Construction to begin for vocational center

By Andy McDonald
For The Citizen

City Council

Equipment is on site and the beginning of construction is pending for a vocational school near Farristown Middle School, Mayor Bruce Fraley announced Tuesday.

During mayoral comments, Fraley noted he had spoken to Madison County School Superintendent Dr. David Gilliam, who revealed the project is now moving forward.

"David [Gilliam] advised me that the school board had awarded a contract for the career technical center in Berea, which will be next to Farristown Middle School," Fraley said. "It looks like they are ready to break ground and get to work, and that's something that's very exciting for our high school students," Fraley said.

In a presentation last year to Berea business leaders, Gilliam noted the 50,000 square-foot Berea Area Technology Center may offer curriculum that includes engineering, culinary arts, and health sciences, including certifications for Certified Nurses Aid and marketing. It was tentatively planned the facilities would also offer a diesel lab,

'Giving Tuesday' not the end of charity

The holiday season is a time of giving. The generosity on display during the holiday season may not have an official start date, but the first Tuesday after Thanksgiving Day may be the unofficial beginning of the giving season.

The first Tuesday following American Thanksgiving has been referred to as "Giving Tuesday" since 2012. The event was started by the 92nd Street Y in New York City, the United Nations Foundation and the technology website Mashable as a response to the commercialization of the holiday season and the rampant consumerism that seems to start as soon as the last bite of turkey is digested. Today,

Typically, giving Tuesday harnesses the generosity of millions of people around the world and helps millions of dollars to find its way into the coffers of organizations that need it most.

Giving Tuesday inspires people to volunteer or give back to causes that are near and dear to their hearts.

Thanks to technology, giving has the capacity to go viral and inspire others to engage in their own charitable efforts.

Since its inception, Giving Tuesday has evolved. The event now underscores how communities can harness the power of people working together to elicit great change.

Even though Giving Tuesday may be the catalyst for charitable efforts, it doesn't need to end there. People are urged to be generous all year long, including throughout the holiday season.

Ongoing giving

• Pay it forward by treating someone behind you in the checkout line to coffee, fast food, a candy bar, or whatever else suits you at the time. Perhaps he or she will do the same and keep the generosity going.

• Keep extra dollars in your pocket and be generous to charities seeking donations outside of stores. A cup of coffee or hot chocolate goes a long way toward warming up the people manning the collection pots as well.

• Adopt a family who is less fortunate and purchase some gifts on their wish list. Many community centers and churches have contacts for needy families who could use some support this season.

Giving can be the focus of the holiday season, and in ways that are meaningful to the people on the receiving end of the generosity.

Holiday help?

The year 2020 has not been the best year for Kentuckians due to the COVID-19 pandemic, and that includes retail businesses, which say it poses unusual circumstances for the holiday shopping season.

The Kentucky Retail Federation says more than 100 retailers responded to their annual statewide survey, and a majority indicated the pandemic has slowed their local economy, made getting supplies and goods tougher; and hoped that holiday shopping sales at least match last year's results, although they expect that to be a challenge in the last month of the year.

Looking ahead to 2021, hopes for improvement depends simply on how long COVID-19 continues and how quickly people are comfortable going back out to stores, according to the survey.

Several respondents said even when they reopened this year, they noticed the public was wary of going out much, even with the safe shopping protocols put into place.

Shopping without the dropping

For the first time in I don't know when, I didn't go Black Friday shopping.

It's not because I didn't want too and if you ask Rhonda, she would tell you that's one of my favorite things. Nothing better than standing in line and await a gift card crossing my fingers and hoping I'm the winner of a $1,000 shopping spree or getting that deal of a lifetime.

Keith Taylor

I've never been that lucky, but you can't win if you don't try and I have certainly tried in the past. Because of the ongoing pandemic that has turned our world upside down and inside out, retailers have adjusted their schedules and planned Black Friday a little differently this year and even didn't stuff newspapers such as ours with pages and pages of Black Friday specials.

I always look forward to flipping through those pages and making a list of the specials advertised for that week. I also didn't mind roaming through the crowds and getting a $5 waffle maker or a $2 video from the bin. If you know me, I will do what it takes — with respect to others of course — to make things happen and that includes Black Friday shopping.

Sometimes it's a good stress reliever and other times it can cause unwanted stress when it comes to searching for deals that are always for a "limited time."

Online shopping has reached an all-time high this fall and avoiding large crowds is just one reason many shoppers have shopped along the Information Super Highway, now known as the internet.

Just recently, Rhonda has discovered shopping online with Amazon and how easy it is to look for what you want without the hassle of getting ready and looking your best. I did get her a $50 Amazon card for her birthday for the first time last week and I'm sure she will put it to good use.

Despite the positives with online shopping, there are some downfalls. When it comes to clothing and shoes, you can't touch or feel or even try on what you are purchasing. Some shoppers, much like Rhonda, like to see what they are buying in person before making a final decision. Rhonda likes to try her shoes on before making a purchase.

When it comes to buying electronics, those are somewhat easier purchases to make online as opposed to buying those at an actual retail store. I have made several purchases online when it comes to electronics and other gadgets.

Although the pandemic has been a downer as we head into the Christmas holiday shopping season, we can still shop — without the drop.

Level: Intermediate

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Want a smile? Put down the joke book, read the Bible

Roger Alford

On his first day in jail, Bubba was sitting on his bunk when he heard another inmate down the cell block yell out, "twenty-two." Every prisoner within earshot burst out in laughter.

A few minutes later, someone else yelled out, "thirty-seven."

This time, the prisoners laughed even harder.

"What's so funny about those numbers?" Bubba asked his cellmate.

"We've all been in jail a long time, and we've been reading the same joke book so long that we've memorized the jokes and the page numbers," his cellmate explained. "So, instead of telling the whole joke, we just yell out the page numbers."

Bubba decided he would read the joke book and get in on the fun. The next day, Bubba yelled out, "sixteen."

No response.

He then yelled out, "forty-two."

Still nothing.

"What's wrong?" Bubba asked his cellmate. "Why isn't anyone laughing?"

His cellmate replied, "Some people just can't tell a joke."

Lately, I've been noticing some of the passages in the Bible that reflect our Heavenly Father's sense of humor. I laughed the other day when I read about how He delivered Israel and Judah on one occasion when the great armies of the Moabites and Ammonites invaded.

Jehoshaphat was king at the time, and when he heard that these powerful armies were on their way, he called all of God's people to prayer. God heard those prayers and intervened.

The Lord said, "Be not afraid nor dismayed by reason of this great multitude; for the battle is not yours, but God's" (2 Chronicles 20:15).

That's when King Jehoshaphat did the funniest thing. He didn't put his biggest, strongest, fiercest soldiers on the front line. He didn't call up the Special Forces with the best training and most advanced weaponry. No, the king appointed singers to lead the army, and they went marching toward that great multitude of enemy troops singing praises to God.

The invaders were utterly destroyed, having turned on one another. All God's people did was sing. The Lord did the rest.

In my mind, that passage reflects a Heavenly Father with a fantastic sense of humor.

Over and over again in the Bible, He did things that tickle our funny bones, like the time he allowed the prophet Elisha to single-handedly conquer an entire army that had been dispatched to kill him, or the time he allowed a little shepherd boy named David to defeat a fearsome 10-foot-tall enemy soldier named Goliath.

How can we not at least smile when our Heavenly Father does such unlikely things?

Bubba may not have been able get a response with his best effort to generate smiles, but our Heavenly Father always can.

Longtime community leader Guy K. Duerson Jr., passed away Monday, December 1, 2003 at Berea Hospital. He was 77. Duerson was a native of Madison County and was a graduate of Lancaster High School and a 1951 University of Kentucky School of Law. He practiced law for over 50 years. Duerson served as a paratrooper in the Army during World War II with the 11th Airborne Division and was a member of the American Legion ad the Berea Lion's Club. In addition, Duerson was a member of the Berea Masonic Lodge 617 for over 50 years and was one of the members of the first Berea Chamber of Commerce. Duerson served in the capacity of attorney for the City of Berea, Berea Sewer Commission, Berea Hospital and the Berea City School Board. In addition, he served on the Board of Directors of Berea Hospital, Berea Cemetery Association, and the Berea swimming pool. Duerson was an avid supporter of athletics at Berea Community and in 1971; the football stadium was named for him. Duerson had an active roll in youth sports in Berea, serving in the capacity of coach for basketball, baseball and football.

Berea's Ruth Eschbach spent the 1941 Christmas holiday in a Japanese prison camp in the Philippines. She and her first husband were captured as missionaries.

Sixty years ago, Ruth Eschback found herself celebrating the holidays in the confines of a Japanese concentration camp in the Philippines. In 1941, Ruth and her first husband were serving as missionaries studying the Chinese language in preparation for their mission in Mainland China. Following the bombing of Pearl Harbor, Japanese forces invaded the Philippines on December 28, 1941. All Western nationals and their families in the town of Baguio (about 500 total) were arrested and interred at Camp John Hays near the city. Then in April of 1942, she and others were relocated to Camp Holmes. The barbed wire of Camp Holmes would define the boundaries of Eschback's life for 3 long years. "It was rather terrifying," Eschback recalled of the first days and weeks of imprisonment. "We didn't know what would happen to us." One thing that remained at the forefront of everyone's mind: "It was a question of whether you survived." Men and women were split into separate barracks.

However, women with children were housed together. Families were allowed to remain intact instead of being broken up and dispersed into different camps. Eschback remarked that this was "a blessing" with maintaining individual morale. As days passed the prisoners began to realize that there would be no order to their days. "In this kind of situation, you begin to live each day at a time." The Red Cross was only allowed one drop of food and medical supplies to the island and the lack of food was always a problem and malnutrition was widespread. The problem was exasperated by the isolation of the island. Meals were served twice a day and consisted of corn and sweet potatoes most days that was supplemented with peanuts and the occasional buffalo meat. To give themselves a sense of control, camp members elected a committee to negotiate with various Japanese commandants. As a result, "we organized a community. It was a remarkable effort to distribute whatever we had fairly." Work schedules, worship services, a hospital and a school for over 100 children were established in the camp. "The presence of children in the camp had a softening effect on everyone," remarked Eschback. Conditions were more lax with some commandants than others. There was a double barbed wire fence that separated the men and women's barracks that served to segregate the prisoners by gender. This was a place where members met up to talk. Men vied to be a part of the garbage duty to be able to escape the confines of the camp for a short time. As the war in the Pacific neared the end, prisoners were transferred to a facility in Manila. There they witnessed the 1945 landing of American Troops on Lugar and experience what would be a battle that would lag on for weeks.

Finally, on February 3, 1945, American forces opened the gates of the concentration camp and groups began being flown home to freedom. These experiences continued to influence Eschback's life perspective. "I'm more sensitive to how some people live all of their lives in limited and crowded spaces and have limited medical care," she commented. Her faith during these times made her feel "Providentially cared for." It was Christmas in the concentration camp that reminded Eschback of her blessings.

Berea Children's Center held its annual gala fundraiser, "Breakfast with Santa" on Saturday, December 6th, in the basement of Union Church. The annual event featured a down-home breakfast of pancakes and sausage, a visit and photos with Santa, crafts and games for the kids, a selection of baked goodies to choose from for purchase and a silent auction of great crafts and gifts donated by local merchants. The Christmas breakfast was a event that was beloved by parents and kids alike. Started 29 years ago by a group of parents and community members, the Berea Children's Center provided quality childcare for families in Berea at affordable rates. It was a non-profit school aged childcare program that was funded by parent fees, the United Way, the Berea College Appalachian Fund and other grants and donations.

The center's mission was to provide a safe, nurturing and stimulating environment for children where active learning, creativity and diversity was valued. Breakfast with Santa was one of the main fundraising events for the center.

Silver Creek Shell located on Highway 1016 was offering a variety of meat and produce for purchase. Ribeye steaks were selling for $3.99 per pound. Whole boneless pork loins were $1.49 per pound, center cut pork chops were $3.00 per pound and spare ribs were $1.69 per pound. Peppers were selling for $1.00 for a 4 count, tomatoes were 99 cents per pound and baking potatoes were 4 for $1.00.

The Berea Arts Council was busy decking the halls for the Christmas season with a holiday-themed exhibit featuring handmade ornaments and cards. The exhibition's opening coincided with the Twilight Parade on December 6th. The reception featured the favorite chocolate bar, which could be sampled for a donation and hot chocolate.

Items were offered for sale with part of the proceeds going back to the Berea Art's Council. The exhibit ran through December 20th.

Plus an Energy Charge per kWh (Variable):	$ 0.03077	$ 0.03200
Plus an Energy Charge per kWh (Total):	$ 0.04353	$ 0.04476
Plus a Demand Charge per kW:
Base Hours	$ 3.44	$ 4.01
Peak Hours	$ 8.90	$10.37

KU is also proposing changes to the rates for other customer classes. These customer classes and their associated annual revenue changes are listed in the tables shown below. KU is also proposing to change the text of some of its rate schedules and other tariff provisions and to add two optional rate schedules: General Time-of-Day Energy Service ("GTOD-Energy") and General Time-of-Day Demand Service ("GTOD-Demand"). KU's proposed rates reflect a proposed annual increase in electric revenues of approximately 10.4%.

The estimated amount of the annual change and the average monthly bill to which the proposed electric rates will apply for each electric customer class are as follows:

Electric Rate Class	Average Usage (kWh)	Annual $ Increase	Annual % Increase	Monthly Bill $ Increase	Monthly Bill % Increase
Residential	1,120	68,176,839	10.68	12.85	10.67
Residential Time-of-Day	1,184	19,427	10.68	12.08	10.69
General Service	1,689	26,734,943	10.68	26.91	10.68
General Time-of-Day	New Rate Schedule
All Electric School	25,276	1,453,830	10.68	285.86	10.68
Power Service	31,900	19,592,722	10.67	351.54	10.67
Time-of-Day Secondary	194,032	14,530,948	10.69	1,580.24	10.69
Time-of-Day Primary	1,288,759	26,942,083	10.68	8,786.08	10.68
Retail Transmission	5,852,624	8,787,141	10.68	36,613.09	10.68
Fluctuating Load Service	50,490,867	3,514,118	10.69	292,843.20	10.69
Outdoor Lights	58	(129)	0.00	0.00	0.00
Lighting Energy	3,373	18	0.01	0.02	0.01
Traffic Energy	150	2	0.00	0.00	0.00
PSA	N/A	0.00	0.00	0.00	0.00
Rider – CSR	N/A	0.00	0.00	0.00	0.00
Outdoor Sports Lighting – Pilot Program	6,800	(4,762)	(4.97)	(99.21)	(4.97)

The monthly residential electric bill increase due to the proposed electric base rates will be 10.67 percent, or approximately $12.85, for a customer using 1,120 kWh of electricity (the average monthly consumption of a KU residential electric customer).

KU is also proposing an Economic Relief Surcredit Adjustment Clause, which will credit KU customers a total of $11.9 million over twelve months when new rates go into effect from this proceeding. For the first twelve months of new rates following this proceeding, a $0.00068 per kWh credit will be applied to all standard rate schedules.

KU is proposing to add an optional rider called Warranty Service for Customer-Owned Exterior Facilities. This rider permits firms that provide warranty service for the repair or replacement of customer-owned exterior electric facilities serving a KU customer's residence and connected to KU distribution facilities and that meet certain standards to use KU's billing services to obtain payment for subscribed warranty service.

KU is proposing a new net metering rate schedule, Rider NMS-2, and renaming its existing Rider NMS to be Rider NMS-1. Rider NMS-1 will serve eligible electric generating facilities as defined in KRS 278.465(2) for which customers have submitted an application for net metering service before the effective date of rates established in this proceeding. Rider NMS-2 will apply to all other net metering customers. KU is also proposing new terms and conditions for Net Metering Service Interconnection Guidelines.

KU is requesting a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity and other associated relief to exchange all existing non-communicating electric meters in its service area with Advanced Metering Infrastructure (AMI) meters.

KU proposes to eliminate certain Environmental Cost Recovery ("ECR") Projects from its ECR mechanism and monthly filings on a going-forward basis, which will result in rate base costs previously included for recovery in the ECR mechanism being recovered through base rates. The reduction in ECR mechanism revenues creates a corresponding increase in base rate revenues with no change in total revenues.

Other Charges

KU is proposing the following revisions to other charges in the tariff:

Other Charges	Current Charge	Proposed Charge
Returned Payment Charge	$3.00	$3.50
Meter Test Charge	$75.00	$79.00

A feeling of thankfulness this holiday season

Shelf Notes
Ruthie Maslin

As we find ourselves in this season of thankfulness and celebration, nearing the close of this most difficult of years, I find myself reflecting more and more. Reflecting, remembering, reimagining, reframing, and, in many cases even reinventing.

This state of mind and spirit I find myself in these days reminds me of that famous passage from Shakespeare's play, The Tempest. One of the main characters, Miranda, has been stuck on an isolated island for much of her life with only her father and his servant. It's a long, complicated story of treachery and revenge, but eventually, more people are shipwrecked on the same island. When young Miranda sees them, she also experiences a moment of reframing her perception of the world around her.

"O, wonder!" She exclaims. "How beauteous mankind is! O brave new world, that has such people in't!"

In many ways, 2020 has felt a bit like being in exile like Prospero and his daughter Miranda in The Tempest. Yet somehow it feels really important to me that we cling to that capacity to allow moments of wonder move us to reflect, reimagine, and even reframe our current circumstances.

This week's first real snowfall was such a moment for me. To wake up and look out the front door, the early morning still dark, the snow falling so silently, so steadily, so . . . normally. I was suddenly reminded that what has been this most "not normal" of years won't last forever.

What remains when this time has passed will certainly be different. Something like a pandemic does not leave the world unscathed. But the "essentialness" of those things that are so important to each of us will remain – the joyful memories of those we have lost, the wonder of the first snowfall of the year, the hope that thoughts of a new year brings.

I see that even in the Madison County Public Library. Over the past eight months, we have radically changed many of our service models to accommodate the changes brought on by the pandemic. Yet the essential nature of the public library in the community remains unchanged.

It may sound reductive, but even in non-pandemic years, the past always changes and impacts and modifies what is happening in the here and now. As the library director, I often think how much my own past experiences with libraries of all sorts has imprinted my vision for what this library should be to our community.

My earliest impactful library experience was in my elementary school where I was touched by the kindness of the librarian when I heard her call another kid "angel." I remember thinking how sweet she was to him, and that impressed me. Even though I later learned his name actually was "Angel," that sense of kindness has stuck with me all these years.

When I was in middle school, it was the characteristic of largesse that most impacted me at the library. My very first public library card was from the Orange County Public Library in Orlando, Florida, where my dad was stationed in the Navy. I had a report due for my science class, so my dad took us to the library where I could check out as many books on astronomy (and my favorite topic – black holes) as I could carry. That sense that libraries offer people – adults and kids alike – a grand wealth of books and materials, as much as they can carry, still guides my vision of library service to this day.

In my library at Madison Central High School, my librarians – Dee Parks and Wendy McMaine – showed me the value of access that a library can offer. I spent hours in that library trying to read every fiction book in it, poring over the print volumes of reference materials. In those quiet hours, I honed my desire to access all the information, to read all the books, and I knew that my path to that was through the library.

And finally, in college, I learned the value of community that a library can offer. At the University of Kentucky, I pretty much lived in the old M.I. King Library, with its winding central staircase and low-ceilinged floors crammed with shelves of books. I would stake my claim in one of the battered wooden study carrels on the top floor and immerse myself in the culture and community that sprang up organically from a bunch of disparate people brought together in one spot by a shared interest and need. In those long-ago days before everyone had cell phones, the study carrels were the designated meeting place for my friends and classmates. You could always find someone there who you knew.

I am thankful for those early library experiences and for the impact libraries have had on my life. And I am thankful I live in a community where people value their public library. As I wrap up these ruminations on thankfulness and hope, I want to remind you to check out the last few days of the Annual Little Quilt Show and Auction presented by the Friends of the Madison County Public Library. With more than 40 little quilts and fiber art pieces created and donated by artists in Madison County and beyond, the show offers something for everyone.

The pieces can be viewed online via the library's website at apps.madisonlibrary.org/auction/quilts2020.php. That's also where you can place your bid on your favorite pieces. Each little quilt comes with a copy of the book that inspired it, so they make great holiday gifts for your favorite readers.

The auction ends Friday, December 4, at 5 PM, so be sure to get your bids in right away. Money raised by the auction supports many valuable library programs and services.

Thank you for your continued support and patronage of the Madison County Public Library, even through all the strangeness and changes that 2020 has brought.

I hope to see you soon at the library – online or in person!

Cats searching for answers after two straight losses

Kentucky coach John Calipari praised Kansas for its ability to defeat the Wildcats Tuesday night.

Following a disappointing 76-64 setback to Richmond Sunday, the Wildcats dropped a 65-62 loss to No. 7 Kansas in the State Farm Champions Classic at Bankers Life Fieldhouse in Indianapolis. The Jayhawks (2-1) fended off Calipari's squad despite shooting 29 percent from the field, including a 23 percent clip from the 3-point line.

"If I was (Kansas coach) Bill Self, I would be so happy, because my team was held to 29 percent from the floor and 23 percent from the three and we win. I love those games — just a slog it out (contest)," Calipari said.

Kansas did most of its damage in the second half and took advantage of Kentucky's inability to make shots. The Wildcats shot just 26 percent in the final half and connected on just two 3-pointers on 14 attempts from behind the arc. Kentucky (1-2) went through long stretches without a field goal, which proved costly down the stretch.

"They punked us," Calipari said. "We couldn't even bring in the ball. All they did was went after people, and guys (thought) it just wasn't all that important. We have to learn."

Snow arrival a reminder to stay safe

By Tom Latek
Kentucky Today

FRANKFORT (KT) — Parts of Berea, Madison County and central and eastern Kentucky saw their first snowfall of the season, anywhere from 1-4 inches, so it's appropriate that Dec. 1-7 has been designated Winter Weather Awareness Week in the state.

