerful central government, has been hijacked by those who perpetrate harm to our fellow citizens.

The KKK began using the old flag after the Civil War, then some state legislatures began to incorporate it into their state houses as a means to intimidate citizens after a number of civil rights acts were passed during the 1960s.

Most recently, we saw how one, lone, deranged, young man, with a desire to foment a race war, used the old battle flag of the former Confederacy as a rallying cry and murdered nine Christians while in a Bible study in South Carolina.

He revered a symbol that had long ago lost its original meaning when it was bastardized by groups who would not tolerate anyone with differing opinions. The symbol had been hijacked.

The pastor at the African Methodist Episcopal Church said something very much worth taking to heart: The killer did not win. The good people of Charleston, black and white, rallied together to defeat the demons in Hell and on Earth by doing what Jesus would have directed: Worshiping in peace and praying for all mankind.

I had been to Galveston several times in the 1990s on business, but mostly same day in and out sorts of deals, fighting traffic and more worried about getting back to the airport in Houston to enjoy the place and I still would not want to live in the city. Loretta shot a photo of me standing beside a building in the downtown historic district where Hurricane Ike left a high water mark that was easily ten feet above my head in September 2008. I recall being worried sick about my daughter when that was happening and even in a suburb of Houston she was without electricity for about 2 weeks.

And we saw, even close to the condo in which we were staying a stilted house that I'm sure was beautiful before that storm that will sometime soon be sawed up into weathered picture frames and stuff that tourists buy.

My favorite trap downtown on The Strand was a place called Old Guys Rule and I wanted to buy a tee shirt emblazoned with the message, "The Older I Get, The Better I Was."

But they wanted $39.95 and it didn't even have a pocket.

At least I now have something to shop for on Ebay.

wear clothing similar to what we had been accustomed to in the early 60's.

Even to this day, you can still find me wearing tee shirts, button-down-collar shirts, and our comfy jeans that we wore in high school at Mt. Vernon High. I suppose we grew so comfortable that we just refused to change.

At any rate, now that I have reached this plateau of my life, I simply do not want to change much of the style of my attire. I am comfortable. (As a matter of fact, I will admit that I squirm like a child every time my wife insists that I wear a sport coat.) Comfort, I have learned, becomes more and more important as one ages.

Give me my jeans, my tee shirts, and my slip-on shoes, and I will feel right at home. It remains my standard attire. I have even instructed my wife to dress me properly for burial: in a blue-jean shirt. I refuse to pass over to Paradise in a suit and tie. It just wouldn't be fittin'!

(You can reach me at themtnman@att.net or drop me a line at 2167 Furnace Road - Stanton, KY 40380. I appreciate your comments and suggestions.)

Last week, there were strong storms in the area. One such storm came through one night with a lot of thunder, lightning, and high winds. The next morning, I had to go out for an appointment. There on the sidewalk were three little birds, robins I presume, all dead; their nest not on the usual branch nor anywhere to be seen. Later that evening at dark, their parents were frantic in search of their young ones and their nest. All that they had was gone. They chirped loudly far past dark. How sad. The scripture that says that God knows even when a bird falls to the ground came to mind.

As for the squirrels, what clowns they are! The play all over the yard, chasing each other up trees and across telephone lines. They even jump straight up at times. The other day I saw a bird chasing a squirrel. I don't know what the squirrel had done, but the bird was very upset with him. The bird chased him all over the road, through the trees and yard.

There are a pair of ground squirrels, too. They play like the other squirrels, but stay on the ground. We put out a little food, seeds, and such for all the squirrels and birds. They really like it.

I thought I'd killed the grey squirrels a few days ago. I had left a bag of powdered chocolate covered almonds on the porch overnight. The next morning, the almonds were gone. The squirrels had a feast, but we learned the chocolate was toxic to them. A couple of days later, I saw them again. I was so relieved.

The rabbits are always a favorite to watch. They aren't as playful as the squirrels, more serious except when they are young. When we go out and come back after dark, we pull into the drive and you can just see several little white cotton tails bound for cover.

The last notable character is the lone terrapin. He comes around almost every day, scouting for food. I have him spoiled by giving him a bit of cucumber and tomato. He braces himself with his back legs and positions the food with his front legs while turning it in a circular pattern. I guess you can make a pet out of almost anything.

BIG ON COMMITMENT.™

have done to help?” According to Sharon, a local man had heard about Abby and is holding a bike ride on July 11th at the Brodhead Park. Bands will perform and there will be a silent auction.

Then one day, while waiting in her hospital bed, a representative of the Make-A-Wish Foundation entered Abby’s room. Abby was asked where she would go if she could go anywhere in the world. “I’m going to have to think about that,” she said.

Finally, Abby chose California. “I was really, really hoping she would say Hawaii. But I didn’t say a word,” said her mother.

Six months later, as the family sat in their living room looking at an essay award Abby had won writing about her cancer, a long, black limousine rolled up her gravel driveway and a chauffeur headed to the house to help with luggage.

The Make-A-Wish Foundation had arrived and Abby and her family were about to go on a ten-day all expense paid vacation to places she had only dreamed of going.

One family members is staying home to care of the dog and the house.

Wide-eyed and excited, Abby made her way to the limo. “I’ve never been in a limo before,” she said as she explored the inside with a big smile.

As the limo pulled away, Abby and her mother were waving out the window as neighbors were in their yard cheering as she passed.

When the family returns, more tests are scheduled and Sharon says there is a plan to move forward. “We will never stop fighting. We will beat this,” she said.

The Make-A-Wish Foundation is a non-profit, national organization, based in Phoenix, Arizona with 61 chapters across the country and in 45 other countries around the world.

To be eligible for the program, a child must be between 3-17 and must be deemed eligible by their primary physician.

Thanks to this organization, and a lot of local citizens who want to help a child in need, Abby is not concerned this week with needles or tests or surgeries or scars. This week, Abby is with her family, seeing, touching and feeling those things all 12 year-old girls should. A life full of experiences and adventure. Laughter, smiles, surprises and excitement fill Abby’s life this week.

Meanwhile, The Make-A-Wish Foundation is looking for the next hospital bed where someone is thinking, “I’m just a little girl, and I have cancer.”

body else is following. It doesn’t make sense to me.”

He mentioned the present administration’s adversarial attitude to business. “They think if a business is making a profit, it must be up to no good.” He added, “We need a new President with a new agenda.”

He expressed concern that Americans are now questioning whether for the first time they will be able to leave behind a better America than their parents left behind for them. “I’m not so sure about that anymore.”

Calling last November’s general election “a step in the right direction,” McConnell said he enjoyed being the “offensive coordinator” of the Senate as majority leader, instead of the “defensive coordinator” as the Senate minority leader.

McConnell then called for questions from the audience and local resident Paul Cummins was quick to respond. Citing all the scandals that have plagued this administration such as fast and furious, the IRS, the VA hospitals, the prisoner swap, Ben Ghazi, etc. and McConnell didn’t really deal with Cummins’ question, instead giving a very short answer, “We need a new President.”

Local resident Claretta Hodges then asked McConnell about the Trade Promotion Authority deal that is being pushed by the President, with the help of McConnell and other Republicans, saying that since they don’t know what is in this deal that perhaps it would be better to wait to push it under a Republican President so there would be more transparency. However, McConnell quickly responded that the President will have to send any trade agreement to Congress for ratification and that he “didn’t get snookered” about the contents of the bill.

Calling Obamacare the “single worst piece of legislation passed in the last century,” the Senator said that it is going to be a big issue in the upcoming presidential race. “If we can get a President from a different party, we are going to go after Obamacare,” he vowed.

His final question came from local realtor Sam Ford who expressed the concern of Evangelical Christians about the recent Supreme Court ruling on same-sex marriage and its effect on religious liberties.

Acknowledging that the SCOTUS has the final word and they “have had their say” McConnell said that when religious liberty and conviction intersects with that decision there will have to be statutory solutions to resolve litigations.

opportunity to vote for or against the sale of wine.”

Judge Bishop’s order followed the presenting of a petition to County Clerk Danetta Ford Allen by proponents of package wine sales in Renfro Valley.

By law, the petition had to be signed by 25% of those voting in the November, 2014 general election, or 84. The petition contained 166 signatures and Allen had to take it to Judge Bishop to get his authority to verify the signatures.

After verification by Allen, the number of qualified signatures was certified to be 99. Allen then had to get the judge to write an order setting the date. The order was then given to the sheriff whose duty it is to advertise the election in the Signal for two weeks and post a notice in five “conspicuous” places in the East Mount Vernon Precinct.

Marvin Owens a bill, which was submitted to the court at their regular June meeting by Dowell and Martin Funeral Home, for $350 for transporting a body from Frankfort back to the county.

Owens told the court that he thought the agreement was that he would share the $170 he charges the county for transporting a body to Frankfort for autopsy and then bringing it home.

County Judge Executive Doug Bishop commented that he did not feel the court should set a precedent of paying someone “three to four times what the coroner charges” for taking a body to Frankfort and picking it up after an autopsy.

After much discussion, Magistrate Mike McGuire made a motion to pay half of $170 to Dowell and Martin Funeral Home and it was seconded by Magistrate Shannon Bishop.

Judge Bishop told the court that he felt that a policy should be formulated as to reimbursements allowed for the coroner’s office.

The court also accepted the sheriff’s 2014 property tax settlement, presented by Deputy Dale McNew.

McNew told the court that the settlement will be audited by the state.

McNew’s figures showed the total property tax bills amounted to $3,538,773.70. Of that amount, there were $16,116 in exoneration decreases for homestead, disability, etc. exemptions; $44,291.03 for discounts for bills paid by property owners in October and $106,947.31 in property tax bills not paid.

According to McNew’s figures, the sheriff’s office collected $138,990.40 in commissions and disbursed $3,232,428.96 to taxing districts with only a variance of $5.34 too much paid out to the taxing districts. However, he said that figure could change once the state’s audit is completed.

McConnell Introduced

Appropriations committee approves Hemp amendment

U.S. Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell announced June 11th that an amendment he introduced with Senators Jeff Merkley (D-OR) and Jon Tester (D-MT) regarding legal industrial hemp cultivation pilot projects was approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee and is now included in the Commerce, Justice, Science (CJS) Appropriations bill.

The hemp amendment, which continues McConnell’s efforts from last year, provides that no funds can be used by federal agencies in violation of Senator McConnell’s provision in the 2014 Farm Bill, which gave state agricultural commissioners and universities the go ahead to cultivate hemp for pilot programs.

“I appreciate my colleagues recognizing the importance of this issue to Kentuckians participating in the industrial hemp pilot programs. This measure will help ensure that industrial hemp pilot programs in Kentucky can continue without federal disruption,” McConnell said. “These legal pilot programs authorized by my legislation could help boost our state’s economy and lead to future jobs.”

This amendment is important to Rockcastle Countians since we have one of ten hemp pilot projects ongoing in the state.

The full Senate still needs to pass its version.

ery County and Lawrence County, have issued statements that they will no longer issue marriage licenses of any kind to anyone. Many other county clerks have issued statements that they intend to seek legal and spiritual counsel before deciding on the issue.

In Rockcastle County, Judge Executive Doug Bishop says he has never performed marriage ceremonies since entering the office. It is not required by law that any County Judge Executive perform marriage ceremonies.

Danetta Ford Allen, Rockcastle County Clerk, has released a statement this week concerning the issue. We will publish her official statement in full as follows:

“As you are aware, we are just becoming familiar with the Obergefell (same-sex marriage) case, and of the letter from Governor Beshear instructing me, as well as the other 119 County Clerks, of our duties under the ruling.

After lamenting, seeking both legal and spiritual counsel, I write to explain my position.

You know me and you know what I believe. My God clearly defines marriage in His Holy Word, the Bible and though the Supreme Court ruled to “redefine” it for this country, God’s Ways-Do not change.

By the same token, I believe that my God is the establisher of government and there is no “Power” but of God. Because I believe that God is my authority, and with respect for the oath I have taken, “I will render therefore unto Caesar that which is Caesar’s and unto God the things that are Gods.”

That being said, I will issue marriage licenses according to the ruling of the United States Supreme Court. I also refrain from disobeying the courts due to my commitment to the people of Rockcastle County.

Refusing would be in complete defiance of the Supreme Court and would inevitably subject our citizens to excessive legal fees and our community to greater turmoil.

It would hinder me from meeting my other responsibilities to my family and other elements of the clerk’s office.

I have not been hasty in making this decision. I will not make a decision based on “fanfare” but under the strong conviction that my God and Savior, Jesus Christ has the ability to accomplish His Will through all of this.

I trust that Congress will look at new statutory avenues that will protect our religious liberty going forward.

My prayer, for now, is that God will extend His Mercy on this country and that through HIS truth others might believe.

Sew Berea contest open to everyone

It's Sew Berea, a new, local fiber arts group, is calling on artists to design fabric using images that are inspired by nature and embrace the essence of Kentucky.

"The contest rules are simple," said Sarah Vaughn, who originated the idea. "Create a new fabric design inspired by the natural environment that surrounds Berea and use some of these colors: red, yellow, green, blue, indigo, and ivory."

The contest is open to everyone and the process is easy. Designs may be hand-drawn, painted or done on a computer; to enter the contest submit a color photograph or print of your design.

Photograph or prints of each design submitted will be displayed at the 2015 Berea Quilt Extravaganza and there will be a viewer's choice award as well as purchase awards by contest judges.

Winners receive a $100 purchase prize and It's Sew Berea will print fabric from their designs. Fabrics will be printed by a company called Spoonflower, which has a website with lots of helpful hints about how to design as well as many fabric designs by individuals to purchase. Each winner will receive a fat quarter of their own design and three other designs.

It's Sew Berea also has a Facebook page; "Please visit our Facebook page for more information and updates as well as the form required for participation," said Pamela Corley Slowkowski, Board Member of It's Sew Berea. We hope you will "like" our page, too.

Fabric will be printed from all winning designs and will be available to quilters for the second part of this challenge, which is to use this fabric to make a quilt for the 2016 Berea Quilt Extravaganza.

Details about this will be available on the Facebook page soon.

Rules and Submission: -- All designs must be your own and specifically created for this challenge.

-- All designs become property of It's Sew Berea.

more colors from the following palette (tints accepted): Red, Yellow, Green, Blue, Violet, and Ivory

-- Submit a full color photograph of your design(s) with a $10 check made out to It's Sew Berea as an entry fee for each submission at the Berea Arts Council at 139 North Broadway in Old Town, no later than 6:00 pm on Friday, July 24.

Fireworks prohibited on national forest lands

With the Fourth of July holiday coming up this weekend, Daniel Boone National Forest officials are reminding visitors that all fireworks are banned on national forest lands.

Forest Service policy prohibits "possessing, discharging or using any kind of firework or other pyrotechnic device" within the national forest.

"This policy was developed to help ensure the safety of our forest visitors," said Forest Supervisor Bill Lorenz.

"The use of fireworks was never permitted in developed recreation areas, but our policy now extends the ban on fireworks to the general forest area."

Forest Service regulations also require that campfires be attended at all times.

The agency recommends campfires in designated fire rings and grills within developed recreation areas to minimize the risk of an uncontrolled wildfire.

Yards to Paradise

By Max Phelps
Consider the Daylily

In your landscaping, or in your flower or vegetable garden, consider the tough but lovely daylily. It's versatile, comes in about every color but blue, and is super easy to grow. You should definitely consider growing this hardy perennial.

The Latin for daylily is Hemerocallis. They are related to other lilies. Most hemerocallis species are from Asia, but hemerocallis fulva is a wild orange daylily found over much of America. There are over 80,000 registered daylily cultivars in the world now, and about 12,000 are available for purchase from lots of daylily growers and roadside markets, as well as by mail order. The American Hemerocallis Society is the certifying organization in the US.

The daylily plant is generally propagated by dividing an existing clump. One or more 'fans' are planted to begin a new plant. Part of a dormant root can also be planted. And, from seed, you might get an entirely new variety altogether if you have the patience.

Growing in moist or very dry conditions, in sun or part shade, in poor or rich soils, the daylily is one of the easiest plants for the beginner to have success with. From a small plant or clump, the clump gets bigger as the years go by. Like all perennials, eventually it will do better if dug up and divided. (Sell, give away, or eat the extras, anyone?) Blooms come in spikes of a dozen or more buds, one flower opens and is in bloom for just one day. For several weeks a plant will bloom. And if it is a 'rebloomer', more shoots will come and there will be more blooms right up until cold weather.

Daylily plants are evergreen, semi-evergreen or dormant. (You don't want to plant dormant ones in Florida or Southern California--and you don't want to plant evergreen ones in North Dakota.) Most begin to bloom in either June or July, and produce for several days to a few weeks. Again, rebloomers will continue to bloom sporadically the remainder of the growing season. Most daylilies open in morning and are finished the same day. A few are nocturnal, meaning the blooms open late in the evening or at night and continue through the following day.

With modern breeding programs by dozens of hybridizers, you can have about any size or color of daylily you want. Prices for fancy ones, rare ones, or newer cultivars may be a bit steep, but with so many varieties out there, even the most modest homeowner can buy a few from the 'big box' store at a reasonable price (or find a local grower or gardener with a 'daylilies for sale' sign, or beg or borrow a start from a neighbor).

Landscapers typically use a common reblooming variety such as Stella d'Oro or Happy Returns. But with so many options, with a little research, there is no reason to limit ones design or planting to just the popular common ones. A massed planting of several complementary colors with both early and late bloom times, making sure some are rebloomers, a landscaper or homeowner can have flowers constantly from late May until a hard freeze. Specimen or accent plantings where daylilies are used sparingly, but with a dramatic flare, can really put some pizzazz into a garden or landscape.

Besides long blooming, low maintenance, and everybody's favorite color (except blue)--there must be a spot in your yard begging for a daylily.

What other value besides looks is there in a daylily? Well, they are pretty good at erosion control and weed suppression. And the obvious, but usually overlooked, is that they are edible!

In Asian markets, look for 'gum jum', golden needles, or 'yellow flower vegetable'. The flowers are edible, the flower buds are especially delicious, and on most the leaves (blades) and also the nodules on the roots are edible. I invite the reader to pick a few large buds from a daylily plant and toss into their salad before they dismiss this notion that they are edible. Try it, I bet you'll like it! Then, there is fried breaded flowers, pickled daylily buds and so on. The tubers where carbohydrates are stored (like tiny potatoes or peanuts) are also a good nutritious addition to a salad, soup, etc.

As Scripture says: "consider the lilies of the field...for even King Solomon in all his finery was not arrayed as one of these!"

Rockcastle Regional WHAS Crusade for Children Golf Scramble has record fundraising year

Rockcastle Regional Hospital & Respiratory Care Center held its 12th annual charity golf scramble to benefit WHAS Crusade for

was a record year for fundraising, bringing in a total of $8,423.29 for the charity.

WHAS Crusade for Children wasn't the only winner of the day. The team sponsored by Community Trust Bank won first place, with a final score of 51 (or 21 under par). Playing on behalf of Community Trust Bank were Mike Blount, Chris Blount, Grant Norris, and Hannah Beth Owens. There was a tie for second place, with a score of 53 (or 19 under par), which resulted in a tie breaker of closest to the pin from 100 yards. The team that walked away with second place was Eric Adams, Matt Brown, Tara Brown, and Chris Settles. The team that took the third place prize was Colby Brown, Derrick Bussell, J.D. Bussell, and Jerry Reynolds.

The event would not have been possible without the generous support and time of many people and sponsors of the lunch, teams, holes, beverage carts, and goodie bags: Medhost; Banners, Signs, & Etc.; Bissell's; Brockman Sign Co.; Cedar Rapids Golf Course; Central Body Service; Citizens Bank; Coffey & Ford Attorneys at Law; Community Trust Bank; Courage Media; Dean, Dorton, Allen, & Ford PLLC; Fayette Graphics; Good Neighbor Pharmacy; Hospice Care Plus; Ingram Express; Integrated Sign & Graphic; Kentucky Music Hall of Fame; KHA Solutions Group; Lifeline Home Health; Lonestar Farm & Home; Mail Solutions; Rockcastle County - Mt. Vernon Tourism Board; Rockcastle Family Care; Rockcastle Family Wellness; Rockcastle Pediatrics & Adolescents; Rockcastle Professional Pharmacy; Rockcastle Regional Hospital; Subway; Surge Promotions; TeamHealth; UK College of Health Sciences; UK HealthCare; and Vanhook Architectural Services.

The WHAS Crusade for Children was established in 1954 by WHAS-TV with a mission to provide agencies, schools, and hospitals the resources and equipment necessary to help better the lives of special needs children. Since 1990, Rockcastle Regional Hospital has participated in various fundraisers to raise over $113,788.00 for the Crusade. To date, Rockcastle Regional has received $551,577.94 from the organization. This money has been used to purchase two trip vans, portable ventilators, a specialized bathtub, and numerous pieces of equipment and therapy materials.

Stating that the unanimous settlement agreement reached by the parties to the LG&E and KU rates cases was "fair, just and reasonable," the Kentucky Public Service Commission today announced its approval to increase base rates for KU electric and LG&E natural gas customers.

While the monthly basic service charge will remain unchanged, the per-kilowatt charge will be modified to provide additional annual cost-recovery revenues of $125 million for KU, incorporating costs associated with the new 640-megawatt natural gas combined-cycle generating plant at the companies' Cane Run site, among other investments. KU owns 78 percent of that facility, with LG&E owning the remaining 22 percent.

"We are pleased to receive the commission's approval of this case," said Ed Staton, vice president of State Regulation and Rates. "Each of the parties was willing to compromise to develop a unanimous settlement that was fair, just and reasonable and the commission acknowledged the importance of that agreement."

The settlement agreement provides no increase in revenues for LG&E's electric operations and a $7 million increase in LG&E's gas operations.

A residential LG&E electric customer, using an average of 984 kWh per month, will see a 10 cent decrease in their overall monthly bill. A residential LG&E natural gas customer, using an average of 57 Ccf per month, will see an increase of $1.23 per month. A KU residential customer, using an average of 1,200 kWh per month, will see an increase of $8.98 per month.

The settlement does not attach specific dollars or concessions to any particular issue in the case, but provides an overall settlement that, on balance, is a fair, just and reasonable result. No return on equity was established with respect to base rates; however, the average customer's monthly bill will reflect an authorized 10 percent return on equity investment related to the environmental cost recovery mechanism and the gas line tracker mechanism. The settlement agreement also provides for deferred cost recovery of a portion of the costs associated with pensions and KU's Green River plant which is currently scheduled to be retired in April 2016.

In addition to LG&E and KU, parties to the unanimous settlement agreement included: the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Kentucky; the Kentucky Industrial Utilities Customers; the Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government; the Kroger Company; the Community Action Council of Lexington-Fayette, Bourbon, Harrison, and Nicholas Counties; Kentucky Cable Telecommunications Association; Kentucky School Boards Association; Sierra Club; Wal-Mart Stores East, LP and Sam's East; Association of Community Ministries; and Metropolitan Housing Coalition.

LG&E and KU also agreed to a minimum annual contribution of shareholder funds of $1.15 million to low-income programs. The current Home Energy Assistance program also will become a permanent program under the companies' tariffs and maintain its current rate of 25 cents per meter.

The agreement also provides for an extension of the collection period for residential customer deposits from four to six months. Additionally, LG&E and KU have agreed to develop an energy efficiency filing for Kentucky's school districts and reaffirmed their commitment to study the feasibility of energy efficiency programs for industrial customers.

Customers will notice the adjustments on their bills beginning July 1.

Volunteers work on local homes for CAP 50th anniversary

By: Mike French

Ten homes in Rockcastle County received needed repairs this week as volunteers gathered to donate their time to the Christian Appalachian Project's 50th anniversary.

The CAP volunteer reunion lasted two days and brought together volunteers and alumni going back as far as the 1960s. Friday was called the "Day of Service" and workers gathered at the Community Center to plan their day of work.

Bringing individual specialties and talents to the large crowd of workers, crews divided into teams and traveled to each house on the list.

Homes were chosen after a referral from churches and schools or via an application form through a case worker.

The press was invited to one of the homes where the work was being done. Several work trucks pulled into the driveway of the home and volunteers poured out of each truck, carrying tools, wood and other needed items.

At the home of Leslie Bostic, Reverend Green Loop Road, Vincent Birch served as the crew leader and gathered the many workers together to go over the day's projects at this home. According to Birch, the bathroom floor needed work, the porch needed repair and the siding needed power washing to remove mold and mildew.

Volunteers began shouting out their experience and preference on which job they could be most useful.

Charles Clark, who also lives in the home, stood on the porch and watched as workers gathered in a prayer circle before beginning.

"This sure is a good thing they are doing," said Clark. "We are on a fixed income here and there just ain't no way we could afford to have things the way they need to be." Clark said he has lived in the home for 13 years.

According to Clark, volunteers from CAP had been to the home once before and insulated under the floor. "We were getting heat bills that were $500 till they came and put in the insulation," he said. "These good people make a big difference for a lot of people."

On Saturday, nearly 250 past and present volunteers and employees gathered to share stories and talk about future plans.

CAP is the 18th largest human service organization in the nation and is staffed mainly by volunteers. CAP was founded by Reverend Ralph Beiting in 1964.

"These good people make a big difference for a lot of people."

Vincent Birch, of Albany, New York, (facing camera) gathered workers together to plan the day's activities during the CAP 50th Anniversary. Workers performed repairs on ten Rockcastle County homes Friday.

Charles Clark watched from his porch, on Reverend Green Loop Road in Mt. Vernon, as CAP volunteer Erin Bottomlee used a power sprayer to remove mold and mildew from the home's metal siding. Other workers were performing needed repairs inside the home.

Strides Against Cancer Horse Show is next week

The fourth annual Strides Against Cancer Horse Show will be held on Saturday, July 11 at 5 p.m. at the Brodhead Fairgrounds.

The annual event is the primary fundraiser for Rockcastle Regional Hospital & Respiratory Care Center's Hope Fund, a cancer patient assistance fund.

"In 2011, we began to notice an increase in the number of patients experiencing access barriers to treatment because of the overwhelming cost for travel," said Melissa Brock, Rockcastle Regional oncology service line manager. "Patients were often struggling to pay for the gas to get them to and from treatment. This was when the idea of the Hope Fund was born."

Brock says that anyone who has ever had to deal with cancer knows the staggering financial, physical, and emotional burdens the disease poses for both the patients and their families.

Some patients require chemotherapy multiple times a week. Some may still require trips to Lexington for radiation treatment, additional biopsies, or even surgery. Travel costs can add up quickly when undergoing any form of cancer treatment.

Brock worked with Dr. David Bullock, Rockcastle

Regional Hospital leadership, and Markey Cancer Center to create the Hope Fund in September 2012. Managed by the oncology department, the fund helps to alleviate financial hardships that patients encounter while actively receiving cancer care, primarily through assistance with travel expenses.

To learn more about Rockcastle Regional's Hope Fund, please contact Melissa Brock at 606-256-7703.

If you are interested in sponsorship opportunities for the Strides Against Cancer Horse Show, please contact Vanessa Bullock at 606-308-4853.

Legislative Update...

By Jonathon Shell, State Representative

The General Assembly may not be in session but as State Representative I have been working as hard as ever for Rockcastle County.

Recently, I reached out to the Kentucky Division of Water on behalf of the City of Brodhead. There was an issue with government overreach that Mayor Cash brought to my attention. Working with Senator Jared Carpenter, we were able to resolve the issue and save money for the taxpayers of Brodhead.

The Interim Session started this month. One of the Interim Committees I serve on is the Joint Committee on Local Government. During our first meeting, we heard from property evaluation administrators (PVAs) from across Kentucky, along with the Department of Revenue on current laws relating to the valuation of real and commercial property in the Commonwealth. Many PVAs are like Rockcastle's Janet Vaughn and do outstanding work. The basis of the meeting our committee held was in regards to controversy surrounding the PVA in Kentucky's largest county.

When Jefferson County PVA Tony Lindauer released property tax bills for 2014, several residents saw their property tax rates jump an average of 15 percent compared to last year, and in some cases homeowners saw up to a 200 percent jump on their property tax bills. Lindauer testified about his office using computer software called Pictometry, which uses satellite imagery of property and was being used in place of on-site assessments by the Jefferson County PVA.

Kentucky law dictates that evaluations of all property for tax purposes be done annually, and that on-site evaluations be done at least once every four years. Currently PVAs in 58 Kentucky counties use Pictometry, and the PVA from Laurel County told us during the meeting if her office could afford to purchase it they would use Pictometry as well.

While technology has made advances in areas like assessing how much your property is worth, the issue is current Kentucky law does not address the use of Pictometry in property evaluations for tax purposes which could be challenged in a court of law. Because of this, I believe legislation will be filed in the 2016 Regular Session that seeks to address how this technology is used, and direct how PVAs may use it in their assessments.

This 4th of July we celebrate our nation's 239th birthday. As we gather with friends, family, and community to celebrate our great nation, let's be sure to reflect on the sacrifice so many men and women have made in the fight to keep our nation free and protect the liberty we all cherish.

If I can be of assistance, please call my office at 502-564-8100 ext. 649 or send me an e-mail at jonathan.shell@lrc.ky.gov.

Local FFA members enjoy trip to State Convention

Submitted by Reporter
Sierra Sturgill

Rockcastle County FFA members recently attended the 86th Annual Kentucky State FFA Convention. The dates were June 9th-11th.

Members would like to thank the Alumni for paying the registration costs

Sarah Poynter was the Regional winner in Sheep Production Entrepreneurship Proficiency and Andrew McKinney was the Regional winner in Agricultural Sales Entrepreneurship Proficiency.

