Virtual learning returns

By Keith Taylor
Citizen Publisher

Because of a recent increase in COVID-19 cases, Madison County Schools switched to a virtual learning format this week as officials continue to monitor the ongoing pandemic.

The county school system began in-person instruction on Sept. 28 but Madison County entered the red zone for coronavirus cases last week, prompting the school district to make the change.

"Since beginning in-person instruction on September 28, Madison County Schools has diligently monitored the numbers of students and staff affected by COVID-19," the school system said in a release. "We have maintained close communication with our local health officials as well as other local officials in an effort to keep a gauge of how our community is fairing during this pandemic.

Bryant's WWII 'dog tags' returned to family

by B. Gammon Fain
For The Citizen

George T. Bryant was well-known in Berea, having served for more than 20 years on the City Council, and for two terms on the Madison County Fiscal Court. Other than his family, George Bryant's beloved Berea was the thing he loved most, as he spent his entire life in devoted service to the community.

But before Bryant ((1922–1996) began his life in public service, he also served his country in the United States Army during World War II.

Upon discharge, Bryant received the Bronze Star Medal, the American military's fourth-highest ranked honor, for an "act of meritorious heroism during armed conflict," among other ribbons for his service. After returning to Berea, Bryant married Christine McKeehan and the couple started their family with children George Douglas and Dinahbet.

Bryant was proud of his military service, but he never spoke about it in specifics. In fact, Bryant's family didn't know of his Bronze Star until after he passed away in 1996. From that point forward, the family accepted the fact that they would likely never know much more about George's service, until earlier this year, when Bryant's granddaughter Genene Rogers received a strange message on Facebook.

The message was from Iain Walker, a New Yorker, who said that he had World War II military dog tags for George Bryant in his possession, found in Luxembourg almost 80 years after Bryant served there.

Bryant's dog tags were found behind the counter of a smoke shop in Clervaux, a small village in northern Luxembourg, which saw heavy fighting during the Battle of the Bulge, the largest and deadliest battle fought by Americans in World War II. Winston Churchill called the Bulge the "greatest American battle of the war," and the American victory there is often seen as the battle that decided World War II in America's favor.

Records show that George Bryant's 330th Regiment served in the Battle of the Bulge.

According to Walker, a friend of a friend saw the

KSP

Indiana man arrested following pursuit on I-75

At approximately 6:35 a.m. on Friday morning, the Kentucky State Police was notified of a stolen vehicle traveling north on I-75, near the Madison and Rockcastle County line.

The vehicle, a 2017 Kenworth, had been reported stolen out of Knoxville. The Kentucky State Police and Berea Police Department located the vehicle traveling near the 83-mile marker in Madison County, and initiated a traffic stop.

The vehicle failed to yield and continued traveling north on I-75. A trooper with KSP Post 7 deployed a tire deflation device and successfully deflated both front tires of the vehicle. Shortly after, the driver yielded to the troopers and officers, and pulled over on the shoulder of I-75.

Wade Fletcher, 27, of La Porte, Indiana, was arrested without further incident and lodged in the Madison County Detention Center. He is charged with Receiving Stolen Property $10,000.00 or more and Fleeing or Evading 1st Degree.

The ongoing investigation is being conducted by KSP Post 7 Trooper Albert LaGrange. He was assisted by KSP personnel, Madison County Sheriff's Office, Richmond Police Department and the Berea Police Department.

Modern gun deer season set to begin

The arrival of autumn brings beautiful fall colors, holiday excitement and for hunters, deer hunting in Kentucky.

Modern gun deer season produces the majority of Kentucky's annual deer harvest. This year, the firearms deer season opens statewide on Nov. 14 and runs for 16 consecutive days.

About 300,000 Kentuckians hunt deer each year. The state's deer herd also draws thousands of hunters from other states throughout the different seasons, contributing heartily to the commonwealth's tourism industry.

Kentucky's modern gun deer season in mid-November is designed to coincide with the peak of fall breeding.

Laura Elizabeth Bailey Melton

On October 29, 2020, Laura Elizabeth Bailey Melton joined our mom and dad in heaven to be with Jesus, after being transported to University of Kentucky Healthcare in Lexington with a critical illness.

Laura was born on February 2, 1978 in Stockbridge, Ga.. She was the youngest of four siblings born to William Kenneth Bailey and Mattie Virginia Jones Bailey.

She is survived by her 2 daughters, Allison Melton and Emily Melton, ages 16 and 13, her sister Wendy Bogan, her brothers Scott Bailey and Walter Bailey, and her step-mother Janice Bailey.

Laura was very special in so many ways.

She looked a lot like our mom and had the singing voice of our dad (chuckles). She was the combination of Bailey and Jones, filled with compassion and love.

She loved her girls deeply. Like all of us, she was still trying to figure life out, but she understood what was important – a relationship with Jesus.

A service to celebrate Laura's life will be officiated by Dr. Gary Grogan at Chesnee First Baptist Church on Nov. 14.

Visitation will begin at 1 p.m. with the service starting at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Dustin Linville

Dustin Linville, 31, son of Luke and Sherri Woodall Linville, passed away Thursday Nov. 5, 2020 in Berea..

Dustin was a Peer Support Specialist for ARC in Pikeville and was deeply passionate about counseling, helping and leading others in their recovery.

Dustin was a talented musician that will be remembered for his bright eyes, his infectious smile, and the laughter that he brought to many.

His heart was filled with kindness and he had a strong faith in Jesus Christ his Savior.

Dustin was preceded in death by a half-brother Jamie Linville, his maternal grandfather Marion Woodall and his paternal grandparents Elmo and Juanita Linville.

Dustin is survived by his parents Luke and Sherri Linville, his grandmother Carol Woodall, his brother Sean (Elizabeth) Linville, and half-brother Jeffery Linville.

Online condolences can be made a www.lakesfuneralhome.com. The family will observe all state mandates for facial coverings and social distancing for services.

George Thomas Ingram

George Thomas Ingram was many things. A believer and follower of Christ, a husband, father, grandfather, and great grandfather. People knew him for many things, but his number one identity was a believer of God and Jesus Christ. He always did the best he could to be a model Christian and on Saturday, Oct. 24, 2020, he went home to his heavenly home to be with the one true God. After being separated for three years, he is reunited with his late wife, Eva Ingram.

George possessed many traits, one being his generosity. He was always willing to help anyone in need and never thought twice about his decisions. He was also one to never know a stranger and if he did, it was not long until that person was no longer a stranger to him. He will be greatly missed by a multitude of people. George could probably be described as a quilt. He started as a patch and with everyone who entered his life, he sowed their patch to making his connections that continued throughout his life.

George was born on June 25, 1937 in Madison County, KY, the son of the late Charles and Lucy Brewer Ingram. He had retired from Carrollton Utilities and owned and operated Ingram Excavating. He was a faithful longtime member of the Carrollton Wesleyan Church.

He is survived by his three daughters and their husbands; Debbie I. (David) Kemper of Carrollton, KY, Donna J. (Perry) Clifton of Carrollton, KY, and Dana M. (Roger) Nelson of Carrollton, KY, four grandchildren; Annie (Roy) Stafford of Ghent, KY, Cody Thomas Clifton of Bowling Green, KY, Seth (Amber) Nelson of Ghent, KY, and Logan Nelson of Carrollton, KY, two great grandchildren; Jacob Stafford of Ghent, KY, and Cain Thomas Nelson of Ghent, KY, two sister in-laws; Joan Tolliver of Carrollton, KY, and Lucy Ingram of Berea, KY, along with many friends and extended family members.

He was preceded in death by his parents, his wife; of sixty years, Eva Baxter Ingram, six sisters; Mary Adams, Rebecca Alcorn, Bessie & Dessie Ingram, Louise Cairell and Maggie Shearer, two brothers; Charles "Buck" Ingram and Roy D. Ingram.

The funeral service was Wednesday, Nov. 11, 2020 at 1 p.m. at the Tandy-Eckler-Riley Funeral Home. Rev. Bruce Alcorn officiated the service and burial will follow in the I.O.O.F. Cemetery in Carrollton.

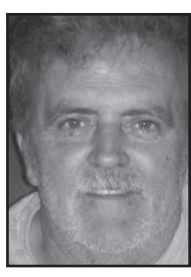
Ed Creech



Ed Creech, a construction worker, devoted father, loving grandfather, a nurturing great grandfather and a long-time resident of Berea passed away in his home on Nov. 9, 2020 surrounded by loved ones.

Ed is survived by life partner and wife, Faye Creech and his three children; Gail Robinson (Bill), Tonya Creech, and Eddie Creech (Gena), as well as, his siblings Irene Cox, Donnie Creech (Mary), Earl Creech (Grace), his grandchildren Kayla McHone (Ricky), Corey Creech, Brandon Creech (Cory), Bryanna Cates (Austin), Dakota Creech, and his four great grandchildren; Kailey, Alaina, Harper, and Braison. He is preceded in death by his sister, Kathaleen Hall; two brothers, Raymond and Dennis Creech, and his parents, Lee and Pearl Creech.

Ed stayed busy, never running out of projects to complete. His babies were his world and he never knew any strangers. Always the one willing to help and give anything possible. A family man that will forever be missed.

A funeral service for Ed will be held at Lakes Funeral Home in Berea on Friday, November 13 at 3 p.m.

Visitation will take place from noon-3 p.m..

Flowers, donations, and condolences may be offered at 145 Ogg Lane, Berea, KY 40403

Condolences may also be left at www.lakesfuneralhome.com.

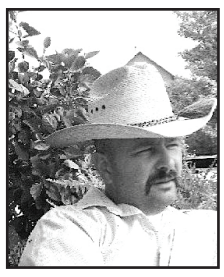
Voter suppression

By G.S. Morris

Contrary to meaningless press prognostications (Dewey Defeats Truman!); Presidential Election 2020 is still very much contested.

It would be appropriate at this point to remind my readers of the fact Article II, Section 1, Clause 2 of the US Constitution makes clear state legislatures may determine the awarding of their state's presidential electors however they see fit.



Shane Morris

If urban vote fraud schemes are unravelled in the states of Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Michigan (all of which have announced legislative audits of their states' election results), Arizona, and/or Georgia; those states' Republican controlled state legislatures may then move to send the electors of President Donald J. Trump to December's convention of the Electoral College in Washington, D.C. And if a constitutional crisis is then sparked in the divided Congress? Either the 12th Amendment's solution of a simple majority of US House state delegations selecting the president and US Senate choosing the vice-president; or the possible invocation of the Electoral Count Act of 1887 resulting in some sort of 1877-style, bi-partisan election commission deciding the final outcome. Stay tuned.

Just prior to the election, a Leftist here in town reached out (unsolicited) to me and begged me "honestly" to tell him which of the two parties engages in voter "suppression"?

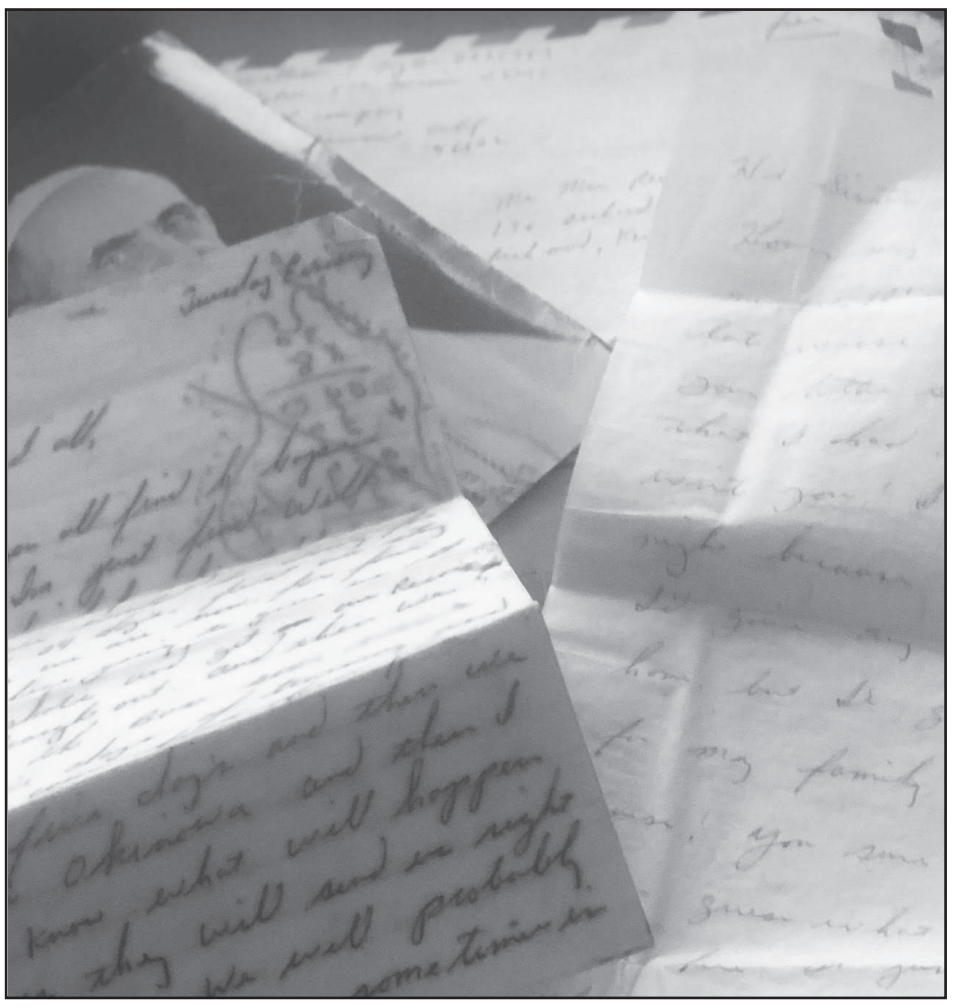
Instantly, I reminded him of what true voter "suppression" looked like when the Ku Klux Klan, the (then) militant arm of his Democrat Party (succeeded by today's Burn Loot Murder) used terror to suppress black Republican voters. No. Producing an ID in order to cast a vote is in no shape, form, or fashion voter "suppression." However, Democrat voter suppression is very much alive and well today in the form of predictive election polling.

Regardless of the final outcome in the presidential contest; there was no forecasted Democrat "Blue Wave." Republicans gained seats in the U.S. House and if the majority in the U.S. Senate is held onto despite the pouring of more than $100 million oligarch dollars into flipping six senate seats (It was my pleasure researching and reporting LTC (Ret.) Amy McGrath was never an operational fighter pilot in the US Marine Corps.); there will be no packing of the U.S. Supreme Court, no addition of Washington, D.C. and Puerto Rico as new states, and the Electoral College will remain safe as a hedge against mob rule.

So why were the polls again (with one or two exceptions) so wildly wrong? Or were they? As has been pointed out by America's most accurate political prognosticator two cycles in a row (Mr. Robert Cahaly of the Trafalgar Group); it all depends on what pollsters' objectives are? Are they interested in truly measuring the mood of the electorate? Or are they more interested in depressing the opposition's supporters? In other words, produce fake news "statistics" showing Pay-For-Play Joe Biden so far ahead in the pre-election state polls; you may as well just stay at home on election day.

That, ladies and gentlemen, is the face of modern day voter "suppression."

Happy Veterans Day to all those who have ever stood in the breach!



Words of war

A few years ago, I received a small box that was lightweight and didn't have any shoes in them at all. Nothing but letters, postcards and other items from the 1960s.

Those letters and even a postcard from Rome with a picture of the Pope were of a historical significance. Not only did those handwritten letters and postcards contain letters from abroad, but they also gave me an insight into what my dad experienced while in military training at Camp LeJune in North Carolina. Later, they included more insights, including what his life was like fighting a war in Vietnam and how your life hangs in a balance with while shooting and dodging bullets on foreign soil.

Keith Taylor

Growing up, my dad, William Taylor, didn't talk much about Vietnam and the only thing we knew pretty much is that he fought in Vietnam and a tattoo on his arm signified that he was and always will be a U.S. Marine.

He was and still is proud to this day that he served his country.

Until I started examining the letters, I didn't fully understand or realize what my dad experienced in Vietnam. He did contract malaria and was stationed on a medical ship on the Mediterranean Sea, a health scare we learned saved his life.