Each year, dozens of Americans die due to exposure to the cold, according to Kentucky Emergency Management. Even more, winter weather-related fatalities occur in vehicle accidents, fires caused by heaters or due to carbon monoxide poisoning from the improper use of generators during power outages.

"Winter Weather Awareness Week is the perfect time to prepare yourself, families, communities, schools and business for the upcoming winter season," said Gov. Andy Beshear.

"We urge Kentuckians to look out for themselves, their families and their communities during this pandemic to protect one another, and we should all be taking steps now to keep our families safe during extreme weather."

Winter tips

Some preparation tips from the National Weather Service:

Build a kit

Build an emergency kit with a three-day supply of food, water and medicine, along with the essential necessities a family will need in the event of a prolonged power outage when travel may not be possible.

Prepare

Know the severe weather risks your community faces and monitor forecasts. When a winter storm is in the forecast, communicate with family members so you know their locations and travel plans.

Make sure all family members can get emergency alerts.

Winterize your vehicles

Winterize your vehicles. While the best idea is to stay home during the winter, sometimes that is not possible.

Winterize your vehicle now, while the weather is warmer, and keep an emergency kit in your vehicle.

Weather conditions can vary greatly within short distances, so make sure to check the forecast and road conditions along your route of travel.

Road conditions and additional snow and ice information from the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet can be found at https://transportation.ky.gov/sites/snowky.

"Building a weather-ready community starts at home," said Michael Dossett, the Kentucky Emergency Management director.

"One of the most effective ways families can prepare for inclement weather or any disaster event is to build an emergency kit.

"Follow that activity by making a family emergency plan."

Christmas miracle?

Beshear: Two vaccines could be coming to state in mid-December

FRANKFORT (KT) - Gov. Andy Beshear announced on Monday that two vaccines currently being evaluated by the federal government could be available in Kentucky as soon as mid-December.

"We believe that we are going to get our first allocation of Pfizer vaccines as early as mid-December," Beshear said. "This will all depend on when it gets initial approval, and then the shipping occurs. We believe we could get the first allocation of the Moderna vaccine as early as two weeks after we get the Pfizer vaccine."

Although the initial allocation is less than what the federal government initially proposed, the Governor still called this outstanding news.

"We will receive in our first shipment of Pfizer vaccine 38,025 doses," he stated. "We are locking this week our plan to the federal government we will be ready on moment one to provide these vaccines."

That means initial distribution will go to two groups, 26,000 doses to long-term care residents and staff first, followed by the remaining 12,000 to front-line COVID-19 health care workers. Beshear said they are still finalizing where the initial doses will go, but the vaccines will be distributed across the state.

"We are projected to get 76,700 Moderna vaccinations in our first shipment, which we hope is in late December," he said. "We are going to be ready. We believe the federal government is going to agree to this plan, and I think it's going to be their recommendation as well."

He said the state is participating in a distribution dry run this week, with the two pharmaceutical companies sending an empty shipping container and ancillary kit to the University of Kentucky Medical Center, which they should receive between Wednesday and Friday.

"It's a test to make sure that the logistical part of us getting the vaccines from the federal government upon ordering them is going to work and work smoothly," the governor said.

In addition to the first two groups mentioned, the state's distribution priorities will then be other essential workers, such as teachers; then to those 65 and older, as well as people with other underlying health conditions, as the vaccines are available.

"There is an extensive process in play here. First of all, these companies had to build these vaccines, they had to do the research, they had to demonstrate that they were safe," said State Public Health Commissioner Dr. Steven Stack.

"Concurrently, we've had to consider how we will use these vaccines when very small quantities are available at the beginning, but there are many, many people who need the vaccine. The CDC's Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices is going to have an emergency meeting tomorrow to further refine their recommendations."

Stack added, "There is a bright light at the end of the tunnel, but we're not out of the woods yet. If we all mask up and socially distance, we can buy our hospitals the time they need."

Automobile license renewals can be obtained at drive.ky.gov or can be done by mail. Additionally, Barger stated drop boxes that had been employed for election ballots will now be used to drop off license renewals and other documents. Barger noted that the Deed Room at the court house will remain open, however.

Barger made the announcement during a recent teleconference meeting of the Madison County Fiscal Court, noting he was concerned the county might have "pressed its luck" in serving approximately 19,000 walk-in voters for the three weeks running up to the general election. He expressed surprise that no county workers have reported contracting the virus so far.

According to Barger, several clerk's offices around the Commonwealth have been closed since spring because of the pandemic. Estill County's office is currently closed, he added. By curtailing walk-in traffic now in Madison County, COVID-19 infections among the clerk's office staff can possibly be avoided. Otherwise, the county might have to shut the office down for an extended period if there is an outbreak, Barger said.

"That's news I don't want to deliver," Barger said of closing the Berea office and restricting walk-in traffic in Richmond. "I think if we don't do something, we're going to be closed for two or three weeks."

In other action, the fiscal court unanimously approved an ordinance to raise the fees at Battlefield Golf Course.

The last time the rate schedule was adjusted was 2016, according to officials. Cart fees will increase from $5.30 to $6.00, and cart fees for 18 holes will increase from $10.60 to $12. The senior rate for 18 holes with a cart will increase from $21.20 to $23, and the standard 18 hole rate will go up $23.32 to $27. The cost of all the seasonal passes will be raised $100. The proposal was unanimously adopted.

Concerning road maintenance, the court approved an ordinance to enter into a memorandum of understanding with the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet to receive funds for slide repairs on Carver's Ferry Road. The county will receive $55,473 in discretionary funds from the state.

"I appreciate the fact that we can get some money to help on Carver's Ferry Road. There are quite a few houses on that road to out in the country the way it is and it's well traveled, so I appreciate the state letting us have this money," said Magistrate Roger Barger.

"I'm very thankful for the relationship that we have with the state transportation cabinet and Secretary Gray," Judge/Executive Reagan Taylor said. "We really appreciate them helping us. Bobby Joe Lewis is our commissioner, and he's doing a wonderful job, so we're thankful."

Also approved last week was a contract for professional services to conduct the five-year update of the Madison County Comprehensive Plan. The firm of Tailor Siefker Williams Design Group, LLC was awarded the contract for $40,800.

Meanwhile, the court also approved a contract with CKSM , Inc. to replace a sewer line and flooring in the Emergency Operations Center in Richmond. The $97,000 job will take place on the first floor of the facility. Officials said the repair is needed due to a settling sewer line, which has caused plumbing backflows.

In other business, the court approved a mutual aid agreement with the Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government and Madison County.

The agreement stipulates the governmental bodies will provide aid to the other in the event of an emergency, including such aid such as fire suppression and rescue services, manpower in the EOC, additional law enforcement and various equipment.

In personnel matters, the Madison County Road Department hired Shane Thornton as a CDL Driver general laborer.

welding, and industrial maintenance instruction. The school will be located close to the AppHarvest facility, which is currently under construction. Prior to the pandemic, completion time was projected to be August 2021. That could now run into 2022, depending on the weather, officials said. Work on a 65,000 square-foot Area Technology Center is currently under construction in Richmond.

Owsley Fork update

In other news, Berea city officials announced progress is also being made toward the beginning of the Owsley Fork Dam upgrade. In addition to working on an emergency action plan for the region, which would be necessary for the plan's final approval, city officials are also working on a survey for the possible relocation of the Levi Park family cemetery, which is near the construction site. Mayor Bruce Fraley thanked Berea City Councilman Jim Davis for volunteering his time to consult on that element of the project.

So far, other facets of the project are going in the right direction, according to Berea City Administrator David Gregory. "Overall we are pleased with the forward progress being made in completing the design work and moving towards construction. We will be presenting the 90% in 2021, which will move us toward our goal to present the final design by June 2021. Once approval is granted, construction could begin in the fall of 2021," Gregory said. Construction is estimated to take 18 months.

The plan includes raising the dam by a height of 6.3 feet at a cost of approximately $12 million. The current capacity of the reservoir is 650 million gallons, and the improvements will increase the facility's capacity to hold one billion gallons. Officials have said the upgraded dam is expected to meet the regions water needs until 2050.

City pool proposal

In other action, the council heard from Gregory on the status of a proposal to turn maintenance of Berea City Pool over to a private contractor. The city received one bid for pool maintenance for $139,750 for May to September, then $600 per month for when the facility is closed. Councilmembers Emily LaDouceur and Steve Caudill expressed concern about turning the hiring of lifeguards over to a private contractor, noting that Berea youths have traditionally been hired to manage the pool. Meanwhile, Councilman David Rowlette urged city leaders to consider keeping the pool open as late as October so that local youths use it after school hours. Gregory suggested a possible work session on the topic prior to the scheduled Dec. 15 business session.

Budget amended

In other action, the council unanimously adopted a budget amendment for fiscal year 2020-2021. The revised budget includes a total governmental fund balance of $14.2 million; total amended revenues of $13.5 million and amended expenditures of $14.2 million.

Councilman Ronnie Terrill asked if the requested 1.7 percent pay increase for city staff will be in employee paychecks in time for Christmas.

Gregory confirmed the increase will be included. The amended budget includes funding for support of the Berea Police Department, including new cruisers, body cameras, and money to put additional officers on the street with the aid matching federal grants. Audit and Finance Chair Steve Caudill thanked Finance Director Susan Meeks and Gregory for their efforts in submitting the revised budget.

Cherry Road progress

In other developments, Gregory revealed the city is moving forward on a storm sewer rehabilitation project for Cherry Road, O'Donnell Lane and Chestnut Court. Gregory said the city expects to open bids for the project on Dec. 15, and there was a pre-bid conference meeting on the project on Tuesday. Gregory said the city will begin construction on Cherry Road, move on to O'Donnell Lane, then to Chestnut Court. The neighborhoods that will benefit from the project have been plagued with storm water flooding in recent years.

The next council meeting is set for Dec. 15.

Southern jumped on top of Woodford on the strength of a 25-yard scoring toss from Cole Carpenter to Jonah Farnstrom for a 7-0 first-quarter lead.

Minutes later, Farnstrom raced 29 yards for Southern's second score of the night as the lead increased to 14-0.

Woodford County rallied in the second quarter to take a 15-14 halftime lead. The two teams battled to a stalemate in the third quarter before Woodford tacked on a fourth-quarter touchdown to push the lead to 21-14.

With the clock against them, Southern responded in the closing minutes by scoring nine points. Walt Smith jump-started the scoring by hauling in a long pass to the Woodford 5-yard line. Moments later, Smith scored with just over a minute left on the clock.

Southern elected to go for the two-point conversions but fell short, setting the stage for a dramatic finish.

Following a successful onsides kick, Southern quickly drove into field goal range, and Duerson trotted out and booted the game-winner.

The thrill of victory was cut short, however, when the Madison County School system announced on social media that Southern would have to bow out of the playoffs because of Covid-19.

In part, the Twitter announcement read, "(Southern's season) was cut short due to positive tests among staff and players. Great season for a great group (of) student-athletes. Proud of their hard work and determination."

The Eagles were scheduled to travel to Covington Catholic (CC) to face off in third round of the state high school playoffs. Last season, CC beat Southern, 49-9, in the region championship game.

County COVID-19 death toll reaches 20

By Keith Taylor
Citizen Publisher

Madison County remains in the red zone because of a high number of COVID-19 cases reported during the past week. The Madison County Health Department listed 107 new cases on Tuesday for an average of 74.2 per day.

Another death was reported on Monday. Since the pandemic began in March, 20 Madison County residents have lost their lives because of the coronavirus. The weekend count in Madison County (Friday-Sunday) was 163 cases and one death.

The county reported its highest number of cases on Nov. 16 with more than 140, while more than 120 cases were listed in the county on Nov. 27.

On Tuesday, Kentucky Governor Andy Beshear said the COVID-19 infection rate appears to be slowing in the state but he's concerned about hospital capacity in several regions of the state.

Progress made on pavilion

By Andy McDonald
For The Citizen

There's been progress on the City of Berea's multi-use pavilion, located at the intersection of Chestnut Street and Mt. Vernon Road.

Berea City Administrator David Gregory reports Omni Construction has begun the process of milling the parking lot and installing silt fencing, while crews have begun working on electrical wiring for the facility as well as installing water lines. Meanwhile, the contractor has ordered two shade structures, which will be installed near the pavilion, Gregory said. The shades are 80 feet by 16 feet and 40 feet by 16 feet, respectively. They will enable some farmers to back their trucks into stalls for the market.

> "The project is still on schedule for a May completion."
> David Gregory, City Administrator

So far, it seems everything is going according to plan. "The project is still on schedule for a May completion," Gregory reported. "Hopefully soon we will see one of the light poles removed, and debris being moved." Gregory added he anticipates crews will begin working on the foundation for the pavilion in the near future.

Mayor Bruce Fraley stated one goal is to ensure the pavilion can be occupied by next spring. Currently, the Berea Farmer's Market is operating inside the former Tolle Building on Saturdays. "Hopefully we'll be able to get it open in time next year for the Berea Farmer's Market and it will be a multi-use pavilion, so we'll be looking forward to that," Fraley said.

They've been workin' on the Railroad

Employees with CSX Railroad have been busy making repairs to the tracks at the railroad crossing on Walnut Meadow Road this week. The road was closed to traffic on Monday and was scheduled to re-open to the public Wednesday. Motorists were required to take an alternate route on the Berea Bypass and Menelaus Road back on to Walnut Meadow Road or take the Berea Bypass and US 25. The City of Berea Public Works Department assisted CSX Railroad with directional and detour signage.

Saint Joseph Berea Foundation

Deskins named top physcian

The Saint Joseph Berea Foundation recently recognized its 2021 Physician of the Year award recipient. Jason Deskins, DO, of Inez, who specializes in emergency medicine, was presented the 2021 Physician of the Year award during a virtual ceremony.

Jason Deskins

The Foundation annually recognizes one outstanding Physician of the Year at Saint Joseph Berea who demonstrates the core values of reverence, integrity, compassion and excellence. Dr. Deskins was nominated by Etta Bush, a nurse from Saint Joseph Berea.

"No matter the situation, Dr. Deskins always listens to the patient and staff and addresses all concerns in a caring, compassionate manner," said Bush. "He always takes time to educate the patient about their diagnosis and addresses the patient and family concerns."

Dr. Deskins grew up in Inez and says he knew he wanted to be a physician in the third grade after his best friend's mother, a nurse, let him wear a lab coat to school for career day. He says he always knew he wanted to help people in life and admired the way doctors could accomplish that.

After completing his education at both the University of Kentucky and the Pikeville College of Osteopathic Medicine, Dr. Deskins joined the Saint Joseph Berea team.

His colleagues say Deskins has continued this tradition of putting patients' needs ahead of his own, especially during the COVID-19 pandemic, and treating his patients like family.

OBITUARIES ... CONTINUED ON A3

Beverly Eads

Beverly Sue Woodyard Eads, 85 of Berea, went home to be with the Lord whom she loved, on Saturday, Nov. 28, 2020. She was born on December 25, 1934 in Cincinnati, Ohio to the late Chester Ray Woodyard and Anna Elizabeth Smitha Woodyard.

In addition to her parents, she was also preceded in death by one daughter, Robin Sue Partin (who passed away on November 29, 2020), one grandson, Jason Partin, one brother, Gordon Walters, and two sisters, Rayanna Woodyard Cavin and Lois Woodyard Bisping.

She was a loving and devoted wife to Harold for 68 years. They were united in marriage on April 18, 1952. She worked as the secretary for Eads Fence Company, which her husband Harold started in Madison County more than 50 years ago. One of her greatest jobs was being a pastors wife. She was always a friend to anyone who needed one, and worked tirelessly alongside her husband at the The Holy Sanctuary Church in Berea. She was always so approachable with her big smile and outgoing personality. The young people of the church and new Christians, always felt at ease to talk with her as she gave them advice and encouragement on living for the Lord.

Sue is survived by her husband, Pastor Harold Eads; one son, Gordon Ray Eads and his wife Charlotte Clontz Eads of Richmond, KY; one daughter, Harolyn Hope and her husband Paul Edward Osborne of Berea; seven grandchildren, Gordon Britt Eads, Rev. Harold (Achee) William Eads, Whitney Osborne Simpson, Derrick Edward Osborne, Shawn Partin, and David Partin; ten great grandchildren, Brittany Eads, Britton Eids, Braiden Eads, Kobe Eads, Grayson Eads, Nathanael Eads, McKenzie Eads, Hunter Partin, Mykayla Jump, and Jace Partin; also her son-in-law, Earl Michael Partin of West Chester, Ohio.

Funeral services were held on Monday, December 7, 2020 at noon. Rev. Harold (Achee) William Eads and Tyler Simpson officiated. Burial followed in Madison County Memorial Gardens.

Hazel Cates

Hazel Cates, 81, daughter of the late Boyd Cates Sr, and Margaret Abner Cates, passed away on Nov. 28, 2020 at her home in Berea. Hazel was a homemaker and the babysitter for all of her nieces and nephews growing up. Hazel was preceded in death by her brother Carl Douglas Cates and infant brother Harold Cates.

Hazel is survived by her siblings: Lloyd (Wanda) Cates, Rubin Ray Kates, Boyd Jr. (Doris) Cates, Kathleen (William) Shearer, and Eliza (Delbert) Crutcher, and her many nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were Saturday Dec. 5, 2020 and she was buried at the Johnny Abner Family Cemetery at Mallory Springs. Due to current state mandates all services will be private. Lakes Funeral Home is handling arrangements.

Juanita Bray Holt

Juanita Bray Holt, wife of Blondagn Holt, passed away on Monday Nov. 30, 2020 at the UK Medical Center in Lexington. Juanita was born in Somerset, KY to the late Ruben Bray and Dora Faucher Cook. She was a homemaker and loving mother. She is preceded in death by her husband Blondagn Holt.

Juanita is survived by her children: Brenda (Roger) Casarez, Judy Luttrell, Billy (Connie) Holt, Sandra (Sam) Taylor, Doug Holt, and Randy Holt. Her sisters: Dorothy Shepherd, Barbara Elam, Sue Scott, her grandchildren: Melissa House, Eric Norman, Heather Taylor, Adam Holt, Daniel Holt, Kyle Holt, Brandon Holt, and Chandler Holt and 13 great-grandchildren.

Services for Juanita will take place on Friday Dec 4, 2020 and entombment will be in the Berea Cemetery Mausoleum. Due to current state mandates all services are private. Lakes Funeral Home is handling funeral arrangements.

Dorothy Faye Turner

Dorothy Faye Turner, 68 of Berea, passed away Wednesday, December 2, 2020.

A Jackson County native, she was born to the late Estill and Opal Parrett Adkins. Dorothy spent the last forty-nine years being affectionately loved by her surviving husband, James Turner.

Also surviving her are two children, Donnie (Melinda) Turner, and Jennifer (Tommy) Rowland. Four brothers, Oscar (Betty) Adkins, Pleaz (Doris) Adkins, Jerry Adkins, Glenn Adkins. Two sisters, Ann (Jack) Gadd, and Betty (Billy) Welch. Seven grandchildren, Andrew, Evan, Brittney, Thomas, Wyatt, Shelbie, and Cheyenne; and two great grandchildren, Mckoy and Jaxon. In addition to her parents, Dorothy was proceeded in death by two sisters, the late Edith Adkins (infant), and the late Earlene (Elbert) Lamb.

Family, friends, and neighbors' kids knew Dorothy for her compassion for others and concern about if they had enough to eat. Her kitchen was always ready to feed a hungry soul. She loved life and was especially fond of red birds paying a visit. Dorothy was of the Baptist faith and will missed by many friends, extended family and those her life touched.

Services for Dorothy took place on Sunday December 6, 2020 and burial followed in the Pilot Knob Cemetery. Due to current state mandates all services are private. Lakes Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Ernest "Spot" Jennings

Ernest Jackson "Spot" Jennings of Cartersville, Kentucky, passed on to our Lord and Savior on Nov. 25 at the Hospice Care Center in Hazard, Kentucky, after a long battle with a progressive neurological disease.

Ernest "Spot" Jennings was born in Cartersville, Kentucky, to Howard and Flossie Jennings. He grew up on the family farm and attended Paint Lick High School, where he was a valuable member of the baseball team. After high school, Spot served in the National Guard. He graduated from Middle Tennessee College whereafter he joined the Army as a lieutenant. This led him to his career as an Officer in the U.S. Army where he attended flight school and discovered his passion as a pilot.

While in the Army, Spot lived and visited all over the United States and overseas. He was stationed at Darmstadt, Germany, Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, Washington, Pennsylvania, and Ft. Rucker, Alabama, for example. From 1975 to mid 1976, He was stationed in South Korea on border security detail. During his career, Spot served as a pilot in Vietnam with distinction. He was shot down twice while serving and was credited with saving many ground soldier's lives. Later in his career, Spot flew helicopters, becoming a flight instructor in Fort Campbell, Kentucky. During his service, he was awarded the distinguished Flying Cross and received multiple Air Medals. He was a proud Veteran and could often be seen wearing his Vietnam Vet Hat, DA NANG.

Spot retired from the US Army in 1986, returning to Garrard County, Kentucky, to build a beautiful home on the family farm, which he enjoyed throughout his retirement. He served on the Garrard County Soil Conservation Board for several years. He liked to travel and spent time in Africa, on the Serengeti Plains, with his high-speed Nikon camera. As those who knew him can attest, Spot had a profound love of golf, working at the Master's Tournament in Augusta, Georgia, for many years, and even building a Par 1 in his front yard.

He is survived by his beloved daughter, Jacqueline "Chelle" Jennings McManus (William McManus), of Gulf Breeze, Florida, to whom he left a strong appreciation and respect for nature, an invaluable wealth of knowledge and unconditional love. "Dad loved to smile, laugh and tell jokes and stories. He also loved to teach and share his wisdom!"