Two local FFA officers serve as State Delegates during the FFA State Convention. They approved several committee reports, treasurers' reports, and they approved the new State Officer slate. The delegates were Eric Bullock (Rockcastle County FFA Vice President) and Allie Johnson (Rockcastle County FFA Secretary). Bullock also won first place in the Kentucky State FFA Association proficiency contest in the area of Diversified Crop Production Entrepreneurship. Bullock also had a proficiency entry in the area of Turf Grass Management Placement.

Financial Aid Tip of the Month

Private loans bridge gap between college costs, other student aid

Most college-bound students qualify for financial aid to help pay for their education, such as federal and state grants, scholarships and Federal Stafford and PLUS Loans. In addition, local scholarships are often available, according to the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA). A parent can also borrow a federal loan to help pay their child's college costs.

Those programs make it easier to pay for college. However, they may not cover all the costs. When that happens, many people turn to private student loans, also called alternative loans.

The interest rates on private loans largely depend on the borrower's credit rating. So, students and parents may have to pay higher interest rates than they would on federal student loans. In addition, many lenders require students to have a cosigner, and some require the college to certify that the student needs the loan.

Students and parents are encouraged to do research before committing to any loan. They should compare the loans offered by various lenders to find the best possible deal.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers Kentucky's student financial aid programs, including the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES). Its sister agency, the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHESLC), offers Kentucky Advantage Loans to help students and parents pay for college. For more information about Advantage Loans, visit www.kheslc.com.

To find links to other useful education websites, go to www.gotocollege.ky.gov. For more information about Kentucky scholarships and grants, visit www.kheaa.com; write KHEAA, P.O. Box 798, Frankfort, KY 40602; or call 800-928-8926, ext. 6-7214.

Anglin completes doctoral program

Sonya Edwina Anglin, recently completed the doctoral program in Educational Leadership and Policy Studies at Eastern Kentucky University's College of Education.

Anglin will participate in the fall commencement ceremonies on Dec. 12, 2015.

A graduate of Berea College, Ms. Anglin also holds advanced degrees in History and Special Education from the University of Kentucky and Campbellsville University and is a National Board Certified teacher.

Anglin is a Special Education teacher at Lincoln County High School in Stanford. She is the daughter of the late Cledus and Mabel Pensol Anglin.

Campbellsville President's List

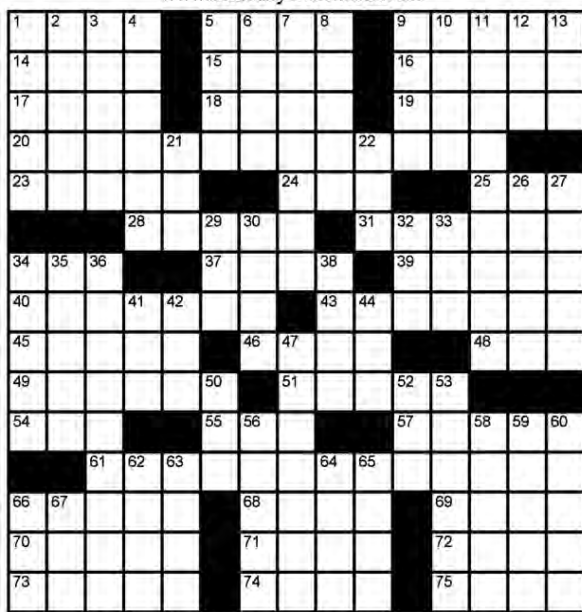

The academic honors' President's List for the spring 2015 semester has been announced by Dr. Frank Cheatham, Campbellsville University's senior vice president for academic affairs.

The following local students have been named to Campbellsville University's President's List for spring 2015: Casey Brooke Hunt of Mt. Vernon.

The academic honors' list recognizes students who achieve a grade point average of 3.50 or above for the semester with a course load of at least 12 hours. The spring 2015 academic honors' list includes a total of 552 students, with 232 named to the President's List for achieving a 4.0 grade point average, and 320 named to the Dean's List for achieving a 3.5 to 3.99 GPA.

Tom Mills

Rockcastle County Extension Office

Source: Tony Pescatore, UK extension poultry professor

A multi-state outbreak of highly pathogenic avian influenza, including Kentucky, has reduced the United States' egg laying hen population to the smallest size in at least seven years. More than 50 million birds have died. As a result, egg prices are on the rise in many grocery stores and some folks are wondering if the eggs and poultry products that remain are safe to consume.

While you may see fewer eggs available in some areas, you don't really need to worry about the safety of poultry in the stores because no products from infected flocks are entering the food chain.

Because of the severity of the outbreak, the Kentucky Department of Agriculture has issued new restrictions on poultry that might impact your participation in county fairs or other poultry activities. All avian comingling sales events are now banned, including but not limited to stockyards, flea markets and swap meets. You also can't sell birds at a fair or show including auctions. Private sales and direct movement of birds from farm to farm is still okay in accordance with Kentucky statutes. All birds from other states have to come through a clean facility before crossing into Kentucky, and those transporting birds into the state need to have a permit from the Kentucky state veterinarian's office, <http://www.kyagr.com/statevet/>.

You must buy chicks from hatcheries that are classified as avian influenza H5/H7 clean. If a hatchery is in an infected state, you can't buy chicks from them if they are within seven miles of an infected farm.

Exhibition events, shows and fairs are restricted to intrastate movement only. No out-of-state entries will be allowed. The complete list of restrictions is detailed on the KDA website at <http://www.kyagr.com/Kentucky-AGNEWS/press-releases/Kentucky-restricts-sales-and-movement-of-birds-as-proactive-response-to-avian-flu-outb.html>.

The University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, Food and Environment has several helpful publications about avian influenza at <http://afspoultry.ca.uky.edu/poultrypubs#Influenza>.

Another helpful resource is the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Health Birds website at <http://healthybirds.aphis.usda.gov>.

Kyle Coffey participated in the Estill County Fair Poultry and Exhibition show on Monday, June 29, 2015. He received 1st place Blue Ribbons for his Buff Columbian, Black OEGB, Silver Duckwing OEGB, Barred Rock Bantam, and his White Rock Standard. Each bird winning a blue ribbon then moved onto the Class Champion competition. All five birds also received a Class Champion rating with Overall Show Champion going to "Disney" Kyle's White Rock Standard. Kyle was also awarded the Showmanship Champion for his age group.

Library News...

We also will have Movie Night on July 7 at 4:00pm. Storytime is every Friday at 1:00pm for children ages 3-5.

Knoxville Zoo will be at the library for an animal show on July 9 at 4:00pm. They will be bringing several animals to the library for children and adults to see. The program will take place inside. All reading Logs are due Saturday, July 11. Ronald McDonald will be at the library on July 23 at 4:00 for our Summer Reading finale program. The library will be closed Friday, July 3 and Saturday, July 4.

If you have any questions concerning our programs please contact us at 606-256-2388 or check out our website: rockcastlelibrary.org.

Summer art camp for children

The Center for Rural Development and Lake Cumberland Performing Arts are giving children between the ages of 6-11 a chance to explore their creativity and experience the arts like never before at the Virginia Murrell Summer Art Camp.

The summer art camp, now in its third year, will be held July 13-16 from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. each day at The Center in Somerset and will feature hands-on, interactive workshops in both visual and performing arts taught by local artisans.

"We are excited to offer a diverse lineup of workshop sessions for school-age children to discover the arts and tap into their creative talents," said Laura Glover, director of sales and events at The Center. "Arts education plays a significant role in the life and development of our children inside and outside of the classroom."

Workshops will include instructor-led sessions in visual arts working with paint and other mixed media; music enrichment programs; theatre games and storytelling; elements of dance; and food as art. Instructors include Melissa Schutz, Debra Hines, Britani Shoemaker, Mete Sergin, Adam Hopper, Sommer Schoch, and Steve Albritton.

"During the camp, children will have unique opportunities to explore the arts in fun, creative ways," Glover said. "Different activities will be held at each of our two workshop sessions to promote and encourage development of the arts in school-age children."

For more information on the Virginia Murrell Summer Art Camp or to register, contact Dianna Winstead or Debra Hines at 606-677-6000, stop by The Center at 2292 South U.S. 27 (at Traffic Light 15) in Somerset and pick up registration forms at the front desk; or visit www.centertech.com to register online. All registration forms and payment must be turned in to The Center by July 7.

The registration fee is $50 per child per session or $75 per child for both sessions. A maximum of 25 students per age group will be accepted for each session. Breakfast and lunch will be provided by the Pulaski County Schools Summer Feeding Program.

The summer art camp is named after the late Virginia Murrell, a well-known supporter of music and arts in the community and a contributor to Lake Cumberland Performing Arts.

USDA Opens Enrollment Period for Agriculture Risk Coverage and Price Loss Coverage Safety-Net Programs

U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Secretary Tom Vilsack today announced that eligible producers may now formally enroll in the Agriculture Risk Coverage (ARC) and Price Loss Coverage (PLC) programs for 2014 and 2015. The enrollment period begins June 17, 2015, and will end Sept. 30, 2015.

"The extensive outreach campaign conducted by USDA since the 2014 Farm Bill was enacted, along with extending deadlines, is central to achieving an expected high level of participation," said Vilsack. "We worked with universities to simplify these complex programs by providing online tools so producers could explore how program election options would affect their operation in different market conditions; these tools were presented to almost 3,000 organizations across the country. The Farm Service Agency also sent more than 5 million educational notices to producers nationwide and participated in over 4,880 educational events with more than 447,000 attendees. I am proud of the many committed USDA employees who worked hard over the last several months to provide producers support to help them make these important decisions."

The new programs, established by the 2014 Farm Bill, trigger financial protections for agricultural producers when market forces cause substantial drops in crop prices or revenues. More than 1.76 million farmers have elected ARC or PLC. Previously, 1.7 million producers had enrolled to receive direct payments (the program replaced with ARC and PLC by the 2014 Farm Bill). This means more farms have elected ARC or PLC than previously enrolled under previously administered programs.

Nationwide, 96 percent of soybean farms, 91 percent of corn farms, and 66 percent of wheat farms elected ARC. 99 percent of long grain rice farms, 99 percent of peanut farms, and 94 percent of medium grain rice farms elected PLC. For data about other crops and state-by-state program election results go to www.fsa.usda.gov/arc-plc.

Covered commodities under ARC and PLC include barley, canola, large and small chickpeas, corn, crambe, flaxseed, grain sorghum, lentils, mustard seed, oats, peanuts, dry peas, rapeseed, long grain rice, medium grain rice (which includes short grain and sweet rice), safflower seed, sesame, soybeans, sunflower seed and wheat. Upland cotton is no longer a covered commodity.

The 2014 Farm Bill builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past six years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for the taxpayer. Since enactment, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has made significant progress to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. For more information, visit www.usda.gov/farmbill.

91st Birthday...

Florence Croucher celebrated her 91st birthday on June 25th with family in Winchester where she resides in an assisted living facility. Mrs. Croucher was born June 22, 1924 in Granger County, Tennessee. She is a retiree of Parker Seal and worked 20 years at Wal-Mart. Those visiting Florence on the 25th, were her cousin, Nancy Wilson, bottom right, from Berea and standing, Gail Cope, left, second cousin from Berea and her cousin Sue Trail Stroud from Carlisle. Not pictured was June Durham, another cousin, of Brodhead, who took the picture. Florence would appreciate hearing from her friends in Madison and Rockcastle Counties.

An encouraging word:

Life Is More Than Going

By Howard Coop

On a beautiful Sunday morning in late March, I got into my car and started to church. As short time after leaving the house, I came to the main street. Before making a left turn, I stopped and looked cautiously to the right and to the left. No cars were approaching, but I saw a young man on the opposite side of the street. As he sauntered slowly along, he looked to the right and then to the left. It seemed to me that he walked without purpose. He didn't appear to be going anywhere in particular; he was just moseying along.

I enjoy cartoons, and I read them regularly. Usually, they make a valid point about something significant in everyday life. As I thought of that young man sauntering along the street aimlessly that beautiful Sunday morning, a cartoon came to my mind. In that cartoon, two aliens on Mars were looking down at the earth and watching people rushing to and fro. One alien said, "What are they doing?" The other alien replied, "They are going." "But," said the first alien, "where are they going?" "Oh," the other alien answered, "they are not going anywhere, they are just going."

Life is more than merely going; it is going somewhere in pursuit of a purpose. One thing is sure: You never achieve that purpose by lolling around in a lazy manner. You get there by moving forward with determination. Sivananda Saraswati, and Indian guru of recent years, said, "Put your heart, mind, and soul into even your smallest acts. This is the secret of success." Almost two thousand years ago someone else put it in more familiar words: "Forgetting what is behind and straining toward what is ahead, I press on toward the goal to win the prize..."

In 1873, Phillip P. Bliss wrote: Dare to be a Daniel, Dare to stand alone. Dare to have a purpose firm! Dare to make it known.

RHONDA'S MEATLOAF
1 and 1/2 pounds ground chuck
Small onion, chopped fine
5 slices white bread
2 dashes A1 Steak Sauce
1/4 cup tomato juice
1 egg
Salt
Pepper
Preheat oven to 350°.

Crumble ground chuck up in a medium size bowl. Add onion. Crumble bread into mixture and add egg, steak sauce and tomato juice. Season with salt and pepper. Mix all gently with wooden spoon or use your hands. Spread into baking dish and drizzle tomato ketchup on top. Bake for 45 minutes or until well done in the middle.

MUM'S MEATLOAF

with catsup gravy
1 and 1/2 pounds ground beef
2 tablespoons tomato catsup
1 egg
12 saltine crackers, crushed
1 small onion, chopped
1 can (8 ounce) tomato sauce, divided
Pepper
Salt
4 medium size potatoes, peeled and cut into wedges
Preheat oven to 350°.
Gently mix ground beef, 2 tablespoons catsup, egg, 3 tablespoons of tomato sauce, cracker crumbs, onion, salt, and pepper together. Pat gently into an 8 or 9 inch iron skillet, forming a round loaf not touching sides of skillet. Pour the rest of tomato sauce over meat loaf.

Rub potato wedges with oil. Place around meat loaf forming a "fence." Bake at 350° for 1 hour 10 minutes. When done, remove from oven and let sit for 15 minutes. Remove meatloaf and potatoes from pan with slotted spatula.

GRAVY:
2 tablespoons grease from meatloaf
3 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 cups water
1 tablespoon tomato catsup
Throw away all but 3 tablespoons of grease. If there isn't enough, add vegetable oil to make 3 tablespoons. To the grease add 3 tablespoons flour. Stir to loosen browned bits from bottom of skillet. Stir until flour is lightly browned. Stir in the tablespoon of catsup. Add the water. Cook over medium high heat until thickened. Add salt and pepper to taste. Serve with meatloaf and potatoes.

NOTE: The gravy tastes better if you use ground beef with 80/20 fat content to make the meatloaf. If not making gravy, I use ground beef with 93/7 ratio.

Bible Talk

This Saturday is the 239th Anniversary of the Declaration of Independence for our Country.

"Free From Kings and Popes"- This is what 4th of July represents to those who know the history of our country. Indeed what an apt description of why people left the old world, risking life and limb, leaving family and homeland, going to an undeveloped land for the most part. The main reason for most? It was to be "Free From Kings & Popes." How many were persecuted and hindered from worshiping God as they read from the scriptures? People had such a longing for freedom to worship God and practiced what they believed to be right. How many Kings and Popes sought to force people to believe and act certain ways. I'm happy to live in a country that allows me to practice New Testament Christianity, and not be forced to be in the church of England, to be Catholic, or to be in some other denominational church. That is why most came to the new world, it was to be "Free From Kings & Popes." People where longing for religious freedom, and they found it here. Later, people may have sought to come for economic opportunities and reasons. The land of opportunity, but the main reason many came at first was to be "Free From Kings & Popes." What a blessing it is to live in a land of religious freedom, may we pray for the rulers, to continue to have such freedom. 1Tim.2:1-4. "First of all, then, I urge that supplications, prayers, intercessions, and thanksgivings be made for all people, for kings and all who are in high positions, that we may lead a peaceful and quiet life, godly and dignified in every way. This is good, and it is pleasing in the sight of God our Savior, who desires all people to be saved and to come to the knowledge of the truth." May the Lord continue to bless our country.

The First Amendment - When the colonists got together to declare independence and to make the constitution, what was the FIRST amendment that was dear to them? Religious freedom and free speech. "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances." Governments, Kings, Popes were always seeking to force their religious ideas down the throats of people. They did not like people to speak and teach what they believed, that challenged their religious doctrines. This then was the main reason why so many left their homeland and came to America. Thanks be to God, for the sacrifices of so many, so we can enjoy these wonderful freedoms, especially to be "Free from Kings and Popes."

We invite you to study and worship with us at the Providence church of Christ.

A two vehicle crash on South Wilderness Road near Pine Hill Holiness Church sent two women to the hospital last Friday morning. According to police, Brittany Vance of Mt. Vernon pulled her Pontiac Grand Am into the path of a Chevrolet Cavalier driven by Marie Ruppe, of Livingston. Both women had to be cut from their vehicles. Vance was transferred to the University of Kentucky Medical Center for treatment of her injuries.

Livingston getting make-over with help of county and grant

By: Mike French

The City of Livingston is getting new sidewalks, thanks to an 80/20 grant from the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet, the efforts of Rockcastle County Judge Executive office and Livingston Mayor Jason Medley.

A grant, applied for by previous administrations and reestablished by Medley, was awarded this year, according to officials.

The project is expected to cost $323,257 with the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet providing 80% of that amount leaving $64,651 as Livingston's 20% share and the fiscal court, under former County Judge/Executive Buzz Carloftis, agreed to fund the project.

Current Rockcastle County Judge Executive Doug Bishop said the bulk of the money will come from in-kind services by the county, including road department workers, work release prisoners and county owned equipment.

"We are proud to do what we can to help Livingston and we want to make sure that the taxpayers of Rockcastle County get the credit for it," he said.

The original grant application included decorative street lights and a clock but Bishop says the clock had to be removed from the project because all the bids were too high. Street lights are still possible but the decision hasn't been made yet, according to Bishop.

However, the project has not come without downfalls. "What I didn't know is that the county is having to meet payroll every month and pay other costs, but then we don't get reimbursed

Blast in the Valley rescheduled to Sunday, July 12th

The annual "Blast in the Valley" in Renfro Valley has been rescheduled to this Sunday, July 12th due to soggy conditions at the site last Sunday.

The free event will begin at 4 p.m. and will feature inflatables for the children and live musical entertainment provided by Level Green, Medley Boys, Wild River, Blind Ricky and the Renfro Valley band.

Concessions will be available and fireworks will begin at dusk.

The event is a joint effort of the Mount Vernon/Rockcastle County Tourism Commission, the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court and the City of Mount Vernon.

Who do not want to perform same-sex marriages Rep. Shell vows to protect freedom of churches, pastors Representative Jonathan Shell announced this week he will work to protect churches and pastors in Rockcastle County, and across Kentucky, who do not want to perform same sex marriages in light of the U.S. Supreme Court's recent decision legalizing same sex marriage.

"Many of our ministers and churches have a fundamental belief that marriage is between one man and one woman under God's law, not the law of man," said Shell. "They should have the right to not be forced to perform marriages between those of the same sex, which is why, as a member of the General Assembly, I will

Benefit ride planned for local girl

There will be a Benefit motorcycle ride at the Broadhead Depot Park this Saturday, July 11th to help with expenses for Abby Langford, a local 12 year-old girl that has battled cancer for two years.

Registration will begin at 9:00 a.m. and kickstands will go up at 10:30. Riders will be stopping for lunch before returning to the park.

Instead of a registration fee, organizers are asking for donations to the Langford family.

There will also be live music at 1:00 featuring Mercy Roadz and StraitWay.

Investigators searching for arsonist after business fire

Arson investigators are searching for suspects this week after a fire at Thompson Auto and Truck Sales at 164 Big Cave Road in Mount Vernon. The fire occurred around 1 a.m. on Sunday July 5th.

According to David Thompson, owner of the business, suspects cut the chain link fence surrounding the property and took batteries out of the trucks on the lot, among other property.

Thompson said several thousands dollars worth of property was taken.

The business does have security cameras but Thompson said a fire was set directly under the cameras so there is no footage of the arson.

The building was severely damaged and trucks were burned in the fire as well.

help pass legislation that guarantees protection to our pastors and their churches."

Representative Shell was a co-sponsor of House Bill 279, the so-named Religious Freedom Bill, during the 2013 Regular Session. HB 279, which the General Assembly passed into law over the veto of Governor Steve Beshear, sought to protect freedom of religion as spelled out in the Bill of Rights from any policies or regulations passed by the federal government that would go against someone's religious beliefs. Workers from the Rockcastle County Detention Center Work Release Program are cutting out sidewalks in Livingston as part of the sidewalks project. Livingston Mayor Jason Medley said damaged sidewalks will be replaced and new sidewalks will be added to each end of town. Rockcastle County Judge Executive Doug Bishop said the project is expected to last 90 working days. The project is funded through a state grant as well as Rockcastle County taxpayers, according to Rockcastle County Treasurer Joe Clontz.

A fire at Thompson Auto and Truck Sales on Big Cave Road early Sunday morning caused severe damage to the building and several trucks parked on the property. According to David Thompson, unknown person(s) cut through the chain link fence, took batteries and other property and then started the fire. Arson investigators and Kentucky State Police are investigating the incident.

Aces Over

Someone has to be first at everything

How do things get started? Who was the first? Just things that we all take for granted and do nearly every day, had to start somewhere.

My favorite example is eating eggs. Who was the very first person to say, "Hey Noah, see that chicken over there? Well, I'm gonna eat the next thing that comes out of its butt."

Yelling is weird too. Who first decided that somehow their opinion was much more correct and based in factual data, if they speak it louder than normal. In fact, there seems to be a ratio there. The more a person wants to be right, the louder they seem to say it.

Watch two people in an argument and notice the escalating vocal volume as they express their point of view. Who decided we should do that?

Cursing when one gets hurt is another. Not everyone, of course, but many people's very first response to hitting their thumb with a hammer is to yell "&@%$#%" as if it will stop the pain immediately. Another ratio seems to take affect. The more sever the pain, the nastier the curse word.

Who was it that first thought, "If I yell out a nasty word right here, my finger will stop throbbing?" If it were true, I would just spend my days cursing with every sentence in a sort of preventative maintenance.

Here's another. Throwing something if you are mad at it.

"Hey Bill, this calculator won't work. I'm gonna heave it against the wall and see if that will fix it." Again, not everyone does this, but some do. Question is, why? How did that get started? It can't be instinct or evolution because it doesn't work. No calculator has ever started working again because someone threw it out a window.

I've always wondered about make-up. You know, like lipstick, blush, eyeliner and such.

Who was the first cave-man to tell his wife, "Rather than see that freckle on your cheek, I'd rather see animal fat, mercury and plant residue spread over your face."

And who was the first woman to think to herself, "no one will like me unless they have no idea what I really look like?" That had to be a scary looking human.

Of course these days, that little cheek dab has evolved into lip-injecting, rear-enhancing, front-implanting, nose-shaping, forehead-lifting, eye-lining make overs. All because that first dude said, "I don't like that freckle."

And for men, shaving is interesting to me. Who was the very first man to think that the hair growing naturally on his face needed to come off? Oh, the hair growing on his chest and arms and legs was just fine. But only the hair on his face has to be removed.

How shunned that first man must have been when he showed up at the cave-man cookout clean-shaven.

I can imagine the quiet chatter as the brontosaurus roasted over the fire.

"That dude cut the hair off his face! How disgusting. Who would do something like that," they must have thought. Someone probably even called him a "hippy."

Even in modern times things have become "normal" that really shouldn't have. Answering a phone when it rings no matter what is happening around you has become the norm.

No matter whom one is talking to or what is going on around them, when a phone rings, the world stops until it is answered. I believe there are some people who could be running down the flaming halls of an office building during a three-alarm fire and they would stop to answer the phone ringing in the office they just passed.

Who was the first person to say, "Shut up Mr. president, my phone is ringing?"

Anyway, I guess there are lessons to be learned here. I guess if no one tried anything for the first time, I wouldn't have had eggs for breakfast and wouldn't have thrown my fork and yelled and cursed when I dropped them trying to answer my phone.

Rain, rain go away! My pool is "molding" over from nonuse. My garden looks as if it has never seen a rototiller or hoe. My dogs have to be physically ejected from the house. And, worse of all, my mood has sunk to just about an all time low. I realize we need rain but, really?

We began gardening this year with such high hopes - 9 rows of corn, half-runner green beans, 39 tomato plants, sweet potatoes, peppers, squash, etc. and we are actually having a hard time figuring out where the plants end and the weeds begin.

We didn't get our tomato plants staked when they were small so, guess what? they are lying on the ground ruining because we haven't been able to get into the garden for the past two weeks. Paige and I waded into the mud Monday and got five plants staked but they are now several feet tall and it was hard. We gave up and will have to resort to newspapers under the plants to try and save them. The corn is doing well but so are the weeds and there is no let up in sight.

I got some uplift to my mood Tuesday night. It was our league bowling night and Travis and I are on a team. Travis has been absent the past two weeks because of vacation -- what's up with that, right? The first week, Allison filled in for him and she and I managed to win three of four games. The second week, Allison's baby was sick so I had to go it alone and it was catastrophic -- lost four. Bowled as if I had never seen a bowling

A Lover's Question

In 1958, when I was a teenager with a stereo record player in my bedroom, Clyde McPhatter released his hit, "A Lover's Question." I had been a fan of his since his release of the 1950's hit, "Sixty Minute Man." "A Lover's Question" became one of my favorite rock and roll songs. It climbed into the top-ten list of the Pop Charts and made number one on the Rhythm and Blues Chart. The song is about true love and trust – or in my case at the time, puppy love.

Does she love me, with all her heart?

Should I worry, when we're apart?

It's a lover's question, I'd like to know.

Does she need me, as she pretends?

Is this a game? Well then will I'll win.

It's a lover's question; I'd like to know.

I'd like to know when she's not with me

if she's still true to me.

I'd like to know when we're kissing, does she feel just what I feel?

And how am I to know it's really real.

Oh, tell me where, the answer lies.

Is it in her kiss or in her eyes?

It's a lover's question; I'd like to know.

McPhatter was born in Durham, NC, on November 15, 1932. His family moved to New York in 1950, where he signed a contract with King Records and became a member of a group called The Dominoes. He remained with them for three years until he was asked to become the lead singer of the famous and highly successful band known as The Drifters.

I loved McPhatter's style and bought all of his 45's. I must have spent a small fortune loading juke boxes around Mt. Vernon as I listened to McPhatter's hits. As a matter of fact, I often still do whenever I find a juke with 1950's hits. (They are becoming harder and harder to find.) I can close my eyes, and I am transported to the Dinner Bell restaurant when I was a teen.

When I was a senior at Mt. Vernon High School in 1962, he released his smash hit, "Lover Please." ("Lover please, please come back...") McPhatter seemed to be at the top of his career, but behind the scenes, he was dealing with alcohol addiction and depression.

It was in 1972 that he died of an apparent heart attack. I remember hearing about his death on television and feeling so sad that he was gone. Over the years since 1950, I loved McPhatter's hits so much that I have tried to collect them all on my laptop. Occasionally, I pull them up on my screen and listen. I definitely connect with his lyrics and his melodic voice. His is one of those whom you immediately recognize.

Any regular reader of mine is aware of my deep fondness for old time rock and roll. I suppose it must seem to some that nearly every artist of those days is a "favorite" of mine. I guess that I do have a larger-than-

Points East

By Ike Adams

It stopped raining for a few consecutive hours here on Charlie Brown Road one day last week.

The sun popped out and steam started rising from several big rolls of hay the farmers had baled in the field across the road from my front porch back when the weather was dry. Birds commenced singing with great joy, most obviously apparent in the high volume vocals of a Carolina Wren hidden in the hydrangea bushes not ten away from the Rufus Harrison platform swing in which I sat and which has become my favorite perch of all time. Things were looking up because I took the wren's song to be a promise of avery pleasant, early summer afternoon.

Then suddenly, and seemingly out of nowhere, a vast hoard Japanese beetles converged upon our place. I use the term "hoard" because it sounds negative, as opposed to "swarm" because I mentally associate the latter with honey bees and that makes me feel positive. Anyway, one minute there was not a beetle in sight and the next minute they were everywhere I looked in any direction. Thousands upon thousands of them.

Apparently they had been hiding under every blade of grass for miles around. Once the sun came out and their wings were dry enough to fly, they arose as one and began buzzing about. I could hear them pelting the sides of the house. They began crashing into the wall behind my porch, falling to the floor, staggering about for a few seconds and then repeating the process. Within minutes I had slapped a dozen or more off my arms and chest and raked half as many out of my hair.

Within the hour they had nearly covered our 6' tall by 10' wide hydrangeas, a 4+' tall clump of mallow that contains over thirty leafy stalks, numerous tall sun-flowers and several dozen other lawn and garden flowers we have growing around the house

I began filling my garden sprinkler can with water and a cup on Neem oil per filling to douse the flowers and garden veggies. Neem won't kill the beetles but theyand most other insects can't stand it. I try not to use chemical insecticides because I'm afraid that I might also poison the birds that heartily feed on dead insects.

I know, for sure, that robins and blue jayswillgobble them up until their craws are so stuffed and puffed out that they look like feathered body builders. I used to catch Japanese beetles by the hundreds in traps made from old milk and water jugs until I read an article that said trapping them is actually counter-productive. The traps do work but they also attract them to all the foliage near the trap. But they do make it easy to catch bird feed.