One of the things that stood out to me is that he always asked his family to pray for him. Amid the war zone, he did enjoy his surroundings.

"I love the sights here," he wrote at the time. "I sure don't know why they have to go to war."

That was and always will be a question for the ages and we will never know why countries have to fight each other from time to time. Even in the Bible, wars were fought and even the Cowboys and Indians did it often, as so I was told while growing up.

What was it like in boot camp?

"Mom, boy, you think that you work hard, you should have seen us this past week," he said in a letter dated in April of 1966. "We got up at 3:30 a.m. and worked until 8 p.m. Boy, it was work, too. We've got three more Sundays to spend on this island (Paris Island). Has my picture been in the paper yet? How did you like the pictures that I sent home? They were crazy, weren't they? Pray for me. Tell Dad not to work too hard and take care of my dog."

Nearly a year later, he was in San Diego California (1967) and was enjoyed the candy my late grandmother sent from their residence at 136 Orchard Street in Richmond.

"It was really good to get your box and pictures," he said. They were all good and the candy was good, too. It's all gone. Everyone in my section had a piece of it and it's all gone."

Dad also was known to have a good time as well.

"I had a nice time last night," he said in July, 1967. "I went to a dance and last weekend, I went to Mexico. Coming back from (Mexico), me and my buddy had to hitch hike and you know, we got a ticket for it. I have to go to court on the 19th. Boy, isn't that something. You can't do a thing around here. It will cost you $15 I think. I'm going to talk to the police and see if I can pay it off. It sure will save me a lot of trouble."

Later, dad received a letter while on the ground in Vietnam for the $15 but he wrote back and asked them to come and get him in good humor. As far as we know, the ticket was resolved eventually.

While on the ground, dad often wrote letters in the dark and slept a lot while standing up. Most of those letters still have water marks from rainfall that seemed to never end in Vietnam. He also wrote a letter to his sister and my late aunt Ruth Taylor from a mountain and writing mostly about how he didn't much like a draw from marijuana and if she had ever tried it.

If you know dad's sense of humor, it would show up even when he was fighting a war thousands of miles away from Madison County.

I salute my dad, and other Veterans who have served this country. Happy Veterans Day to the few, the chosen and the proud.

Word on the streets

"Do you have still have faith in our national election process.?"

Peter Jarvio

"No. I think we were cheated. I think it was a set up."

Penny and Bill Abbott

"We think it is a scam. There were a bunch of crooks running the election."

Sherman Gray

"No I don't. There is too much abuse of power and cruelty in our world."

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Southern defeats Central, playoffs delayed

By Mike Moore
For The Citizen

The Madison Southern Eagles ended the 2020 regular season in fine fashion by thumping rival Madison Central, 44-14. Southern quarterback Cole Carpenter hit on 60 percent of his passes (9 out of 15) for 188 yards and two scores.

JayShaun Ethridge rushed for a pair of scores and caught another, while Walt Smith ran for a score and was on the receiving end one of Carpenter's touchdown tosses.

On defense, Rocky Whitehead force a fumble, recovered a fumble, while Jonah Farnstrom picked off a Central pass, and returned it 54 yards.

Defensively, the Eagles limited Central to 66 rushing yards on 30 carries.

Finale called off

The Berea Pirates were scheduled to play Jackson County, but that game was called off when the Generals ceased playing football in 2020 due to Covid-19. Coach Tony DeGregorio then scheduled regular season ending game versus Paris, but that game was cancelled at the 11th hour because of Covid-19.

"Paris had a positive case and had to quarantine the entire team on Thursday," the coach said. "Our administration is saying that we will be able to travel to Kentucky County Day on Nov. 20 for our playoff game. We are taking it day by day, and monitoring the County COVID numbers."

Playoffs delayed

High school football playoffs in Kentucky have been pushed back a few weeks as state health officials try to get a grip on the Covid-19 spikes.

The Kentucky High School Athletics Association (KHSAA) notified member schools last week of the delay. The first round of the playoffs will now take place the weekend of Nov. 19-21 with no additional planned changes in the playoff structure at this point in time.

In the meantime, schools and school systems should review site strategies, seating capacities, and all other facets of the likely contest(s) during this interim period and certainly remind students that what they do outside of practice and the game field can have a tremendous impact on themselves and those around them. It is highly advised that all levels of school administration be in on hosting decisions and use this interim time to play out various "what if" scenarios based on hopefully changing data.

"It goes without saying that we are in the midst of issues within our state and the current status of the pandemic. I have stated all along that decisions made by our office, at any point in time, would be done so in the best interest of student-athletes. While it may be a calculated strategic decision that in time, we feel was not the best path, we have to make decisions based on today's information because tomorrow is so unknown," said KHSAA Commissioner Julian Tackett, in a news release. "This decision isn't just about the few ongoing quarantines, it's about 82 counties Friday being defined as "red" including the vast majority of the east. It's about giving our schools time to deal with the issues around athletics which are not identical to the issues around the school day and as such, may need separate local discussions.

"One of the deciding factors in this situation is determining what course of action to take given today's information, that we feel gives our students the best chance to have a postseason experience. We have been calculated and strategic throughout this process and will continue to do so during these extremely challenging times, with the students' health and ability to participate both being at the forefront of our minds."

As a result of the postseason delay, the following guidelines will be in place for member schools:

The first round will begin with the weekend of Nov. 19, 20 and 21.

Teams may voluntarily withdraw from the playoffs without penalty using the FB144 form.

If a seeded team withdraws and other district teams remain in the alignment, those teams not qualifying from earlier from within that district will be given an opportunity to enter the bracket.

If there are withdrawals during the process, the bracket pod (district) will be re-seeded up to a point, after which the withdrawal will simply create a bye. We need to give schools at least a couple of days to sort out current situations. The status of the statistics around the virus will drive that "point" which will be announced early this coming week. Setting artificial deadlines and boundaries has not worked with this virus and the data around it to this point.

The review will be ongoing as it has been all along, and it is possible substantial changes could be made as needed in future days and weeks.

Reflections

Berea Citizen Archives: Nov. 6, 2008

Compiled by Libby Horn Citizen Writer

There were some shake-ups in the Berea City Council election held on November 4, 2008. 4 incumbents were re-elected to the Council while 4 were voted out. Returning for another term were Greg Lakes (with the highest number of votes), Virgil Burnside, Vi Farmer, and Glenn Jennings. There were four new faces elected to the council. Billy Wagers, Troy VanWinkle, Jerry Little and Ronnie Terrill each won their right to serve for their first term. There was a high voter turnout in Berea precincts with some voters waiting nearly an hour to cast their vote.

In the Presidential race, Republican John McCain easily carried Madison County with 19,694 votes compared to President-elect Barack Obama's 12,392 votes. Republican Mitch McConnell defeated Democratic challenger Bruce Lunsford by roughly 2,500 votes. 36th District State Representative Lonnie Napier easily defeated opponent J.R. Brunson. In all 1,330 Madison County voters pulled a straight Republican Party option while 1,223 voters pulled a straight Democratic Party option.

The Berea Tourism Commission received three (3) 1st Place awards and two (2) 2nd place awards for its division in the 2008 Kentucky Tourism Industry Annual Conference Traverse Awards for Excellence in Tourism Marketing Competition. The Berea Tourism Commission received 1st place recognition in each of the three following categories: Visitor's Guide/other Booklet; Group Travel or Meeting Planner; and Marketing Campaign. The two 2nd place recognitions were in the categories of Television Advertising and Website. A panel of out-of-state experts judged the 214 entries from across the state to determine the 2008 winners. The Traverse Awards for Excellence in Tourism is open to Kentucky Tourism Marketing such as Kentucky Hotel and Lodging Association members who market a tourism product or service. All entries were required to have been published or distributed within the previous year. Each entry was judged for creativity, design and reach.

In honor of Veteran's Day the Daniel Boone National Forest waived recreation fees at several attractions for Veterans and members of the U.S. Armed Forces and their families. On November 11th the Daniel Boone National Forest proudly recognized Veteran's, active duty members along with their families with the waiving of fees for camping and boating ramps in several counties, including Rowan, Powell, Menifee, Wolfe, Rockcastle, Laurel and Whitley Counties. Jerome Perez, Forest Supervisor, said, "In appreciation of their great service to our country, we are providing them free recreation opportunities on National Forest lands to enjoy with their families."

Berea Folk Dancers welcomed caller Peter Rogers of Frankfort for their November 8th potluck dinner and dance. Rogers, a graduate of Berea College and a former Country Dancer was well know to dancers in this area as an experienced and energetic caller. He is also known for his compilation of dance instruction sources. Musicians for the evening's event were Atossa Kramer and Al White. The event was held in the Activities Room of the Alumni Building of Berea College. There was a $5 charge for adults. Students were free.

The University of Kentucky Non-Profit Leadership Initiative presented the Mountain Association for Community Economic Development (MACED) with the 2008 Fifth/Third Bank Innovative Non-Profit Award. The award was presented at the Non-Profit Leadership Forum that was held on October 16, 2008. MACED won the award for its "Common Cents Financial Initiative." This program was selected because of its innovative approach to meeting the needs of lower income working families. Through this program MACED was able to increase the financial security of lower income consumers and help them break the cycle of debt by offering access to much needed funds at a reasonable rate as well as a savings account linked to the loan, financial counseling and education. MACED's program was the first in the state of Kentucky and quite possibly the only one of its kind in the country to work with employers to offer employees an affordable alternative to payday loans. Since the launch of the Common Cents Initiative in 2007, the Association has partnered with 10 businesses to help 212 individuals by providing unsecured emergency credit representing $33,000 in accumulated savings. The Innovative Non-Profit Leadership Initiative in partnership with Fifth/Third Bank was intended to recognize a non-profit organization implementing non-traditional programs or methods that effectively and efficiently met community needs. The selected organization was required to demonstrate creativity and vision in finding solutions to addressing community issues. MACED's purpose was to work to improve the quality of life in Kentucky and Central Appalachia by creating economic opportunities, strengthening democracy and supporting sustainable use of natural resources.

On November 11, 2008, Dr. Jacqueline Burnside, Chair of Sociology at Berea College presented a reading, slide show and discussion related to her first book, "Berea and Madison County: Black Americans Series." The event was held at the Berea Branch of the Madison County Public Library and was free to the public. Dr. Burnside's work was a part of her doctoral dissertation from Yale that dealt with Berea College's role as an interracial education institution during the 19th century. It used photographs to document and comment on the religious principle of the kinship of all people, especially between whites and blacks in the former slave holding state after the Civil War. Besides teaching, Dr. Burnside was also the director of the Historic Black Berea Project, which is a collaboration between whites and black s from Berea and Berea College for the purpose creating a touring map, audio recordings and websites that highlight black settlers and their contribution to our area.

Secretary of State wants to keep some voting changes permanent

FRANKFORT (KT) - Kentucky's chief election officer says he will seek to have some of the changes in the voting process for the 2020 election made permanent during the 2021 General Assembly.

Republican Secretary of State Michael Adams says there are four items he hopes lawmakers consider after he and Democratic Gov. Andy Beshear developed the plan and issued executive orders on conducting the election during the coronavirus pandemic.

The first concerns early voting, which was successful in the general election cycle.

"I don't think we need three weeks for every election," Adams said. "But a few days would really help take the pressure off voters to show up in a 12-hour span on one day, which is a workday. Saturday voting was very popular. I've already done a survey of the county clerks and most of them like early voting, including Saturdays."

The next area is vote centers, where residents of every precinct in a county can go.

He also wants to keep the online absentee ballot portal.

"We're going to have more absentee balloting than we've had in the past," Adams said. "Even if we don't change the law to expand absentee voting, more voters are going to use it, because now they're familiar with it and they like it," Adams said.

Ordinance 18-20

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF BEREA, KENTUCKY, REVISING THE CODE OF ORDINANCES BY ADDING SECTIONS 26.010-26.011 PROVIDING FOR REVISED RULES AND REGULATIONS RELATING TO THE REQUEST FOR OPEN RECORDS, AND PROVIDING FOR OFFICIAL CUSTODIANS OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS OF THE CITY OF BEREA.

WHEREAS, the City Council of the City of Berea, Kentucky, desires to reiterate the City's compliance with the Open Records statutes, KRS 61.870 to KRS 61.991; and

WHEREAS, the City has heretofore had rules and regulations designating the official custodian of City records as the City Clerk; and

WHEREAS, the City Council deems it necessary and expedient to provide for a division of custodial responsibilities among City officers and employees;

NOW, THEREFORE, be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Berea, Kentucky, that the Code of Ordinances of the City of Berea be revised as follows:

SECTION I

That the Code of Ordinances is hereby amended to add Article II of Section 26, City Policies, Section 26.010-26.011, and such sections shall read as follows:

ARTICLE II. OPEN RECORDS

§ 26.010 OFFICIAL CUSTODIANS; OFFICE HOURS

(A) The Office of City Clerk is the official custodian of the records of the City of Berea, other than the records of the Police Department and Human Resources. The Office of the Police Chief is the official custodian of the records of the Police Department of the City of Berea, and the Human Resources Officer of the City of Berea is the official custodian of personnel records for City officers and employees. The City of Berea hereby adheres to the provisions of the Kentucky Open Records Act as provided in KRS 61.870 to 61.991.

(B) For Open Record purposes, the regular office hours and work days of the City are from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, excluding City recognized holidays.

§ 26.011 REQUEST FOR RECORDS INSPECTION

(A) The principal office of the City is located at 212 Chestnut Street, Berea, Kentucky 40403. Any request for public records inspection may be made in person at the office of the appropriate custodian at this address.

(B) The title and address of the official custodians of the records is City Clerk, 212 Chestnut Street, Berea, Kentucky 40403; Berea Police Chief, 212 Chestnut Street, Berea, Kentucky 40403, and Berea Human Resources Officer, 212 Chestnut Street, Berea, Kentucky 40403.

(C) Any person shall have the right to inspect nonexempt public records during the regular office hours.

(D) Facilities available to each person for inspection of public records will consist at a minimum of a chair and top space of a desk or table in the City Hall.

(E) If the application places an unreasonable burden in producing public records or if the custodian has reason to believe that repeated requests are intended to disrupt other essential functions of the public agency, the official custodian may refuse to permit inspection of the public records. However, refusal under this section must be sustained by clear and convincing evidence.

(F) Upon inspection, the applicant shall have the right to make abstracts of the public records and memoranda thereof, and to obtain copies of all written public records not exempted by the provisions of KRS 61.878. When copies are requested, the custodian may require a written request and advance payment of the prescribed fee. If the applicant desires copies of public records other than written records, the custodian of the records shall permit the applicant to duplicate the records; however, the custodian may ensure that duplication will not damage or alter the records.

(G) The fee for the agency to make copies of nonexempt public records shall be $0.10 per page which is the actual cost thereof, not including the cost of staff required.

(H) No official of the agency shall willfully conceal or destroy any record with the intent to violate the provisions of the Act and these rules and regulations.

(I) The minutes of action taken at every meeting of the agency, setting forth an accurate record of votes and actions at the meetings, shall be promptly recorded and these records shall be open to public inspection at reasonable times, no later than immediately following the next meeting of the body.

(J) The provisions of KRS 61.872 shall govern the limitations on the right to inspect public records, and the provisions of KRS 61.878 shall exempt certain public records from inspection except on order of a court of competent jurisdiction.

(K) The provisions of KRS 61.880 shall govern the denial of inspection of public records, and specifically as follows:

1. Upon receipt of a written or in-person request for records made under KRS 61.870 to 61.884, the Official Custodian shall determine within three (3) days, excepting Saturdays, Sundays, and City recognized holidays, whether to comply with the request and shall notify in writing the person making the request, within the three (3) day period, of his or her decision. If the Official Custodian denies the request, in whole or in part, inspection of any record shall include a statement of the specific exception authorizing the withholding of the record and a brief explanation of how the exception applies to the record withheld. The response shall be issued by the official custodian or the City's legal counsel, and it shall constitute final agency action.
2. If a complaining party wishes the Attorney General to review the City's denial of a request to inspect a public record, the complaining party shall forward to the Attorney General a copy of the written request and a copy of the written response denying inspection. The Attorney General shall review the request and denial and process the review pursuant to KRS 61.880.