In addition, Spot is survived by one brother, Carl (Dora Lynn) Jennings of Winchester, Kentucky; a special aunt, Jean (Donald) Lamb of Berea, Kentucky; and other close relatives, friends, and loving aunts, uncles, cousins, nieces, nephews, grand-nieces and grand-nephews plus the dearest loves of his life, his two grandchildren, Ryan Alexander McManus, a Junior at the University of The Cumberlands and Emma Grace McManus, a Junior at Gulf Breeze High School.

Spot was preceded in death by his parents, Howard and Flossie Jennings, of Cartersville, Kentucky; his sister and brother-in-law, Muff and Roger M. Oliver, of Berea, Kentucky; and many other close friends and family.

Due to the pandemic, a private visitation will be held for family members on Friday, December 11, 2020, at Lakes Funeral Home, limited to 25 persons. A private burial will follow at the Robinson Cemetery in Cartersville with full military honors. Live streamed funeral services will begin at 1 p.m. on Friday. The family very much appreciates the expressions of sympathy received. In lieu of flowers, they request donations to be made to alzheimers.org, in honor of Mr. Ernest Jackson "Spot" Jennings.

George Wilson Alspaugh

At the age of 95, George Wilson Alspaugh left this life on December 6, 2020 to go home to his Lord and Savior. He is survived by his wife of 70 years, Ruth Butler Alspaugh, daughters Betsy Alspaugh and Alex Kapela of Hawaii, Andrea (Andy) and David Billings of Berea, Grandchildren Hannah and Mitchell King of Berea, Sarah and Chris Hogg of Lexington and Brent Billings of Berea. The pride and joy of his life, after watching his grandchildren grow up, was his great grandchildren, Savannah Grace and Haley Madison King, Sadie Elizabeth and Bennett Milo Hogg. Also surviving are many nieces and nephews spread out all over the globe.

George was born in Hamburg, Arkansas to Linnie and C.M. Alspaugh. He grew up and graduated from Smackover High School. He and his brother Harold spent some time working in Colorado Springs, CO at the Antlers Hotel then he went on to the Elgin Watch Making School in Peoria, IL. After graduation he worked for Bob Elliott & Son Jeweler and Payne Jeweler in Magnolia, AR. George and Ruth married June 18, 1950 and later opened Alspaugh Jewelry in Stephens, Arkansas. He was active in the small community as a Volunteer Fireman and a member of the Masonic Lodge.

After selling the jewelry store, he went to work for Louisiana Ordnance Plant and then Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. where he worked in several states. He retired in 1985 while living in Columbia, Tennessee. They moved back to Kentucky in 2004.

He is preceded in death by his parents, a sister Ruth Kathryn Odum, brothers David, William and Harold and nephews Paul and Charles Odum. George was the youngest of his immediate family. He was a lifelong Methodist and attended Berea United Methodist Church.

At the present time, there will not be a service. The body will be cremated and to celebrate his life donations can be made to Hospice Care Plus 208 Kidd Dr. Berea, KY 40403, Berea United Methodist Church Building Fund 101 Fee St. Berea, KY 40403 or Aldersgate Camp and Retreat Center 125 Aldersgate Camp Road Ravenna, Ky. 40472.

Avery Vinson Poynter

Avery Vinson Poynter, 52, of Berea, died suddenly Wednesday, December 2, 2020 of complication of Covid-19. He was a Berea native, son of David and Shirley Burdine Poynter, graduate of Lexington Vocational School having completed a degree as a Certified EMT. After graduation he served as an ambulance driver and was also a printing company owner and operator. He was a member of the Baptist Faith.

Vince's favorite hobby was mud racing and he would say "The more mud the better." He won many races and received numerous trophies for his efforts.

In addition to his parents he is survived by numerous relatives and friends.

In accordance with the current Covid-19 mandates, all services were private for immediate family only. All individuals attending must wear mask or facial covering and observe social distancing. Pallbearers were Jeffrey Poynter, Glen Poynter, Barry Poynter, Greg Poynter, Donnie Ray Poynter, Sharon Poynter-Shook. Burial followed in Berea Cemetery.

Reppert Funeral Home and Cremation Service entrusted with arrangements.

Russell Lee Poynter

Russell Lee Poynter, 83, of Berea, died suddenly Saturday, December 5, 2020 at Baptist Health Richmond of complications of Covid-19. He was a Boone Gap native (Rockcastle County) born February 24, 1937, son of the late Laney and Agnes Lambert Poynter, U. S. Army veteran, retired carpenter, farmer, member of Fairview Baptist Church and a life-long resident of Rockcastle County.

Russell loved gardening and was especially generous with the vegetables from what he called his community garden. He loved children and was known as Grandpa by his nieces, nephews, great-nieces and great-nephews. He was well known as "the man on the porch who waves at everyone" that passes his home.

Survivors include one brother, David (Shirley) Poynter; as well as numerous nieces, nephews, great-nieces, great-nephews, relatives and friends. In addition to his parents he was preceded in death by 8 brothers, Warren, Clayton, Marion, Robert, Delbert, Laney, George and Donald.

In accordance with the current Covid-19 mandates, the Graveside Service at Fairview Cemetery will be private for immediate family only. All individuals attending must wear mask or facial covering and observe social distancing. Pallbearers were: Weston Mobley, Robert Gabbard, Donnie Davidson, Aaron Mobley, Chad Croucher, Tim Alexander, Mike Alexander, Bob Alexander.

Reppert Funeral Home and Cremation Service entrusted with arrangements.

Community coverage taking shape

Some things have changed a little bit in this week's edition and we have added some new features for you to enjoy.

A couple of weeks ago, we began looking for columnists to write for us and cover the communities throughout Madison County and also includes Kirksville, Paint Lick, Waco and other pockets in the county.

Almost immediately, Carrie Grant of Kirksville reached out and her column makes its debut in this week's edition. Carrie grew up in the Round Hill area and is familiar with everything happening in Round Hill.

Keith Taylor

I pretty much grew up in Round Hill and spent a lot of time there as a child. Many of you may remember my late grandfather, JB "Bill" May, who was known as the "Mayor" of Round Hill.

I always loved visiting "store" in Round Hill and riding the roads with my grandfather, who worked for Dr. Coy and his family, raising cattle and tobacco.

I enjoyed Carrie's first column and I think you will too and it appears on page A8. We have moved the reflections to that page as well as Roger Alford's popular column and have moved the church directory to page A9 with the calendar items. We will be alternating the churches listed from week to week.

If you are interested in becoming a community contributor, send me an email at publisher@bereacitizen.net.

• We also debut the weekly University of Kentucky sports page in this week's edition, which includes a schedule and other timely features on the Wildcats.

It's a pet project of mine that I've worked on for a few months and wanted to get it up and going into the heart of the basketball season.

Speaking of Kentucky Basketball, our condolences to the family of Billy Evans, who passed away recently. Billy played for Adolph Rupp and was a gold medalist. He played for and graduated from the Berea Foundation and not Berea High as was referenced in a recent story.

• We are always striving to improve our product and looking for ways to entertain our readers as we navigate this ongoing pandemic that I hope comes to an end very soon.

Vaccine safe, effective

By Donna K. Arnett

Nearly nine months since the word "coronavirus" entered our vocabulary, hope may be on the horizon in the form of multiple effective Covid-19 vaccines. It's too early to declare the global pandemic done – and we must not let up on practicing basic public health measures like mask-wearing, physical distancing, and handwashing.

But now is the time for everyone to prepare for the arrival of vaccine options – by getting educated, making plans to be vaccinated, and understanding the importance of widespread vaccine uptake if we are ever to return to pre-pandemic life.

What you should know

Covid-19 vaccine development has been fast – but that does not mean that researchers have cut corners when it comes to safety. Traditionally, vaccines can take years to develop, test, and market. But through projects like Operation Warp Speed in the U.S., and global efforts by the World Health Organization, the Covid-19 vaccine development process has been "supercharged" by plentiful funding and guaranteed purchase orders for effective vaccines. With thousands of researchers focused simultaneously on vaccine development, administrators moving paperwork forward at top speed, and clinical trials finding eager participants, Covid-19 vaccine development has advanced quickly, but carefully.

Right now, the Federal Drug Administration (FDA) – the gold-standard drug and vaccine regulatory authority in the world – is closely studying the safety, quality, and effectiveness of vaccines before approving distribution to the U.S. population. The FDA is staffed by career scientists and non-political appointees, whose chief concern is the health and safety of the American people. In the U.S., we can expect to see multiple vaccines made available. The clinical trials performed on the first vaccines likely to be approved – mRNA vaccines from Pfizer and Moderna – have shown the vaccines to be highly effective, with a strong safety profile. What all the vaccines have in common is they cannot give you COVID-19.

Positioned to lead

Leaders of local health departments, who already have relationships with local employers, organizations, and faith communities, are well-positioned to lead in vaccine education and advocacy. They must do so with particular attention to the concerns of the most vulnerable communities. In Kentucky, as across the U.S., African American and Hispanic populations have suffered disproportionately high rates of Covid-19 infection and deaths – but studies show members of these groups are skeptical about vaccine safety. That's understandable. Unethical experiments like the infamous Tuskegee Study cast a long, dark shadow over the history of minority communities and health research. For this reason, public health practitioners must listen carefully to these communities. It is essential that all populations – especially those that have been traditionally marginalized – have their voices heard and their concerns addressed throughout the development and implementation of Covid-19 vaccination plans.

Last week, Gov. Andy Beshear announced that Kentucky will prioritize delivery of the first batch of vaccines to health care workers and high-risk populations in long-term care facilities. Dr. Keith Knapp, a member of our College faculty, is taking a leading role in vaccination planning for Kentucky long-term care facilities. Following distribution to health care workers and long-term care residents, we expect the vaccine will available to other groups.

Vaccination plan

As we prepare for vaccines to be made available, I urge every Kentuckian to make a vaccination plan – consult with your healthcare provider, learn when and where you may be able to access a vaccine, and how many doses you will take based on the vaccine formula. Seek information from reliable sources – your local health department, the Kentucky Department for Public Health, your healthcare provider, and federal agencies like the FDA and CDC. Beware misinformation that may thrive on social media. And consider that when you make the decision to be vaccinated, you won't just be helping yourself – you'll be doing your part to protect the most vulnerable people in your circle. Vaccinate for you. Vaccinate for your loved ones. Vaccinate for Kentucky.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Poem: 'What Christmas Really Means'

A Long Time Ago In A Place So Far Away
A Child Was Born On Christmas Day
He Was Wrapped In Swaddling Clothes And Laid In A Manger
GOD'S Greatest Gift To Us "JESUS Our Savior"
Three Wise Men Presented HIM With Precious Gifts Of Gold, Myrrh, and Frankincense
But Their Precious Gifts Could Never Touch
The Greatest Gift "That GOD Gave Us"
Today We Forget The True Meaning Of Christmas
It's Not The Time To Write Down Your Gift List Nor For Telling The Story Of Santa Clause Nor For Wrapping Up Those Barbie Dolls
But It's A Time Of Tender Loving Care
For That Little Heart In Despair
So Give To Those Who Have Need
Then You'll Know What Christmas Really Means

Word on the streets

"Have you taken any extra precautions for the cold weather we may experience?

Jamie Wagers

"We're ready for it. I just hope we don't have a lot of bad weather."

Tristan Brothers

"I'll be replacing some of the insulation on our outer doors. I got better tires on the car and got my windshield treated with Rain-x."

Jamie Alcorn

"I had the tires checked. And we had our chimney and gas logs checked and serviced."

OBITUARIES

Homer "Bill" Pierce Sulfridge

Homer "Bill" Pierce Sulfridge was born March 18th, 1942 to the late Hobert Sulfridge and the late Minnie Jane Sulfridge. After Bill's father passed the day after Christmas in 1945 in the Four Mile Coal Mine explosion, Bill's mother, Minnie, took Bill and his 5 siblings to Cincinnati, OH to find work. At a young age, Bill dropped out of high school to support his mother and younger sister, Patricia "Trish" Kriege (Richard Kriege). He took care of them, along with his older sister, Pauline "Pod" Martin (L.G. Martin), and even helped with their children as they got older. Later, he volunteered for the Air Force during the Vietnam War Era and was stationed in Spokane, WA, where, according to him, he shoveled snow for 4 years. There, he became great friends with Isidro Alvarez. They were separated by distance after the service but remained great friends. After leaving the service, Bill enrolled in night classes to finish high school and then went on to be the first in his family to go to college and obtain a Bachelor's Degree.

Bill later met the love of his life on a blind date. Joyce Hilton Sulfridge and he married in 1971, allowing them 49 years, 3 months, 19 days together. Their beautiful daughter, Corine Sulfridge, was born in 1975. Two years later, they welcomed her brother, Daniel Sulfridge (Christy Perkins Sulfridge), who was born in 1977. Bill loved and cherished his family; however, the most important relationship he had was with his Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. Christ shaped his life more than anyone else. Bill would often be found reading his Bible on his bed and praying next to it.

As a member and regular attendee of Berea Evangelist Center, Bill gave to those in need, was ready to help whenever he could, and even though at times, he got irritated and grumpy, he always finished anything he started. From a young boy, he was a hard worker. He would work tirelessly Monday through Friday at his job as a Computer Analyst first in Frankfort for the state and later at Eastern Kentucky University where he retired in January 2004. Bill started working on computers when they had "punch cards" and were slow machines that filled up an entire multi-floor building. He left when a more powerful computer was sitting on his desk. After work during the day, he helped his father-in-law, the late James G. Hilton, and his mother-in-law Evelyn Hilton Abbott, on the farm raising tobacco and cattle at night and on the weekends. He was determined to provide for his family and give his wife and children things he never had growing up.

Bill had many names in his life. Born with the name Homer Pierce Sulfridge, as a kid, he insisted on being called "Bill" after a friend and refused to go by anything else. The name stuck into adulthood and his wife would only call him Homer if she was aggravated with him. He then became "Dad" to Corine and Daniel. However, the name that seemed to fit him best and that he enjoyed most was "Papaw."

Eighteen years ago, Bill's first grandson, Matthew, was born to his daughter, Corine. He loved Matthew a great deal, and taught, trained, encouraged, and prayed for him often, just as he did his children. He was Matthew's biggest fan and protector. This led Matthew to consider Bill not just his Papaw, but his dad. Then Bill's first granddaughter, Ziva, was born to Corine, and his heart turned to mush. She had Papaw wrapped around her little finger. When Ziva would want her nails done or her hair brushed, only Papaw could do it. When it seemed Bill's, rough exterior didn't seem like it could soften anymore, his second granddaughter, Xeres, arrived, again to Corine. A small package with more energy and liveliness than the other two have put together, she kept Papaw constantly on his toes.

Finally, he added one more grandson, Lincoln, born his son, Daniel, and daughter-in-law, Christy. Lincoln loved riding in Papaw's truck and being bounced on Papaw's knee, as Papaw looked upon him with joy.

Those that have preceded Bill in death are his siblings, Hasten "Jack" Sulfridge (Roberta Jackson Sulfridge), Eugene Sulfridge (Bobbie Cooper Sulfridge) Loraine Sulfridge Sizemore (Hoover Sizemore) along with nieces and nephews.

Private funeral services were held on Tuesday, December 8, 2020 at Berea Evangelistic Church with Rev. Jeff Osborne officiating. Burial followed in the Berea Cemetery.

Private family visitation was held Monday December 7, 2020 at the church.

Memorial contributions suggested to Berea Evangelistic Church 180 Plaza Dr. Berea, KY 40403.

James "Jimmy Jesse Vaughn, Sr.

James "Jimmy" Jesse Vaughn, Sr., age 68, passed away Wednesday, December 2, 2020, at the Compassionate Care Center in Richmond.

Mr. Vaughn was born October 6, 1952, to the late Jesseand Frances Damrell Vaughn.

He was a machinist for Grummand International in Texas andmade parts for NASA. Mr. Vaughn was a real family man and loved his family dearly. He enjoyed coaching his grandsons Cameron and Hudson in baseball, listening to Hadlee sing, and spending time with his daughter Candace and son Jimmy and their families.

He loved to fish, especially the Gulf of Mexico, when he lived in Texas. Jimmy was an avid U.K. Basketball fan, and enjoyed a good home cooked meal, classic movies, peach pie, politics and talking. Jimmy never met a stranger and it didn't matter who you were or where you came from, he considered you a friend. He was of the Baptist faith.

Other than his parents, Mr. Vaughn was preceded in death by one sone, James "Jimmy" Jesse Vaughn, Jr., a son-in-law Robby Todd, two brothers, Feller Vaughn, Bobby Ray Vaughn, two brothers-in-law, Bo Trone, and Jack Taylor.

Mr. Vaughn is survived by one daughter, Candace Vaughn Todd and her children, Hadlee and Hudson Todd of Berea, KY, grandson CAmeron Vaughn and his wife Nikki and their daughter, Ella Faye Vaughn, of Berea, KY , grandson Garrett Vaughn of Lancaster, KY, siblings Mitzi Richmond, Jeannie Taylor, both of Texas, Amy Trone of Berea, KY, Patricia Knuckles and her husband Ricky of Berea, KY and very close friend Jay Mayne of Berea.

In Accordance with Mr. Vaughn's wishes, he will be creamated and his ashes will be scattered in all of the places he loved.

Private memorial services will be held at 7 p.m. on Monday, December 14, 2020 at Davis and Powell Funeral Home with Rev. Gerald Powell officiating.

PROGRESS

Situated in the parking lot next to the old Mitchell Tolle gallery, the 2,500 square-foot facility is also expected to serve as a venue for concerts and public performances. Additionally, officials are hoping the pavilion can host classes and seminars for University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension, as well as becoming a venue for local artisans to sell their merchandise, Fraley said. The city also plans to make the pavilion available for public use, such as for family reunions and other private events.

The total cost of the facility is estimated to be $565,400, but over 60 percent of the cost will be paid for with government grants.

The City of Berea secured a $250,000 grant from the Governor's Office of Agricultural Policy, and a $100,000 grant from the United States Department of Agriculture Rural Development division.

The balance of the cost will be paid for by the Berea Tourism Commission through the restaurant tax and hotel room fees.

Fraley said the project is ideal because it serves both local residents and visitors. Farmers and consumers from around the region can buy and sell at the facility, boosting the local economy, but it can also draw people from neighboring counties who might then spend their money at other Berea businesses, such as shops and restaurants, Fraley said.

A number of interested parties helped in securing funding for the pavilion, including the City of Berea, Berea Farmer's Market, Berea Tourism Commission, Berea College, Grow Appalachia as well as many citizens and public officials who voiced support for the project when it came up for consideration at the state level. Fraley said that strong local support and cooperation, along with the pavilion's projected impact on the regional economy, helped Berea make a very strong case to secure state and federal funding.

Officials believe the pavilion could be a launch pad for future economic development.

Fraley noted there are several properties still zoned for business on Mt. Vernon Road, which was once a thriving commercial district in Berea. Additionally, the pavilion will eventually be located next to the Berea Welcome and Events Center, formally known as the Tolle gallery, which is a focal point when motorists come into town from Interstate 75. Mayor Fraley also noted the events center will include a large room that can be employed for small conventions, seminars or receptions.

"This will be something attractive, a good way to say 'Welcome to Berea,'" Fraley said. "But it will also be a community asset, a gathering space and event location for decades to come."

COVID

3,114 new cases on Tuesday.

"That's a lot of cases," he said. "It is more than we want. The good news is it's over a thousand cases less than last Tuesday. Again, the growth in cases appears to be slowing. We hope that holds through the rest of the week."

Seven counties had 100 or more new cases. Jefferson with 490, Fayette 170, Warren 130, Pulaski 124, Boyd had 101, and Daviess at an even 100. Kentucky has now had 205,688 positive cases since the first was reported on March 6.

The number of Kentuckians hospitalized rose by 60 to 1,760 on Tuesday, according to Beshear. He also reported 416 people who are in the ICU, an increase of six, while those on a ventilator stood at 207, a drop of three from Monday.

Beshear did sound the alarm because of the increasing number of Kentuckians in the hospital.

"The sheer number of cases results in a certain percentage being hospitalized," he stated. "The more people who need hospitalization, the fewer beds are out there. The staff gets stretched thin. If we go over our hospital capacity, then New York, Texas, Florida, Arizona, all teach us we lose a lot more people."

It's not just people with COVID who are affected, according to the Governor. "If we fill up a hospital with a lot of COVID patients and someone has a heart attack and there's not a bed for them, their odds of surviving are less than if we have that healthcare capacity. It puts us all at risk, even if we are following all we should and staying healthy at home as much as we can."

Beshear said the state's hospitals are divided into 10 regions, seen in a map accompanying this story. A red pin indicates either the regular hospital beds, ICU beds or ventilators that are over 80%, which is a cause for concern. Those regions are in northern, south-central and eastern Kentucky.

While no region is in danger of a shortage of ventilators, "When we look at overall beds, only one area of the state, northern Kentucky, is over 80%, at 87.6%," Beshear said, while noting there is a real concern for ICU beds. "Three areas of our state, four, eight and 10 are currently over 80%. In fact, they are 88%, 95%, and 90%."

He called the situation in those areas, "precarious," but added, there is really good work being done by the hospitals by opening other beds for ICU and pausing elective procedures.

Twenty more deaths were also reported today, bringing the pandemic total to 2,102. "Five of them were under 60 years old," Beshear said.

Level: Intermediate

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Kirksville Chronicles

Roundhill General Store closed as owner battles illness

Most in Kirksville have been missing the Friend family, the Roundhill General Store owners.

As many may know, Mike has been ill for a few months, and the store is closed for now.

With Roundhill General closed, it has been difficult for many to find a close place to visit. Newby Grocery is just a quick drive away, and they are hosting a "Country Christmas" this weekend.

Ashley Hatton, the owner, shared that on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 12-13, the Newby Grocery Country Christmas will have a hot chocolate bar, popcorn stringing kits, and gift baskets with specialty items. Of course, the grocery store has multiple types of gift items for all of us here in Kirksville, Poosey, and Newby that would bring back fond memories of days past and represent landmarks we know and love.