The theory is that a distressed beetle emits a sound or smell that his brethren can detect from great distances. When they get close to the trap, they will take a hearty meal off any foliage near it. Chances are,they would not have shown up in the first place if you didn't already have a couple in your trap. I've read that on several internet sites which means there is a 5 to 10% chance that it's actually true.

In other disturbing news. One of my close friends is having a terribly frustrating experience with tomato blossom end rot and we need help. For the last several years I have relied on Epsom salts as a fertilizer to prevent this disease or stop it in its tracks but the salts have not worked for my friend and now I'm scared that mine will have it too because I started both his and my plants from seed.

I've always thought that

An encouraging word:

We Anticipate Something Better

By Howard Coop

On Tuesday morning, November 10, 1970, I drove with great apprehension to the Greater Cincinnati Airport. It was to be my first flight, and I was excited. A dream of a lifetime was becoming a reality, for I was on my way to the Holy Land, a place I had always wanted to visit.

At 11:40 that morning, a group of us boarded an American Airlines Boeing 707 for Kennedy International Airport in New York. As we walked to the plane, it was a gloomy day. Dark clouds hovered low over the airport, and a chilly rain was falling. As the plane neared the end of the runway and began to rise, I looked out the window and saw only dense fog. Looking to the right, I could not see the end of the wing of the plane, and my apprehension increased significantly. But in that strange environment, I realized there was nothing I could do, so I tried to relax and hoped that things would get better, and they did.

Cora Mae "Willie" Hill

Cora Mae "Willie" Hill, 98, of West Liberty, formerly of Livingston, died Monday, June 29, 2015 at the West Liberty Health & Rehabilitation Center. She was born in Rockcastle County on November 15, 1916, the daughter of Phil and Josie BurdineCarrier. She was a retired employee of Sol's Department Store and was of the Baptist Faith, serving the Lord faithfully. She was a very caring and loving person and a very special friend to all who knew her. She will be sadly missed.

She is survived by: several great nieces and nephews; a special friend, Judy Stamper; and her cat, "Tom"; as well as her family and friends at the Wolfe County Health Care Center in Campton and the West Liberty Nursing & Rehabilitation Center.

In addition to her parents, she was preceded in death by: her husband, Mack Hill; two brothers, Felix (Hazel) Carrier and Huey Carrier; and a sister, Nannie (John) Durham.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday, July 2, 2015 at the Dowell & Martin Funeral Home Chapel by Bro. Jimmy Miller. Burial followed in Elmwood Cemetery.

plane rose above the rain and the dark clouds. The wings of the plane became visible as the sun came out, and the clouds below the plane were beautiful with the sun shining brightly upon them.

Life is not always what we want it to be; it's not always a bed of roses. Langston Hughes aptly described it when he wrote, "Life for me ain't been no crystal stair. It's had tacks in it, and splinters, and boards turned up..." But that morning as we flew thirty thousand feet above sea level, I looked out the window at what looked like a white carpet sparkling beneath us in the bright sun, and I remembered an old idiom I had heard all of my life, "Every cloud has a silver lining."

After the rain, the sun shines again, and after bad times, good times return. Regardless of the present circumstances, we look ahead and anticipate something better.

Clifton Glen Hammond

Clifton Glen Hammond, 58, of Mt. Vernon, died Thursday, July 2, 2015 at his home. He was born in Mt. Vernon on September 16, 1956, the son of Leonard and Demi Cole Hammond. He had been a construction worker for Kay & Kay Construction and was an avid gun collector.

He is survived by: two sons, Cole Hammond and Carter Hammond, both of Mt. Vernon; his parents, Leonard "Roge" and Demi Hammond of Mt. Vernon; and a sister, Becky Hammond of Berea.

Funeral services were conducted Monday, July 6, 2015 at the Dowell & Martin Funeral Home Chapel by Mr. Larry Hammond. Burial followed in Red Hill Cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Martin Abney, Carter Hammond, Billy Graves, Steve Graves, Larry Reliford and Wayne McClure.

Joyce Carter Bussell

The family of Joyce Carter Bussell would like to express our gratitude and thanks to "everyone" for their prayers, love and support during the illness and death of our precious Mother.

Thanks to Dr. Saylor, Dr. Bullock and Chasity Frakes for their expert care. Thank you to Rockcastle Hospital and staff for their compassion and assistance during difficult times during my Mother's stay at the hospital. Thank you to the Rockcastle Ambulance Service, Brodhead Pharmacy, Collins Respiratory Care and Home Health as each one played an important role in meeting my Mother's daily needs.

A special thanks goes to the Marvin E. Owens Home for Funerals, along with Marvin, Judy and other staff. Marvin, Judy and staff made this difficult time a little easier to bear with their expertise, patience, guidance, love and support. Thank you to Pam's Florist for the beautiful flowers, Genny and Jack for the music, Bro. David Sargent and Bro. John Zupancic for their kind words of comfort and prayers. Thank you to the pallbearers and a special thanks to Joe Bussell for giving his time to lead the funeral procession. Last, a special thanks to Freedom Baptist Church for their outpouring of love during this difficult time.

The Family of Joyce Carter Bussell

On a personal note, I would like to honor a few places with a special thanks. First is the Rockcastle Board of Education/ Brodhead Elementary School leaders, staff and my 4th grade students. We are blessed to have schools that are more than just a place to gain book knowledge. Our schools are places where staff/students come together like a family reaching out to meet the needs of one of their own. We expect adults to be caring citizens but when a group of 9, 10 and 11-year old students comfort you like little adults, showering you with love, prayers, gifts and support then you know that the students learning reaches far beyond book knowledge.

Next, I would like to say, "Hats Off to John Dyehouse and members of the Brodhead Fire Department." These guys were willing to come out and answer a call when my Mother was in distress. John, and each fireman, was so kind and gentle as they cared for Mother. You see, our firemen are always ready to assist their community with needs other than fires and car wrecks. Thanks Guys!

Last, a special thanks to our friends and neighbors of Frith Subdivision. My Mother was blessed, and we, ourselves, are blessed to live in such a loving, caring and supportive neighborhood. I could never express my gratitude with mere words so I will just say, "Thank you God for your blessings of these friends, neighbors and this neighborhood." May God bless each and everyone of you in special ways!

Campbellsville ranked as one of most affordable small colleges

By Joan C. McKinney, news and publications coordinator

Campbellsville College has been ranked 48th in the top 100 most affordable small colleges west of the Mississippi by Great Values Colleges.

Dr. Michael V. Carter, president of Campbellsville University, said, "We are very excited about this ranking. At Campbellsville University, providing the best scholarships, grants and other financial arrangements is of high importance.

"We understand families struggle with college expenses, and we want to make the college experience the most affordable possible. We always are working together with our students to help make Christian higher education accessible to as many people as possible.

"Coupled with the low student debt that our graduates have, as recognized statewide and nationally as well, CU is really becoming known as one of the most affordable Christian universities of excellence in the nation. We are very pleased with this latest recognition."

Dave Walters, vice president for admissions and student services, said, "Affordability is an important consideration for students as they make a choice of where to attend. Being ranked as most affordable at 48th out of 100 small colleges east of the Mississippi is further recognition of how hard we work at Campbellsville University to provide each of our students with an individualized and maximized financial aid package."

For the ranking, Great Values Colleges limited their selection to small schools (4,000 students or less) east of the Mississippi. Traditional, four-year schools were only considered in the ranking. Community colleges, online colleges, graduate schools or specialty universities, such as established seminaries, were not considered.

Campbellsville University has also been ranked fourth most affordable among top 50 Christian colleges in U.S. by ChristianUniversitiesOnline.org and ranked in Top 10 colleges nationwide for lowest student debt loans at graduation by The Project on Student Debt.

The fall semester at Campbellsville University begins Tuesday, Aug. 25, and financial aid is still available. For information, contact the Office of Financial Aid at (270) 789-5013 or visit the office in their new location in the Administration Building at 104 University Drive, Campbellsville.

Campbellsville University is a widely acclaimed Kentucky-based Christian university with more than 3,500 students offering 63 undergraduate options, 17 master's degrees, five post-graduate areas and eight pre-professional programs. The website for complete information is campbellsville.edu.

Americans willing to drive farthest for love and family

(StatePoint) Summer travel season is upon us and a new survey reveals just where all those vehicles on the highway may be headed. Americans indicated they are willing to drive the farthest for love and family, with fewer willing to drive long distances for sporting and entertainment events.

In particular, 42 percent surveyed indicated they would drive the farthest to see a love interest over any other activity and 25 percent indicated they would do so to attend a wedding, according to the new "How Far Would You Drive?" survey from Enterprise Rent-A-Car.

Additionally, 20 percent said they are willing to drive five or more hours to see their child's sporting event, while only nine percent are willing to drive that same distance to see their favorite professional football team play.

More than one-third also indicated they would drive five or more hours to attend a family reunion and a quarter said they would even do so to meet their in-laws.

"We hear anecdotal stories from our customers all the time about what inspires them to embark on road trips, and it's a thrill to see how we play a role in our customers' lives," said Lee Broughton, vice president, Enterprise Rent-A-Car Brand Marketing. "While love and family may spark individuals to drive the farthest, interests such as sports, music and food still earn significant car time."

Financial Aid Tip of the Month Don't be taken in by something too good to be true

Parents of college-bound students often hear from companies that promise to help them find financial aid to pay for college. But families don't have to pay for this kind of information, according to the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA).

That information can be obtained free by working with a school counselor, checking out sources in the library, doing free online scholarship searches or contacting the financial aid office of the college the student plans to attend.

If you decide to use a company to help you find financial aid, make sure you're dealing with a reputable one. The Federal Trade Commission cautions students to be especially skeptical about scholarship search companies and websites that make these claims:

- "You've been selected by a national foundation to receive a scholarship." Check with a school counselor to find out if the foundation is legitimate. Be especially wary if you're notified that you're a finalist in a scholarship contest you didn't enter.
- "We'll do all the work." It's highly unlikely that the company will fill out all the applications for all the financial aid sources it sends you.
- "I just need your credit card or bank account number to hold this scholarship." Never give these numbers to a person or company you're not sure about.
- "You're guaranteed to get money for college or your money back." Read the fine print. If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES), need-based grants and other programs to help students pay their higher education expenses.

usual list of favorites, but that is really just a reflection of how big a part that music has played in my life.

At my age, it is difficult to find much new music that appeals to my taste. I guess that is the reason that the old songs become sweeter and sweeter to me as the years pass. The fifties are now so long past that even the "oldies" stations have moved on and now carry only the sixties and seventies songs.

Thank the good Lord for Sirius/XM radio, which has an entire station devoted to the music of the fifties! Whenever Clyde McPhatter comes on, I still turn up the radio and sing along to my heart's content. My youth may be long past, but I still feel young at heart whenever I listen to his music.

Long live rock and roll!

that the disease, which manifests itself by turning the tip of the nearly grown fruit, jet black and then spreading upwards toward the stem until it has ruined the fruit for anything other than hog feed, was caused by too much water and/or calcium deficiency.

I have not figured out a way to turn the rain off and I have no idea how one goes about feeding calcium to tomatoes.

If you know a solution to this problem, I would oh-so appreciate your emailing it to me; ikeadams@aol.com or drop me a note in snail mail to 249 Charlie Brown Road, Paint Lick, KY 40461. Please don't bother calling because you would have to holler louder than you would calling in the dogs and I would, most likely, still be unable to comprehend whatever you were saying.

My thoughts keep going back to a recent news report about a rally in, I think, San Francisco of naked people, it looked as though most of them were on bikes. That boggled my mind to the extent that it rendered me speechless for a moment. I always wonder about boundaries. Where does their right to ride a bicycle naked end and my right not to have to see things no one should ever see, unless you're married to it, begin?

I know, I don't have to look and, believe me, I didn't after the initial shock subsided to where I could look away but you can't "unsee" something like that. Not sure what their point was, with this rally, and don't really care. Did they not think a nice, normal petition would have sufficed?

The Cincinnati Reds managed to take away one of my usual great pleasures of summer this year, they are terrible! I realize that makes me a "fair-weather fan" but I've been called worse.

I actually dread the upcoming election, the months of listening to political rhetoric and political correctness. I won't vote for Donald Trump but I can understand why he is experiencing an upsurge in support because he has the backbone to say what he thinks -- a trait sadly lacking these days...

Grandson of local couple receives Soldier’s Medal

By Sue Loughlin Tribune-Star

The grandson of two deceased Livingston residents has received one of the nation’s highest honors.

Vietnam veteran John W. Sutton of Worthington, Indiana, recently received the Soldier's Medal for a heroic act in September 1969, when he risked his own life to save helicopter pilot Richard Von Hatten from the burning wreckage of a downed helicopter.

Worthington is the grandson of the late Emmit and Telitha Mullins Quinn of Livingston.

The emotional ceremony took place at the Indiana Air National Guard, 181st Intelligence Wing, in Terre Haute. The Soldier’s Medal is the highest medal awarded to enlisted Army personnel for non-combat related acts of valor.

After Sutton survived the crash and suffered serious injuries of his own, he returned to the helicopter to retrieve Von Hatten. The pilot, whose legs had been crushed, was unable to escape the wrecked helicopter, which was quickly being consumed by fire. Sutton entered the wreckage and, with the help of the surviving co-pilot, pulled Von Hatten to safety.

Von Hatten, who lost both legs in the crash, sat in the audience, which included many of Sutton's relatives.

Major General R. Martin Umbarger adjutant general of the Indiana National Guard, and Larry Bucshon, 8th district congressman, participated in the medal presentation.

"John, you did not lay down your life, but you were willing to," said Umbarger, who pinned the medal on Sutton's suit jacket. He knows Sutton — they attended the same high school, Center Grove. Knowing Sutton and his family made the ceremony extra special, Umbarger said later.

Sutton spoke directly to Von Hatten during the program, and said, "Richard, only you know how much you suffered that day, and I saw it. ... You'll always be remembered as suffering for America that day." He offered Von Hatten "my deepest respect." The audience stood and applauded Von Hatten, who attended with his wife.

After the ceremony, Von Hatten said of Sutton's award, "It's been a long time coming. He definitely deserves it." At a recent Vietnam veterans reunion in Florida, he thanked Sutton for pulling him out of the helicopter wreckage and saving his life.

"The bad part is I have no memory of it," Von Hatten said, referring to the crash and immediate aftermath. But he knows he would not be alive today without Sutton's heroism. Both men were emotional during the program.

Von Hatten, who lives in a suburb of Chicago, said he believed it was important to attend the ceremony because Sutton "deserves the recognition and acknowledgement for what he did."

Sutton joined the U.S. Army in June 1968 and served in Vietnam from April 1969 to April 1970. He was an Army Specialist 4th Class.

The Soldier's Medal is the highest medal awarded to enlisted Army personnel for non-combat related acts of valor and is equivalent in merit to the Distinguished Flying Cross. Less than 19,000 Soldier's Medals have been awarded since its inception in 1926.

Traffic deaths on rise: tips to keep family safe

(StatePoint) Traffic deaths are on the rise, and experts fear the trend will continue this summer during a period known as the 100 Deadly Days. Summer weekends tend to be the most dangerous, with seven out of 10 crashes happening on a Saturday or Sunday in the summer of 2014.

“While the statistics point out a dangerous trend, we have the ability to influence outcomes through our choices and behavior,” said Deborah A.P. Hersman, president and CEO of the National Safety Council (NSC). “Summer is typically a high-exposure period with lots of miles driven and several long holiday weekends. Take your responsibilities behind the wheel this summer seriously and ensure that you get to your destination safely.”

Traffic deaths in the U.S. increased each month during the six months leading up to the summer, compared to the same six month period a year ago.

NSC believes the spike in fatal car crashes is due in part to an improving economy. Lower gas prices and lower unemployment rates often lead to an increase in traffic because more people can afford to drive, and many travel long distances and take vacations.

Certain crash factors, such as speeding and alcohol, are also more common during the summer. A yearly average of 2,781 deaths in June, July and August involve speeding, and 2,846 involve alcohol, according to NSC analysis of National Highway Traffic Safety Administration data.

To help stay safe on the roads this summer, NSC recommends drivers:

- Learn about their vehicle’s safety systems and how to use them. Free resources, such as MyCarDoesWhat.org can help drivers understand the ins and outs of such features as blind spot, lane departure warning systems and backup cameras. Visit www.MyCarDoesWhat.org to learn more.

- Buckle up for all trips -- short and long, even back seat passengers.

- Designate a non-drinking driver or arrange alternate transportation.

- Get plenty of sleep and take regular breaks to avoid fatigue.

- Never use a cell phone behind the wheel, even hands-free.

- Monitor teens’ driving habits. An NSC survey found many parents are more inclined to loosen household driving rules during the summer. Teen passengers are one of the greatest distractions.

“We believe that by taking the proper precautions, we can make the roads safer and save lives this summer,” said Hersman.

Top debt management tips to save money each month

(StatePoint) Want to learn how to save money? You're not alone. An overwhelming number of Americans want to learn more about managing their finances, according to a recent Wells Fargo survey. "One way to manage debt is to pay it down sooner," says Gary Korotzer, who leads the Wells Fargo Consumer Credit Solutions Marketing team. "You can save on interest over time and on the total cost of borrowing." Korotzer offers these tips to save money by paying off debt sooner:

- Pay off debt sooner and save significantly on interest by paying more than the minimum each month on loans. Also, try paying half your monthly bill every two weeks instead of the full amount monthly; you'll make one extra payment over the course of a year -- and you could pay your debt off sooner. Ask if your lender applies these partial payments to your principal.
- Prioritize paying off loans with the highest interest rate first.

- Stay on top of debt by setting up automatic transfers -- simply select the date, the amount, and the debt you'd like to pay off.
- Bank with a responsible lender that gives you options for paying down debt on terms better for your bottom line. For example, Wells Fargo offers consumers options that could shorten the length of loans, such as refinancing and debt consolidation. There are many different ways to consolidate debt, so talk to your bank about your options.

- Reduce your overall monthly expenses by lowering the rate of your current loans. If your credit score has improved or if overall interest rates have gone down since applying for a particular loan, you may be able to lower the rate of your auto, home, personal, or student loans or your credit cards. Consider any fees that might be associated with refinancing.
- Be savvy about credit. Check all three national credit bureaus annually to verify there are no errors. Don't worry; requesting your reports won't affect your credit score.
- Know your limits. Being close to or maxing out your credit limits may negatively impact your credit score. Keep balances low on credit cards and other revolving accounts; keeping your balance below 30 percent of your total available credit may improve your credit score. Always pay on time, and more than the minimum due, if possible.
- Use free educational resources, such as Wells Fargo's newly redesigned Smarter Credit Center (www.wellsfargo.com/smarter_credit) to help you make responsible financial decisions. The site offers interactive features that explain key credit concepts, such as building credit, improving or rebuilding credit, taking charge of existing debt and practicing good credit habits. The redesign is more mobile friendly, letting you learn even when you're on the go.

Getting better money management skills can help you lower your monthly expenses on big ticket items like loan repayment and reduce the overall cost of your debt over time.

Tips to throw summer birthday parties for kids

(StatePoint) Nothing beats the anticipation of your birthday when you are a child. But once school's out, it can be tough to gather all your child's friends due to summer camps and family vacations. To combat this perennial summer birthday concern, some parents throw a big party during the school year and another smaller family shindig on the actual date. Others make sure the day is full of surprises, including yummy, unforgettable treats.

Here are some great ideas to make the day extra delicious, from three lifestyle and entertaining experts:

Berry, Berry Good

"Every family has their special touches that turn children into excitement charged little bees buzzing around practically giddy with anticipation. For me, that was a can of whipped cream," writes food and lifestyle expert Coryanne Ettiene, reflecting on her childhood in a recent posting on her "Kitchen Living with Coryanne" blog. "The moment I would open the fridge door and see that bright red top, my heart would nearly burst from happiness while I let dreams of whipped cream swirl in my head."

With this in mind, a favorite easy recipe for birthday party strawberry shortcake gives the dessert a mini makeover with individual frozen shortcake bites, says Ettiene, whose nostalgia for her sweet childhood memories led her to partner with Reddi-wip on their summer #PartyReddi promotion, which challenges parties to create recipes with the whipped topping.

You can make Ettiene's frozen bites by slicing strawberries across the waist (so the hole appears in the center), cutting small squares of angel food cake, and stacking them together with colorful paper straws through the middle. Place them in the freezer for up to an hour and serve with a small bowl of Reddi-wip for dipping. Or for even quicker birthday treats, add a slice of berry and a slice of angel food cake to serving spoons and top with the whipped topping.

Sundae Tea Party

Inspired by the spirit of the tea parties most girls love so dearly, Dawn Sandomeno and Elizabeth Mascali, co-founders of The Party Blueprints Blog, are sharing tips for a tea party with an ice cream sundae twist. This birthday party idea is perfect for summer and can be hosted indoors or out.

Set a table with personal sundae stations for each guest. Each setting should have its own parfait glass with ice cream and three soup spoons or tasting spoons with toppings.

Choose traditional options like sprinkles, mini-marshmallows, and flavored syrups or try something new like fresh fruit, pretzels or popcorn. Then add some fun by placing several cans of Reddi-wip on the table so each child can spritz her sundae herself. Just beware: whipped topping with real cream can go fast, especially with sugared-up fingers on the button, so have enough on hand.

For a fun setting, build your tablescape on a coffee table and provide colorful pillows for seating. Polka dots and stripes can evoke the vibe of a retro sundae shop.

Above all, show your child how special he or she is by celebrating the big day together. These memories can be the biggest treat of all.

Surprising signs of allergies and tips to manage them

(StatePoint) When you think of seasonal allergies, sneezing may come to mind first. But there's a lot more to allergies than "achoo," say experts.

According to allergist Dr. Myron Zitt, there are many ways allergies can manifest. Here are a few less obvious signs that you may be suffering from allergies:

- You can't concentrate: You wake up with a runny nose and can't stop sneezing but still head into work and struggle through the day. This situation often leads to a present but unproductive employee -- something known as "presenteeism" -- and unfortunately it's very common for allergy sufferers.
- Your nose is extra sensitive: Allergy sufferers may experience a heightened response to non-allergic conditions, such as wind, air pollution and dry weather. This occurs when the nasal passages and throat are inflamed from existing allergies, making them more sensitive.
- You feel tired: Allergy symptoms can disrupt sleep, especially for people whose symptoms make it difficult to breathe through the nose. But even a full night's rest may not ease that feeling of tiredness for some allergy sufferers.
- You're grumpy: The discomfort of allergy symptoms can interfere with people's daily lives and lead to irritability.

Do any of the above sound familiar? For those that are suffering from allergies, Dr. Zitt recommends the following allergy survival tips to better manage symptoms.

- Know your triggers: Document your symptoms to get a better sense of your individual allergies. Visit your health care provider, preferably an allergist, to get a proper diagnosis and treatment plan.
- Avoid allergens: Avoid outdoor activities in the morning or plan ahead by wearing a hat and sunglasses to keep pollen away from your face.
- Kick pollen to the curb: Pollen can stick to clothing and shoes. Invest in a good doormat and wipe down your shoes each time you enter. It's also helpful to shower and change into fresh clothes to completely rid yourself of outdoor pollen.
- Beware of bouquets: If you're bringing flowers or plants into your home, choose them carefully. For example, sunflowers and chrysanthemums might offer a sweet floral aroma, but they're known to bother people with ragweed allergies.
- Don't carpool with pollen: Keep car windows rolled up. Instead of opening windows turn on the air conditioning, or set your ventilation to "re-circulate" to avoid outdoor allergens and irritants.

Additionally, over-the-counter antihistamines can offer relief from symptoms like itchy and watery eyes and a runny nose. One option is Allegra Allergy 24-Hour -- now available in gelcap form. It can offer adults fast, non-drowsy relief starting in one hour and staying strong for 24. More information can be found at www.Allegra.com.

Think beyond the runny nose. Allergies can take a toll on your entire quality of life. Take care of yourself by avoiding your triggers when possible and seeking relief when necessary.

Heroes and Friends

By: Mike French

In an effort to help local residents be more familiar with our police and firefighters in the county, The Mount Vernon Signal will publish this series of introductions each week. It's a chance to get to know your local law enforcement officers and firefighters on a more personal basis. We plan to publish one per week, chosen completely at random.

Deputy Rick Brummett

Deputy Rick Brummett has served the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department since 2003. He is currently CSO Clerk and works in court security.

Brummett can be found six days a week in the Sheriff's office in the courthouse. He is a third generation law enforcement officer and started his career at the Laurel County Sheriff's Department.

Brummett was born in Ohio but has lived in this area all his life and considers this his home. He is married and has one son.

Thompson is offering a $2000 cash reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible. Anyone with information about the fire should contact the Kentucky State Police at (606) 878-6622 or call Thompson at (606) 308-4592 or (606) 256-4606.

Thompson said there are some leads and police are “working on some suspects now.” But he is offering the cash reward as an extra incentive. “The police have some suspects but every little bit of help we can get would be good,” he said.

until later,” said Bishop.

The grant also set certain limitations that Bishop and County Treasurer Joe Clontz say will cost the county slightly more than expected.

According to the grant, only a certain amount of money may be allocated for certain construction procedures. Those limitations are going to cost the county more than expected, they said.

The grant cost analysis suggests that when the project is complete, and grant money received, the total cost to this county will be close to $20,000 in actual cash since the labor and equipment are included as part of the 20% that the county would have to pay. However, Bishop disagrees with that total.

“They allot $25 per hour for a backhoe. Can you provide and run a backhoe for $25 an hour?” he asked. Bishop also thinks some other estimates by the grant are underestimated.

Clontz said he expects the final cost to be more like $30,000 to $40,000. Much of the labor for the project is provided through the Rockcastle County Detention Center’s Work Release Program.

The project is expected to take 90 working days and Medley says everything seems to be on schedule at this time.

“We are replacing 65% of the existing sidewalk that was in need of repair and adding new sidewalks at each end of town,” said Medley. “We want to give people a chance to get out and enjoy our town and feel safe and comfortable walking in our city.”

According to Medley, through the grant and the help of the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court, as well as funds and efforts from the City of Livingston, this project will go a long way towards furthering Livingston’s tourism hopes and help the city grow.

Medley says the City of Livingston is mounting a comeback as a thriving community. “We are not going to just sit back and let things go,” he said. “We are going to fight and keep growing.”

Five tips to upgrade and customize next vacation

(StatePoint) There are numerous ways to see the world, so why not travel exactly the way you want? Whether your ideal vacation is a luxury cruise, a sophisticated stay in a five star hotel, or a safari adventure, a bit more planning will help make your next escape perfectly suited to you, say experts.

“From lunch on the Great Wall of China to a breathtaking voyage through the Kenyan landscape, travel offers us many of the most exhilarating, enriching experiences of our lives,” says Mary Jean Tully, Founder and CEO of Tully Luxury Travel. “And if you do your research, you can have remarkable travel experiences that are both convenient and comfortable.”

Tully Luxury Travel is a global leader in luxury travel, offering high-end cruises through Cruise Professionals, safaris customized through African Dreams and tailored itineraries through Private Travel Designers. To make your next vacation the most memorable one yet, the experts at Tully Luxury Travel are offering five travel tips:

1. Avoid booking luxury hotels and resorts online or with call centers. For better deals and better service, contact an experienced and specialized travel designer. They will have first-hand knowledge of your destination and provide you with full concierge-style service and advice. A travel agent also books hundreds or thousands of rooms with various hotel properties all over the world. This enables them to get better deals for their clients.

2. If you want a stress-free way to see a great many sights, consider ocean and river cruises. This style of travel offers a convenient way to explore the various wonders of a particular region, without the hassle of constantly packing and unpacking.

3. If you’re going on a cruise, try to arrive in your departure city a few days early. This will alleviate stress and jet lag, ease you into your holiday, and give you a chance to acquire a taste of the city from which your ship will depart. This will also guarantee you don’t miss your ship due to inclement weather, mechanical difficulty or an airline strike.

4. Don’t assume personal challenges, such as a disability or mobility issue, mean you can’t have the travel experience of a lifetime. Seek out specialized tour operators that can make even the most exotic and remote trips possible for you and your family. For example, agencies like Tully Luxury Travel work with unique tour operators to create accessible safari experiences available to travelers who may, for example, be visually challenged or undergoing dialysis treatment.

5. Plan wisely. If you know you must travel during a particular month, do your research to find out about local festivals and other seasonal attractions. The beginnings and ends of “high” travel seasons can also be less crowded and expensive.

Find more tips, ideas and information about luxury travel at www.TullyLuxuryTravel.com.

“With some keen planning, you can see the globe exactly the way you want at a price that’s within reach,” says Tully.

NOTICE TO Rockcastle County Taxpayers

Danetta Ford Allen, Rockcastle County Clerk pursuant to KRS 424.130, announces that the 2014 Delinquent Real Property Tax Bills (Certificates of Delinquency) will be published in the Mt. Vernon Signal on July 16, 2015. The list of Certificates of Delinquency is available for public inspection during the hours of Monday-Wednesday and Friday 8:30-4:00, Thursday 8:30-6:00 and Saturdays 8:30-12:00 at the County Clerk’s office located at 205 East Main Street, Mt. Vernon, Kentucky.

This list may also be inspected on the Rockcastle County Clerk website beginning July 14, 2015. The Uniform Resource Locator (URL) of the website is rockcastlecountyclerk.com.

The tax sale will be held on August 13, 2015 beginning at 10 AM. Priority participants must register their priority lists with the clerk’s office by July 29, 2015 and newly interested participants must register with the county clerk’s office by August 3, 2015.

Please contact the County Clerk’s office if you need additional information about the tax sale registration process, the required registration fee or the deposit amounts that will be needed. Taxpayers can continue to pay their delinquent tax bills to the County Clerk’s office any time prior to the tax sale. Please Note: All payments must be received in the County Clerk’s office prior to the tax sale date listed in this advertisement. Payments received after the tax sale has been conducted will be returned without exception.