SECTION III

All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are repealed. This ordinance shall be published according to law.

BEREA MUNICIPAL UTILITY DISCONNECT FOR NON-PAYMENT NOTICE

Berea Municipal Utilities (BMU) would like to reach out to our customers with information regarding Governor Beshear's October 19, 2020 Executive Order. This Order rescinded the suspension of utility disconnects which had been in effect since May 8, 2020. Beginning November 6, 2020 utilities across the Commonwealth can resume disconnects in accordance with local tariffs and ordinances.

BMU understands the financial hardship many of our customers have experienced due to the coronavirus pandemic and, at this time, BMU has not established a date as to when we will resume our normal disconnect procedures. However, we want to communicate with our customers, now is the time to address any unpaid balances on your account. The latest Executive Order established funds to be distributed statewide in order to assist customers with their unpaid balances. Contact information for various assistance organizations will be provided in a letter sent to our customers with late balances. We will also post a listing of these organizations on our website and Facebook. We encourage you to act quickly in seeking the available funds.

To assist our customers, we will automatically set up pay arrangements for past due balances.

Past due balances will be evenly split into monthly installments according to the following:

Past Due Balance	Pay Arrangement
Up to $200	6 month
$200 - $500	9 month
$500 - $1,000	12 month
More than $1,000	15 month

• Customers are not required to call the office to request an arrangement. If you have a past due balance, you will be receiving a letter from Berea Municipal Utilities in December explaining your payment arrangement. Customers are welcome to pay the balance in full if an extension is not needed. If customers need more time to spread out payments, they can call our office during regular business hours (Monday-Friday, 7:30 a.m. – 4:30 p.m.) at (859) 986-4391 to discuss alternative payment plan options.

SCHOOLS

"(Last) week, our community entered the Red category for numbers of positive cases. As we have watched the numbers in our county trend higher, but numbers across the district have seen a steady, low number of positive cases."

On Tuesday, the Madison County Health Department reported 54 new cases and 290 cases are currently active. Madison County currently is averaging 30.4 new cases per day. Last Friday-Sunday, there were 70 cases reported by the health department, including 37 last Friday.

The school system plans to review its options moving forward.

"We will operate virtually (this) week and reassess our status toward the end of (this) week," the school system said in a release. "This decision is one we have given much thought and consideration.

"More than anything, we want to be part of the solution to this pandemic. We want to continue with instruction while keeping our staff and students and their families as safe as we possibly can. We appreciate your understanding, cooperation, and support as we continue to navigate these unpredictable and unprecedented times."

Boone Tavern re-opens

Boone Tavern Restaurant, located within the Boone Tavern Hotel in Berea, temporarily closed for 24 hours last Friday after two staff members were notified of positive COVID-19 test results under the hotel's routine testing program.

The two staff members are presently asymptomatic as are the rest of Boone Tavern's staff.

The precautionary closure allowed time for cleaning in accordance with standard guidelines from the Madison County Health Department.

The restaurant reopened its doors last Saturday afternoon.

TRAIL

adventure tourism destination. City leaders discussed the proposal Tuesday evening during a discussion of budget amendments for fiscal year 2020-2021.

Berea City Councilman Steve Caudill said the project would consist of a three to four-mile long mountain bike trail located on city land on U.S. 25, just north of the city's water treatment plant. The initial plan was to budget money for the design of the project, but the pandemic curtailed all of the city's capital improvement projects. The land is located in a flood plain, making it undesirable for industrial development. A city budget amendment proposes an initial investment of $10,000 for the design of the trail.

"I think we could have a top-of-the-line, three to four mile mountain bike trail and what's called a pump track," Caudill said, adding a pump trail would make the facility accessible for bikers of most skill levels and ages. "I think that's really important because it will touch the entire community. And moreover, we would be the only place within about a two-hour drive, that would have a well-built and well-maintained pump track, and that presents a lot of opportunities, I think," Caudill added.

'I just think it's a good use of the land," said Councilman Jim Davis, who chairs the council's Economic Development Committee. "As it stands right now, it doesn't really have any industrial use unless somebody's got an awful lot of money to fill it in."

"Part of this is for trail running as well," Mayor Bruce Fraley interjected. 'I know there's a whole slew of trail runners who will enjoy this. Also, not only is this something that will increase tourism, but it's a way to give back to our own citizens, where people of all ages can mountain bike or trail run. So it seems to be money well spent." Caudill speculated the cost of building a quality mountain bike trail could reach $75,000, depending on how it is ultimately designed.

The proposal comes at a time when the Berea Tourism Commission has expressed an intention to promote the city's outdoor tourism options. Caudill said the next step is to consult the Berea Tourism Commission to gauge whether they would support a joint effort with the city.

In other news, City Administrator David Gregory outlined a series of budget amendments, noting the city's financial position unfolded better than expected in fiscal year 2020-2021 given the uncertainty of the pandemic.

The administration is proposing a 1.7 percent cost-of-living increase for city employees not on probation, which comes after wage increases were frozen during the early stages of the pandemic.

Overall, the city projected a fund balance of $10.5 million, but the city's balance came in at $11.9 million after officials scaled back revenue projections and cut spending. That's an increase of approximately $1.4 million, which was aided by the receipt of federal funds awarded to the city for pandemic costs.

Significant changes in the budget include the city taking in $1 million for 40 acres of land sold to AppHarvest. Approximately $930,000 of that money will be reinvested in the Berea Industrial Park to attract more prospective employers, officials said.

City officials are recommending a $365,000 allocation for the Berea Police Department for body cameras, software, and other equipment. Gregory explained the BPD is currently using second-hand equipment from the Richmond Police Department, and that it is breaking down to the point that not all officers are equipped with cameras. Gregory noted the city is negotiating to have that cost spread out over five years. Both Fraley and Davis noted the cameras are a necessity for protecting both police and citizens.

Additionally, as the city looks to replace patrol cars for the Berea Police Department, Gregory said the administration is exploring options to include electric vehicles. Gregory noted could save the city thousands of dollars in annual fuel costs.

In other business, the city accepted a bid for plumbing and electrical services from D.T. Construction, as well as adopting an ordinance regulating open records management.

In a separate discussion, Berea City Councilmember Emily LaDouceur expressed hope that the city would design some kind of economic incentive for small businesses in Berea, just as the city is giving incentives to manufacturers. Both Caudill and Councilman Jerry Little expressed support for exploring LaDouceur's suggestion after she noted small businesses are facing steep challenges as the pandemic progresses.

The next Berea City Council meeting is November 24.

JAIL

conform with COVID-19 quarantine protocols.

"The reason that Steve [Tussey] is having to do this right now is because of the size of our jail and because of the quarantine, He has to stay under 300 inmates to make it all work," Taylor said, adding that when new inmates go into the jail, they have to be quarantined to avoid infecting the rest of the jail population. "Over the last couple of weeks, he's [Tussey] had to move inmates to other counties so he can be in compliance with quarantine," Taylor said.

The cost if housing inmates in Leslie County is $35 per day per inmate, Taylor said. Madison County has similar arrangements with Casey County and Clark County.

In other business, county officials took the time to encourage citizens to observe Veteran's Day.

"I do want to encourage everyone to take a moment to honor those that have honored us by serving this country and giving us the freedoms that we have today," Taylor said. "It's just a good time to honor those that allow us to have our freedoms, so I'm very thankful for all those that serve."

Fourth District Magistrate Tom Botkin agreed, encouraging people to take special note of serviceman who have to be away from their families.

"You really don't know what it's like until you're in a foreign country, and you're deployed to a war zone, and you leave a wife and little kids, to have to deal with a whole lot of situations," Botkin said. "There's a lot of hardship that goes along with being in the United States military. If you know a veteran or see a veteran, pat them on the back and thank them, because I can tell you they've been through a whole bunch to allow us to do just exactly what we're doing today – living in a free country and getting to hold free elections and doing the things that most of us take for granted every single day. So, I just want to thank the soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines that are out there. We appreciate your service."

Magistrate John Tudor closed out the tribute to veterans by adding. "I thank all of our military servicemen that keep us safe and risk their lives for our country." Tudor also thanked all of the county's first responders, as well as county employees.

In other business, the fiscal court unanimously approved an agreement to apply for 2020 Emergency Management Agency funds for the next for two years beginning in October.

In personnel matters, Jessica Ball was hired as an EMA Assistant, Levi Taylor was promoted to Firefighter II, and Michael Bishop was hired as a CDL driver in the Madison County Road Department. All appointments were approved unanimously.

During the Judge's Report, Taylor reminded people to redouble their efforts at guarding against COVID-19, since the infection rate in Madison County has taken a turn for the worse. Taylor encouraged people to continue wearing masks, wash their hands, and exercise social distancing measures whenever possible.

Also announced Tuesday, restrooms at county parks will be closing over the next couple of weeks for the season, and will reopen in spring of 2021.

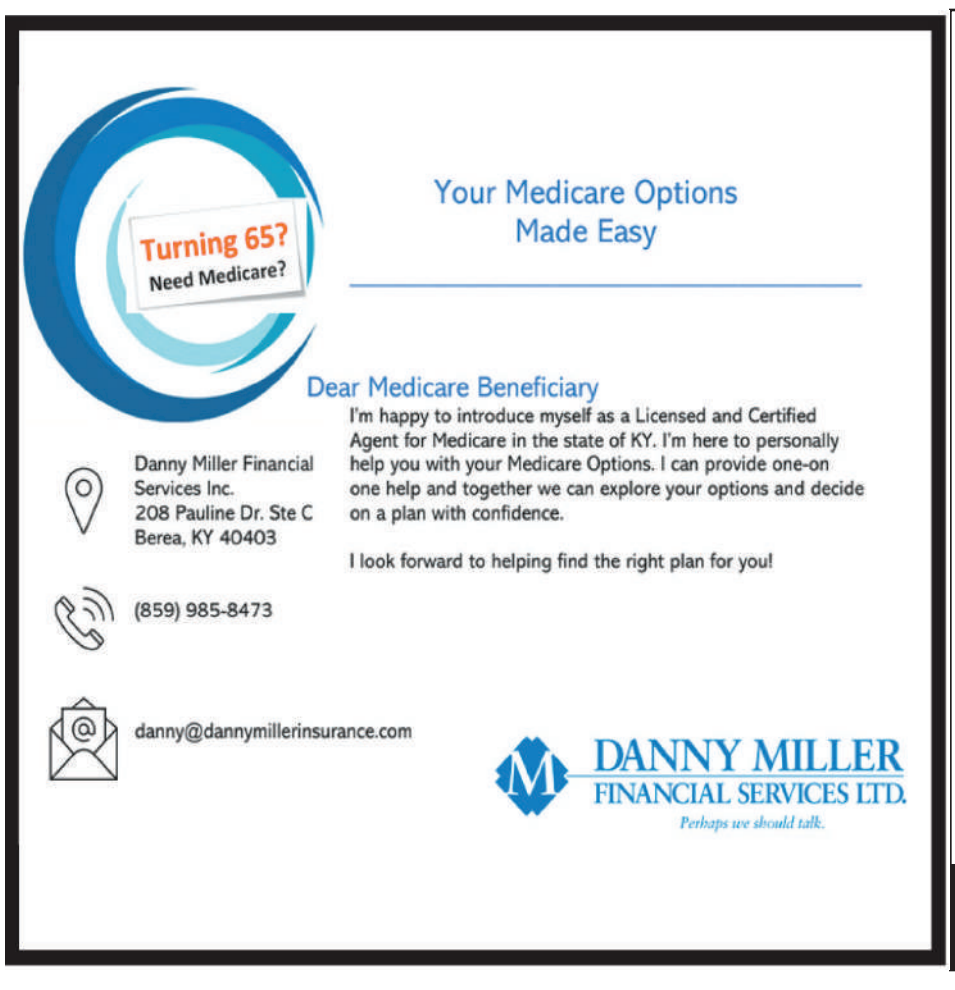
The next meeting of the Madison County Fiscal Court will take place on Nov. 24.

Humana planning to hire 400 veterans

FRANKFORT (KT) -- Gov. Andy Beshear was joined by officials from Humana on Tuesday, the day before Veterans Day, to announce the Louisville-based healthcare company will be hiring 600 veterans and 150 military spouses in Kentucky over the next four years.

"Leading into Veterans Day, this is the type of news we need," Beshear said during a virtual press conference from the Capitol. "Often times we talk about our gratitude, but this is a Kentucky company putting it into action."

Humana, primarily through its critically important TRICARE support to the Department of Defense community, is Kentucky's top defense contractor; and has more than 12,000 employees based in Kentucky, primarily in Louisville.



Remembering World War II

The End of Fascist Italy

Italy was the first of the Axis powers to be defeated and forced to surrender, although it should be noted that Italy's involvement in the war was limited mostly to North Africa and some limited involvement in the south of France.

Italy occupied part of southern France and Corsica from November of 1942 until September of 1943, at which time it surrendered. In July 1943 British and American troops landed in Sicily and rapidly gained the upper hand.

On July 19, 1943 Allied forces bombed Rome, and popular support for the war among Italians rapidly diminished. On September 3, 1943 British troops crossed over from Sicily to the "toe" of Italy's boot. Allied forces landed at Salerno and Taranto on September 9, unopposed by Italian troops, since an armistice had been signed the day before.

At this point Mussolini was removed from power and there was something of a scramble for Italian territory between the Germans, who took most of northern Italy, and the Allies, who held onto Sicily and southern Italy. Italy was at this point essentially involved in a civil war, and Mussolini, who was initially imprisoned (some would say put in protective custody) by the Germans for switching sides, fell into the hands of Italian partisans, who executed him by firing squad on April 28, 1945. Mussolini was executed along with his mistress, Claretta Petacci, and then their corpses were taken to Milan where they were displayed in a public square and subjected to various forms of abuse prior to being hung upside down from a metal girder.

The End of Nazi Germany

By the end of 1944, the tide had turned in Europe. The war in Europe ended when Allied troops invaded Germany in February and March of 1945, culminating in the Soviet army taking Berlin.

Hitler's death came two days after Mussolini's, by suicide on April 30, 1945. He committed suicide by shooting himself in the head, while his wife of one day, Eva Braun, committed suicide by taking cyanide. Hitler was apparently concerned that what happened to Mussolini's body might also happen to him, and thus he gave orders that his body be burned following his death.

The Liberation of the Concentration Camps

One of the more horrific discoveries at the end of World War II came when Allied forces liberated the German concentration camps. The first of these to be liberated was Majdanek near Lublin, Poland in July of 1944. As the Soviets advanced from the east, the Nazis retreated, trying to dismantle the camps and hide evidence of what was being done, but at Majdanek, the gas chambers were still there.

The Nazis also tried to move the concentration camp prisoners to other camps, often marching them long distances in frigid conditions, without adequate food, clothing, or in many cases, shoes. Many of them died along the way, or were shot if they could not keep up with the pace of these death marches. In January of 1945 Auschwitz was liberated by the Russian army, but not before nearly 60,000 prisoners were forced on a death march.

When the Russians arrived at Auschwitz, they found some 7000 starving prisoners there, 600 corpses, as well as 370,000 men's suits, 837,000 articles of women's clothing, and over 7 tons of human hair. Auschwitz was the largest of Germany's concentration camps, with over a million people being murdered there. As the front moved west, the Nazis continued to move prisoners to other camps, such as Bergen-Belsen, Ravensbruck and Buchenwald.

The overcrowded camps led to outbreaks of diseases such as typhus, the mortality rate of which was over 60 percent. When the British liberated Bergen-Belsen on April 15, 1945 they discovered literally thousands of corpses strewn around the prison, and over 60,000 staring prisoners, many of whom did not survive.

The horrific conditions of the camps, and the scale of the horror is hard to imagine, and even more so when one realizes that there was a government behind this, a government which planned and carried out this holocaust with bureaucratic efficiency on a modern industrial scale.

The End of Imperial Japan

By August of 1945, victory was virtually a certainty for the Allies. Japan had been routed in virtually every battle in the Pacific and its navy and air force were destroyed. U.S. forces had captured the Japanese island of Okinawa and were planning an invasion of the main Japanese islands.

General McArthur was planning an invasion for November of 1945, which promised to be devastating for both Japan and the Allies. The dilemma for Allied forces was the "never surrender" attitude that Japan was demonstrating even as the end approached. Experts advised President Truman that this battle was likely to have more casualties than D-Day.