Carrie Grant

In other news, our community has suffered the loss of a great friend, dentist, and story-teller. Dr. Jim Murphy passed away on Nov. 17 at the age of 88. Many may recall Dr. Murphy's family operated Murphy's Grocery across from Kirksville Baptist Church. Dr. Murphy often visited Roundhill General and shared stories of Kirksville's history with visitors and community members. He will be missed!

Many of the area churches are still hosting worship services, but in modified ways due to COVID-19. Kirksville Christian Church has been posting videos of their services on Facebook. Kirksville Baptist Church is still hosting social distanced, masked, in-person services Sunday at 10 a.m. They are streaming the service through the sound system to allow the community to hear. Sunday School lessons are hosted in-person in the sanctuary on Wednesday at 6 p.m. Bro. Hisle said, "We are trying our best to run services and reach people the best we can through this right now."

While there isn't a lot of "news" to share about our community currently, it's business as usual for the time of year in our area.

Deer season seemed to be a fruitful time for many community members- young and old alike! A drive through Kirksville and Poosey, and you can still see farmers tending to their herds and preparing for winter months. Things may change and progress in the world around us, but here in Kirksville, we are just the same small, loving community filled with hard-working, helpful people we have always been.

Earl 'Quick Draw' Adams met Jesus in the nick of time

I laughed when I heard about the inmate who tunneled out of jail and came up across the street in a children's playground.

That inmate popped his head up through the ground and shouted, "I'm free. I'm free."

Roger Alford

A little boy on the monkey bars looked at him and said, "Big deal. I'm four."

That goes to show some people aren't easily impressed. Not so for me. I was beyond impressed when I heard the story about a day in the life of Earl "Quick Draw" Adams, a decorated World War II veteran from Barbourville, Kentucky. The story was related by Jack Sellards, a long-time Barbourville resident and a well-known speaker for Gideons International, the organization of Christian businessmen.

Sellards was leading a Bible study in the local jail when he saw Earl, a bona fide war hero with the medals and ribbons to prove it, sitting among the inmates, listening to his Gospel presentation.

"Tears streamed down Earl's face during the service," Sellards recalled. "A few days later, Earl came to our place of business. When he saw the flag waving in front of the store, Earl clicked his heels together and saluted the flag."

Earl walked in. He and Jack began a conversation that quickly moved to a discussion of things eternal.

"'Earl, have you ever been saved?" Jack asked.

"No."

"Earl, would you like to be saved?"

"When?" Earl asked.

"How about right now?" Jack replied.

Tears splatted on the floor as Earl prayed the sinner's prayer.

A few days later, Earl died.

Earl is remembered as a brave soldier who had fought his way across Europe. He had survived the Battle of the Bulge, the largest and bloodiest single battle fought by the U.S. in WWII. Some 19,000 Americans were killed in that battle, many of them Earl's friends.

Yes, I'm impressed with Earl's story. His is a story of heroism, of a man who had lived with nightmarish memories from the front lines, of a good-natured man who, back home in Barbourville, would often pretend a quick draw when he met friends on the streets.

But I'm totally impressed that, just in the nick of time, Quick Draw made the most important decision of his life.

Reflections

Berea Citizen Archives: Dec. 13, 2012

The year 2012 marked 25 years Berea Firefighters have been providing holiday help for families in need and this year was no exception as they were busy making the holidays special by playing Santa Claus for 108 local children. "We try to help as many people as we can," Berea Fire Chief Roy Curtis said. "Sometimes we can't get all that is on their lists, but we give it our best."

The department worked with the Family Resource Center at Berea Community School to determine families in need of a helping hand. The children made wish lists of the presents they hoped to receive. Then firefighters went to work, trying their hardest to get every item that were on those lists. This annual project was funded by a golf scramble, private donations and proceeds from soda machines located within City of Berea buildings.

Firefighters unloaded the toys and gifts they had previously purchased or had been donated local businesses and factories. From there, items remaining on the lists were given consideration for purchase by firefighters.

The 91-year-old structure that houses Union Church welcomed congregations back through its doors on December 9th after being closed for renovations. Adding to the excitement of the day were the 67 mid-year graduates of Berea College and their families who joined the service prior to the commencement ceremony slated for later that afternoon. While the weather outside was drab and rainy, the atmosphere inside was filled with light and love. Founded 159 years prior, the building that houses Union Church was officially known as Church of Christ Union and had been Berea landmark for 91 years. The chapel at Union Church was only 30 years old at the time of renovation.

However, age, mold and water had taken their toll on the structure. The need for repair, as well as a need to upgrade came at a cost of $1.5 million dollars and were overseen by church administrator, Dave Kobersmith. With upgrades to heating cooling, installation of more efficient LED lighting, the facility was able to significantly reduce its carbon footprint. Even though significant space improvements were made, the physical structure remained unchanged. During the renovation period, all services and activities normally held at Union Church were held at Presser Hall Music Building in Gray Auditorium.

Berea's featured artist of the week was local glass blower, Michelle Weston, owner/operator of The Glass Studio in Old Town. Art had been a part of New Zealand native Weston's life as long as she could remember. However, once she discovered glass blowing in college, she never looked back. Weston's parents, who were both artists, moved to the United States when she was about 6 years old. She has memories of her childhood in Nebraska. She recalled drawing, painting and sketching natural objects. Eventually Weston would go on to attend Hastings College and earn a degree in both painting and glass. This is where she first encountered the glass art when she had a class in the department. Weston was fascinated with the fluid nature of the process and working with the glass itself. She loved the experimentation that went along with the art of glass blowing and sculpting, as well as the constant challenges and development of the art. During her undergraduate time, Weston was also a graduate student studying art glass at Bowling Green, Ohio.

The Berea Christmas Parade, "Light a Candle, Carry the Spirit," was held Saturday night in downtown Berea. Crowds lined the streets to see the more than 40 floats and other parade entries travel down Chestnut Street in spite of the frigid temperatures. Santa Claus (at left) made an appearance in the parade, then mingled with the crowd afterward, chatting with all the good little girls and boys who stayed to watch the entertainment by local groups, including the Madison Southern High School Brass Quintet (above). The climax of the evening was the tree lighting, completed with a flourish by Santa and Berea Mayor Clifford Kerby. Parade organizer Betty King said they did not give an award this year for the best float, choosing instead to make the parade a non-competitive event in which everyone participated just for fun.

Steady rain that fell during the previous weekend provided some relief to water woes and took the City of Berea out of an immediate water crises situation. However, water levels remained below average for the season in previous years at Owsley Fork reservoir according to Berea Utilities Director Ed Fortner. "You could say we went from Code Red to Code Orange," Fortner joked. Berea residents were being encouraged to conserve water by the Berea City Council since Owsley Fork remained 12 feet below normal levels. If levels had dropped down to 13 feet, workers would have had to discontinue pumping operations at Owsley Fork and switch to the reserve reservoir to continue a consistent water supply. Rain received over the previous weekend, ended up raising water levels 4 feet. This was a much-needed increase.

Berea College topped Kiplinger's list of the best-value private colleges where students pay less than $20,000 per year. In determining the ranking, Kiplinger cited Berea College's generous financial aid and commitment to providing an education to students with limited financial resources. Berea College "trumps all the others with the remarkable deal it offers every student," according to the ranking notes.

The 20th annual Danish American Christmas Celebration took place on Sunday, December 9, 2012 at the Russel Acton Folk Center. The event, sponsored by the Folk Circle Association in cooperation with the Berea Folk Gymnastics Club, drew approximately 150 participants. One participant was 98-year-old Vivian Roberts of Lexington who was born to Danish immigrants. Pastor Kent Gilbert did story telling while Ruth McLain, Al and Alice White entertained with Christmas songs. Jennifer Rose led Danish Christmas hymns and the traditional "Now It's Christmas Again" –song/dance around the Christmas tree which was donned with live candles. John Holbrook, a.k.a. Santa Claus, pleased children of all ages with funny stories, candy and photos. Female members of the Berea Festival Dancers wore all white and carried live candles and performed a "Santa Lucia Processional." Sune Frederickson served as emcee and coordinator.

Stoops wants a balanced offense

By Keith Taylor
Citizen Publisher

Less than 24 hours after Kentucky ended the regular season with a 41-18 win over South Carolina, Mark Stoops fired offensive coordinator Eddie Gran and quarterbacks coach Darin Hinshaw.

Gran and Hinshaw had spent the past five seasons with the Wildcats and helped lead the team to four consecutive bowl apperances, but after a 4-6 record this season, Stoops opted to make a change within the offense.

Stoops will be looking for an offensive coordinator, quarterbacks coach and an offensive line coach during the offseason.

Stoops said Sunday he is seeking a balanced approach on offense in the future.

"I'm wide open," Stoops said Sunday. "I think it would be extremely difficult to go from one extreme to the other. We've seen that in this league, and it's difficult. I want to be balanced, but I want to be exciting to watch as well."

Although the Wildcats finished with a losing record, a bowl game remains a possibility for Kentucky.

"We do plan on playing a bowl game. We absolutely do. We had a team meeting this morning and the vast majority of the guys are excited and want to play," Stoops said.

After three straight losses ...

Cal not 'cracking'

The rare early season losses are beginning to pile up on Kentucky.

The Wildcats dropped their third consecutive setback with a 79-62 loss to winless Georgia Tech Sunday at State Farm Arena in Atlanta. Kentucky's 1-3 start is the worst in John Calipari's 12 seasons as coach of the Wildcats, a defeat that will drop Kentucky out of the Associated Press Top-25 poll when the rankings are released Monday.

Kentucky opened the season ranked No. 10, but fell to 20th after a loss to Richmond in the Bluegrass Showcase. Calipari said losing three games on four attempts has made the learning curve more complicated with a revamped squad.

"If we play bad or do stuff and then win a game, there's some like, 'Ok. We can do this" but we don't have any wins," Calipari said. "We're going to have to fight, not turn it over, play aggressively, make really easy plays, be more physical. I mean everybody is knocking us around right now. … I've been through this kind of stuff and I just haven't done it in this environment."

As evidenced during the three-game losing streak, Kentucky committed 20 turnovers, which led to easy points in transition for the Yellowjackets. Georgia Tech scored 33 points off Kentucky's miscues and tallied 36 points in the paint.

"If you turn the ball over 20 times and the other team scores 30 points, you're not beating anybody," Calipari said. "(We try to make the) hardest play, fumble balls, (we) got out-toughed again. It is what it is. I've got so much work to do."

Calipari isn't "cracking" and added that he's got to hold the team accountable, especially in the turnover department moving forward."

"We have guys trying to make the hardest play they can make," he said. "Why would you just not throw to that man? 'Because I'm trying to show I can play.' … just make easy plays and attack."

The team's 77 turnovers through the opening four games also is a first for Calipari's teams at Kentucky.

Most of Kentucky's turnovers were committed by the newcomers, with starting guards Devin Askew, BJ Boston, Terrence Clarke combining for nine miscues.

Veteran guard Davion Mintz said the turnovers were because the Wildcats "kinda panicked during the game (and) simply gave it to the other team."

"We were not being careful with the ball," said Mintz, who had six assists compared to just two turnovers. "We have to come together as a team and understand the importance of taking care of the ball. … it's a huge problem for us right now and it's something that we can change."

Calipari said the loss will also be a learning experience going into Saturday's contest against Notre Dame.

"We're learning," Calipari said. "Now, we have to start winning some games. I hope we can. But my job is to make sure that we're getting better, to put us in that position to win and help them at the end win games."

Howard comes through 'when time is right'

By Keith Taylor
Citizen Publisher

Rhyne Howard made her long awaited home debut Sunday and the All-American candidate didn't disappoint.

Howard scored 22 points and made three shots from long range in her first game of the season in a 72-68 win over Indiana Sunday.

The junior guard sat out the first two games for violation of team rules.

A clutch player, Howard considers herself a 'dawg' and said she just lays "down and do the dirty work when the time is right."

"Dre (Dre'una Edwards) is a dawg. She's going to go down there in the post, she's going to work, she's going to make the big plays. Robyn (Benton) is a dawg, she's going to lock down on defense, hit the 3s when we need them, everyone's a dawg in their own way, everyone is going to make plays, and we're looking to do the dirty work that other teams might not want to do."

Cheering for big brother

Kentucky sophomore forward Jacob Toppin has always been a fan of the New York Knicks.

Toppin was elated when his brother Obi Toppin was selected as the No. 8 pick in the NBA Draft last month.

To date, at least five former Kentucky players, along with former Kentucky associate head coach Kenny Payne are with the Knicks.

"I'm from New York so I was always really a New York Knicks fan," Toppin said. "That's big for my brother because he was a Knicks fan too, so to be able to play for the Knicks, that's big time. I'm going to try to watch all the games because I want to see my brother play. I want to see his development and how he does.

"I'm definitely looking forward to that. I'm just going to keep working every day and hopefully I can get to that point."

Obi Toppin already envisions his younger brother playing at the next level once his collegiate career comes to a conclusion.

"It means a lot because that's my brother and I look up to him," he said. "I'm just trying to work every day, getting better in the gym and hopefully one day that dream can come true."

No Mercy!

Brad Calipari, son of Kentucky coach John Calipari, was scheduled to make a return to Lexington on Thanksgiving weekend, but had a change of plans after Detroit Mercy withdrew from the Bluegrass Showcase because of COVID-19.

The Titans planned on making a visit to Lexington at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 15, but Mercy withdrew again on Tuesday, meaning John Calipari won't be coaching against his son Brad this season.

First responders get boost from city

By Andy McDonald
For The Citizen

City Council

In a 7-1 vote, the Berea City Council voted to give Berea's police officers and firefighters a one-time payment of $1,000 for their service during the pandemic. The money comes out of federal funds the city received from the Coronavirus Aid Relief and Economic Security (CARES) Act.

Berea City Administrator David Gregory explained the funds are available to first responders under the terms of the federal legislation. He also noted that because of the nature of their jobs, they had to continue coming into close contact with the public despite risks to their health.

Councilmember Emily LaDouceur took issue with the proposal, however, stating that many other city workers, such as utilities and public works employees, are at risk of infection during the pandemic and should also be compensated. LaDouceur specifically raised concern that rewarding employees in just two city departments to the exclusion of others might negatively impact staff morale.

Councilmember Steve Caudill suggested the city could explore how to compensate other city workers who had been at risk during the pandemic. However,

Combs battling health issues

By Andy McDonald
For The Citizen

Madison County Judge/Executive Reagan Taylor spoke for the Fiscal Court Tuesday in expressing concern for First District Magistrate Larry Combs, who Taylor said has been sidelined from attending virtual court meetings due to health issues.

Larry Combs

"Larry has been in the hospital for about three weeks now," said Taylor. "I've been in communication with him through his daughter. He's been struggling, and he appreciates everyone's prayers and support very much. I know that's what he would have wanted me to let everybody know."

At the start of Tuesday's meeting, Magistrate John Tudor said a separate prayer for Combs and his family before the usual pre-meeting prayer, and he mentioned Combs again during the magistrate comments section of the meeting.

"I just want to ask all of our citizens to keep Magistrate Larry Combs in their prayers during this holiday season," Tudor said. "Larry needs

Giving back

Berea Fire, Police units spreading lots of good cheer

By Keith Taylor
Citizen Publisher

Berea's first responders were out in full force this week spreading good cheer to those in need.

The Berea Fire Department did its annual "Toy Drive" Monday night at the Berea Wal-Mart shopped for toys to benefit needy children in the community. The fire department teamed up with local schools and family resource centers and use the money donated to shop for clothes and toys each Christmas.

"This is one of our favorite events at the fire department because we get to give back in such a special way," Berea firefighter Brent Billings said. "We know that this year in particular has been tough for everyone so that makes it even more special. We know now for a fact that there will be presents under the trees and kids will be warm with new clothes."

Billings said the department "cannot take credit fir the annual event" and praised the community for stepping up during unprecedented times.

"We cannot do any of this without the overwhelming support of our community," Billings said. "Although we may do a lot of the legwork, the citizens of Berea re the real heroes in our eyes for making this happen. We are thankful for such a tight knit and supportive community and we cannot thank everyone who helped enough for making this possible."

Billings said the department raised approximately $4,500 this past year.

The Berea Police Department had its annual "Shop with a Cop" event last Saturday at the Berea Walmart, with officers helping parents and children choose the perfect gift.

The Berea Police Association raised more than $3,000 through donations and other fund-raisers by the Berea Police Department during the past year.

"Not only did the kids enjoy themselves, our officers enjoyed being there and building relationships with our community," the Berea Police Department said in a facebook post. "Our officers are already signing up to be a part of this program in 2021."

Vaccine rollout a 'game-changer'

■ The Madison County Health Department hasn't received a shipment of the vaccine, but is urging citizens 'to be patient.'

FRANKFORT (KT) — Gov. Andy Beshear called Tuesday "our second day of great news," as it was the second day of initial COVID vaccine deliveries to 11 hospitals around the state.

"This Pfizer vaccine and Moderna are absolute game-changers," he said during a virtual press briefing. "With 94 or 95% effectiveness and, it appears, minimal side effects. It gives us a view, a vision and a certainty of victory against this virus. We just need to stay vigilant between now and when everybody can get it."

While only the Pfizer vaccine has received final federal approval, Beshear expressed optimism that the Moderna vaccine will as well. "We had a good report from the FDA on Monday, and if everything goes the way we think it will, we will have shipments maybe as early as Monday of next week. That will give every other acute care

BRIEFS

Grants offered by Hogg Therapy

Hogg Therapy Associates is offering a pediatric therapy grant to children in or around Madison County.

The "Let's Make a Deal" grant is being funded with profits used from selling a car co-owner Michelle Raney won while on Let's Make a Deal.

"We are so happy to be able to provide this grant to children in Madison County who need therapy services or equipment," said Raney. "I especially want to thank everyone at Short Redmond Superstore in Lexington for supporting us and making an offer for the car."

Hogg Therapy is partnering with The Joy Project to help provide grants to children who need therapy services or equipment that insurance will not cover.

Awards are need-based and will be given monthly.

"It is so crucial all children are able to receive therapy that needs it," said Jennifer Fowler, co-owner of Hogg Therapy.

"We are honored to be able to give back to our community in such an important way."

message from Cora Jane Wilson

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.
2(And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.)
3And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.
4And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David:)
5To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.
6And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.
7And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

hospital either vaccine directly or to a partner that is ready to store and vaccinate workers in each acute care hospital across Kentucky."

He also noted there was not a single report of adverse reactions from those doctors and nurses who have taken the vaccine thus far, other than a sore arm.

New cases of the coronavirus in Kentucky continued to drop, according to the Governor.

"It's lower than last week's Tuesday, and significantly lower than the Tuesday before, when we had over 4,000 cases. We're reporting 2,946 new cases of COVID-19." That brings the total to 227,818, since the first positive result was reported on March 6.

Five counties reported over 100 cases. Jefferson had 418, Fayette 162, Warren 123, Daviess 122 and Madison 120. The other top ten counties were Pulaski with 84, McCreary 73, Hardin 68, Laurel 66, and Boone 63.

The state's positivity rate was 8.53%, down slightly from Monday's 8.58%, which had broken a ten-day slide, that started at over 10%.

There was an uptick in hospitalization numbers on Tuesday, with 1,788. Of them, 438 were in the ICU and 246 on ventilators.

Tuesday saw 15 more COVID-19 related deaths, increasing the pandemic total to 2,239. Five of the victims were from Jefferson County; Ohio County had three; Daviess had two; while Boyd, Caldwell, Graves, Hardin, and McCracken counties had one apiece. Their ages ranged from 61 to 92.

Virus still dangerous

Beshear met Tuesday with Dr. Deborah Birx, response coordinator for the White House Coronavirus Task Force, at the Kentucky History Center.

The governor held a virtual press briefing afterwards, while Birx met with legislative leaders to discuss the pandemic, the vaccine and where things go from here.

One of the topics discussed with Birx was the current serious stage of the pandemic, according to Beshear, both in Kentucky and the rest of the nation.

"We are at one of the most dangerous stages, if the not the most dangerous stage, that we have seen," Beshear told reporters. "In other words, the country going from no color, to green, to yellow, to orange, to red, to deep red all over the United States."

The movie that keeps on giving

Christmas Movies

- "Christmas Vacation"
- "Home Alone"
- "It's a Wonderful Life"
- "Christmas Story"
- "Elf"
- "A Charlie Brown Christmas"
- "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer"
- "Miracle on 34th Street"
- "Home Alone 2: Lost in New York"
- Scrooge
- "Polar Express"
- "Christmas with the Kranks"
- "Planes, Trains & Automobiles"

Some movies never grow old.

Like many of you, I've watched National Lampoon's "Christmas Vacation" more than once and more than I can count on my fingers and toes not just once but twice.

Keith Taylor

Seems like each and every time I watch it, I see a sequence I had forgotten about or didn't catch the first time. Christmas Vacation is one of our family's favorite movies this time of the year and mom loved it, too.

It was one of her favorite Christmas movies.

We watch it non-stop on television even though we have a DVD version of the flick. It's just one of those movies that is memorable and the actors, starting with Chevy Chase, do a fantastic job depicting a Griswold Family Christmas.

Although a comedy straight out of Hollywood not based on a true story, some of the humor and character in the movie reminds us of some of our family members. Every family has a "cousin Eddie" and I would venture to say real-life versions of Randy Quade's character are even more comical than cousin Eddie Griswold.

What makes the movie so memorable is the well-written script the actors and even the music used from beginning to the end.

Who would have thought to use frozen ice as a weapon or even a well-greased sled to create memorable scenes?

Even though the scenes are less than realistic for most families, it does create a sense of family and what it means during this time of the year in a way that brings laughter, which is good for the soul.

The turkey that didn't turn out so well, despite looking tasty on the outside in one the scenes in the movie was reminiscent of my first try at mom's homemade pecan pie. The outside looked much better than the inside, but I'm going to keep trying to perfect pecan pie.