Some delinquencies-although they have been advertised-will be excluded from the tax sale in accordance with the provisions of KRS 134.504 (10)(b). If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact the County Clerk’s office at (606)-256-2831.

Payment agreements can be made through the County Attorney’s office. Please contact Casey at (606)-256-2730 if you wish to set up such an agreement.

In the event that you bought or sold property in 2014 and are unsure whether the tax bill has been paid please contact us.

UNITE receives funding for 44 AmeriCorps members

The UNITE Service Corps has received funding for 44 AmeriCorps members to provide math tutoring and substance abuse prevention education during the 2015-16 school year.

The $543,400 grant from the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS) will enable UNITE to place AmeriCorps members at elementary schools in Bell, Breathitt, Harlan, Johnson, Knott, Laurel, Leslie, Owsley, Perry, Pike, Rockcastle and Wolfe counties, and East Bernstadt Independent – the same school systems served this past school year.

In addition to math tutoring, AmeriCorps members teach the “Too Good for Drugs” and “Healthy Futures/Take 10” wellness curriculums, as well as coordinate anti-drug UNITE Clubs in their school. In addition, members participate in their local UNITE Community Coalitions and recruit volunteers who provide thousands of hours for school prevention activities.

As of mid-year, the most recent stats available, UNITE Service Corps members had tutored 2,459 students in math and provided mentoring to 3,815 students, said Eugene Newsome, USC Program Director. The overall growth in math test scores was 42.42% – the highest rate of success for individual students in program history – and the average increase in drug education knowledge was 40.53%.

Earlier this year, CNCS Chief Executive Officer Wendy Spencer lauded the UNITE Service Corps as “a model for communities across the nation” for developing “a winning strategy to help thousands of Kentucky youth keep away from drugs and stay on track in school.”

Woodcarvers to demonstrate at Berea Welcome Center

On Saturday, July 18, three members of the Berea Welcome Center Carvers will demonstrate a variety of woodcarving styles and techniques from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea. Carving that day will be Jack Gann, of Berea, who creates caricature carvings; Terry Jones, of Paris, who does carved spoons; and Randy Whitman, of Winchester, who makes hand-carved wooden bowls.

Members of the Berea Welcome Center Carvers live in many communities in central Kentucky, and their activities include carving classes, carving demonstrations at schools, monthly Kentucky Artisan Center demonstrations and special events.

Members specialize in a wide variety of techniques and styles of carving. Carvers in the group often mentor each other, and all enjoy sharing their love of woodcarving, making their demonstrations at the Kentucky Artisan Center a mix of hu-

“We are proud of the accomplishments of our Service Corps members,” said Nancy Hale, president/CEO of Operation UNITE, who served as co-program director for the initiative until taking her current position this past February. “They are making a difference in many young lives.”

Service Corps Program Director Eugene Newsome noted that AmeriCorps members are also very involved outside their schools, working with UNITE youth initiatives – such as Shoot Hoops Not Drugs and Camp UNITE – as well as their local volunteer community coalitions.

“AmeriCorps members are an invaluable resource for the populations they serve,” Newsome said. “I salute their dedication and strong work ethic.”

Two other Kentucky programs serving the Fifth Congressional District receiving funding:

- Teach for America-Kentucky in Hazard ($36,800). Teach for America-Kentucky members will serve as classroom teachers in low-income rural schools resulting in improved educational outcomes for students. The program will serve schools in the central Appalachia school districts in southeastern Kentucky.

- Morehead State University’s MSU Corps ($379,035). MSU Corps members will provide reading tutoring for academically at-risk students utilizing the “Great Leaps” reading curriculum and recruit and train community volunteers to be reading tutors. Members develop and demonstrate skills in tutoring, civic engagement and volunteer recruitment in Eastern Kentucky.

“The commonwealth sees great rewards from national service,” said Kentucky Governor

Steve Beshear. “AmeriCorps fills pressing social needs and makes our communities stronger.”

“Members gain leadership skills and career experience,” Beshear added. “We value AmeriCorps partnerships and congratulate the programs that have received grant funding.”

AmeriCorps is a national service program administered by the Kentucky Commission on Community Volunteerism and Service (KCCVS), part of the Cabinet for Health and Family Services, and the federal Corporation for National and Community Service.

KCCVS Executive Director Joe Bringardner said he is proud of Kentucky programs’ showing among the national grant awardees.

“These programs have distinct goals to help educate youth, provide comfort to seniors and rebuild families’ lives by building homes,” Bringardner said. “Our AmeriCorps members use their talents, their vision and their boundless energy to establish immediate and long-lasting change in Kentucky.”

Republican Party business meeting

The Rockcastle County Republican Party will hold a business meeting this upcoming Monday, July 13. The group will meet at 5 p.m. on the third floor of the courthouse.

“Republicans are in a strong position for wins up and down the ballot this November,” said Republican Chairman Travis T. Burton in regards to November’s statewide elections for Governor, Attorney General, Secretary of State, Commissioner of Agriculture, Auditor, and Treasurer.

“The Republican Party Executive Committee wants to make sure Rockcastle is prepared to do its part to help elect leaders who will actually stand up for the principles important to our county and state. We invite everyone interested in being involved to attend Monday’s meeting,” he added.

Farmer’s Market opens season this week

Rockcastle Farmer’s Market will open a new season this week on Saturday July 11th 9:00am at their Mount Vernon site on Richmond Street across from Richmond Street Eye Care. Farm produce available will include new potatoes, cabbage, broccoli, tomatoes, peppers, beans and zucchini.

This year’s market locations and days are as follows: Tuesdays and Thursdays 10am to 2pm and Saturdays 9am to 12 am on Richmond Street; 1st and 3rd Wednesdays 11am to noon in Livingston.

Customer support at the Richmond Street location has helped keep the market open three days per week. Farmers extend a word of Thanks to RCIDA for use of their lot and local customer support. We encourage you to help your family eat healthy locally grown fresh vegetables this summer by supporting our Farmer’s Market.

Citizens Bank to sponsor Senior Crimestoppers program

The Senior Housing Crime Prevention Foundation and Citizens Bank held a Charter Presentation at the Rockcastle Health & Rehabilitation Center on May 28. Citizens Bank joined the Senior Housing Crime Prevention Foundation and will be funding the Senior Crimestoppers program for seniors residing in the Rockcastle Health & Rehabilitation Center.

Crime against the elderly in our society is a longstanding, constant battle that can be reduced and prevented through the operation of the Senior Crimestoppers program in nursing homes and assisted living facilities.

Senior Crimestoppers is a coordinated set of components that work together to create a zero tolerance to crime platform in senior housing facilities. Components include personal lockboxes for the residents, cash rewards up to $1,000 paid anonymously for information about wrongdoing of any kind, and effective, ongoing education and training for staff members and residents. Senior Crimestoppers has reduced all aspects of crime in participating facilities by 94%.

Through Senior Crimestoppers, the Rockcastle Health & Rehabilitation Center is further enhancing the lives of the residents they serve. The implementation in no way means there is a crime problem at the facility, but is a proactive way to keep problems from occurring in the future.

“Citizens Bank is proud to be the sponsor of this wonderful program for the residents of the Rockcastle Health and Rehabilitation Center. Our community is blessed to have this wonderful facility and Citizens Bank is excited to be partnering with them to bring these much needed services. Citizens Bank is committed to partnering with local business and organizations to help make the lives of those who live in our communities better,” said Corey Craig, President/CEO of Citizens Bank.

Citizens Bank joined the Senior Housing Crime Prevention Foundation and will be funding the Senior Crimestoppers program for seniors residing in the Rockcastle Health & Rehabilitation Center. Local students attend IFAL conference

Rockcastle County high school juniors James Ballinger and Eric Bullock recently returned home from Kentucky Farm Bureau's Institute for Future Agricultural Leaders (IFAL). Ballinger, Bullock and 46 other high school students from around the state attended the five-day summer leadership conference, held June 14-18 at Murray State University.

An identical IFAL conference was also held June 21-25 at the University of Kentucky for an additional 46 students.

IFAL is designed to expose high school students to college life while helping them explore the different fields of study for careers in agriculture. During the week, attendees gained a better understanding of the nature and needs of the agriculture industry, saw how basic and applied science is utilized in agriculture and learned of the political process used to develop agricultural policy.

KHESLC offers low interest rates on college loans

Kentucky students and parents who need help paying for college may qualify for low interest rates on Kentucky Advantage Education Loans from the Kentucky Higher Education Student Loan Corporation (KHESLC).

Interest rates are fixed and are as low as 4.95 percent. The exact rate will depend on creditworthiness and choice of payment plan.

The low-cost loans fill the gap between other financial aid a student receives and the total cost of education. Students should apply for all free aid, such as grants and scholarships, then for Federal Stafford Loans before applying for a private loan.

To qualify for an Advantage Loan, the student must:

- Be a Kentucky resident enrolled in an approved school or a non-Kentucky resident enrolled in an approved Kentucky school;
- Be 18 by the date of application;
- Be a U.S. citizen or a non-citizen with a proof of residency card; and

- Have an acceptable credit history or an approved cosigner.

To qualify for a parent Advantage Loan, the borrower must:

- Be the parent or step-parent of an undergraduate or graduate student, as determined by the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA);
- Be a U.S. citizen or a non-citizen with a proof of residency card; and
- Have an acceptable credit history or an approved cosigner.

The loans are available to students attending eligible colleges and universities. Applications may be submitted online at www.kheslc.com or at www.advantageeducation.com. For more information, call 800-988-6333.

KHESLC is a public, nonprofit corporation that provides education loans for students and parents. It was established by the Kentucky General Assembly in 1978.

Forest officials reminding visitors of food storage tips to prevent bear encounters

Daniel Boone National Forest officials are reminding visitors that food storage requirements apply when camping or picnicking in the national forest.

"This policy is designed to help prevent negative encounters with black bears," said Forest Biologist Sandie Kilpatrick. "By adhering to the food storage order, visitors can reduce the chance for such encounters and promote a safer environment for themselves and others."

Visitors must store food inside a hardtop vehicle or bear-resistant container when not cooking or eating. Burning or burying food, trash or any other bear attractant is prohibited.

If a hardtop vehicle or bear-resistant container is not available, campers and picnickers must store food and garbage by suspending at least 10 feet off the ground and four feet away from any tree or pole.

A bear attractant is any substance with an odor that may attract bears. Food, cooking oil, toothpaste, soap and garbage are considered attractants.

The Forest Service has installed bear-resistant trash cans at most developed campgrounds and picnic areas. These containers must be used for garbage disposal where they occur in the national forest.

"The black bear population in eastern Kentucky continues to grow, and our national forest provides excellent habitat," added Kilpatrick. "We just need to become more bear-aware and use caution when visiting their home."

To avoid human-bear conflicts, see the following tips.

- Never feed a bear. In Kentucky, feeding bears is illegal.
- When camping or picnicking, follow food storage policies. In remote locations, suspend food and garbage off the ground and away way from the supporting tree or pole.
- Never store food or other potential bear attractants inside your tent. Cook food and eat in locations away from your sleeping area.
- Store food and garbage up to 100 yards away from your campsite.
- Never approach a bear. If you accidentally come upon a bear, back away slowly. Do not run; this could prompt a chase.
- If a bear approaches you, make lots of noise. Remain standing upright. Never lay down to play dead or turn your back on an approaching black bear.

Any conflict with a black bear should be reported to the nearest U.S. Forest Service office or to the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. In case of an emergency, call 911.

Money Tips for Students

College students should take advantage of meal plan

Many colleges require students to have a meal plan, especially if they live on campus. Meal plans vary among colleges, but most will give students a certain number of dining hall meals per week. Students may also be able to add flex dollars to use at the campus food court or other locations. The larger the school is, the greater flexibility students may have.

Students who choose their meal plan carefully may be able to cut college costs by selecting the plan that is best for them, according to the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA).

Most often, the meal plan will come out of students' financial aid or their parents' money if they're footing the bill. Funds will be loaded on a card students swipe at on-campus cafeterias and restaurants.

Students can waste a lot of money eating off-campus and even rack up credit card debt by charging food. Most meals on campus are already paid for through the meal plan, so students should eat on campus as much as possible.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers Kentucky's grant and scholarship programs, including the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES). It provides financial literacy videos at <http://itsmoney.kheaa.com>. KHEAA also provides free copies of "It's Money, Baby," a guide to financial literacy, to Kentucky schools and residents upon request at publications@kheaa.com.

To learn how to plan and prepare for higher education, go to www.gotocollege.ky.gov. For more information about Kentucky scholarships and grants, visit www.kheaa.com; write KHEAA, P.O. Box 798, Frankfort, KY 40602; or call 800-928-8926, ext. 6-7214.

Campbellsville has record enrollment; not too late to register for fall classes

By Joan C. McKinney, news and publications coordinator

Campbellsville University has achieved a record summer school enrollment with 4,120 total credit hours taken. This is a new record exceeding the 4,094 hours recorded in 2012.

Dr. Donna Hedgepath, vice president for academic affairs, said, "We love to see students take advantage of summer school at CU. Not only do they save money, but they also have the unique opportunity to experience more one-on-one attention from our talented faculty and get a kick start on the fall semester or work toward an earlier graduation date."

Summer classes are generally smaller and have a discount rate. "We are extremely excited to see so many students take advantage of our summer class offerings," Dave Walters, vice president for admissions and student services, said.

Walters said, "It's a great way to move quicker toward their graduation goal and ultimately they benefit substantially from the cost savings. By taking one or two of our summer class offerings, they can also take some of the pressure off of their fall and spring semesters."

Dr. Michael V. Carter, president of Campbellsville University, said Campbellsville University's momentum is strong with new academic and athletic programs and a new wrestling gymnasium in the works.

The new gym will house the men's and women's wrestling programs.

"Campbellsville University is an exciting place to study and learn – academically and spiritually," he said. As he begins his 17th year as president, Carter said the university is experiencing growth, and there are great plans for the future with Vision 2025 as the guide.

"Vision 2025 gives us the blueprint for our university," he said. The top tenets of the plan include: enhancing the integration of faith and learning across the curriculum, preparing students for a rapidly changing world through innovative curricula, providing excellent academic, student life and athletic facilities, promoting "teaching scholarships" and community learning across the campus, centers and programs and continuing to prepare Christian servant leaders as the university increases its size to approximately 5,000 students.

Day classes for the fall semester 2015 at Campbellsville University begin Tuesday, Aug. 25. Evening classes, those beginning at 5:15 p.m. and later, begin Monday, Aug. 24.

There is still time for students to register for the fall semester.

Anyone interested in registering, should first contact the Office of Admissions at (270) 789-5220 or admissions@campbellsville.edu.

Making Memories at Rockcastle Health & Rehabilitation Center

Partying in Panama

Kenneth Adams, Sheri McClease and Teresa Stevens all went to Panama City, Florida for some fun in the sun. They met up with several other Signature homes across the U.S to participate in the annual Elder Vacation. While there, they went to the beach and played in the ocean, sailed on a dinner boat, celebrated Kenneth's birthday, and made lasting memories and friendships.

The Beauty of a Belvidere

After selling his car Doug Leger didn't know if he would ever see his beloved 64' Belvidere that he restored from the ground up with his friend. That was until Mike Mink drove it to the car show . Doug was able to show everyone all of the hard work that he had done to the car from redoing the interior, painting the exterior, and fixing the motor. Everyone was in awe of the beautiful Belvidere.

RHRC would like to give a big THANK YOU to everyone who played a part in making these memories happen! Thank you all so very much!

Monday night's storms caused several downed trees in Rockcastle County, including this one on Honeybee Road in Maretburg where county road workers were busy Tuesday morning clearing this tree in the road. 911 received numerous calls of downed trees in roadways Tuesday morning.

Rockcastle was also hit hard last Thursday afternoon. This tree was blown over onto the road and power lines on KY 3245 in Brodhead.

There was extensive flooding in Rockcastle County Tuesday morning following the late night storms which dumped 1.25 inches of rain, according to local weatherman Bud Cox. The total from Monday morning at 8 a.m. through Wednesday morning at 8 a.m. was 1.97 inches, Cox said. Shown above is the Conway area.

RCIDA board hears director's reports, discusses scheduling

By: Mike French

Members of the Rockcastle County Industrial Development Authority (RCIDA) held their monthly meeting Monday at the courthouse in Mount Vernon.

After approving the minutes of last month's meeting, the board approved an amendment to the 2015-16 fiscal year budget and the July 13, 2015 financial statement and budget.

Executive Director Holly Hopkins also informed the members that an industrial hemp company is still considering moving into the Industrial Park. According to Hopkins, the company originally considered moving into the sewing factory but another company may be using that building so the industrial hemp company would need a new building in the park.

Hopkins also informed the board of the progress of

Bones found in April still unidentified

By: Mike French

Police are still attempting to identify human remains found in April near Roundstone Creek near Livingston.

The bones were found by Bruce Lee Smith, 31, of the Kentucky Fame Organization. She said there are already three local companies interested in working with the program which provides five semesters of college and a manufacturing degree. "It's sort of an apprentice program," she said.

The program is provided for students who wish to gain a manufacturing background.

Board member Sam Hamilton said he believes in the program. "This is not like the typical cookie-cutter program. This model

Court hears presentation from possible Anchor tenant

At Tuesday's regular meeting of the Rockcastle Fiscal Court, an attorney, representing a manufacturer, made a presentation to the court about his client's possible plans for the former Anchor Packaging building.

Brian Bailey, a Danville attorney, told the court that his client, Douglas N. Thornburg II was interested in using the facility as a manufacturing site for two products -- plastic fence posts and guard rails.

Bailey said a patent for the new use for the polypropylene material had been applied for. The plastic posts are reported to be as strong as steel, with the ability to be driven through blacktop, without the attendant problems of rusting, no need for insulators, etc.

"This product isn't going to change the world," Bailey said "but it is a better product."

During the presentation, Bailey extolled the advantages of the building, talking about its access to I-75, the dual rail spurs to, its size and the "incredibly good shape" of the building which would help with start-up time.

He told the court that employment would be between 100-125 in the first 18 months with plans to expand to 500-600 employees

Grand Jury indicts Lawson on seven counts

Following completion of a recent Kentucky State Police forensic audit, Robert Lawson, 41 of Mt. Vernon, was indicted Friday by a Rockcastle County Grand Jury on seven counts of theft by deception.

The indictment comes after an original indictment in May of this year on three counts of theft by deception from the Rockcastle County Cystic Fibrosis account for the fraudulent issue of three checks, totaling $3,150.

School Board approves bids

By: Mike French

The Rockcastle County Board of Education held its monthly meeting Tuesday evening in Mount Vernon.

During the meeting the board approved bids submitted to replace the boilers at Mount Vernon Elementary School. The winning bid, from Central Kentucky Sheet Metal of Paint Lick, of $338,159.45 includes construction costs, architect/engineering fees, bond discounts, a fiscal agent fee, construction contingencies, permits, printing and bank rating.

Another bid of $316,840.55, from Carlson Roofing of Louisville, to re-

Court okays return of excess fees to sheriff for extra deputy

Deputy Sheriff Dale McNew asked the fiscal court, at their regular meeting Tuesday, if the sheriff's department could use the department's excess fees of $12,000 towards funding of another deputy to deal strictly with drug enforcement in the county.

McNew presented the court with the excess fees check but asked that it be returned to Sheriff Mike Peters office to fund the salary of a part-time drug enforcement officer for the last six months of 2015.

Former deputy Matt Bryant has been hired for the position, McNew said, and has actually been working since April of this year.

The court agreed to the proposal, saying the money would be returned to the sheriff at the rate of $2,000 a month for July through December.

Magistrate Bill McKinney suggested that the court be given a report, in October of 2015 and January of 2016, to see if

Aces Over

By: Mike French

Well, I feel like I'm getting my second wind here in the fair city of Mount Vernon. I've been here a month now and have had the chance to meet and chat with Sheriff Mike Peters, and Police Chief Brian Carter, County Clerk Danetta Ford Allen, as well as Judge Doug Bishop and several officers.

However, I had three different people this week tell me that local readers would like to know more about the guy writing for their hometown paper. So, here goes. Let's talk about me.

Though I have chatted a few times with Livingston Mayor Jason Medley, I have not yet talked to Mount Vernon Mayor Mike Bryant. However, he knows I'm coming. Mike and I go way back and have some wonderful memories together including a wild boar hunt.

I've made a few bobbles in my first few weeks but Perlina is ever vigilant to keep me in line. She's the example of "Newspaper Publisher" that I strived to be in my years as publisher at other publications. I'm impressed, and not just because she will read this very carefully.

Mount Vernon is blessed to have someone of her caliber running their local newspaper.

Paige is the "do everything" person that is teaching me the ropes here. She's everywhere and amazes me at how much she can get done in such a short time. She's like a super hero rushing in to save the day.

I expect to see her burst through the door on Deadline Wednesday and stand in the "Wonder Woman stance" as a narrator sings "Here I come to save the day!"

Then there is Spencer. The computer master. Watching him work, I think he could take a roll of paper towels, duct tape and a pencil and make a computer out of it.

And to top everything off, he's a fellow banjo player. We understand each other on a level that non-banjoists could never grasp. And sometimes on a slow Friday afternoon, you may hear a little banjo music coming from our front door as you stroll by our office.

My beautiful wife at home is so proud that I am back in journalism and supports me with every breath. She is one of those rare humans who is filled with compassion and caring for others. Her heart makes her a winner in the biggest race of all and when her time comes, angels will welcome her to the finish line with open arms.

My bluegrass/Gospel band, Dove Creek, is playing throughout Kentucky at events, bluegrass shows and churches and I have never been happier with any band. I used to be the harmony singer and acoustic guitarist for Vern Gosdin, was at Renfro Valley for many years, was part of Dale Ann Bradley's band, Played Hee Haw, The Grand Old Opry and thousands of other venues across the country. But no band has made me happier than Dove Creek.

I have the world's greatest daughter (who has more talent than I will ever have), a wonderful son-in-law, and one cute little sweetheart of a granddaughter.

I also have identical twin boys who are 16 and make me proud every time I see them. And, like me, they enjoy playing in the mud on four-wheelers and hunting and doing anything outside.

All in all, I consider myself blessed beyond measure. My cup runneth over.

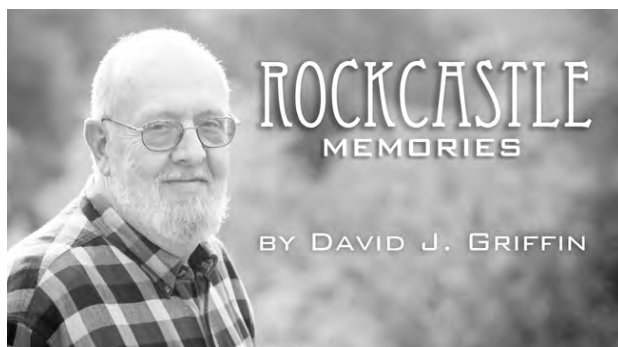

In a nutshell, I'm a Bible toting, gun packing, freedom loving, banjo playing, four wheeling, constitution honoring, veteran praising, white country boy and am proud to be all of that.

My dad was a calloused handed, hard working, tobacco growing veteran who taught me that life isn't measured by what you say, but by what you do.

My mother worked at home and at a factory and put me first. Before everything and anything. Perhaps because of that, some say I'm a little cocky and over confident.

Like most people, I had some years that I wasn't a very good person in the past.

Dubble Bubble
"People have been fans of chewing gum since before the days of ancient Rome. So do as the Romans did: Grab a piece of the stuff and freshen up!"

"As much fun as the circus ... Dubble Bubble Gum"

The above two advertising lines came from a magazine dated 1953. They reminded me of my grandmother (Mommie Katie), who always gave me the following instruction: "David Joe, be sure to have some gum in your pocket so your breath will be fresh." That was her motto even – even though she had dentures. Although Mommie could not actually chew gum, she occasionally broke a piece in half and simply held the gum in her mouth for the freshest breath. (Bless her heart, Mommie was full of wonderful, practical advice. I owe a lot to her.)

It is for that reason that, I, too, have been a carrier of gum for most of my life. In elementary school, my favorite was "Juicy Fruit," but I could be found with a variety of brands in my jeans' pocket.

This week, as I read about the development of chewing gum in my day, I found the following information. These are the most favorite brands for the years listed:

1934 – Wrigley's Spearmint

1947 – Chicklets, Clove, Black Jack, and Beeman's

1948 – Clark's Teaberry

1958 – Beech-Nut Peppermint

In my elementary school, it was left up to the individual teachers to decide if chewing gum was allowed in class. Most of our teachers permitted us to chew gum if it was kept in our mouths and did not interrupt the class. That became my own directive when I became a teacher in 1965. As soon as the gum became apparent, I told the student to spit it into the trash can, and we moved on with the class at hand. Frankly, I never saw the point of taking up valuable instruction time to make an issue of gum chewing. It never was a big thing to me.

While I was in grade school, it was the fad to have a huge chunk of Dubble Bubble in our mouths at recess. I remember one day when we had been to the "store" in front of the high school. We made a bet to see who could get the most pieces of Dubble Bubble in their mouths at the same time. I distinctly remember Jouett Kendrick winning the contest. You should have seen the wad of pink gum in his cheek! He looked like he had a baseball stuck in there.

When I turned sixteen and began to drive, I always kept gum in my car as well as in my pocket. The thought of having bad breath was sickening to me, so of course it became even more important when I began to date in an automobile. Teens of the 60's offered chewing gum to all of our friends and, most especially, our dates. Fresh breath was very important if you expected to get a "goodnight kiss" at the end of the evening. As I grew older, a fresh piece of gum might be popped into my mouth if we were on the way to the city reservoir, one of our popular places to "park."

By the time I entered UK in 1962, Dentyne had become my gum of choice. I suppose it was because it was usually preferred by adults. I loved the cinnamon taste and how it made your breath feel so fresh. I kept a pack in the pocket of my jeans and another one stuck away in my '58 Chevy. My dates soon became aware of my gum stash and often asked me for a piece.

Every time I see a child with bubble gum in their

By Ike Adams

Last Tuesday afternoon my buddy, Ralph King, stopped by the house bearing gifts because he had just stopped by a hardware store, most likely Tractor Supply, and Ralph is one of those people who absolutely cannot drive by a hardware store without going in to see if they have changed the inventory since he'd last dropped in that morning.

I am not poking fun at Ralph because I'm the same way but Loretta makes me leave my wallet with her when I go into hardware stores alone to forestall my tendency to do some impulse buying. When I can't find anything else I might need at some point during the remainder of my lifetime, I tend to purchase a pocket knife because it's nearly impossible for a man to have too many pocket knives. However it's generally pretty hard to talk the sales clerks into allowing me walk out of the place with a new knife if I don't have cash or plastic handy.

Loretta's position on pocket knives is that I need to take one I already own that's never been out of the box and see if I can trade it in for something I don't already have. She does not buy into the notion that one day the grand kids might be able to fund their college educations when they sell off the pocket knives that I intend to leave them in my will.

Anyway, Ralph was tired of hearing me whine about the fact that my rain gauge had broken so he had gone into the store and bought me one as well a machete that has a saw notched across the top of the blade. I don't know how I've managed to get by all my life without this thing but apparently I've survived. For instance, a bad storm blew through just after my buddy left and it took down a 25' tall dead Lombardy poplar sapling that now lies prostate across my front yard. If it ever stops raining long enough to work outdoors, I intend to render the poplar into a bonfire heap with my new machete.

And the new rain gauge is one impressive piece of work. It consists of a tall glass tube about 2 inches in diameter that stands about 2 feet in height. The measurement incremental marks and numbers are boldly stamped in bright yellow down the side of the tube.

Loretta helped me assemble it and get it mounted in the middle of her front yard flower bed. It's actually pretty attractive and looks right at home. The numbers and incremental lines are so large that I can read them with one eye without even having to leave the porch. It is engineered so that it has to catch over three inches of rain in the tube to equal one inch of actual rainfall. A bright red plastic ring floats inside the gathering tube so vividly that I can sit in the swing and tell how much rain we've had right down to the tenths of inches. I love it.

So we got the gauge installed that evening just before we left home for a two

Eddie Ray Owens

Eddie Ray Owens, 68, of Dandridge, TN, and formerly of Brodhead, husband of Pauline, died Saturday, July 11, 2015 at his residence. He was born November 28, 1946, the son of the late Robert Edward Owens and Anna Evelyn Ramsey Owens. He graduated from Brodhead High School and proudly served his country in the US Navy during the Vietnam Era. He was a retired printer and had most recently retired from Maintenance at the Jefferson Co. Nursing Home in Dandridge, TN. He found great joy in gardening and working with his hands. He was a member of the Baptist faith. On February 15, 2003 he was joined in holy matrimony to Pauline Ray Owens and they enjoyed 12 years together.

Those left to cherish his memory are: wife, Pauline Ray Owens of Dandridge, TN; his mother, Evelyn Owens of Dandridge, TN; his sister, Virginia Ann (Bill) Rash of Milford, OH; his children, Emily and Jason Owens; one grandchild, Whitney Owens; a special aunt, Laurine Owens of Florence; as well as nieces, cousins, friends and neighbors. He was preceded in death by his father, Robert Owens.

Services were held Tuesday, July 14, 2015 at the Marvin E. Owens Home for Funerals with Bro. Rick Reynolds officiating. A second viewing was held Wednesday, July 15, at Grace Community Church in New Market, TN, with Rev. David Taylor officiating. A private burial followed.