Meanwhile, scientists were perfecting and testing the atom bomb, and believed it was ready. Truman had a momentous decision to make: invade Japan with a conventional war strategy and risk hundreds of thousands of lives, or use the atom bomb and try to stop the war immediately. Truman decided to use the bomb. On August 6, 1945 a B-29 bomber named "Enola Gay" dropped a single atom bomb over the industrial city of Hiroshima, killing an estimated 80,000 people and fatally wounding thousands more.

Japan, however, did not surrender after the attack on Hiroshima, with a majority of their Supreme War Council voting against unconditional surrender, and so on August 9, a second atom bomb was dropped on the city of Nagasaki.

Meanwhile, the Russians had invaded Manchuria and thus, on August 12, 1945 Emperor Hirohito decided that peace was preferable to destruction, and accepted the conditions of surrender, which included the provision that "the authority of the emperor and the Japanese government to rule the state shall be subject to the Supreme Commander of the Allied Powers."

And thus ended the deadliest conflict humanity has ever faced.

dog tags behind the smoke shop counter in Clervaux and inquired about them. The shop owner told the friend that he got the dog tags from his father years ago, and he didn't know where they were found. The owner offered 10 Euros (roughly 12 US dollars) for the dog tags. The friend bought them and immediately contacted Uwe Benkel, Walker's friend in Germany.

Benkel heads up The Research Group for the Missing, a German organization that specializes in recovering downed aircraft from World War II. Walker became involved with Benkel and his team after traveling to Germany in April 2019 to locate wreckage of his own grandfather's downed fighter plane. Benkel helped Walker find the crash site, and Walker was able to return pieces of the wreckage to his family in New York. Since then, Walker and Benkel have worked together on returning World War II artifacts to descendants of soldiers. The two located Genene Rogers by finding George Bryant's military profile on Ancestry.com, to which Genene had linked her family tree on the website.

In the past 30 years, Benkel and his team have recovered 150 aircraft across Europe, including the remains of more than 50 missing pilots. Dog tags are a relatively easy find compared to aircraft, but Benkel called it a "great honour" nonetheless to return George Bryant's dog tags to his family.

To say the least, Bryant's family was appreciative, and "so grateful to have them back," as Dinahbet said. All Benkel asked for in return for his assistance was a photo of Bryant's living descendants with the dog tags and any information the family had about George's service. The family gathered in September to snap the photo and reminisce on George.

Almost 25 years after his passing, George Bryant's legacy has always lived on in more ways than one – in the sweet giggle of his 10-month-old great-great granddaughter Harper Jackson, in tears that still well up every time his name is mentioned by children and grandchildren, in the first initial "B" for Bryant in this author's name, in the collective memory of Bereans who just voted to fill the City Council seat he once occupied, and also in the legacy of George Douglas Bryant, his lookalike son, just as loved and just as known for his quick wit and kind heart, who passed away in January 2019.

Lastly, George's legacy lives on in his military dog tags, home at last after 78 years abroad.

Schedule will challenge young Wildcats

LEXINGTON — Kentucky's basketball schedule is finally set.

The Wildcats unveiled a schedule that will feature nine non-conference games and 18 Southeastern Conference encounters beginning Nov. 25 against Morehead State in the Bluegrass Showcase at Rupp Arena. The showcase also will feature Detroit Mercy and Richmond, with each team playing the other once. The Wildcats will take on Mercy on Nov. 27 and Richmond two days later.

The seating capacity at Rupp Arena will be at 15 percent and adjustments will be made to accommodate fans, players, coaches, and other personnel in attendance this year.

"This schedule will serve as a great test for our young team," Kentucky coach John Calipari said. "We will have to learn to fail fast. Things will be a bit different in how we do things to stay safe, but we are going to make this as normal of an experience for our players and our fans as we can, and I'm confident what we've put together will prepare us to make a run at the end of the season. Like everyone else, I can't wait to return to competition."

All but two of Kentucky's five games in December will be at home. The Wildcats will play Kansas in the Champions Classic at a site to be announced on Dec. 1 and will take on Georgia Tech in Atlanta on Dec. 6. Kentucky also will play Notre Dame at home on Dec. 12, followed by a neutral site game against UCLA in the CBS Sports Classic on Dec. 19 in Cleveland.

The Wildcats will take on Louisville at the KFC Yum! Center on Dec. 26, before starting SEC play against South Carolina on Dec. 29 at home.

On the league schedule, Kentucky will play Florida, Tennessee, Vanderbilt, Alabama, and Auburn twice, in addition to games against South Carolina, Arkansas, Georgia, LSU, Mississippi State, Missouri, Ole Miss, and Texas A&M.

Kentucky will host Texas in the SEC/Big 12 Challenge on Jan. 30. Although top-heavy, Calipari is glad the school and conference were able to produce a schedule for the upcoming season.

"With all that we've been through the last eight months, we are beyond grateful to return to competition and begin the 2020-21 season," Calipari said. "We don't know exactly how this is all going to play out with the virus, but the health and safety of our players and our staff is going to be at the forefront of everything we do.

"I want to commend our staff for being on top of the schedule. When it became clear to us that we were going to have to make adjustments, our staff was all over it. I am really pleased that we not only preserved most of our previous agreements but also kept the type of opponents on our schedule that are going to challenge our guys and help them grow."

Twilight parade goes dark

Recent COVID spike forces Chamber to cancel annual Christmas event

By Keith Taylor
Citizen Publisher

A recent spike in COVID-19 cases forced the Berea Chamber of Commerce to cancel the annual Twilight Christmas Parade set for Dec. 5.

The Chamber of Commerce Christmas Parade Committee "was requested by the health department to submit an application for our traditional twilight Christmas parade for approval," the chamber said in a Facebook post.

"We received notification (recently) from the health department that their recommendation was that we do not host our traditional parade (due to an increase in positive COVID-19 results in our county) and to help reduce the potential for individuals to congregate along the route to watch the parade."

A single-day record of 144 COVID cases were reported in Madison County Tuesday.

The Chamber is having a Christmas decorating contest for non-profits, churches, businesses, industries and neighborhoods through Dec. 11.

The chamber will designate a panel of judges to visit the sites in each of the five categories for their judgement on the exterior decorations.

The Richmond Parks and Recreation will host reverse parade at Lake Reba on Dec. 4. Floats will be set up along a designated route for guests to drive through and view.

Berea City Council

Rising COVID cases a concern

By Andy McDonald
For The Citizen

In the wake of reports that the COVID-19 infection rate is rising in Madison County, Berea city officials are imploring citizens to step up efforts to avoid catching the virus. Mayor Bruce Fraley made the announcement Tuesday evening during a virtual meeting of the Berea City Council.

"This is a single-day record for our county," Fraley said, noting that Tuesday saw 144 new cases in Madison County. "I'm calling upon all of us to help spread the word to please protect yourself, and protect others. I encourage everyone to follow the Centers for Disease Control and Kentucky Department of Health guidelines, including wearing a cloth mask when in public, frequent hand washing, maintaining at least six feet physical distancing from others, and avoiding large gatherings. It's just a call to redouble our efforts to protect ourselves and to protect others."

Fraley also encouraged residents to get more information from federal, state,

Smoothing the edges

Tim Wade, owner and artist of the Cabin of Old Town in Berea, took advantage of the sunshine this week and puts the finishing touches on kitchen utensils at his shop. Wade and the rest of the shops in Old Town are busy getting ready for the Christmas holiday season. Wade's cabin features several hand-crafted items, including his popular snowmen of various shapes and sizes, along with cutting boards, french rolling pins and table shelves. Shoppers across the region are gearing up for the holiday shopping season that traditionally begins on Thanksgiving weekend.

'Hunger Hurts' shifts from food to fund drive

Ashley Cochrane
Special to the Citizen

For many Berea residents, Berea College student volunteers delivering brown paper bags to the doorsteps of Berea homes is a familiar sight. The bags are stapled with information about the Berea Food Bank and instructions for filling the bags with non-perishable food items that will stock the shelves of the food bank for the coming holiday season and colder months. Due to safety precautions related to the COVID-19 pandemic, the 28th annual CELTS Hunger Hurts Food Drive will look different this year.

Representatives of the Berea College Center for Excellence in Learning through Service (CELTS) and the Berea Food Bank report the Food Drive is continuing this year, in a safe and remote way.

Tony Crachiolo, the Coordinator of the Food Bank, describes this year's Hunger Hurts Food Drive as a "fund drive."

"During the pandemic, the Food Bank is not accepting donated food items, but the need for emergency food support in our community is still great," he explains. "Luckily, the Berea Food Bank is able to make donated dollars

Successful semester

Reopening with choice a success

By Lyle Roelofs
Berea College President

In August, Berea College enacted a number of new policies for students, faculty and staff in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. I am happy to report that the measures we took to ensure everyone's safety while continuing our educational mission have been a success. Students are graduating, we've had only a handful of positive cases, and our community has shown great resilience.

Our students and employees have cooperated well with a rigorous set of rules designed to limit the possibilities both of introducing the contagion into campus and it being passed around. We made extensive physical modifications of spaces to ensure safety in classrooms and other gathering places, and we have conducted scheduled testing for both on-campus students and employees.

Faculty were given the choice to teach courses in person or online, and the result was about 62 percent of courses offered this semester were taught online. Faculty were creative in making adjustments to succeed in their learning goals as the format changed for many courses One painting course, for example, was taught in person but mostly outside.

Consistent with Gov. Andy Beshear's Healthy at Work guidance, all employees who are able to work remotely are doing so. One-third of our staff is working fully remotely, one-third is working on campus, and one-third is working a mixture of on campus and remotely.

Lyle Roelofs

Taking these steps has successfully limited transmission of COVID-19. To date we have had only three cases among in-person students, all of which seem to have been due to travel off campus. There have been considerably more positive tests for students doing remote learning, but we do not have accurate statistics there because not all students report cases. Both for in-person and remote-learning students we do not know of any cases of serious illness.

We did have an unfortunate outbreak in the Child Development Laboratory, our on-campus day care center. This occurred after operating safely for four months, but it necessitated a three-week closure of the facility. The CDL re-opened on Nov. 2, and we hope to be able to continue operations there without further incident.

For employees, we have had more cases because they have to live outside the campus bubble.

A number of these cases were detected through our scheduled testing program. Every employee and student had to have a negative test to start the semester, and we have been doing scheduled testing of on-campus employees and students throughout the semester. Our test-positivity rate for employees is 2 percent, and for students it is virtually zero. For employee cases, aside from the CDL situation, there has been no transmission on campus, thanks to rigorous contact tracing.

In general, life on campus has continued virtually. Our wonderful convocation program, for example, was conducted entirely online, and the customary high quality of the presentations has been maintained. Athletics was postponed for the fall, but we expect to resume in the spring semester, with men's and women's basketball commencing around mid-January and all other sports occurring with shortened seasons and reduced travel.

In total, 1,367 students have been able to continue their education this semester, 797 in person and 569 remotely. I am proud to say that 64 students will have satisfied the requirements for graduation at the end of the current term.

While we hope never to need to take advantage in the future of all we have learned in dealing with COVID-19, it has been a powerful learning experience for our community.

Thanks to the contributions of many, we have proven resilient. We look forward to next semester, when we will again re-open with choice.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Joars: Trump lost fair and square

Dear editor:

President Trump lost the election, fair and square, legally and legitimately, in spite of Republican down ballot gains nationally, for four main reasons:

- He is manifestly immoral and indecent.
- He is comprehensively immoral and indecent.
- He is unrepentantly immoral and indecent.
- He is unrepentantly immoral and indecent.

Almost everyone, especially Christians, know in their heart of hearts that this is true, or else our churches have failed utterly to impart the teachings of Christ to their congregations.

Yet the majority of voters in Kentucky, especially Christians, are fine with this. They like it, they love it, they want some more of it. They have bargained that immorality and indecency are acceptable in exchange for political and cultural advantages.

- The majority of voters in the United States are not like the majority of voters in Kentucky.

They rejected the principle that the ends justify any means and affirmed that immorality and indecency are neither acceptable nor necessary in exchange for political advantage.

The first casualty of immorality and indecency is truth.

The same people who told you in March that Covid-19 was a Democratic political hoax and would soon go away are the same folks telling you now that the election was a Democratic political hoax and will soon go away. They knowingly lied to you then and they are knowingly lying to you now.

Karie Joars

Workman: Signs are finally gone

Dear editor: The election signs are gone! The TV campaigns are gone; those ads which couldn't seem to tell the truth and nothing but the truth and aren't we glad they are gone! They are blight.

I will be even more glad when on December 8, the onslaught of TV Medicare ads are finished.

Where does all of that advertisement money come from, customer premiums? How much does the advertising add to healthcare costs? Makes a person wonder.

Heady: Food drive support needed

Dear Editor,

As our community hangs on to election results, COVID updates, and tries to make plans for upcoming holidays, I find myself thinking about what I can do to support an area I've called home for more than 3 years now.

Normally, about this time of year, I – along with at least a hundred other students – would be driving through the streets of Berea, dropping off paper bags one weekend and picking them up (hopefully filled with food) the next weekend. It can be hard work, but also rewarding to see how Berea is filled with neighbors looking to care for each other. It is also rewarding for me to feel like a part of the Berea community.

This year, like everything else, the food drive is different but no less essential. Yes, the annual Hunger Hurts Food Drive is now happening virtually – safer and more efficient for everyone. Safer for neighbors and volunteers, so we don't increase levels of interactions when COVID cases are on the rise in Madison County.

More efficient, because the food bank can use funds as a food bank to buy food at a lower cost than it would be for you or me.

So, instead of dropping by doorsteps, I am writing to invite you to join me in this year's Hunger Hurts Food Drive because we know the need is greater than ever. In checking in with Tony Crachiolo, the current Berea Food Bank Coordinator, I learned the food bank has been giving out more than twice the amount of food this year as they were this time last year. This matches the national statistics that indicate growing need across the nation. In fact, Feeding America estimates COVID will lead to an additional 13 million people (almost 6 million of them children) who are food insecure nationwide.

I hope you will consider donating to the Berea Food Bank this season! You may send a check to the following address: Berea Food Bank, 108 Parkway Avenue, Berea, KY 40403 or make a secure donation at www.bereaoutreach.org.

If you choose to do so, please add "2020 Hunger Hurts Food Drive" on your check or in the special instructions line on the website. We appreciate you!

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Bird bombs: Our flying friends do more than just sing to people

It was a beautiful summer day when a group of guys loaded into the car to go to the bowling alley. Driving along with the windows down, they were enjoying the pleasant weather.

The fellow riding shotgun had his elbow out the window when he got an unexpected, unwelcome and unsavory surprise. A bird flying overhead dropped a slimy, nasty deposit right on his arm.

"Harrumph," the fellow said. "They sing to some people."

My friend Jean Brown shared that story not long ago. Her husband Don Brown was driving that day. Don's friend and fellow bowler Gary Burgess, a real character, drew belly laughs from his buddies with his quick wit.

The story reminded me that sometimes bad things seem to drop on us at the most unexpected times. Perhaps you've been on the receiving end?

Roger Alford

How we react to those things speaks volumes to people around us. We could cuss and complain, stomp and snort, or we could turn those things over to the Lord and let him deal with them.

"We know that all things work together for good to those who love God, to them who are called according to his purpose" (Romans 8:28).

Storyteller Jerry Clower once told about the time Uncle Versie's beloved mule, Della, fell into a deep well.

Digging her out would cost far more than the mule was worth, so Uncle Versie decided to just bury poor Della there. He began shoveling dirt into that hole, but every time a shovelful hit that mule's back, she shook it off and stepped up.

No matter how discouraged or scared, Della kept shaking it off and stepping up. Before long, Della shook off enough to step right out of that hole.

At one time or another, we've all felt like we've been stuck in a hole with the weight of the world raining down on us. Or, we may feel like we've been hit by some nasty mess out of the clear blue sky, like Don's friend.

When those situations come, let's deal with them in faith, knowing God will use them for good.

Women's club wreath-making class goes virtual on Nov. 30

The GFWC Berea Woman's Club, Inc. celebrates its 72nd year with eight new members and plans to conduct programs, projects, and fund-raisers in the new "virtual" world.