Clark Griswold had planned to install an in-ground pool with his annual Christmas bonus but instead received a subscription to the jelly of the month club.

Although it was a bonus that "keeps on giving" throughout the year, it wasn't the gift he was expecting from his employer.

Sometimes our gifts may not be what we expect, but it's important to appreciate the little things even during a year of pandemic and so much uncertainty.

I know Christmas won't be the same for our family, but we are going to make the best of it, because mom would have wanted it that way.

We also continue to watch "Christmas Vacation" over and over and over again. You may see a scene that you missed the first time or just need a few laughs ahead of Christmas.

Some movies are just memorable and "Christmas Vacation" is one of them.

Safety first this holiday season

By Shelley Stanko, MD

As the number of COVID-19 cases in our community rises, and the seasonal flu an active threat to many, we are concerned about being able to continue to serve the needs of our community.

While Saint Joseph Berea is prepared to handle a surge of patients, we are limited in the number of patients we can care for at any given time – including those with COVID and those with other health care needs.

With that in mind, we are stressing the need to follow the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's (CDC) safety protocols throughout the holiday season. These best practices help ensure not only that our family and friends stay healthy, but also that they will support the well-being of the Madison County community as a whole.

Any time you are in public, whether it's traveling for the holidays or shopping for gifts, take steps to keep yourself and everyone around you safe. Always wear your mask over your mouth and nose, and maintain a distance of six feet from those around you. Be sure to also pack extra sanitation supplies, such as hand sanitizer that contains at least 60% alcohol or disinfecting wipes to ensure you can clean any surfaces you may touch. If you haven't already, take the time to get your flu shot because even if someone is not showing symptoms, the virus can still be spread, according to the CDC.

Shelley Stanko

While it is difficult especially around the holidays, avoid large gatherings with people who are not in your immediate household – even extended family members. If you can, gather outside to celebrate with family and friends, but continue to follow the masking and social distancing guidelines.

If you are able to avoid going out in public or have decided to forgo in-person get-togethers this year, there are plenty of options to have a memorable holiday season. With numerous online video chatting platforms available, hosting a virtual holiday party is a great way to ensure everyone stays safe but is still able to connect with one another. Online shopping is also a great resource for limiting your time spent in public. Many of our local businesses offer curbside pickup as an option after placing an order online.

As we all navigate this unusual holiday season, don't take your health for granted. Take every opportunity to keep your loved ones, our health care workers and our community as a whole safe until we can gather once again.

Shelley Stanko is the chief medical officer, Saint Joseph Berea.

Word on the streets

"Is your Christmas tree up yet? Is there anything special on it or about it?

Gwina Poff

"I put it up the first week of December. I usually put it up right after Thanksgiving."

Mary Ann and Authur Hunt

"Our tree went up the weekend before Thanksgiving. That's pretty much normal for us."

Brenda Lambert

"I''ve had my Christmas tree up for three years. It's in our living room, which we don't use. When nephews and nieces visit, they go to the door of that room and say, 'That's the Christmas room.'" our prayers right now, and I look forward to him coming back and being with us as soon as possible."

COURT

The court amended its agenda to consider two resolutions related to voting equipment and software, then unanimously approved the purchase of 120 digital voting machines and software from Election Systems and Software, LLC.

The county currently has 50 of the machines, which allow voters to use touch screens to select candidates. The device then prints out a card that is deposited into the ballot box. The machines are being purchased with $547,000 in grant funds from the Center for Tech and Civic Life Grant, secured with the help of the county's grant consultant Tom Webb.

Madison County Clerk Kenny Barger explained the new equipment will allow for a more efficient system. "What this has enabled us to do is go to all Express Vote machines in the county," Barger said. "We won't have any more preprinted ballots, which saves a ton of money. These machines don't allow mistakes. You proof read your ballot and make sure it's the way you want it before you ever print it out on that card."

Barger noted that without having to use preprinted ballots in the future, the county stands to save tens of thousands of dollars each election. "We're going to be the only county in the state that's doing this.

"We will be on the front edge of the most convenient, secure voting process in the state of Kentucky after we do this," Barger said. The court approved the resolution unanimously.

Also unanimously approved was a related agreement with CR Daniels Inc. to purchase Ready Vote Carts for $107,000. Barger said the carts are a cheaper option than buying voting booths, privacy screens, and other amenities.

In other developments, Ethan Witt addressed the court on behalf of the Central Kentucky Regional Airport. Witt noted the CKRA is gearing up for the construction of a $3 million for flight training facility for the Eastern Kentucky University Aviation program.

Witt noted there are currently efforts in the Kentucky legislature to change state statue to allow EKU's flight program to have an official interest in the airport, along with the three Madison County local governments. EKU is the operator of the facility, and a change in law will enable the airport to become eligible for a wider range of public funds. Judge Taylor vowed to introduce a resolution supporting the proposed change in the Kentucky statute.

In other news, the court heard the first reading of a zone change for 2761and 2725 Lexington Road in Richmond from UC-7 agricultural to UC-3 neighborhood commercial. The properties are near the intersection of Clay Lane and U.S. 25, officials said. The ordinance comes up for a second reading on January 12.

The court also unanimously approved a budget amendment for road repairs on Carver's Ferry Road and Stoney Run Road. The amendment enables the court to accept $223,019 in state transportation cabinet funds.

In personnel news, Drew Alexander and Shannon Pennington were appointed to the Madison County Planning Commission. Steve Tussey was reappointed to the Central Kentucky Regional Airport Board, and Willie Willis was reappointed as Madison County Road Supervisor. Firefighter Chandler Clark was promoted to Firefighter II and Firefighter Matthew Frost was promoted to Firefighter IV.

Additionally the court voted to spend $480,000 in CDBG funds for the Kit Carson Commons Project on the EKU campus. A contract with for CSEPP with Everbridge was renewed for a mass notification system for $29,500. The service notifies other agencies to report to EOC during an emergency event, and can contact homeowners regarding emergencies via landlines. Residents wanting notifications via cell phones can add their numbers to the list, which can be found on the Madison County website under the EOC/CSEPP link. Another contract was approved was for AMK Design and Optimization for optimization of emergency communication systems.

The next meeting of the court is Jan. 12, 2021.

LaDouceur suggested the issue would be merely swept under the rug, calling the decision "B.S." LaDouceur further accused city officials of riding the public's pro-police, "back the blue" sentiments to reward the city's police officers and firefighters to the exclusion of other employees. Caudill, as well as Cora Jane Wilson and John Payne, vowed to further pursue a discussion to compensate other city employees. When the issue came up for a vote, Steve Caudill, Cora Jane Wilson, John Payne, Jim Davis, David Rowlette, Jerry Little, and Ronnie Terrill voted in favor. LaDouceur voted against it.

In other news, the city council voted to move forward with the sale of the city's North Broadway Center to Stream Go Media and Technologies. The council went into executive session, and when they emerged, took a vote to sell the building, located at 204 North Broadway. The sale will have to be formally approved by ordinance, which will be introduced next month, officials said. John Payne and Emily LaDouceur abstained from voting, while the rest of the council voted in favor of the sale.

In other news, Mayor Bruce Fraley said there are preliminary indications that Berea will be getting the green light for the Berea Bypass Phase II. Fraley said city officials were tipped off by Banks Engineering employees that the state will be letting bids out for Phase II in January. Fraley said city officials are very excited about that prospect if proves to be true. Jim Davis noted he is cautiously optimistic.

In another major announcement, Fraley revealed the city's bid to designate a Chestnut Street/Old Town historic district has been approved, according to the Kentucky Heritage Council. That means buildings in the designated areas can be listed in the National Registry of Historic Places, and will be eligible for certain tax incentives for improving their property. City officials hope to use the designation as a springboard for economic development in the Chestnut Street/Old Town shopping areas, ideally luring investors to purchase and renovate the buildings for use by new businesses.

In other developments, the council heard a presentation by Craig Williams on chemical munitions destruction at the Blue Grass Army Depot. Williams noted there has been significant progress in the destruction of chemical projectiles, and that the target for completion of the project remains 2023.

Williams noted however, that the facility used for the supercritical water oxidation process failed to meet initial safety standards, which might have meant the $15 million facility would have gone unused. Williams contacted Senator Mitch McConnell, however, recommending that the facility be turned over to the U.S. Army Chemical and Biological Command for retooling and use for weapons disposal.

Williams stated activities at the Blue Grass Army Depot have had a significant economic impact on Kentucky and Madison County, adding $186 million has been spent with Kentucky companies, and $109 million spent in Madison County. The operation employs 1,381 people. Williams said that community leaders are working on finding ways to keep the highly skilled workforce in Madison County, perhaps by luring new industries to the area.

David Rowlette and LaDouceur made their final appearances as council members Tuesday. They are being replaced by Teresa Scenters and Katie Startzman. Councilmembers wished both of them well, expressing hope that they would continue to serve Berea. Rowlette, who was first appointed to the council in 2017 when Billy Wooten stepped down, then was elected in 2018, said it had been an honor to serve. LaDouceur wished peace to other council members and stated: "I hope you'll all start doing the right thing for our people."

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Kirksville Chronicles

Our community shines during the holidays

Carrie Grant

When entering the Kirksville community during the winter months, one is transported back in time in some ways — passing by homes that have been here for many years, buildings that are original to our town when it was Centerville, before Samuel Kirkendall's presence made it known as "Kirksville" and seeing people maintain traditions of days gone by (and not just those for the holidays). Through this travel comes the realization that there is truly something special about our community and how we come together throughout the year- but especially during the holiday season.

During the holiday season, our town really shines in so many ways.

There are giving hearts found everywhere, including our local churches. Kirksville Baptist Church is currently hosting donations to the Lottie Moon Christmas Offering. The offering serves as aid to international missionaries and has been a traditional offering within the Southern Baptist Church for many years. Kirksville Baptist Church has set a church-wide giving goal of $1500 and has met $700 of donations toward it so far.

Salem Christian Church in Poosey has a ladies group that gifted fruit baskets for shut-ins and provided gift cards for some families in need this year. Many members throughout the community check-in on their neighbors, help families who have found hard times, and show support to one another in various other ways throughout the holidays.

Tradition is important to our community. This year has caused us to miss many of the things we enjoy about living here; the Kirksville Day parade, Fall Festival, and the Christmas Gathering are only a few. However, members of our community are still holding tightly to traditions within their homes and farms.

Some of these traditions are because of the holidays, but others are just staples carried through from days-gone-by.

Growing up here, I have genuinely come to love watching some of these traditions come together every year. Recently, I drove through Poosey, and as always, Steve and Julie Winkler have gone all out with their lights and decorations for Christmas, along with many others. Spring Lake and Sunny Acres also have residents with beautiful lights to bring a little cheer to us all.

Don't forget that even though we are amid difficult times because of the pandemic, we can still show kindness to our fellow community members in creative ways.

The right pills can make old horse younger

Roger Alford

I heard about an elderly mountaineer who was snookered into paying $600 for an old, gray-faced Clydesdale horse that he intended to use to plow his cornfields.

By the time the mountaineer had ridden the Clydesdale home, it was limping badly. He called the veterinarian who, after examining the old horse, diagnosed him with advanced arthritis in the hips. He prescribed some pills that worked wonderfully.

"After a while, that Clydesdale was not only plowing 25 acres a day, but he was running derby races on weekends and beating even the thoroughbreds," the old mountaineer said.

"What were those pills the vet gave him?" one of his neighbors asked.

"I don't know … but they taste kinda like peppermint."

Horses were so very important through biblical times. They were covered in metal armor to serve as the tanks of Old Testament military men. They were revered for their incredible strength and courage. In the Book of Job, we have a vivid description of the steeds used in battle.

"Hast thou given the horse strength? Hast thou clothed his neck with thunder? The glory of his nostrils is terrible. He paweth the valley and rejoiceth in his strength. He goeth to meet the armed men. He mocketh at fear and is not affrighted; neither turneth he back from the sword. The quiver rattleth again him, the glittering spear and the shield. He swalloweth the ground with fierceness and rage: Neither believeth he that it is the sound of the trumpet. He saith among the trumpets, Ha, ha; and he smelleth the battle afar off, the thunder of the captains and the shouting" (Job 20:19-25).

Isn't that an awesome description of a war horse?

When I was a kid, that's how I envisioned Old Bill and Trigger, though in actuality they were rather smallish ponies. There's no telling how many "bad guys" we chased down astride those ponies. We'd cut them off at the pass, just like our TV heroes did, and we'd have daily shootouts with "bank robbers," galloping between the barn and the chicken coop, cackling hens scattering as we went.

Those were the days. Wouldn't it be great if there was a pill to get back that youthful energy, like the old mountaineer and his horse?

The fact is, we wear out, just like our horses. Fortunately, we can look forward to a better day in a land where we'll never grow old.

Reflections

Berea Citizen Archives: Dec. 11, 1997

By Libby Horn
Citizen Writer

The cause of a fire that damaged the Kentucky Fried Chicken at the intersection of Highway 21 and U.S. 25 in Berea on December 3rd remained undetermined, although faulty wiring or a faulty furnace was preliminarily thought to be the cause according to authorities. Smoke damage from the fire resulted in the Madison County Health Department condemning the entire food inventory due to smoke damage. Berea Fire Chief Bob Davis stated that most of the $30,000 to $40,000 in loss was from the loss of food rather than damage to the structure. The fire was discovered around 9 am when 2 employees entered the building and found smoke in the dining room. By the time fire crews arrived on scene, flames were visible from the roof at the front of the building. Crews quickly suppressed the blaze. Insurance inspectors stated that the fire had likely been smoldering for several hours before it was discovered. The restaurant was expected to remain closed until sometime in January.

The Berea Chamber of Commerce presented its annual service awards at its annual Christmas Banquet held on December 14th at Boone Tavern. Several residents were honored for the work they had done for the Chamber and the community through out the year. Local realtor, Nola Newman was named "Woman of the Year" for her countless hours dedicated to the community including founding "Relay for Life" which raised over $160,000 toward the fight against cancer. The Chamber named Bill Eckler, D.A.R.E. officer for the Berea Police Department, "Man of the Year" for his outstanding service to the youth in Berea along with his many other accomplishments. Randy Osborne, Minister of Mt. Zion Christian Church received the "Volunteer of the Year" award for the many ways he has served the community, including chaplain for the Berea Police Department, chaplain of the College Ministry at Berea College, as well as a 2 term council member on the Berea City Council. Peoples Bank was named "Business of the Year." Pam Rice, Chamber president said that People's Bank was always involved in whatever project the Chamber undertook. Welcome Wagon representative Sandy Rowlette received the Chamber's "President's Award." Rice said that Rowlette volunteered to help on numerous Chamber projects and had donated a great deal of time to the community. The "Hall of Fame Award" was presented to the Chamber's Executive Director Mildred Cummins. According to Rice, Cummins had been hired to work part time with the Chamber but over the past 7+ years had worked full time to support the Chamber. Rice commented that Cummins was at every Chamber event and was very civic minded.

A painting from the permanent collection of Berea College entitled Cliff Dwellers by Thomas Moran was on exhibit at the National Museum of Art in Washington, DC through January of 1998. The exhibition entitled, Thomas Moran, commemorated the 150th anniversary of the founding of the American National parks. Moran had accompanied a geological expedition to the Yellowstone River and the Grand Canyon in the 1870's and painted and photographed what he saw. His work so interested Congress that Yellowstone was designated the first National Park in the world. Cliff Dwellers is a panoramic view of the Grand Canyon with Native American cliff dwellings featured in the foreground. Berea College was gifted the Moran work by an unknown donor prior to 1905.

The Madison County Fiscal court was bestowed with an award for innovation from the Kentucky Certified Community Partnership. The 2nd place award was in the Progressive Government category for 1997. Chambers from all over the state of Kentucky made nominations based on given criteria. Madison County Judge Executive, Kent Clark said that, this was something he was very proud of. The announcement of the award was made at the regularly scheduled meeting of the Madison County Fiscal Court.

Unemployment rates fell slightly in Madison County over the months of September and October of 1997. In September, the jobless rate was 2.7% and October came in slightly lower at 2.6%. This placed Madison County amongst the counties with the lowest overall jobless rates in Kentucky for the 2-month period. Comparatively, the jobless rates for Madison County in September of 1996 were 3.1%

Beginning in January of 1998, Berea Hospital would kick off a yearlong celebration commemorating 100 years of service to the community. As a part of the commemoration of this milestone, local author Gary Barker was commissioned to research and relate the history of Berea Hospital. The result of his efforts was a book entitled Berea Hospital: The First Century. The work was deemed a must read for anyone interested in the history of Berea College, the development of the City of Berea, and of course the growth of Berea Hospital itself. The hospital arose from humble beginning in 1898 as an 8 bed cottage on the campus of Berea College to the 110 bed community owned facility it was in 1997 with offering of a full compliment of inpatient and outpatient services. Many changes occurred over the course of the first 100 years. This was due in part to the ever-evolving changes occurring in the field of medicine. The book served as a reminder of the personalities and circumstances that molded Berea Hospital into the institution it had become.

Clarke proving a point

By Keith Taylor
Citizen Publisher

John Calipari hinted that lineup changes could be looming in an effort to get the Wildcats back on track.

The Kentucky coach is pondering moving Terrence Clarke to point guard and letting freshman Devin Askew and Creighton transfer Davion Mintz roam the perimeter more to get more shots.

"I like Terrence (Clarke) at point guard, I like having his hands on the ball," Calipari said. "Davion (Mintz) and Devin (Askew), got to shoot balls. They passed up seven wide-open shots. And then what it ends up doing, it runs you into turnovers."

Kentucky forward Olivier Sarr liked the idea of having Clarke at point guard in the future.

"Terrence has size and he's really aggressive in the lane," he said. "I think it opens up a lot of things, a lot of options. He can pass the ball, he has great vision. So, I think going forward, he's really good at that position."

Following a day off Sunday, the Wildcats returned to "Camp Cal" with three practices a day on Monday in preparation for Saturday's contest against UCLA Saturday in the CBS Classic set for 2 p.m. in Cleveland.

Thankful Calipari

Calipari has never lost back-to-back games at Rupp Arena, but has lost four in a row prior to a 64-63 loss to Notre Dame last Saturday.

During the 2017-18 season, the Wildcats dropped four in a row before but it was during the first two weeks of February of 2018 when Kentucky lost at Missouri, Tennessee at home, followed by setbacks at Texas A&M and Auburn, respectively. That squad lost to Kansas State in the Sweet Sixteen and finished with a 26-11 record.

"I woke up (Saturday) morning and what I said was, 'Lord, thank you for giving me this opportunity,'" he said. "Thank you for giving me this opportunity to coach here, to coach these young people."

He also told his squad "adversity makes you tougher" and when it happens at Kentucky, it's similar to a 'natural disaster."

"You know what? I'm not buying it, I don't listen to it, I never have," he said. "Whether we're winning games or losing games, my focus is on how do I help these guys get better. And some of them, you got to dig your heels in or someone else plays. Dig your heels in or someone else plays."

Pandemic problems

COVID-19 adds new wrinkle to yearly challenges

Starting the season with a revamped roster is nothing new to John Calipari. Doing so during a pandemic, however, added an unprecedented wrinkle to Calipari's routine.

Keith Taylor

"I've been through this kind of stuff and I just haven't done it in this environment," he said. "I've not done it where – like, I'll give you something for all of these kids it's bad. There are no face-to-face contact, very little with me and you need that when you're young. You need to talk. You need the face-to-face (contact)."

A big issue for Calipari has been overcoming the youth factor while playing against teams with more experience. The Wildcats lost to veteran teams Richmond, Kansas and Georgia Tech and Notre Dame so far this season. Calipari wasn't surprised by the slow start considering the circumstances.

"The change that we're having in college basketball with the COVID thrown together, if you're a veteran team – I think I said this (early in the season) if anyone listens to me and most people don't — my wife doesn't, my dogs don't so no one listens to me – but I said the veteran teams have a huge advantage this season. The inexperienced teams, which I think we're one of the least experienced teams with 10 new guys that have never played together – we're at a big disadvantage."

Calipari doesn't want to use the pandemic as an excuse for the early season setbacks that dropped Kentucky out of the rankings. The Wildcats opened at No. 10 in the Associated Press Top-25 poll, but slipped out following back-to-back losses to Richmond and Kansas, respectively. Calipari is willing to do whatever it takes to get his squad to finish the season on a high note.

> "The inexperienced teams ... we're at a big disadvantage."
> John Calipari, UK coach

"I want this to be the most rewarding year that I've ever had," he said. "That's my mindset. And I'm going to do whatever I can to help these kids. If I have to be mean, I'm going to be mean. If I have to hug them, I'll hug them. If I have to kiss them on the forehead, I'll kiss them on the forehead. Whatever I need (for them) to be their best. I want each of these players at the end of the year to say this is the best version of myself ever."

Safety net

Although some programs endured cancelations because of COVID and contact tracing, Kentucky has played most of its games, with the lone exception being Detroit Mercy. The Titans, whose roster features Calipari's son Brad, postponed a scheduled game on Nov. 25 and opted out of a rescheduled contest planned for Dec. 15.

"We're playing 80 percent of our games right now," Calipari said. "Eighty percent of our games right now are being played. The safest place for all these athletes are on our campuses.

"Most of us have hospitals whether they're in our town or right on our campus if something does happen and they move to the front of the line and they get care. So the best place for these athletes is here."

Calipari and the Wildcats are routinely getting tested at least three times a week and the Thanksgiving break wasn't easy for the Kentucky coach to maneuver in November.

"I had debated and went back and forth and didn't sleep for two days," Calipari said. "We had the parents. We had 50 people come on our campus, parents and families, for Thanksgiving. But they couldn't be with their sons. They could walk outside at a distance. They had to have a mask on. They did not eat together at Thanksgiving. We gave everybody meals to take with them. The players ate together. It's hard. I mean, this stuff is hard."