Making New Memories of the Fourth of July

Dear Journal,
Why does it seem that the memories of childhood events seem more special, more grand and happier, than those of more recent memory? I suppose that everybody has their own theory, but I believe there are two facets as to why. The first being that those old memories have become a part of us, engrained in our hearts and minds. They have endeared themselves to us like an old friend of many, many years. Secondly, they are full of people from our past who for whatever reason are no longer a part of our daily lives. They have moved away or have passed away and leave a special place in our heart that is now so, so precious.

Every Fourth of July our family would have something a little special. There would always be a picnic held either at a nearby park or right there in the front yard under the branches of a big silver maple tree that has seen several generations of our family. There would be a few friends on hand and family from out of town.

I remember one year when I was about six or seven, my Uncle Junior bought a great big American flag and put it on the front porch. He explained about the meaning of the stars and stripes as he worked. I wondered which star represented Kentucky. He always was the supplier of the fireworks. He enjoyed them as much as the kids.

He and the flag are now both gone, but the mounting still remains on the porch. As always, when the older folks got together, they spoke so lovingly of their memories. One of Mom's favorite memories as a child was the Fourth of July ice cream, a once-a-year treat. Her family ordered two or three gallons of the special treat, and it was delivered to Clairfield on the train. My Grandpa Roscoe would go to meet the train early in the morning on the Fourth. They only had a springhouse and it only kept food cool, not frozen. They had to eat all of that ice cream in one day. It was a dirty job, but somebody had to do it.

This year, Stanley and I created some of our own memories. We went to eat at the Valley Grille. They have some of the best food ever and very generous portions. It has become a favorite.

Much to our surprise, some of our friends: Chris, Cathy, and Shauna were already there. We had a good buffet meal and good conversation. Later, we went to Richmond to enjoy the fireworks. They were great. All of this makes for good memories.

Rain commenced pouring down right when we left and it was just letting up about the time we pulled back into the driveway just after dark. I was unable to read the gauge from the porch with my puny little led flashlight and it was still raining too hard to walk out there so I decided to wait until morning to see how well it was working.

Wednesday morning I rushed out the front door and darn near spilled a cup of scalding hot coffee all over my legs when I saw that the gauge was reading just over 3 inches of rain. My immediate reaction was to assume that the inventors of this great idea had horribly miscalculated the measuring marks,

However, it rained most of the day Wednesday as well as Thursday and Friday and the gauge only moved an additional 2 tenths of an inch, which I figured was about right. Television weather people subsequently confirmed the accuracy of measurement after the initial 3 inches but the mystery to me was why did it start working correctly and how on earth did it get up to 3 inches to start with?

Ralph was back out our way late Friday afternoon. I pointed to the gauge and told him that we both knew that it did not rain that much on Tuesday night but that it seemed to be working fine now.

Ralph cannot keep a straight face so he burst out laughing and confessed that he had talked our son Chris into pouring a cup of water into the measuring tube while Lo and I were away because he intended for me to do a column talking about the extraordinary weather we were having in Paint Lick compared to the rest of the state. It didn't work the way he planned but, since he put so much effort into the ruse, I feel it only fair that my buddy makes the paper.

“Aces”

But a lot has changed in my life. I'm still not perfect, just forgiven.

I've never talked about myself this much in a column but, now you know your local newspaper guy a little better. Good and bad. Here's hoping we meet someday soon in person.

Now that this formal introduction is done, I can get back to myself. I laugh a lot. A whole lot. So much it tends to irritate those in a bad mood. But life is just too short to mope around. See ya soon.

mouths, I am reminded of my own youth. The ad from 1953 also added: Dubble Bubble Gum – Funnies, Facts, and Fortunes in every wrapper! Some of us even collected the “funnies” from our Dubble Bubble wrappers. A single penny provided fun for your mouth, reading material, and even told your fortune. What a deal!

Yards to Paradise

By Max Phelps
Mid-Summer Gardening

For the flower or vegetable gardener, you may be thinking it is past time to ‘get around to it’ this year. I plan to try and persuade the reader that such is not the case. Mid-Summer gardening can be some of the most successful.

From a climate perspective, long warm days are a friend of most plants. Starting a garden or flower bed in summer means no worries about cold soil causing the seeds or little plants to rot, and it means no danger of frost. Plant the seeds, and they will come up, pronto! A few plants may have problems with full sun on the little fellas, but there are ways around that issue also.

Frequently you can find unsold plants at greenhouses and garden centers and not have to go the route of planting seeds. This can almost give an ‘instant’ garden look; vegetable garden or flower beds. I find lots of marked-down flowers and close-out tomato and pepper plants in summer that would have cost much more a few weeks earlier. (In starting out in the middle of the year, you do need to avoid varieties that take too long to mature, unless the item in question can take frost such as cabbage and kale. If there are 10 weeks until the average date of “first frost”, then choose plants that will take no more than 70 or 75 days to maturity.)

No-till gardening (with newspapers and added topsoil—or with aid of some week killer) works well if you don't own a tiller and don't know a farmer you can get to do some plowing. The farmer grows huge fields of corn without plowing the ground anymore, you can grow beans and corn similarly if you so desire.

Bare-root and balled-and-burlapped trees are better planted when not growing (dormant). But containerized trees, shrubs, flowers and even vegetables can be plopped into the soil at most any season. Planting a tomato or pepper plant, perhaps an eggplant or a cabbage is such a simple proposition, surely even the non-gardener can find a nook among the landscaping for a few such plants. There is something special about picking your own tomatoes, plus you have more choices over what varieties and colors you can grow compared to what the grocer sells.

Finding seeds or plants of your favorite cultivars may be a bit of a challenge if you aren't growing your own from seeds, but certainly there should be enough of something to quickly and generously establish a garden yet this summer. If you procrastinate, you can still find fall crops such as turnips can be sown in August and September, cabbage plants in August (or full grown ones in October) can be planted for late season gourmet eating or decorating.

No place to do any gardening, or maybe you live in an apartment? Try containers at the entrance way, or window boxes, filled with cherry tomatoes, herbs, flowering kale, sweet potatoes, some hot peppers and perhaps some arugula or nasturtiums. Some flowers are edible like the daylily or nasturtium, even the marigold petals can be picked to color up a tossed salad.

A rainy summer such as the current one is especially good for getting a late start with the garden—you won't have to worry about watering if they dry out. And with layering some papers, plastic, or using some Roundup...ground that may be too wet to till can still be planted the no-till way. Why not try a bit of gardening even if you've not even considered it yet, you may surprise yourself with some pretty, tasty results. Happy gardening in paradise.

God ruled on same-sex marriage a long time ago...

Dear Editor,

I have read plenty of things being written about same sex marriage and how it relates to God and government.

The government gave a ruling on it in the United States Supreme Court (Obergefell case). God ruled on it a long time ago in Leviticus 18:22, Leviticus 20:13, Romans 1:27 and Judges 19:22-23. Notice the use of words in these scriptures: shameful, wickedly, perversion, abomination.

In I Peter 2:13-17, it says to submit to the government.

Christians are to live in obedience to every institution of civil and social order on earth. This includes obedience to the national government, the state government, the police and judges.

Only when the government tries to force a Christian to do what is against the law of God explicitly stated in scripture, should he refuse to submit (Acts 4:18-20, 5:28-29, Titus 1:7, 3:1-2).

Always remember money is not the root of all evil. But the love of money is the root of all evil.

Celebrate Recovery

Celebrate Recovery classes are being held every Monday night at 6 p.m. at the Community Outreach Center in Brodhead (next to the Fairgrounds).

The purpose of the ministry is to fellowship and celebrate God's healing power in our lives through the Eight Recovery Principles.

Refreshments at 6 p.m. followed by group lesson or testimony each night. Qualified leaders are available to sign court-ordered papers.

Please call Chris Martin at 606-308-3368 for more information.

The Unique Dimension of Friendship

By Howard Coop

Every day, wherever I go, I meet people who greet me warmly. By what they do and what they say, they remind me of the value of human friendship. As a result of those seemingly incidental contacts, my days are transformed, and they are made more pleasant. Because of friends, and my life is made more enjoyable. I am constantly reminded of the significance of the question an anonymous individual aptly asked, "What would we do without friends?" The answer, I have discovered, is: Without friends, life would be bleak; it wouldn't mean much.

Friendship is defined as "the state of being friends" or "the feeling or attitude" between friends, and it has many dimensions. Over the years, I have discovered that it has one dimension that is most unusual. It has what may be called a mathematical dimension. Joseph Addison, the English essayist, poet, playwright, and politician of the late seventeenth century and early eighteenth century, wrote, "Friendship improves happiness, and abates misery." Then, he went on to add that it does so "by doubling (or multiplying) our joy, and dividing our grief."

I never thought of friendship as possessing a dimension of mathematics, but I learned a long time ago that multiplying and dividing are terms that are used in mathematics. Therefore, when applied to friendship, these terms give it a truly unique dimension, for friendship does multiply some things, and it does divide some other things. It brings much to life. Wallace Fridy said that friendship brings "strength when there is weakness, comfort when there is sadness, and courage when there is fear."

Dr. Leslie R. Smith, in his book FROM SUNSET TO DAWN, says that "one of the greatest comforts which can come...is the presence of those who" share their friendship, for friends "are, indeed, a providential gift." So, I cherish friendship, and each day I am thankful for those friends, young and old, who add so much to my life.

Mamaw's Kitchen

By Regina Poynter Hoskins

MACARONI SALAD

1 pound elbow macaroni, cooked according to package directions and drained
1 large onion, chopped
3 hard boiled eggs, chopped
1 cup sweet pickles, chopped
2 tablespoons sweet pickle juice
1 cup Miracle Whip® or mayonnaise
Cool cooked macaroni slightly. In large bowl combine macaroni with the onion, egg, and pickles. In smaller bowl combine Miracle Whip® and pickle juice. Pour over macaroni mixture. Stir gently. Sprinkle with salt and pepper to taste.
This makes a large dish (serves about 18). Can be halved if desired.

SPAGHETTI SALAD

1 box (7 ounce) spaghetti
1 green pepper, chopped
1 red or yellow sweet pepper, chopped
1 onion, chopped
2 medium cucumbers, chopped
2 tomatoes, chopped
1 carrot, thinly sliced
1 small bottle Italian dressing
Cook spaghetti according to package directions. Drain and cool. Add rest of ingredients and refrigerate.
CAPRESE PASTA SALAD
I leave the olives out of this when I know that Amy or Jessie are going to be eating some of it, since they don't like olives. This is one of Rhonda's favorites.

1 package (16 ounce) mini bow tie pasta
2 cups grape tomatoes, halved
7 ounces fresh mozzarella cheese, cubed
1 medium yellow or green bell pepper, chopped
1 medium sweet or red onion, chopped
3/4 cup pickled banana pepper rings, chopped
1 can (3.8 ounce) sliced ripe olives, drained
Cook pasta according to package directions; drain and rinse in cold water. In a large bowl, combine pasta, tomatoes, cheese, yellow pepper, onion, pepper rings, and olives.

RED WINE

VINAIGRETTE:

1 cup red wine vinegar
1 garlic clove, minced
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon dried basil
1 cup olive oil
1 tablespoon juice from pickled banana pepper rings, optional
In a jar with a tight-fitting lid, combine the dressing ingredients; shake well. Pour over salad and toss to coat. Cover and refrigerate for at least 1 hour before serving.

The Rockcastle 8U All-Star Team recently won the Sports Den Classic baseball tournament held in Somerset. They took home the first place trophy by defeating the Lake Cumberland 8U All-Stars in the championship game 17-8. The 8U All-Stars also competed in the State Tournament in Nicholasville, July 9-12. All of the parents and fans are very proud of this wonderful group of young boys. Pictured front from left are: Caleb Sargent, Sawyer Yates, Conner Winstead, Zeke Fain, and Connor Wright. Second row from left: Maddox Parsons, Kaleb Alexander, Ethan Nicely, Walker Craig and Luke Poynter. Back row from left: coaches David Fain, Chris Parsons, and Corey Craig. Not pictured Hunter Pingleton and coach David Sargent.

place the roof of the Mount Vernon Elementary school was also approved.

David Pensol, Rockcastle County Schools Superintendent, said one of the bids was about $30,000 higher than expected but the other was nearly $200,000 lower than expected. “These are reputable contractors and another bid was this low as well,” he said.

Overall the two projects are expected to cost around $170,000 less than expected.

The board also approved creating a new position at Mount Vernon Elementary for an LPN.

A recent letter, from the Cumberland Valley District Health Department, notified Pensol that the department has decided to close the school health program. The letter stated, “school health has become an unsustainable program with health departments.”

The consequence of this decision left Mount Vernon Elementary School in need of a licensed health care staff person.

The board voted unanimously to create the position which will pay $13.37 per hour for 7 hours per day and 185 days per school year.

The board also heard the reading of a resolution which confirms the acceptance of an assistance offer from the Kentucky Facilities Construction Commission.

According to Becky Isaacs, Student Services Director, this is an annual offer to help with construction projects and varies in amount each year.

Jason Coguer, District Supervisor of Rockcastle County Schools, presented the month ending financial report to the board. The total bank balance as of 6-30-15 was $1,454,438.40, according to the report.

Pensol said he expects the total budget at the end of the fiscal year to show Rockcastle County schools breaking even financially.

The Superintendent also released the names of those to be hired by the school system this coming year.

Full-time certified employees are hired for the upcoming year are: Izak McQueary, assistant football coach and the Health/P.E. teacher for RCHS; Zachary Reichert, Spanish teacher at RCHS; Krystal Gatliff, elementary teacher at RES and Sarah Hasty and Rachel Falin, teachers at BES.

Full-time classified employees will be: Jake Woodall, assistant boy’s basketball coach at RCHS, Larken Prewitt, custodian at RCHS; Valerie Kendrick, custodian at RCMS; Debra Shuler, cook/baker at RCMS; Amanda Booth, instructional assistant at MVES; Cristi Bradley, instructional assistant at MVES; Robert Dees, bus driver and Jacqueline Bishop, instructional assistant at MVES.

Substitute Classified hirings were: Larkin Prewitt, substitute custodian; Christina Cain, substitute cook/baker; Elizabeth Phelps, substitute cook/bake, and Dicie Mullins, substitute cook/baker.

The only retirement listed in the personnel action report was Lois Burdette, a teacher from RES.

Board members also provided an evaluation for Pensol. The report mentions Pensol’s “outstanding performance,” and thanked him for his “focus on student achievement, and for leading our system in ensuring Rockcastle County students graduate ready for college, careers and life.”

At that time, Lawson’s bond was set at $25,000 cash but, in June, Circuit Judge David Tapp modified Lawson’s bond to $25,000/10% saying he felt Lawson was a low flight risk, the charges were non-violent and Lawson had no prior criminal record.

This time, Lawson’s bond was set at $50,000 cash/property which means that if a property bond is filled, the property must be valued at double the $50,000 cash bond.

However, Current charges on which Lawson was indicted last Friday are:

One count of theft by deception, involving the obtaining of money or other property from Rockcastle County Cystic Fibrosis of over $500 in November of 2013;

One count of theft by deception by obtaining money or other property from Rockcastle Tourism Task Force of over $500 in July of 2013;

One count of theft by deception by obtaining money or other property from Rockcastle Cruise in the Valley of over $500 in January of 2014;

One count of theft by deception by obtaining money or other property from the Rockcastle Kentucky Music Hall and Museum General Account, one with a value of over $10,000 in February of 2014 and the other in January of 2015 with a value of over $500, and

One count of theft by deception by obtaining money or other property from Rockcastle Kentucky Music Hall and Museum General Account and Aunt Polly House of a value over $500 in February, 2014.

Other Indictments

Also named in indictments handed down July 10th were:

Shauna F. Baker, 28 of Copper Creek Road, Crab Orchard on two counts -- one for the offense of criminal possession of a forged instrument and the other for theft by unlawful taking of property of over $500 value.

Her bond was set at $10,000 cash/property;

Pamela J. Wright, 36, of Big Cave Road, Orlando, was indicted on two counts- one for wanton endangerment and the other for custodial interference.

Wright’s bond was set at $20,000 cash/property;

Derick Dewayne Bishop, 37, of Tichner Drive, Mt. Vernon, was also indicted on two counts, both for assault, involving two separate victims in June of this year.

Bishop’s bond was set at $25,000 cash/property;

Anthony Newell, 44, of Vaught St., Somerset was indicted on one count of possession of a controlled substance.

His bond was set at $10,000 cash/property;

Nick Denny, 25, of Chestnut Ridge Road, Mt. Vernon was indicted on three counts, one for wanton endangerment, one for assault and one for terroristic threatening.

Denny’s bond was set at $25,000 cash/property and, Nicholas J. Denny, 25, Travis Evans, 25 and Anthony J. Naylor, all of Mt. Vernon, were named in a joint-indictment on two counts, one for burglary and the other for theft by unlawful taking.

All three men’s bond was set at $20,000 cash/property.

puts people to work and gives people skills. It’s a great program,” he said.

Hopkins agreed saying, “Having this resource in our community is a great resource. A skilled workforce is a strong benefit.”

A longer discussion was held concerning how to keep track of work time within the RCIDA.

Hamilton said state auditors may ask for such records in the future. “Auditors are cracking down on how counties spend their funds. We need a way to note how we spend our time,” he said.

He said some sort of scheduling process would not only give members and fiscal court easier access to

Hopkins, but would provide information concerning the board’s activities. “It would be nice to know what percent of time we are doing cold calls, and what percent of time we are working new clients, and how our time is spent,” said Hamilton.

Hopkins said her phone is always on and she always answers it. “It is very, very rare that I get a call from the court. The best way to know where I am and what I’m doing, is to pick up the phone and call me,” she said.

While members of the board agreed that some sort of scheduling may be needed, board member Corey Craig said there is also danger involved. “If you aren’t careful, you can get so bogged down in administrative paperwork, that it’s not worth the time spent doing it,” he said.

Chairman of the Board, Jason Cogure, suggested utilizing the digital age. “Just a shared calendar among the board and Judge Bishop’s office would be all we needed to keep records. Just a general entry would be fine. Then if we needed more detail on any specific entry, we could go into the calendar and get it,” he said.

Hopkins said, “I work for you. Whatever you want me to do, I will do it that way.”

Meth arrest

Police arrested Cassey Scott Crank, 23, of Bryant Ridge Road in Brodhead last Friday, according to a Rockcastle County Sheriff’s report.

The report says Deputy Brandon McIntosh spotted Crank’s vehicle on Lake Cumberland Road crossing the center line and driving in the emergency lane.

The report says Crank admitted to smoking marijuana and gave the officer permission to search the vehicle.

During the search, the officer located a black nylon bag in the trunk of the car and inside the bag found methamphetamine, according to the report. Also found were several “twisted up coffee filters” in a plastic container. The report says methamphetamine residue was also found in the filters.

The report says there were also other chemicals in the car used to make meth.

Crank was charged with careless driving, operating a motor vehicle under the influence, manufacturing methamphetamine- first offense, unlawful distribution of meth-first offense and possession of a controlled substance-1st degree.

His bond was set at $7,500 cash/property.

Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue responded to three separate accidents on I-75 in about an hour last Saturday morning. Shown above is the first wreck that happened about the 66 mile marker northbound when a family from North Carolina lost control of this Dodge Durango and left the roadway. One occupant was taken to the Rockcastle Regional Hospital for treatment of her injuries. The traffic slowing for the above wreck led to the other two accidents northbound.

within five years. Minimum wage would be $10 an hour for line employees, Bailey added.

As to the guard rail part of the manufacturing facility, Bailey said that the department of transportation had expressed interest partly because of an additive that would enable the rails to be manufactured in “safety yellow” in color, which would act as a warning beacon itself to motorists.

The additive is manufactured in Michigan and negotiations are in process to acquire the additive, Bailey said. “Even without it (the additive), we will be able to manufacture the products in color but the color might not be as lasting.”

Bailey, whose wife is from the Brodhead area, told the court he felt this project would be “mutually beneficial” because there is a huge need for employment in this area. “I understand that a lot of people from here work out of town and commute. If they only get back 15-30 minutes a day it would improve the quality of life for them.”

Speaking to the start-up costs, Bailey said they would be “incredibly expensive” for the company and asked the court to prepare an incentive package which would help the company defray some of that costs.

On question from County Attorney Billy Reynolds, Bailey said that Thornburg planned to get the plant up and running this year.

Bailey said the company would like to have a lease agreement to begin with plans to purchase the building in five to seven years.

County Judge/Executive Doug Bishop told the court that he had met with Bailey’s client, Daniel Thornburg, and was impressed with the “success he has had with starting up numerous companies before.” Bishop told the attorney that the county would meet them “more than half-way.”

State Representative Jonathan Shell, who was at the meeting, told Bailey that he would contact the Economic Development Cabinet in Frankfort to see what incentive packages were available and set up a meeting.

After the presentation, the court discussed how they would proceed with preparing an incentive package for the company and noted that since they have not signed a contract with a realty company to market the building they would save the commission on the deal.

“Remains”

East Berndstadt and police were sent to the scene to investigate. The remains are believed to have been at the site for some time.

This week, rumors began to circulate that the bones were identified, but Kentucky State Police Public Affairs Officer Lloyd Cochran said there has been no positive identification made at this time.

“We have been getting calls all day from news agencies asking this same question. And to the best of my knowledge, the bones have not yet been identified,” said Cochran.

However, police do suspect the identity of the remains. “We think we may know who it is but we can’t possibly release that without positive confirmation from the Medical Examiner’s office,” he said.

Cochran says he checks with the Medical Examiner’s office regularly and will keep the public informed of any new information. “As soon as the identity is released, I will send out a press release,” he said.

“Court”

there were positive results from the program. “If there are no results,” McKinney said, “then there’s no need to continue.”

In other business, the court okayed a donation to the Mt. Vernon Fire Department’s Firepup Program. The program teaches children at Mt. Vernon Elementary, day care and head start about fire safety, burn prevention, escape plans, etc.

The court approved a donation of $112.50 which will cover materials for 50 children.

The court also approved a Memorandum of Agreement with the state concerning the use of $32,542, made up of reallocated coal severance funds and grants, toward the purchase of a backhoe for the road department.

Judge/Executive Doug Bishop told the court that he really appreciated the efforts of State Rep. Jonathan Shell and State Senator Jared Carpenter in getting the coal severance funds reallocated from entities which no longer require the funds.

Bishop said Wednesday that a decision had not been made as to whether to buy a new or a used backhoe. “A new backhoe costs over $80,000 with the state discount,” Bishop said “we’ll just have to see how much more funding we can come up with.”

Following a fiscal year-end report to the court of the county’s financial condition, including debt, from County Treasurer Joe Clontz, Al Dechambeau, who was at the meeting, asked if “anything could be done to aggressively lower the county’s debt?”

In his report, Clontz had reported that the county currently owes seven and a half million on principal of outstanding debt and $8,772,231 including interest.

Bishop told Dechambeau that with over $300,000 cut from the road fund by the state over the past two years plus inflation, “we’re having to tighten our belt just to stay even.”

However Bishop did say that one option was to grow the county’s economy so that more revenue would be available to reduce debt.

Clontz added that while the debt may seem large, the total payments for fiscal year 2015-16 was only $944,000 or 10% of the county’s total budget.

The court also: reappointed Barbara Congleton to the board of the Rockcastle County Library; reduced the speed limit on Lambert Road from 55 mph to 35 mph; approved a motion allowing Judge Bishop to purchase two tractors and a bush hog under the state surplus program;

approved $17,495 for July program support for RCIDA; approved payment of $3,500 to Lester Kirby Tree Service for removal of downed trees from recent storms; approved payment of $2,132 to the state for the county’s share of the defense of the indigent program; approved payment of $3,506 to CVADD for support, and approved a Resolution authorizing the formation of a substance abuse advisory council to assist/advise the court on how to combat the drug problem in the county.

The Resolution calls for a seven member council, comprised of a member from the medical, education and law enforcement fields and four from the general public.

Judge Bishop voiced his support of the resolution, saying “people say we can’t win but surrendering is not the answer. It’s sad to see lives wasted. Our children are too precious not to make an effort.”

As a final item of business, the court transferred $75,000 from the occupational tax fund to the general fund.

For technology improvements

Circuit Court Clerk's office to be closed July 21

Most of the Rockcastle County Office of Circuit Court Clerk will be closed Tuesday, July 21, for technology upgrades to improve the computer network and replace outdated hardware. The driver licensing area of the office will be open. The entire office will open at its regular time of 8 a.m. ET on Wednesday, July 22.

The changes are needed to address aging technology infrastructure and to support eFiling and a new court case management system. Rockcastle County began offering eFiling in March. With electronic filing, attorneys may file court cases in Rockcastle and other counties with the program at any time without having to make a trip to a courthouse. Meanwhile, the state court system is developing a statewide case management system to replace its functionally and technically obsolete system. The new case management system will consolidate databases and give them the ability to interact with each other. This will reduce errors, eliminate manual and redundant processes and provide the ability to track a person through the court system. The court system will be better able to secure current and historical court data and provide information that the Executive and Legislative branches, state agencies and justice partners rely on to carry out their daily business.

Circuit court clerks are responsible for managing the records of Kentucky's Circuit and District courts. Circuit clerks are constitutionally elected officials from all 120 counties and serve a six-year term. Aims to keep children safe

Free child seat inspection coming to Mt. Vernon

The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet's Office of Highway Safety is partnering with the Rockcastle County Health Department to sponsor a free child safety seat inspection at the Rockcastle County Health Department on Friday, July 31 beginning at 1 p.m. Nationally certified child passenger safety technicians will educate participants on correct installation and usage and check for recalls or damage to the seat.

Attendees should allow approximately 20 minutes per seat.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration statistics show over 90 percent of child safety seats in the United States are installed incorrectly. When used correctly, child safety seats are 71 percent effective in reducing infant fatalities, 67 percent effective in reducing the need for hospitalization and 54 percent effective in reducing fatalities for children 1 to 4.

A two-vehicle wreck occurred last Thursday on Hwy. 25 at the top of Renfro Hill. According to police, Thomas Taksa, of Somerset, pulled his Smart Car, shown above, into the path of a Chevy Malibu driven by Margaret Matthews, of Mt. Vernon. Matthews was transported to the Rockcastle Regional Hospital for treatment of her injuries. Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue assisted at the scene.

Find the thermocline for better summer fishing

Fishing instruction for decades preached anglers should fish deep, cool water during the hottest days of the summer.

This makes sense as fish are cold-blooded animals and their bodies are the same temperature of the water that surrounds them.

However, fishing deep water in summer on a lake such as Taylorsville Lake may mean your offerings are in a dead zone. Warming air temperatures change the nature of the water in a lake. Anglers need to consider these changes while summer fishing.

The water column in lakes begins to stratify in late spring, like a layer cake with a warm top layer, a mixing layer in the middle and a cold layer on the bottom. Warm water is less dense and sits on top of the cooler and denser water below.

"The mixing layer in the middle is the thermocline," said Dave Dreves, assistant director of fisheries for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "The thermocline is a band of water with rapidly changing temperatures."

As summer progresses, the water below the thermocline grows increasing hostile to fish. "As organic material from plants or animals sinks to the bottom, decomposition ties up all of the available dissolved oxygen," Dreves said.

Fish need dissolved oxygen to survive, so the layer of the water below the thermocline becomes a dead zone as the air temperatures rise. Lures or bait presented there is the same as casting into a desert.

"The further you go into summer, the more the thermocline matters," Dreves said. "It varies from year to year how long it takes for it to set up."

Anglers want to target the area just above the thermocline for the best summer fishing. "You have that happy medium of the coolest water with good dissolved oxygen," Dreves said. "You might find baitfish at that level as well. That zone will be the active part of the food chain."

The fertility of the lake determines the location of the thermocline. Water clarity is a good indicator of fertility; murky lakes contain more nutrients in the water than lakes where you can see the bottom in 12 feet of water.

On a highly fertile lake such as Taylorsville, the thermocline starts at about 8 feet deep in mid-summer and ends at roughly 12 feet. Bass anglers fishing a heavy jig 18 feet deep on a channel drop are wasting their time, the same as anglers dunking cut bait for channel cats at that depth. There is no dissolved oxygen that deep.

Anglers need to pound that water from 6 to 10 feet deep or so in the summer heat on Taylorsville for bass, crappie, catfish and even bluegill.

"On a clear, low fertility lake like Laurel River Lake or Lake Cumberland, the thermocline may start at 30 feet deep," Dreves said. "On these lakes, there can be good dissolved oxygen below the thermocline. They have a two story fishery where cool water fish such as walleye or striped bass locate below the thermocline in summer."

On mid-depth, moderately fertile lakes such as Nolin River Lake, Barren River Lake, Green River Lake or Rough River Lake, the thermocline usually starts around 11 to 12 feet deep in summer with little dissolved oxygen below 16 feet.

"Find banks, channel drops or humps at that depth and fish them," Dreves said. "I always remind myself to fish the right depth in summer."

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Louisville District webpage has charts showing the water temperature and depths of the dissolved oxygen at www.lrl.usace.army.mil. Click on the "Water Information" tab, then the "Lake Temperatures and Dissolved Oxygen Levels" tab.

The depth where the oxygen line takes a left toward the zero side of the graph is the top of the thermocline.

"You can also go out in the middle of the lake and turn up the sensitivity on your sonar unit until you see a band in the depths," Dreves said. "That band is the thermocline. It seems the older units might pick this band up better than the newer ones."

Lakes with high flow through rates such as Kentucky Lake and Lake Barkley usually do not form thermoclines in summer. The main lake, but thermoclines may appear in their major creek arms or embayments. The current in rivers prevents thermoclines from forming.

Remember the role of the thermocline while fishing this summer. It will put more fish in hand.