On Nov. 30 at 7 p.m., be ready to create a beautiful holiday wreath with Foley's Florist designer Terry J. Davis and a wreath kit of your choice during the Club's first virtual fund raiser. Each kit includes an artificial cedar wreath, bow, and four embellishments of your choice for one of the four themes: Whimsical, Traditional, Farmhouse, or Green Glitz. Cost is only $95 to participate in this live virtual wreath-making class that will help you create the perfect wreath for Christmas.

Registration information is available on the club's Facebook page or at gfwcbereawc@gmail.com. Space is limited to 50, so register soon to reserve your kit and your spot. Registrants will also have exclusive access to additional video tutorials including bow making and ways to properly hang wreaths.

The success of this club goes to the efforts of its 31 members and support from the community. In the past, proceeds from the club's fund-raisers were from painting classes, silent auctions, vendor fairs, and scrapbooking retreats. Each enabled the club to aid several organizations. Since 2019, the club donated a total of $7,394 to various organizations in the county.

Calendar

Fund-raiser

• Hospice Care Plus is having a Poinsettia Fund-raiser to support patients and families of Hospice Care. Order online at hospicecareplus.org and Facebook.com/hospiceCP or call at (859) 986-1500. Orders will be ready for pickup or delivery the first week of December.

• The Madison Southern Eagles basketball team is conducting a Fathead fund-raiser. For $35, fans can purchase a fathead of themselves to hang in the stands during the 2020-2021 basketball season. For more information, contact coach Austin Newton at james.newton@madison.kyschools.us.

Visitors to the opening of the new Madison Southern High School auditorium discuss the facility in the lobby, which serves as a connector between the Roberts and Moore classroom buildings.

Madison Southern High School unveiled a new $2.4 million auditorium. The facility added over 11,600 square feet of space to the school including the 400-seat auditorium, dressing rooms, public restrooms, backstage prepping area, storage area and lobby. The facility was touted as a multifunctional facility with the capability to host everything from small intimate lectures to larger stage productions. The new auditorium boasts an audio/visual package that included a 40-channel mixer, amplifiers, ceiling mounted projector, CD/DVD player, hidden ceiling speakers and sub-woofers. The addition was constructed in a vacant lot between the Roberts and Moore classroom buildings, meaning that students no longer had to go outside to transition between buildings. The renovation also included a 3,000 square feet increase of the Moore Building, which houses the school's gymnasium, shop and agriculture classrooms. To celebrate the opening of the new facility, the Madison Southern Players, under the direction of Kathie Bettler, presented the production, "Oklahoma!"

Kentucky State Police, the NTSB and the FAA were investigating the crash of a small aircraft one mile from the Madison County Airport. Around 11:40 am on Friday, November 12th, KSP received a call of a plane crash on Walnut Meadow Road. Prior to the crash, Texas dentist, Scott Huddleston reported engine problems with the single engine Cessna prop plane he was piloting. Huddleston, originally en-route to Lexington's Blue Grass Field, was diverted by air traffic controllers to the Madison County Airport. The aircraft clipped power lines before crashing into a small grove of trees, catching fire. Several KSP units along with Berea Fire Department and Berea Fire Department Volunteers responded to find the aircraft fully engulfed. One the fire was extinguished, the pilot, who was the only person on board, was pronounced dead by Madison County Coroner, Jimmy Cornelison.

Madison Southern Cheerleaders took part in "Cheer for the Holidays," held November 13th at Transylvania University. The squad took first place in their cheer division. In addition, MSHS Cheer brought home the Grand Champion trophy for achieving the highest overall points.

Local fabric artist, Joyce Cooper was using her quilting skills as a means of helping wounded American Soldiers returning from Iraq to heal from both inner and outer wounds of battle. Cooper became involved in the quilting project through one of her favorite places, Corner Quilt Shop in Lexington. In the span of two "marathon" weekends, Cooper and other quilters created 150 throw sized quilts in patriotic colors to be donated to the patients of St. Andrews Air Force Base Hospital in Maryland. "It just appealed to me," said Cooper on what has become an ongoing endeavor. "This is something that might make a difference to someone." Cooper will be creating her own form of healing as long as there are battle-ravaged bodies, spirits and minds "This is a tragic situation," she said. "If I can do something to make someone feel better, for even a minute, it'll help."

On Saturday, November 14, Churchill Weavers held it's annual fall sale, drawing folks from near and far. Shoppers gathered on the cold stone porch with blankets, tarps, tents, and thermoses to protect them from the late night November breezes s the anticipated the great deals that awaited them. The camaraderie was great at the sale. You got to see know some of the people in line as well as the employees. They came to know you. When asked what brings her back to the sale each year, Teresa McReynolds of Lexington replied, "Its the quality." Churchill Weavers president Lila Bellando said that the thick throngs of people do not let up over the course of the weekend. Crowds had been known to reach 1,00 strong. The sale carries over until Sunday or until all of the merchandise is gone. The sale not only brought people to Churchill Weavers, but it also brought people to shop all over Berea said Bellando.

When Virginia Piland considered making a quilt, one of the things she looked for was, "a story worth remembrance." Piland, with her applique style of quilting, has documented numerous monumental stories such as "God's creation of the world" to the more personal story of Berea's past 150 years. Octogenarian Piland had only been quilting for about 25 years. The time and attention she dedicated to each piece resulted to her work being admired in esteemed locations nationally and internationally. At the time of the original publication of this story, Piland had just returned from the International Quilt Festival in Houston, Texas, one of the largest and most prestigious quilting festivals in the world, where her work was labeled as "Best In Tapestry." This tapestry hangs in the Hutchins Library of Berea College. "It was not difficult but it was time consuming," said Piland. "I tried to make my work as accurate as I could make it." In her quest for historical accuracy, Piland took classes in ancient history, visited museums and talked to archaeologist. Piland even learned to write in cuneiform, the writing style of the ancient Babylon. Piland's work ahs been featured I the National Cathedral in Washington, DC. The piece, entitled, "Oh Jerusalem," was the centerpiece of a special Ecumenical Consul in 1992. The National Cathedral had hoped to keep the piece in Washington, DC but Piland loves Berea and prefers to keep her work local. This work was donated to Union Church in Berea. Piland has created quilts for Mt. Zion Christian Church as well as for Berea's sister city Takane. Her Berea history piece was hung in a prominent place in Berea Hospital. A 1943 graduate of Berea College with a degree in psychology, her relationship with quilting began as a way for Piland to work through the grief of losing her mother.

Plus an Energy Charge per kWh (Variable):	$ 0.03077	$ 0.03200
Plus an Energy Charge per kWh (Total):	$ 0.04353	$ 0.04476
Plus a Demand Charge per kW:
Base Hours	$ 3.44	$ 4.01
Peak Hours	$ 8.90	$10.37

KU is also proposing changes to the rates for other customer classes. These customer classes and their associated annual revenue changes are listed in the tables shown below. KU is also proposing to change the text of some of its rate schedules and other tariff provisions and to add two optional rate schedules: General Time-of-Day Energy Service ("GTOD-Energy") and General Time-of-Day Demand Service ("GTOD-Demand"). KU's proposed rates reflect a proposed annual increase in electric revenues of approximately 10.4%.

The estimated amount of the annual change and the average monthly bill to which the proposed electric rates will apply for each electric customer class are as follows:

Electric Rate Class	Average Usage (kWh)	Annual $ Increase	Annual % Increase	Monthly Bill $ Increase	Monthly Bill % Increase
Residential	1,120	68,176,839	10.68	12.85	10.67
Residential Time-of-Day	1,184	19,427	10.68	12.08	10.69
General Service	1,689	26,734,943	10.68	26.91	10.68
General Time-of-Day	New Rate Schedule
All Electric School	25,276	1,453,830	10.68	285.86	10.68
Power Service	31,900	19,592,722	10.67	351.54	10.67
Time-of-Day Secondary	194,032	14,530,948	10.69	1,580.24	10.69
Time-of-Day Primary	1,288,759	26,942,083	10.68	8,786.08	10.68
Retail Transmission	5,852,624	8,787,141	10.68	36,613.09	10.68
Fluctuating Load Service	50,490,867	3,514,118	10.69	292,843.20	10.69
Outdoor Lights	58	(129)	0.00	0.00	0.00
Lighting Energy	3,373	18	0.01	0.02	0.01
Traffic Energy	150	2	0.00	0.00	0.00
PSA	N/A	0.00	0.00	0.00	0.00
Rider – CSR	N/A	0.00	0.00	0.00	0.00
Outdoor Sports Lighting – Pilot Program	6,800	(4,762)	(4.97)	(99.21)	(4.97)

The monthly residential electric bill increase due to the proposed electric base rates will be 10.67 percent, or approximately $12.85, for a customer using 1,120 kWh of electricity (the average monthly consumption of a KU residential electric customer).

KU is also proposing an Economic Relief Surcredit Adjustment Clause, which will credit KU customers a total of $11.9 million over twelve months when new rates go into effect from this proceeding. For the first twelve months of new rates following this proceeding, a $0.00068 per kWh credit will be applied to all standard rate schedules.

KU is proposing to add an optional rider called Warranty Service for Customer-Owned Exterior Facilities. This rider permits firms that provide warranty service for the repair or replacement of customer-owned exterior electric facilities serving a KU customer's residence and connected to KU distribution facilities and that meet certain standards to use KU's billing services to obtain payment for subscribed warranty service.

KU is proposing a new net metering rate schedule, Rider NMS-2, and renaming its existing Rider NMS to be Rider NMS-1. Rider NMS-1 will serve eligible electric generating facilities as defined in KRS 278.465(2) for which customers have submitted an application for net metering service before the effective date of rates established in this proceeding. Rider NMS-2 will apply to all other net metering customers. KU is also proposing new terms and conditions for Net Metering Service Interconnection Guidelines.

KU is requesting a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity and other associated relief to exchange all existing non-communicating electric meters in its service area with Advanced Metering Infrastructure (AMI) meters.

KU proposes to eliminate certain Environmental Cost Recovery ("ECR") Projects from its ECR mechanism and monthly filings on a going-forward basis, which will result in rate base costs previously included for recovery in the ECR mechanism being recovered through base rates. The reduction in ECR mechanism revenues creates a corresponding increase in base rate revenues with no change in total revenues.

County attorney forms domestic violence docket

Madison County Attorney Jennie Y. Haymond, Madison County Attorney has formed the formation of a Domestic Violence Docket in cooperation with the Madison District Judges, Earl-Ray Neal, Charles W. Hardin and Cole Adams Maier.

Under the new domestic violence protocol adopted by the Madison District Court all misdemeanor cases involving issues of domestic violence will placed on one docket for prosecution regardless of which police agency or party brings the criminal complaint.

Haymond explained, "that allowing all of the domestic violence cases to be prosecuted on one docket will ensure that Madison County complies with the most current domestic violence protocols and will also ensure that domestic violence cases are prosecuted uniformly and consistently throughout all police agencies." Domestic violence cases often involve multiple agencies, courts and witnesses and allowing all of these cases to be on one docket with one prosecutor promotes a better outcome for victims. The goal our Court system and the Madison County Attorney's office is to protect victims of domestic violence in a system that recognizes the unique aspects of these types of cases.

The conclusion of October, Domestic Violence Awareness Month, presented an opportune time to make the changes necessary for the Domestic Violence Docket. Madison County adopted The Madison County Blueprint for Safety back in March of 2018. Ms. Haymond stated, "as with all new things there are processes that take time and need finessed. This is a big step for my office and the court system to continue further with the Blueprint. It is sad and extremely unfortunate that one experiences domestic violence in their relationship, but it is something that myself and my office takes very seriously. We do everything in our power to protect our citizens from being exposed to such behavior again."

Domestic violence continues to be one of the highest crime areas and statistically accounts for a large portion of the District Court criminal docket.

Beginning in January, 2021, the misdemeanor domestic violence docket will be held on the 2nd and 4th Friday of each month. The Hon. Earl-Ray Neal will preside over this docket initially. Ms. Haymond said that, "she appreciates the efforts of Judge Neal, Judge Hardin and Judge Maier in establishing the misdemeanor domestic violence docket."

Fall leaf collection underway

Fall has been in full swing, even if the temperatures can't seem to make up their minds.

As we can all appreciate the beautiful sights of fall leaves, we would like to remind you that these leaves can cause many issues for the stormwater infrastructure and the streets of our city.

Just like the grass clippings of the spring and summer, leaves and other debris have a habit of clogging up grates/inlets/ditches and slowing or stopping the flow of water.

This can lead to flooding of the roads and much more. This can be a danger for motorists in the area as well whether it be water in the roads or the leaves creating slick spots for people to drive through.

The City of Berea began its annual fall leaf collection last Monday.

Please be sure to keep your piles behind the curb of the road and wait patiently for collection.

We understand that wind may blow some around and that you can't get every leaf, just try your best and we will do the same.

If you have any questions please contact our public works department at 986-8792.

For any stormwater issues and or violations you may call 986-8528.

and county health online resources, which are posted on the City of Berea website at: https://bereaky.gov/covid19/

Berea City Councilman Steve Caudill also called the numbers sobering, noting the steep increase in infections in the two months since school went back into session.

"Our incident rate, which was about 16 (cases per 100,000 people) is now up to about 41.6. What that means is out of 100,000 people, roughly 41.6 per day are contracting COVID in our county," Caudill said. "It's getting higher and higher. So let's do what we can. The more that we work on this together and realize this is an apolitical issue, the faster hopefully, that this will be over," Caudill said.

Councilmembers Emily LaDouceur and John Payne urged people to try to connect with others during the upcoming Thanksgiving holiday, but to do so in a way that is at least safe. "If you can stay home, and avoid having that large gathering this year, it will benefit everyone, as much as it stinks," LaDouceur said.

The discussion of rising COVID-19 infections came on the heels of announcements that some holiday events in Berea are either cancelled or changed because of the continuing pandemic. Caudill revealed that the Berea Chamber of Commerce Christmas Parade has been canceled due to health concerns, but that the chamber is working to develop alternatives, such as a holiday decorating contest for businesses, organizations, and homeowners.

Meanwhile, Fraley revealed a November 28 virtual program that will take place in Old Town, which will include the lighting of a Christmas tree, caroling, the reading of The Night Before Christmas," a performance of "Silent Night" by Becky Brown, as well as a Christmas message from the mayor. Those festivities begin at 5 p.m. and will be broadcast online.

Budget amended

In other business, the council heard the first reading of the amended budget for fiscal year 2020-2021. The spending plan reflected a projected increase in General Fund revenues of $533,000, in large part due to federal COVID-19 grants.

The plan also increases spending after steep cuts were made last spring during the uncertainty of the pandemic.

As a result, city employees will receive a 1.7 percent annual pay increase and funding is being made available for more police officers, The budget amendment also includes $365,000 for body cameras for police officers, including the accompanying software, accessories, and cloud to store data.

The current body cameras are old and breaking down, according to officials. LaDouceur requested the council receive more detail on that expenditure before a final vote is taken on the budget amendments on Dec. 1.

Berea Police Chief Eric Scott briefly addressed the council after Councilmember Ronnie Terrill raised concerns about reported acts vandalism at Berea City Park.

Chief Scott assured the council the department is stepping up patrols in the area, and said he is working on long term plans to provide for better monitoring of the park. Scott noted that the park was monitored more frequently on bike and foot by two officers, who have since had to divert their attention to training.

BGAD Update

Also Tuesday, the council welcomed Lt. Colonel Edward Williams of Bluegrass Chemical Activity. Williams noted there has been significant progress in the destruction of chemical agents, including projected destruction of all mustard gas rounds expected by next year.

Small business Saturday

Concerning small businesses, Mayor Fraley introduced a proclamation declaring November 28 Small Business Saturday, encouraging local consumers to show support for local retailers and small business owners. Councilman Jim Davis echoed the sentiments of the measure, reminding citizens that local purchases are critical to the success of homegrown businesses.

Councilmember David Rowlette agreed, urging people to also support those Berea merchants who have on online businesses though they may not have a traditional storefront.

PREP BASKETBALL PREVIEW

Berea Lady Pirates

This could be the year of the Lady Pirates, according to Coach Dammian Stepp.