League a priority

Although it will be a different kind of Christmas for the Kentucky coach and his players this year, Calipari also wants to protect his team going into the Southeastern Conference portion of the schedule.

"We can't affect our league play," he said. "The most important thing for us is our league. So if any team we're playing from here to the start of our league becomes positive – the staff or one player – and we're not comfortable with the tracing or whatever, we're just saying we can't play it. We've got to be right for our league. I want to play as many games as I can, but our league is the most important thing for us.

"I'm worried about my 12 guys and what we're doing and how it's working. All the schools and coaches have to make decisions for what they think is best for their kids in their program."

Merry Christmas

Cherry Road project moving forward

The City of Berea is moving ahead with a storm water sewer rehabilitation project that will remedy flooding on Cherry Road.

At last Tuesday's meeting of the Berea City Council, Mayor Bruce Fraley accepted six bids, including:

- Lagco, Inc. of Lexington, KY: $1,225,873;
- Conhurst LLC, Wallingford, KY: $764,929;
- Akins Excavating Co: $659,657;
- Leak Eliminators, LLC: $849,778;
- Todd Johnson Contracting: $723,743;
- Buchanan Contracting, Winchester, KY: $763,804.

The council referred the bids to Berea Municipal Utilities Director Kevin Howard for further review and future recommendation.

City officials have stated in recent weeks that once the project is underway, crews will begin on Cherry Road, work on O'Donnell Lane then up toward Chestnut Court.

Homes at the end of Cherry Road are occasionally subject to flooding during heavy rains.

The source of the water runoff is approximately 57 acres west of Mt. Vernon Road, which runs down

Oath of office

Storefront showoffs

Wildflowers, Becky Brown best in decorating contest

The Berea Business & Tourism Development hosted their second annual Berea Christmas Storefront Decorating Contest, which is always such a great opportunity for businesses to gain exposure on social media, while providing a festive atmosphere for residents and visitors as they shopped for the holidays.

Photos of participating storefronts were posted on Berea Tourism's Facebook & Instagram Dec. 1-13 and shoppers voted for their favorite by "liking" the shop's photo. The shop with the most "likes" was declared the winner and awarded with an exclusive prize and bragging rights.

This year's winners of the Berea Christmas Storefront Decorating Contest were:

1st Place:
Wildflowers Boutique
(412 Chestnut Street)
with 526 Facebook likes & 116 Instagram likes with a total of 642 likes!

Owner, LeeAmber Hellard, was awarded a first-place certificate and a $200 gift card.

2nd Place:
Becky Brown Studio & Gallery
(139 N. Broadway)
with 233 Facebook likes & 134 Instagram likes with a total of 367 likes.

A different kind of Christmas

Keith Taylor

The pandemic has flipped our world upside down but in spite of the ongoing health crisis we have endured, Christmas remains a special occasion all around the world.

This will be my first Christmas without mom and I'm not really sure what to expect but I know what we would be doing if she was still with us here on earth. She would be celebrating the birth of Christ and spending time with her family. That's exactly how we plan on doing it this year.

It was mom's favorite time of the year and she always made sure we made the best of it, even if she had to scramble at the last minute when it came to gathering gifts for the family.

This will be a different Christmas than any we've experienced in our lifetime because of the COVID-19 threat that has separated many families and kept us more apart than I can ever remember in my lifetime. These times are similar to simpler ones when the only thing that mattered at Christmas was friends and family and celebrating the birth of Christ.

A Christmas miracle has already occurred in the form of not one, but two vaccines that will hopefully zap the virus for good and help us get back into a more normalized society. The process of vaccinating the entire nation will take time, but at least we have a starting point and there is hope for the future.

After the state, nation and world was crippled by the Spanish Flu early in the 1900s, the Citizen urged its readers to continue a tradition in 1920 that offered hope to those living in that era who were just as concerned about their lives as we are in this current age.

It was based on an "old tradition" and read a follows:

"A lighted candle in the window on Christmas Eve will guide the Babe of Bethlehem to your mom, that He may bring you happiness."

Let us start this beautiful custom in Berea this year so that in each home, if possible, there shall shine out on Christmas Eve, one Christmas candle symbolizing the Star of Bethlehem.

This is being done in many places throughout the country. A single candle is more symbolic and more impressive that many candles in the window.

If you ask the cooperation of your neighbors and friends, we can start a community custom that may not only add happiness to our own homes, but increase the Christmas cheer of our village.

One Christmas candle in your window on Christmas Eve. Don't forget.

I'm not sure if that tradition spread like wildfire or even continued in the years that followed, but the intention of the symbolic approach to Christmas was evident at the time.

In whatever way you celebrate Christmas, may the Star of Bethlehem simply shine on.

The Berea Citizen office will be closed, Friday, Dec. 25 in observance of the Christmas holiday and will re-open for regular hours on Dec. 28.

OBITUARIES

Rev. Harold Eads

He was born on January 20, 1934, at Waseoda (East Pineville, KY) to the late Harvey and Gracie Gross Eads. In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by his wife Beverly Sue Eads, five brothers, David, George, Lee, Marsillus, and Duell Eads, three sisters, Lou Ann Eads Hubbs Floyd, Lorene Eads Blankenship, Marie Eads Jordan, and one-half sister, Mary Eads Saylor.

He was a loving and devoted husband to Beverly Sue Eads for 68 years. They were united in marriage on April 18, 1952. Harold founded the Eads Fence Company in Madison County over 50 years ago. Also, he was the Pastor of the Holy Sanctuary Church in Berea for 50 years, where he continued until his death.

Harold was an avid sportsman, being a hunter of a variety of game and a great fisherman. He loved a good coon hunt, great dogs, and telling the stories about his many hunting trips. After he was unable to hunt as much, he increased his fishing time at the surrounding area lakes. He was always ready to share with others his fishing tips and stories of the ones that didn't get away. If you visited him at home in the last several years, he always wanted to cook for you while he told you some of his hunting, fishing or some childhood memories, and also of his fond memories of the great holiness men and women that he had known or had pastored over the years.

Pastor Harold Eads is survived by; one son, Gordon Ray Eads and his wife Charlotte Clontz Eads of Richmond, KY; one daughter, Harolyn Hope and her husband Paul Edward Osborne of Berea; four grandchildren, Gordon Britt Eads, Rev. Harold (Achee) William Eads, Whitney Osborne Simpson, Derrick Edward Osborne; seven great grandchildren, Brittany, Britton, Braiden, Kobe, Grayson, Nathanael, and McKenzie Eads; two sisters, Charlene Eads Parrett of Berea, KY and Marilyn Eads Akers of Danville, KY; one brother, Earl Ray Eads; a beloved host of nieces and nephews; and by his congregation and friends at The Holy Sanctuary Church whom, he dearly loved.

Funeral services will be livestreamed at www.lakesfuneralhome.com on Monday, December 28, 2020 at 12 p.m., at The Holy Sanctuary Church, with Rev. Harold (Achee) William Eads and Tyler Simpson officiating. Burial will follow in Madison County Memorial Gardens.

Visitation will be Sunday evening, December 27, 4-9 p.m. at The Holy Sanctuary Church in Berea.

The family asks everyone to observe the Kentucky state mandates of wearing facial coverings and social distancing.

Mary Virginia Kearney Davis

Mary Virginia Kearney Davis, 85, passed away Monday December 21, 2020 at the Compassionate Care Center in Richmond, KY. Mrs. Davis was born January 5, 1935 in Taylor County, KY to the late William Alexander and Addie Lee Radford Kearney. Mrs. Davis loved Hallmark Movies, and crossword puzzles. She was a member of the Presidents Club for Avon, member of the Business & Professional Women's Club, part of the Joy Group, managed Steve's Variety Store for 10 years, and a member of Campbellsville Baptist Church.

Other than her parents she was preceded in death by her husband, E. Edward Davis. Mrs. Davis was the youngest of 14 children with all siblings preceding her in death.

Mrs. Davis is survived by one daughter Karen Davis Skaggs and her husband Steve of Campbellsville, KY, one son Stephen Davis and his wife Paula of Berea, KY, five grandchildren, Hillary Davis Shepherd and her husband Cody of Berea, KY, Zachary Davis and his wife Sydney of Chicago, IL, Hayley Davis, Knoxville, TN, Zeb Davis and his wife Mikayla of Richmond, KY, Hannah Davis of Berea, KY, five great grandchildren, Haven Shepherd, Adalynn Shepherd, Harrison Davis, Margaux Davis, Callum Davis, and several nieces and nephews.

In accordance with her wishes Cremation has taken place and no services have been scheduled at this time.

Memorial contributions are suggested to Compassionate Care Center 350 Isaacs Lane Richmond, KY 40475 and Gideons International P.O. Box 140800 Nashville, TN. 37214.

Sarah (Sally) Hamilton McCandless died December 15, 2020 of complications from COVID-19 at Berea Health and Rehabilitation Center in Berea, KY. Sally was born July 1, 1933 in Chestnut Hill, PA to Betty Hamilton McCandless and Henry Ingram McCandless. She attended Springside School and Forman School in Leitchfield, CT and worked as a teachers' aide at Crotched Mountain School in New Hampshire, where she was an avid hiker and snow shoeer. Sally lived most of her life in Chestnut Hill, where she served as a volunteer for the Arboretum and in a center for children with disabilities. Sally moved to Berea, KY in 2015 to be near her "favorite nephew," Reid Livingston, and his family. She loved her family and all animals and birds. An inveterate walker, Sally enjoyed being outdoors in all kinds of weather. She was well-loved for her forthright and quirky approach to life. Sally was preceded in death by her sister, Elizabeth (Betsy) Livingston. Her niece, Amanda Curtis, her husband Charles Curtis, and their children Charles Curtis, Jr., and Lily Curtis of Wellesley, MA survive her by her nephew Reid, his wife Lisa Bosley, and their children Cora Livingston and Ben Livingston of Berea, KY and. A family service will be held next year in Orr's Island, ME, where Sally spent summers as a child. The family wishes to thank the heroic and caring people at Arcadian Cove Assisted Living, where Sally lived for most of the past five years, and at the Terrace and Berea Health and Rehabilitation who also cared for Sally so well.

Coming together while staying apart

By Lyle Roelofs
Berea College President

The year 2020 will be remembered as a difficult year for everyone. The global COVID-19 pandemic forced us indoors and, more consequentially, away from each other. And there was a contentious election, meaning that our respective passions for one side or another pushed many of us apart in other directions as well.

Further, in 2020 we seem to have embarked on a new phase in the overdue process of racial reckoning which has made another sort of fault line more visible in our society. The unfortunate result is the separation of ourselves physically, emotionally and spiritually.

Lyle Roelofs

We feel this isolation on a deeper level during the holidays, though we will not all face the situation the same way. While many of us will choose to remain apart from our loved ones—because we love them—others will choose to ignore the risks of gathering together for the same reason, though I don't recommend this choice.

There is hope in the months ahead as multiple vaccines become an available reality. We have to endure this isolation just a little longer, and my hope is that the political passions that divide us will become less important than remembering our common kinship and heritage as Americans as we work toward coming back together in 2021.

Maybe, after all this time alone, we will be reminded how special it is to be together, to love our neighbors, to see ourselves in one another and reach out in a loving spirit. For me, that's what the holidays represent every year, and I think many of us are feeling the same, especially in this year, when there have been so many barriers.

It's important to remember during this holiday season just how many of our friends and loved ones are struggling right now. Many are feeling isolated and hopeless. I encourage everyone to reach out to those who are feeling alone. Give them a call. Send them a card. Get on FaceTime or do another Zoom session if you can stand it. Find a way to let them know that though we must remain apart for a time, you are still thinking of them. It will make a world of difference. No matter what barriers divide us, we share so much in common and are more alike than different.

Making community without erasing differences is the operating assumption of Berea College. From the beginning, our mission has been to bring people together and help them see their differences are not only just skin-deep, but also an important opportunity to learn from one another. During this holiday season, though we may not be able to celebrate as we normally would, I hope that the enduring themes of peace on earth and goodwill towards all will transcend all less important divisions. As we look forward to face-to-face conversations and hugs and handshakes in the new year, let's start now by embracing our common humanity.

Hidden in plain view

If you're familiar with the game Three-card Monte, you realize even the sharpest of eyes can be duped by sleight of hand. Concerning the destruction of the chemical weapons stockpile at the Bluegrass Army Depot, one must indeed endeavor to keep close track of all the cards in play.

Notes to cnsider
G.S. Morris

In the mid-1990s at Woody's inside the historic Glyndon Hotel, graduate students of Eastern's now late, great Dr. Walter Odum would gather after night class around a large backroom table. One particular evening at the head of our table was a gentleman who happened to be a retired field grade US Army Chemical Corps officer. There was much in the press at the time about local "demands" the depot's chemical weapons be "neutralized" (as opposed to incinerated). On the subject, our guest stated flatly, "I want every man at this table to look me in the eyes. The bulk of the chemical and nerve agents at the depot will be burned. You can take that to the bank."

For the skeptics reading this column, allow me to offer up an uncannily familiar tale from the earlier started chemical weapons destruction project at the Pueblo Chemical Depot. You see, there too billions of our federal tax dollars were spent to build a water-based neutralization "pilot" plant. Guess what? In 2018, it was announced "problems" had arisen with the neutralization process and two "Static Detonation Chambers" (SDCs or "Incinerators," in layman's terms) were brought in to "speed up the project." (Roper, Peter, "Army Needs Two Weapons Incinerators to Augment Water-Based Neutralization Plant," The Pueblo Chieftain, 21 March 2018). See the resemblance? (Six, Taylor, "BGCAPP Changes Course on Nerve Agent Chemical Waste Disposal," The Richmond Register, 18 September 2020). The Bluegrass Chemical Activity's ghastly overpriced pilot (a.k.a. "test") plant is a shiny object of distraction; but the SDC quietly built here contemporary with the cumbersome neutralization plant is now efficiently "augmenting" along (soon to be joined by a second, larger incinerator) .

I for one am unperturbed about the burning of chemical munitions just across the flat from home. The system was previously proven sound at the Anniston Chemical Activity. As the retired colonel explained to us a quarter-century ago, the SDCs are akin to a nuclear reactor in that incineration takes place inside a hardened, closed environment at extreme temperatures which diminishes risky projectile disassembly and of course doesn't produce hundreds of thousands of gallons of wastewater required to be trucked roughly 2,000 miles round-trip for disposal (How many laps of Earth in a Prius would be required to offset that carbon footprint?).

Additionally, how many veterans' VA healthcare and/or compensation was lost in opportunity costs by the more than $8 billion in federal funds squandered on neutralization schemes instead of safer, more economical and reliable incineration? Hint: Three (3) SDCs at Pueblo and two (2) SDCs at Richmond = About $150 million total; or some 53x less costly than neutralization. Admittedly peanuts in comparison to the ongoing debt hemorrhaging via excuse of the Great Hysteria; neutralization of weaponized chemical agents was nonetheless an unnecessary over-expenditure also achieved through the exploitation of fear.

Taxpayer dollars squandered on "neutralization" of weaponized chemical agents at Pueblo and Richmond were in the end wasteful diversions aimed merely at pacifying (paying?) "activist" Leftist front groups. The truth remains the most dangerous chemical weapons at both depots will all be burned. Safely. "Keep your eye on the card, kid."

Merry Christmas!

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Bretz: 'Thankful'

Dear Editor:

I have sent letters to your newspaper in the past and I just wanted to share this with your readers.

My husband and I were married years ago and were blessed with two girls and two boys. Our youngest daughter was diagnosed with brain cancer when she was 7-years-old. She fought a good fight, but lost the battle in 2017.

My husband James was ill before her passing but his health declined and he passed in 2018. We were married for 51-plus years at his passing.

Last year at Thanksgiving time, I learned that I had breast cancer. After many tests, surgery, chemotherapy and radiation, I finished all of that and I am now on a 5-year, every-day pill.

I am elderly and not in the best of health being a diabetic also and cannot get my numbers controlled even with Insulin.

A grandson lives with me, he is grown up and my oldest son lives with me. He has been ill and will be having tests done on Monday, Dec. 28 for a blockage in his colon followed by surgery.

The surgeon said he would not rule out cancer. The last four years have been enduring for this family but you know, I am so thankful. I was married to a wonderful husband and father.I was the mother of one of the sweetest daughters that anyone could ask for. The cancer I have is Invasive Ductal Carcinoma, it is very aggressive, but so am I.

My son will get his health back to where it needs to be and I have my three children and grandchildren who love me very much. I am so thankful. We are all facing such difficult times with Covid and it will pass.

I just wanted to share that with all of you. I have very little to offer but if I can ever be there for any of you, let me know and I will try my best to be there for you.

Merry Christmas to all and God Bless. I hope Santa is good to all this year.

Kathleen Bretz

Wordon thestreet

"Do you have all your Christmas shopping done yet?

Cheyenne Duff

"I'm about half done. Money has been tight and I'll try to get it done this week."

Daniel Burch

"I've got most of it done. I've got to get one more paycheck, then I can finish."

Tom Schultz

"I shop for Christmas all year long. That way I don't get involved in the Christmas rush."

Resource Conservation and Recovery Act
Class 2 Hazardous Waste Permit Modification Requests

Background: The U.S. Army owns the facility located at Blue Grass Army Depot (BGAD), 431 Battlefield Memorial Highway, Richmond, Kentucky. BGAD owns and Bechtel Parsons Blue Grass (BPBG) operates the Blue Grass Chemical Agent-Destruction Pilot Plant (BGCAPP) also located at 431 Battlefield Memorial Highway, Richmond, Kentucky. This public notice includes two separate permitting actions by BPBG being sought under the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA).

In support of the operation of BGCAPP, two RCRA Class 2 Hazardous Waste Permit Modifications, Vertical Rocket Cutting Machines (VRCMs) and Rocket Non-Destructive Examination (RNDE), and Treatment of VX Rockets, will be submitted to the Kentucky Department for Environmental Protection (KDEP) for review and approval. The first modification allows substitution of four VRCMs for the two existing rocket cutting machines in the Munitions Demilitarization Building (MDB). These will be used in processing the M55 rocket stockpile. In addition, the RNDE technology will be used to evaluate M55 rockets for chemical agent liquid leaks prior to processing in the VRCMs. The second modification adds to the Part B permit the processing of M55 rockets containing VX located in the MDB.

Persons wishing to comment on the permit modification requests are invited to submit comments by letter or email during the 60-day public comment period beginning December 17, 2020 and ending February 15, 2021. All written comments must be submitted by close of business on February 15, 2021 to Mr. Brandon May at the KDEP address below or via email at brandon.may@ky.gov.

Division of Waste Management, Hazardous Waste Branch
ATTN: Brandon May
300 Sower Boulevard, 2nd Floor
Frankfort, KY 40601

Copies for Review: The two RCRA Class 2 permit modification requests are being placed before the public for a 60-day comment period. The permit modification requests are available for review on the Program Executive Office, Assembled Chemical Weapons Alternatives public website:

https://www.peoacwa.army.mil/bgcapp/environmental-activities-at-bgcapp/

Public Meeting: No public meeting will be held regarding these permit modification requests due to federal, state and local guidelines for social distancing due to the coronavirus. For members of the public who may have questions, BGCAPP personnel will be available to provide answers throughout the public comment period. Please contact:

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Kirksville Chronicles

Santa Claus rides into Kirksville in style

On Friday, December 19, Santa Claus was riding in style with the Masonic Lodge and Kirksville Volunteer Fire Department members.

On a trailer in an Adirondack chair pulled by a festively decorated side-by-side, Santa waved to the neighborhood children of Sunny Acres and Spring Lake subdivisions.

Thanks to Lodge 183, Master Nicholas Logan Foster and his family for hosting Santa's visit through our community and to the Kirksville Volunteer Fire Department for escorting them through safely. Children in the community were waving with glee as Santa came to town.

Carrie Grant

This was a new event for our community, and one I hope becomes a tradition.

The Kirksville Volunteer Fire Department has been a strong, invaluable resource for our community since 1977.

In the past several months, the KVFD has been active many times to help our community members and others throughout the county with structural fires. However, they have also aided in escorts for birthday parades, and now a Christmas parade featuring Santa himself. We are always grateful to have the KVFD in our community.

The Masonic Lodge has also been a strong presence in our community for many years.

They have hosted country ham breakfasts on many occasions and continue to serve our community and others through their long-standing traditions and charitable giving.

Our Lodge is home to 72 members and continues to give back to the community.

'Ms. Dottie' will be missed

This past week, Kirksville lost a long-standing community member. Mrs. Dorothy Ellen Shrader Spurlock passed away on December 14.

"Ms. Dottie" as many of the youth in the community called her, was a devout servant of the Lord and held many roles during her time at Kirksville Baptist Church.

As her obituary highlighted, she was a grandmother to many. Ms. Dottie's door was always open to the youth of Kirksville Baptist Church, and you were sure to leave her home feeling loved and well-fed in body and soul.

Many youth in the community likely recall her hosting summer gatherings in her pool and being part of the yearly dinner-train at Christmas.

Her presence in our community will be missed.

Avoid anything that requires a little assembly

Perhaps you heard about the guy who had gotten one of those toy model car sets for Christmas.

His wife teased him about it. "The box says it's for children 7 years old and up, and you're 41," she said.

Roger Alford

"The joke was on her, though," the fellow said, "because I got it done in two years."

When my kids were small, I couldn't begin to calculate how many hours I spent putting together things that said "some assembly required." There were dollhouses, kitchen sets, swing sets, and lots of things I've mercifully forgotten. Too often, these gifts meant I had to work late into the night to have them ready by Christmas morning.

After a few futile attempts to do it my way, I'd typically pull out the instructions to try to see where I went wrong. Sometimes, it turned out I had done nothing right and would have to start over.

That's kind of the way it is with our lives. We attempt to do things our way, but end up making a huge mess. That's when we consult the instruction manual – the Bible – and find out where we went wrong. Then, the Lord gives us an opportunity to start over again.