FBLA students attend Leadership Camp

Austin Brown*

On Wednesday, June 10th, five members of the Future Business Leaders of America Chapter from the Rockcastle Area Technology Center attended the annual FBLA Leadership Development Camp. This camp was held at the FFA Leadership Training Center in Hardinsburg, Kentucky. 139 local, regional, and state FBLA officers attended the camp this year, learning more information about the office they hold, the responsibilities that come with this office, and several team-building activities.

The officers in attendance at this camp were president Brad Taylor, secretary Sarah McGuire, and reporter Austin Brown. Joining the three officers were Mrs. Vicky Castle, one of the chapter’s advisors, and her daughter Brooke. Each member would have class twice a day with people who hold the same office that they do. Also, each member of the camp was split up into four teams. Brad and Brooke were members of Team One, and Austin and Sarah were members of Team Three. The purpose of being split up into teams was to meet new people and participate in team building activities. There were various athletic competitions as well, which included basketball, softball, a track meet, and a swim meet. At the end of the camp, the victorious team would take home the Golden Mug.

The theme of camp this year was “Get a Clue with FBLA!” The camp was based on a murder mystery, with clues about the culprit being given out at each general session. On the last morning, each team performed a skit, acting out the murder and detailing the guilty party. At the conclusion of each night, we had a social event. On Wednesday night, we watched the movie Clue, and on Thursday night there was a karaoke session where ice cream was served. The camp concluded on Friday morning, June 12th.

FFA attends Leadership Training

Submitted by Reporter
Sierra Sturgill

On June 29th, officers and assistants of the Rockcastle County FFA Chapter traveled to Hardinsburg to attend the 3rd week of the Kentucky Leadership Training Center, better known as FFA Camp. Throughout the week the members participated in a number of leadership and recreational activities. During the week the officers and assistants attended officer class and special interests classes. On Monday night, June 29th, Rockcastle was the first chapter to preside over the first session under the gavel of President James Clay Ballinger. Rockcastle also had a freshman representative, Pamela Miller, to be the first candidate in saying the FFA Creed.

On Wednesday night, July 1st, The Kentucky Leadership Training Center Talent Show was held. Rockcastle County's Sarah Poynter put on a spectacular performance singing Reba McEntire's "The Night the Lights Went Out in Georgia".

On Thursday night, July 2nd, Savannah Goff participated in the state quiz contest. Mahala Saylor was selected to play on the softball all-star team.

On Friday July 3rd, James Clay Ballinger received an Outstanding Leadership Award. Only 1/3rd of the top 10% of campers are eligible for this award. Eric Bullock received a SAE Grant for $100. Caleb Ballinger, David Gabbard, Allie Renner, and Sierra Sturgill received athletic awards.

The FFA would like to thank the local Alumni for paying $100 for each member that attended. Furthermore, they would like to thank the State FFA Alumni Council for the three $150 scholarships that were awarded to Brittany Long, Andrew McKinney, and Pamela Miller. Thanks to Mrs. Hayes for chaperoning the girl's cabin for the week.

Three Rockcastle County ATC students recently attended the National SkillsUSA Leadership Conference held in Louisville. State officer Hailey Harper went to Louisville on June 19th to assist in setting up. Curtis Miller and Christian Sagraves went up on June 22nd. While there, Miller competed in Job Demo "A" and Sagraves competed in Action Skills. Miller placed 7th in his competition. Harper will be serving as a state officer for a 2nd year. They all returned home from the conference June 27th. We are proud of Curtis Miller, Hailey Harper, and Christian Sagraves for representing Rockcastle County schools so well.

Early Deadline Next Week

Deadline for next week's paper is 4 p.m. Monday

Kentucky Agriculture Commissioner James Comer was in Livingston last week to announce the designation of Livingston as the first Kentucky Proud City. Present for the announcement, were from left: Livingston Police Chief Carl Swannigan, City Councilwomen Charlene Newcomb and Katha Carpenter, Commissioner Comer, Mayor Jason Medley, Natasha Medley and City Clerk Trish Doan

Comm. Comer announces Livingston as first Kentucky Proud City

By: Mike French

Kentucky State Agriculture Commissioner James Comer has officially designated the City of Livingston as the very first "Kentucky Proud City."

As the only city in the state of Kentucky with this designation, Livingston will be featured on the Kentucky Proud website and receive all the benefits from the program.

The designation is expected to increase tourism, create jobs, provide increased income to local workers, businesses and the City of Livingston. "Here in Livingston, we raise produce, not taxes," said Livingston Mayor Jason Medley.

Until now, the Kentucky Proud designation has only been given to small farms, businesses or individuals. No city has been a part of the program. Cromer said he is from a small town and understands the struggles of trying to create revenue and grow and he believes this is a bold and fruitful move by Mayor Medley.

"I commend the Mayor of Livingston and all those who have worked so diligently to see this through. It's thinking outside the box and I am honored to give Livingston the first ever designation as a Kentucky Proud City," said Comer. "I am confident that you can use this designation to enhance tourism and promote your city."

Comer also said he is excited to see the many projects underway in the city of Livingston and he believes this designation will provide marketing and revenue possibilities for the town.

Under CEP program

Free breakfast, lunch available for all students this school year

By: Mike French

All Rockcastle County students will receive free breakfast and lunch this year. According to Becky Isaacs, Student Service Director of Rockcastle County School system, the Community Eligibility Provision (CEP) will be implemented beginning with this school year.

"All Rockcastle County students will be offered a nutritious breakfast and lunch at no cost, regardless of eligibility status," Isaacs said. School Superintendent David Pensol said offering meals at no charge to all students means the schools no longer will have to collect unpaid meal fees from families or foot the bill for meals served when children do not have money to pay.

"This United States Department of Agriculture-sponsored program is a wonderful opportunity for our community," said Pensol. "Rockcastle County Schools staff has worked diligently to incorporate this program into our overall district plan."

About 2,900 students in the county will receive two free meals per day. However, participation is the key, according to Jamie Lear, Food Service Director of Rockcastle County. "We need everyone to participate in the program. A large part of the success of this program will depend upon participation," she said.

According to Pensol, the school system was already paying for some free meals. He said those who were eligible for reduced-price meals last year, received free meals instead and the school system made up the difference. Though, the district will still have to make up some difference between meal costs and the grant from the CEP program, it will cost less to make up this difference than it was costing to provide free meals for those eligible for discounts. "It's a win/win/win for schools, families and students," he said.

Lear said under this new program, providing the no-cost meals is now financially viable. "The next challenge is to provide meals that every child will eat," she said. According to Lear, guidelines are very strict concerning what foods may be served to students.

Brodhead City Council discusses several items

Members of the Brodhead City Council met Monday, July, 13 to discuss several issues. The minutes of last month's meeting were approved and the council voted to pay the city's current bills.

The members also discussed placing a new flag and pole at the new Brodhead Depot Park. Members agreed to look into the subject and check pricing.

During council comments session, Councilman Dallas Todd suggested speed bumps be placed in several locations around the city. However, councilman Rick Kirby and Brodhead Mayor Walter Cash countered that there might be liability issues involved.

Todd then suggested placing new stop signs in certain areas where he feels traffic is moving too fast. "Cars come through there like a race track. I think they are going to blow their engines sometimes," he said.

Todd was referring to the corner of Albright and Tyree Streets. "I know those people won't stop anyway, but at least we are doing something," he said. Brian Mullins, representative of the Brodhead Water and Sewer Department, said the signs would cost around $100 per intersection.

Todd also suggested stop signs on Silver Street. "It's a long straight stretch but

Rockcastle School's drop-out rate is well below state average

By: Mike French

The Rockcastle County school system is setting an example for other schools across the country to follow, according to recent drop-out and graduation rates. No 16, or 17 year-old students have dropped out of school for the past three years, according to Superintendent David Pensol. Including drop-outs of all ages, Rockcastle County is ahead of state and national averages. In fact, way ahead.

The state average graduation rate is listed at 77.2% on the Kentucky Department of Education website. Which means nearly one is four students do not graduate across Kentucky. However, in Rockcastle County the graduation rate is 93% and has been improving each year for the past three years. But this did not happen by accident.

According to Becky Isaacs, District Director of Pupil Personnel, there has been a lot of thought given to the subject. "Students were coming to us to discuss dropping out of school and by the time they got to us, the situation was already passed the point that we could help," she said. "We had a big problem. We were reacting to a situation that was already out of control. So, we decided to become proactive and do something before the student had no other options. We needed a plan that was based on individual student needs."

Isaacs and Pensol began communicating with all administrative staff in an effort to identify potential problems. "Mr. Pensol and I sat down and started working on the drop-out problem and came up with some plans," said Isaacs. The two contacted all administrative staff and discussed ways to identify potential problems before they became too big to repair. "For example, if a student has been getting good grades and not missing school and then suddenly their grades begin to drop and they suddenly have unexcused absences, we need to find out why," she said.

Now, if a teacher identifies a change in pattern or a drop in grades or attitude, they contact the administrative staff at the school to try to find the problem. If that doesn't help them then Pensol and Isaacs may meet with the student individually. "We need to all come together and find a way to help the student," she said.

Isaacs said there are many reasons why a student may think that dropping out of school is their only answer. "Sometimes a student has to help pay the bills at home and must get a job.

Sometimes they think that means they have to drop out. But we can work with them. At the Rockcastle Academy of Academic Achievement (RAAA) if a student has to be at work by 3 p.m., we can build a pro-

Local woman was part of Rosie the Riveter program

By: Mike French

Between 1940 and 1945, women in the workforce in America increased from 27% to nearly 40%. "Rosie the Riveter" became part of a national campaign aimed at recruiting female workers into the munitions industry.

More than 310,000 women began working in the aviation industry as American men went to fight in World War II.

Mary Kathalene Quinn Hunt, retired Rockcastle County school teacher, was one of those women, "And I have the scars to prove it," she said recently.

The 91 year-old Mount Vernon resident began working in 1942 in Michigan and joined the female workforce across the country. Hunt still keeps a sample of the riveted parts she worked on that fit the B-24 bomber.

Hunt said the Ford Motor Company transformed their auto plants into plants that made airplane parts.

Hunt met her husband, the late Ed Hunt, during a trip back to Rockcastle County and the couple's fate was set. Ed went to war while Kathline continued to work at her job in Michigan. But the two never lost touch and continued to write each other in their free time.

Kathalene keeps a large trunk in the garage filled with every letter written between her and Ed during the war.

"It was love at first sight. But he went off to war then got a 30-day pass and came home. When I met him at the door I told him we were getting married Saturday."

Once the war neared its end, the couple decided to move back to Kentucky from Alabama where they had located after the war. "I was against it but we were both born here in Rockcastle County and this was home," she said.

Ed began teaching in the Rockcastle County School System and at one time, Kathalene filled in as a teacher for three days for her husband. Eventually, she began summer school, a correspondence course and continued to be a mother to the couple's two daughters, Mary Alice and Virginia (Darst), and a homemaker.

"I did summer school,

Aces Over

By Mike French

At 4 a.m., well before the crack of dawn and before the roosters began to crow, she rolled out of that huge feather bed. She folded and neatly stacked the hand-sewn quilts that had kept her warm through the night. There wasn't any heat in the bedroom and it took a lot of quilts stuffed with down feathers that she had plucked herself.

By 4:15 she had gathered the chopped wood from the back porch and started the fire in her cook stove and was putting the old tin coffee pot on. The little round cooking surfaces of the stove could be removed and that's how she controlled the temperature in her stove. By removing one of the cast iron plates off the top, air got inside the stove and the fire burned hotter. Remove two plates, more air, hotter still. Leave all the plates on, and the fire would just smolder.

Somehow, by 5 a.m. there was country ham, bacon, sausage, biscuits, gravy, toast, her homemade jams and jellies, scrambled eggs, eggs over easy and glasses of ice cold milk placed perfectly on the old red and white checkered table cloth. The wobbly wooden chairs were pulled back and cloth napkins were placed over the chair arms.

"COME AND GET IT," she would yell. The house full of kids and her husband would mope their way into the kitchen and after a quiet word of prayer, without another word, they grabbed their napkins and the house was filled with the sound of metal forks and knives banging on glass bowls. The occasional belch from the old man would cause a snicker from the boys and an eye-roll from the girls.

After breakfast, the old man and the boys gathered their warm clothes and hitched up the mules on their way to the tobacco fields or garden to work. But before they were out of the house, the wife had started boiling the water to use to wash the dishes. By lunch time, when the men came back to the house in their muddy, sweaty clothes, the table was set again. And somehow the dusting had gotten done, the old wringer washer was going, filled with yesterday's muddy clothes, and the windows had been cleaned.

Another meal and back into the field for the men. By the end of the day, just before dusk the third meal was placed. Again with more food than everyone could eat. But, as if by magic, the yard had been mown, the weeds were cut by hand, holes in clothes had been patched, eggs had been gathered, chickens had been wrung and cut up ready to cook, a raging fire was going in the fireplace, groceries had been purchased at the local store, beds had been made, shoes had been repaired, hair had been cut, floors and porches had been swept, and the wife was still smiling and welcoming her boys home with open arms.

During the quiet time in front of the fire, as the men were winding down, she sat in her chair sewing. Making more quilts or clothes or aprons or bonnets. Her fingers didn't stop until bedtime and when the young ones started to yawn, she put her sewing down, grabbed her Bible and led them to the cold bedrooms. She tucked them in, blew out all but one of the coal oil lamps so that she could read the children a bedtime story from the Good Book.

Without so much as a frown or a complaint, she worked from the moment she awoke, 'till all were safe and sound again that evening. A gentle kiss on the forehead to each of her chil-

ROCKCASTLE MEMORIES

UK Bound

Last week I was able to experience a fabulous evening with my grandson, Baylor. My son, Andy, lives with his family in Chicago. [Kathy and I have three grandchildren: Baylor (19), Emory (17) and McLean (14)]. The wonderful dinner that we shared with Andy, Baylor, and Emory was to celebrate Baylor's registration as a freshman at the University of Kentucky. It was a lovely visit, with warm conversations and laughter.

It is so hard to believe that Baylor is old enough for college and is coming to Lexington for the next four years. We are so excited to have him in the region where we can visit often. We have made dates to take him out to dinner as soon as he arrives and plan to take him to Keeneland for the fall meet.

Since they have always lived away from Kentucky (before Chicago, it was Philadelphia and Ann Arbor), Kathy and I have never been able to spend the time that we desired with our grandchildren. Baylor's move to Lexington is an answer to our prayers. At the dinner table at Sal's, we all began to consider the substantial differences between my own freshman initiation to college life, my son's experience, and now Baylor's.

When I was a freshman in 1962, I drove my loaded '58 Chevy to Lexington by myself and did not have the luxury of having my parents assist with my entrance to college life. I simply left Mt. Vernon immediately upon graduation and re-located in a dorm on UK's campus. It was my responsibility to find my advisor, make out my schedule, move into my dorm room, and begin my life as a college student. My tuition was approximately $2,400 per year.

My mother (Bee) made me promise that I would call every week to let her know how college life was treating me and whether I needed anything that she could provide. About every two weeks or so, I returned to Mt. Vernon on the weekends to check on my friends and my family. Bee washed my clothes and provided me with the funds for my next round of meals.

Twenty five years later (1987), Andy made his way to Lexington as a freshman. He had graduated from Montgomery County High School in Mt. Sterling, which had consolidated with Mt. Sterling High where I had taught and coached. He moved into The Towers on UK's campus as he began his college career. Tuition had climbed to about $6,500 each year.

At that time, Kathy and I lived in Lexington so we were able to visit with Andy frequently. It was great to have him living in the same city with us. Andy ended up majoring in Business and started his career with Merck Pharmaceuticals soon after he graduated. He has remained with Merck and has moved up the corporate ladder ever since. I am extremely proud of his professional career.

Now it has been twenty-eight years since Andy entered college and fifty-three years since I did. A new chapter has begun with Baylor's arrival in Lexington. They were in town in Our Garrard County Extension Service Agriculture Agent, Jay Hettmansperger, actually has a title that may not even contain the word agriculture these days since UK, in keeping with the times, went about updating personnel titles a few years back. I am reasonably sure, however, that Jay spends the bulk of his time providing technical assistance to farmers and home gardeners such as yours truly and I know for sure that he has been very, very good at solving some problems I've encountered with vegetable disease and insects over the last few years.

I can also tell you for sure that he knows how to grow tomatoes better than anyone I've ever known.

Not only that but he is a big fan of the heirloom varieties that have withstood the test of time. This year, as he has for the last several, Jay has a demonstration raised bed with several tomato plants stealing the show there beside the Extension Service Office just south of Lancaster on highway 27. If you're ever out that way, it's worth a stop just to see the tomato plant support cages he has constructed.

I won't go into details here but the tomato cages are beyond practical and very easy to make if you have some old fence wire and a good pair of wire-cutting pliers. You can take a long look at them and tell how to make them without having to make any detailed notes and once you've used them you will never consider paying good money for the ridiculously over-priced, so-called, semi-functional, tomato cages that garden centers foist off on people every spring.

Half the fun of growing tomatoes for me comes from the satisfaction I get from starting my own plants from seed. It's even more satisfying to save my own seed and grow varieties that I really love from year to year. I have, for example, been growing an old German tomato that I call the Molly Helton Sunburst, for well over thirty years. I named the tomato for Molly because she gave me the fruit from which I saved my original seed and because she didn't know what it was supposed to be called. I know now that it is a very close cousin to what most growers call a West Virginia Hillbilly. At least it is the same color (deep yellow streaked with almost purple pink) as the Hillbilly but I didn't know that at the time and I thought Molly deserved a namesake.

Anyway, Jay has been telling me for years to help myself to any over-ripe tomatoes he had growing in

T.J.'s Journal

'Tis the Season for Reunions

Dear Journal,

Every spring through the following fall 'tis the season" for reunions of every sort...everything from family reunions to class reunions and company picnics. I'd be the last one to complain. I love to go and see all of the relatives or classmates and eat some of the various delicious foods available there. By the time I sample a little of this and that, I'm stuffed with little if any room for dessert. I usually fix a dessert plate to take home, and eat a bite or so of it all week long.

This past weekend was the Cook-Anglin-Thacker reunion. Stanley has been looking forward to it for a long time. His sister, Edna, and her daughter, Gina, had come from Virginia to attend. His brothers, Dale and Larry, were also on hand. It is one of the few times Stanley's siblings get together.

There was a good turn out and everybody enjoyed themselves. Of course, the same theme dominates every reunion of every family. Who are these people? I don't know 95% of anybody here but they must be related to me by some means. Then somebody who is supposed to know tells you but you still don't know who they are speaking of and there you are back at square one. Then you meet a few relatives, learn their names and the particulars; and by the next reunion you don't know them from Jay Ghoull.

This reunion ended with a big family singalong of old time gospel hymns. Stanley took his dulcimer and his brother, Dale, brought his fiddle. Stanley's cousin, Joe Anglin, played the guitar. They all sang and played for almost an hour old hymns and songs that their forefathers would have found familiar.

I had a good time and I know Stanley did, too. The season for reunions is still young, and I'm sure before all is said and done, I'll find out that I'm my own grandma.

Children going to public school for first time must have eye exam

Parents are making their back-to-school lists and checking them twice. In addition to notebooks, pencils and clothes, one crucial addition should be a comprehensive eye exam.

Kentucky law requires children ages 3 through 6 to have a vision exam if they are entering a public school or preschool program for the first time.

“One of the most important things parents can do to support their children’s education and good health is scheduling them for a comprehensive eye exam,” said Dr. Tina Kreutzer, an optometrist in Shepherdsville, Ky. “Research shows that vision problems are a major factor in limiting children’s abilities to learn and succeed.”

Up to 13 percent of children age 5 and younger have some type of vision condition. After age 5, that number increases to 25 percent.

ined because many problems may not be obvious to them or their children’s teachers,” Kreutzer said. “Young children don’t realize that the way they see the world may not be the way it should be. Early diagnosis and treatment can prevent loss of sight from amblyopia, which is commonly called lazy eye. Unfortunately, 50 percent of all cases of amblyopia are not diagnosed until after age 5, when it is difficult to correct.”

Amblyopia is the leading cause of vision loss in people under age 40 -- more than injuries or any other disease. However, it is almost 100 percent treatable if detected early.

Kreutzer also said an eye examination is particularly important if your child exhibits any of these signs of possible eye problems:

- Loses his place while reading, holds the book closer than normal or uses his finger to maintain his place while reading.

- Avoids close work.
- Tends to rub her eyes.
- Complains of frequent headaches.

- Turns or tilts his head, or squints, to use only one eye.

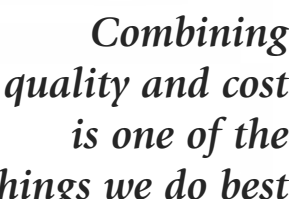

- Omits or confuses small words when reading aloud.

- Consistently performs below academic potential.

Many private insurance plans, Medicaid and KCHIP cover these exams. A comprehensive eye exam and glasses also are an essential benefit under the Affordable Care Act.

In addition, private programs are available to help families meet these expenses, such as the Kentucky Vision Project, which is sponsored by the Kentucky Optometric Association and has donated millions of dollars in vision care. Sight for Students and the Lion’s Club are other programs that can help.

To find an optometrist in your area, please visit www.kyeyes.org.

Combining quality and cost is one of the things we do best

A cost much lower than you would expect.

As a locally-owned firm, we understand the importance of keeping costs within a budget. Because we offer a wide choice of services, families can select only what is affordable and meaningful to them. Every service is performed with dignity and receives personal attention, regardless of what is chosen.

We invite you to compare cost but most of all we invite you to compare quality.

He is the son of Jeffrey T. and Twila Burdette.

Thomas Burdette graduates ELI

Rockcastle County High School student Thomas Burdette learned what it takes to start and manage a successful business venture this summer at The Center for Rural Development's Entrepreneurial Leadership Institute (ELI).

Burdette, a member of the ELI Trek-Ky.com, developed a business concept for a specialized, all-inclusive tourism and vacation planning company for Southeastern Kentucky. The company would plan all aspects of a vacation showcasing the magnificent and natural beauty of Appalachia.

"ELI has been an outstanding experience and taught me so much about being a successful entrepreneur," said Burdette, 17, a high school junior. "In fact, it has inspired me so much that I intend to start my own business."

Twenty high school students from 16 Southern and Eastern Kentucky counties worked in teams to create business concepts for three start-up business ventures, a new cell phone product, and a non-profit organization that teaches patients in nursing homes and hospitals to make no-sew blankets.

"This year's Entrepreneurial Leadership Institute was an exceptional testament to the talent of young people that reside in Southern and Eastern Kentucky," said Delaney Stephens, youth programs coordinator and community liaison for The Center. "This region needs bold, innovative ideas and it was encouraging to see just that from these high school participants."

The University of Kentucky (UK) College of Agriculture E-Discovery program has agreed to donate $300 to each of the five ELI teams to further develop their business concepts.

ELI, held July 6-10 at The Center in Somerset, was presented in partnership with Kentucky Highlands Investment Corporation, Eastern Kentucky University, University of the Kentucky College of Agriculture, Food and Environment (Community and Leadership Development Department), and the Kentucky Innovation Network.

Ann DeSpain and Melony Denham, co-developers and co-teachers of E-Discovery Challenges You! program, provided the curriculum for ELI students.

The program is open to high school students within The Center's 45-county primary service area who have an interest in building their leadership, business, and entrepreneurial skills. There is no charge to attend.

For more information on ELI and The Center's youth leadership programs, contact youth programs coordinator Delaney Stephens at 606-677-6000, email youth@centertech.com, or visit the website at www.centeryouthprograms.com.

dren, and she was off to wrap herself in her homemade nightgown and slumber until it all started again the next 4 a.m.

This was a typical day of my grandmother, Mary Thomas French in 1940. Oh, she later got the finer things in life, like a store-bought dress once in a while, and even an electric cook stove in later years. But she couldn't tell much difference in the convenience. It didn't matter to her. You see, to her, it wasn't work. It was a privilege. It was an honor for her to provide her every waking hour fully to her family. Grandma not only got more done in a day than I can in a week, but she didn't seem tired or depressed about any of it. Instead she seemed proud, even pleased with herself. It was the life she wanted and she would not have it any other way.

This is the way life was in those days. She had it no worse than most and even better than some. But knowing her had a huge impact on me just as I'm sure most grandmothers do.

Here's hoping that the next time I have to mow the lawn, I think about grandma before I complain. If I feel under appreciated or depressed, I hope she comes to mind. The next time I get angry because my computer hangs up, I hope I think about that wringer washer and remember just how easy I have it.

Here's to all the grandmothers who worked their lives away so that we could all enjoy a better life. And thanks to them, a better life it is.

order to prepare his class schedule for his first semester and to become acquainted with the locale and layout of his dorm. Unlike the days of old, students these days are provided a considerable amount of assistance upon their entry into university life.

Although Baylor's major is un-declared at this time, he seems to also have an interest in business—maybe even in the context of Wall Street (investing). He will be living in the same dorm as his father and, as mandated by the rules, will not have a car his freshman year. (I got around that rule by housing my car off-campus.) He also seems interested in pledging a fraternity, as his father did. Because he is an out-of-state freshman, his tuition will be the incredible amount of $24,000 each year. Wow! Good thing that his dad has been so prosperous.

Baylor was quite successful in high school, where he was a starter on his basketball team and won All-Conference honors his senior year. He also has been awarded academic scholarships amounting to approximately $9,000. He seems to have his head on straight, and I have no doubt that he will be a success in college.

I can hardly wait for Baylor's arrival in Lexington. Kathy and I are making plans to welcome him by showing him some of the highlights of the Bluegrass region of Kentucky and by letting him know that we are always available if he needs anything. I hope he calls often and makes time for us to introduce him to our favorite eating establishments in Lexington. (I recently discussed his arrival with my friend Bob Stubblefield, owner of Billy's Bar-B-Q located on Bates Creek Road. Bob told me if Baylor ever needed a job, he would find a place for him in his restaurant.)

I am glad that my son and my grandson are following my footsteps into the university world by attending UK. Now I just have to get to work convincing Emory and McLean to keep the tradition alive. I have a few years to work on McLean, but not so with my granddaughter.

Last week, as we were departing, I whispered to Emory, who will be a senior in high school this year, that I really would like for her to come to UK. She winked at me and said "... it's possible!" Music to this old man's ears.

I may not have gotten to know my grandchildren very well during their childhood days, but here's hoping that all that will change as they become young adults. Actually, I may be more excited than Baylor—or at least as much so. Truly, this has been one of the best weeks of my life.

I know, I know. I shouldn't get too excited. After all, I am his grandfather and young people like to spend their time with their own kind. But I just can't help it. Suddenly, the next his demo plot and to feel free to save my own seed of anything I especially liked. But you know what they say about good intentions and I simply never got around to it.

Then, last year, his plot included Mortgage Lifter, Brandywine, Ky. Beefsteak, Hillbilly, Indiana Red, and a couple of others that were equally appealing. I was particularly impressed with the Indian Red which resembles the old fashioned Giant Oxheart in shape but has a much redder skin and even fewer seeds than the OxheartsI have been growing for years. But I let early frosts and freezes kill them out before I got around to running over to get one for seed.

On a bitterly cold day in mid January of this year, Loretta had business at the office and I had gone along for the ride. We parked right next to Jay's raised bed and I decided to run inside and get a note pad so I could write down dimensions of the timbers Jay had used to build his bed, thinking that I might hire someone to build one just like it for myself.

I noticed frozen lumps of tomato skins lying all over the surface of the bed and decided to scoop some up to see if any seeds were still in them. Loretta made me wrap them up so they wouldn't melt on her car floor and we brought them home and put them in the storage room beside our kitchen.

I completely forgot about them until mid-March when I was out there looking for something else and ran across the aluminum foil package that vaguely rang a bell. I unfolded it to discover a handful of transparent dried tomato skins with dozens of seeds attached before I remembered how and why they got there.

It was impossible to tell which variety was which, so I filled an 18" X 30" flat with potting soil and sowed the whole bunch, mostly just to see if anything would come up. By that time I already had all the tomato plants I needed for myself and several friends already several inches high and doing well inside my truck topper.

Within a few days the plant tray I'd sowed with the mystery seeds was as green as our lawn. It looked as though every seed and then some had sprouted.

I've given tomato plants to every person who will take them, including a couple dozen I sent to Letcher County with my brother Keeter. I have 15 of them in my garden and I'm going to set out some more if it ever stops raining long enough for my garden to get dry enough to work in.

We should have enough tomatoes for everyone in Paint Lick, come Labor Day, but I figure it will have been well worth the effort if I luck up and find a couple of those awesome Indiana Reds in the mix.

HOT CHICKEN SALAD
4 boneless cooked chicken breasts, diced
1 cup chopped celery
1 can (8 ounce) sliced water chestnuts
3/4 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoon grated onion
1/2 cup sliced almonds
1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
1 and 1/2 cups crushed potato chips
Preheat oven to 350°. Grease a 9 x 13 baking dish. In a large bowl, combine all the ingredients. Mix well and lightly spoon into prepared baking dish. Bake for 30 minutes (longer if you have prepared earlier and refrigerated it).

GREEK CHICKEN SALAD SALAD
3 cups diced cooked chicken
2 large stalks celery, diced
1 red bell pepper, seeded and diced
1/2 red onion, diced
6 tablespoons mayonnaise
6 tablespoons plain yogurt
2 teaspoons dried dill weed
Salt and pepper to taste
Spring mix of greens, romaine hearts, or iceberg lettuce
1 package (4 ounce) feta cheese, crumbled

1 can (4 ounce) sliced black olives
Premade Greek salad dressing, if desired
Mix chicken, celery, bell pepper, and onion in a large bowl. In a smaller bowl, mix, the mayonnaise, yogurt, dill weed, salt and pepper until well blended. Pour over chicken mixture. Chill at least an hour before serving. To serve: place lettuce on a serving platter (or individual dishes). Scoop chicken salad over lettuce; sprinkle with feta cheese and olives. If desired top lettuce with the Greek salad dressing.