The last four years, I have used the word young to describe our team," Stepp said. "We are no longer a young team. We have 8-9 players who have seen time as varsity starters and 13-14 who have varsity experience."

Stepp is also excited about the return of Mati Stepp, who spent last season recovering from a knee injury. Because of the injury, several players filled the role of point guard, which could bode well for Berea during the 2020-2021 season.

"Three players, junior Isis Rodgers, sophomore Maddy King, and sophomore Abbie Beard split time at the point guard position," Stepp said. "All three gained valuable experience. We managed a winning season and a second straight 11th region All-A Championship. To build on this success, we need to utilize our experience. With Mati returning, we are very deep in the point guard position. We feel we have a full stable of capable point guards."

The biggest storyline headed into the season will be Covid-19, Stepp said.

"It will dictate when, if, and how games are played," he said. "It remains to be seen if your schools will find a way to allow teams to participate this winter. It may very well require some creative planning and possibly a willingness to play with limited or without fans."

Stepp called the 2020-2021 Lady Pirates schedule "ambitious."

"Our schedule is the most ambitious since I have been here," he said. "Our schedule was built around our experience and the team's anticipated growth in the offseason. The experience is there, but the off-season growth has been limited based on the pandemic. It remains to be seen how we will compete, but I feel we can be very competitive as we get prepared for post-season play."

Stepp feels it's anyone's game as far as the 44th District is concerned, and Berea should be in the mix.

"We expect to compete for 11th Region All A title, 44th District crown, and hope to be a factor in the 11th region tourney in February," he said. "This should be a fun year in the 44th District with the title up for grabs. All four teams have a legitimate chance to win a district championship. It should make February very interesting."

The Lady Pirates open the season on Nov. 24 at home versus Bourbon County. at 7:30 p.m.

Madison Southern Lady Eagles

Coming off a 16-15 season, the Madison Southern Lady Eagles will have many new faces, including a first-year coach. Despite the fresh faces, Coach Josh Curtis believes his squad will be ready once the season tips off.

"We did lose six seniors, but we return a lot of talent that is spread out over all of the classes," Curtis said.

Curtis feels the mix of youth will mesh well with the returning upperclassmen to form a formidable team for anyone Southern faces.

"We have three great senior leaders in Samantha (Cornelison), Lacie (Parks), and Caylen (Conrad)," Curtis said. "Sam and Caylen have been around for a while, so they get how you're supposed to act. I have been very impressed with Lacie Parks. She transferred here last year, and she has missed out on a lot of years of relationships with these girls."

Barring a Covid interruption, Cornelison should become the school's all-time leading scorer this season as she sits 358 points away from the record, Curtis said.

"Samantha has been a great leader since day one," the coach said. "She is a kid who has been through many battles for many years and has seen it all. As a coach, you always want your leader to be an extension of you on the floor, and she is our coach on the floor. She communicates with the players on where they need to be and what they are doing wrong or right."

Of course, Covid is on the minds of many, and Curtis said the team would take it day-by-day.

"I told them a month ago at our player meeting that I was better off giving them a copy of the schedule written in pencil," Curtis said. "We have tried to make it clear to them that things are going to change daily and sometimes by the hour. They understand that nothing is set in stone. We can pout about it and get upset that practice or game gets canceled, or we can control one of the few controllables we have and have a good attitude about conquering the opportunities we will have to participate in together."

As far as season goals, it's simple, Curtis said.

"My goal for us is to be playing our best basketball come postseason time," he said.

"If we can do that, then we can achieve a lot of goals that we all have set for ourselves."

The Lady Eagles open the season on the road Nov. 24 against Franklin County.

Southern's first home game is Dec. 1 against Lexington Catholic with a 7:30 p.m. tipoff time.

Game time set for UK's season-opener against Eagles

LEXINGTON KT) — Game times for Kentucky's first three games in the Bluegrass Showcase have been set.

The Wildcats will open the season at 6 p.m. on Nov. 25 against Morehead State at Rupp Arena.

Two days later on Nov. 27, Kentucky will take on Detroit Mercy at 6 p.m. and concludes play in the event at 1 p.m. on Nov. 29 against Richmond in a nationally televised game on ESPN. The first two encounters will be shown on the SEC Network.

In other games, tipoff against Notre Dame on Dec. 12 will be at noon on CBS and the contest against UCLA in the CBS Sports Classic is set for 4:15 p.m. on Dec. 19 in Cleveland, Ohio.

"These kids are so hungry to get this season underway," Kentucky coach John Calipari said earlier this week. "They just want to play basketball. I've told them 100 times how much I respect what they're doing. This hasn't been easy for them but they've handled with a sense of appreciation to be preparing for the season. (I'm) proud of them."

Earlier this week, Calipari and the Wildcats had a practice session at Rupp Arena in preparation for the upcoming season.

"We put the guys through a game simulation," Calipari said. "(We) had them go through many of the things we would normally do on a game day since we won't have any exhibitions this season. We finished with a scrimmage at Rupp Arena (and) the guys competed and were fiery."

Calipari reminded the team of the importance of following CDC guidelines.

"We talked to them again about doing everything they can to be safe — wearing a mask, social distancing and staying in our bubble," he said. "This is going to take every one of us to get through this and our guys understand that."

The Southeastern Conference announced Tuesday that it will use KINEXON SafeZone technology, the same cutting-edge wearable proximity devices used in SEC football games, to enhance COVID-19 contact tracing efforts during the 2020-21 men's and women's basketball seasons,

"We have been pleased with the results produced by the use of the KINEXON SafeZone technology in football to support a healthy environment for student-athletes," said SEC Commissioner Greg Sankey. "KINEXON continues to provide the SEC with a modern and effective solution to meet the unique contact tracing challenges associated with athletic competition in close contact sports."

Stoops seeks consistency

LEXINGTON (KT) — Mark Stoops is still looking for answers.

Going into the final three weeks of the regular season, the Kentucky coach admitted it's been difficult to get a grip on the team's inconsistencies on both sides of the ball this year.

The Wildcats led by 17 points in the second half before giving up 14 unanswered late in a 38-35 win over the Commodores last Saturday, ending a two-game losing streak. Inconsistencies are an issue that has plagued Stoops and his staff all season.

"If I had the answer to (the inconsistencies), you know, I would have a lot less stress on me, that's for sure," he said. "It's been hard to put my finger on it. I think it's a different year (and) you can't give them any excuse at all. I mean, there's no excuse."

The Wildcats (3-4) will take on Alabama at 4 p.m. Saturday in back-to-back encounters against Top 10 foes during the next two weeks and Stoops wants the offense and the defense to "put it together" and "play as a team."

BEREA MUNICIPAL UTILITY DISCONNECT FOR NON-PAYMENT NOTICE

Berea Municipal Utilities (BMU) would like to reach out to our customers with information regarding Governor Beshear's October 19, 2020 Executive Order. This Order rescinded the suspension of utility disconnects which had been in effect since May 8, 2020. Beginning November 6, 2020 utilities across the Commonwealth can resume disconnects in accordance with local tariffs and ordinances.

BMU understands the financial hardship many of our customers have experienced due to the coronavirus pandemic and, at this time, BMU has not established a date as to when we will resume our normal disconnect procedures. However, we want to communicate with our customers, now is the time to address any unpaid balances on your account. The latest Executive Order established funds to be distributed statewide in order to assist customers with their unpaid balances. Contact information for various assistance organizations will be provided in a letter sent to our customers with late balances. We will also post a listing of these organizations on our website and Facebook. We encourage you to act quickly in seeking the available funds.

To assist our customers, we will automatically set up pay arrangements for past due balances.

Past due balances will be evenly split into monthly installments according to the following:

Past Due Balance	Pay Arrangement
Up to $200	6 month
$200 - $500	9 month
$500 - $1,000	12 month
More than $1,000	15 month

• Customers are not required to call the office to request an arrangement. If you have a past due balance, you will be receiving a letter from Berea Municipal Utilities in December explaining your payment arrangement. Customers are welcome to pay the balance in full if an extension is not needed. If customers need more time to spread out payments, they can call our office during regular business hours (Monday-Friday, 7:30 a.m. – 4:30 p.m.) at (859) 986-4391 to discuss alternative payment plan options.

stretch four times farther, and 99 cents of every donated dollar goes toward the purchase of food. So, donated funds are being put to excellent use."

Crachiolo says food bank volunteers have seen a sharp increase in the number of people the food bank is serving.

"During one week in early November, nearly 150 people received aid from us," he said. "We sent home about a week's groceries—breakfast, lunch and dinner—for each person. That comes to about 4,500 pounds of food moving out of our storage area and into homes within the span of just seven days."

Since March 2020, the food bank has served more than 1,200 families and is on track to double the number who were served in 2019.

CELTS is the home for student community engagement at Berea College, providing opportunities for students to volunteer, serve and learn in collaboration with local community-based organizations, like schools and non-profits. When CELTS student leaders realized that the 28-year collaboration between Berea College and the Berea Food Bank would not be able to continue as usual this fall, they knew that they wanted to continue to support the work of the food bank in some way.

"We know that especially because of the COVID-19 pandemic, members of our community need support in making ends meet and providing enough food for their families," said Sara Heady, Berea College senior, Bonner Scholar and CELTS leader. "Even though we can't get out in the community like we have for so many years, we want to get the word out about the resources that the Berea Food Bank offers and ways people can continue to contribute during this time."

Instead of picking up bags of donated food from Berea doorsteps, students are getting the word out virtually, through social media and email, letters to the editor and a Hunger Hurts Food Drive flyer.

"Every year, this event connects people from across our community in a unified effort to support our neighbors and address hunger," Heady said. "Each year, we get to see how our community cares about helping neighbors who need some assistance in making ends meet. We think we'll see that again. This year, it will just be through monetary donations."

In 2019, Bereans donated the equivalent of about $25,000 of food.

Since March 2020, the Berea Food Bank has significantly expanded its offerings. Everyone who lives in the Berea Food Bank service area—Berea and Southern Madison County—qualifies for assistance without exception or barriers. People are welcome to come to the food bank as frequently as once a month. The Berea Food Bank now makes weekly deliveries to three affordable housing neighborhoods in Berea, provides ready-to-eat food for Bereans without a permanent residence and translates food bank materials into Spanish.

"The work of the Berea Food Bank is truly a community-wide effort. With 30 regular volunteers and support from generous individuals, local churches and the City of Berea, the food bank reflects how our community can come together to support each other," reflects Crachiolo, who volunteers his service as coordinator of the food bank.

The Berea Food Bank is sponsored by Berea Faith Community Outreach (BFCO), which also sponsors Bereans United for Utility and Rent Relief (BUURR) and the Transient Fund.

Anyone can participate in this year's Hunger Hurts Food Drive by making a monetary donation to the Berea Food Bank. Send a check to Berea Food Bank, 108 Parkway Avenue, Berea, KY 40403, or make a secure online donation at www.bereaoutreach.org. To participate in this year's food drive, simply add "2020 Hunger Hurts Food Drive" on the check or in the special instructions line on the website.

The Berea Food Bank is located at 108 Parkway Drive in Berea, and the phone number is 985-1903. The food bank is open for drop-in clients on Mondays and Wednesdays from noon to 2 p.m. and on Fridays from 10 a.m. to noon.

Berea College, the first interracial and coeducational college in the South, focuses on learning, labor and service. The College admits only academically promising students with limited financial resources, primarily from Kentucky and Appalachia, although students come from 40 states and 70 countries. Every Berea student receives a Tuition Promise Scholarship, which means no Berea student pays for tuition. Berea is one of eight federally recognized Work Colleges, so students work 10 hours or more weekly, earning money for books, housing and meals. The College's motto, "God has made of one blood all peoples of the earth," speaks to its inclusive Christian character. www.berea.edu.

American Diabetes Month

Early Detection & Awareness

Detecting and managing Type 2 Diabetes early on can help minimize damage and even reverse the condition. Go to diabetes.org to:
- Determine your diabetes risk in just one minute.
- Find nearby locations for a blood sugar test, A1C test or health screening.
- Learn the right questions to ask your doctor in order to optimize diabetes care and treatment.

What Is an A1C Test?

The A1C test can be used to identify prediabetes, diagnose diabetes and monitor how well diabetes treatment is working over time by providing a picture of average blood sugar levels over the two to three months leading up to the test. The test plays an important role in helping diabetes care teams develop effective diabetes management plans for individual patients. Ask your doctor if the A1C test is right for you. To learn more or find an in-pharmacy testing location near you, visit diabetes.org.

Prevention & Management

Use these guidelines from the American Diabetes Association to help prevent and manage diabetes:

- Follow healthy lifestyle habits: Stay physically active, eat well, manage stress and maintain a healthy weight.
- Stop smoking or using other tobacco products.
- Manage A1C, blood pressure and cholesterol levels.
- Take medications as prescribed by your doctor.

TIP: Visit cancer.org and use search keywords "quit smoking" for tips to help you kick the habit.

Remembrance Tree ceremony goes virtual

One of the community's most beloved, holiday traditions is the annual Remembrance Tree Ceremony, with hundreds participating each year for more than 25 years. The 2020 ceremony will be hosted live and virtually on Sunday, Dec. 6, at 2 p.m.

The event will be live streamed on the Hospice Care Plus Facebook page. A Facebook account is not required to participate. To participate, request a memorial ornament at hospicecareplus.org or (859) 986-1500, then visit facebook.com/hospicecp at 2 p.m. on Dec.6.

Anyone can request a memorial ornament. There is no fee for ornaments, but a donation of any size is encouraged. Proceeds from the ceremony cover the cost of the ornaments and help fund all programs offered by Hospice Care Plus.

The Remembrance Tree ceremony gives the community a chance to remember loved ones during the holiday season by placing a personalized memorial ornament on a remembrance tree. Hospice Care Plus sponsors the event as part of its bereavement program, which provides grief support services to the community. Although this year's event must be virtual to comply with COVID guidelines, the program and purpose remain the same.

The ceremony will begin with an opening prayer and holiday music and continue with the reading of memorial names. Hospice Care Plus staff will place memorial ornaments on the Remembrance Tree as the names are read. Guests who participate virtually are invited to use Facebook comments to type their loved one's name as it is read or to share a favorite memory.

Guests may claim their ornaments on one of four dates in December. The pick-up will take place outdoors, socially distanced, on Dec. 7 and 8, 1-9 p.m., at the Compassionate Care Center, and Dec. 10 and 11, 9 a.m.-5 p.m., at the Hospice Care Plus Berea office.

Shop local!

Small Business event Saturday

Berea city leaders are urging residents to support local businesses this shopping season beginning this weekend with Small Business Saturday. Saturday's event is part of a national initiative that recognizes the importance of small businesses in the health of America's economy.

Jim Davis

At a meeting of the Berea City Council recently, Councilman Jim Davis continued to urge support of local businesses. In the past, Davis has urged residents to support local businesses during the reconstruction of U.S. 25 N. and during the COVID-19 pandemic. Davis urged the same last week, noting that money spent in Berea in local businesses is money that stays in the community.

"I'd like to remind everyone to shop small, and shop locally this Christmas season, because money spent during this time of the year is what makes or breaks a lot of our local businesses. So once again, shop local and shop small," Davis said.

Councilman David Rowlette reminded residents that not all business owners have store fronts, and that those with online businesses need support, too. "Of course we want to support our local businesses. But keep in mind that not all of these businesses have storefronts. Many of them have online businesses that are very successful but they kind of fly under the radar. Seek some of them out for your holiday gifts and things," Rowlette said, suggesting Berea merchants as an alternative to large online retailers.

The discussion about local businesses was sparked by a proclamation introduced by Mayor Bruce Fraley, noting the this Saturday is typically recognized as Small Business Saturday.

City lights

The Berea City Public Works Department was busy putting up Christmas decorations in preparation for the holiday season. In top photo, Zack Lainhart puts up a candy cane decoration on a light pole Monday during a strip along Glades Road.

In top right photo, Santa Claus made an early visit to Old Town last week on Broadway.

At bottom right, City of Berea Business and Tourism Development Director Donna Angel adjusts ornaments on an outdoor Christmas Tree in front of the Welcome Center last week. Small Business Saturday is set for Saturday, giving local business a chance to get a a head start on the holiday shopping season.