Jesus, of course, is the one who gives us that new start. That's why Christians are so excited about celebrating the birth of Christ. It's an amazing thing that He was willing to leave the glory of Heaven to live among us and ultimately to die for us.

People have always had a tendency to try to save themselves by "being good" and by "doing good." What's hard for us to understand is that "there is none righteous, no, not one" (Romans 3:10).

We tend to compare ourselves to bad neighbors down the street or to inmates in the state prison and decide we're good. But if we compare ourselves to a holy God, we find that we come up far short on the righteousness scale.

That's why Jesus came on that first Christmas, wrapped in simple swaddling clothes as a gift to the whole world. That baby lying in that manager was and is the Savior of the world, and He alone is able to straighten out the messes we make of our lives.

You know how on Christmas Eve we feel like we should call for help to get those gifts marked "some assembly required" put together after we've messed them up. Well, that's just exactly what Jesus wants us to do when we realize we've made messes of our lives.

He's just a prayer away.

Posing by her favorite game show host's star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame, Tracy Kidd said her experience on The Price is Right was unforgettable.

Tracy Kidd

Reflections

Berea Citizen Archives: Dec. 19, 2003

Berea Community High School alumnus, Tracy Kidd made an appearance on an episode of "The Price is Right" that would be aired on January 17, 2003. In addition to being selected as a contestant, Tracy went on to win $25,000 in prizes as a part of her experience. "The trip was a Christmas gift for me and my mom," said Tracy, "we had both wanted to be a part of the show for a long time." Tracy and her mom made the trip to California solely to appear on the game show. "We waited for a long time (8 hours), so we had time to make new friends," said Tracy, "and once we got in we had to be interviewed by the show's producer." After the interview they got to go into the studio. "After I was called up on stage, I got to bid on a Universal Home Fitness Center," said Tracy. "Everyone else was bidding really high, so I bid $1 (the actual price was $1099)." Her low bid paid off and she was invited on stage to play the next game called "Cover Up." In this game, Tracy was given wrong prices and the objective was to cover up the incorrect numbers with the correct ones. Tracy successfully completed the task and won a new Ford Escort, as well as a chance to spin her way into the showcase showdown. Tracy's first spin was 40 cents, 10 cents short of the person she had to beat to move on. Her second spin was enough to land her in the final contest of the day, the show case showdown. Tracy opted to pass on the first showcase, which contained an RV package. The second showcase was a Water Fun Package that included a sailboat, above ground pool and a trip to Niagara Falls. Tracy bid $19,875 and was within $500 of the actual retail price, allowing her to become the top winner for the episode.

Berea Hospital signed a letter of intent with Catholic Health Initiatives (CHI) of Denver, Colorado to become a part of the national healthcare system. According to officials from both sides, negotiations had entered the final stages and a definitive agreement would likely be reached during the first quarter of 2003. Dr. Phillip Curd, chairman of the board of directors for Berea Hospital said the potential relationship with Catholic Health Initiatives was expected to bring new sources of capital and economies of scale to the hospital. "In reaching a final agreement with CHI, I anticipate that we have found a partner that can work with physicians, administration and management to expand excellent hospital-based medical care that would be provided to the community that Berea Hospital serves," said Curd. James Kaskie, senior vice president of operations for CHI, noted that Berea Hospital is a quality organization with excellent growth potential. "The addition of Berea Hospital would enhance CHI and our service presence in Kentucky," said Kaskie. "We believe that working together, we can increase the number of available services and expand access locally, thereby having a positive impact in improving the health and well being of the residents of Berea and the surrounding community."

Recently, Helen Richmond was recognized for 30 years of outstanding service to the Save the Children organization's Berea office. Richmond, who serves as the sponsorship manager for the organization (which serves underprivileged children Appalachian regions of Kentucky, Tennessee, and West Virginia), was honored with a luncheon to celebrate her years of service. After graduating from Berea College in 1970 with a Bachelor degree in business, Richmond joined Save the Children's Appalachian Field Office as a secretary. She was appointed field coordinator in 1984 and in 1990, she was appointed to serve as the administrative officer until she accepted the position of sponsorship manager. As sponsorship manager, Richmond oversaw and managed communication between 7,100 sponsors from across the U. S, as well as nearly 5,000 school-aged children. Richmond and her team were recognized for excellence in administering sponsorships amongst all the Save the Children offices in the U.S. and 30 countries.

The Berea Chamber of Commerce recognized several well deserving Berea businesses and citizens at its annual awards held on Thursday, December 12th at Boone Tavern. Volunteer of the Year honors went to Sandy Bolin. Emogene Hogg-Hartman received the Community Service Award on behalf of the Boy's and Girl's Club of Madison County. People's Bank of Madison County also received a Community Service Award that was accepted by bank president Larry Harrison. Pamela Cvetican, owner of Fish Wisdom Beads in Old Town was shocked when she was named New Member of the Year. Janel Lakes-Davenport received the Chamber Member of the Year Award as well as a Chamber Volunteer Award. Myrt Wilson received Volunteer of the Year and Teresa Scenters accepted the Business of the Year Award for the Berea Citizen.

Berea Police were investigating the theft of approximately $4,000 of tools from the construction site of the Kentucky Artisan Center on Walnut Meadow Road. According to officers, on December 16th, site supervisor Kevin Taylor informed his company as well as employees of Pruett Mechanical, Fayette Electrical, and Clement Heating and Air Conditioning that they had been the victims of theft. Police stated that someone had cut the locks off of storage trailers located on the site and had taken tools totaling $3,889 in value. The case was under investigation.

Berea native, Colonel Robert A. Rowlette Jr., recently assumed the command of the Louisville Division of the Army Corp of Engineers. Rowlette was commissioned in the Corps of Engineers in 1979, upon graduation from the University of Kentucky where he earned a Bachelor of Science degree in civil engineering. Rowlette also earned his Master of Science degree in civil engineering from the University in 1990 and is registered as a professional engineer in the commonwealths of Kentucky and Virginia. Colonel Rowlette is a graduate of Madison Central High School.

Scare haunts Calipari

By Keith Taylor
Citizen Publisher

When Kentucky coach John Calipari heard the news of Keyontae Johnson's collapse on the court prior to a game last week, he had flashbacks of a similar incident while he was at UMass in 1995.

"I lived it with Marcus Camby," he said. "We were at St. Bonaventure and Donta Bright came running in the locker room prior to the game and said, 'Coach, Marcus fell out. Marcus fell out.' And I went out and he was unconscious in the hallway."

Calipari recalled he stayed overnight with Camby and said such incidents as passing out are mysterious.

"They never found out what it was," he said. "They never had an idea what it was. They say 70 percent of those kinds of things you never know why it happened. The rest of the season I was really conscious of him, especially when he first came back."

Kentucky guard Devin Askew said Johnson's incident puts things into perspective.

"t's sad to see any basketball player go through what he's going through right now," he said. "It helps me focus on the bigger picture. Basketball is just a sport we play. Our lives are more important."

Rough ride

When Kentucky took a bus to Atlanta when it played Georgia Tech on Dec. xx, the trip was longer than Calipari expected.

"I thought it was a four-hour bus ride," he said. "I did. And when they told me it was six hours, I go, 'What are you talking about? We're going to Atlanta.' They said, 'It's six hours. It's six!' And I only learned that about four or five days before the bus ride."

Askew thought the drive was longer than expected.

"That bus ride to Atlanta was rough," he said. "That was six hours … I mean, if we could have flown, I would have rather flown. I would rather fly anywhere. But yeah, that was that. On the way back we all just slept. We were pretty tired."

Calipari made the decision based on safety more than budget costs.

"That was my mistake, but I thought it was four hours away," he said. "That's how much I'm driving around. I'm kind of like the guy that doesn't know how much milk costs even though I do. I'm at Kroger more than you could believe."

Brooks takes lead

Stands up for team after loss to North Carolina

Kentucky's Keion Brooks didn't mind stepping in for his teammates when they weren't available to the media following a 75-63 loss to North Carolina Saturday.

Keith Taylor

"I'm one of the leaders of our team," he said. "My guys didn't feel like they were up to it; they didn't want to do it, so I took that on. Being a leader, a person that had some experience last year, I'm not going to put them out here in a vulnerable situation where emotions are high. You never know what could go wrong. So defending my teammates, that's what I'm out here to do."

Although five-straight losses have been hard for the 1-5 Wildcats to endure, it's been equally difficult for Brooks to watch from the sidelines. He suffered a leg injury during the preseason. Workouts and hasn't been given clearance to play by the team's medical staff.

"It's extremely frustrating because I know what they're going through and it's tough for them and I can't go out there and just be out there with them," he said. "I wish I could go down there and get a couple of rebounds for us. Do the simple stuff, do stuff that brings the team morale up."

> "If you're a real fan and a true Kentucky fan, stick with us, we will eventually turn this around,"
> Keion Brooks, UK forward

As a veteran, Brooks added it's difficult not being able to provide leadership on the court during times of adversity.

"Being the only one playing for coach, I'm out there on the floor to calm us down and let us know that we're going to be fine," he said. "It's tough to do from the sideline but I'm doing everything I can. We just gotta keep believing in each other and we'll get it all figured out."

From his point of view, Brooks said Kentucky's biggest issue is mental errors that have plagued the team all season and added a lot of it is because of a "lack of experience, especially when you've lost a couple of games in a row like we have."

"You have a tendency to press a little too much instead of sticking with the game plan, sticking with each other," he said. "Right now, we don't have the maturity and experience to keep a lead and believe that we're going to pull this out and we're going to win this game.

"When you press so hard and are so focused about not messing up, you actually mess up. I just think that over time, right now coaches are still coaching us up, we'll do all of that."

The solution, Brooks said, is to simply win games, starting with Saturday's showdown against in-state rival Louisville.

"We're not winning, so we shouldn't expect positive reinforcement — that's basically what it boils down to — it's that simple," he said. "Once we start winning, we'll get that type of stuff. But we need to worry about continuing to get better every day.

"Stacking good days together in practice. We need to get our swagger and confidence back. That's what I'm really worried about. Even if we do win, not everything is going to be positive."

Until then, Brooks advised the fans to be patient.

"Just keep believing in us, we still have a chance to do something special," he said. "We've got a lot of young guys. This stuff is hard, especially with what's going on in the world, it's tough on everybody.

"Continue to stick with us. Day-by-day, we're trying to figure it out. We're doing everything we can to continuously get better. If you're a real fan and a true Kentucky fan, stick with us, we will eventually turn this around."

Cats set to return home for the holidays

The Kentucky women's basketball team is in the midst of a 10-day break before taking on Arkansas in a New Year's Eve contest at 8:30 p.m. on Dec. 31 at Memorial Coliseum.

Kentucky coach Kyra Elzy plans to give her players off for Christmas and addition to extra practice time.

"We will keep them sharp because we will go back to practice," she said. "We will get on the practice floor and continue to work on the things that we need to in order to get better before we head into the SEC season. They will go home for the Christmas break, and my prayers are already going up that everyone is safe and can remain COVID free."

The Wildcats opened the season with six straight wins before an 86-82 loss to DePaul on Dec. 16. Kentucky rolled to a 98-37 win over Wofford last Saturday.

Cats head back to Jax

Kentucky began its current bowl streak in Jacksonville and will be making a return to the TaxSlayer Gator Bowl to open the new year.

The Wildcats (4-6) received an invite to the bowl Sunday and will take on North Carolina State at noon on Jan. 2, extending the team's postseason streak to five games. Kentucky dropped a 33-18 decision to Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl in 2016.

"Hopefully we'll play better, you always remember the outcome in those games," Kentucky coach Mark Stoops said. "We want it to be a real positive experience for our players."

Stoops is the first Kentucky coach to guide the Wildcats to five straight bowl appearances.

The two teams last met in 1970, with UK posting a 27-2 win on Halloween.

PROJECT

Cherry Road. The end of Cherry Road was badly flooded in 2010, causing significant damage to at least one residence. In a 2019 public meeting, consultants from Banks Engineering stated the proposed improvements could reduce water runoff by about 40 percent, reducing the risk of future flooding.

The initial plan proposed diverting much of the storm water into a retention pond, which would then drain into the Brushy Fork section of Silver Creek. The project also entails redoing the road on Chestnut Court, including replacing the drainage, curb and the asphalt.

Another problem to be addressed is inadequate drainage pipes and storm water boxes on Cherry Road, which residents say has worsened the flooding problem. Some of that infrastructure is 40 or 50 years old and wasn't built to today's specifications, officials said at a 2019 public meeting.

The design process began in 2017, and officials have stated construction time could take between six and 10 months. At a recent Berea City Council meeting, Public Works Committee Chair Jerry Little expressed relief that the city is investing in the project, which was budgeted in 2019, but was significantly delayed by the COVID-19 pandemic when all capital improvement projects were temporarily put on hold.

2020 will surely be rembered for a number of reasons. One of the reasons my family will remember 2020 is because on December 29, 2020, our dad, Elmer Harrison of Sand Gap, Kentucky turned 100 years old!

He has overcome numerous hardships over the course of his lifetime. Too many to mention. Strong men may be few, but my dad is definitely one. To say he is strong is an understatement. With the help of his friend, Daphne, he is able to live at home and to see to his own affairs. We are asking you to help him celebrate this milestone by sending him a birthday card. Cards may be sent to the following:

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.
And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid.
And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.
For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.
And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.
And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,
Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

Letters to Santa

The Berea Citizen
Wednesday, December 23, 2020

Dear Santa,

Hello, how are you and the reindeer. How are the elves doing? I hope everyone is doing good. Thank you for all the presents last year that was really nice of you. Did you like the cookies and milk I left on the table for you?

I have been really good this year. I have been helping my parents with my two little sisters. I have been on time for my Zoom meetings for school and trying my best to get good grades. I clean my room and load and unload the dishwasher for my mom.

This year I would like a remote control robot, a new charger for my phone. I would also like a four wheeler. Santa could you please bring my brother and two sisters some toys also.

Love,

Combs had 'heart of a true servent leader'

Larry Combs
1951-2020

By Keith Taylor
Citizen Publisher

During his tenure on the Madison County Fiscal Court, Larry Combs was a strong advocate for Southern Madison County, the City of Berea. City and county leaders said his presence will be missed following his death last week.

Combs passed away early on Christmas Day at the age of 69 after representing District 1 for nearly four decades. He was laid to rest Wednesday and had been ill for the past month.

"In his role as Magistrate, Larry was a strong advocate for Berea and Southern Madison County," Berea Mayor Bruce Fraley said. "He always made sure that the perspectives and interests of the people in his district were represented and respected on all matters coming before the fiscal court."

Combs was elected into office in November of 1981 and sworn into office on Jan. 1, 1982, where he served until the time of his death. Combs served areas of Big Hill, Wallacetown, Dreyfus, Bobtown, the City of Berea and

Looking back 2020

1 A world-wide pandemic held a firm grip on the state, county and city during the final nine months of the year, disrupting our normal lives and bringing heartbreak to several families in the community. As of Tuesday, more than 5,000 cases were reported in Madison County and 36 deaths.

2 Protests following the deaths of George Floyd and Louisville native Breonna Taylor were held at the intersection near Boone Square and Union Church and protesters addressed their concerns over racial equality across the nation last summer. A solidarity march was held in support of Black Lives Matter in July.

3 A "Berea Backs the Blue" March was held in August in support of local law enforcement officers. Approximately 1,400 supporters participated in the event. Former Berea Council member David Rowlette read a resolution supporting police when the marchers reached City Hall.

4 The City of Berea welcomed a new high-tech employer to the city when AppHarvest broke ground for a 15-acre greenhouse, which will produce leafy green vegetables. The Berea facility will be one of three large operations in Central Kentucky, including one at Speedwell in Madison County and another in Morehead.

5 Berea City officials opted not to open the Berea City Pool because of the pandemic. "Due to the significant lead time required to start-up, maintain, and operate the facility, it is not feasible to consider opening our facility. We are hopeful to resume operations in 2021," City officials said. In addition, the July 4 celebration was held on a much-lower scale than years past.

6 The Spoonbread Festival was canceled and the Berea Chamber of Commerce had a drive-thru balloon glow on Oct. 31 for trick-or-treaters throughout the city. In addition to the Spoonbread event, the yearly Madison County Fair and Horse Show, was called off because of COVID-19 concerns. The Fair was scheduled for July 24-Aug. 1. The Berea Arts and Crafts Festival also was canceled and the annual twilight Christmas parade also was called off this year. Some Festival of the Learnshops were held virtually. The First Friday and Levitt AMP summer concert series also was canceled last summer.

7 The Berea City Council welcomed two members during a swearing-in ceremony earlier this month. Newcomers Katie Startzman and Teresa Scenters joined incumbents Cora Jane Wilson, Ronnie Terrill, Steve Caudill, Jerry Little, Jim Davis and John Payne and will serve the next two years.

8 Madison County Clerk Kenny Barger oversaw a unique primary and general election, with the expansion and addition of mail-in voting and early voting, giving voters three options at the polls this year. During the general election in November, 44,309 voters cast their ballots, with 9,346 voting on election day, 15,018 by absentee and 19,945 were cast via early voting. The county, as with most locations in the state, allowed open voting with no precincts, called voting super centers.

9 One of three men arrested on child sex charges was found dead at 108 Lorraine Court. Stephen Pulsford, 61, had previously been serving as an associate professor at Berea College before his arrest. No foul play was suspected in the case.

10 Madison County Schools split time during the new year with online and in-person classes because of the pandemic. The Berea Independent Schools held their classes strictly online during the first semester. Graduation ceremonies for the Class of 2020 were canceled because of the virus threat and most high schools held their ceremonies virtually.

OBITUARIES

Larry Lloyd Combs

Larry Lloyd Combs, 69, passed away early Christmas morning at the Compassionate Care Center in Richmond, KY. He was born June 10, 1951, in Berea College Hospital to the late Elvin & Bette Usher Combs. Larry was a lifelong resident of Berea and his greatest joy was serving others. He loved to help people in any capacity--this was evident in his life as he was the longest actively serving Magistrate in Kentucky. He was elected in November of 1981 and sworn into office in January 1982, where he represented District 1, covering Southern Madison County and the City of Berea, until the time of his death.

Larry also loved his farm, raising cattle, hogs, and tobacco. Additionally, he enjoyed fishing and spending time with his family. Previously, Larry was a Restaurateur having owned and operated Lee's Famous Recipe in Richmond and Kentucky Fried Chicken stores in Irvine and Jackson, (Breathitt County) Kentucky. He was of the Christian faith and a member of the Richmond Church of Christ.

Other than his parents, he was preceded in death by his wife, Lora Abrams Combs, his twin brother Jerry Combs, and his sister Edie Combs McCreary, as well as his beloved dog, Cookie.

Larry is survived by his daughter, Larinda Combs Agee and her husband Andy of Berea, KY, his sister Jane Combs Brandenburg and her husband Ray of Berea, KY, his brother John E. Combs of Richmond, KY and brother-in-law Earl McCreary of Rockwood, TN. He has four granddaughters: Gracie, Katie, Isabel, and Adalyn. A host of nieces, nephews, friends, and family that were dear to his heart also survive.

Funeral services were Wednesday, December 30, 2020 at West Side Baptist Church. Rev. Jack Hall officiated. Burial followed in the Combs Family Cemetery. Pallbearers will be Eric Combs, Brian Combs, Andy Riley, John E. Combs, Lee Roy Brock, Tyler McCreary, and Randy Kates. Honorary Pallbearers were Oscar Combs, Mike Coyle, Ronnie Devere, Ray Brandenburg, Chan Combs, and Earl McCreary.

Memorial contributions suggested to the Compassionate Care Center, 350 Isaacs Lane Richmond, Ky. 40475.

Finally putting 2020 behind us

Keith Taylor

This year is coming to a close, finally.

We've endured a pandemic and I personally dealt with the loss of my mom back in October. Even when we return to normal in the coming months, things won't be the same and will require a few tweaks an adjustments.

The week of Christmas, Rhonda and I both tested positive for COVID-19 and are recovering at home during the final week of 2020. We were both were extremely careful, while out in public, but the virus found a way into our household, where we have been quarantined since Dec. 23. Don't ask how we contracted the virus, because we don't even know where it came from in all honesty. We just want to make sure no one else gets it from until the quarantine period ends.

When looking back at the past year, it has been a year unlike any other and personally I have missed interacting without a mask, shaking hands, fearless family gatherings and life as it once was before we ever heard of social distancing, mask mandates, meetings and press conferences on Zoom and cardboard cutout fans.

We missed a lot of things the past 12 months and I jotted down some things that changed in the past year that were normal before the pandemic changed it all .

I missed one-on-one interviews and interactions, whether from the most important figures in our community, Kentucky coaches and athletes to everyday common people who have a story to share to readers. Sure, Zoom and phone interviews have filled the void, but there's nothing like face-to-face contact and friendships.

I missed not taking my niece Addisyn to the Madison County Fair It seems like we did that every single year and I always made sure I rode the "crazy bus" and watched the truck and tractor pulls, one of the my favorite events at the fair.

I really missed not attending city council and fiscal court meetings and covering sporting events with a full house.

A near-empty Kroger Field and Rupp Arena just isn't the same, not matter how many fake fans you stick in the stands or how much fake noise you can filter through the public address system.

The hardest thing was to avoid people in public for fear of getting he virus, because you just never knew who had it and who didn't. Some symptoms were evident and others weren't, making it more dangerous to contract while in the general public.

This past year presented some personal blessings in spite of the pandemic and for those I am most thankful. One of those is being named publisher of this newspaper.

Let's hope the next year isn't a repeat of the previous 12 months. Happy New Year!

Post COVID-19

Finding a silver lining

Bruce Fraley
Berea Mayor

After nearly 10 months into the COVID-19 pandemic, most of us are tired of hearing about it and, quite frankly, worn out on the difficulties it has caused for all of us.

This made me very reluctant to write about this topic, but it occurred to me that there will be good things that come from our experience in dealing with the pandemic.