CHICKEN SALAD SANDWICH FILLING
3 cups cooked chicken, diced or shredded
1/2 cup diced celery
3 to 4 tablespoons finely chopped purple onion
1/4 to 1/2 cup mayonnaise or Miracle Whip®, or more, to taste
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 to 3 teaspoons chopped sweet red bell peppers,
1 hard-boiled egg, chopped
Mix all ingredients. Refrigerate for 2 to 3 hours. Note: You can use pickle relish or chopped pickles in the filling.

Civil Action No. 14-CI-00122

Peoples Bank & Trust Company of Madison County

Plaintiff

V.

Leshia Bell

Defendant

NOTICE OF SALE

Pursuant to a judgment and order of sale entered in this action on June 29, 2015 for the purpose of satisfying the judgment against the defendant in the amount of FORTY EIGHT THOUSAND EIGHTY FOUR DOLLARS AND 54/100 ($48,084.54) plus interest, costs and attorney fees. I will offer at public auction the hereinafter described real property in Rockcastle County, Kentucky.

At the Courthouse on East Main Street
Mt. Vernon, Kentucky

on Friday, July 31, 2015

Beginning at the Hour of 11:30 a.m.

Said property being more particularly bounded and described as follows:

75 Woodland Place, Mt. Vernon, KY 40456

Beginning on an iron pin corner to Nancy O'Neal on the north side of a 50' wide easement, said iron pin being N 44° 30' E, 330 feet from the east right of way of State Highway No. 1326; thence going with the north side of said easement N 44° 30' E, 100.00 feet; thence leaving said easement and going N 35° 18' 00" W, 77.00 feet; S 54° 42' 03" W, 98.42 feet to a point in the Nancy O'Neal line; thence going with the O'Neal line, S 35° 18' 00" E, 94.71 feet to the point of beginning and containing 8,449.81 square feet or .194 acres and the improvements thereon and being know and designated as 75 Woodland Place, Mt. Vernon, Kentucky.

The above described property being also known as Lot 1 of the Woodland Place Subdivision, a plat of which subdivision is of record in Plat Book 4, Page 92, Slide 317 in the Office of the Rockcastle County Clerk, Mt. Vernon, Kentucky.

Being the same property conveyed to Larry D. Bell and wife Leshia Bell, by deed dated October 3, 1989 from Robert E. Philbeck, et ux. and recorded in Deed Book 138, page 28 in the Office of the Rockcastle County Clerk, Mt. Vernon, Kentucky. Larry D. Bell died on December 31, 2011 at which time Leshia Bell obtained sole ownership of the property pursuant to the survivorship clause of the aforementioned deed.

The property shall be sold on the following terms & conditions:

1. The real property shall be sold for cash or upon a credit of thirty (30) days with the purchaser(s) required to pay a minimum of ten percent (10%) of the purchase price in cash on the date of sale and to secure the balance with a bond approved by the Master Commissioner.

2. The bond shall bear interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum until paid in full. The bond shall have the force and effect of a judgment and shall be and remain a lien upon the property sold as additional surety for the payment of the purchase price.

3. The full satisfaction of any liens for delinquent ad valorem taxes assessed against the real property of record at the time of entry of judgment shall be paid out of the proceeds of the sale.

4. The purchaser shall be responsible for the current year real estate taxes not yet delinquent, and further any delinquent county and/or city real estate taxes sold pursuant to the provisions of KRS Chapter 134 to any private purchaser during the pendency of this action.

5. Full satisfaction of the plaintiff's judgment shall be paid from the proceeds of the sale.

6. The purchaser shall have possession of the real property upon compliance with the terms of the sale.

7. In the event that the plaintiff is the successful bidder and the sale price does not exceed the amount of the plaintiff's judgment, no deposit or bond shall be required.

8. The sale shall be made subject to all easements, set back lines, restrictions or covenants of record or otherwise and shall be sold "as is".

Kathalene Hunt and her husband Ed saved every letter written back and forth during Ed's stay in the military. This old trunk is stored in the garage and is visited by Kathalene from time to time since his death in 2008.

correspondence classes, drove back and forth, raised two kids, and got a degree in five years," she said. "That three day job turned into 33 years."

In those years, she taught for a year at Pine Hill School and then Brodhead and then taught 7th and 8th grade at Mount Vernon.

Both daughters later became teachers and both also retired from the Rockcastle County School System.

In 2008, Ed passed away and Kathalene now spends a lot of time thinking of her years as a "Rosie the Riveter" contributor, and her husband's many accomplishments.

Mrs. Hunt is the daughter of J. C. and Flossie Gustafson Quinn and the granddaughter of Emmitt and Telitha Mullins Quinn.

"We need full participation and in order to get that, we are working hard to provide nutritional meals that the kids will actually want while keeping within the guidelines of the federal government" she said.

With this program, there will be a charge for additional milk (35 cents), a second breakfast ($1), and a second lunch ($1.25 for preschool, $1.70 for elementary and $1.95 for middle and high schools). However, there will be no charging. In order to purchase any of these items, a student must have cash-in-hand or have money on their food account.

Lear said in order for a student to receive a free breakfast or lunch, students must take a full meal. She said cashiers will help guide students to get a complete meal so there will be no charge. Pensol said student participation will help the program succeed. "Even if there is an item a student doesn't like in the complete meal, they should still get the full meal and maybe trade that item with another student. Full meal participation is very important," he said.

Complete records will be kept and, without adequate participation, there is no guarantee that the CEP free meals program will continue.

Each home in the county will receive a "Household Income Form" and in order to keep the program in place, families must fill out and return this form. "It is extremely important that all households fill out this form and return it," said Lear. "Only one form per household is required even if there is more than one child in the home," she said.

The first day of school this year will be Wednesday, August 12.

"Drop-outs"

gram for them around that," she said.

Isaacs said the approach is working. "Instead of saying a student is in trouble for missing school, let's say we need to find out why and work with them one-on-one to find a way to get them to graduate." She said. "Our alternative programs offer a Plan 'B' when plan 'A' isn't working."

According to Isaacs, each student at RAAA has an individual working plan and individual goals. "We put them in a setting that works for them. Give them some flexibility. When we see a potential drop-out situation brewing, we ask if they will please let us help them," she said.

Rockcastle County had only 4 students drop out of school last year and that number is down from 20 drop-outs in the 2011-2012 school year.

Pensol said there are many reasons for this success. "A lot of it can be attributed to the work done at the district level with the high school and the alternative school," he said. "We approach each potential drop-out situation with an individualized plan for the student. Every available resource is used to help students stay in school and graduate."

Pensol says Rockcastle County is different than other school districts in these methods. "Rockcastle County School's persistence in doing whatever it takes to ensure that every student's needs are taken care of is extraordinary. The results of hard work are obvious and can be seen in the positive progression we are making towards the goal of enabling each student to reach his or her greatest potential."

Isaacs says the effort is still growing in Rockcastle County and their goal is zero drop-outs. "Most students are simply unaware that there are options available to them. We can help them and we can show them that dropping out is not the only answer."

we have to do something to slow them down," he said. Cash and Kirby expressed concern that it may not be prudent to place a stop sign on a straight stretch of highway with no turns. "That would cause a big mess," said Cash.

Todd agreed to study the subject more concerning Silver Street but made a motion to place the signs at Albright and Tyree immediately. The motion was seconded by Kirby and passed.

In other business, Cash told the council members that the city's printer had broken and he was forced to purchase a new printer for $1,300. "The broken printer is why water bills got out late to people this month," he said.

logo, established in 2008, lets shoppers know the product they are about to buy is either locally made or locally grown. "I know when I see that logo, that I am much more interested in purchasing the item. I know of its nutritional value, I know it's homegrown, I know my money is staying with the local economy and I am supporting my own community," said Ben Shaffer, Director of Division of AG Marketing and Agribusiness Recruitment.

Shaffer also said the Kentucky Proud logo is

"It's keeping people involved in their own community. Farmers can sell locally and it has a great impact on a local economy. It reduces the carbon footprint and it's not just happening in big cities. It's a chance for smaller communities to grow as well," he said.

Shaffer also said the logo now has a 69% statewide recognition. "When nearly 70% of people recognize it and even look for products with that logo, you know it's working." According to Shaffer, there are now 4,000 members of Kentucky Pride including small farms, retailers and restaurants that serve Kentucky Proud goods.

Shaffer said the program can provide assistance to Livingston in other ways. "We can open customer bases for you and help you expand your market. We can also provide marketing that will help you grow," he said.

Medley said he has researched Kentucky Proud and is aware of their tremendous support group. "We are in a unique situation here in Livingston and there is not a lot of tax base here. But I can't wait for the day when we are placing labels on a jar of locally grown, locally canned food. A label that reads 'Livingston and Kentucky Pride'. We are moving forward everyday," he said.

Medley has already arranged with some local farmers who will provide their product for the program and he believes it will start a growth in the community. "Here's how it works. Now the farmer can grow more produce and use previously unused land and sell that to the City. That may mean he needs more help in the fields and create jobs. Then, we can the product with the Livingston and Kentucky Proud logo and sell it to tourists, restaurants and businesses and individuals. This brings even more revenue, which means we may need more people working with the city, which is more jobs. Then all the canned produce sold, keeps the money in our city and brings in out-of-town money, which increases revenue, which increases jobs. It goes on and on," he said.

Comer told the crowd at the designation event that the Ag Department is excited to help Livingston in any way it can. "Anything the Agriculture Department can do to help, call us. We would love to. I know I, for one, am looking forward to spending my money in Livingston and buying some of your canned produce," he said.

Kentucky State Representative Jonathan Shell said he is confident the designation will help the community. "This will add to the Livingston economy. I know there will be people who want to come and check this out when word gets around. Rockcastle County has such a familial atmosphere where everyone helps everyone and I'm proud to be part of it," he said.

Medley introduced the other mayors that were present at the designation as well as the many state and local officials in attendance, and told the crowd that this new designation is a group effort by all who have helped make this event happen. Those on hand were just as quick to praise Medley for his work on the project.

Lynn Tatum, Rockcastle County Development Board Director said that Mayor Medley is making a huge difference in Livingston. "He is the driving force of the recent growth and development to our community of Livingston," she said.

The designation takes effect immediately and growers and retailers in Livingston may begin to take advantage of the Kentucky Proud designation now.

Free School Meals Rock!

Great news for you and your family! ALL enrolled students of Rockcastle County Schools are eligible to receive a FREE healthy breakfast and lunch each day of the 2015-2016 school year.

- For students to get a free breakfast and/or lunch, students MUST take a full meal. Cashiers will guide students to get a complete meal so there is not a charge.
- To help us keep this program in place, it is extremely important that the Household Income Form be completed by each household. Students will receive this form at the beginning of school and only one form is needed per household, regardless of the number of children.
- No charging will be allowed. Students must have money in-hand or in their lunch account to purchase second meals, additional milk and ala carte items.

Free meals are made possible through the Community Eligibility Provision (CEP) as part of the National School Lunch and Breakfast Programs.

Storms hit area hard

High winds, falling tree limbs and downed power lines took left thousands in the dark last week. From Monday, July 13, through Friday, July 17, Jackson Energy crews made repairs to outages impacting more than 14,000 homes and businesses in the area.

Co-op members who lost power over those five days included 3147 in Laurel County, 3131 in Lee, 2852 in Jackson, 2220 in Rockcastle, 1970 in Clay, 775 in Owsley and 561 in Estill County.

cause of high water,” says Jackson Energy Chief Operations Officer Derrick Dean, “and our service area was hit by several powerful storms during the week. We would make progress one day only to have another storm move through that evening and take down even more power lines.”

Dean says 11 extra four-man crews were brought in from other companies and cooperatives to assist with the restoration. More than 100 workers were in the field restoring service and

Camille Rae will release debut album at Renfro August 1st

Camille Rae, known to Rockcastle Countians as Amber Thacker, will be coming to Mt. Vernon to promote the release of her debut album, “I Need Me.”

She will be performing solo on August 1st outside the Renfro Valley Tourism office from 5 to 7 p.m. and will be singing all the songs on her album, along with many other fun covers and originals. Please bring chairs.

Camille was born and raised in Mt. Vernon. She grew up singing and taught Choir and Drama at Rockcastle County High School from 2007-2010. Since then, she has been chasing her dream of becoming a recording artist and has spent the past two years in Nashville, TN.

She has performed at many venues in Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama and Ar-

Jackson Energy Line Tech Marlon Coffey makes a repair to equipment damaged during last week’s severe thunderstorms. Power outages kept crews busy for most of the week after several rounds of storms left behind downed power lines and broken poles throughout the region.

McConnell secures Hemp Provision in Appropriations Bill

U.S. Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell secured a provision in the Senate Agriculture Appropriations bill today to allow the processing of legally grown industrial hemp.

The McConnell language would help farmers transport legal industrial hemp between states so the crop can be developed for commercial purposes. The full Senate Appropriations Committee approved the bill today.

“Kentucky’s industrial hemp pilot programs continue to prosper and I want to make sure our legal hemp producers can safely transport their crops between states, including to States that maintain processing facilities, so they can fully capitalize on the commercial potential for this commodity,” said Senator McConnell.

“Abby’s Celebration” is this Thursday

Everyone is invited to attend “Abby’s Celebration” this Thursday, July 23rd for 12-year-old Abby Langford at the Rockcastle Middle School from 5 to 6:30 p.m.

There will be a “Purple Party” with purple decorations and purple cupcakes.

Abby has been battling Cancer for some time and has recently been put in the care of Hospice. She said she wants to see “lots of people,” so please make plans to attend.

At Livingston Gospel Singing/Pie Auction Fundraiser

There will be a gospel singing/pie auction fundraiser Friday night, July 31st at the former Forster Mullins’ building in Livingston.

Featured singers will be the Southern Gospel group, The Cupps from Williamsburg, along with local singers.

Proceeds from the event, which will begin at 7 p.m., will go towards finishing renovations of the building which will be used for weekly gospel singings and community activities.

kansas, both as a solo artist and with her band, “District 26.”

Camille recorded her debut album “I Need Me” at the beautiful 1092 Studios in Nashville in November of 2014, with the help of many hometown supporters, friends and fans. The first single “Shadows Dance Tonight” was released to all online vendors June 2nd of this year.

The full album is available for pre-order on all online vendors as well. The release date for the album, both online and physical copies, will be August 4th.

Fans attending the concert at Renfro Valley will be able to pre-order physical copies of the album and will be the first ones to receive it, along with her many Kickstarter supporters!

Camille will either bring the albums to those who pre-ordered when she returns to Kentucky in August for her official album release show or will mail them to you.

Camille said she wanted to especially thank Susan Tomes for her support and use of the tourism facility.

A total of 21 broken poles had to be placed during the week, including three in Jackson County, six in Laurel, two in Clay, four in Rockcastle, one in Lee, and two each in Estill and Owsley County. “It takes a crew around four hours to replace a pole in ideal conditions,” Dean says, “and these were far from ideal conditions.”

President & CEO Carol Wright sends her thanks out to co-op members who spent several days without power while crews worked around the clock to get the lights back on. “We know it’s not easy to deal with an extended outage,” she adds. “We thank our members for being patient and understanding when storms like this move through. The widespread damage to the electric system took time to repair, and we worked to restore service as quickly and safely as possible.”

Several co-op members sent Facebook messages thanking the crews, including Shelby Mize of Booneville. “Power just came back on. It is one thing we really don’t notice. Just pay a bill and you got it but when it is gone you sure miss it. You cry and complain when it is out like I did, but when it comes back on you want to hug ever line man you see.”

“Hemp”

The ability of Kentucky to research the full potential of industrial hemp through processing, marketing, and sales is vital to understanding the future possibilities for industrial hemp. Kentucky’s agriculture community continues to be indebted to Senator McConnell for his continued leadership on industrial hemp,” said Kentucky Commissioner of Agriculture, James Comer.

Last month, Senator McConnell worked with Senators Jeff Merkley (D-OR) and Jon Tester (D-MT) to secure language in the Senate Commerce, Justice, and Science Appropriations bill to ensure that legal industrial hemp pilot programs, like those in Kentucky, can continue without federal disruption.

These latest hemp provisions build upon Senator McConnell’s work in last year’s Farm Bill, which gave state agricultural commissioners and universities the federal authority to cultivate industrial hemp for pilot programs.

Rockcastle Regional Hospital held their annual Rockin Kids Health and Safety Fair last Saturday at the hospital. Many other community partners were involved in the event as well. 141 attended with 14 convertible car seats and one booster seat given away and installed, and car seat and booster seat checks were performed. At Council Meeting

Mayor Bryant updates council on projects

At July's meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council, there were no new items of business on the agenda. Instead, Mayor Mike Bryant took the time to bring councilmembers up-to-date on various projects going on within the city.

The Mayor said that equipment for the Splash Pad, at the city's park at Lake Linville, has been ordered. "We hope to get it fully installed before all the warm weather is gone," Bryant said.

Bryant also brought the council up-to-date on the new 175 ft. dock being built at the lake. He said the city was "saving a bundle of money" doing it themselves and that the new dock, and two others planned for construction at a later date, would increase the boat slips available by 35%. The city currently has a waiting list for slips.

City Administrator Josh Bray said after the meeting that the city actually saved about $45,000 by doing it themselves. Bray contacted a firm on the internet, who supplied the materials and the specs for building the dock. He said that with these plans, the city would be able to save even more when they replaced the second dock because he would be able to shop around for the best price on the materials.

The Mayor also told the council that he was pleased "with where we are" on the water tank project. There were a lot of delays to construction because of the wet weather this summer, Bryant said. "They should be more behind than they are," he said.

September was the original completion date of the project but Bryant said he did not know, at this time, when the project would be completed.

In a "first" for Mt. Vernon, Mayor Bryant told the council that the first woman had been hired at

Americorps NCCC volunteers helping beautify Livingston

By: Mike French

Things are getting done in Livingston and the next five weeks will see an increase in activity as Americorps NCCC volunteers have arrived. The Rockcastle County Development Board (RCDB) and the City of Livingston are working closely with volunteers who plan several projects in the coming weeks, according to Lynn Tatum, Project coordinator for the RCDB.

Tatum submitted a complex application process to have Livingston considered for one of the 14 projects granted in an 11-state area by Americorps NCCC.

"It's a very competitive situation to get Americorps NCCC in your community. Now that the complex application process is complete and we were selected by Americorps NCCC, in the future I only have to submit a one-page application to get a different team of volunteers for future projects. We have an inside track now to even more growth and development," said Tatum.

The seven-member team arrived this week and began a variety of projects including working on the boundary trail planned at Fishpoint Trailhead. "This will be a trail for hiking and horseback riding and the volunteers are there now tagging and developing the 44-acre project," said

Wet/dry vote to be held Tuesday

Voters in the East Mount Vernon Precinct will be presented with a wet/dry vote in a special election to be held August 4 in the Mount Vernon Elementary cafeteria.

The ballot will have one question, "Are you in favor of wine sales at Sinking Valley Winery?"

If passed, the owner of the Sinking Valley Winery, Zane Burton, plans to open a store in the Village of Renfro Valley.

If the vote passes, only the Sinking Valley Winery may sell wine. No other local businesses are included in the vote.

The last wet/dry vote was held in Rockcastle County in 2012 when a county-wide vote failed to pass package liquor sales in the county.

Another project includes a playground for children to be located on the Don Rice property between the fire station and City Hall. "The volunteers are clearing the

Local man killed in logging accident

A logging accident claimed the life of a Rockcastle man this week, according to Rockcastle County Deputy Coronor Billy Dowell.

According to Dowell, James Barron, Jr., 50, was loading logs onto a truck Monday when one of the logs broke free and fell on him. Barron was pronounced dead on arrival at the Rockcastle Regional Hospital.

The incident occurred near Low Gap Road in Rockcastle County.

Funeral services for Barron will be today (Thursday, July 30) at the Dowell and Martin Funeral Home in Mount Vernon.

For more information, see Barron's obituary on page A-3.

Marcus Reppert named as new RCMS principal

The Rockcastle County Middle School Site Base Council announced Tuesday evening that Marcus Reppert has been selected as the new principal of RCMS.

Reppert is a native of Mount Vernon and a 1997 graduate of Rockcastle County High School.

After obtaining a bachelor's degree in History in 2002 from ECU, he taught at Campbell County High School and Boyle County High School.

Reppert returned to Rockcastle County in 2005 to teach Social Studies at RCHS.

Reppert is the son of Gary and Genievee McClure Reppert and the husband of Danielle McKinney Reppert. He is the father of Landon, Nicholas and Alivia Reppert.

"I am thrilled and humbled to have this opportunity to lead Rockcastle County Middle School. I look forward to working with the tremendous staff to ensure that every student has the best opportunity to succeed and to fulfill our mission statement of educating the whole child for a successful transition to RCHS," said Reppert.

School Superintendent David Pensol said he is proud of the decision. "I am excited about working with Mr. Reppert and look forward to working with him to prepare our middle school kids for high school," he said.

Reppert replaces Chris Hendrickson who resigned as principal to return to a teaching position at the middle school.

Home invasion leads to arrest of two juveniles

By: Mike French

The home of Melissa Withem was broken into Wednesday morning on July 22nd between the hours of midnight and 4 a.m. as she slept, according to reports.

The home, located on the corner of Wallin and Tyree Streets in Brodhead, was occupied by the single victim at the time of the break-in.

According to reports from the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department, two, 14 year-old juveniles entered the home of Withem while she slept, and took the keys to her truck from her purse.

Sheriff Mike Peters said Withem noticed her vehicle had been stolen and called authorities. around 4 a.m.

The truck was later found with extensive damage and the two juveniles were caught.

The Sheriff's Department is waiting for an estimate on the damages of the truck.

The two juveniles were released to their parents' custody pending a court appearance.

Seven-car crash slows I-75 traffic

By: Mike French

Rockcastle County Sheriff's deputies are looking for a vehicle they believe is responsible for causing a chain-reaction crash on Interstate 75 according to Deputy Sheriff Casey McClure.

The crash happened in the northbound lanes of Interstate 75 near Exit 62 around 1:30 p.m. on Sunday.

Deputies say they believe an elderly couple, driving a white Cadillac with a tan roof, rear-ended a slow-moving truck and then left the scene. A total

A seven-car crash on I-75 held traffic Sunday after an unidentified vehicle crashed into the rear of a truck, causing the chain reaction. Police say an elderly couple in a white cadillac with a tan top caused the initial incident but then fled the scene. The Kentucky State Police and Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department are searching for the Cadillac. One victim was treated and released from Rockcastle Regional Hospital after the incident.

Aces Over

By Mike French

Getting old sure has its drawbacks. There are some positive things too but I'm not sure they outweigh the negatives. I have found that since I reached 40, I have to write things down. I can remember some things but there are limits. For example, if my wife sends me to the grocery store, three things is the limit. Anything more than three and I am liable to bring back some completely unrelated items. If she says, "get milk, eggs and bread," I got this. But if she says, "bring home milk, eggs, bread and butter," I will most likely bring home watermelon, paper towels, salt and flour. That one extra thing puts my mind on overload. Four things are past my ability to memorize them.

So, I started writing things down if there are more than three things I am supposed to do. Then, I reached 50. Now I can't remember to look at the note. So, to solve the problem, she just goes with me now. I think by the time I reach 60, she will just go and leave me home.

Memory is not the only issue that age seems to affect. (Careful now. This is a family newspaper). Hair! Where does all the hair come from? I was always a smooth-chested kind of fellow. Not much hair on my arms and legs or chest. I was married before I had to start shaving every day. The Frenches just weren't a very hairy family. But now, good grief! I have more hair in my ears and nose than I used to have on my head.

I will never forget the "hair morning." At least that's what my wife and I call it. It was one morning a few years back. I awoke from a normal night's sleep to find my belly was covered in hair. I never had hair on my belly. I would have noticed that. But somehow, overnight, I have a hairy belly. Do you shave that? Do you bathe in Nair? I just left it. When I told my dear friend about it (who happens to be bald) he grabbed me by the collar, sat me down and made me tell him every single thing I did the day before so that he could try to grow hair overnight as well. It didn't work.

I used to get out of bed and take off running through my day. Maybe 15 minutes after I woke, I was out the door and doing something. But now, I have to set my alarm at least two hours before I need to leave so that I have time to do all the "old stuff" that plagues my mornings. By the time I lie there trying to focus and find my glasses, which is nearly im-

In an effort to help local residents be more familiar with our police and firefighters in the county, The Mount Vernon Signal will publish this series of introductions each week. It's a chance to get to know your local law enforcement officers and firefighters on a more personal basis. We plan to publish one per week, chosen completely at random.

Deputy Sheriff Shannon Franklin

Shannon Franklin serves the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department as Deputy/Chaplain. He was born and raised in the county and has been with the force since 1998. He also was as a social worker with the Dept. of Social Services and the Dept. of Juvenile Justice for many years, served in full-time ministries in Illinois and Marion County in Kentucky and is currently pastor at Mount Pleasant Church in Madison County. Franklin, who is married to Jill Franklin, a teacher at RCMS, has three children and enjoys most all outdoor activities. He is also a Carry Concealed Deadly Weapon (CCDW) instructor and may be reached through the Sheriff's office by anyone wishing to test for the CCDW license. Franklin says his favorite part of his job is meeting the people. "I like people and I enjoy getting to know people in our county," he said.

by: perlina m. anderkin

I have enjoyed this summer tremendously thus far. I'm sad that school is about to start, Labor Day will be here soon and before long, the cold winds will begin. OMG, I just talked myself into a funk mood.

I enjoyed particularly our summer bowling league. My youngest son, Travis, was my partner and, with his house ball, maintained a high 190's average. Remember, it was a no-tap league so averages tend to be 25-30 pins higher than in a regular league. With that said, my average hovered in the 140's, not impressive.

However, on the last game of the last night, I finally managed to come up with the first 200 game of the league -- a 208. But, what was more fun, I actually beat Travis in series 504 to 503. He had the only actually bad night of the league and has carried me through so many games that I couldn't find it in my heart to rub it in very much, okay, maybe just a little.

There were four "family" teams bowling. Sara and Jason, Rick and Jamie, daughter Jane and granddaughter Kayla and Travis and me.

Sara and Jason took top honors of these four teams - only by a game over Travis and I. They had to bowl a night early because they couldn't be there Tuesday night. Going into the last night, they had a 28 to 26 games won lead over me and Travis.

T.J.'s Journal

by: Tonya J. Cook

Dear Journal,

I've written recently about several of our woodland creatures that share our "little neck of the woods", on the outside, anyway. There are the usual birds, squirrels, ground squirrels, rabbits, and who knows what else. There has been one little creature that has endeared himself to us in a special way. He is an Eastern Box Turtle, and we even gave him the name, Terry.

Stanley says that this is about the third summer that he has visited us, if this is the same turtle. Stanley has researched this turtle. He learned that, yes, he was a turtle, and not a terrapin as we originally thought. The Eastern Box Turtle can live 30-40 years in captivity, with some claims of living up to 100 years in the wild. This turtle has red-orange colored eyes, which is a trait (usually) of the male. We actually thought about bringing him inside, but we didn't want to take away his freedom and possibly shorten his life. They hibernate during the winter in soft dirt up to a foot or two deep.

Almost every day at some point, Terry crawls over the big flat rocks that outline my flower bed just to the side of our porch. Since I've been sick, which seems like forever now, the flower beds have been let go and look horrible. However, there is a lot of mulch for Terry to explore and hunt bugs. Stanley said that a turtle will eat almost anything.

Other than his diet of bugs and whatever else he finds, we always give him a nice, big slice of tomato. The other day, I even got worried that we were short on tomatoes, having only about half of one left. Although we've tried other things such as cucumbers, carrots, etc., he likes the tomatoes the best. We ate at a salad bar the other evening. I brought him home two or three cubes of cantaloupe. He probably never had any before. He just looked and sniffed, but the next morning the cantaloupe was all gone.

The other day when I was leaving for my chemo and radiation, I was feeling so bad-very tired, weak, nauseous and rather depressed. As I was crossing the porch, I noticed Terry in the flower bed. He reared himself up on his back legs with one front leg so far I was fearful he might turn himself over. With the other front leg, he actually waved to me about three or four times. His mouth was wide open like he was saying, "Hi". Well, let me tell you, that little turtle really made my day. I told Stanley that I really love that little turtle...and he does, too.

Points East

By Ike Adams

Last Sunday afternoon we were throwing a going home party for my adult niece, Amy Embree.

Amy is severely crippled up as a result of a horrible automobile accident twenty years ago and now lives in a residential care facility in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

The biggest event of her year is the two-to-three week vacation she gets every summer to visit all her paternal relatives who live here in Southern Madison, Garrard and Lincoln Counties. As far as Amy is concerned, here is home and she has to go back to the place she lives.

Anyway, I was sitting on the back patio of another niece's home, admiring the stunning, arguably best view of the distant Appalachian foot hills to be had anywhere when a large flock of black birds flew over and began touching down into a nearby tree.

I don't recall who it was, but someone sitting near me remarked that they were a beautiful sight.

I made the mistake of saying that they would be an even more beautiful sight if I had a shotgun handy.

A very pregnant silence ensued for nearly a minute before the black bird admirer finally cleared her throat and asked how anyone could shoot "little, harmless, pretty, birds and still sleep at night."

My answer was that they are far from harmless and that, to me, they weren't nearly as pretty as your average, mangy, scabbed-over, garbage dump rat or kitchen roach.