Coaches regroup after season pushed back

By Mike Moore
For The Citizen

Less than a week before the 2020-2021 high school basketball season tipped off, the Kentucky High School Athletics Association pushed the start of the season back to early January.

"The Board of Control conducted its third regularly-scheduled meeting of the 2020-21 academic year on Wednesday and elected to postpone the start of the winter sports season to Jan. 4 by unanimous vote," the KHSAA news release stated. "In congruence with the Governor's order issued later the same day, official practice for all indoor interscholastic winter sports shall cease on Friday, Nov. 20 at 5 p.m. and is planned to resume on Monday, Dec. 14. This cessation will apply to all indoor interscholastic sports at all school levels, including but not limited to basketball, bowling, competitive cheer, dance, indoor track and field, swimming, and wrestling."

Area high school coaches reacted as expected, expressing disappointment for the players and understanding that a safe season is the most important thing.

COACHES

"It is disappointing that the season will be pushed back," Berea girls coach Dammian Stepp said.

"I support the delay as a means of preparing for the challenges ahead."

Stepp went on to say his squad has been working hard to prepare for the season.

"I am glad to see the fall sports get to complete their season," Stepp said.

"I hope the governor, KHSAA, and school administration will do everything in their power to allow similar opportunities for winter sports athletes."

Madison Southern boys coach Austin Newton said his team knows the situation is fluid and to be grateful for any chance to play.

"We are very grateful for the opportunity to play, and I tell my team every day to take advantage of every opportunity we get to be together because you never know when it will be your last," Newton said.

According to the KHSAA's news release, details regarding any allowances for indoor interscholastic sports, which will be restricted before Dec. 14, will be distributed to the membership before the Governor's ordered shutdown school-related in-person activity last Friday (Nov. 20).

The season calendar for each winter sport and current virus data and any potential adjustments to the start and end dates for spring sports, will be reviewed in a follow-up meeting of the Board of Control currently scheduled for Dec. 10.

The Board's approved motion for basketball also included authorizing the Association to attempt to negotiate the dates for the Girls' and Boys' Sweet 16 during NFHS calendar weeks 37 and 38, and is pending final confirmation of specific available dates with the Lexington Center and Rupp Arena.

Berea Home Village honors Moats, Brown

As we approach Thanksgiving, in the spotlight are Marilyn Brown and Bob Moats, both of whom are shining examples of Berea Home Village volunteers who cheerfully serve their community.

Each year the Member and Volunteer Committee of the BHV Board chooses two volunteers who epitomize an excellent volunteer. Marilyn and Bob give of themselves to help provide independence for Berea seniors. Even in the light of the Covid 19 pandemic, these two are always ready and willing to help.

Bob Moats, who refers to himself as "Bob the Bean counter," says of the announcement, "I am overwhelmed with this honor. I want to thank the committee for their vote of confidence. I am also honored to be in the company of winners like Marilyn, Dave Reilly, and Carol Gilliam."

Bob tells the story of how he came to be a volunteer. "On my last day as a Senior Financial Analyst at Kentucky One Heath, working out of Saint Joseph Berea, I asked Katie Heckman who was the head of volunteers at SJB if she knew volunteer opportunities for an old accountant. She then invited me to a steering committee meeting, and I left as the treasurer of a group of people with a dream." Bob holds the distinction of serving as tech advisor and sympathetic sounding board for the executive director.

"I have been trained like all other volunteers, but my contribution to BHV is not on the frontline like other recipients. Behind the scenes support is my specialty. I have been a volunteer in many areas that help others in one way or another and that is what BHV allows me to do during my retirement years."

Bob explains why he volunteers for BHV and what he does. "During my retirement, I couldn't see myself not involved in a meaningful cause. During my actual work career, I had learned a lot about business operations, management, accounting, and problem solving. I worked hard to gain this knowledge and wanted to use it to help this steering committee attain their dream. So, given that, I used my skills to help the young organization become Berea Home Village, Inc., and a 501c3 nonprofit in the eyes of the IRS. Now, I serve by working with the following: financials via QuickBooks, donor management system called Donor Perfect, and ZOOM meeting software. I also chair the Finance Committee and participate on the Fundraising Committee."

Why does Bob think BHV is important to the Berea Community? He explains, "The Berea community is remarkably close knit and self-sufficient. The way I have been welcomed to this community even though I don't live here has made me feel more at home than anywhere else I have been. Since the beginning the Berea community has proven that BHV is important by its member and volunteer growth and financial support."

Marilyn Brown, a former social worker, came to the first volunteer orientation several years ago and has been a volunteer ever since. She also serves on the Member and Volunteer Committee which reviews how the helping process is working. "Volunteering has been part of most of my life. Volunteering is especially important to me, a way of 'giving back' for the amazing blessings I have received throughout the years. When I heard about BHV, this seemed like a natural fit for my interests, an opportunity to help people to be able to stay in their own homes as long as they wish to and as long as that is possible."

Marilyn continues, "From childhood, I have always enjoyed interacting with older people, and this seemed to be a good opportunity for me in my retirement years – to be able to assist those who need a bit of extra help. There are people who I check with regularly to see what their needs are, then report to Katie (our Director) who matches those needs with a volunteer who can help. Sometimes that person is me; other times it is another volunteer who can do what I cannot. (That is what the Village is all about.) I have been able to drive some members to the doctor or to other places they need to go. Picking up and delivering a member's needed items is usually an easy thing to do."

"I believe that most people like to live independently as long as it is possible to do so. Home is where the heart is -- where we are in familiar surroundings with our family, neighbors, and friends – with the people we love. Sometimes people just need a bit of help to make that happen. That is where BHV comes in, matching needs with volunteers who can help to meet those needs. Interestingly, it is possible to be both a member AND a volunteer. There are tasks that can be done by those who may be mostly homebound. For example, telephone contacts can be a lifeline for those who cannot, or rarely, leave their homes."

When asked what she is thankful for this holiday season she had this to say, "I have so MUCH to be thankful for – not just at Thanksgiving time, but all the time! I am thankful for my faith, my family, my church, and my friends. I am thankful for good health. I am thankful for the new friends I have made through BHV, both members and volunteers. I am thankful that, if the time should come that we need help to remain living at home, BHV services will be available to my husband and me. That gives me a lot of hope and comfort. I hope that our need for help will still be several years away because I really enjoy being a volunteer with BHV! It is wonderful to know that this Village exists!"

In this Covid-19-time, Berea Home Village services have been temporarily diminished, but as they are deemed an "essential service," some can continue. With help from its volunteers BHV has followed the Governor's guidelines and has been extremely careful as they try to provide what they can.

OBITUARIES

Inez Collins

Inez Collins, 85, of Berea, formerly of Mt. Vernon, went to be with Jesus on November 17, 2020. She was born to the late Raymond and Maggie Bethurum.

She was retired from Dresser after 31 ½ years of service. She was a dedicated Christian of the Holiness faith, a Sunday School teacher at Town Hill Holiness Church. In her free time, she enjoyed her church, her family, cooking, shopping, and traveling. She always put the Lord first in her life, a great example she left for us all. She loved everyone she met and always found laughter in each day.

In addition to her parents, she was also preceded in death by her first husband, Raymond Lopez, her second husband, Preston S. Collins, her daughter Lisa R. Lopez Hasty, one grandson Jeffrey C. Argerbright, one brother, Charles Bethurum, two sisters, Marie Robinson and Leana Smith.

She leaves behind two sons, Roger (Phyllis) Lopez of Crab Orchard, Kentucky, and Steven (Ruth) Collins of Lewisburg, Tennessee; three daughters, Rose (Allen) Hensley of Mt. Vernon, Donna (Fred) Brewer of Brodhead, Kentucky, and Becky Northern of Mt. Vernon; 20 grandchildren, 41 great grandchildren, 10 great-great grandchildren; and one brother, McKinley (Lana) Arnold of Flagstaff, Arizona.

Funeral services were Friday, November 20, 2020 at Lakes Funeral Home. Rev. Allen Hensley officiated and burial followed in the Elmwood Cemetery in Mt. Vernon. Pallbearers were Mike Lopez, Joshua Lopez, Tim Argerbright, Jerry Hensley, Kevin Hensley, Jason Northern, and Jonathan Northern.

Joan Carol Isaacs

Joan Carol Isaacs, 70 of Berea, passed away suddenly at her home on Wednesday, November 18, 2020.

Joan was born in Madison County, Kentucky to the late Mitchell and Christine Stone Crowe. She was a homemaker and former business owner of Berea Pawn Shop and member of the Red Lick Baptist Church.

In addition to her parents, she was also preceded in death by two siblings, Mitchell Crowe, Jr. and Debbie Miller.

She is survived by her loving husband, Carl Douglas Isaacs; two daughters, Robin (Aaron) Hamilton and Leah (Nathan) Leonesio; one brother, Shelton (Linda) Crowe; and four grandchildren, Olivia Hamilton, Alex Hamilton, Logan Leonesio, and Sophia Leonesio.

Funeral services were Monday, November 23, 2020 at Lakes Funeral Home. Bro. Doug Collins officiated and burial followed in the Camp Nelson National Cemetery. All services were private. Condolences may be left for the family at www.lakesfuneralhome.com.

Pallbearers were Aaron Hamilton, Nathan Leonesio, Alex Hamilton, Tim Crowe, Jesse Crowe, and Mike Crowe. Honorary bearer was Logan Leonesio.

Betty Lou Willis

Betty Lou Willis, 63, wife of 45 years to Thomas Willis, passed away Friday November 20, 2020 at her home surrounded by family. Mrs. Willis was born August 16, 1957 in Estill County to the late James and Laura Bell Estes Coffey. Mrs. Willis loved going to church and loved her family, especially her children and grandchildren. She was of the holiness faith.

Other than her parents Mrs. Willis was preceded in death by one brother, Ronnie Coffey and one sister, Martha Carolyn Rogers.

Other than her husband Mrs. Willis is survived by one daughter Connie Means and her husband Roger of Berea, KY, two sons, Edgar Willis of Paint Lick, KY, Charlie Willis of Berea, KY, six brothers, Bruce Coffey of Irvine, KY, Denny Coffey and his wife Sue of Waco, KY, Harold Coffey and his wife Amy of Berea, KY, Leon Coffey and Betty Shuler of Irvine, KY, Ernie Coffey and his wife Debbie of Lancaster, KY, Wade Coffey and his wife Gail of Waco, KY, adopted sister, Linda Johnson of Irvine, KY and three grandchildren, Josh Willis, Jonathon Means, and Helen Willis all of Berea, KY.

Funeral services were private and burial was in Pilot Knob Cemetery.

'Lights for Life' still shinning virtually

The Saint Joseph Berea Foundation is encouraging the community to virtually participate in its annual Lights for Life event to help local families in need.

While the annual holiday fundraiser is regularly held in person and includes a tree-lighting ceremony, due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the community event was canceled, but community members can still help make a difference virtually.

Now in its 34th year, Lights for Life provides a tribute to loved ones, and also raises funds to provide emergency assistance and medications year-round for underinsured and low-income patients in the Saint Joseph Berea service area.

With a $10 donation, a virtual light can be purchased in honor or in memory of a friend or loved one. Donations received through the program help provide financial assistance to patients and families that cannot afford medical care.

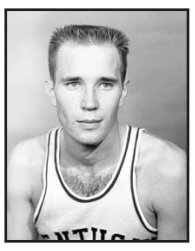
"Even though we cannot be together this year to light the tree in honor of our friends and loved ones, we wanted to keep this positive community event going to continue helping those locally who need financial assistance, especially as the pandemic continues," said Leslie Smart, CFRE, president, Saint Joseph Berea Foundation. "More than ever, it is important that we come together to give back to those needing financial assistance, and we are so thankful to the community members who continue to help us each year in this endeavor."

There are three convenient ways to donate to Lights for Life: Online at www.chisaintjosephhealth.org/lightsforlife, call (859) 313.1705, or send a donation to the Saint Joseph Berea Foundation, Attn: Stephen Clatos, 1451 Harrodsburg Road, Suite D-308, Lexington, KY 40504.

Former Berea High, UK star Billy Evans dies at age 88

Former University of Kentucky letter winner Billy Evans passed away Saturday at the age of 88.

Evans played for the Wildcats from 1952-55 and was a member of the freshman squad in 1951. The Berea native scored 716 points and grabbed 549 rebounds in 83 games at Kentucky. He played at Berea High.



He played alongside former Kentucky standouts Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey and Lou Tsioropoulos. Evans averaged 13.9 points and 8.5 rebounds in his final season at UK.

"I'm sure they wouldn't put me in the same boat with Hagan and Ramsey, who were All-Americans, but life was all better for me for having played basketball there," Evans said in an oral history interview produced by the university.

While with the Wildcats, Kentucky went 77-6, including a 25-0 mark in the 1953-54 season.

"Billy Evans is among the great players from our commonwealth who helped build the tradition of University of Kentucky basketball," said Kentucky athletics director Mitch Barnhart. "His legacy as an all-around athlete and a winner always will be part of our history. Our condolences are with his wife, Nancy, and his family and friends."

Evans was drafted in the fifth round of the 1955 NBA Draft by the Rochester Royals and won a gold medal in the 1956 Olympics and the 1959 Pan American Games. He was inducted into the first UK Athletics Hall of Fame and his jersey hangs in Rupp Arena.

"It's special," Evans said of his jersey retirement. "I don't go around to everybody and say, 'Look up there,' but it's an honor.

message from Cora Jane Wilson

"So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God."

Romans 10:17 KJV

Perhaps you sent a lovely card,
or sat quietly in a chair.
Perhaps you sent a funeral spray,
if so we saw it there.
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words,
as any friend could say;
Perhaps you were not there at all,
just thought of us that day.
Whatever you did to console our hearts,
we thank you so much whatever the part.

The first Thanksgiving — without Mom

Keith Taylor

The holidays are here and it all begins with Thanksgiving.

Since mom passed away on Oct. 5, I've been looking for a starting point, a reboot if you will, in an effort to return to normalcy. I've discovered there isn't really such a thing as starting over. Coping and taking things one day at a time is the best way to move forward.

The ongoing and seemingly never-ending pandemic hasn't helped matters, either. The fact that the virus took my mom from us and how things transpired during the final few weeks has been the biggest part of my frustration to be honest.

I just don't understand it all, but God does.

One of mom's favorite things to do was to cook, especially at Thanksgiving and Christmas. She always prepared a feast and more than what was needed for the occasion. She even had a stash of to-go containers handy for the left-overs.

One of my favorites was mom's homemade pecan pie and banana pudding. I've scoured through mom's pile of cookbooks trying to find the recipes she used and I'm really not sure which one she used. I did find my late grandmothers homemade Jam cake recipe and will someday give that a try. During the past couple of years, she had taken orders for her jam cakes and loved baking them.

I admit, I'm really not much into jam cakes, but I may have to change that, simply because it's many of the deserts that my mom made that she took pride in because she used her mom's recipe and perfected it over the past couple of years.

At Thanksgiving, mom always made mamaw's homemade stuffing — the dried kind — and she really was good at making homemade dumplings, also another favorite not only for me, but for the rest of the family as well. There usually weren't many dumplings left over and everyone usually got a second helping after the first serving.

Because of the missing link in our family and the ongoing evil virus, things will be much different this year and we're not even sure as a family how to proceed, especially since mom was the glue to everything and made it stick.

But whatever we decide, mom will be with us within our hearts and we will be forever thankful for the good times we had with mom, especially during the holidays.

As we celebrate this year — a year that has been unlike any other — don't take the times you have as a family for granted. I'm glad I didn't and will cherish the memories now and forever.

Happy Thanksgiving!

Facebook feedback

"How do you plan on celebrating the Thanksgiving holiday this year? Is travel included or are you staying home?"

"We're traveling to Frankfort to have Thanksgiving with my daughter and her family."

Penny Saylor Yancey

"I will be celebrating with my whole family as we normally do."

Bobby Abner

"Celebrating with our small family unit that are always together anyway. No one outside that bubble."

Nikki Roy

"Home with my partner and my dog. Spinach ravioli is on the menu. A big meal but not traditional Thanksgiving fare to make things feel less weird."

Betsy Pryor

"We will be having thanksgiving dinner at our house in Pineville. We will be having all the food I normally fix, there will just be more food for us."