On of my mentors told me something that has stuck with me since the late 1980's when he said, "Bruce, every dark cloud has a silver lining."

That led me to think about what our silver lining might be. The first thing that came to mind from my professional world was the high level of communication and coordination among leaders in our county and cities. When we found out about or first positive case in Madison County last March, both of your Mayors and your County Judge Executive quickly came to a consensus that a press conference to inform the citizens on the topic was critical. With the help of the leadership team at the Madison County Health Department, along with Madison County Emergency Management and the Presidents of Saint Joseph Berea and Baptist Health Richmond hospitals, we held a joint press conference on March 11, 2020.

From that first press conference, a collaboration and information sharing network emerged and included the Superintendents of our public-school systems, the Presidents of both Berea College and Eastern Kentucky University, local elected officials, the Police and Fire Chiefs of all three governments, the EMS Director, and many others in leadership positions in our county.

This group has met by videoconference on a weekly basis since late March. We are now able to meet, collaborate, share information and take actions by videoconference in an efficient and cost-effective manner. The point is that this type of communication and interaction with leaders in our county is totally unprecedented and we all expect this level of cooperation to continue after the pandemic.

Our county will be stronger because of this experience. A silver lining? I believe it is, but that is only one of the silver linings.

There has also been "something good" that came from the disruption caused by the pandemic that is occurring in our personal lives. I have spoken with so many people of all ages and backgrounds that comment about how staying at home more has led to spending more time with their families. This has certainly been the case in my family. We had to slow down from the routine hustle and bustle of our daily lives.

As a result, we have taken time to have more meals together, to talk to one another, to support one another, to encourage one another, and to focus on the things that are most important, including our health, safety, and well-being. Not that we were doing a bad job of taking time for each other before, but this difficult situation really made us refocus and remember the "little things" that we often take for granted that are so important to all of us. My hopes and beliefs are that families will emerge from this stronger. Another silver lining? I think so and I hope you do as well.

During my youth, a few years ago, I was a Boy Scout. Our "motto" was "Be Prepared."

During my reflections as we learned to cope with the pandemic, it occurred to me that I, and we as a society, have not been as "prepared" as we should be.

Personally, I had become dependent on others for so many things. I found a need to be more self-reliant as an individual and concluded that we need to be more self-reliant as a nation. We depend on other countries for food, clothing, manufactured goods, and the list could go on. From a personal standpoint, I decided that I needed to grow more of my own food and I had a pretty good garden this year. I put new line on my fishing pole where I could catch a meal like I did in my younger days.

I even preserved food for the first time in many years. If we can become less reliant on others and more reliant on ourselves, our abilities, and our own labor, I believe we will be better off in the long run. If our nation can bring production of food, goods and products back to America, it is my belief we will be better off as a country. And I believe these things will happen due to the "wake up call" of COVID-19.

Additionally, our local governments discovered that we need to rethink the way we prepare with personal protective equipment, or PPE and emergency supplies. Being better prepared and more self-reliant are definitely silver linings in that dark cloud.

We should ask ourselves, "how can I emerge from this pandemic a better person, and better family member, a more active community member, as someone who is more caring and loving of my neighbor?"

We can all answer those questions from within. We can emerge stronger, better, closer, and more prepared if we choose to do so.

My wish for everyone in Madison County is for peace, strength and determination to make 2021 a better year and the beginning of a brighter future for all of us.

Ready to LEAVE 2020 BEHIND?

• Public Notice•

If You Received A Bargain Hunt Store Receipt That Showed More Than The Last 5 Digits Of Your Credit/Debit Card Number, Your Rights May Be Affected By A Class Action Settlement.

Para información en español, visite el sitio web.

What is this lawsuit about? The lawsuit alleges that customers who used a credit or debit card at Bargain Hunt stores were provided with electronically-printed customer receipts which had more than the last five digits of their card number printed on the receipt. Bargain Hunt denies any wrongdoing but is settling the claims in this lawsuit.

Who is included in the Settlement? You are included in the Settlement if you used your personal credit or debit card at any Bargain Hunt store and you were provided with an electronically-printed customer receipt between August 1, 2016 and June 30, 2017 that shows more than the last 5 digits of your card number.

What are my rights? Submit A Claim - You can get up to $100 from the Settlement. To be eligible for any money, you must submit a Claim Form by March 22, 2021 along with: (1) An original or copy of a receipt from any Bargain Hunt store between August 1, 2016 and June 30, 2017 showing more than the last 5 digits of your credit/debit card number; or (2) An original or copy of your credit/debit card statement showing your first and last name, and a purchase from any Bargain Hunt store between August 1, 2016 and June 30, 2017.

Visit FactaReceiptSettlement.com for more details on benefits available and how to submit a claim.

Do Nothing – If you do nothing, you will remain in the Settlement, but you will not receive any money from the Settlement, and you will be bound by the orders and judgment of the Court and give up your rights to sue for the claims resolved by this Settlement. Object – You can stay in the Settlement and object to the Settlement. Your objection must be mailed to the Settlement Administrator on or before February 5, 2021. Exclude Yourself – If you do not want to be legally bound by the Settlement and you want to preserve your right to sue about the claims released by this Settlement, you must request to be excluded on or before February 5, 2021. If you exclude yourself, you will not receive any money from this Settlement.

The parties will request a Fairness Hearing before the Honorable Judge Andy Prather, Division 2, on April 1, 2021, at 10:00 a.m. to decide whether to approve the settlement and to award attorneys' fees and expenses to the Settlement Class Counsel appointed by the Court, plus Settlement Class Representative incentive awards. If the hearing date/location changes, the updated information will be posted on the settlement website. Applicable pleadings will be posted on the website below after they are filed. You may attend this hearing, but you do not have to. If you want to be represented by your own lawyer, you may hire one at your own expense, but you do not have to.

This is a summary notice only. For more information about the Settlement, including the Long Form Notice and Claim Form, please visit FactaReceiptSettlement.com or write Bargain Hunt Settlement, PO Box 42546, Philadelphia, PA 19101-2546 or call 1-833-913-4213.

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Kirksville Chronicles

‘Workhorse’ generation leaving their mark

Carrie Grant

On Christmas Eve this past week, my grandfather, Bill Grant, passed away from COVID-19.

“Papaw” as he was known to me, was born in 1940. He farmed in Kirksville and portions of Garrard County for most of his life. His generation is what I consider to be the last of the true “workhorses.”

The last generation of men who knew how to self-sustain through hard times, build a family to last, and help their community members with a moment’s notice and few resources.

Ten years ago, a trip to Roundhill Store in Kirksville allowed a peek into the daily life of a generation of men who forged the bonds of our community. Walking into “the store,” as many in the area affectionately call it, has a way of flooding the mind with memories of bygone days. I can still envision many of these men sitting around the tables taking a break from their day eating lunch, and can still hear the chatter of tall tales, sharing of tips, offerings of help…and I will always remember the sounds of cards shuffling before a good game of Rook. The men visiting this store during their workday were fellowshipping and communing together. Many of these men had ties beyond that of a common career-they had lived through times in our community that made them stronger and encouraged the realization that they were “better together.” Looking back, I am so proud to have had a glimpse into their daily lives.

About the time that this generation was born, the world was in financial turmoil, many being born during the Great Depression. However, Kirksville has a rich history during this time, a record that shows how strong our community has always been through the decades and how we were indeed a town of our own. Kirksville was home to a grist mill, owned by Jasper Sebastian and his wife on Dogwalk Road, a bank, a post office, and a blacksmith. The men born during this time grew up together in this community, raised their families together, and defined hard work for coming generations.

My papaw’s passing reminded me of some of the familiar faces that have left this world in recent years. Faces that I grew up visiting with, learning from, and often sharing lunch with on days that I escaped my world and spent the day on the farm with papaw. There will never be another feeling like the days in the past of sitting next to him at the store, watching a game of hard-played Rook, listening to the sounds of my childhood and learning to be a better human.

This column is written in loving memory of them and the lessons they left behind for people in our community.. Their impacts will forever be felt on Kirksville.

Berea Citizen Archives: December 26, 1963

Supersonic Flights by the Strategic Air Command (SAC) B-58 Hustler Bombers were scheduled to take place in the area from January 2 through March 31, 1964, along a route from Poplar Bluff, Missouri to Richmond, Kentucky. Supersonic flights along the route were to occur at intermittent times during the schedule. Scoring equipment at the radar bombsite near Richmond would be responsible for determining the accuracy of the simulated bomb drops through the use of radio and radar signals. Aircraft on the training missions carried no actual bombs. Bombers flew at supersonic speeds up to Mach 2 (1,300 mph) and at altitudes above 35,000 feet over a 40-mile wide corridor. Training corridors for the SAC were rotated periodically to maintain the realistic nature of the exercises because benefits could become diminished if crews became familiar with landmarks, simulated targets and complexes or other identifiable aspects of a particular area. One of the features if the B-58, the free world’s fastest bomber, was its ability to sustain supersonic speed over substantial distances while approaching and leaving its target. This capacity enhanced crew survival and assured a higher probability of mission success despite strong enemy defensive measures normally expected over a target. A costly supersonic bomber was of very little value in combat if it’s crew could not use the full capacities of the aircraft due to inadequate prior training. Consequently, this type of aircraft needed to fly at high speeds creating sonic booms along routes. Because of its ability to fly at high altitudes, the booms created were comparatively weak in strength. Although startling or distracting in their suddenness, the booms were in no circumstances able to cause personal injury according to the SAC.

• Janice Hamblin of Dreyfus, an 8th grader at Kingston Elementary School, was selected as the winner in the annual soil conservation essay contest. Mike Elder of Model High School took 2nd place. These two won out over 1,290 competitors from the 18 schools in the Madison County Soil Conservation District. Hamblin and Elder represented Madison County in the Louisville competition where they competed against entries from every county in the state. Winners at the county level at other schools were as follows: Jimmy Evans, Berea; Randall G. Curry, Madison Central; and Dana Kilbourne, Kirksville and Knapp Hall. The winner in each county received a $25 U.S. Savings Bond from The Courier Journal, Louisville Times and WHAS, who were the state level sponsors. The state winner would take home a $200 U.S. Savings Bond plus an all expense paid trip for themselves, their parents and their teacher to the annual Farm Awards Luncheon given by the sponsors.

• Three youths were arrested and charged in connection with a break-in that occurred at Conn’s Service Station on U.S. 25. Buster Young, Jr. of Covington was charged with possessing burglary tools as well as breaking and entering. He was held to the grand jury in an examining trial before Police Judge Simon Johnson and placed under a $2,000 bond for both charges. Marcellus Eades of Berea was also charged with breaking and entering and held to the grand jury under a $2,000 bond. He was also charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. A 17 year old caught with Young and Eades faces a hearing before County Judges Charles Coy. Police Chief Donald Tudor and Kentucky State Police Trooper Homer Baker who followed the tracks in the snow arrested the three.

•Snow and ice was likely the cause of wreck early Monday that claimed the life of 24-year-old Evelyn Houston of Ohio. The accident, which occurred on U.S. 25 just north of Silver Creek Stables, also sent 6 others to the hospital. Elsie Woods, age 30, of Troy, Ohio was admitted to Berea College Hospital. Gary Woods, age 9, was treated and released from Berea College Hospital. Ricky Woods, age 6, was admitted to Berea College Hospital and Sandra Woods, age 10, was admitted to St. Joseph’s Hospital in Lexington with a fractured leg. The driver of the second car, Lloyd Clark, age 23, of Mt. Vernon was admitted to Berea College Hospital and his passenger, Herman Smith, age 27, of Route 3 was admitted to the University Hospital in Lexington. State Police said Woods was traveling south on U.S. 25 when she slit on the icy road into the path of the car driven by Clark.

• The Berea Chamber of Commerce gave special recognition to 3 city residents during its annual awards program held on December 18th at Boone Tavern Hotel. A surprise presentation of Man-of-the-Year was made to John Barton, president of the Chamber of Commerce. Barton had been associated with the Parker Seal Company for 13 years and was superintendent of the Berea facility. Mrs. O.H. Gunkler was recognized as Teacher-of-the-Year. She had been an English instructor at the Foundational School since 1958. Also elected, as Man-of-the-Year was William Blackburn, former superintendent of Berea College Electrical Department. During the presentation, Mayor C.C. Hensley paid tribute to Blackburn’s service to various civic projects, especially Berea City Parks. Following the presentation of awards, program attendees enjoyed a smorgasbord dinner with a varied selection of food. The Dukes of Harmony, a Lexington Based, provided entertainment,

• Richmond Resident, Edward Finnell plead guilty before Police Judge Simon Muncy in conjunction with recent break-ins and thefts form 4 Berea residences. Finnell was bound to February Grand Jury on 4 counts of housebreaking and taking of goods of value from a house. His bond was placed at $2,000 but as of press time, had not been posted and he remained in the county jail. Police Chief R.L. Lemaster said Finnell admitted to 4 thefts: 1) taking old coins, a pocket watch, a wrist watch and jewelry from the C.J.Rivers residence on Lorraine Court; 2) a money bag containing $198.12 belonging to Glades Christian Church from the Gordon Baugh residence on Meadowlark; 3) a break-in at the basement apartment of Leon Hisle in VanWinkle Grove and 4) the theft of a stop watch and some change from the residence of O.H. Gunkler on Center Street.

‘OK. Get Ready’

Roger Alford

As we approach the New Year, I’m hoping it will be a time of kindness and generosity, a time when love prevails.

Things took a promising turn on a father-and-son deer hunt when they heard noise in the brush. A deer was coming their way.

“OK. Get ready,” the father whispered to his son.

They could see only the deer’s legs as it came through the brush.

“OK. Get ready,” the father encouraged again. “He’ll be stepping into the clearing momentarily.”

They still could see nothing but legs.

“OK. Get ready. He’s just about there.”

The deer made it into the clearing. It was a magnificent 12-point buck. The gigantic rack looked like those you would see on display at an outdoors store.

“OK, cover your ears,” the father said.

I laughed at that tale when a fellow told it over lunch some time back. I think I’ve known a few people like that father over the years. Perhaps you have, too.

The Bible has so much to say about selfish people, and that father would seem to be a prime example. As we approach the New Year, I’m hoping it will be a time of kindness and generosity, a time when love prevails.

Romans 12:10 tells us to “be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honor preferring one another.” In other words, we should want good things for others more than we want them for ourselves.

In a culture where we see so many people putting themselves ahead of their families, friends, co-workers and neighbors, let’s be different. Let’s follow the biblical admonition from Hebrews 13:1 to love those around us.

And let’s do that throughout 2021 and beyond. “OK. Get ready.”

COMBS

Duluth during his tenure on the Madison County Fiscal Court.

Fraley added "it's hard to imagine that he served the people for nearly 40 years" in an elected capacity, but said Combs' longevity in county government speaks for itself.

"I think this shows his love for our county and city and reveals that he had the heart of a true servant leader," Fraley said. "His presence and voice in our County government is irreplaceable and he will be sorely missed."

Madison County Judge Executive Reagan Taylor agreed and ordered all flags be flown at half-staff from 8:30 a.m. Tuesday until 4:30 p.m. on Wednesday.

"It has been an honor to serve with Larry over the past six years," Madison County Judge Executive Reagan Taylor said. "His wealth of knowledge, experience, and leadership has been a critical part of the direction of our County over the past 38 years.

"Magistrate Combs always ended his magistrate report at every fiscal court meeting with his iconic catch phrase, 'I'm just happy to be here, Judge.' I sure hope Larry knew how happy we all were to have him there."

Fourth District Magistrate Tom Botkin has known Combs all of his life and considered him a "friend and mentor" on the court.

"Larry cared deeply for those he served for 39 years," said Botkin. "My mother lives in the 1st district and during the six years I served with Larry on the court he never failed to ask me how she was doing before the meetings would begin. The citizens of Berea have lost a voice, a friend and a true public servant. He will be greatly missed. Job well done, Larry. Rest in Peace."

Beyond his service as an elected official, Fraley relied on Combs for advice on various topics, including agriculture.

"Larry was just a great person." Fraley said. "Whether if was it was advice on farming, or catching up on how your family was doing, he always had time to talk, hear your concerns, and give his advice. Larry was always there when you needed him."

A replacement for Combs' vacancy on the Fiscal Court will be made by Kentucky Governor Andy Beshear, according to Kentucky Revised Statutes 63.190.

The statute reads as follows:

"In the event of a vacancy in the magistrate position, the appointment is made by the Governor. There is no deadline set in statute by when a decision must be made by Office of the Governor."

State installing energy-saving lighting along roadways

FRANKFORT (KT) - The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet and the Finance and Administration Cabinet have launched an initiative to replace thousands of roadway lighting fixtures across the state with energy saving LED lights.

The upgrades, involving more than 18,000 lights statewide, will reduce energy consumption of roadway lighting systems by more than fifty percent and save more than $2.8 million a year in reduced utility and maintenance costs.

"Modernizing our roadway lights with more efficient and longer lasting LEDs is a win-win strategy to stretch taxpayer dollars, improve roadway visibility and reduce the number of maintenance-related lane closures," said Transportation Secretary Jim Gray.

The high-mast and cobra head lighting fixtures will be replaced with energy efficient LED lights on select state-maintained roads across Kentucky.

Kentucky Wildcats

Cats stuck in dark tunnel

Let's face it. This hasn't been a fun season for Kentucky coach John Calipari, no matter how he tries to convince you otherwise. It's been a struggle and it's been real.

It's been more than three decades — 1988-89 — since the Wildcats have lost six straight games. You would have to go back even further to 1911 before you discover a Kentucky team that lost six of its first seven games to open the season.

Those records aren't ones that any coach, in particular Calipari, would want to be associated with at a school that prides itself on winning games and stacking up SEC and national championship banners.

The ongoing pandemic hasn't done Calipari, or any coach for that matter, any favors. Now, more than ever, teams are isolated from each other. Team bonding, especially for teams that flip rosters more frequently than others that stock their programs with three- and four-year players, has been more difficult this season.

> "Our true fans – the fans that are really with these kids – keep cheering them on,"
> John Calipari, UK coach

Calipari has mentioned it more than once how his team is at a disadvantage compared to other teams this season when it comes to veteran leadership. That hasn't been a problem for the Kentucky coach in the past and his point of no bonding time may have something to do with his dysfunctional Wildcats.

Calipari has always relied on talent to overcome the lack of college experience and he does have some veterans on this year's squad. Those upperclassmen, however, haven't been part of the program at Kentucky and know little about that unique culture. The only difference between the freshmen and veterans on this year's squad is collegiate experience. All of them are newcomers when it comes to knowing what to expect from Calipari and the coaching staff.

Already, Calipari has suspended a player (Cam'Ron Fletcher) and has brought in a sports phycologist to deal with his team's internal issues, so he can deal strictly with coaching, and the season isn't halfway finished.

He has taken the blame for the team's schedule, which hasn't been typically freshman friendly. The top-heavy schedule is one reason the Wildcats haven't been able to gain any traction with losses to Kansas, North Carolina, Georgia Tech and Louisville, not to mention Richmond and Notre Dame.

This year's schedule lacked appetizers before the main course and Calipari's has certainly missed the cupcakes although most UK teams would normally be expected to defeat Richmond, Notre Dame and Georgia Tech.

"You have to play games you can win to build confidence," he said. "This was the stupidest schedule I've ever put together, and I'd like to smack myself in the mouth."

The good news is there's still time to get things right and Calipari's teams in the past have been able to find light at the end the tunnel.

This team has yet to find the on switch, but the veteran coach remains confident daylight is on the horizon.

"I don't believe it's over," Calipari said. "We haven't played a league game yet. I don't believe it's over. Let's go do what we do. Let's keep coaching them. Our true fans – the fans that are really with these kids – keep cheering them on."

If Kentucky doesn't turn the proverbial corner soon, an uncomfortable fan base – and it's wily coach - will have to be talked off the ledge.

Veteran Mintz stepping up at the right time

Davion Mintz is one of Kentucky's most experience players and it's starting to show.

Mintz has elevated his game, a big boost for a Wildcat squad in the midst of a six-game losing streak. The Creighton transfer scored 19 points in a 62-59 setback to rival Louisville Saturday.

"I feel like right now, it's kind of a necessity for me to be that guy to come out there and be the voice and kind of talk on both sides of the floor," he said.

As a team leader, Mintz is advising his younger teammates to "realize this is not about me."

"This is a lot bigger than me," he said. "We all want to win. None of us would have imagined this. We just keep fighting, we've just got to keep fighting. At this point, we kind of throw away our record in our minds and we just go out there and play basketball and, like coach said, refuse to lose at this point."

Toppin poppin

In addition to Mintz, another transfer — Jacob Toppin — has been giving the Wildcats a lift as of late and scored 10 points against the Cardinals.

"I'm just trying to do anything I can to help my team win whatever it is," said Toppin, a Rhode Island transfer. "We all have each other's back. We're all putting confidence in one another.

"My teammates had my back and they just told me that once I made my first shot to keep shooting, to keep attacking and to stay aggressive. So, it was my teammates who helped me through this and I'm looking to help my teammates wherever I can."

Although Kentucky hasn't won since defeating Morehead State in the season opener more than a month ago, Toppin said the Wildcats have to dwell on the positives.

"We're moving in the right direction even though we lost, like we see improvement as a team and individually – everybody," he said. "We've just gotta keep pushing. Yeah, our backs are on the wall but that just makes us hungrier.

"We just want to get a win and once we get that first taste of victory, I think we'll be good."

Just good enough

Louisville coach Chris Mack didn't think his squad played well in the yearly showdown between the two rivals and credited the Wildcats for making things difficult on his team.

"Not many times that you can not play very well and beat Kentucky, but I thought that's what happened (Saturday)," he said. "We didn't play great and Kentucky had a lot to do with it, they're really athletic and long. I know that they're really inexperienced, but we are as well and that's what it looked like there for a while."

The Cardinals ended a three-game losing streak to the Wildcats and improved to 6-1 on the season.