My sweet corn patch is just now finished tasseling and setting silks on baby ears and already the vermin starlings are stripping back the shucks and eating the baby cobs long before they have opportunity to set the first tiny grains of corn.

There is no way that I can sit on the porch and guard my corn with an air rifle during throughout the nearly- 15 hours of daylight we have right now. And, from my observation, these flying rats are active from the first light of dawn until it gets too dark to see in the evening. Fewer than a dozen of them can wreak heavy damage on my sweet corn while I go inside to get a cup of coffee. If I take a lunch break, they lunch in my garden.

The way I have it figured is that a few dozen starlings are sitting around Lake Linville there in Renfro Valley when one of them yells at the others, "Hey everybody, I say we fly up to Paint Lick and do lunch at Ole Ike's Corn Patch." (which would be a great name for a rock band or new restaurant, dontcha think?)

Another bird says "Yep, he does have the best eating

William Rader

William Denzil Rader, 81, of Winchester, and formerly of Rockcastle County, died Saturday, July 18th.

He was the son of the late John B. and Beulah Laswell Rader.

Survivors are his wife of 46 years, Lorean Abner Rader; three children, Kimberly Rader Flynn (Michael), Tina Rader Overbay (Kevin) and Denzil Dwayne Rader (Tamela); six grandchildren, Kaylie Brooke Plummer, Colby Chase Plummer, Michael Andrew Flynn, Taylor Andrea Rader, Jillian Price Overbay and William Rose Rader; four brothers and sisters, Eva Barnett (Isaac), Roxie Thomas (Harvey), Dola Rader (Pat) and Bob Rader (Linda). In addition, Mr. Rader is survived by numerous nieces and nephews.

Besides his parents, he was preceded in death by one brother, Shirley C. Rader.

Mr. Rader was a member and trustee of Landmark Baptist Church in Winchester, a retiree of Square D Company after 35 years and a veteran of the U.S. Army.

Those that knew him recall that he was an avid car enthusiast from his youth until passing, restoring countless antique vehicles. He was the recipient of many awards for his car restoration efforts and drag racing achievements. Mr. Rader will be forever remembered from his drag racing days for his accomplishments as the owner and member of the "Rebel Rouser" drag racing team. Mr. Rader loved his family, church, traveling and music. He enjoyed life and touched the heart of all those he came in contact with.

Visitation and services were held at the Landmark Baptist Church in Winchester on Tuesday, July 21st with Pastor Jim Muncie officiating. Burial was in the Winchester Cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Robert Abner, Daniel Abner, Royce Paynter, Rufus Cravens, Jr., John Rader, Robert Rader and Jack Strickland.

Honorary pallbearers included: Dr. Joseph Ott and deacons, trustees and members of Landmark Baptist Church.

Memorial contributions may be made to Landmark Baptist Church.

Card of Thanks

Ruby Rice

The family of Ruby Rice would like to thank all those who showed such love and respect for our precious mother. The good Lord was gracious and gave her 94 amazing years on this earth.

The flowers were exquisite, so many beautiful roses, our mother's favorite flower.

Thanks to everyone for the many prayers offered up during her long illness. The visits from friends and family always put an extra twinkle in Mommy's eyes and the smile that would roll across her lips was priceless. Ending every visit with "I love you."

Thank you Cox Funeral Home for treating our family as family. That made such a difference in being able to let go for awhile. To the singers who sang three of Mommy's favorite songs with such feelings of love. The food that was prepared for everyone was excellent, something for every person's taste.

To the grandchildren who gave honor and fitting tribute to Mammaw out of Proverbs 31. This virtuous woman was a written portrait of our Mammaw and Mother.

Our heartfelt thanks to Bro. Eldon Browning, who in brokenness spoke of our Mother with such tenderness, while bringing the Word of God to comfort, encourage, strengthen and still give hope to the hopeless.

To the casketbearers who so gently carried our Mother to the cemetery, which is not her final resting place. That one is out of this world, in Heaven.

Thanks to the police department for providing us safety through the streets.

If we have overlooked anyone, please forgive us, it would not be deliberate.

possible if I am not wearing them, I then begin the process of cracking bones and getting feeling back in my extremities, I finally roll out of bed and head to the “old stuff” chores.

Shaving takes twice as long as it used to because I’m not as coordinated as I used to be and I am certain my ear lobes are stretching down to my shoulders. Then by the time I use nose-hair clippers (a term I never thought I would use) and ear hair trimmers, and gum regenerating mouth wash, and eye brow cutters, my morning is almost gone.

Even my attitude is different. I used to hop in the shower and bounce around like a basketball and never thought a thing about it. But now, I see that I am standing on a shiny, slick porcelain death trap coated in shampoo, soap and water. It’s a broken neck just waiting to happen.

Finally, the bodily chores are done and I go about trying to remember where I placed my keys, billfold, cigarettes and shoes. See? Four things. That’s one too many.

But the worst and most difficult thing I face so far as a past-50 citizen, is foot work. As my Sasquatch belly has begun to grasp the politically-correct agenda of the middle-age spread, putting on socks is an amazing adventure. I simply can’t reach my feet anymore. I hold my breath and stretch until I hear my back snapping and muscles tearing, but I just can’t reach them. I have to hold the edge of the sock and sort of flip it over and over again until one toe catches the opening in the sock. Then I can use my fingertips to pull on one edge and after a few minutes, I get it done. But, if it goes on crooked and the heel part is over at the side of my ankle, then tough. I just have to live with it.

All in all, old age has a lot of downfalls. I am hoping as I get older, that the experience I have gained over the years keeps me a viable member of the community instead of a hairy, sockless blob trying to get out of bed.

But, one thing is certain. Growing old is better than the alternative of not growing old. Guess I’d rather be old and slow and sore and hairy, than dead. Each day is a blessing.

Here’s hoping we can all keep looking at these difficulties as an adventure.

couldn’t come and bowl on the regular league night, they managed to find time to come by and check on the team they bowled -- they won two of the four and to “encourage” Travis and me to the point that I was standing on the approach, ball in hand, getting ready to bowl when I felt a tap on my shoulder. When I turned, Jason was standing there to wish me “good luck.” Can you say, mean? If we had won all four games, we only got three, we would have taken “family” first place honors but I am content with second. We still have Lord-ing rights over Rick and Jamie and Jane and Kayla and next summer, those pesky Coguers are going down!

It’s was fun to have something to look forward to each week and now that the league has ended, I’ll have more time to dwell on the sorry state of our nation.

I have seven children so you can probably guess where I come down on abortion. The Planned Parenthood videos discussing the capturing of and trafficking in aborted baby parts is the stuff of nightmares and a sickening commentary on our nation as a whole today. I find it very telling that the left’s main concern is the method used by The Center for Medical Progress to capture the videos rather than the content.

Tax money for Planned Parenthood should certainly be stopped, immediately! If it will or not remains to be seen since lawmakers will probably have to go around RINO leaders in Congress to make it happen. But, Planned Parenthood will probably not go away since tax money is only a very small percentage of their budget, even though it amounts to half a billion dollars a year. Several large companies donate heavily to PP although a couple, Xerox and Ford, recently announced they would discontinue their donations.

I really see no need for PP since Obamacare’s emergence. Isn’t it supposed to fulfill the needs of all women in the country, even to trying to make “Little Sisters of the Poor” provide contraceptive coverage for their employees in direct violation of their belief?

Oh well, another week

another diatribe on the evils of the left that does no good at all except as a vent for my frustrations.

Personal note to Lacosta Spivey. We found your pictures.

in central Kentucky, but we’re apt to get shot at.”

Yet another bird replies, “Yeah but that’s what makes it more fun than paintball. Cause ole Ike couldn’t hit a bull in the butt with a bass fiddle.” (If you don’t know what paint ball is; google it.)

Twenty minutes later the entire flock is lighting in my garden, where, as predicted, they encounter my air pellet rifle that I have converted into a bb shot gun. Instead of firing dangerous single pellets that can have a range of a quarter mile or more, I have learned that I can put 6 or 8 copper coated BBs down the barrel, tamp them in, using a straightened-out wire coat hanger with a small wad of wet toilet paper and I have a shotgun with a bird range of over 20 yards that presents no danger to the windows of my neighbor, Katie Rollins’ house. Katie’s place would sometimes be in the line of fire if I used pellets.

But, so far this summer, I have only managed to kill three birds after shooting upwards of ahundred rounds at them. And the very fact that I shoot at them tends to scare them away for up to 20 minutes at a time before they work up enough courage to make another go at my irresistible sweet corn . The trouble is that I don’t have the stamina to sit out there for over 14 hours, 7 days a week and all I have to do is turn my back on the garden for an hour or so to suffer significant damage to the corn patch.

So I told my audience at the party that I had seem a pretty blackbird just that morning. It was lying flat on its back, wings spread out and stiff as a board. I tossed it over in the pasture so a coyote might make a meal of it Sunday night.

In the meantime, speaking of gardening, right now is a great time to be planting some sweet corn, fall beans, cucumbers, summer squash, turnips, all manner of greens and even snow peas for early autumn eating.

Last year the tastiest bodacious sweet corn, beans and peas we had all year were planted on August 1 right after brothers Keeterand Andy had spent a whole day overhauling my tillers and plowing up my garden to make sure they worked.

Last Sunday night, right after we got home from Amy’s party, I got my seng hoe out and dug in a few dozen hills of sweet corn and fall beans.

Neither of my 2 old tillers is currently running and I suspect they are beyond anything Keeterand Andy can fix unless I can find some parts for tillers that were manufactured in the 1970s.

Kate’s Law should be passed..

Der Editor,

Suddenly, after learning that America provides sanctuary cities for alien criminals, I am feeling like some kind of alien myself; one of the many misfits legally liable for the funds to support these safe havens that are not available to our kind. Nosiree, there are no recycling favors for the home folk; “They do the crime, they do the time.”

The very least we must immediately do is sign the petition to pass Kate’s Law, then let that be only the beginning of our determination to restore sanity to a great nation gone mad!

And this same-sex marriage law just enacted is but one more major insult to our Biblical teaching and normal way of life, proving again Johnathon Gruber’s statement that we Americans are too stupid to know or long remember what happened to us! They know us all too well and what we will soon accept as normal.

But it is difficult to keep up with it all. These things have been coming at us so fast and furious that we don’t have time to absorb the shock until we are broadsided with another. It’s “the change we can believe in” you know. And without a doubt, there is more to come.

Thank you for your time.

Respectfully,

Flossie C. McKinney

Wine is the beginning...

Dear Editor,

The Mt. Vernon Signal reported there will be a vote on August 4 for east Mt. Vernon residence to allow sinking Valley Winery to sell wine or not. This is how it begins to get the county wet. To approve would be a foothold in the door. And it wont stop there. Give an inch and they will take a mile. Your vote is so important. Keep our county dry!

NO BAKE OATMEAL COOKIES

One summer when Dustin and Amy were much younger, they asked me for "those oatmeal cookies" once when I came for a visit. The next time I visited, I brought some oatmeal raisin cookies. They weren't the right kind, but they were eaten. They couldn't describe the kind they wanted to me, so I had to guess. I visited every bakery within a 50 mile radius to get oatmeal cookies. Again and again they were the wrong kind. I couldn't figure out what kind they wanted until I took them shopping one time. We had gone to several stores for clothes and toys, when I decided to go to a book store. Amy and Dustin were helping me look for cooking magazines. Dustin excitedly told me "Gin-Gin, that's them!" He was pointing at a picture of a no-bake oatmeal cookie on the cover of a magazine. From then on, they got the right cookie when they asked for oatmeal cookies.

2 cups white sugar
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup milk
3 tablespoons cocoa powder
3 cups uncooked oats
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup peanut butter—crunchy or smooth
In a saucepan, combine sugar, margarine, milk and cocoa powder. Bring to a boil. Boil for 1 minute. Remove from heat. Quickly stir in oats, vanilla and peanut butter. Stir until peanut butter has melted. Quickly drop by spoonfuls onto wax paper. Let set. Makes about two dozen.

MILLION DOLLAR PIE

1/3 cup lemon juice
1 can Eagle Brand® condensed milk
3 ripe bananas, sliced
1 graham cracker crust
1 can (8 ounce) crushed pineapple
1 cup pecans pieces
1 carton (8 ounce) Cool Whip®, thawed
Maraschino cherries, opt.
Combine lemon juice and Eagle Brand® until thick. Slice bananas into bottom of crust. Cover with Eagle Brand® mixture. Spread pineapple over this. You can use a little of the pineapple juice, but not much. Sprinkle with pecans. Cover all with Cool Whip®. If desired, place cherries on top in a pretty pattern. Refrigerate.

THANK YOU ROCKCASTLE COUNTY

After 27 years of serving the wonderful people of Rockcastle County, Richmond Street Eye Care is making a change. As of August 1, 2015, the office will be under the ownership of Dr's Mike and Kim Smith and the name will change to Mount Vernon Eye Center. We are certain they will continue to provide the same caring and quality eye care that we have tried to provide over the years as well as adding new diagnostic equipment and extended office hours.

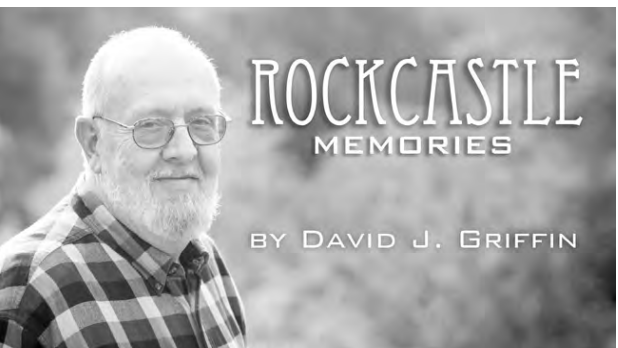

Dr. Cain will continue to see patients at Mount Vernon Eye Center on Mondays and Fridays just as before.

We want to thank all of our patients for your loyalty and friendship. It has been our pleasure to serve you over the past 27 years.

Bathtub Or Shower?

Now that I am retired, I find that I am watching television a lot. In searching for decent programming, my wife and I are enjoying a variety of shows dealing with nature, geography, building and remodeling. One of our favorites is a show called "Tiny House Nation," which we find almost fascinating.

The program focuses on a couple of builders who specialize in designing and creating tiny houses (generally 400 square feet or less) for people based on their individual needs. Inevitably, they run into both men and women who insist on having some sort of bathtub in lieu of a shower. Of course, this can become problematic with such a small living space.

I, like most people, am well acquainted with both methods of personal hygiene. When I was five-years-old and living on a very small Rockcastle County farm with my family (my mother, Bee, dad, and brother, Al), our home did not have in-door plumbing. Water was carried into the house each day from a well located just outside the kitchen door. My fifteen-year-old brother was in charge of bringing the water into the house each day. He filled two buckets – one for drinking and cooking and another one for washing.

Our baths were accomplished by heating water on a wood burning stove and pouring the water into a galvanized tub that was situated in the kitchen near the stove. Each of us took our baths at different times of the day. Mine was always at night so I would be squeaky clean for school the next morning.

By the time that I was six years of age, my parents had divorced and my mother decided to build an in-door bathroom with plumbing installed in the house. She was delighted to have hot and cold running water and a normal-sized bathtub.

I eventually devised a method of showering by attaching a rubber hose on the faucet with a sprinkler mounted on the other end. That allowed me to get on my knees in the bathtub and take a shower. It was heavenly! I no longer had to sit in the kitchen in that galvanized tub to bathe, and no longer did I have to sit in my own dirty bath water.

That was how I showered until I was 17 and left home for the University of Kentucky. Of course, my dorm had showers and, frankly, I could not get enough. I showered every day, and sometimes twice if I had a date. I took my time until my skin was wrinkled like a prune. Since my freshman year at UK, I have never lived in a home without a shower.

Pop and Mommie Katie never cared for showers, always opting for tub baths. They enjoyed "soaking" to get clean. Saturday nights in my grandparents' house, that bathroom was in use most of the evening so that everyone could be clean for Sunday morning services at the First Baptist Church. Pop was first, then Mommie Katie soaked, then Bee, and finally me if we spent the night with them.

Ask anyone in the United States the question, "Tub or shower?" and you will get an immediate response. This is not a question that anyone has to think about for a moment before they answer. It is like the standard "beach or mountain" inquiry – no one has to ponder before replying.

Over the years, my family and friends established their own favorite method for getting clean each day. After my early home and UK experiences, I was sold on hot showers. I never enjoyed sitting in my own dirt, preferring running water to wash away the grime on my body. I can truthfully say that I have not had a bath in approximately 30 years.

I look forward to standing in my own hot shower each day upon getting out of bed. A lot of time, for no apparent reason, when I shower it feels like my dirt and troubles find their way down that drain. I always step out feeling a lot better both physically and mentally. In my experience, this does not occur with merely taking a bath in a tub.

On the other hand, there are countless people (like those in the television show) who insist that taking a shower is not relaxing enough. I suppose that they are trying to soak their daily troubles away. But they refuse to live without a bathtub.

Well, each to his own, I guess. So which is it for you, tub or shower?

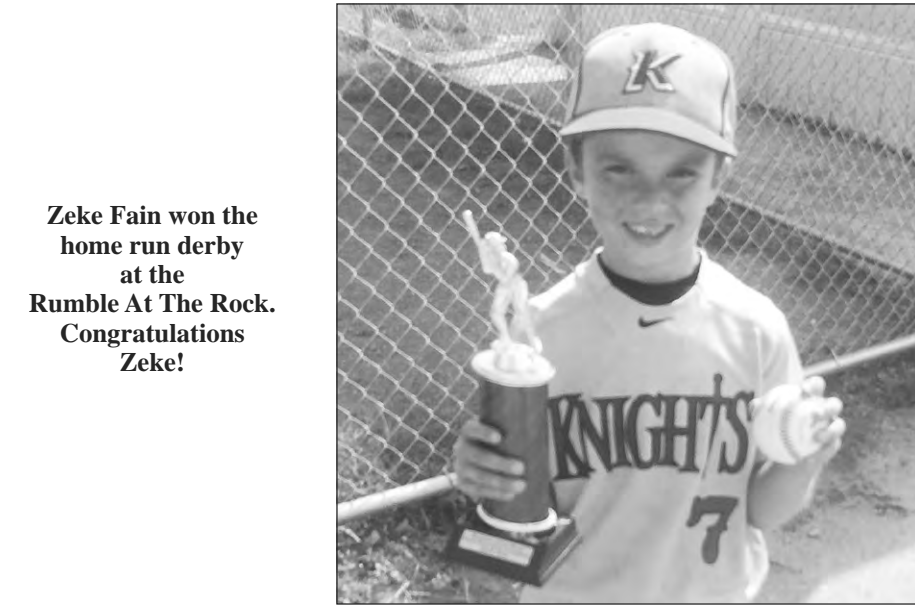

(You can reach me at themtnman@att.net or you can drop me a line at 2167 Furnace Road – Stanton, KY 40380. I appreciate your comments and suggestions.)

Being designated as a Trail Town, the Kentucky Department of Tourism had suggested Americorps NCCC to Tatum. “As a designated Trail Town, the Department of Tourism is a huge asset to us in Livingston,” she said.

Americorps NCCC was interested in the application submitted by Tatum partly because of work that has been going on for the past two years and the continued work which follows the initiatives outlines in SOAR (Saving Our Appalachian Region).

Both SOAR and Trail Town encourage communities to review their assets and develop them into economic opportunities.

While in Livingston, Americorps NCCC is footing the bill for transportation and food for all the volunteers.

The City of Livingston has been working to make the city a destination for outdoor enthusiasts who like to canoe, bike, hike, cave and horseback ride. As a designated Trail Town, the City of Livingston is required to continue improvements.

The estimated value of the services provided by Americorps NCCC in Livingston is expected to be in excess of $18,000.

Dana Thacker Bullock, who has a degree in Environmental Science, has been hired as an operator-in-training.

Police Chief Brian Carter gave the council his department's activity report for June.

The report shows: 345 total calls for service; 18 non-injury accidents; one injury accident; 40 total arrests; 20 drug charge arrests; 41 traffic violations; 21 other criminal charges; 28 warrants served; one DUI arrest and two grand jury indictments.

Carter told the council that he currently had two officers off because of illness. One recuperating from a knee replacement and the other from a torn miniscus injury while chasing a suspect.

The department advertising recently for another officer to bring the department up to full complement. Carter also reported that the city would be receiving forfeiture funds at a future date.

Fire Chief David Bales also gave the council his report for June which showed 26 runs for the month using zero gallons of water.

The runs consisted of: one vehicle fire, one smoke investigation, 10 vehicle accidents without extrication, six false alarms/good intent calls, two other rescues, five service calls and one community program at the library.

Bales said that through June, his department had made 256 runs.

Benefit for Ashley Lewis Johnson

There will be a Benefit for Ashley Lewis Johnson on Saturday, August 15th, beginning at 5 p.m. at the Livingston Fire House. Ashley was diagnosed with Leukemia in April of this year. She has to have a bone marrow transplant August 4th which will require a very extensive hospital stay in Cincinnati Children's Hospital. Someone has to be with her at all times. This benefit is to help raise money for expenses associated with this stay. There will be food, gospel/bluegrass music, featuring Gift of Grace from Brodhead Baptist Church and a Silent Auction, which will end at 7:30 p.m. Please come out for a great cause!

Free School Meals Rock!

Great news for you and your family! ALL enrolled students of Rockcastle County Schools are eligible to receive a FREE healthy breakfast and lunch each day of the 2015-2016 school year.

- For students to get a free breakfast and/or lunch, students MUST take a full meal. Cashiers will guide students to get a complete meal so there is not a charge.
- To help us keep this program in place, it is extremely important that the Household Income Form be completed by each household. Students will receive this form at the beginning of school and only one form is needed per household, regardless of the number of children.
- No charging will be allowed. Students must have money in-hand or in their lunch account to purchase second meals, additional milk and ala carte items.

Free meals are made possible through the Community Eligibility Provision (CEP) as part of the National School Lunch and Breakfast Programs.

Annual UNITE Camp

Throughout the week, participants in the 9th annual Camp UNITE engaged in fun activities designed to develop leadership and communication skills, promote teamwork and problem solving, instill confidence and trust, and let youth know they do not have to face difficult situations on their own.

The underlying theme to camp – there is “Hope In Action” by remaining free from alcohol, tobacco and other drugs – was driven home by speakers during an emotional closing ceremony on Friday, July 24.

This summer 192 middle school-aged youth from 23 counties attended Camp UNITE, held on the University of the Cumberlands campus. Activities during the week include competitive events, swimming, outrageous games, motivational speakers, a visit to the Hal Rogers Water Park, and more.

One of the most valuable components of camp is the peer mentorship and positive role models provided this year by 55 high school and college students who served as team leaders. These leaders were supervised by a staff of 50 adults and aided by an additional 70 community volunteers.

Six of the campers and team leaders shared their personal, heart-tugging stories about overcoming bad situations resulting from substance abuse within their homes. For several, it was their first time to talk openly about their past.

“I don’t have parents,” offered one young lady, adding her dad died of an overdose and her mom hasn’t spoken to her in four years.

Another noted she was born dependent on drugs due to her mother’s addiction.

“You can have everything and still go down the path of drug abuse,” said one young man. “You make it through by the choices you make.”

“Each of us does not have to be like our family,” added another youth. “There is a bright side. You can be your own person.”

“Sometimes we have bad things happen that bring out the good in each of us,” summarized Tom Vicini, a UNITE coalition coordinator. “Know that there are people who really care about you ... that strangers can actually love you. Take that hope back with you as you leave today.”

Keynote presenter Jerod

Thomas captivated attendees by recounting how he had lost everything – including a promising million-dollar-per-year career in the National Football League – because he did not resist peer pressure to try drugs.

“There is something inside you that makes you want to be popular,” said Thomas, who grew up with an abusive father who was an alcoholic and a bookie. To make matters worse, he also suffered from dyslexia.

“Whatever God takes away from you he gives you something else (to compensate),” Thomas said, adding he was encouraged to try out for football. “It was fast and violent. It was my house. It came easy for me.”

Early successes on the gridiron led to some bad choices and a feeling of entitlement because “I never paid (consequences) for what I did. ... I was becoming a little monster.”

Thomas was a member of the Marshall University Thundering Herd National Championship team in 1987 and the Southern Conference championship team in 1988. He was a defensive starter at free safety and an Academic All-American.

He transferred to Morehead State University for his senior year, where he was Defensive Captain and named to the All Ohio Valley Conference Team. He made the starting roster for the NFL Arizona Cardinals’ mini-camp, but his addiction to cocaine and drinking led to a lifetime ban.

Within a short period of time he had lost his wife and son, was living in his car, and had spent numerous nights in jail for felony drug convictions.

He was given a final reprieve by a judge in Fayette County who sent him to rehab at WestCare Kentucky’s facility in Pike County.

Thomas ultimately received his Master’s of Education degree at the University of Tennessee, and taught and coached high school athletics in the Tennessee school system. He left teaching and pursued a career in sales, which included various products and services, and a position as National Sales Director for an athletic apparel company.

But, in 2009, he felt called to help others like himself and joined the WestCare staff as a drug and alcohol counselor. He was promoted to Program Director for the Boyle County Detention Center Substance Abuse Program, and currently serves as Deputy Administrator, overseeing all of WestCare’s treatment programs in Kentucky.

Stay positive and try not to make things harder for others, because “you don’t know what is going on behind closed doors,” he said, referencing the comments made earlier by the youth campers and team leaders. “The race in the end is only with yourself.”

Dr. Larry Cockrum, president-elect of the University of the Cumberlands, provided a whimsical welcome with his modified rendition of Baxter Black’s “People Are Funny Critics,” referencing the many antics that occurred on campus throughout the week.

Shedding his tie and taking a seat center stage, Kentucky Senate President Robert Stivers told campers it was important to take a stand for what you believe.

As a private attorney, the Clay County native said he made lots of money practicing criminal law. But, in 2005, Stivers promised his ailing father that he would quit defending drug dealers and “do something based on what is good for my community” instead of putting money in his pockets.

“I fought some of the toughest battles in my political career” supporting legislation targeting drug diversion, toughening penalties for drug sales, requiring better prescriber education, expanding treatment opportunities, and restricting the sale of controlled substances, Stivers noted.

Following his address, Stivers presented camp medals to the attendees and asked each participant to sign a pledge to remain drug free.

Camp UNITE is presented by Toyota Motor Manufacturing-Kentucky along with camp sponsors: AmeriCorps-Kentucky; Appalachia HIDTA; Applebee’s of Pikeville; Community Trust Bank, Kentucky Employers’ Mutual Insurance (KEMI); Owens, Inc.; and the City of Williamsburg, Kentucky Splash Water Park; Christian Appalachian Project, Corbin Ice Company, Cumberland Gap Mountain Spring Water, Kentucky Army National Guard, Southeastern Kentucky PRIDE, and the University of the Cumberlands.

Library News

Congratulations to all those who have participated and placed in our Summer Reading Program 2015. This year was one of our most successful years. We had 120 people ages 1-Adult to sign up and 73 people to turn in logs. A total of 54,698 minutes were read by the people who turned in the logs. Ronald McDonald was here July 23 to help us reward those who placed in the Summer Reading Program. A special thank you to the McDonald Corporation in Berea, KY and Ronald McDonald for a wonderful performance. If you turned in a reading log and have not received your certificate you may pick it up at the library.

School is right around the corner. We have several books that may help your child adjust to their new surroundings. Books for pre-school include: "The Night before Preschool" and "What to expect at preschool". Books for kindergarten include: "The Night before Kindergarten", "Countdown to Kindergarten", "Kindergarten Rocks!", and several more. We also have books that are specified to certain reading levels and books that will help your child learn to read. If you need a certain book or need help finding one for your child please ask a librarian assistant at your next library visit. You can also view what books we have by looking on card catalog online at rockcastlelibrary.org.

KEEP ROCKCASTLE DRY!!

After much thought, prayer and research, we, the undersigned would like to take this opportunity to express our opinion about the upcoming election on August 4th, concerning the sale of wine in the East Mt. Vernon Precinct. We believe the best way forward for Rockcastle County is to keep it DRY!

The following data can be found at the respective websites:

- *In 2013, there were 163 alcohol-related deaths in traffic accidents, 2,339 people were injured and a total of 4,529 traffic collisions. Kyprevention.com
- *In Rockcastle County, there were 70 alcohol-related accidents. Kentuckystatepolice.org
- *In the United States, around 88,000 people die annually from alcohol-related causes, making it the 3rd leading cause of preventable death. In 2013, alcohol-impaired driving accounted for 30% of all overall driving fatalities. Pubs.niaa.nih.gov
- *In 2006, alcohol misuse problems cost the United States $223.5 BILLION of our tax dollars! Pubs.niaa.nih.gov

We realize that everyone has their own thoughts and opinions, and we respect each of you. However, we encourage you to check out this information and think about what kind of impact this could have on our county and our children.

We ask that all the people of the East Mt. Vernon Precinct consider this carefully and please vote NO to keep Rockcastle County safe.

Dexton just learned to roll over and put his toes in his mouth. He is looking forward to learning to crawl, walk and say his first words.

The only cure is a bone marrow transplant. Unfortunately, family members were not a bone marrow match.

Dexton's parents have scheduled a donor drive to increase the pool of donors in the hope of finding a match for him. A simple cheek swab is all that is needed to determine if you could be a match for Dexton or someone like him in need of a life-saving transplant. His best chance of finding a matching donor is through the Be The Match Registry National Data Base.

The need is great and the solution is simple, but the cure starts with you. Please show your support by joining the Be The Match Registry at our donor drive event.