Jacque Bowling

"We are staying put to avoid catching or spreading COVID-19. Staying apart so, when we can safely be together no one will be missing."

Tony Crachiolo

"My mom and I decided we were gonna stay far away from people we like for the time being and aren't getting together this year."

Ginger Rose

"Staying home, so no one's missing at Christmas. We have several vulnerable family members and no one wants to risk their health."

Charlsa Hensley

"Getting tested right before and having dinner with only my parents and one other family member. I stay pretty safe in my daily life already."

In search of the perfect turkey? Ask the bagboy

Roger Alford

I always enjoy the story about the lady who was looking through the frozen turkeys at the grocery store, hoping to find the perfect one for her family.

She called the stock boy over and asked, "Do these turkeys get any bigger?"

"No, ma'am," he answered. "They're dead."

By now, you've probably found the perfect turkey for your family's Thanksgiving dinner. And you've probably given some thought to everything you have to be thankful for this year. There's a wonderful hymn that calls for us to count our blessings and name them one by one.

When we begin to add up the great blessings we have received from the Lord, we realize that he's mighty good to us.

One of the things I'm most thankful for is the church I'm a part of. What a great blessing it is to have a place to worship the true and living God, a place to fellowship with some of the greatest people on the planet, a place of peace and hope and love. What a great blessing it is to be counted among God's children.

Sometimes I wonder if we might take for granted just what it means to be a child of the King.

For me, it was a blessing to be the son of Jason B. Alford, a coalminer from the mountains of southeastern Kentucky.

He provided the things I needed as I grew up. And he provided some things I didn't really need, but things he knew I'd like.

I was reminded of that in a very real way long after he'd gone to heaven. I was looking around inside the Kentucky Coal Museum when I came across a display of lunchboxes – or lunch buckets, as we called them – used by miners over the years.

There were big ones, little ones, medium ones, round ones, square ones and rectangular ones. I remember seeing one just like the one my father used and it brought back good memories of him returning home, tired from a long shift underground.

I would meet him at his truck and help him carry his stuff inside, especially his lunchbox. I did that because I wanted to see if he had left anything in there. Amazingly, I always found a Moon Pie or a Honey Bun.

Hungry from the hard labor in those cramped, dark mines, he would eat his sandwich, his chips, his banana. But he never ate that Moon Pie or Honey Bun. Why? Because he knew a little boy would be waiting at home, eager to see what good thing waited in that lunchbox.

As a child, I had always thought that my father had gotten full and just didn't have room for his dessert. But when I grew up, I realized I could have eaten everything in that lunchbox and more and still been hungry. That was certainly true for my father, too. Yet, he saved the best, the sweetest thing he had for me.

You know, that's the way it is with our heavenly Father. He wants us to have the best, the sweetest thing. And what's better or sweeter than Jesus.

As you count your blessings this Thanksgiving, I hope you'll take a moment to thank your Heavenly Father for giving his only begotten son to die on the cross so that we might live.

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

'Trooper Teddy' project

It's nearly Black Friday and the Kentucky State Police (KSP) hope shoppers will include a Trooper Teddy Bear on their Christmas list this year.

The bears go on sale Thanksgiving night at 6 p.m. and will sell for $15 through the holiday weekend.

All proceeds from the sale benefit the Trooper Teddy Project, which provides teddy bears to children in traumatic situations such as a car crash, exposure to drugs, or domestic abuse cases which frequently result in the arrest of a parent.

KSP Spokesman Sergeant Billy Gregory says the 'Trooper Teddy' Project is designed to develop trust between officers and children.

"Often times, we are meeting these children on their worst day," says Gregory. "Whether they are scared or nervous from the circumstance they are dealing with, the bear seems to immediately resonate with them. That connection builds trust and opens the door to communication between the child and the trooper."

Gregory said the program does not utilize state dollars and relies solely on donations and the sale of bears to sustain it.

"Annually, we host a bear sale on Black Friday and then again on Valentine's Day to raise money for the project," notes Gregory. "We also accept general tax-exempt monetary donations to the project. We remain humbled by the public support for this project. It's absolutely heart-warming to see the way Kentuckians respond."

Trooper Teddy Bears will be sold for $15 plus shipping. Citizens have the option to pick it up their bear for free at KSP Headquarters in Frankfort or at any KSP Post.

For those interested in purchasing a bear or making a tax deductible contribution to the project, citizens should visit https://trooperteddy.square.site/s/shop or shop through Ebay at https://www.ebay.com/itm/KSP-TROOPER-TEDDY-BEAR/223858694990?hash=item341f049b4e:g:nu0AAOSw4iVfV7cl.

Holiday food safety tips

Safe Storage Temperatures

• Keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold. Hot foods should be held at 135 degrees Fahrenheit or warmer. Cold foods should be kept at least 41 degrees Fahrenheit or below.

• Foods that sit out on the buffet table for longer than two hours should be discarded.

Safe Food Handling

• Always wash your hands before and after handling food.

• Use two cutting boards. One should be used for preparing raw meat, poultry and fish and the other for cutting cooked food or preparing salads.

• Wash fruits and vegetables before preparing.

• Keep your kitchen, dishes and utensils clean.

• Never put cooked food back on plates or platters where raw meat or poultry were previously stored.

• Wash and sanitize food contact surfaces often.

• Never thaw a turkey or other meats/poultry on the kitchen counter. Thawing at room temperature increases the risk of bacteria growth at the surface even though the interior may still be chilled.

• Thaw turkey and other frozen meat items in a refrigerator with a temperature of 41 degrees Fahrenheit or colder. The turkey should be thawed in its original wrap, on a tray placed in the bottom section of the refrigerator. A 20-pound turkey needs four to five days to thaw completely when thawed in the refrigerator.

• A frozen turkey may also be completely submerged under cool running water at a temperature of 70 degrees Fahrenheit or less, or thawed in a microwave, provided that the turkey is cooked immediately after thawing.

Cook Thoroughly

• If you are cooking foods in advance of your party, be sure to cook foods thoroughly to a safe minimum internal temperature.

• Use a metal-stemmed meat thermometer to determine when the turkey is done by inserting the thermometer in the thickest part of the turkey thigh. When the thermometer reaches between 165-180 degrees Fahrenheit, the turkey is done.

• Safe cooking temperatures for other foods are as follows: seafood, 145 degrees Fahrenheit; ground beef, veal, lamb and pork, 160 degrees Fahrenheit; ground turkey, chicken and other poultry products, 165 degrees Fahrenheit.

• Don't eat uncooked cookie dough, which may contain raw eggs.

• Cook eggs until the yolks and whites are firm.

• When making your own eggnog or other recipe calling for raw eggs, use pasteurized shell eggs, liquid or frozen pasteurized egg products, or powdered egg whites. Unpasteurized, raw shell eggs and egg products could contain Salmonella and other pathogens. Pasteurized shell eggs are now available at many grocery stores. Like all eggs, they must be kept refrigerated for safety and quality. Pasteurized shell eggs can be identified by a red "P" in a circle stamped on the shell.

Leftovers

• Leftovers should be stored in the refrigerator within two hours after cooking is complete, this includes pumpkin pie.

• Leftovers should be divided into smaller portions and stored in several shallow containers in the refrigerator.

• Use refrigerated turkey and stuffing within three to four days. Use gravy within one to two days.

• Frozen leftovers should be eaten within two to six months.

• Reheat all leftovers to 165 degrees Fahrenheit throughout or until steaming hot. Soups, sauces and gravies should be brought to a rolling boil for at least one minute.

Most importantly, if you are uncertain a food has been stored safely or is still safe to eat, it's best to follow the old food safety maxim of "when in doubt, throw it out."

Berea woodturner Rude Osolnik has pieces on display museum throughout the country, including the Smith Washington, D.C. Osolnik died Sunday, Nov. 18.

World famous wood turner, Rude Osolnick passed away at his home on November 1ith. Osolnick was widely known as one of the finest wood turners in the world. His workshops and seminars were in high demand around the world. Pieces turned by Osolnick have been presented to the Queen of England as a gift from the United States and Joan Mondale had chosen several of his pieces for display at the White House's Celebration of Christmas. His bowls and signature candle sticks are collector's items and can be found in permanent collections at museums such as the Smithsonian in Washington, DC; the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and Atlanta's High Museum, to name a few. In 1992, Osolnick was presented with the Milner Award, the Kentucky Governor's Award for Lifetime Achievement by Brereton Jones. Rude Osolnick was 86 years old.

After months of construction, dust, headaches and the inconvenience of closed streets, the installation of 44 new streetlights along North Broadway in Old Town was finally completed. Berea City Administrator, Randy Stone, stated that the placement of the lamppost style lights had made a big difference. The total cost of the lighting project was $52,000. In addition to aesthetic improvements, the addition of the lighting added a greater level of security for business owners and residents. "Anytime you increase lighting, you increase security," said Stone. Adding to his comments that the response from the Old Town merchants had been positive. Belle Jackson, Berea Tourism Director, commented that Old Town had developed into a showplace for the community, a "wonderful compliment to the beauty of College Square.

Students as Shannon Johnson Elementary took time to honor and brighten the spirits of fellow student, 8-year-old Roger Rose, who suffered a stroke after Pee Wee Football practice on November 8th. Rose, who was airlifted to University of Cincinnati Children's Hospital, was making slow improvements at the time. Rose's teacher, Melissa Gilliam kept in contact with Rose's family daily in order to update the Shannon Johnson faculty and staff. Shannon Johnson Elementary School Principal, Penny Begley, declared Friday, November 16th as Roger Rose Day. Students wore red ribbons and Guidance Counselor Lee Browder made a video tape of every class singing songs and sending get well wishes that was sent to Rose. In addition the school collected over $600 to send to Rose's family to help with their expenses during their stay in Cincinnati.

Rumors surrounded the fate of Berea Hospital as the Board of Directors began taking bids to sell the hospital's 105 long-term care beds. The vote to sell the beds was made because of reimbursement issues with Medicare. Also, fueling the rumor of closing was the layoffs of 6 employees. Hospital CEO David Burgio said that the layoffs were not related to the downsizing but were, rather, related to a decline in hospital use. He also added that these were viewed as temporary layoffs. He stated that the long-term care unit only accounted for $6 million of the $38 million dollar total budget. According to Burgio, rumors that the hospital were untrue at that time.

Berea native, Sarah Gilliam-Kincaid was appearing in a production of Anton Chekov's work Three Sisters, being presented by Centre College's drama department. Gilliam-Kincaid was playing the role of Olga, the oldest sister of the family at the center of the story. Sarah is a graduate of Berea Community School and is the daughter of Carol Gilliam and Harry Rice of Berea and Charlotte Kincaid of Gulfport, Florida.

Madison County Habitat for Humanity raised $28,375, in its "Field Of Dreams" campaign on November 18th. According to Habitat Director, Guy Patrick, that would be enough to purchase 5 lots for their work. The theme "Field of Dreams" was taken from the Habitat project to build 24 homes on 8 acres of land located on Scaffold Cane Road near Bratcher Lane. According to Patrick, the project was slated to take 3 to 6 years to complete. The Farris Foundation purchased the entire piece of property with the intention of selling it to Habitat for Humanity one lot at a time. They will sell it back to us and sponsor the first house," said David Grandgeorge, who serves as Habitat for Humanity's Resource Developer for the project. He went on to say that $28,374 was probably just the beginning of support for the project. Habitat for Humanity had been serving low-income family for approximately 10 years prior to this project by giving these families a chance to own safe, affordable houses. Habitat for Humanity doesn't just give away houses—it gives families a chance to earn them. Each recipient family must work to earn "sweat equity" in their new home.

Off-Peak Hours (Variable):	$ 0.03077	$ 0.03200
Off-Peak Hours (Total):	$ 0.05760	$ 0.06512
On-Peak Hours (Infrastructure):	$ 0.24465	$ 0.18924
On-Peak Hours (Variable):	$ 0.03077	$ 0.03200
On-Peak Hours (Total):	$ 0.27542	$ 0.22124

Residential Time-of-Day Demand Service - Rate RTOD-Demand

	Current	Proposed
Basic Service Charge per Day:	$ 0.53	$ 0.61
Plus an Energy Charge per kWh (Infrastructure):	$ 0.01276	$ 0.01276
Plus an Energy Charge per kWh (Variable):	$ 0.03077	$ 0.03200
Plus an Energy Charge per kWh (Total):	$ 0.04353	$ 0.04476
Plus a Demand Charge per kW:
Base Hours	$ 3.44	$ 4.01
Peak Hours	$ 8.90	$10.37

KU is also proposing changes to the rates for other customer classes. These customer classes and their associated annual revenue changes are listed in the tables shown below. KU is also proposing to change the text of some of its rate schedules and other tariff provisions and to add two optional rate schedules: General Time-of-Day Energy Service ("GTOD-Energy") and General Time-of-Day Demand Service ("GTOD-Demand"). KU's proposed rates reflect a proposed annual increase in electric revenues of approximately 10.4%.

The estimated amount of the annual change and the average monthly bill to which the proposed electric rates will apply for each electric customer class are as follows:

Electric Rate Class	Average Usage (kWh)	Annual $ Increase	Annual % Increase	Monthly Bill $ Increase	Monthly Bill % Increase
Residential	1,120	68,176,839	10.68	12.85	10.67
Residential Time-of-Day	1,184	19,427	10.68	12.08	10.69
General Service	1,689	26,734,943	10.68	26.91	10.68
General Time-of-Day	New Rate Schedule
All Electric School	25,276	1,453,830	10.68	285.86	10.68
Power Service	31,900	19,592,722	10.67	351.54	10.67
Time-of-Day Secondary	194,032	14,530,948	10.69	1,580.24	10.69
Time-of-Day Primary	1,288,759	26,942,083	10.68	8,786.08	10.68
Retail Transmission	5,852,624	8,787,141	10.68	36,613.09	10.68
Fluctuating Load Service	50,490,867	3,514,118	10.69	292,843.20	10.69
Outdoor Lights	58	(129)	0.00	0.00	0.00
Lighting Energy	3,373	18	0.01	0.02	0.01
Traffic Energy	150	2	0.00	0.00	0.00
PSA	N/A	0.00	0.00	0.00	0.00
Rider – CSR	N/A	0.00	0.00	0.00	0.00
Outdoor Sports Lighting – Pilot Program	6,800	(4,762)	(4.97)	(99.21)	(4.97)

The monthly residential electric bill increase due to the proposed electric base rates will be 10.67 percent, or approximately $12.85, for a customer using 1,120 kWh of electricity (the average monthly consumption of a KU residential electric customer).

KU is also proposing an Economic Relief Surcredit Adjustment Clause, which will credit KU customers a total of $11.9 million over twelve months when new rates go into effect from this proceeding. For the first twelve months of new rates following this proceeding, a $0.00068 per kWh credit will be applied to all standard rate schedules.

KU is proposing to add an optional rider called Warranty Service for Customer-Owned Exterior Facilities. This rider permits firms that provide warranty service for the repair or replacement of customer-owned exterior electric facilities serving a KU customer's residence and connected to KU distribution facilities and that meet certain standards to use KU's billing services to obtain payment for subscribed warranty service.

KU is proposing a new net metering rate schedule, Rider NMS-2, and renaming its existing Rider NMS to be Rider NMS-1. Rider NMS-1 will serve eligible electric generating facilities as defined in KRS 278.465(2) for which customers have submitted an application for net metering service before the effective date of rates established in this proceeding. Rider NMS-2 will apply to all other net metering customers. KU is also proposing new terms and conditions for Net Metering Service Interconnection Guidelines.

KU is requesting a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity and other associated relief to exchange all existing non-communicating electric meters in its service area with Advanced Metering Infrastructure (AMI) meters.

KU proposes to eliminate certain Environmental Cost Recovery ("ECR") Projects from its ECR mechanism and monthly filings on a going-forward basis, which will result in rate base costs previously included for recovery in the ECR mechanism being recovered through base rates. The reduction in ECR mechanism revenues creates a corresponding increase in base rate revenues with no change in total revenues.

Other Charges

KU is proposing the following revisions to other charges in the tariff:

Other Charges	Current Charge	Proposed Charge
Returned Payment Charge	$3.00	$3.50
